BORGLUM TO CARVE MASSIVE MEMORIAL IN NORTH CAROLINA

Original Conception of Memorial Expressive of the True Spirit of the Confederacy Be Carved N. C. Mountain

Charlotte, July 20.—Guston Borglum, famed sculptor of the Confederate Memorial of Stone Mountain near Atlanta Georgia, declared here today that his "original conception of a massive memorial on the face of a rock mountain expressive of the true spirit of the Confederacy will be carried out in North Carolina."

The sculptor said he had been assured of ample financial backing to carry his new project to a successful conclusion.

Mr. Borglum stated that the location of the proposed memorial in North Carolina to the Confederate cause has not been selected.

"Several locations have been suggested, one or two have been recommended, and I am seriously considering the Great expanse of rock on the Chimney Rock Mountain," the sculptor said.

Charlotte, July 20.—Mr. Borglum spent a short time here this morning while enroute from his home in Raleigh to the Mountains of western North Carolina. He said his tour would require a week's time and would take him to each of the suggested locations for the memorial.

"We are losing no time in doing the preliminary work and before I return to Raleigh I expect to have completed preliminary outlines of the memorial," he said. Fear was expressed by the sculptor that the new plans for the Stone Mountain memorial would fail to accord with the opinion of the great students of Confederate History requiring the exposition of the "true spirit of the Confederacy." Mr. Borglum insisted, however, that he had no interest in continuing or renewing a controversy with the organization interested in the project near Atlanta, and he expressed some doubt that the Stone Mountain Memorial ever would be completed. That with the "splendid support" he has been rendered in North Carolina and the absence of "bitterly antagonistic" conditions such as he said, caused an impassioned developing connection with the Stone Mountain project, he will find it possible to bring the North Carolina Memorial to completion, was the opinion expressed by Mr. Borglum.

"Vincent" Pepper Martin Is Dead

New York, July 20.—"Vincent" Pepper Martin, whose spectacular boxing style carried him to knockout victories in more than 90 of his 200 ring battles in the last eight years, is dead. The gameness which he displayed in these matches for the Junior light weight crown, was not with him in his last fight yesterday against pneumonia, and the 27 year old battler died in a Long Island City hospital.

CAMBRIDGE RESTRICTS USE AUTOMOBILES BY STUDENTS

Cambridge—Stringent regulations have been adopted by the university authorities to prevent motoring by undergraduates during the morning because the noise disturbs lectures. A bar has also been put on night "joy riding."

Regulations adopted by the senate, to become effective in October, prohibit the use of motorcars by undergraduates during their first term of residence; the of all motor vehicles by any students before noon, and the use of motor vehicles after 8.30 p. m. in winter and 10 p. m. in summer months.

Romania Expects Wheat Surplus Bucharest.—A decrease of 8,000,000 acres of grain-crown land in Romania in the present year is shown by government statistics recently issued. Despite the decreased sowing, the crop conditions are reported as excellent, the weather throughout May having been exceptionally favorable.

Agricultural experts are predicting that the 1925 wheat crop will leave a large exportable surplus.

TENTATIVE PLANS FOR NEXT CONGRESS BEFORE PRESIDENT

Conferences With Congressional Leaders to Be Held; Administration Program Being Formulated

Swampscott, Mass., July 20.—With the congressional recess half gone, President Coolidge today had before him tentative plans for the administration program for the December session. The visit to the summer White House of Senator Curtis, the Republican leader, afforded the executive an opportunity of going over the legislative situation with one who will be called upon to carry into effect proposals of importance. Conference with other congressional leaders during the summer are planned by the President, the discussion with Senator Curtis constituted the first of a series that is expected to give definite shape to the administration stand on a number of issues. Not only is Mr. Curtis the titular head of the Republican organization in the Senate, but he also is a high ranking member of the Finance Committee which has jurisdiction of revenue and tariff legislation, and he is recognized as a spokesman for the Agricultural interest.

For this reason it was considered a certainty that during the Senator's stay here Mr. Coolidge would go over with him the legislative program in general, and in addition would exchange views as to what has been done in the way of tax reduction and farm relief. While the president does not feel that it would be necessary, even should a crisis develop in the Antracite situation, to call Congress in special session, he is expected to discuss this question with the Kansas senator.

Bond Holders Va.-Car. Chem. Co. Receive $400 on Each $1,000 Bond

New York, July 20.—Bond holders of the Virginia Carolina Chemical Company were officially notified today by the Central Union Trust Company of North Carolina Trustee, in receivership proceedings, that a cash distribution at the rate of $400 on each $1,000 bond would be made on and after July 21. The distribution will be made out of the proceeds of the sale of stock of the Southern Cotton Oil Company, which was pledged as security for the Virginia Carolina Chemical Company's bond. The cash payment will be made, the trustee statement said, upon presentation of the bonds either to the officials of the Central Union Trust Company of North Carolina, or the First National Bank of Richmond, Va., for notation on the bond of such payments. Bonds must be left with the depository for five days pending the issuance of the receipts.

Joint Inspector of Prison Camp and Jails Takes Up Work

Raleigh, July 20.—L. G. Whitley will this week take up his duties, under the direction of the State Board of Charities and Public Welfare, as joint inspector of prison camps and jails. This work will be undertaken under the Board of Charities and public Welfare and the State Board of Health, jointly, and the employment of Mr. Whitley resulted from a conference recently held between Dr. G. M. Cooper, acting head of the State Health Department, Governor McLean and Mrs. Kate Burr Johnson. At that time it was decided to go into prison conditions, thoroughly and it was agreed that the work should be prosecuted by these two State agencies.

"This indicates," said a statement from the Department of Charities and Public Welfare, issued today, "a growth and amplification of the program which was begun several years ago, by Roy M. Brown, of the Department of Public Welfare, who has inspected the camps as far as possible while carrying on his other duties.

"Many of the camps have been visited more than once a year. The visits were always unannounced. There has never been any attempt to spy upon the camps, and it has been customary on reaching the county to seek the official responsible for the prison to be visited and when practical to go over the prison with him. Occasionally, a county prison camp has been warned that the inspector was on the way, but such conduct on the part of county officials is rare.

"Forms have been made out by Mr. Brown and Mr. Whitley for the grading of camps and prisons. Health conditions will be reported on regular health blanks. The camps will be rated and the grades announced.

"For the prison camps there will be reports on conditions and management. The ranking officer in charge of the camp should have an education of at least eighth grade rank. All guards should be able to read and write. The camps will be marked down if any prisoners are worked in chains, spikes, ball and chain or similar shackles, or chained at night. The inspector will ascertain whether the prisoners are receiving any kind of ill treatment. He will also give attention to the mental conditions of the prisoners and will recommend the removal of any insane or epileptic cases.

"In the county jails inspections attention will be paid to the facilities for protection in case of fire, facilities for the classification of prisoners, including juvenile prisoners, and the number of prisoners to a cell, food, clothing and recreational facilities.

"A set of records is to be kept at each camp and each man who has been punished will be recorded in such a way as to make it easy for the departments to find out conditions of under which correction is administered. Mr. Whitley will make his visits unannounced, as Mr. Brown did, and will appear at any time during the year. The purpose is to make at least four inspections of the county camps.

A week's reprieve was granted Russell T. Scott, 30-year-old millionaire of Chicago, who was found guilty of murdering Joseph Maurer, drug clerk, in a holdup, and sentenced to die in the electric chair. He was caught after the holdup when he was traced to the home of Miss Bullard, said to be his sweetheart. New evidence was found the day Scott was to die; and a telegram from Gov. Lem Small stayed the execution.

Three Memorials to Be Dedicated to Edgar Wilson Nye

Fletcher, July 20.—August 25, the seventy-five anniversary of the birth of "Bill Nye" (Edgar Wilson Nye) in Maine will be marked by the dedication of three memorials to him at historic Calvary Episcopal church here. A simple bronze tablet, the gift of the Nye family, has just been placed on the granite rock that has for many years indicated the humorist's last resting place. A memorial window is the second tribute. It has been placed in church, near the pew occupied by the Nye family while they lived at nearby "Buck Shoals." The third is a granite shaft in which will be set a bronze tablet telling the story of Nye's life and placed close to the Asheville-Hendersonville highway at the old church.

A distinguished company of speakers will gather for the occasion. There will be special music, also.

The Nye memorial movement, inaugurated by the Rev. Clarence S. McClellan, Jr., rector of Calvary church, his met with unusual success.

Nye, it was pointed out here, chose western North Carolina in which to spend the last years of his life. Here, in the quaint little churchyard of Calvary Episcopal church, the humorist remains rest.

Places Support of Dept. of Agriculture Behind Principal Co-operation

Philadelphia, July 20.—Secretary Jardine placed the support of the Department of Agriculture behind principal of co-operation in an address today before the American Institute of Co-operation.

"Co-operation manifestly is not merely a method, but a flexible principal," the secretary declared. A realization by leaders in the co-operative movement that the co-operation is not merely a means for obtaining a better price for a single year's crop, but that it is a means for gradually adapting production to market demands for insuring less wasteful distribution for reducing the spread between what the farmers receive and what the consumer pay for aiding in the solution of agricultural credit problems as they arise for improving the rural life of the nation, for insuring a better understanding of international problems not so much to insure not only success of co-operation but increasing prosperity and stability for the nation.

ANOTHER RAY OF HOPE EXTINGUISHED FOR RUSSELL SCOTT

Operator Declares He Told Lie to Save One Whom He Believed Innocent; No Official Action Been Taken

Chicago, July 20.—Another ray of hope, that one of the amazing last hour developments which saved him from death on the gallows last Friday, would become tangible enough to prove his innocence during a seven hour reprieve, has been extinguished for Russell Scott James M. Ball, a Detroit telegraph operator, who last Friday declared he witnessed the shooting of James Maurer, Chicago drug clerk, and that Russell Scott was innocent of the slaying, has admitted the story was a romance concocted for the sake of humanity. Ball said he "told a lie to save one whom he believed innocent" but that when he found his story was not accomplishing anything he decided to admit the fake.

This was the second blow Scott has received since his dramatic reprieve six hours before he was to be hanged. The stay of execution was ordered by Governor Small when a telegram from Detroit purporting to be from Robert Scott, the condemned man's brother, confessing the murder was received. According to Russell's story, Robert Scott, also under indictment but never apprehended, did the shooting. The sender of the telegram promised to surrender the next day, but nothing developed.

Various other communications were received however, one a letter reporting to be from Robert, mailed in Chicago last Thursday night. In this it was stated he was seriously ill, but would give himself up as soon as able.

Scott's attorney's still are pinning their hope for a commutation of affidavit they said they had from two unknown women said to have been in the drug store at the time of the shooting. So far as known no official action has been taken in the case.

C. DARROW CITED BY RAULSTON FOR CONTEMPT COURT

Names as Grounds for Citation Remarks Made Friday After Court Excludes Testimony of Scientific Experts

Dayton, Tenn., July 20.—Judge John T. Raulston today cited Clarence Darrow, defense attorney in the Scopes evolution trial, for contempt of court, and directed that the Chicago attorney appear tomorrow morning to show why contempt proceedings should not be instituted. The judge named as grounds for the citation remarks of Mr. Darrow to the court Friday after the court had excluded the testimony of scientific experts from the jury.

The Chicago lawyer was directed to make $5,000 bond for his appearance to answer the citation tomorrow.

On last Friday the Judge said, "contempt was committed in this court."

He quoted from the record Mr. Darrow's exchange of remarks with the court after Judge Raulston had excluded expert testimony. "Until passion has had time to subside the court has withheld any action," declared Judge Raulston.

"I feel it is now time to speak." "Men may become prominent, but they should never feel themselves superior to the law."

"He who would hurl contempt at my court, insults and outrages one of the greatest commonwealths in the country."

"I feel that further forbearance would cease to be a virtue."

The judge then directed that Clarence Darrow be required to appear in court Tuesday morning to answer to a charge of contempt. Directing that the "said Darrow make bond of $5,000."

Mr. Darrow arose and said he did not know whether he could make the bond.

"I guess you can" said Judge Raulston.

Mr. Darrow was smiling. The Judge was not smiling.

The court received a guarantee of Mr. Darrow's surety and the trial proceeded with efforts of the defense to introduce documentary evidence, in the absence of the jury. In answer to the contempt citation, Judge Raulston read from the record of Friday's proceedings. Mr. Darrow frequently smiled, and chuckled at the court read.

Fire Losses for Six Months in State Totals $3,453,146

Raleigh, July 19.—Fire losses in North Carolina during the first six months of 1925 totaled $3,453,146, Insurance Commissioner Stacey Wade reported today. The total for the corresponding period of 1924 was $2,804,285. The number of fires in the State during the first six months of 1925 was 95. For the same period in 1924 the total was 1,247.

Fire losses during the month of June, 1925, the insurance commissioner reported, totaled $202,174, with $1,563,100 at risk and insurance involved amounting to $1,030,898. There were 14 fires reported. Of these 57 were urban dwelling fires, with a total damage of $25,372 and four were rural dwellings, with a total damage of $1,270.

Five fires resulted in more than one-half of the month's loss. There were two in Winston-Salem aggregating $32,000 and three in Charlotte totaling $91,250. There were only three other fires where the loss reached $5,000. These included a ferry boat terminal at Edenton, $20,000; a lumber plant at Wilmington, $7,500 and a cafe at Gastonia, $13,000. The entire loss on the remaining fires was $38,124.

FOR A RESPONSIBLE PRESS

The Southern Newspaper Association has adopted an admirable code of ethics for editors. Decency must be maintained; courtesy remembered in controversy; consideration for the unfortunate and "respect and tolerance for those of different religions, races and circumstances of life" must be the rule; "needless damage to a good reputation or wanton pain to an innocent person" avoided. The code closes with a demand for "honesty in all dealings," for "truth first, last and always."

Young journalists are to be taught these principles. The American Association of Teachers of Journalism last December enjoined upon its members the teaching of ethics "with particular reference to the duties and responsibilities of the journalist to society." And before that, in April, 1923, the American Society of Newspaper Editors set forth a code enjoining independence, sincerity, accuracy, fair play, decency.

No code, however, obvious its rules, can be carried out to the letter in a world far short of perfection. But it will do newspaper men no harm to have before their eyes high ideals for the conduct of their profession. Associated action for a responsible press is more than ever necessary with the growth of circulations, the numerous mergers of independent dailies and the vast powers wielded by chains of publications covering many centers of population.—The New York World.

"I must say," said he, "that I think it would be a mighty poor thing to go back to London before I know a great deal more of this place than I do at present."

"I could never dare to walk into the back office of my paper and face old McCardle," said I. (You will excuse the frankness of this report, will you not, sir?) "He'd never forgive me for leaving such unexhausted copy behind me. Besides, so far as I can see, it is not worth discussing, since we can't get down, even if we wanted."

"Our young friend makes up for many obvious mental lacunae by some measure of primitive common sense," remarked Challenger. "The interests of his deplorable profession are immaterial to us; but, as he observed, we cannot get down in any case, so it is a waste of energy to discuss it."

"It is a waste of energy to do anything else," growled Summerlee from behind his pipe. "Let me remind you that we came here upon a perfectly definite mission, entrusted to us at the meeting of the Zoological Institute in London. That mission was to test the truth of Professor Challenger's statements. Those statements, as I am bound to admit, we are now in a position to endorse. Our ostensible work is therefore done. As to the detail which remains to be worked out upon this plateau it is so enormous that only a large expedition, with a very special equipment, could hope to cope with it. Should we attempt to do so ourselves, the only possible result must be that we shall never return with the important contribution to science which we have already gained. Professor Challenger has devised means for getting us on to this plateau when it appeared to be inaccessible; I think that we should now call upon him to use the same ingenuity in getting us back to the world from which we came."

I confess that as Summerlee stated his view it struck me as altogether reasonable. Even Challenger was affected by the consideration that his enemies would never stand confuted if the confirmation of his statements should never reach those who had doubted them.

"The problem of the descent is at first sight a formidable one," said he, "and yet I cannot doubt that the intellect can solve it. I am prepared to agree with our colleague that a protracted stay in Maple White Land is at present inadvisable, and that the question of our return will soon have to be faced. I absolutely refuse to leave, however, until we have made at least a superficial examination of this country, and are able to take back with us something in the nature of a chart."

Professor Summerlee gave a short of impatience.

"We have spent two long days in exploration," said he, "and we are no wiser as to the actual geography of the place than when we started. It is clear that it is all thickly wooded, and it would take months to penetrate it and to learn the relations of one part to another. If there were some central peak it would be different, but it all slopes downward, so far as we can see. The farther we go the less likely it is that we will get any general view."

It was at that moment that I had my inspiration. My eyes chanced to light upon the enormous gnarled trunk of the ginkgo tree which cast its huge exceeding that of all others, its height must do the same. If the rim of the plateau was indeed the highest point, then why should this mighty tree not prove to be a watchtower which commanded the whole country? Now, ever since I ran wild as a lad in Ireland I have been a bold and skilled tree-climber. My comrades might be masters on the rocks, but I knew that I would be supreme among its branches. Could I only get my legs on to the lowest of the giant offshoots, then it would be strange indeed if I could not make my way to the top. My comrades were delighted at my idea.

"Our young friend," said Chal-

For an instant I read hatred and menace in the evil eyes.

lenger, bunching up the red apples of his cheeks, "is capable of acrobatic exertions which would be impossible to a man of a more solid, though possibly of a more commanding appearance. I applauded his resolution."

"By George, young fellow, you've put your hand on it!" said Lord John, clapping me on the back. "How we never came to think of it before I can't imagine! There's not more than an hour of daylight left, but if you take your notebook you may be able to get some rough sketch of the place. If we put these three ammunition cases under the branch, I will soon hoist you on to it."

He stood on the boxes while I faced the trunk, and was gently sprang forward and gave me such a thrust with his huge hand that he fairly shot me into the tree. With both arms clasp the branch, I scrambled hard with my feet until I had worked, first my body, and then my knees, on to it. There were three excellent offshoots, like the huge rungs of a ladder, above my head, and a tangle of convenient branches beyond, so that I clambered upwards with such speed that I soon lost sight of the ground and had nothing but foliage beneath me. Now and then I encountered a check, and once I had to shin up a creeper for eight or ten feet, but I made excellent progress, and the booming of Challenger's voice seemed to be a great distance beneath me. The tree was, however, enormous, and, looking upwards, I could see no thinning of the leaves above my head. There was some thick, bush-like clump which seemed to be a parasite upon a branch up which I was swarming. I leaned my head round in order to see what was beyond, and I nearly fell out of the tree in my surprise and horror at what I saw.

A fact was gazing into mine—the distance of only a foot or two. The creature that owned it had been crouching behind the parasite, and had looked round at the same instant that I did. It was a human face—or at least it was far more human than any monkey's that I have ever seen. It was long, white, and blotched with pimples, the "latter end" and the "lower jaw" being, with a bristle of coarse whiskers round the chin. The eyes, which were under thick and heavy brows, were bestial and ferocious, and as it opened its mouth to snarl what sounded like a curse at me I observed that it

Off The Beaten Path

The real charm of touring lies in leaving the main-travelled highways and exploring the thousands of alluring side-paths. These dirt roads and trails lead to spots of rare beauty unvisited by the throng—where better camp-sites may be found—finer fishing and lovelier scenery.

In a Ford car, you can enjoy the thrill of exploration and discovery. It is the one satisfactory means of travel for these narrow roads—light—yet so powerful that it will bring you through—easy to handle—sturdy and economical.

It will carry the whole family and the saving in cost often pays for the entire vacation.

THE YOUNG PEOPLE OF ALBEMARLE PRESBYTERY HOLD CONFERENCE KINSTON

The Presbyterian young people of Albemarle Presbytery held their first P. Y. P. L. Conference at Kinston, July the ninth.

The P. Y. P. L. of this Presbytery was organized for the first time at the Davidson Conference in June, with the following officers:

Miss Georgie Johnson, Greenville, President; Miss Mary Brewer, Rocky Mount, Vice-President; Mr. Wm. Peppin, Washington, Secretary-Treasurer.

The conference at Kinston opened with Miss Johnson presiding, at three-thirty o'clock.

Mr. Wm. Peppin, lead devotional, basing his talk on the Davidson Conference Slogan, "Carolina for Christ," and "Be Ye Doers of the Word." He made a very impressive talk.

Following devotional, the speaker of the afternoon, Rev. Daniel Iverson, of Tarboro, chairman of Young Peoples' Work in Albemarle Presbytery, was introduced by the president.

Mr. Iverson made a fine address to the young people. The "key" to his address was, "Young People Develop Normally in Your Religious Life."

Special music for the afternoon was given by Miss Jo Shaw of Kinston. She sang a lovely solo which was greatly enjoyed.

Mrs. Wm. Rumley, of Washington, who is Secretary of the Young Peoples' Work for Albemarle Presbytery gave a short talk on her work as secretary, the two league specials and the Contingent Fund. She ended by bringing before the young people the two slogans spoken of by Mr. Peppin and read a lovely poem about a Chinese maiden who died because the white missionary could give her only a picture God. The poem left in the minds of the young people the need to be "Doers of the Word, Not Hearers Only."

Miss Ethel Sterling, of Washington gave a short report on the starting of the day at Davidson Conference, which was Morning Watch.

She was followed by the president, who gave a general report of the conference. The report was full of side lights on different ones of the delegates, one specially liked orange ice while another preferred beef steak.

The pastor of the Kinston church announced the plans for supper.

A picnic supper was served at Hill crest, a lovely lake out from Kinston. Many of the young people went for a swim before supper.

The table was loaded with everything that delights the hearts of young people. Ice cream was served at the close of supper.

The evening service opened at eight o'clock, with Miss Johnson again presiding. She read the Bible lesson and then gave every one present a chance to take part in sentence prayers, opened by Master Paul Hatem of Greenville, one of the juniors present.

Mr. Fleming, pastor of the Farmville Presbyterian Church as main speaker of the evening explained the Presbyteran Progressional Program. His talk explained a lot of things that the young people had not been able to understand before.

Mrs. Rumley spoke of the Ramsay Cup points for the coming year, which are based on Stewardship.

The president thanked Kinston for her kindness.

The only business of the conference was the planning of another conference to be held in Greenville the first week in September.

The conference was a success in every way. Five towns were represented, Washington having the largest delegation. It is the hope of the officers and leaders of P. Y. P. L. to have delegates from every church in the Presbytery at the September conference.

Those attending the conference from Greenville were: Rev. and Mrs. W. S. Harden, Mrs. Dennis, Mr. Guy Smith, Misses Georgie Johnson and Anne Boney, Little Miss Mary Stuart Johnson; Master James and Billie Johnson, Paul Hatem, Thomas and Graham Dennis.

Cotton Summary
Generally bearish feeling regarding cotton prices prevailed in New Bedford last week and slowed up trading in new crops.

Scattered showers and thunder storms in Florida and along East Gulf Coast Saturday and yesterday in Middle Gulf States.

Outlook is for showers today in the South Atlantic States and local thundershowers today and tomorrow with local thundershowers east portion of eastern Texas. High temperatures reported yesterday Abilene and Ft. Worth.

Weekly forecast: Occasional thundershowers South Atlantic and East Gulf States. Possibility of scattered thundershowers in West Gulf States at beginning of week, fair thereafter. New Orleans dispatch says men ace of boll weevil looked on with complacency in cotton trade there, owing to reports that in eastern portion of belt it has so far done very little harm. Some fair sized orders of 36 inch goods reported sold Saturday at Fall River, but on whole market was quiet.

New Orleans reports say mid-month cotton advices are favorable with moderate deterioration, confined entirely to Texas.

Prices around 24 cents for cotton in New York seem to register about trade's idea of what prospective crop will be worth, according to Edward E. Bartlett, Jr.

Proctor and Gamble cotton crop condition 74; estimated crop 14,300,000 Liverpool cables: Trade calling absorbing liquidation. Spinners reserved. Improved demand cloth India and China. Yarns restricted.

The average of seven private mid-month cotton crop condition reports is 72.9; the average indicated yield 14,139,000.

Liverpool
Sales 4,000; receipts 300; American all. GM 1425, mid. 1875, Oct. 1279, Dec. 1259, Jan. 1260, Mar. 1263, May 1267. Due, Oct. 1265, Dec. 53, Jan. 55, Mar. 62, May 65.

Coffee
There being no evidence of confirmation of reports of Brazil negotiating a loan in this country, believe the unsatisfactory condition in the interior will result in continued lower offers which will temporarily tend to depress our market.

Sugar
The market appears to hesitate but is in a firmer technical position after the steady decline and consequent liquidation. Refiners purchase meager and on improved refined demand believe prices will work higher.

Liverpool wheat, opened, wheat unchanged. 10:35 a. m. wheat unchanged to up 1-4.

Weather
Temperatures over week end very high. Texas and Oklahoma 100 to 108. Slightly cooler other sections. Half inch rainfall New Orleans district light rainfall Jackson, Miss., Vicksburg, Shreveport, Little Rock and Lenoire.

Forecast: Monday entire belt partly cloudy and local thundershowers.

Ricardo Cortez and Jetta Goudal in the Raoul Walsh Production "The Spaniard" A Paramount Picture.

Imagine a composite of "Blood and Sand" and "The Sheik" with the best features of both pictures welded into one gorgeous Spanish romance and you have—"The Spaniard."

"The Spaniard" is "The Sheik" of 1925. It is an even stronger story, a better picture.

Raoul Walsh, director of "The Thief of Bagdad," made the picture from Juanita Savage's amazing novel. The story from start to finish is executed and delivered by W. E. Smith to J. C. Lanier on the 16th day of February 1924, which is of record in Book W-14, page 227, default having been made in the payment thereof according to its tenor, the undersigned will offer at public sale to the highest bidder, for cash, at twelve o'clock noon on Monday, the 17th day of August, 1925, at the court house door in Greenville, N. C., the following described lot of land:
Lying and being in the Town of Greenville, N. C., and being lot No. 2, in Block 8 of the Greenville Heights property, as surveyed and plotted by A. I. Schuler, C. E., of record in the office of the Register of Deeds of Pitt county, and being the lot of land conveyed to W. E. Smith by J. C. Lanier, and later conveyed by W. E. Smith to J. A. Applewhite, who assumed the payment of the foregoing mortgage indebtedness. This the 17th day of July, 1925.
J. C. LANIER,
Mortgagee.
