COUNTY BANKERS HOLD ANNUAL MEET HERE LAST NIGHT

Association Elects New Officers; Study Course in Banking to Be Staged Here Soon

The Pitt County Bankers' Association held its annual meeting and banquet at the Rotary Club last night at which time officers for the ensuing year were elected and steps taken toward organizing a chapter of the American Institute of Banking here.

The meeting was presided over by G. W. Prescott, president of the association and following "Thanks" by Rev. W. P. Watkins a delightful dinner was served.

At the conclusion of the meal A. F. Howe, of Ayden, delivered an address on "Early Banking in America" in which he gave details of the organization of the first bank in America and pictured the growth of banking up to the present day. His talk was both instructive and interesting.

President Prescott then introduced Mr. Paul P. Brown, of Raleigh, Secretary of the North Carolina Bankers' Association, who spoke on the subject of the "American Institute of Banking."

Mr. Brown gave a brief outline of the course of study covered and pointed out the growing need for bankers to study untiringly in order that they might render a better service to the institutions by which they are employed, to their community and to themselves.

The speaker told of the accomplishments of other chapters in this and other states and explained just how the work might be carried on. Following the explanation by Mr. Brown the president called for a round table discussion of the advisability of organizing a chapter of the American Institute of Banking here.

Many of those present including bankers from Washington, Bethel, Farmville, Everetts, Grifton, Ayden and Greenville made brief talks on the subject with the result that steps were taken to perfect the proposed organization. A committee of J. H. Waldrop, of this city, D. E. Oglesby of Farmville, and J. D. Webb, of Washington, was appointed to get in touch with bankers in Pitt, Beaufort and Martin counties with a view of holding an organization meeting at an early date.

About thirty of the present expressed a desire to enroll for the study course prescribed by the institute.

The next matter of business to come before the association was the annual election of officers which resulted in the election by acclamation of D. E. Oglesby, of Farmville, President; W. M. Pruett, Bethel, vice-president; W. R. Willis, of Greenville, secretary-treasurer.

The guests at the meeting included bankers from several adjoining counties together with the employees of Pitt county bank and several local persons.

Washington, April 3.—The government will appeal from the decision of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia quashed indictment returned against Albert B. Fall, Edward L. Doheny, Harry F. Sinclair, and Edward L. Doheny, Jr. in the oil reserve cases.

Washington, April 3.—The government will appeal from the decision of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia quashed indictment returned against Albert B. Fall, Edward L. Doheny, Harry F. Sinclair, and Edward L. Doheny, Jr. in the oil reserve cases.

Washington, April 3.—Indictments returned here against Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the Interior, Edward L. Doheny, and Edward L. Doheny, Jr. were quashed today by Chief Justice McCoy, in Superior Court of the District of Columbia.

The court's opinion was based on the ground that Oliver E. Hagan, special assistance to Attorney General, had been present during the consideration of the cases by the grand jury.

The indictment had to do with the revelations in the Senate Oil Inquiry, but constituted a separate proceeding from the Civil Suit recently brought to trial in Cheyenne.

They charged criminal conspiracy in connection with the oil leasing program. Should the higher court uphold the ruling today, and no new indictment be returned, it would mean the collapse of the government's criminal proceedings in the case.

Fort Bragg, N. C., April 3.—Something new in the character of boxing programs will be offered here April 30. Lieutenant Frederick E. Coyne, Jr., said that no less than four bouts would be offered fans. Three North Carolina boxing champions will appear on the card. Of the three ten-round bouts listed, perhaps the most important will be that between Chief Mayle, army heavy-weight champion and Tom McKiernan, of New York City.

MRS. HORACE DODGE

Mrs. Horace E. Dodge and her sister-in-law, Mrs. John F. Dodge, principal owners in the Dodge Brothers Automobile Company, have sold the firm to Dillon, Read & Co., of New York, for a sum reputed to be $175,000,000. In 1901, the Dodge brothers were poor mechanics. They went into partnership with Henry Ford. Later they sold their Ford holdings and began manufacturing a car of their own.

COURT QUASHES INDICTMENTS OF FALL AND DOHENYS

Government Will Appeal From the Decision of the Supreme Court

WASHINGTON, April 3.—The governments efforts to secure criminal conviction against Albert B. Fall and the Oil Magnate, who negotiated the celebrated Western Oil land leases with him, encountered a serious set back today when all of the indictments were thrown out of court.

Because of the presence in the grand jury room of an assistant attorney general, while the indictments were being drawn up last summer, the District of Columbia Supreme Court held that the former Interior Secretary, Edward L. Doheny, Harry F. Sinclair, and Edward L. Doheny, Jr., had not been legally indicted. The bill charging Fall and the Dohenys with criminal conspiracy first was dismissed on the ground that the Assistant Attorney General's presence in the grand jury room was contrary to law, and then the court proceeded in another opinion to apply the same rule to the Fall-Sinclair conspiracy indictment.

William Allen White, nationally known newspaper man, and Josephus Daniels, Raleigh editor, were the two guests of honor and speakers of tonight's session.

During the day, the University of North Carolina students conducted a program before the conference, with reports on research projects now being carried on in social and industrial fields.

There were also a number of federal experts from Washington present at this meeting.

Mr. Parker visited the Tullulah, La., entomological laboratory station of the United States government, where boll weevil control methods are tested out. These methods include the development of the airplane method as well as the ground dusting machine.

While at the Tullulah laboratory, Mr. Parker made a 90-mile flight, reaching altitudes of 3,000 and 5,000 feet. He had under advisement the use of the airplane method in North Carolina.

Mr. Parker reports that "farm work and crop growth are well advanced throughout the South."

CHAPMAN'S FIGHT FOR LIFE ENTERS ITS FINAL STAGE

Fate of Spectacular Criminal Now in the Hands of the Jury

Hartford, Conn., April 3.—The case against Gerald Chapman, mail looter, accused of the murder of Patrolman Skelly in a New Britain store, was given to the jury this afternoon. The court explained that the jury might bring any one of four verdicts in the case, first, or second degree murder, manslaughter, or acquittal.

CHAPMAN, Conn., April 3.—Gerald Chapman's fight for life went in its final stage this morning. It was only a matter of a few hours after the court opened before the jury held in its hands the power to send the spectacular criminal to the gallows, or return him to the Federal penitentiary at Atlanta to complete the 25 year sentence he received upon conviction as to the $2,400,000 mail truck looter.

Resuming his argument on behalf of Chapman, Frederick J. Groehl, again attacked Walter E. Shean, characterizing him as a "weaking," "our angel friend, Shean," "a piker," and a "rascal." It was Shean, the son of a wealthy hotel owner, who told the police that Chapman was the murderer of Policeman James Skelly, of New Britain last October 12. Shean, the state star witness, testified that Chapman had induced him to accompany him on a safe looting expedition, in the department store of Davidson and Leventhal. The police interrupted, and Policeman Skelly was killed. Chapman was the gun man, Shean declared. "Do you think it logical that Chapman, the super criminal, the supposed looter of a New York mail truck, would choose a weaking like Shean as his partner on a safe cracking expedition," asked Groehl.

REVIVAL SERVICES IN BAPTIST CHURCH CLOSE TONIGHT

Two Weeks' Services Have Proved Most Helpful and Inspiring; Rev. Mr. Kincheloe Has Delivered Splendid Sermons

The revival services which have been in progress in the Memorial Baptist church for the past two weeks will close this evening. The services have been most inspiring and helpful. The Rev. J. W. Kincheloe has preached splendid sermons and the musical program under the direction of Rev. E. F. Pittman have been one of the most attractive features of the services.

Last night Rev. Mr. Kincheloe preached one of the strongest sermons of the series on "Set Your House in Order." He appealed to people to live so that when the final summons come they will be prepared and ready to go. His illustrations were appropriate and showed the necessity of keeping things in order. Rev. Mr. Pittman and Mrs. Earle Carter sang a duet, "Must I Go An Empty Handed," after which Mr. Pittman sang, "Jesus Will Come Some Day." The services were largely attended. Two little boys Masters Gray Luper and Carl Joyner professed faith in Christ.

FILIPINOS CAUTIONED AGAINST DISORDERLY POLITICAL ACTIVITIES

Manila. — Instructions to municipal officials to pass ordinances and regulations calculated to forestall disorders likely to arise between rival political groups during the present campaign, have been sent to provincial governors by the executive bureau. At the national elections, which will be held June 9 next, there will be chosen a new house of representatives, consisting of 93 members, one-half of the senate, consisting of 24 members, provincial governors and other officials. The members of the house are chosen for three years, while the senators are elected for six years.

Definite legal provisions regulating political meetings are contained in the instructions. Among other things, municipal councils are urged to prohibit joint meetings of rival political parties or groups, and it is suggested that meetings of rival parties should be at least six hours apart.

The rivalry between the Nationalist-Consolidate party, which is a merger of the old Nacionalista and the Collectista parties, and the Democrat party has already become keen, and officials fear that as election day approaches disorders may develop from this tension.

Senators Manuel L. Quezon and Sergio Osmeña are not candidates at the coming election, having been chosen for a six-year term at the election of 1922. They are, however, already engaged in active campaigning for their party, the Nacionalista-Consolidado, the party which now is in control of both houses of the legislature. The Democrat party leaders claim that they will make heavy inroads on the majority party, and possibly wrest control from it at the coming election.

The issues between the parties are mostly of a local nature, as all parties have declared for the complete and immediate independence of the Philippine Islands.

Why I'm Glad I Bobbed My Hair

By AILEEN PRINGLE

DON'T suppose any other girl ever had her hair bobbed for the same reason that prompted me to submit to the barber's ministrations. When one has reached womanhood and has been several years on the stage and before the screen, appearing in various characterizations but always with her feminine "crowning glory" in the length and abundance that Nature intended, for one to expose one's locks to the shearing process is a step to be taken only after profound and prayerful consideration.

I hesitated for a long, long time. I considered the subject pro and con, consulted with friends, directors and mere acquaintances, listened to all the stock arguments that have ever been advanced, both for and against, and weighed the question from every conceivable angle. Hamlet's problem, "to be or not to be," could not have been of greater concern to him than was mine—"to bob or not to bob"—to me, and I exercised my feminine prerogative and changed my mind often.

Even after reaching a final conclusion it was with fear and trembling that I approached the barber's chair. But the experience equipped me to impersonate Marie Antoinette on the screen and I hope the opportunity may one day be mine. I know now how she felt when she went to the guillotine.

It was less than a month ago that I suffered the shears to touch my locks, but already I'm glad I did it. I'm a convert and my conversion was complete. It "took." Mr. Figaro may count me among his faithful customers henceforth.

But, I repeat, I joined the bobbers for a reason peculiarly, even uniquely, my own. Long and patiently as I listened to the arguments that were poured into my ears, and carefully as I considered them, I was not in the end swayed by any of them. In giving my individual endorsement to the bob, I don't want to be understood as trying to influence any other girl. I am speaking for myself only, and without the reason that I shall reveal later—please be patient just a minute or two, girls—I am not sure that I should have let my tresses go.

Most girls who bob do so, I suppose, because they want to look younger than they are, or because it happens to be the style, or because they are lazy. Now, I'm not a thousand years old and I have no desire to be or to appear a day younger than I am—really! So wags that consideration off the slate.

And I am not such a slave to fashion that I feel bound to adopt every passing craze, every whim and fancy that affect others. It's easy enough to follow the crowd—if you're willing to be just a follower. But distinction comes only to the leader of the crowd, and the girl who is individual enough to be independent.

As to being lazy—listen to this! If I were that I shouldn't be spending long, weary hours in the studio or on the production lot while the director orders scenes to be shot over and over again. There's romance in film work, and entertainment and fun, but, most of all, hard, relentless work.

Of course I know, too, that short hair is a comfort in dancing. It stays put. While you are whirling about you are not in constant terror lest your permanent wave is at high tide and is casting its spray over your partner's shoulders as well as your own. But it wasn't even that that determined my decision, nor yet the assurance of some of the pro-bobbers that bobbed hair prevents congestion of the brain. I struggled along several years without cutting my hair, and as far as I was able to judge, suffered no impairment of my mental faculties.

Now, at last, to tell you why I did sacrifice my locks. It was partly because I was getting a reputation as a sereep vampire, and I have a perfect horror of that. My hair, you see, grew very long, and to part it in the middle and brush it down on both sides seemed the only way to dress it. That, of course, is the severest of forms, and it accentuated the "vamp" impression.

When I wasn't being mistaken for a vampire I was described as "statuesque," and here again the pain, severe dressing was partly responsible. Now, I am not a Doree or Louie creation. I am not monumental in any sense. And I recall quite as much at the idea of being pigeon-holed in pictures, of being typed, as at the thought of being made a "vamp." I feel that my range is sufficiently broad to justify me in claiming versatility. I even have an ambition to play in a comedy role one day.

All things considered, it seemed to me that to part with my long hair would be a step toward the complete attainment of my goal—to be an all-around woman in pictures, fitted for any part. Opportunity came when I was asked to play the lead in Vitagraph's "Wildfire." There I have the role of just a real American girl—neither "vampish" nor "statuesque," and I felt at once that my bobbing was vindicated. So—I'm glad!

Perhaps bobbed hair has other real merits than the one I have indicated. I haven't meant to make light of the reasons that prompt other girls to use the shears. I merely brushed them aside because of that one reason that was uppermost in my mind. It is conceivable that even without the ambition that controls me I might still have become a bobbee. Possibly. Who knows?

FAKERS WHO THRIVE ON 'RELICS' OF BOOTH EXPOSED BY H W FAY

Springfield, Ill. — Five alleged skulls of John Wilkes Booth, assassin of President Lincoln, are on exhibition in the United States, and twenty "Booths" have died, according to Herbert Wells Fay, custodian of Lincoln's tomb here.

"Those who wish to make money out of the hoax, or to create cheap notoriety, are the only ones to dispute the historical record of Booth's death in a barn at the Garrett farm," Mr. Fay asserted. "David E. George was only one of 20 different men who have sought to create a furor by claiming to be Booth. Recently while lecturing on Booth's death at the tomb, one of my audience who gave his name as William H. Regan, said he embalmed the body of George. Asked whether he thought it was Booth or whether the dead man had any proof of his identity, Regan said he believed not. Nevertheless, George's body was embalmed and shown over the country in a commercial show scheme."

The version of Booth's death accepted by the custodian of the victim's tomb is as follows:

"John Wilkes Booth eluded his pursuers for 11 days. He was fed by Thomas A. Jones in the meantime in a grove along the Potomac. Lieutenant Baker of the Secret Service, who had often seen Booth, and his men were watching the fugitive. When he crossed the river he was suspected and chased to the Garrett farm.

"Baker and his men surrounded the house and after some parley they ascertained that Booth and Herold were in the barn. They demanded several times that he come out. Colonel Conger's men were surrounding the barn. They threatened to set fire to the barn and Herold emerged and surrendered. Booth refused, saying he would die in the last ditch. The barn was set afire.

"Boston Corbett, a sergeant, saw Booth through a crack and disobeying orders, shot him. He was brought out by Conger's men and died in three hours. The body was brought to Washington and identified by various men who knew Booth. One, Dr. John F. May, identified the body by an ugly wound on the neck from an operation performed some time before. Against his physician's advice Booth insisted on acting, and reopened the wound, which healed badly.

"Booth was buried under a federal prison and an accurate, detailed report made of position and condition as required. Later Edwin Booth, actor-brother of the slayer, obtained an order allowing him to see the body, hoping that a mistake had been made. He viewed the body and identified it as that of his brother. He also called in dentists who identified fillings in the teeth of the body, which made identification positive. Edwin Booth claimed the body and buried it in the family burying ground at Baltimore in an unmarked grave."

Tokio. — On condition that he be given an income of 12,000 yen a year for life, Kumataro Ishigaki has given his entire fortune of about 1,000,000 yen to the Marine Products Society to be used in the encouragement of fisheries. Mr. Ishigaki is 67 years of age and amassed his fortune in the fishing industry. This is said to be the only case in Japan of an entire fortune of such size to be given away in its owner's lifetime.

PETRIFIED TREES RESIST WINDS AND RAIN OF NEVADA

Tonopah, Nev.—That there is a petrified forest, one of the most beautiful in the country, within 40 miles of Tonopah, is a fact not generally known. More than 100 petrified trees are still standing, just as they grew originally. Little has been written about this forest on account of its inaccessibility.

The unique forest covers several hundred acres. The ground is strewn with the fossilized bones of animals, and here and there are small caves. The entrance to the forest is through a small canyon which widens into a river bed which, in design, reminds one somewhat of the Grand Canyon. William Gamm, of Tonopah, with a party recently visited the scene and brought back several sacks of bones and teeth of enormous size. He said the trunk of one of the petrified standing trees was fully 50 feet high and 15 feet in circumference.

Gamm has written the secretary of the interior suggesting that the forest be made a national park.

JAZZ DANCERS BARRED FROM LONDON SUBURB

Edmonton, England.—Jazz music

has been barred at all municipal dances by the Edmonton Urban Council, this being the first London suburb to take such action.

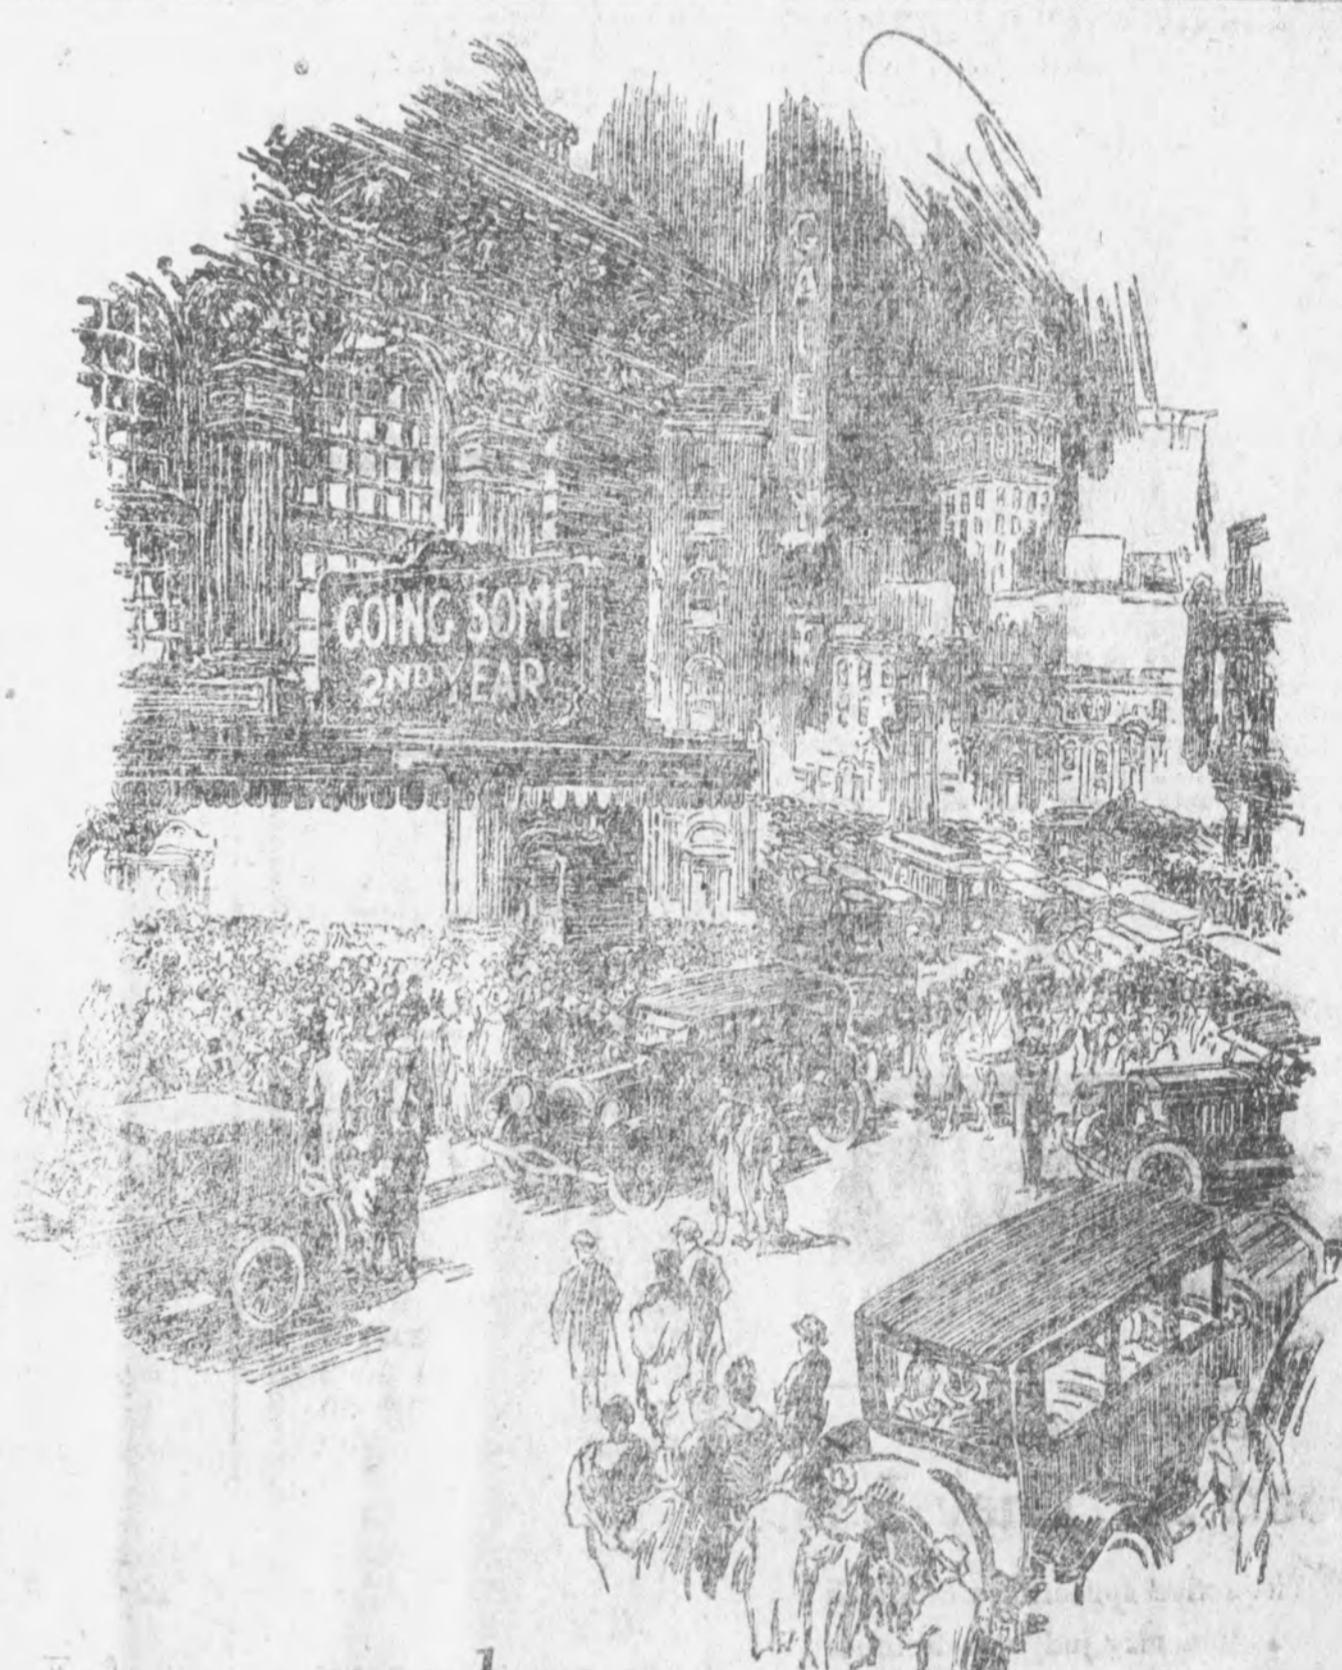

The council took this step because of numerous complaints from citizens who objected to dances of "the wild, body-wagging type." T. J. Harrington, council chairman, said jazz would not be permitted hereafter at the town dances chiefly because jazz dancers during waltzes took up too much space, their movements interfering with the orthodox dancers and besides, "jazzing was neither graceful nor dignified."

GOING FASTER AND LIVING LONGER

Statisticians tell us that we are living in this country on the average some ten years longer than we did a generation or two ago. There are those who feel that whatever science has done for us in the battle against disease has been more than offset by the onrush of the automobile with its street accidents.

Those who feel that worry, may take comfort from some figures recently sent out by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce. Here is a significant fact: The number of deaths per 100,000 vehicles in 1924 was 98 as compared with 109 in 1923 and 178 in 1917. Nor did the good work end with 1924. The total in January, 1925, for the ten largest cities of the United States was 43 per cent lower than for January a year ago.

Either the driver of the automobile is more careful, or the pedestrian can jump quicker.

TO RESTORE OLD COURT HOUSE

A movement is being started to restore the old county court house which stands near the Greenville-Washington highway about three miles from this city and preserve it as a historic memorial. This now delapidated structure takes a prominent place in the early history of the county and it should not be permitted to crumble to ruins.

The Woman's Club is to be congratulated upon launching such a move and when other civic organizations are requested to give their co-operation it is to be hoped that they will do so without hesitation.

It seems that Japan is becoming more and more Americanized. A recent session of its lawmaking body was broken up by a fist fight.

Women are fast usurping the occupations of men. The latest instance is that of a woman in Johnston county has been fined $100 for operating an illicit still in her home.

WELFARE OFFICER WARNS AGAINST THE GIVING TO STRANGE SOLICITORS

On Thursday, March 27th, a young lady giving her name as Miss Jessie Shaw, dressed very much like a Salvation Army lassie, and supposed to be representing Free Gospel Work organization, located at Lenoir, N. C., was begging on the streets of Greenville. Upon investigation of the case the letter noted below will explain for itself. Before giving money to any strange solicitor, unless to some approved organization such as the Salvation Army, you never know what you money will be used for.

March 31, 1925.

Mr. K. T. Futrell, Greenville, N. C., Dear Sir:

In reply to your letter of the 27 in regard to Free Gospel Work in Lenoir. There is no such organization here.

At one time B. Y. Gibson claimed to have an organization of that kind here, but conducted himself in such a way that he had to leave. Should he or any of his workers visit your town I would recommend that you warn your people against them, as they are very unworthy, he having been accused of immoral conduct and is very dishonest.

In regard to Miss Jessie Shaw, I know nothing of her, but Gibson had different girls out soliciting for him while he was here and traveling with him other places. Gibson has not been located here for the last two years. The work of Gibson while here was street preaching and taking up collections.

To Wed Wales?

PRINCESS MARTHA

According to reports current in social circles in London, the Prince of Wales will announce his engagement to Princess Martha, niece of the King of Sweden, when he returns from South Africa and South America.

As I was not in Lenoir at the time Gibson was here I get my information from our police force.

At anytime that I can be of any service to you write me.

Yours very truly,

FLORENCE E. BOYD,

Supt. Public Welfare Caldwell Co.

New Fabrics

BECOME HIGHLY IMPORTANT

When clothes are simple, the mode stresses the fabric, and now presents an amazing variety of beautifully patterned silks and cottons in gay or subdued tones, to suit Milady's fancy.

Also a beautiful assortment of Broad Cloths and Printed Crepes, prices very reasonable.
