SHORTAGE OF FUEL HARD COAL REGION CAUSING TROUBLE

Many Families and Public Institutions and Factories Face a Serious Situation

Philadelphia, Dec. 19.—(AP)—While efforts to settle the anthracite strike are proceeding there is some suffering from shortage of fuel in the hard coal region with the result that coal "bootlegging" has developed and there has been at least one case of violence.

At Wilkesbarre many families and public institutions and factories face a serious situation. Believing that the strike would be of short duration but few persons laid in supplies. These are now nearly exhausted and it is next to impossible to obtain more.

The shortage in Sunbury, 19 miles from the Coal fields, has led to what is described by Union officers as coal bootlegging. Coal is shipped to Sunbury from an unregulated source and delivered at night at prices ranging from $16 to $18 a ton. Approximately 100 tons a day are being sold. Investigation by officers of the Union is underway as one of the demands of the organization in permitting maintenance men to remain at work during the strike was that no coal should be shipped. The first actual violence since the strike started September 1st, was reported last night from Carbondale. A baker there was held up by a score of men while bringing a truck load of coal from Germyn, and shot through the leg.

TOBACCO MARKET HAS BEST SEASON IN ITS HISTORY

Has Sold Over 43 Million Pounds at An Average of $26.39

The Greenville Tobacco Market closed yesterday for the Christmas holidays and will re-open Tuesday, January 12th, with three complete sets of buyers on the market. All large companies and independents will be represented with buyers on each of the three sales.

The market for the past week sold 2,890,732 pounds, bringing the total number of pounds sold during the season to 43,034,490 pounds for $11,357,775.25, averaging $26.39. This is the largest number of pounds sold in any one season since the opening of the Greenville tobacco market. The next best season being in 1920, when 38,837,331 pounds were sold at an average of $29.92.

Great preparations are being made for next season. The market is practically assured of four sets of buyers, with probably two new warehouses. The factories will be enlarged thereby increasing their handling capacity.

Editor Davidson College Magazine Asked to Resign

Davidson, Dec. 19.—(AP)—"Dim Morning" described as an attack on the "necking evil" has been the cause of a certain amount of consternation in the student body of Davidson College, N. C., the publication of an article in the Davidson College Magazine. This was learned today when reports were officially confirmed that Charles F. Monk, editor of the student publication had been asked to resign by the faculty several days ago. This move was followed by a vote from the student body refusing to accept the resignation and it was then shown that the faculty was supreme and the editor complied with the request.

SMOKER JOPES GIRL; ROBS HER ON TRAIN

Nice, France, Dec. 19.—(INS)—Steer-producing cigarettes smoked by the man in her compartment are believed to be responsible for the loss of 12,000 francs from the pocketbook of Mrs. Maria Szell, a pretty German woman, on her way to Monte Carlo to meet her husband.

Boarding the train at Lyon, Mrs. Szell was the only occupant of the section. Soon after passing Marseilles a young man boarded the train, took the seat opposite her and began smoking cigarettes.

HOUSE'S VISIT TO CAPITAL CAUSING QUITE A FLUTTER

Confidential Advisor Woodrow Wilson Is House Guest of President Coolidge Appropriate Program

Washington, Dec. 19.—(AP)—Colonel Edward M. House, for years President Wilson's confidential advisor and appointed by him as a member of the Versailles Commission, is a house guest of President Coolidge at the White House.

Inherited by any public disclosure of his plan, the Colonel arrived in Washington last night and by invitation went at once to the Executive Mansion. Today he visited Secretary Kellogg at the State Department. His sudden appearance amid surroundings that once were so familiar to him, and at a time when the President and Secretary of State are seeking advice on the League of Nations' invitation to take part in a disarmament meeting, caused something of a flutter in official and diplomatic Washington.

Under President Wilson's appointment Colonel House was of the American Committee which drew up the League Covenant at Versailles and through the acquaintances then performed, and as a result of many trips abroad he has kept himself well informed about intricate details of the League's operations.

MAKES APPEAL FOR WHITE CHRISTMAS

Rev. L. R. O'Brian Shows the Great Need of Funds to Carry on Work of Foreign Missions

Surely the most unselfish gift that this world has ever known was the gift of an Only Begotten Son. Compared to this all other gifts pale away into insignificance. What love pre-conceived it! What heart struggling entered into it! What a sacrifice prompted it!

After all is not the most of our Christmas exchanging of gifts more or less selfish? We give to our loved ones and they reciprocate with another gift. We give to our friends and in due time the moral gift brings its accustomed return. We give to those whom we love it is true but custom has made it a mere swapping of Christmas presents in many instances. It is no common thing now to hear someone say, "I'll be glad when it's over."

Far be it from me to take away this hallowed season any worth expression or sentiment. Neither would I dare impugn the motive of any father, mother, friend or lover who truly desires to make glad the heart of another on the occasion of this happy commemoration. But if we would truly honor Him, the greatest Giver and the most Sublime Gift, is there not a better way?

In all our churches our Mission Boards are struggling beneath the load of overwhelming debt. In many instances we face the terrible disaster of recalling many of our missionaries from the fields unless something is speedily done, not to mention the fact of sending others which is utterly out of the question. Why may we not make this a great White Christmas? Why may we not rise to a higher plane of expressing our joy in this Yuletide Season and combine our gifts in a liberal and glorious offering to foreign missions in our various churches? Would this not be the most sensible, the most needed, the most unselfish and the most sacrificial method of expressing our deep appreciation of His Unspeakable Gift this year?

L. R. O'BRIAN.

CONVICTED? OF WHAT? MITCHELL FOR SENATOR. IF NEW YORK HAD A BOOM WE ARE 100,000 YEARS OLD. ARTHUR BRISBANE

A court martial finds Colonel Mitchell guilty. Guilty of what, telling the truth, of course, about a lot of official incompetents, and rendering an important service to his country.

The "conviction" of Colonel Mitchell in the public estimation, no Mitchell.

In this whole performance the public can find one comfort. The political career of Mr. Weeks, formerly Secretary of War, is as completely ended as that of a mackerel, carefully salted and pressed down at the bottom of the barrel.

Colonel Mitchell's career is just beginning. The people will not forget a man of courage, who has refused to join the lick spittle brigade of officers that say whatever they are expected to say, covertly the stupidity of superiors that they may be rewarded with promotion.

Mitchell ought now to run for Senator on the Democratic ticket in Wisconsin. He would teach a useful lesson to some blind Republicans.

Wisconsin appreciates men of courage and has not forgotten that Colonel Mitchell's grandfather, in the early days, was one of the best builders of the great state of Wisconsin.

The main thing is that the people have learned the truth from Mitchell. What he has said about the miserable incompetency of our aircraft has been confirmed by men that understand flying. The rest of the Mitchell story will be told inside of Congress and outside by Mitchell himself.

For real deals in real estate observe New York City. Millions upon millions are poured out; no one notices it.

One man, F. F. French, announces a building project to supply living quarters for 800,000 people. They will be housed in buildings towering toward the sky and covering a small plot on Manhattan Island. In one corner of greater New York, there will be a new little group of 800,000 people, in it self, "one of the great cities of America."

What will happen if New York ever has a real estate boom?

Sir Oliver Lodge thinks the human race may be 100,000 years old. Human beings and their history are "still in the morning of time," say the great scientist. If it be true that we are only 12,000 years from the late Stone Age, the other 88,000 years might well have been enough to raise men from a long toothed, heavy-jawed "primitivity" to the relatively civilized stone age man.

Changes are slow or they are violently rapid. For thousands of years men were content to travel on animals, or slowly moving clumsy vehicles.

And in less than one century came the change to the steam rail road, automobiles, flying machine the submarine, and from the messenger on foot to wireless.

What will the race do in the next 100,000 years?

You have seen a picture of the flood, with women, children, furs and other wild beasts gathered on a narrow ledge of rock, no hurting each other. The flood curb'd their fierceness.

Similarly, in France, with the Franc in danger you see "conservative" "moderates," extreme radicals, crowding together to help the Franc, forgetting hatred for each other.

"If the Franc should go all wrong," say the leaders, "and even though we hate each other we must consider that fact."

But the Franc won't go, and one fine day those that are selling it short will make up with a head ache.

England, celebrating Locarno suggests to France: "Let us send down our fighting air fleet and save money."

KIWANIS CLUB TO OBSERVE FUN NITE NEXT MEET

Rendered at Last Night's Meet; Old Officers Preside for Last Time

Last night's meeting of the Kiwanis Club which was the last of the present year presented one of the most enjoyable and appropriate programs during the regime of the old officers who officiated for the last time. It being on the eve of the holiday season, each number of the program carried a message of good cheer to the members and the several visitors in attendance.

After the usual routine of business the meeting was turned over to Marvin Blount who was in charge of the program. Kwanian I. E. W. Cook read an article by Edgar A. Guest entitled "Christmas in my home, which was much enjoyed. Miss Bessie Brown with Mrs. M. K. Blount at the piano sweetly sang a sacred solo that was appropriate of the season. Miss Bertha Lee Ferguson pleased the club with the reciting of Henry Vandyke's "Other Wise Man."

Dr. Chas. O'H. Laughinghouse, the retiring president reviewed briefly the accomplishments of the club during the year, and expressed his appreciation for the loyal support he had received from the members.

The next meeting of the club will be on New Year's, and will be fittingly observed as "fun night."

Says Verdict of Court Martial Insults America

Washington, Dec. 19.—(AP)—The Mitchell Court Martial case came to the floor of the House for the first time today when Representative Tillman, Democrat of Arkansas, charged that the court was organized to "get the Colonel" and that its verdict "insulted free America."

"I call upon the granite faced and granite souled Presidents of this country's justice loving nation," he said, "to mitigate or wash this harsh sentence."

The court's edict suspending the officer from rank and pay for five years because of his attack on Government aviation policies, Mr. Tillman continued was "shameless, unusual, and cruel."

"They sought to affix a gag," he said, "and at the same time impoverish him and his family. It seems that in this trial the usual military procedure was not allowed to take its ordinary course."

FREE DOUGHTON OF CHARGES IN SALISBURY CASE

Jury Expected to Deliberate on Norwood Case Tonight

Greensboro, Dec. 19.—(AP)—J. K. Doughton, co-defendant with John D. Norwood, charged with violating the national banking laws, was found not guilty by Judge John H. Watkins, in federal court here today.

Doughton and Norwood were on trial in connection with the failure of the Peoples' National Bank of Salisbury. Norwood has not yet received a verdict. The jury is expected to begin deliberation on his case tonight.

"If the jury found Doughton guilty, I would set aside the verdict," Judge Watkins declared in answering the plea made by Colonel Frank P. Hobgood, defense counsel, that the case be thrown out.

Assistant District Attorney Watkins, admitted in arguing the motion that the evidence involving Mr. Doughton in the charges was only by inference and "I am frank to admit a vague inference." The Government opposed the motion however, on the ground that even though the alleged false entries were on bona fide transactions that the defendant was aware of them. Argument by contending counsel is scheduled to begin late this afternoon.

Today's session was occupied chiefly by the introduction of character witnesses and Norwood took the stand in his own defense. "It was indicated that when all the testimony was in, Norwood's attorney would address the court with a motion to quash the case against Norwood on the ground of insufficient evidence to convict."

William E. Folger, chief examiner at Bank Examiner, testified early today that he went to Salisbury at Doughton's request five or six days before the bank closed. He said he did not examine the bank at that time, but that he closed it on authority of the directors after a run on the bank had been occasioned by the failure of the Mecklenburg Mills. Folger denied that any deposit had been made after the bank closed.

Turkey at Present Is In His Glory

Harrison, Ark., Dec. 19.—(INS)—The big, bronze turkey, piece de resistance for Thanksgiving and Christmas dinners, at present is in his glory in this section of the Ozarks. Receipts from all other crops, from the apple orchards and the strawberry beds, from cattle, hogs, and dairy products, are eclipsed at this season each year by the amounts derived from the sale of his dignified, strutting, fan-tailed Majesty.

It is estimated that from 5,000 to 7,000 turkeys were purchased by local produce houses during one week recently, the prices paid averaging from 22 to 35 cents per pound. An estimate of the proud size of this year's bird may be obtained when it is stated that the average price paid per head is from $3.50 to $4.00.

During one day recently a high-water mark in sales was created when more than 6,000 of the birds were purchased and shipped to produce houses in the larger cities. Some high record prices for a single load of turkeys have been established during the past few days, one truck-load recently bringing $357.00, and several other loads bringing sums totaling more than $300 each.

LIGHTNING TURNS FOOD ON TABLE TO CINDERS BUT DINERS ESCAPE

Johannesburg, Dec. 19.—(INS)—A strange lightning freak occurred in the village of Brixton Ridge near this city recently. A man and his wife were sitting at lunch in their cottage in the village when a streak of lightning burst into the room and turned the food on their plates into cinders.

Several holes were made in the walls, but the man and the woman were uninjured except for peculiar r-bbed stripes on their backs and feet.

EVENTIDE
Draw down the curtains, the day has departed,
Shadows are falling on landscape and deep,
Their games are all over—the children have parted,
Some smile already in innocent sleep;
Let us fold up our work; we are weary tonight,
The morning will bring us new strength and more light.

Circle the hearth for the evenings are colder;
Let us clasp hands at the close of the day
Not so much wiser, and yet all of us older,
Grown-ups we toil, but like children we pray—
And where we attempted, so little was done—
But duties return with the next rising sun.

What shall we say of our lessons learnt badly?
Very poor scholars are we in life's school!
Unfinished, or shirked, the confession comes sadly,
The Teacher forgotten, and broken His rule;
We failed at the problem, went down in the test,
And maybe in trying we did not our best.

Ah! that we might be more faithfully learning
All that our Master His pupils would teach,
More earnest in training, more clearly discerning
The scope of the plan He has marked out for each;
And say, when the purpose is hidden from sight,
"The Teacher has given it, the task must be right."

Could we sit down at the feet of the Holy,
Ever responsive to touch and to tone,
All of our powers surrendered Him wholly,
Growing in stature, more like Him alone;
Until He shall call when our evening has come—
"The session is ended, My children come home."

So would we press on more knowledge attaining,
Loving disciples, His students would be,
Unto His praise be the glory of gaining
Truths which the wise of the world cannot see;
And when the Just Judge shall decide the award,
Obtain through His merits our prize and reward.

THE MAYFLOWER

Washington, D. C.

Washington, Dec. 19.—War has again been forced upon the government of the United States. The taking up of arms by Uncle Sam is due, moreover, to what has long been said would be the only influence which ever again could drive this nation into combat—Invasion by an enemy power. The Commissioners of the District of Columbia have ordered police with long poles and finemen with lines of hose to attack the sparrows which crowd the trees along the busy downtown thoroughfares and make life a nuisance to passerby.

Washington is a worse victim of sparrows than is any other city in all the land, due to the fact that the National Capital's business streets as well as residence thoroughfares are lined with shade trees. Thousands of birds fill the branches and their chatter and fighting and darting about a great annoyance to the throngs on the sidewalks below. So, after enduring these wrongs, the sovereign government of the United States of America goes to war.

Today's "Gapperism" is becoming an influence in Congress, too. That staid and supposedly slow-moving body has had its attention directed to the tendency of fealdity in these times to steer clear of domestic duties in order to take of lice and department store posts where bobbed hair and vivid complexion tinting will be seen of a man—as is not possible if a young woman's sphere is that of the housemaid or cook. To cure this ill—or, rather, to ameliorate the sufferings of its real victims, the housewives—it is proposed by Rep. Sol Bloom of New York to permit more foreign-born women of the working class to enter our ports than now may come in under the immigration laws.

"Why, you can't get a housemaid at any price you can afford," the New York legislator told his fellow lawmakers in explaining the why and whereof of his measure. "Thousands of capable cooks are proving themselves poor sales girls behind store counters. But what good is it to talk of them? They don't and the housemaid or the kitchen worker catching rich husbands in the screen plays they see so they forsake housework for of ice and shop jobs. Let's bring in more stout willing young women to the old world to do servant tasks here, and then everybody will be happy."

But Rep. Boise of Iowa, whose constituency is largely Scandinavian, shook his head in doubt at a forshodding. "It sounds well enough," the Hawkeye Congress man admitted, "but how long will it work? Just about long enough I'll predict, for your 'stout, willing young women from the old world' to learn how to use linticks and wear silk hosiery. Then they will make it only a step from the kitchen to a business position of their."

Chief Justice William Howard Taft is saying nothing in the discussion over federal bench salaries. Presumably Judge Taft considers it too late in his career to begin haggling over the pay envelope. True, the salary he receives as head of the United States Supreme Court is lower than compensation paid him in several previous official posts—not including the $75,000 a year Presidency of the Republic. Yet the present job is admittedly the one in which he finds greater happiness than ever was his in other work.

and goes as, though the most modest of the city's dwellers. If, now and then as he passes the White House—but a scant three blocks from the Department of Justice—he longs for a return of the old days, the yearning is not apparent in his face nor his manner. As a matter of fact, most of Judge Taft's friends hold that he has far pleasanter memories than those attaching to his term as the nation's Executive.

It seems certain that Congress will do something this session for United States judges. The legislators gave their own pay a boost last winter, and also raised the compensation of cabinet officers, along with many federal employees of less note. There can be no disputing the argument that a man whose legal ability and training enable him to occupy the federal bench should have a salary more what in keeping with the earning of the lawyers who try cases before him.

"I heard an action in my court before leaving home," said a United States jurist from the middle west while here to appear before the House committee having the matter in charge, "and the fee of the attorney receiving the smallest compensation of any in the suit was more than my salary for the last seven years. And that charge actually had been discontinued when five years ago, I got the bench appointment away from him! Just think—if he'd beaten me then, I probably be at least as rich as he is today, and he would be asking Congress to enable him to scorp his family while staying on the federal bench."

JAMES OLIVER CURWOOD STORY FEATURED WHITE'S

A story of Quebec, with its old-time romantic atmosphere and the Canadian woods—zone of the most popular novels by a tremendously popular author.

That's what one finds on the screen at White's Theatre Monday and Tuesday in the Irvin Willat-Paramount production, "The Ancient Highway," by James Oliver Curwood.

Jack Holt, Billie Dove and Montague Love are featured in the principal roles of the production adapted for the screen by James S. Hamilton and Eve Unsell.

Holt, as Clifton Brant, after adventurous wanderings all over the world, comes back to Canada to settle an account with the man who had killed his father. He finds that Ivan Hurd (Love), the big lumber king, is not only his own enemy but the enemy of a beautiful girl (Billie Dove), whose fortune and good name are both in danger.

Brant, to wipe out his own debt of vengeance and because he has fallen in love with the girl, enters in the unequal battle against one of the biggest and most powerful men in the country, though his love is unwelcome to her and she accepts his help only because he forces it upon her.

Daily News Letter

Gossip of Staff Correspondents at World Centers of Population.

Honolulu, Dec. 19.—(U. S. S.)—Hawaii, largest island of this group and home of the giant mountains Mauna Kea and Mauna Loa, is sinking below the sea, in the opinion of Dr. Thomas A. Jaggar, director of the Kilauea Volcano observatory.
"There is little cause for fright in Dr. Jaggar's statement and persons who plan an outing sometime in the future with Hawaii as their destination need have no fears of sudden submergence into the middle of the Pacific, for the volcano expert is speaking in terms of geology, which deals with eons and ages."
"But geologically speaking," says Dr. Jaggar, "it is my firm belief that the island of Hawaii, whose twin mountains now rear their heads more than 13,000 feet above sea level, is going down very fast. Witness the drop of thirteen feet which occurred recently at Kapohe in the Puna district, when seven billion cubic feet of earth crumbled into a hole in the ground. Other drops also indicate subsidence of a whole triangular section between the Puna coast line and the volcano of Kilauea."
All of this evidence checks in with the theory of higher land in the past extending over the entire archipelago to Midway Island, a thousand miles or more to the westward. According to the director, the western islands appear to have suffered gradual lowering in ages past until now they are completely under water and show only sea reefs.

Hawaii scientists are waging a gradual but successful war against the numerous pests which would destroy the sugar cane fields of these islands and at no stage in the long fight has the outlook been brighter from a standpoint of utterly routing the cane enemies, according to reports submitted to the local planters at their annual meeting held recently in this city.

One of the most noted of these campaigns has been the one against the leafhopper, which at one time threatened disaster to the entire sugar industry of the islands. This insect is scarcer now than at any time since it became a pest, due mainly to the valiant work of a parasite which bears the name of cyrtorhinus and which was brought to the islands in 1920.

One of the interesting discoveries of the planters' experiment station during the year was that wire worms, which threatened for a time to become a serious pest, may be easily destroyed by the placing of ammonium sulphate in the standard fertilizer.

Hawaii's ancient dance, commonly known as the hula, may be all right in its place, but it is not appropriate for program stages in the clubhouse of Kavalahoa church, famous old Hawaiian edifice, according to Rev. Akaka, Akana, minister.

Rev. Mr. Akana recently put his large foot down and informed a committee from the Hawaiian Civic Club, which was arranging for the annual banquet that the hula, scheduled as a part of the program, to be held in the clubhouse, must be barred. "If the Civic Club members want to present the dance," said Mr. Akana, "they will have to give it somewhere else."

As a result of the Pan-Pacific fisheries conference held recently in Honolulu, the Hawaiian Islands now have more than 500,000 ayu fish in their various streams. These fish were hatched from eggs brought here from Japan by Dr. C. Ishikawa of the Tokio Imperial University.

The ayu, considered the most delicious fish of Japan, is expected by naturalists to thrive in local streams. It is similar to the trout, but requires water slightly warmer in which to live.
