PENNY STORE TO OPEN HERE SOON

Merchandise Stocks Now Being Placed in Building Recently
Remodeled for New Concern

The work of placing the stock in the J. C. Penny Co. store here is now under way. The store will open for business in the near future. Mr. C. P. Earhart, manager of the Greenville Branch, informed a representative of this paper today.

The J. C. Penny Co. is one of the largest department store chains in the country and is represented in forty-four of the forty-eight states by 678 stores doing close to $90,000,000 business annually. The new large chain had its beginning in Wyoming in 1902 when the first store was established. The concern has enjoyed continued progress and the number of stores added this fall bring the total of 678 mentioned above. The headquarters of the concern are in New York and the buying offices in New York and St. Louis in order to give easy access to all markets.

Mr. Earhart, formerly manager of dry army, 200 strong, combed the Penny Store in Ord, Nebraska, Gulf Coast as far as Biloxi, Miss., is personally interested in the Greenville store and has come here with his family to make Greenville his home. "We came here to be a part of your 900 worth of liquor. The word," said Mr. Earhart, "and to apparently had been effectively passed on to the public and through it, it was stated today. Official service and quality merchandise at a price the public can afford, we hope key, wine, alcohol and contraband to gain the confidence of the people intoxicated had been spirited away to as has been the record of the J. C. hiding places known only to bootleggers in other communities."

TROOPERS QUELL RIOT FOLLOWING KLAN GATHERING

Several Injured When Trouble
Breaks Between Klansmen and Anti-Klansmen at Reading, Mass.

Reading, Mass., Aug. 13.—After racing over the road from four different barracks, a strong force of state troopers mobilized here today and stamped out a Ku Klux Klan disorder which threatened to end in bloodshed.

Before their arrival several tear bombs had been hurled, a score of Klansmen and anti-klansmen had been injured by stones and clubs, some shots had been fired and two alleged Klansmen were arrested. The meeting, which began early last night, was well advertised, the police said. The white robed Klansmen were not in session more than half an hour when the outsiders gathered and jeered them. The verbal barrage was followed by one of rocks.

The handful of town police were able to keep the two factions separated until reinforcements arrived.

Official service and quality merchandise at a price the public can afford, we hope key, wine, alcohol and contraband to gain the confidence of the people intoxicated had been spirited away to as has been the record of the J. I. C. COMMISSION HOLD RICE RATES ARE UNJUSTIFIED

Scheduled Increases in Rates
On less Than Car Load Lots
Through Southwest Would Be 25 Per Cent.

Washington, Aug. 13.—Railroad schedules which proposed last January to increase less than car load lots of rice moving from south eastern territories, were held unjustified today by the Interstate Commerce Commission. Since their announcement the schedules have been suspended. They would have resulted in an increase ranging from ten to twenty-five on less than car load shipments through most of the southern territory.

At the same time the commission for the future held that the rates on less than car load rice shipments would be fixed as sixth class under its recent decision affecting all classified freight charges in the south east.

DEBT NEGOTIATIONS WITH BELGIAN GOVT. ARE HALTED TODAY

Await Further Instructions
From Brussels as to Terms.

"Ore- offer. A reply is expected over night from Bert Jones," notorious prison breaker and highwayman, was agreed to meet again tomorrow. At that time they will have before them a new American proposal embodied some concessions which was presented today to the Belgians. While official statements regarding the negotiations continued to be withheld, there were clear indications that the commission were some distance apart on the fundamental basis of Belgium's capacity to pay, and consequently on the details, such as interest rate and annual payment on alive. The principal of the $480,000,000 debt.

There has been an agreement on the question of a brief moratorium for the debtors, but if the number of years it is to run have been determined, the fact has not been made known. America recognized that Belgium must have additional time in which to bring its financial situation more nearly to a normal basis. While the Americans today were not as optimistic as they were before the rejection of their counter proposal, they were hopeful that an agreement could be worked out after the positions of the two governments had been presented more in detail.

JUDGE DUNN TALKS PERTINENTLY

Judge Albion Dunn in his advocacy for a full eight hour day for judges and courts in order that the dockets throughout the state might be relieved of congestion is attracting attention and favorable comment from the press of the state.

In its comment the Raleigh Times says: Judge Albion Dunn, presiding for the first time over the session of Wake County Superior Court, asserts his conviction that the courts need not so much the assistance of new judges as work by those now occupying the bench. Judge Dunn is fresh from the practice, and has not lost sight of the responsibility of the bar for the delays in the administration of justice. His is not merely a complaint against his colleagues of the judiciary; rather it is a call for all hands to busy them selves with the job in hand instead of jockeying for time or passing the buck.

The greatest weakness of the courts in their delay, of course. Much of this delay results from a tendency on the part of not a few judges and many lawyers to strut their own stuff instead of turning to and dispatching the State's business. There is enough time wasted in making stump speeches and irrelevant charges to the grand juries almost to clear up the congested criminal dockets. As for the civil, a layman cannot so clearly perceive what is the matter; but there is far too much time allotted to counsel for speech-making and entirely too many continuances are asked for and granted.

The courts' lost motion is for the courts to remove. A newspaper can be of little if any assistance in doing anything about it; but it is in order to wish and that heartily, Judge Dunn's success in his efforts to impress upon the courts the demand for diligence.

DOGS OF BRESLAU YELP PROTEST AGAINST TAX IMPOSED ON THEM

Breslau.—Five thousand barking, yelping dogs of every imaginable breed, from Newfoundland, to Pekinese, created a tremendous din outside Breslau Town Hall as a protest against the yearly tax which the city imposes upon dogs.

The owners marched through the town with their dogs in leash and some of the dogs bore placards with sarcastic remarks. The procession halted outside the Town Hall, where the dogs, as if by command and to the delight of the crowd, raised their voices in unison and filled the air with their complaints, which will be investigated by the astonished city fathers.

THE FEARSOME FOURLSOME

SUMMER CONFERENCES KEEP ENGLISH COLLEGES OCCUPIED

Oxford.—Where do undergraduates go during the long vacation, is a question often asked by the uninitiated who imagine the colleges and grounds to be deserted for several weeks. Before the war they were, but the conference habit acquired during wartime has stuck and developed, and for only two weeks in the vacation is there complete silence in the buildings.

There is a constant inflow of guests to industrial conferences, educational courses and commercial conventions during which the conferees are housed and fed on the lines of a modern hotel. Students for these conferences lead the lives of undergraduates, occupy their rooms, dine in the big halls and by so doing assist the economical problems which is urgent in the cases of some colleges.

"It needed a robust faith in the end to justify such tragic means. As we advanced together through the woods we found the ape-men lying thick, transfixed with spears or arrows. Here and there a little group of shattered Indians marked where one of the anthropoids had turned to bay, and sold his life dearly. Always in front of us we heard the yelling and roaring which showed the direction of the pursuit. The ape-men had been driven back to their city, they had made a last stand there, once again they had been broken, and now we were in time to see the final fearful scene of all. Some eighty or a hundred males, the last survivors, had been driven across that same little clearing which led to the edge of the cliff, the scene of our own exploit two days before. As we arrived the Indians, a semicircle of spearmen, had closed in on them, and in a minute it was over. Thirty or forty died where they stood. The others, screaming and clawing, were thrust over the precipice, and went hurtling down; as their prisoners had of old, on to the sharp bamboos six hundred feet below. It was as Challenger had said, and the reign of man was assured, for ever in Maple White Land. The males were exterminated. Ape Town was destroyed, the females and young were driven away to live in bondage, and the long rivalry of untold centuries had reached its bloody end.

CHAPTER XV

"Our Eyes have seen Great Wonders."

I write this from day to day, but I trust that before I come to the end of it, I may be able to say that the light shines, at last, through our clouds. We are held here with no clear means of making our escape, and bitterly we chafed against it. Yet, I can well imagine that this day may come when we may be glad that we were kept, against our will, to see something more of the wonders of this singular place, and of the creatures who inhabit it.

In shape they were like horrible toads, and moved in a succession of springs.

The victory of the Indians and the annihilation of the ape-men, marked the turning point of our fortunes. From then onwards, we were in truth masters of the plateau, for the natives looked upon us with a mixture of fear and gratitude, since by our strange powers we had aided them to destroy their hereditary foe. For their own sakes they would, perhaps, be glad to see the departure of such formidable and incalculable people, but they have not themselves suggested any way by which we may reach the plains below. There had been, so far as we could follow their signs, a tunnel by which the place could be approached, the lower exit of which we had seen from below. By this, no doubt, both ape-men and Indians had at different epochs reached the top, and Maple White with his companion had taken the same way. Only the year before, however, there had been a terrific earthquake, and the upper end of the tunnel had fallen in and completely disappeared. The Indians now could only shake their heads and shrug their shoulders when we expressed our desire to descend. It may be that they cannot, but it may also be that they will not, help us to get away.

At the end of the victorious campaign the surviving ape-folk were driven across the plateau (their wallings were horrible) and established in the neighborhood of the Indian caves, where they would, from now onwards, be a servile race under the eyes of their masters. It was a rude, raw, primeval version of the Jews in Babylon or the Israelites in Egypt. At night we could hear from amid the trees the long-drawn cry, as some primitive Ezekiel mourned for fallen greatness and recalled the departed glories of Ape Town. Hovers of wood and drawers of water, such were they from now onwards.

We had returned across the plateau with our allies two days after the battle, and made our camp at the foot of their cliffs. They would have had us share their caves with them, but Lord John would by no means consent to it, considering that to do so would put us in their power if they were treacherously disposed. We kept our independence, therefore, and had our weapons ready for any emergency, while preserving the most friendly relations. We also continually visited their caves, which were most remarkable places, though whether made by man or by Nature we have never been able to determine. They were all on the one stratum, hollowed out of some soft rock which lay between the volcanic basalt forming the ruddy cliffs above them, and the hard granite which formed their base.

The openings were about eighty feet above the ground, and were led up to by long stone stairs, so narrow and steep that no large animal could mount them. Inside they were warm and dry, running in straight passages of varying length into the side of the hill, with smooth gray walls decorated with many excellent pictures done with charred sticks and representing the various animals of the plateau. If every living thing were swept from the country the future explorer would find upon the walls of these caves ample evidence of the strange fauna—the dinosaurs, iguanodons, and fish lizards—which had lived so recently upon earth.

Since we had learned that the huge iguanodons were kept as tame herds by their owners, and were simply walking meat-stores, we had conceived that man, even with his primitive weapons, had established his ascendancy upon the plateau. We were soon to discover that it was not so, and that he was still there upon tolerance.

It was on the third day after our forming our camp near the Indian caves that the tragedy occurred. Challenger and Summerlee had gone off together that day to the lake where some of the natives, under their direction, were engaged in harpooning specimens of the great lizards. Lord John and I had remained in our camp, while a number of the Indians were scattered about upon the grassy slope in front of the caves engaged in different ways. Suddenly there was a shrill cry of alarm, with the word "Stos" resounding from a hundred tongues. From every side men, women, and children were rushing wildly for shelter, swarming up the staircases and into the caves in a mad stampede.

Looking up, we could see them waving their arms from the rocks above and beckoning to us to join them in their refuge. We had both seized our magazine rifles and ran out to see what the danger could be. Suddenly from the rear belt of trees there broke forth a group of twelve or fifteen Indians, running for their lives, and at their very heels two of those frightful monsters which had disturbed our camp and pursued me upon my solitary journey. In shape they were like horrible toads, and moved in a succession of springs, but in size they were of an incredible bulk, larger than the largest elephant. We had never before seen them save at night, and indeed they are nocturnal animals save when disturbed in their lairs, as these had been. We now stood amazed at the sight, for their blotched and warty skins were of a curious fish-like iridescence, and the sunlight struck them with an ever-varying rainbow bloom as they moved. NOTED WIND JAMMER ENDS CAREER AS FISHING BARGE

Newport Beach, Cal.—The final chapter in the domantic career of the three-masted schooner Muriel is written on the sand of the beach at the entrance of the harbor here where the battered hulk of the craft, once a proud figure in the Pacific Coast commerce of windjammer days, lies a hopeless wreck.

Since her launching at Alameda, Cal., more than 30 years ago, the Muriel has established an enviable record among sailing ships on the seven seas, particularly in her fast passage while engaged in the copra trade in the South Sea Islands. She was once ranked with the finest and most stately sailing ships of the Pacific, and the waterfronts of the coast heard tales of romance and adventure woven about her by scores of scores of grizzled seamen.

Of late she had been serving in the moving picture navy, where venerable ships enact strange roles before the grinding cameras, but at length the world of make-believe also turned its back on the Muriel.

A despondent waif of the sea, stripped of her stately masts, she was recently being towed beyond the breakwater to serve as a fishing barge. But a final heave on a ground swell parted the towline, and the Muriel rode proudly on the breakers to her doom on the beach.

WYOMING FIRST GLACIATED STATE, GEOLOGIST BELIEVE

Rock Springs, Wyo., Aug. 8.—In the opinion of C. J. Hares, of Denver, a noted oil geologist, Wyoming was the first section of the country to be covered by the great ice sheet which ages ago surged down from the north. He considers that the glaciation of Wyoming occurred in the mid-tertiary period, whereas the ice sheets filled the rest of the country in the Pleistocene age. The glaciation of Wyoming was millions of years before the present great river of the Rocky Mountain region began to flow.

"Two centuries of tertiary glaciation in Wyoming are known," Mr. Hares reported to Western scientific bodies. "The ice must have been approximately 3,000 feet thick and it probably moved forward at the rate of three feet a year, taking more than 200,000 years to spread over the central and southern parts of the state where it left its most apparent traces. "The tertiary glaciation undoubtedly occupied a very long time in geologic history. It marks a profound change in the climatic conditions of that period."

European Beet Sugar Acreage Decreases Except in Russia

Rome, July 22.—Acreage devoted to beet sugar growing in European nations, producing three-quarters of the world's supply, decreased from 1,963,000 hectares in 1924 to 1,905,000 hectares in 1925, statistics gathered by the International Institute of Agriculture show.

The decrease was greatest in Spain falling from 179,000 to 78,000, and in Italy, falling from 124,000 to 50,000, while Bulgaria which had 25,000 hectares planted in 1924 had none in 1925.

On the other hand, a large increase was reported from Russia where the acreage was augmented from 345,000 to 400,000 hectares.

RUSSIAN WOLVES CAUSE HUGE LOSS

Moscow.—Destruction of livestock by wolves during the last year entailed a loss of 4,000,000 gold rubles. During that time, statistics show that 52,000 horses, 500,000 cattle and 25,000 other animals were devoured by the wolves.

Betty Compson, Wallace MacDonald and Theodore Kosloff in the Paramount Picture "New Lives for Old"

"NEW LIVES FOR OLD" AT WHITE'S

New Lives for Old, a Paramount picture starring Betty Compson, is the feature today at White's Theatre. It is a stirring, fast-moving story of international secret service in war-time with Betty caught in the net of intrigue and forced to sacrifice everything for her country.

Betty is the celebrated Parisian dancer, Olympe, toast of the boulevards. But on her holidays she is once more an humble peasant girl at her aunt's farm in Normandy. There she meets Hugh Warren, a young American captain taking his command up to the front. The time is the summer of 1918. She and Warren fall in love. He goes on to war; she returns to her Paris cafe.

Newly inspired by patriotic heights by her love, she is furious one night when she notes that a young civilian in the cafe fails to rise to drink her gay toast to France. She huris a glass of wine into his face only to discover that he has not risen because he has only one leg. She is overcome by grief, but the young man tells her that if her love for France is strong, he will give her opportunity to demonstrate it in a practical way. Thus she becomes an agent of the all-powered French secret service.

Her first commission is to spy upon de Montichard, suspected of German affiliations, but apparently a French major. She accepts, because he has repeatedly made advances to her and she hates him. As the first step in her scheme she yields to his advances and goes often to his apartment.

There, one night, she learns he has information impelling Hugh, who is now in the trenches. His message, written on the cuff of his shirt, is to be taken by an old washerwoman to a German airplane waiting in a lonely field near Paris.

Betty impersonates the washerwoman and gets the message, but before she can get away the washerwoman appears and her disguise is discovered.

From that point the story moves to a dramatic climax always with the red glare of war thundering in the background.

Wallace MacDonald, Theodore Kosloff and Sheldon Lewis are featured in support of Miss Compson in this production, directed by Clarence Badger. Other big names in the cast include Jack Joyce, Margaret Seddon, Joe Dowling, Helen Dunbar.

"I'll Tell The World This Karnak is Good"

"When a Medicine Steps in and Wipes Out a Four Year Case of Stomach Trouble Like Karnak Did for Me, It's Bound to be the Real Thing," Says Charlotte Man.

Mr. T. E. Atkinson, well known proprietor of a popular barber shop at 16 Bruns Ave., Seaverville, a suburb of Charlotte.

"When Karnak can step in and wipe out a case of stomach trouble that kept me in misery for years, like it has done, I'll tell the world it's some medicine," declares Mr. Atkinson.

"If anybody ever suffered more from indigestion and gas, I sure feel sorry for them," he continues. "Why after every meal I had such awful pains in my stomach I could hardly stand up straight. Gas pressed around my heart until I could hardly get my breath, and my stomach felt sore as a boll.

"I kept getting worse in spite of all I could do until I became so weak and rundown I could hardly stick on the job.

"At least a hundred people told me to take Karnak and when I finally started on this medicine I could just almost feel my troubles leaving me. Three bottles have fixed me up so I feel like I have a new stomach. I just eat anything I want now and don't have a minute's trouble or pain afterward. No gas at all, and I'm feeling so fine I hardly know I ever have been sick.

"I tell everybody Karnak is the greatest medicine ever made and there's plenty of people right here around me who will verify every word I say about this Karnak."

Karnak is sold in Greenville by B. S. Warren.

IRISH RETURNING AND RESTORING DESTROYED PROPERTY AT HOME

Dublin.—There are many signs in the Free State that wealthy families who, after the destruction of their property, left for England, are anxious to return. The compensation given for the destruction includes in most cases a condition for rebuilding, and this condition is being fulfilled.

Marquis of Lansdowne has rebuilt a place at Dreen not far from Killarney which was looted and burned. The Marquis has been living in Dreen, and his son and heir, the Earl of Kerry, who is a member of the Free State senate, also has a residence in the neighborhood.

The Duke of Devonshire has been living at Lisnore Castle in county Waterford. Though not burned it was badly damaged and the duke has had it restored.

Former Jay Gould Yacht Sold
Belfast.—Lord Pirrie's steam yacht, "Valiant," has been sold to the shipbuilders. The ship formerly belonged to Jay Gould, and made her first appearance in British waters, when the "Vigilant," the America Cup defender, came for a series of races with Britannia, which now belongs to King George and is still a leading figure in British yachting.

Thin People Need Plenty of Phosphate

Apt to Take On Good Healthy Flesh, If Phosphates Are Taken With Meals.

Thin men and women, nervous and constantly out of sorts, who want nerve force, energy, ambition and power of endurance, are just the people who will find a helpful friend in Evans' Triple Phosphates, which is undoubtedly just what your nerve, blood and bone cells are begging for.

Evans' Triple Phosphates feeds the nerves direct with the phosphorus food elements they crave for. So much so that one broadminded druggist says: "Let those who are weak, thin, nervous, anemic or run-down, take a natural, unadulterated substance such as Evans' Triple Phosphates and you will soon see some astonishing results in the increase of nerve, energy, strength of the body and mind and power of endurance."

Evans Triple Phosphates (the inexpensive organic phosphate) for those who are anxious to improve their health, is dispensed by Pitt Drug Co. and all leading druggists in the original package.

MANY FOREIGN AVIATORS PAY FLYING VISIT TO PORTUGAL
Lisbon.—The International Aviation Camp at Alverca took on a truly international aspect during a month more foreign aviators visited the camp than in any previous month. The first of the foreign visitors was a large British plane that gave a varied exhibition of aerial activity. Shortly after its departure for England a fleet of 14 Spanish planes soared over Lisbon.

The Spanish aviators were on a friendly visit to the airmen of Portugal and a return visit by Portuguese flyers will be made in September.

DIET MEMBER AIDS, THEN

WINS, AUSTRIAN PRINCESS
Vienna.—A romance started when a workmen's council intervened in behalf of the former Austrian princess, Elizabeth Windischgratz, will culminate in her marriage to a social democratic member of the Austrian diet, Herr Petzneck.

The council saved the princess from being ejected from her ancestral home, the Castle of Schoenbrunn. It was at that time she became acquainted with Herr Petzneck, who proved himself a friend and adviser in regard to the upbringing and education of her children. Both of the principals have been divorced.

It is proposed to place the statue a short distance from the Rhine monument.

STATE MONOPOLIES PROVE PROFITABLE FOR POLLAND

New York.—The establishment of a match monopoly by the Polish government, which, as recently announced, will be operated for a period of 20 years jointly by an American and a Swedish corporation, brings the number of state monopolies in Poland up to four. The others are alcohol, tobacco and salt.

Revenues from the existing monopolies during the first quarter of 1925, official reports received by the American Polish Chamber of Commerce show, amounted to $15,000,000. The budget estimates for the current year anticipate total net receipts from the existing monopolies, exclusive of the match monopoly, at $78,000,000. Profits from the monopolies will constitute about 18 per cent of the government's revenues this year.

The alcohol monopoly is expected to yield $20,000,000 in 1925, the first year of its operation.

FRENCH ORPHAN BOY JOINED AMERICAN ARMY AT AGE OF 10
Salem, Ore.—Capitol post No. 9 of the American Legion has an active member, Maurice Packer, a French orphan, who joined the American army in France in December, 1917, when he was 10 years old.

The 162nd Infantry adopted Packer, and to avoid technicalities his name was placed formally on the muster roll. When the outfit was in action he was left with French families back of the lines.

Wearing three service stripes, indicative of 18 months of service overseas, the boy was discharged at Camp Lewis, Wash., April 16, 1919. Thus he was entitled to full membership in the legion. An experienced bugler, he has joined the drum and bugle corps of the post.

When adopted by the soldiers, Maurice spoke little English. In the six years he has been in this country he has passed through the grades of grammar school and completed the first three years of high school.

MEAT EATING ENDORSED BY STANDARD SCIENTIST

Stanford University, Cal.—Prof. James R. Slonaker of the physiology department at Stanford University has emerged from eight years of experimenting with the conviction meat eaters, as compared with vegetarians, will live longer, have more children and be of more hardy physique, weigh 35 percent less than those fed Prof. Slonaker confined his albino meat, the females 28 percent less. His research to 40 pairs of white rats. The vegetable diet shortened the rats, but he said that the conclusion male's life 33 percent, the female's life he reached coincided with re-40 percent, caused 29 percent fewer ports of the results of restricted diet rats to be born and brought about on people in many localities after loss of the power of reproduction the World War.

He divided the rats into two equal portions of males to females was reduced by the third generation. The protein diet including a protein, the other the same diet minus the protein.

He found that withdrawing meat from the rats' diet caused males to

Same Fine Studebaker Coach

—but at a new low One-Price price

BECAUSE all Studebaker cars are manufactured on the one-price basis, we have been able to reduce the price of the Standard Six Coach without sacrificing any of the equipment or quality which made it a big seller at a higher price.

Scientific design, better materials, and finer workmanship distinguish it. And the following self-evident superiorities make it more up-to-date than the newest "yearly models":

Excess Power—According to the rating of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce this is the most powerful car of its size and weight.

Abundant Room—Room to stretch your legs—room to enter or leave without disturbing occupant of folding seat.

Sturdy Body Construction—Fine northern ash and hard maple are used. We pay a premium to get the best quality steel.

Full-size Balloon Tires—for which the steering gear, fenders and even the body lines are specially designed.

Automatic Spark Control—eliminating the usual spark lever on steering wheel.

Safety Lighting Control—on the steering wheel.

Instruments—including 8-day clock, gasoline gauge, speedometer, oil-pressure gauge and ammeter, in single grouping, under glass, on beautiful silver-faced dial.

Improved One-piece Windshield—automatic windshield cleaner, weather-proof visor, rear-view mirror, cowl lights and cowl ventilator.

Coincidental Lock—to ignition and steering wheel, which serves to reduce the theft insurance rate on Studebaker cars.

New-type Cowl Ventilator—foot operated.

There are only two cars manufactured on the one-price basis—the Studebaker in the fine-car field, and the Ford in the low-price field. Only in these two cases does one company in its own plants and with its own centralized organization make all bodies, all engines, all clutches, steering gears, differentials, springs, gear sets, gray iron castings, and drop forgings.

Studebaker has no "yearly models," but instead keeps its cars constantly up to date. Therefore this Standard Six Coach is ahead of the newest "yearly model," yet owners are protected from the artificial depreciation which has cut millions of dollars from the resale value of many makes during the past 30 days.
