OPERATORS AND MINERS STILL FAIL TO AGREE

Uncompromising Opposition to Peace Proposition Has Developed in Anthracite Settlement

New York, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Uncompromising opposition to peace propositions has developed in the conference of anthracite miners and operators. After each side yesterday had placed itself on record for or against various schemes to end the suspension, the twelve conferees professed willingness to go on, as there was nothing to consider. Allan Markle, chairman of the joint conference, suggested an adjournment over night, and both sides agreed in the hope that another day might bring something new. President Lewis, of the United Mine Workers, said that he would regard a breakup without agreement as a possible calamity. The miners suggested, and the operators rejected, a proposal that the two sides join in presenting to Congress a bill to regulate the Anthracite Industry. The operators said such regulation would be unconstitutional.

A peace plan of Governor Mitchell was rejected by the operators and the plan of chairman Markle by the miners.

While the conferees were struggling to end a tie-up, reports that a settlement had been made reached the Anthracite region by radio. Chairman Markle said that the circulation of such reports among people in distress was "almost criminal."

Necklace of Diamonds Given Miss Vanderbilt

New York, Jan. 7.—(AP)—A necklace of large square cut diamonds alternating with clusters in rose design was a wedding gift in the Vanderbilt family for the second time today. It was a gift of Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt to her daughter, Conuelo, whose marriage, to Earl Edward Thomas Smith, was set for four o'clock this afternoon at the Fifth Avenue home of Mrs. Vanderbilt. Mrs. Vanderbilt herself received it as a gift from her mother 27 years ago when, as Virginia Fair, she was married to Mr. Vanderbilt. A house in East 64th street, has been presented to the couple by Mr. Vanderbilt, and has been furnished in preparation for their return from wedding trip in the South.

Durham Adopts Automotive Traffic Signal

Durham, N. C., Jan. 7.—(AP)—The city of Durham has decided to join the growing number of other cities in this state and the country which have adopted the automatic traffic signal system. The city council has voted to install the automatic traffic signals at the various intersections in the city, and the city manager has suggested the acceptance of a bid for the signals which is slightly less than $4,000. In addition, the cost of laying the underground cables necessary to operate the lights is estimated at $3,000, making a total cost of about $7,000. The cost of installing the system will be paid out of the city's capital surplus fund, it has been decided. The proposed system will be operated by four separate controls.

ARTHUR BRISBANE

The courts are still rendering preliminary decisions concerning the Tea Pot Dome scandal. There was less delay with a small thief recently tried. The judge gave him twenty days in jail for every cent stolen. That rate of punishment would put one of the Tea Pot Dome gentlemen in jail, according to his own figures, for about six hundred million years. Our justice makes better terms for wholesalers.

Your noble Congress is back to work, wrestling with your problems, which include the coal strike, the farmer worries, surplus crops, foreign lands not inclined to buy with dear American money, etc.

The Democratic leader of the House wants a Congressional investigation of the Colonel Mitchell case. He suspects that Mitchell was punished for giving facts to the House Aviation committee.

Of course he was, but you remember the gambler, told he cheated, who replied: "I know it but I do not like to be told about it."

The War Department does not like to be told about that Mitchell case. Let us hope, nevertheless, that it will be told.

In 1913 the average age of German brides was 24 now, it is 27. An excellent thing for the German race, mothers older on the average will have sons and daughters stronger, on the average. And when woman of 27 will know if she ever knows anything, than men should be selected carefully.

Col. E. H. Green, very rich Texan, and his wife, who have adopted eleven girls, say "girls need to be protected from their first sweethearts. A girl in the 'puppy-love' stage needs protection from her self just as she needs a dentist, when she has a toothache."

To a young girl every man, any man, is a miracle of perfection, until she finds a better one. Colonel Green is right.

Strange things happen on Russian territory. Dr. Shorokov vaccinated ten children with diphtheria germs, instead of anti-toxin. They all died. He went to jail for ten weeks.

Peasants in a Russian village beat a man and woman into unconsciousness, after keeping them in freezing water for hours. The desire was to make them confess petty thefts.

Despite the horrible cruelty, the sun rose, and that, according to the recovered consciousness as to the peasants, proved that they were scorers.

The village priest, who was with the mob, decided that undoubtedly the scorers must be beaten on the head with a wagon axle, to take away the curse. This was done the couple duly murdered, and the spell averted.

Postoffice At Gastonia Showed Increase in 1925

Gastonia, N. C., Jan. 7.—(AP)—Uncle Sam's business in Gastonia showed a marked increase during 1925 over the preceding year, the report of postoffice sales for 1924 shows.

Postal sales during 1925 totaled $67,000 during the 12 months of 1925, an increase of approximately $10,000 over 1924, it is announced by the local postoffice. In addition to the heavier mail, newspapers, etc., the local postoffice estimates that it handled a quarter of a million two-cent stamps during 1925.

Captain Arthur Deconroy Bower at one time, an enormously rich Britisher, is found dead in a snail furnished room no longer rich. He once broke the bank at Monte Carlo, and that tells the story. You are told what gamblers win, not how they end.

Organized labor will try to evolve an anti-child labor law that will pass the supreme court constitutional test. It may succeed. Those that make money out of child labor have had their triumph. Those that fear child labor compen-

Chicago, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Evelyn Nesbit Thaw will recover from her attempt at suicide and is sorry. Asked why she tried to end her life she said: "I was full of gin, beer, and whiskey and just drank it. I drank plenty in hope that it would be enough."

OFFER REWARD TO FILIPINO WHO DOUBLES RETAIL TRADE

Manila, Jan. 7.—(AP)—To encourage Filipinos to engage in the retail business in Manila, the Philippine Chamber of Commerce has authorized payment of a reward of $250 to any Filipino retail merchant who may double an original capital of $2,500 within a period of five years.

According to the plan, preference will be given those Filipinos who can thrive in the face of competition of foreign retail dealers in the districts where the city's retail business is virtually all in the hands of the Chinese and Japanese.

These are expected to add 12,000,000 acres to the present acreage of more than 26,000,000. ### Progress Being Made Drive for National Park

Asheville, N. C., Jan. 7.—(AP)—That progress is being made in the drive for funds with which to purchase the area proposed for the Smoky Mountain Park is indicated by the results attained in Yancey county. Having raised its original quota of $2,500, the county now proposes to double its quota, and raise that.

According to a report to the park headquarters here, Yancey raised its quota within a short time. At a luncheon at Brynsville, $2,200 was raised within a few minutes. Later, at a meeting in the county court house, the remainder of the $2,500 quota was subscribed.

Love of Fight Gets 7 Negro Boys in Trouble

LASSITER MAY BE NAMED TO TAKE PERSHING'S PLACE

Will Carry on Work in Arica While Pershing is Taking Medical and Dental Treatment

Washington, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Major General William Lassiter, Army Commander of the Panama Canal Zone, and a native of Petersburg, Va., has been suggested to replace General John J. Pershing as head of the Tena-Arica Plebiscitary Commission in the event a substitute is appointed to carry on the work in Africa during General Pershing's return trip to this country for medical and dental treatment. It is possible that General Lassiter may be named to act only temporarily for General Pershing, but should the latter find it impossible to conclude his labors in South America the appointment may be made permanently.

General Lassiter's selection undoubtedly would meet General Pershing's approval. He is a native of the Army, and when General Pershing was Chief of Staff he selected Lassiter as Assistant Chief.

READING THE ADS

Two Greenville women were discussing newspaper advertisements. "When I turn to the advertising columns in the Daily Reflector," said Mrs. A., "I read them just as carefully as I would a description of some place. I might find a sum of money—the cold cash. Furthermore, I am not guided by what I read at the moment. If I see something offered at a price which I know means money-saving, I go to that store with the purpose of buying it and putting it away until my present stock is worn out or exhausted. A good bargain is a good bargain any time. I buy ahead when the saving warrants it." Mrs. B. confessed she was not so forward-looking. "My reading of the ads, she said, "is for the purpose of finding out where I can get with the greatest economy what I need right now. Somehow I have a feeling that a merchant is always trying to sell me something whether I want it or not. I always make up my mind to buy only what I need and not to yield to the blandishments of the bulletins about bargains. I read and shop for the day only."

In effect, Mrs. B. regarded advertisements as temptations. Mrs. A. looked upon them as opportunities. Of the two, Mrs. A. is the more efficient housekeeper. Her use of the ads is the same that the manager of any big business makes of his knowledge and information concerning conditions that may or will affect his undertakings in the future. She makes her money go further than Mrs. B. possibly can.

Mrs. A. advanced another shrewd observation: "The merchant who appeals oftenest to my desire to shop for the future, is the man who runs the best store and offers the best goods. He is availing himself of two markets—today's and the future's. If he has sense enough to do that, he has ability to run his store on the best lines. I favor the merchant who advertises oftenest, with the greatest regularity and in the greatest detail. From my reading of advertisements I know enough about them to understand that the store which puts out slopy ads or which advertises at irregular intervals is a bit-or-mis-way, is the store most apt to give me bit-or-mis-goods.

Rousseau in his philosophy has called to our attention that we are never puzzled "to account for virtuous actions" and that the "love of virtue and hatred of vice are as natural as the love of ourselves." That ancient proverb "virtue is its own reward" he gives to us in this new dress. "To take pleasure in virtue is the reward of having been virtuous."

It is impossible to conceive of a human being so depraved as to take no pleasure in doing good. Since it has been brought to our attention we come to the realization that the acts we seek to account for are the acts of cruelty, dishonesty and immorality. Virtues and acts of goodness seem natural to us. We can not explain iniquity and every wicked act appears unnatural, if not accidental. In connection with virtue Rousseau has suggested that "every one contributes to the public good for his own interest but that the virtuous man does not contribute to the public good to his own prejudice." He might have added that it is not necessary to sacrifice self to serve others.

A popular song is something sung by half the world to annoy the other half.

Diaries would be more interest but that the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth.

BILIOUS ATTACKS

From Which Kentucky Man Suffered Two or Three Times a Month, Relieved by Black-Draught.

Lawrenceburg, Ky.—Mr. J. P. Nevis, a local coal dealer and farmer, about two years ago learned of the value of Theoford's Black-Draught liver medicine, and now he says: "Until then I suffered with severe bilious attacks that came on two or three times each month. I would get nauseated, I would have dizziness and couldn't work. I would take pills until I was worn-out with them. I didn't seem to get relief. After taking the pills my bowels would act a couple or three times, then I would be very constipated. A neighbor told me of Black-Draught and I began its use. I never have found so much relief as it gave me. I would not be without it for anything. It seemed to cleanse my whole system and make me feel like new. I would take a few doses—got rid of the bile and have my usual clear head, feel full of pep and could do twice the work." One cent's dose. NC-161

Dangerous Cough—How to End it

To quickly end a dangerous cough there is a very simple treatment which gives almost instant relief and often breaks the cough entirely in 24 hours. This treatment is based on the famous Dr. King's New Discovery for Coughs. You take just one teaspoonful and hold it in your throat for 15 or 20 seconds before swallowing it. The prescription has a double action. It not only soothes and heals soreness and irritation, but also loosens and removes the phlegm and congestion which are the real cause of the coughing. So the worst cough usually disappears quickly. Dr. King's New Discovery is for coughs, chest colds, bronchitis, spasmodic croup, etc. Fine for children, too—no harmful drugs. Very economical, as the dose is only one teaspoonful. At all good druggists. Ask for

Daily News Letter

Gossip of Staff Correspondents at World Centers of Population.

By ALICE LANGELIER, (U. S. Staff Correspondent.) Paris, Jan. 7.—A "Vote-for-Women" congress that will bring suffragettes from all corners of the globe will be held in Paris from May 30 to June 6 this year. This Tenth International Suffrage Conference will be the first one the French capital has ever seen and the French women are preparing for big things.

The meetings will take place in the great amphitheatre of the Sorbonne, in the Latin Quarter and the delegates welcomed by the Rector of the University. At the present moment the executive committee of the International Alliance for Women's Suffrage, which represents feminists of forty countries, is in Paris making elaborate arrangements.

The first and most important subjects to be considered by the women will be that of the economic situation of women in the professions, in business and in industry; that of the moral equality of the two sexes, with its natural consequences and the struggle against the unjust treatment of women—that of the responsibility of society vis-a-vis the illegitimate child; the question of the nationality of the woman married to a foreigner; and finally, a study of the system of family allowances. All of the questions have been studied before at the different conferences, but they remain in no manner stationary, always presenting new aspects and bringing up new problems for solution.

That French women are slowly waking up to their political responsibilities is being shown every day by the activities among the feminists.

"One can safely say that one-half of the number of all French women are for the vote," says Madame Brunschweiger, the Director of the Suffrage Alliance in France and one of the most noteworthy leaders of the movement. "Why we don't hear more of them is because they lack time. Home and family come first with every French woman, in spite of the fact that people from abroad think we are frivolous. When she has finished her work with her home and family, and only then, does she turn to the outside work and its problems."

"It may take our French women longer to fulfill these duties, for labor-saving devices are few and money is none too plentiful. Then too, they may be too particular for home is a sacred spot."

"This does not mean that the French housewife does not want to take part in her husband's politics. She really does, and more than that, her husband wants her to. French women are more lucky than their American sisters in that respect. For, at no time, has a Frenchman ever made fun of the women in politics. He firmly believes she should have her part in law-making and governing and feels confident in the ability of his help-meet."

"The big fly in the ointment is a religious one. For the present governing body which is a distinctly republic one, is very much afraid that the women will mingle religion with their politics. In reality, this is the only reason which keeps the French women away from the polls."

French "lawyeresses" are celebrating their twenty-fifth anniversary in Paris. Exactly a quarter of a century ago the first Parisienne was admitted to the bar and began to show this side of the world that a woman can do other things besides rock the cradle.

The goal was not reached without much difficulty. A decree of November 30, 1897, declared that by decision of the order of lawyers, women would not be allowed to plead in court, even after having successfully passed their examinations. The first opposition was made by Leon Bourgeois, Deschanel and Poincare, but the question was considered again in the following legislature by Viviani Faure, Doumergue, Millerand and Barthou. In 1899 the law came before parliament for discussion and was voted in spite of the opposition.

It was believed that the legal authorization would remain platonically and that only very few graduates would take advantage of their rights and privileges. But every year brought more and more women to the bar and into the courts and the twenty-fifth anniversary shows 137 women with good practices.

MOSELEY BROS., RECOVERS FROM FIRE LOSSES IN UNUSUAL MANNER

A few days ago the building in which Moseley Brothers had an insurance office was destroyed by fire. Moseley Brothers saved all records, papers, etc., and on the next day opened for business in an office on the opposite side of the street from the old quarters. Apparently nothing had happened. They continued writing policies and at once proceeded to make adjustment to those who had suffered fire losses, in the same fire which destroyed their offices.

The way Moseley Brothers met the issue and kept on with their business is worthy of comment. It is rather unusual for a company to adjust themselves so quickly to circumstances, and proceed with their business as if nothing had happened.

...and the Worst is Yet to Come

From 1 p. m. to 10 p. m. the students without recourse to text books and with only their acquired knowledge to depend upon, were required to work out a plan of architecture for each room of the department. The stress and urgency of a "hurry-up-time-is-precious" contingency were imposed on the student architects and they met the situation successfully.

The light cell also is used now in sub-station transformers on lines upon which heavy electrical currents are carried to detect smoke in case of fire, mechanically set off fire extinguishing devices and notify the nearest station from which employes can be sent to remedy the trouble.

Experiment to Transmit Pictures By Wire, Says

New York, Jan. 7.—(AP)—The chief difficulty in the transmission of motion pictures by wire, says V. K. Zworykin of the Westinghouse Research Laboratories, is that of subdividing the field into small enough units for transmission, so that when they are enlarged upon a screen they present a definite image of the object.

Zworykin is the inventor of the light cell by which light impulses are translated into mechanical operations. He finds the problem of motion picture transmission theoretically possible, but the mechanical difficulties are by no means overcome. Another year may result in a solution.

The light cell, which is a combination of the principle in the radio tube and a photo-electric phenomenon discovered years ago by Halwach, is now used successfully by the All-America Cables for printing cable dispatches sent across the Atlantic. The electric impulses coming across the cable is so slight that hitherto it has been impossible to use mechanical printers to record the dispatches.

The light cell catching the ray of light reflected from a mirror galvanometer, sensitive to the smallest electrical impulses, translates the light rays into electrical impulses strong enough to operate printing devices, which record the dots and dashes.

Halwach discovered that the impact of light upon certain alkaline metals produced an electrical effect. Later experimenters showed that the light rays caused electrons to be discharged from the metal. In the Zworykin light cell a thin coating of the metal upon which the light acts is placed in a position such that the discharged electrons will add their impulse to the current in the radio bulb and permit current to flow. The process of amplification intensifies the current to a point capable of operating mechanical devices.

Mr. Zworykin said that the light cell was beginning to find wide application in industry. Among other things it is used mechanically to test the filaments of radio tubes. It enables them to be manufactured with a uniformity which no other method of testing makes possible.

The inventor has an apparatus in his home by which the electric lights are automatically turned on at dusk by employing the light cell. He said that the draughts in the furnace might be automatically opened as easily with the rising of the sun.

RADIO CODE OF STANDARDS IS AIM OF COMMITTEE WORK

Chicago, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Having discovered that the public wants standardized radio parts, the manufacturers have gone back to the consumers to find out how they wish them made. Committees of manufacturers are now at work on the replies to thousands of questionnaires, from which will be formulated a code of standards.

Radio thus becomes one of the first great industries of its size, from which the public expects that the Smith company's parts must fit the Jones company's apparatus.

"The dealer and the consumer have both been seriously affected by this irregularity of parts," says A. J. Carter, chairman of the standards committee of the Radio Manufacturers Association. "There is not a man in the radio game today who hasn't wished for a Moses to lead the industry out of the wilderness of misfits. The Radio Manufacturers Association is tackling this problem and we are going to carry on until the work is completed."

The standards committee is divided into thirteen sub-committees each with a particular line of apparatus and their finds are reported to a committee on co-ordination. This committee will draw up a code of standards which it is expected all the leading radio manufacturers will adopt.

HEALTH WENT TO PIECES IS RESTORED BY KARNAK

"Why, This Grand Medicine Stopped All My Troubles And I Am Now Feeling Like My Old Self Again In Every Way," Declares Winston-Salem Woman.

"I am sure thankful I found Karnak, and I am not losing an opportunity to tell my friends what a wonderful medicine it is," declares Mrs. J. H. Halley, of 1236 E. 23rd St., Winston-Salem, N. C. "About three years ago my health just seemed to go all to pieces almost at once," says Mrs. Halley, "and I have been in a dreadful nervous, rundown condition ever since, that is up until I got Karnak recently. My food soured on my stomach and caused me a world of suffering with indigestion and gas. Why, it was giving me such little nourishment that I lost weight frightfully, and I was subject to awful nervous headaches, and could scarcely get a night's sleep. Why, I was weak the least exercise would exhaust. Finally, my husband suggested that I try Karnak, and what a change four bottles of this medicine has made in my health. Why, it's just completely stopped all my troubles. The nervousness left me in just a few days time, my digestion became good, I began eating hearty, and now I have gained back all my lost weight in good firm flesh. I haven't a symptom of the troubles that worried me, and I am feeling my old self again in every way. Karnak is, indeed, the greatest medicine I ever heard of, and I just can't say half enough for it." Karnak is sold in Greenville by B. S. Warren, and by the leading druggist in every town.

USE ACME FERTILIZERS FOR PROFITABLE CROPS

The "Old Reliable" Begins Its Forty-Fourth Year As a Superior Plant Food.

To farmers who are now figuring their fertilizer requirements for 1926 this article is intended. Here are facts and statements regarding old, reliable brands of fertilizer which have helped hundreds of farmers grow banner crops and make more dollars per acre for forty-four years.

From its beginning the Acme Manufacturing Company has held to a policy of making the best fertilizers, men, money and machinery can produce. As a result, Acme has had a steady, substantial growth—has won and held customers in the face of strong, organized competition, and has remained an independent home company. Acme could not have existed and grown these years without being a superior product, made from the highest known sources of plant food, scientifically formulated and aged, Acme has gained and held its customers by producing better and more profitable crops; by maintaining uniform quality, and by a spirit of honest and fair dealings.

Old Reliable Acme Fertilizers are made from non-secret formulas. Each sack bears a printed analysis. Here is what one planter thinks of Acme:

Whiteville, N. C.—"I beg to state that I have for the past ten or fifteen years been using fertilizers manufactured and sold by the Acme Manufacturing Company on my farms located in Columbus County.

"It gives me pleasure to state that I have found these fertilizers to be thoroughly reliable and productive of very satisfactory results.

"Through preparation, early and a liberal application of Acme fertilizers is sure to produce very remunerative returns.

"In my opinion there is none better."

(Signed)
DONALD MacRACKAN.

Talk over your requirements with the Acme dealer, or write the Acme Manufacturing Company, Wilmington, N. C. A season's trial will convince you of Acme's superiority.

EXHAUST STACK FOUND TO BE THE SOURCE OF FIRE TO PLANES

Washington, Jan. 7.—(AP)—Army air experts believe that in the exhaust stack they have found the firebug largely responsible for the tendency of crashed planes to burst into flames and which has cost many lives. The much repeated "flaming coffin" designation of certain old types of army planes, by Colonel William Mitchell arose from this tendency.

An air service report said that thirty crash tests were conducted on obsolete airplanes. It was discovered that the exhaust stack was a very serious source of fire, and that if it were possible to so design an exhaust stack that would be cool enough to prevent the self-ignition of gasoline or oil sprayed into the stack, the number of fires would be very greatly reduced.

"Preliminary designs of standard length, water-cooled exhaust manifolds and short, air-cooled manifolds have shown that it is entirely possible to prevent fires from this source," said the report.
