

MEMBERS CAROLINA GLEE CLUB GUESTS OF KIWANIS CLUB

C. B. Rowlett Gives Interesting Report of Pinehurst Convention, While J. B. James Welcomes the Visitors

The Kiwanis Club at their regular luncheon last night experienced a very enjoyable meeting which was presided over by Marvin Blount in the absence of its president, Charlie Laughinghouse.

The Carolina Glee Club were guests of the Kiwanians, and gave several musical numbers all of which were enjoyed. Bert James, a former inmate of "The Hill" in a few words gave the boys a rousing welcome, while Parson James E. W. Cook an authority in athletics, and in interest of football lovers of the State offered a timely suggestion which if accepted would mean the reinstating of the Carolina and State game.

Will Hooker spoke in behalf of the Boy Scouts movement here as a part of the Pamphlet Council which was organized about a year ago. He presented some problems that must have the immediate attention of the business interest of this and other cities who are members of the council, and with his suggestion the club voted to meet with the Rotary Club and other business men of the city on Thursday evening of next week to the end that these important matters may be properly disposed of.

Clinton Rowlett gave a complete report of the Pinehurst district convention on which programs the Greenville Kiwanians featured at almost every session. It being customary that reports of this nature be recorded among the files of the Club, it was presented in written form, and is as follows:

The motor trip to and from the convention was most pleasing, and weather conditions could not have been more ideal, which of course placed the highways in excellent shape. For some reason which has not yet been explained several of the Greenville Kiwanians apparently got on the wrong route which prevented their reaching Pinehurst for the programs on which local members had an active part. But the entire directorate board of our club, all of whom were present except twelve have made known their delight that our members were able to share in the benefits of being present, and their unspoken joy that the Greenville club excelled all others of the district in honors won.

In the midst of his remarks during the progress of various programs, Edwin Sykes halted frequently just long enough to refer to with pride yet to be equalled attendance record scored by Greenville Kiwanians. He stated that he felt that congratulations which were in order should be directed to the individual member rather than to roster as a club, and continuing said that his chest expanded beyond its limitations because such a mark was reached by a club while he held the reins as the district chief executive, and Ed Griffin boiling over with pride responded to each reference made by the Governor. And Fred Parker, international secretary, added that he expected to carry back to headquarters always fresh in his mind the attainments of the Greenville club, that he may broadcast it not only among Brother Kiwanians, but that the world may know how easily an organization can live the principals for which it stands.

But this was not all of the honors won by the Greenville Club and its individual members. At the conclusion of the first afternoon's program Luke Herring, Ed Flanagan and Ed Batchelor on the golf course furnished the lovers of the game, of which there were 1714 present, with the thrill of their life, the two first named making the first nine holes in 27 and 28 respectively, it being a record for the course. Ed Batchelor almost equalled the mark made by his mates when he shot three birdies in succession, the closest drive being 1103 yards.

One of the lengthiest discussions of the convention and possibly the most interesting, and one in which the Greenville Kiwanians featured was created following mention of the recent breach of agreement between the athletic associations of

WYATT DENIES HE FIRED DIRECTLY AT HOLT AUTOMOBILE

Testifies That He Had No Intention of Shooting at Auto, But Fired to Attract Attention of Motorcycle Officer

Raleigh, Nov. 14.—(AP)—"I did not fire at the car, but shot at the ground at an angle of about 45 degrees in the direction of the open field for the sole purpose of attracting the attention of Leathers, the motorcycle officer ahead of us. I had no intention of shooting at the automobile."

This was the explanation that Jesse H. Wyatt, former Detective Captain on trial in Wake County Superior Court for the killing of Stephen S. Holt, Smithfield lawyer, gave to the jury Saturday in support of his contention that the death was an accidental one.

Wyatt vigorously denied that he fired directly at the car in which Holt was riding, or even for the purpose of stopping the machine. The defendant left the stand after having undergone a lengthy cross examination at the hands of Solicitor Evans, and during which for one and one-half hour he never varied his story. Wyatt began his testimony Friday afternoon by a story of his early life, and details of his work on the police force the day of the shooting and prior to the time when the police car approached the Johnson county automobile near the Walnut Creek Bridge on the Smithfield road, June 1. He resumed his evidence today and left the stand shortly after 11 o'clock.

The trial was interrupted at that point when Judge Midgett called attention to the fact that some important matters should be considered during the afternoon. It developed that the Wyatt case could go over to next week, but other cases now pending must be settled before the present term of court expires by limitation of midnight tonight. The trial therefore was continued until Monday.

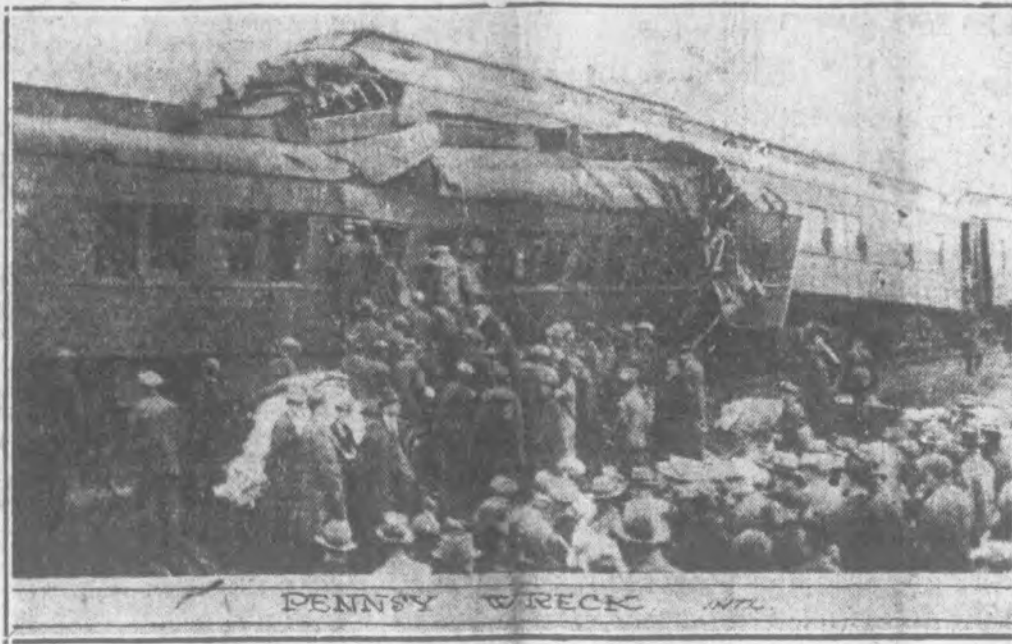

Scores of Love Letters to Be Introduced in Rhinelander's Suit

White Plains, N. C., Nov. 14.—(AP)—Scores of other love letters remain to be introduced in Leonard Rip Rhinelander's annulment suit when the trial is resumed Monday.

Carolina and State colleges. The principal part of which followed the receiving of telegrams from President Coolidge and Governor McLean in which the convention body was urged to use its influence in having this annual game reinstated on North Carolina's schedule of athletics. At this point Greenville scored another victory when Bert James arose to his feet and in the interest of this annual event, the most important game of each football season, suggested that the conflict be staged on July 3rd, and that it was not to be played further south than the southern coast of Florida. This was immediately accepted by the convention and resolutions were ordered drafted with Frank Harrington as chairman of the committee, requesting the representatives of the two colleges to consider seriously the suggestion of Bert's to the end that such a schedule might be adopted.

At the close of the convention retiring president, Sykes made a desperate effort to find some of the members of the Greenville Club that he might grasp the hands of that loyal band as he described them. But after strict search which carried him all over Pinehurst and even into the outlying districts, he accidentally stumbled into Jim Applewhite near the 12th hole of the golf course he having heard of the achievements of the Greenville golf players had come from Jacksonville—in Onslow county to look over the course on which the scores were made. The retiring president expressed his regret of not finding any of our members but asked Jim to convey to us his last message, and that was that he hoped when the next convention was held that the Greenville club would at least acknowledge receipt of announcements mailed that such a convention was going to be held. C. B. Rowlett, Alias Annunias.

Local Legion Post To Elect Officers Tuesday Evening

All Legionnaires' attention is called to the regular monthly meeting of the P. H. County Post on next Tuesday night, November 17. The meeting will be held at the Rotary Club Building, and will open at 7:30 p. m. with a good dinner for all present and a special dinner is promised this time, so don't forget to send in your card in order that the committee may put your name in the kitchen. (C. K. P.'s are needed.)

Also particular attention is called to the election of officers. Come out and bring your candidate and vote for him. Don't stay away from the meeting and then all next year find fault with the officers elected, because when they are elected they are as much your officers as any body's.

The Anniversary Day celebration was good in every respect, and shows that every year the ex-servicemen are becoming more and more interested in the celebration of November 11. It will be interesting to hear the report of the different committees for this occasion. But it takes interest thru out the year to make Anniversary Day worth while as a day of celebration and jubilation, and the interest the members of the Legion and all ex-servicemen now show, determines just what kind of demonstration we will have on November 11, 1927; start right by attending the meeting next Tuesday night.

DAUGHTERS OF CONFEDERACY TO ELECT NEW REGIME AT MEET

DAMASCUS IS LIKE A BESEIGED CITY

Narrow Thoroughfares Filled With Soldiers and at Curfew Hour City Becomes as Dead

Damascus, Syria, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Damascus is like a besieged city. Every body except the military forces must be in doors by eight o'clock in the evening and during the day there are so many soldiers in the narrow thoroughfares that one is almost continually running into rifles, picking one's way through barbed wire entanglements, or tumbling across sand bag barricades.

At the curfew hour street cars cease running. The people disappear like magic and the most beautiful of the Syrian Oasis becomes as dead, apparently as the deserts surrounding it. Outside Damascus rebels are regularly burning bridges, raiding a suburb, or committing some other act which requires the dispatching of a French expedition against them.

All the territory outside Damascus and for a distance, in extent the size of the State of New Jersey, now is in the hands of the rebel Druse tribesmen and the allies and the French forces hold only six cities on the railway from Aleppo, in the north, to Dera, in the south. Fifty thousand troops, or double the forces now in Syria, would be required to restore order in the country, competent observers declare.

ROMANCE OF COLUMBUS SHOWN IN RELIC COLLECTION

Chicago.—Tangible records of Christopher Columbus—the most mysterious and romantic figure in America's historical background—are being accumulated here in a collection of relics and pictures, documents and seals, which began with the World Columbian Exposition here in 1893.

The anchor of iron which stabilized the flagship Santa Maria of the exploring fleet, has been added to the Columbian exhibit of the Chicago Historical Society by gifts from the South Park board. More than nine feet high, weighing nearly two tons, the anchor reposed in Santo Domingo, Haiti, for nearly four centuries.

Presented to the exposition by Dr. Alejandro Llenas of Puerto Rico, Santo Domingo, the anchor has been authenticated by many museum curators. It was secured by Dr. Llenas during his extensive research into Columbus lore and relics in the West Indies.

In the ruins of Navidad, 200 years after its founding, was found an inventory by Columbus' own hand. "Anchor of the caravel," was on the faded parchment.

Relics of the early voyages of Columbus remained in the West Indies. In La Rabida, a convent on the rocky coast of Spain, many of these mementoes of the great navigator have been collected into what is considered the greatest exhibit of Columbiana in the world.

NEWS BUREAU FOR N. C. NEWSPAPERS TO OPEN IN WASH.

Mr. R. E. Powell, Well-Known Newspaper Man, Will Open the Bureau for a String of Newspapers

Raleigh, Nov. 14.—(AP)—R. E. Powell, Raleigh correspondent of the Durham Herald and a number of afternoon papers for the past two years, left last night for Washington where he will open a newsbureau for a string of North Carolina newspapers.

He was in Raleigh in 1921 and 1922 as correspondent of the Charlotte Observer and the Asheville Citizen, and then became identified with the Goldsboro News. He returned to Raleigh in 1922 as City Editor of the Raleigh Times and later opened a news bureau for a number of North Carolina papers.

Prohibition Scandal of Huge Proportions Appears Imminent

Chicago, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Disclosures, which Government officials indicate might develop into prohibition enforcement scandal of huge proportions, have been made in connection with a federal inquiry into Chicago's $800,000 a month beer syndicate.

The disclosures came on the heels of the fifth extended stay of prison sentence granted Abe Levin, wealthy broker, and the resignation of James L. McDowell, assistant United States attorney.

ELITE OF LIVESTOCK GROOMED FOR THE INTERNATIONAL EXHIBIT

Chicago.—In quest of tiny blue ribbons and $100,000 in prizes, symbolic of championship, ten thousand cattle, swine and horses—the best in the country—will compete in this year's International Livestock Exposition.

While judges from the United States, Canada, England and Scotland are viewing this great army of livestock, agriculture also will be having its day, for the International Grain and Hay Show and the National Boys' and Girls' Club Congress will meet as departments of the exposition.

A display of newly discovered varieties of crops and an exhibition of work accomplished by farm boys' girls' clubs will be among other features.

Three hundred thousand persons are expected to visit the show, which will continue from November 28 to December 5.

Ordered to Surrender Key of Car to Sheriff for Period 60 Days

Salisbury, Nov. 14.—(AP)—Judge Charles Coggins, of Rowan county court, has his on an additional method of preventing those under suspended sentences for driving an automobile while under the influence of liquor from driving a car during the period prohibited by the court.

A recent defendant, convicted on this charge, was put under a suspended road sentence. The suspension was on condition that the defendant not operate a car in six months, and that he surrender the key to his own car to the sheriff for a period of 60 days. The key surrendering clause of the proviso is new in Rowan.

LATEST BOBS AND WAVES NOW AVAILABLE TO CHINESE GIRLS

San Francisco.—For the first time the beauty shop has invaded Chinatown. Two of them are doing a flourishing business.

The operators are Chinese girls, graduates of hair-dressing and manicure schools, and on the walls hang diplomas informing customers that they are duly qualified.

Most of the patrons are Chinese girls who want the latest bobs and waves. However, an occasional Chinese sheik, with pinch-back coat and 22 inch trouser cuffs, can be seen opposite the manipulator of orange stick, cuticle knife and buffer.

ABANDON HOPE OF RESCUING CREW OF SUBMARINE M-1

Admiralty Officers Still in the Dark Regarding Cause of Disaster and Encounters No Sign That Would Lead to Locating the Vessel

London, Nov. 14.—(AP)—The Admiralty deeply regrets that they can no longer hold out any hope that the crew of the M-1 still survives.

This brief official announcement this morning was taken as definitely sealing the fate of the 68 officers and men entombed in the Monitor Submarine M-1, which disappeared off the Devonshire Coast during Thursday's maneuvers.

Although mine sweepers and other vessels have been searching the waters of the channel almost continuously since the vessel submerged early Thursday morning during maneuvers, they have encountered no signs which would lead to hope. There has been nothing to confirm the report that the hull of the vessel located in the channel yesterday was the M-1 rather than that of any one of the numerous wrecks supposed to be lying on the floor of the channel, some of which were sunk during the war by German submarines. Admiralty officers are still in the dark as much as ever regarding the cause of the disaster.

IN ANY DIALECT "B-A-T" IN CHINA MEANS UNITED STATES TOBACCO

Shanghai.—There are many dialects in China; but in all of them B-a-t spells British-American Tobacco Company. The firm has come to hold a unique place in the life of the Chinese people. Its name is a household word.

This conquest of the country has been achieved with the cigarette. Directly or indirectly the company employs 25,000 people in growing, manufacturing and distributing its products.

From the beginning China took kindly to the soothing cigarette imported from America. As long as 35 years ago it became apparent to one leading Shanghai importing house that some means to manufacture cigarettes in China must be devised to cope with the swiftly expanding demand. It was then that the first cigarette-manufacturing machinery was brought from America.

From a little factory with a handful of workers, established in 1891 across the river from Shanghai, the British-American Tobacco Company has grown to its present magnitude, outstripping the parent that created it, which now is a subsidiary concern. The company's business is confined to China, and its remarkable success its officials assert may be attributed to a policy of meriting the good will of the Chinese people.

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT MEDITATION

RED LETTER DAYS

"This month shall be unto you the beginning of months; it shall be the first month of the year to you."—Exodus 12:2.

The anniversary of Armistice Day, which we celebrated last Wednesday, has reminded me of some of the outstanding days which characterize human life, and which we sometimes call "Red Letter Days."

Armistice Day has made an indelible impression upon the minds of this generation; and, if we are wise, if we are alive to our opportunity and faithful to our trust, we shall teach our children and our children's children the glorious significance of the day so that it will never be forgotten.

To most of us the Armistice anniversary is a gladsome day. We rejoice again that the bloody carnage in Europe came to a sudden stop. We thank God that so few of our American boys were lost, and that so many hundreds of thousands returned home to re-enter the pursuits of peace.

But to some, Armistice Day is at best a sad and chastened memory. I think it was Frank Boreham who tells this story:

She was a poor, faded, little woman giving proof in Court of the signing of a certain important paper, with a run of questions and answers as follows:

"So you saw the paper signed, did you?"
"Yes, Sir."

"And you say it was on the 30th day of August?"
"Yes, Sir."

"Well now," persisted the questioning counsel, "would you be so good as to tell us just how you know it was the 30th of August?"

"I know it was," she cried in a tone of fresh affirmation, "for it was the day on which my baby died."

That is just how we know some days; not so much from the mere date as from what happened on it. And many a mother will remember October 11, 1918, as the day her lad, who bravely went to the front, could not join in the shouts of rejoicing, because his lips were closed under the blood-soaked soil of Flander's Field.

But there are other "Red Letter Days" in most lives; and, thank God, most of them are radiant with joy!

There is the day we met Love, the memory of which is as fragrant and fresh as the rose of yesterday.

There is the day when we were delivered from some special danger.

History is full of such days.

The Jews never forgot their escape from Egyptian slavery. They changed their calendar, and made their year date from the month of their emancipation.

When in 1776, the Declaration of Independence was issued from Philadelphia, liberating the Colonists from the injustices of a greedy and licentious ruler, and announcing the Birthday of a new nation in which power should belong to people and not to kings; the "Red Letter Day" of the 4th of July was written so deeply that it will never be erased as long as our nation exists.

These national deliverances have their counterparts in individual lives. I doubt if there is any one man or woman who can not point to the time when they were sore afraid because of the difficulties and dangers that lay in the path before them; but, like Pilgrim in Bunyan's immortal story, when they came to the lions they found someone had gone before them and the lions' mouths were shut.

Then there are days of rich, happy, hill-top ecstasy when the "crowded hours of glorious life" were crimson with joy—so full that we wanted to pray:—

"Lord, stay Thine hand, or the vessel will break."

Yes, there is no life so lowly and poor that has not some of these "Red Letter Days."

Someone may say with sadness, "What you have said is all true; but these days are passed and gone forever. The reddest, ruddiest days will never return. I can not hope to get out of life the joy I once experienced. Red Letter Days do not return."

In a sense that is true. In another and wider sense it is not true. My Gospel of "Red Letter Days" is radiant with the hopeful message that "the best is yet to be." The ripest vintages are yet to be found; the best wine is yet in store; the happiest surprises await us farther down life's winding road; and the richest discoveries of God's love and mercy are yet to be made.

"Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man the things which God hath prepared for them that love Him. But God hath revealed them"—or will reveal them if we let him—"unto us by His Spirit."

"The path of the just shineth more and more unto the perfect day."

EAT TOO FAST

South Carolinian Took Black-Draught For Indigestion, and Says He Could Soon Eat Anything.

Ballentine, S. C.—Mr. W. B. Bouknight, of this place, gave the following account of his use of Theoford's Black-Draught:

"Just after I married I had indigestion. Working out, I got in the habit of eating fast, for which I soon paid by having a tight, bloated feeling after meals. This made me very uncomfortable. I would feel stupid and drowsy, didn't feel like working. I was told it was indigestion. Some one recommended Black-Draught and I took it after meals. I soon could eat anything any time.

"I use it for colds and biliousness and it will knock out a cold and carry away the bile better and quicker than any liver medicine I have ever found."

Eating too fast, too much, or faulty chewing of your food, often causes discomfort after meals. A pinch of Black-Draught, washed down with a swallow of water, will help to bring prompt relief. Bloating, sensations, eructations, bad breath and other common symptoms of indigestion, have disappeared after Black-Draught has been taken for several days. NC-164

A cast of unusual excellence is seen in support of Tom Meighan in his latest production for Paramount, "The Man Who Found Himself," directed by Alfred E. Green from an original screen story by Booth Tarkington. Virginia Valli, popular star and leading woman, has the principal feminine role in the story, which was adapted to the screen by Tom J. Geraghty, supervisor of Meighan's pictures. Two women prominent on the stage, who appear with Mr. Meighan, are Julia Hoyt and Lynn Fontanne. COLLEGE NEWS

Miss Agnes Rice of Iowa State Teachers College was a visitor at East Carolina College yesterday. Miss Rice was on her way to Washington, where she speaks to the North Eastern Division of the North Carolina Education Association.

Miss Rice spoke on the importance of specific training for teachers and a better adjustment of the curriculum to the needs of child life. She said that we must study the child and his needs, and help him to work out his own problems instead of working them out for him. This requires the highest skill and training and the best equipment.

North Carolina has a way of building magnificent high school buildings and equipping them magnificently and then placing the small children in the basement of some building that has been discarded for other purposes.

Work on the campus building is progressing satisfactorily. It is hoped that the building will be ready for occupancy early in 1926.

Mrs. Kate Beckwith who has been lady principal for several years has recently resigned. She has moved to Florida where she has financial interests.

Miss Annie Morton who is now principal of one of the city schools of Marion, N. C., will succeed Mrs. Beckwith. Miss Morton will probably not take up her new duties until about the first of December.

LIBRARY NEWS

There is no frigate like a book,
To take us lands away,
Nor any coursers like a page
Of prancing poetry.

This traverse may the poorest take
Without oppress of toll;
How frugal is the chariot
That bears a human soul!
—Emily Dickinson.

All aboard! All aboard! All aboard!
Why?
To go a journey.
Where?
To every land.
Who can go?
Everybody.
How?
Cross the threshold of the Greenville Library; take down a book, and let it carry you.

There are many voyages offered, enough different kinds to suit every type of observer. Does it interest you to think about whether we do things because we want to do them or because they are right, or whether we do them because we and our forebears have always done them? Then travel with Conrad and let him show you the effects of the isolation of Central Africa upon Englishmen. Perhaps you do not want to think, but wish to be just lazy and languorous. Somerset Maugham is the man for you. He will lead you along silvery beaches where little waves whisper in the moonlight of the South Seas. But perhaps your soul is valiant, and longs for those struggles with the forces of nature that yield rich rewards to the hardy traveler. Sail you with Shackleton and trudge with him thru Antarctic snows, measuring winds and tides; or else join that party of courageous Englishmen who fought their way up the sides of Everest. Take A Passage for India and observe other Englishmen working and ruling in that strange land of which most of us have heard but little since Kipling grew silent about it.

Whichever way you go, adventures await you, and the acquaintance of men and women who will give you new ideas and the answers, perhaps, to some of those questions you have been asking yourself.
M. M. HALL.

STORY TELLING HOUR GREATLY ENJOYED

Wednesday afternoon was thoroughly enjoyed by about one hundred children of grades two, three, and four. Miss Coates, Miss LaRue Floyd, Miss Vida Bell, and Miss Clyde Hooks, all of East Carolina Teachers College spent the hour in entertaining with stories. Such productions as The Awful Fate of Wolf, Brown Eyed Susan, The Tar Baby, The Three Minstrels and The Red, White and Blue Fairies made Wednesday of National Book Week a really truly special to the children in attendance.

The special features of National Book Week closed on Friday afternoon with the entertainment of the little folk. Mrs. Adams called attention to Friday being the anniversary of the birth of Robert Louis Stevenson by teaching the children verses from this beloved author, then a short time was given to the telling of Thanksgiving stories and finally a period was given over to games. At the close of the story hour, the hostess, Mrs. Everett with Miss Blanche Clark and Miss Mary Shepherd Keel assisting, served ice cream to the children. The Library commission feels that the special story hours for the week were indeed worth while in that 250 children responded to the opportunity of entertainment which represented the best hour may again be established as in literature for children. It is hoped has been in former years for children that later in the year a regular story dren.

Gorman's Market Report

The sales have blocked all the week but all houses sold out Friday. GORMAN'S sold this week 608,646 pounds. Our Monday's sale of 202,228 pounds averaged $37.50 for the entire sale. We have had a sprinkling of fine tobacco this week and this has sold higher than at any time this season. The thin cuttery tobacco was some easier the last of the week as the Export Tobacco Co., was not buying as freely as they did the first of the week. The tobacco with body has held up well and prices on our sales Friday on all tobacco with body (when graded properly) was fully as high as at any time during the week. GORMAN'S has First Sale Monday, Second Sale Tuesday, First Sale Wednesday, Second Sale Thursday and First Sale Friday. We believe after Monday that the sales will lighten up materially and that we will not "block" unless we get rain for as much as two days. Come see our sales. We have had many this week who sold elsewhere tell us they would be sure to sell the balance of their crop at GORMAN'S. We protect you. Below we give you a few sales:
