SAYS ACCESSION LEAGUE SHOULD NOT BE ALTERED

Germany Believes Membership Terms Should Not Be Altered From Those Of Locarno Agreement.

Geneva, March 4.—(AP.)—Germany is not hostile to the entrance of any particular country into the council of the League of Nations, but believes that the council of Germany's accession to membership should not be altered from the status obtaining at the time of the Locarno agreement.

This declaration was made today by Count Von Bernstorff, former ambassador to the United States, and president of the German association for the League of Nations, who has arrived here to participate in the meeting of the executive committee of the League of Nations' association.

When Germany is a member of the association, he added, she will raise no opposition to an examination of the problem as to whether the council should eventually be enlarged.

Grape Growers Are Unhurt By Saloon Closing

San Francisco, March 3.—(AP.)—Six years of grape growing in California under national prohibition has proven unfounded fears of vineyard owners that a bolt of the saloon would wipe out the market for their product.

Shipments of grapes from this state have increased from 21,005 cars in 1919 to 72,116 last year. Statistics of the agricultural bureau of the department of agriculture do not distinguish between so-called wine and table grapes. Therefore they do not show whether it is hunger or thirst that has caused the more than 300 per cent increase in the demand of other states for the product of California vineyards.

Before ratification of the Eighteenth amendment grapes sold for around $20 a ton. Since the law has been enacted prices have several times soared over $100 a ton. Acreage has increased but not in ratio to the growth of carload shipments. Much of the increase in the shipment figures are due to the fact that a considerable part of the crop once used in wine making within the state now goes to other markets.

As the California grape grower takes stock of his last year's business and look to the coming season with inquisitive eye, "Winehaven," before prohibition referred to the world's largest storage place for wine, is being dismantled. It was built immediately after the San Francisco fire of 1906 on a seven acre tract on Point San Pablo at a cost of $3,500,000 including cottages for 200 employees. The winery had vaults and cellars with a total capacity of 9,500,000 gallons. When filled its stock had a value of $10,000,000.

In its heyday Winehaven owned a fleet of 150 railroad tank cars and it was in these that the last of the wine was transported under armed guard to San Francisco to be stored in bonded warehouses when the California Wine Growers' Association decided to abandon the once famous institution and to attempt to sell the property for some other use.

ND THAT HELD A MEGAPHONE IS NOW SIGNING NEW CURRENCY

Los Angeles, Mar. 4.—(AP.)—DeMille, who two years ago first film director to be an active bank executive, has become the first of the screen's elites to affix his signature to the new currency.

DeMille, vice president of the Commercial National Trust and Savings bank of Los Angeles, DeMille was asked to sign 400 ten and twenty dollar nation bank notes. The day that once held the megaphone he experienced a bit of writer's cramps before the task was finished.

The Sheep Jumped.
Two Hats, One Coolidge's.
Gas Bombs At Home.
She Missed The loss.
ARTHUR BRISBANE

Wild time in Wall Street. Frightened gamblers threw overboard one million shares in yesterday's "first hour." The day's proceedings, 3,723,000 shares broke "all records for all time." There are many sheep among humans. One, frightened, jumps over the precipice, others follow. The big men go to the foot of the hill, pick up the remains, and that is "the profit."

The excuse for the panic, which won't last, is the Interstate Commerce Commission's veto of the "Nickel Plate" consolidation of railroads.

Consolidation would be a good thing, properly planned, and is actually recommended by the Commission, which rejects the plan submitted. Later, probably, the consolidation will go through. Then prices will climb up and the little lamb with the broken back will ask himself, "why did I jump?" He jumped, because he was gambling, not investing. Gamblers are nervous.

Young Theodore Roosevelt, whose father hunted big animals in Africa, returns from hunting big animals in Asia. His expedition was financed by James Simpson, of Chicago. Theodore Roosevelt the second is emphatic as he can be, snaps his teeth very nicely and says "this hat is in the ring," interesting, not important. Calvin Coolidge's hat is hanging on a peg in the White House and will probably hang there from 1928 to 1932.

In case of a change in that programme, Mr. Hoover is ready with his hat, and thinks he can make it, although he has never shot anything, much bigger than a rabbit. And there is Senator Borah, a mighty hunter in the American political jungle, has hat is picturesque.

It isn't necessary yet to consider Democracy seriously. Governor Al Smith, of New York, will probably make another try. Mr. McAdoo, of California, says that if so, he will run against him.

Then high finance will doubtless compromise on another Mr. Davis, and that will be all of that.

Somewhere should warn owners of mills in Passaic that they are running risks. This nation was entering when gas bombs first appeared in the big war. It will not be pleased to hear of employes fighting a strike, legal in its character, using gas bombs against their workers and turning heavy streams of cold water on women and children, when tear filled gas failed to do the work.

Now the workers have bought two thousand gas masks to be ready for the next attack, which is not pleasant reading in this prosperous republic. We are doing pretty well here; industrialists are not exactly starving to death. They should warn the Passaic idiots against upsetting the apple cart. Employers have considerably more to lose than employees in the game of violence.

Mrs. Walter Neigran, of Brooklyn, did not get yesterday's Wall Street closing prices. The market closes at three. Wall Street editors were delayed an hour, trying to catch up. And Mrs. Neigran turned on the gas with her two children, one two years, one six weeks old, before noon.

She wrote her husband: "Forgive me, I could not help it, I am weak. My last wish, let me rest with the babies. Your loving wife, Rose."

There was no coal in the house, nothing to eat. The husband was looking for work, and it was hard to nurse the baby with so little good food. Rose's sister says "she loved her husband" and children. The struggle must have been too much for her when she was so weak.

That story may comfort those that bought Hudson Motor at 125 and sold yesterday at 100.

Nine more Catholic priests have been expelled from Mexico, and the French authorities order all images of Christ removed from public hospitals.

Mexico's expulsion of priests will increase the strength of the Cath-

Gas Bombs Rout Jersey Strikers

This remarkable photograph shows mounted police as they dispersed an angry mob of Passaic, N. J., textile strikers with gas bombs. Two of the tear bombs have already been exploded and the policeman in the centre of the picture has another upraised, ready to throw into the ranks of the crowd which has not yet started to disperse.

Negro Pays Penalty On Gallows Today

Lexington, Ky., March 5.—(AP.)—Ed Harris, negro, was hanged at the Fayette County jail here this morning at 6:11 o'clock. He was charged with attacking Mrs. Margaret Bryant on January 19th after he had slain her husband and two children. The negro was pronounced dead at 6:30 o'clock.

The courtyard was crowded with people who witnessed the hanging. 200 more persons, who could not gain entrance, viewed the hanging from a nearby garage at $2.00 a seat. The negro died on the gallows without benefit of clergy. His voice failed him as he sought to make a promised statement from the scaffold, and he mumbled "just tell them good bye," and made a slight sign to the executors to proceed.

Although the sentence pronounced upon Harris stated that he should be hanged by the neck until dead in the presence of not exceeding 100 persons, approximately four times that many gained admission to the jail yards, while hundreds more swarmed on the roofs of nearby buildings or looked out of windows.

New Plan Farm Relief Presented To Committee

Washington, March 5.—(AP.)—A new plan of farm relief based on the Dickenson bill was presented to the house agricultural committee today by the middle west aggregation, appointed in the Des Moines agricultural conference.

TORONTO MENDELSSOHN CHOIR WILL APPEAR AT CINCINNATI

Cincinnati, O., March 4.—(AP.)—The Toronto Mendelssohn Choir, one of the great choral organizations, will appear here with the Cincinnati Symphony orchestra for three concerts, March 24, 25 and 26.

This choral body, composed of 250 members, virtually all of whom are church soloists in Toronto, very seldom goes on tour. The same program will be given at each concert, the first half to be devoted to choral works by the choir and the second half to Beethoven's nine symphony by the orchestra and choir.

The action of French authorities will diminish many women's and children's chances of recovery. There is no medicine as powerful as faith, and many a poor soul has struggled back to health, comforted by the thought, "He died on the Cross for me." That may be superstitious to the modernist, but it's a fact.

A solemn Washington dispatch says the President and Cabinet discussed the Wall Street scare, and "President Coolidge" let it be known that he felt there was nothing taking place in the business world sympathetic of a letup in the present prosperity.

The trouble, just "nervous prosperity" among some of the gamblers, afraid of their own profits.

The revised income tax rate will bring hundreds of millions out of the income tax proof non-taxable securities, and business will boom more than ever.

Some day we shall have to pay for that war andoushare in it; that's several years off.

$25 HALF PINT PRICE OF BLOOD SET BY MEDICS

Plan To Have Donors On Hand So That Emergency Cases May Be Supplied.

St. Louis, March 5.—(INS.)—Blood from the human body will be sold at $25 a half pint for transfusion purposes under a plan which has been approved by leading hospital authorities in St. Louis.

When the plan is placed in operation, St. Louis will be the first city in the world to have a centralized list of blood donors, according to doctors behind the movement here.

A committee appointed by the community council to study the question of donors of blood for transfusion, found that in emergency cases, it is imperative that a list of such donors, be on hand that they may be called upon immediately.

The committee expects to standardize the fee for donors of blood. Dr. J. J. Singer, of the Barnes hospital, chairman of the committee, declared, "The City hospital and Barnes have been paying $25 and we hope to make this the customary price.

Formerly medical and theological students have been about the only material available and the demand for blood transfusions is on the increase all the time. We will be able to use both men and women."

In blood transfusions it is necessary to type the persons to classify their blood a type 1, 2, 3 and 4. In transfusion it is necessary to use the same type of blood as that of the person who is to receive it.

Often in the case of active hemorrhages or where much blood is lost in accidents, it was pointed out, quick action is imperative if a life is to be saved.

During the summer months especially when medical students are away from the city, it has been a hard problem to obtain blood for transfusion purposes.

"During the summer months, when medical schools are not in session there is difficulty in obtaining subjects," Dr. Singer continued. "All over the city doctors have been unable to obtain the right donor at the proper moment and in many cases have had to see their patients die for want of blood.

"Loss of life on this account will be a thing of the past when this plan is in operation. We feel sure that hundreds of persons will respond to the call with an offer to be on the list of donors for emergency."

Only half a pint of blood is taken from the donor for a transfusion and this amount, it is said, is not injurious if not done more often than every one, two or three months.

Laboratory tests of the donors will be made in the Bethesda hospital, City hospital, Barnes hospital, St. Luke's hospital, the Jewish hospital, children's hospital and the Barnard Skin and Cancer hospital.

Leaders in the movement hope to encourage many to have their names placed on the list of free donors.

Women Will Present Case To Governor

Raleigh, March 5.—(AP.)—Representatives of the various women's organizations in the state which have been advocating a survey of conditions of women in industry in North Carolina will present their case to Governor McLean tomorrow morning.

The governor states today he had made an engagement to meet with the representatives of the women at 10 o'clock in the morning. At that time they will be given an opportunity to present a statement of just what information is desired, their reasons for feeling that it will be of value and why they think such a survey should be made at this time.

The governor stated a few days ago that the women had asked if he could not see them by tomorrow, that he make the engagement for some date later than March 23. He said then that it would be impossible to see them the early part of the month and just why the change in arrangements was made has not been stated.

Prominent in requesting this survey have been the Federation of Women's clubs, the Y. W. C. A., the League of Women voters, and other agencies.

"Dollar Day" a Great Success

Greenville's first "Dollar Day" to be conducted by the members of the Merchants' association, was a great success yesterday, and hundreds of people from all sections of the county took advantage of the wonderful bargains.

Every member of the Merchants' association took part in "Dollar Day" and gave to it their support and co-operation. The public responded in a pleasing manner.

GREENVILLE HIGHS DEFEAT GUILFORD IN TOURNAMENT

The Greenville basket ball team today defeated the Guilford team in the high school tournament at State college, Raleigh, by a score of 24-20. The game was played this afternoon, beginning at 2 o'clock. The victory entitles the locals to enter the second stage of the tournament, which will be played tonight, Greenville has been paired with Charlotte for tonight's game, scheduled to begin at 7:15 o'clock.

COUNTESS WINS SUIT TO REMAIN IN THIS COUNTRY

New York, March 5.—(AP.)—The Countess Cathcart won her suit to remain in this country today when Federal Judge Bondy sustained a writ of habeas corpus after District Attorney Buckner had entered in the record that adultery does not constitute a crime under the laws of the Union of South Africa.

The Countess had been refused admission by immigration authorities on the ground of moral turpitude after her admission that she had accompanied the Earl of Craven to South Africa from England after they both were married.

After detention on Ellis Island for several days the countess was granted entrance for ten days pending decision on her appeal to the secretary of labor. Her attorney then entered the suit of habeas corpus on which the decision was based. Her temporary permit expired Wednesday night at 11 o'clock.

Anna Case a Writer Of Many Poplular Songs

Anna Case, America's greatest recital singer, who will be heard at Greenville, April 6th, during the Eastern Carolina Exposition, in addition to having made herself famous as a singer, is acquiring considerable reputation as a writer of popular songs.

Those who know her best have always claimed for her a musical instinct bordering on genius, one of her accomplishments being an ability to sing and play a song perfectly from memory, having only seen the music once. In addition to this she is said to have an unusual gift for improvisation. Early in her career she found great relaxation in the composition of ragtime and syncopated music, later turning to more serious considerations. A great aid to her in improvisation has been this remarkable memory, since she is able to retain every detail of a composition in her mind while devising it, and from a purely technical point of view it is invariably found that her compositions are correct when the time comes for the transcription.

Ten Robbers Escape With Big Payroll

Chicago, March 5.—Ten robbers invaded the International Harvester Company's tractor plant today at noon, fought a battle with a watchman, and escaped with a payroll estimated at between $80,000 and $100,000. None of the shots took effect and the robbers fled in automobiles.

GREENVILLE GIRLS ARE DEFEATED BY SCORE OF 23-24

The Greenville coquette played by far the fastest game of this season last night on the Williamston court. Robersonville was out to fight and it was simply a case of "whose ahead when the whistle blows."

Robersonville threw the first goal and Greenville followed with two successive field goals. The first quarter's score was 8-0 in favor of Robersonville.

The second quarter was unusually rough and fouls were called on both sides. Greenville was ahead two points when the second quarter was called. The third quarter's score was 15-16 in Greenville's favor. The last quarter was wildly exciting. Robersonville called for time near the end. At that time the score was 21-23, Greenville ahead and one minute to play. But in that last minute, Robersonville threw one field goal and a foul against Greenville.

The final score was 23-24 in favor of Robersonville. The line-up was as follows: Forwards, Staniel, Hart, Ogle-tree.

Guards: Dickinson, Ward, Haddox, Foley (substitute for Dickinson last half). This eliminates our girls from the championship series, but does not end the season games. There will probably be two more games played.

Favors Use Of Muscle Shoals Help Farmers

Washington, March 5.—(AP.)—Muscle Shoals would be turned over to the department of agriculture to be used for the benefit of farmers, under a joint resolution prepared by Senator Smith, democrat, of South Carolina, and originator of Muscle Shoals legislation.

Senator Smith plans to introduce his resolution as a substitute for the pending house resolution that would authorize the joint congressional committee to negotiate a private lease for Muscle Shoals.

Under the Smith resolution the whole property will be turned over to the agricultural department for production of fertilizer and other materials for the benefit of the farmers and for experimentation for the solution of various agricultural problems. Any remaining power would be contributed to neighboring states on the equitable basis.

Senator Howell, republican, of Nebraska, asserted that the resolution urged as a measure to aid the farmers, would have each farm operator on the average of less than $2.00 a year. "It is evident," Senator Howell said, "that many persons in and out of congress are laboring under the misapprehension of the purpose of those seeking the lease of Muscle Shoals. If leased the dam and power plant will be used chiefly for generation of power for sale and the fertilizer operations would be a separate industry based largely on the use of coal and coke.

Two Children Fatally Burned

Hendersonville, March 5.—(AP.)—Two children of Silas Fowler lost their lives today when fire destroyed the Fowler home near here. They were Mildred, aged nine, and Ruth 4. Two persons were asleep in the house when neighbors gave the alarm. The two children, who were fatally burned, were sleeping in the room with their father who rushed upstairs to save others of the family thinking those on the floor below had been rescued.

If you hear some fellow yelling against fire speech, it's a safe bet that someone just told the truth about him.—Little Rock Democrat.

DECLARES DYER BILL INVASION OF STATE RIGHTS

Richmond, March 5.—(AP.)—Governor Albert C. Ritchie, of Maryland, in pleading for state's rights before the Virginia legislation today said that in both democratic and republican parties "regional and group interests are supplanting national principles."

The Maryland governor declared that there is a growing dissatisfaction with political parties because "they no longer are divided upon the basic principals which divide the country." He asserted that "since Mr. Bryan split the democratic party in 1896, and Colonel Roosevelt split the republican party in 1912, there have been elements in the opposing parties closer to each other than different elements in the same parties have been."

"Blocks and wings now seem to think their sectional and class interests more important than political faith. The integrity of our political system will not be restored until the rebellion against excessive federalism is won." Governor Ritchie said that the Dyer anti-lynching bill now before congress illustrated the invasion of state rights. "It is called the anti-lynching bill, an illustration of the tendency in American politics to attach labor to measures which divert attention from their realities," the governor declared.

"I present any suggestions that the south does not deplore mob violence or that there will not exert its full power to prevent it. I present any suggestion that the instances of this, which unhappily now and then occur are in the south alone. I resent any proposed remedy which does not come clean and straight."

"The theory of the Dyer bill therefore is destructive of the very essentials of the American government and I rejoice to believe that the south will unite against it as it did before to defeat the bill on the unanswerable ground that the subject is one for the states alone."

He said that the country is looking to the south for the leadership to revive the basic institutions of our government. "Declaring that his views on prohibition are merely an application of the principal of state rights, the governor said: "From the beginning of our government the state under their reserved powers had the right to decide this question in accordance with the convictions of their own people so that the entry of the federal government into the field is one of the many instances of recent federal invasions of the long recognized rights and duties of the state."

Two Conferences Wil Be Held At Episcopal Church

Next week, on Thursday, Mr. Lewis B. Franklin, of New York City, will hold two conferences at St. Paul's church. The afternoon conference will begin at 3 p. m., and the evening conference at 8 p. m. Mr. Franklin is the treasurer of the National Episcopal church and vice president of the national council. He brings a message which should be inspirational to all.

It is hoped that all the members of the parish, men and women, will make it their business to be present at both meetings, and that many friends of the parish in this city will also avail themselves of the opportunity of hearing the great leader in the onward mission of the church.

A special invitation has been sent to Rev. J. W. Hayes, of Farmville, and Rev. Geo. F. Cameron, of Ayden, to bring their parishioners to these conferences.

PRAYER

"For every one that asketh receiveth; and he that seeketh findeth; and to him that knocketh it shall be opened."—Mat. 7:8.

The communion of the soul with God. It is the necessary result of the recognition of dependent relation of the creature to the Creator. The suppliant must come in the spirit of true submission and reconciliation to God, else there is no communion.

Every prayer must contain directly or implied the petition: "Thy will not mine be done."

Prayer may be exceeding various in form, "uttered or unexpressed." It is the natural utterance of every heart in which there is a true love for the Creator.

Petition may properly embrace our daily wants, "our daily bread," the general course of our life, its great affairs, our work and career, success in our efforts to perform all ordinary and extraordinary duties of our life and station, our special necessities also whether in times of crisis, or in sickness and want, or in common times; but all things asked for must be in accord with Divine Will and Plan which are for the ultimate good of all.

The churches are founded upon the power of communion with God through prayer.

SUPERSTITIOUS

Many things thought commonplace and customary seem unusual and strange if by chance they can get into print. A case in point is the delay in recording a deed in the capital city of Pennsylvania occasioned by the refusal of a woman to transact business on the thirteenth day of the month and by the reluctance of a man to invest his money under an "unpropitious" sign of the zodiac.

It must be generally known that there are thousands of people, both urban and rural, who swear by the almanac, and who believe the number thirteen is unlucky, and yet to great numbers the thing seemed unbelievable when presented in newspaper type.

Many who deny being superstitious also deny that superstition has anything to do with "believing in signs" or planting the garden and transacting business by the signs of the zodiac. They place no credence in the supernatural, but never make garden without first consulting the almanac. To what proportion of the country's population this applies is impossible of determination, but it is evident it is no small minority.

After all, the end and not the means is the thing to consider. If all business transacted on every other day of the month than the thirteenth were successful, 'twould be folly to do business on the unlucky thirteenth, and if the gardeners a la zodiac always raise bumper crops there is no reason why they should adopt another method.

State of North Carolina, County of Pitt, TO THE TAX PAYERS OF PITT COUNTY

You have made for yourselves a record as having paid taxes more promptly than the tax payers of any other county in the state. Dr. Brooks stated in the papers of the state last summer that Pitt County was the best governed county in the state, and that in his opinion the other counties would profit by instituting the same system. We are all real anxious to keep up the record we have made for ourselves. As sheriff I am unable to do so without your cooperation. Kindly see that your 1925 taxes are paid at once and save me the embarrassment of having to levy on your personal property. Thanking you for the courtesy of your attention, I am, Very truly yours, A. SCHOOL HOUSES SHOW DECREASE THROUGHOUT STATE

Total Value School Property Growing By Leaps And Bounds; Average Value Of Each Building Greatly Increased.

Raleigh, March 4.—(AP.)—The value of the average rural school house for white children today is not as great as was the average value of the city school house of 20 years ago, it is pointed out in the current issue of the School Facts, publication of the state department of public instruction. It came off the press today.

In the negro schools, the rural school house of today is worth less than half that of the city school house of 20 years ago. These facts are pointed out on the basis of statistics contained in the annual report of county and city school superintendents, to the state superintendent of public instruction.

Other high spots in the current issue of the publication. North Carolina in 1924-25 had 90 fewer school houses than it had 20 years ago. During the same period, the enrollment has increased from 474,111 to 898,34, an increase of 335,723.

The number of school houses in the state increased steadily up until 1918-19, when there was a total of 8,239 in the state. The total number has shown a decrease since that time. But the decrease has been entirely rural. The city school houses for white children continued to increase up until 1923-24. During the following year the decrease was three. The city schools for negro children continue to increase steadily. There were 63 such schools 20 years ago, and 72 in 1924-25.

But while the number of buildings is decreasing, the total value of school property has been growing by leaps and bounds, as also the average value of each school house. North Carolina's school property in 1924 was worth $3,182,918. In 1924-25, school property was valued at $7,705,835.

The city school houses for white children continued to increase up until 1923-24. During the following year the decrease was three. The city schools for negro children continue to increase steadily. There were 63 such schools 20 years ago, and 172 in 1924-25.

But while the number of buildings is decreasing, the total value of school property has been growing by leaps and bounds, as also the average value of each school house. North Carolina's school property in 1924 was worth $3,182,918. In 1924-25, school property was valued at $7,705,835.

Most of this increasing value has occurred since 1919. The average increase up that time was about a million dollars a year. In 1919-20, school property increased in value from 16 to 14 millions of dollars. And it jumped, during the four following years, to 20 million, 35 million, 49 million, and 60 million dollars. Last year it had reached the approximate figure of 70 million dollars.

The first 15 years of the 20-year period under consideration, the average increase was about a million dollars a year. During the past five years, the property values have gone up at the rate that is worth more than four times as much as that of the country child. The rural child of today has school property, per child, of less value than that of a city child in 1914-15.

School houses in North Carolina today average, the state over, about $10,000. School houses for white children in the rural sections are worth about $8,000; those in the cities, about $26,000. The values have increased in the past 20 years from an average of about 11 million dollars annually.

With 75 per cent of the white children of the state attending the rural schools, those schools in 1924-25 had about 54 per cent of the total school property. Up until last year, the value of school property in rural and city communities was, year by year, almost the same.

In the negro schools, the major part of the property was in the rural schools, until 1921-22. This year the city schools for negroes had 56 per cent of the property, although only 24 per cent of the negro children enrolled were attending the country schools.

The average value of white school property, per child, in the rural communities of the state, was $4.79. It has increased in 20 years by 1600 per cent, the average in 1924-25 being $81.34. In the city schools for white children, the average value of school property per child has increased from $37.01 to $211.04. The average white child in the city, therefore, has a school house costing two and a half times as much as that of the average country white child.

In the negro schools, the same fact is in evidence. The negro city child's school property today in the country of $278 per school house, and an average in the city of $12,703.

Having given the facts as shown by the figures, the publication proceeds to offer explanation and interpretation of them.

The discrepancy of the value of school property in the city and rural communities, both per school house and per child, the tremendous increase in the value of school property, especially in the past five years, the decrease in the number of school houses. This and other facts are commented on thus:

"There seems to be several factors, working together in making the history of schoolhouses in this state.

1. Distribution of wealth. Taxable property is centralized in relatively small areas of space, largely in industrial centers.

2. Distribution of school children. Three-fourths of the school children, on the other hand, are in the rural sections of the state.

With these two factors, therefore, directly opposite in order, we are endeavoring to provide equal opportunities in the matter of school houses for both rural and city children.

In order to give the rural child the advantage of a better equipped and more modern school building, some means must be provided by which all the taxable wealth of the state may be accessible alike for educational purposes, for each and every child, regardless of location.

3. State stimulation. Prior to 1922-23, school buildings were erected largely by local initiative. District bond issues, private donations, and small loans from the state literary fund made up the source of revenue for a new building project.

The general assembly of 1921 did two things that have done as much as anything to make for better school facilities:

(a) The voting of $50,000,000 of state bonds, for the beginning of a good roads program. Good roads have made possible the consolidation of schools and the abandonment of the small school house. Consolidation accounts for the decrease in rural school houses since 1918-19. Consolidation accounts for the increased value per school house since that date. Consolidation is not possible without good roads.

(b) The provision of a special building fund of $5,000,000 the proceeds of which were lent to counties to build school houses containing five rooms or more. This fund was a great stimulus to the building program in the rural sections, for they could borrow money at a much cheaper rate of interest than a county or district could issue bonds.

Likewise, the general assembly of 1923 and 1925 each provided $5,000,000 in order that county, might secure money at a low rate of interest to build larger and better types of school houses. The effects of the $10,000,000 is disclosed in the value of school property since 1923, the other $5,000,000 has not become available yet, and of course is not reflected in the figures here presented.

Anna Case, American famous soprano, who will appear in concert at the Eastern Carolina Exposition, this city, on April 6, 8:30 p. m.

The increase in property values since 1923, mentioned in School Facts, is as follows: Value 1923-23, $48,887,430; 1923-24, $59,758,005; 1924-25, $70,705,835.

Commenting on the present situation, School Facts says:

"In 1923-24 there was a total of 7,360 school houses, 4,928 for the white race and 2,432 for the colored race. In 1924-25 there were 7,096 school houses, 4,957 for the white race and 2,141 for the colored race. The decrease of 264 school houses was entirely in the white schools. We have here evidence of consolidation."

Washington county, in 1924-25, had the largest per capita school property investment, $207.08, of any of the counties of the state. The county also led in this particular in 1923-24. Cherokee county had the lowest per capita investment, $20.96.

During last year, 53 counties had a per capita investment of more than $100. This was true of only 13 counties the year before.

In four counties, Buncombe, Guilford, Robeson and Rockingham, the rural school property investment was more than a million dollars each. This was true of no county in the state in 1924-25.

The smallest amount of white rural school property last year was in Chowan county. The figure was $18,500.

Wilson county had the largest any of the 100 counties in the investment per school house of the state. The average school house in that county is worth $89,752. In Cherokee, which stands at the bottom of the list, in this particular, the average school house was worth $1,400.

This was followed by a piano recital from Hiawatha, by Miss Mary Van Valkenburg, accompanied by Miss Thomas. Several scenes of his home and family were shown which helped to make it a very instructive and pleasant meeting.

Jonquil and pictures of the poet were given as favors, after which a frozen salad course was served.

HOOT'S CANADIAN PICTURE ACTUALLY SHOT IN CANADA

Probably one of the largest motion picture pilgrimages of recent years was made by the Universal company producing "The Calgary Stampede," a Hoot Gibson starring vehicle, which is coming to White's theatre Saturday.

The experiences of Universal in producing this picture prove that the manufacture of film stories is only for the companies which can afford the expense.

In the spring of 1925 Raymond Schrock, general manager, conceived the idea of producing a picture in the actual Canadian location. So he sent E. Richard Schayer and Donald Lee, staff scenario writers, Hoot Gibson, star, and Herbert Blache, director, to look the country over.

After two weeks of exploring the party returned to Universal City and the story was written. From this a script was prepared. Forty-four persons, a half doz-

MEETING WOMEN'S CLUBS

On Thursday afternoon the Woman's club held its regular monthly meeting with good attendance. The High School Glee Club gave much pleasure by singing two opening choruses, which were so well rendered as to reflect credit on their teacher, Miss Thomas, who accompanied them.

Mrs. P. G. Dennis acted as secretary in the absence of Mrs. Anthony. All committees and departments gave good reports, especially the library committee, whose report will be published in full in another place.

The Garden club co-operated with the county demonstration clubs in setting out shrubbery around the court house, and Mrs. E. W. Harvey, chairman of the club, visited some of the county schools with Miss Brogden, and set out a crepe myrtle tree at one school, in the name of the club.

The literary department is holding bi-weekly meetings and have interesting programs.

The bridge and rook tournament netted the necessary amount for the music memory contests which are being conducted in the city schools by Miss Thomas, and in the county schools by Miss Brogden.

Mrs. James Long was appointed chairman of the March ways and means committee.

An amendment was offered to the constitution extending the term of the chairman of the library committee beyond two

Fight Promoters Seek Signature Of Frenchman

(By David J. Walsh, International News Service Sports Editor) New York, March 4.—Has anyone noticed the frightful loss of life among promoters, selfishly trampling one another under foot in their efforts to prevail upon Georges Carpentier to sign on the dotted line? Neither have I.

They call him the Orchid Man and somehow, under the existing circumstances, it sounds too expensive. If Carpentier was dependent on the revenue accruing from his present American visit, he would be selling dandelions on a street corner. The boys simply have stayed away from him in droves.

It was not like this in the halcyon days of 1921 and later. At that time, the boys rallied around the band wagon, casting treasury notes at the great man's feet. They wouldn't take no for an answer, although this attitude lacked the virtue of grim necessity. They never got no for an answer.

Carpentier made enough money on these earlier visits to carry him through the remainder of his natural life, without the annoyance of work. He came over first when war hysteria was at its best, or worst, and was romanticized into a fortune. American soldiers tell me they often saw Carpentier enjoying himself at the French watering resorts during the war, but, of course, popular fancy had him strutting Germans, at every hour of the day and night.

The only thing this almost fictive character lacked was a title and Rieckard got it for him by exhuming all that was mortal of Battling Levinsky. The Battler went out in an early round and Carpentier went home to France with the light of the heavy weight championship and about $50,000, giving America a chance to think it over.

When it was felt that the cash customers had absorbed all the atmosphere that was good for them, Carpentier was brought back, matched with emphysema in the most colossal sport extravaganza of all time, got $200,000 and a punch in the so-called boxer.

This being sufficient unto the occasion, he went back to that dear old France Paris with those dear dollars.

Shorn of his title by the late and unfeeling Mr. Siki, he returned again in 1924 and found the customers just as vulnerable as before. He got something like $60,000 for finishing second to Tom Gibbons at Michigan City and probably a little more in New York for being stopped by Gene Tunney.

That incident ended the great romance, however. The customers had grown wary, if not apprehensive. So Georges went his way again.

Now he is with us once more. Ostensibly, his visit is prompted by a desire to establish the proper contact here, for Paulino. Actually, it was influenced by his pardonable desire to lose one more fortune.

One might almost feel justified in pointing out, George, self-denial in guaranteeing the former domain has failed to have something untoward happen him in American rings. Against Dempsey, he said he hurt his hand. Against Gibbons he said he hurt his ankle. Against Tunney, he said he was fouled.

It remained for 1926 to deal him his most serious injury, however. This time, he was ignored.

Vidor Says Music Is Big Asset In Movie Making

New York, March 4.—(AP)—Before King Vidor, the director who made "The Big Parade" and "La Boheme," begins shooting his next picture he will have a special musical score arranged for use throughout the photographing.

The plan conforms with his theory that tempo is one of the most important factors in the making of photo plays. For each scene in his last several pictures, Vidor worked out metronomical scales which the orchestra and actors were required to adhere to strictly.

"With the motion picture we must try to express that which cannot be expressed by anything else," Vidor explained. "It is for us to take the spirit and atmosphere of a play or book and express them on the screen through the medium of motion picture."

"There must be a symphony of movement throughout a picture if it is to be artistic. The emotional rise and fall must be carefully portrayed and nothing has a more important bearing on this than tempo. Let the beat be a trifle off and the emotion you are trying to express will be missed."

"I am writing the scenario of Bardeys, 'The Magnificent' Sabatini's play, and the calling in of a composer to prepare the score for use during the shooting is only carrying a step further the relationship between tempo and music and the motion picture."

"Music, as every one knows, long has been used in the making of pictures, but this specific treatment should result in a picture of definite and strong movement."

Vidor is one of the youngest directors of moviedom, but he has been studying his work longer than many of the veterans.

"It dawned upon me that to become a success I should know the industry thoroughly," he said.

"I worked several years as an extra, carpenter and in other small jobs before I became a director. I have never done anything else but work in and on pictures. To me, it has not been a business or a profession out of which to make money. I have tried to work as an artist and in each production I have attempted to create something new."

Vidor does not like photography or talking movies, because he believes they increase the artificiality of pictures.

Moscow, March 3.—One of the strangest societies in the world has just completed its annual reunion here. It is the Society of Former Political Prisoners, composed of revolutionaries, who were exiled or imprisoned under the Czar.

Among its 1,826 members are most of the leading figures in the communist party and the soviet government, many of whom served more or less time in penitentiaries of the Czar. Membership in the society is the highest honor attainable outside of political or party circles. A Bolshevik is as proud of the badge of the society as an English lord is of the Order of the Garter.

At its "All-Union Congress" which took place here in the Grand Theatre, the secretary of the society, Comrade Vilyanski Sibiriyakov issued a new and revised set of vital statistics concerning the membership.

According to the figures, when the Russian revolution of 1917 opened the doors of penitentiaries and dropped the bars of prison camps from Archangel to Vladivostok, the members of the society who gained their freedom had already served 12,371 years in prison.

Had the revolution failed to take place, they would have been compelled to serve 10,086 more years in prison and 2,285 years of exile to Siberia.

One of the most honored members of the society is M. V. Frolenko, a leader of the "Peoples Will" revolutionaries. When he was released in 1917, Frolenko looked back upon twenty-nine years of solitary confinement in the famous Schlesselburg tower near Leningrad. He is considered a marvel of human endurance, for he emerged sane from his isolation of more than a quarter of a century. Most prisoners "in solitary" lose their minds within five or six years.

Four of Frolenko's companions also enjoy high prestige, for they served respectively twenty-four, twenty-two, nineteen and fifteen years in solitary confinement. The cells where they were confined have been converted into a museum in memorial of the "Peoples Will."

Another group whose renown rivals that of the "solitary" is the group which wore chains. One of them vies with Frolenko in prestige because he wore the notorious "scissor fetters," chaining his hands to his feet uninterruptedly for fifteen years! His nearest competitors are three who carried "scissor fetters" for eleven years. Handcuffs were worn by 980 members for 2,450 years, an average per head of two years and eight months, although many wore them for much longer periods.

Among the oddities of the society are the members who were given the so-called "wolf-ticket" of exile by the Czar. This particular decree required the victim to stay in no city longer than one night. It made the exiles perpetual tramps. Men bearing "wolf-tickets" were forced to travel continually, walking from one village to another. Some of them worked out a regular itinerary, returning after a month or two to the same towns, year in and year out, in an endless circle, which only the revolution finally broke.

Kite Flying Bureau Aids Weather Man

Washington, March 4.—(AP.) The small boy likely would view as the finest kind of play, the important meteorological work carried on by the staff of the kite station at the Drexel observation bureau here.

For from the kite house in the center of an unobstructed forty-acre field, kites as big as a wood shed are flown on piano wire, sometimes six or seven on a single strand, the highest quite out of sight.

C. S. Ling, veteran government meteorologist in charge, has six assistants who devote all their time to kiting. Scarcely a dozen days a year fail to see the kites aloft, where they remain five or six hours.

The instrument carried up is called a meteorograph. Weighing but two pounds, this aluminum cylinder records wind, velocity, direction, altitude, humidity, temperature and the amount of static electricity encountered. The information transcribed from its recordings for use in future forecasting for possible military flying information in future years, and for immediate information to army and mail aviators. To the latter, daily information has been furnished for several months, but no regular weather forecasts are issued.

From the circular six-ton kite house, which revolves like an astronomical observatory and has sliding round doors, the kites are put up. A large drum, bearing eight miles of piano wire, is operated by an electric motor. The whole is insulated against static electricity.

Unlike the small boy's kite, with which he must run a few yards to get it up, the weather kites are taken down the field a short distance and given a boost. The drum pulls the kite into the teeth of the wind at a speed of eleven miles an hour and the box kite scoots upward.

Tennesseans Would Erect a Lewis Memorial

Nashville, Tenn., Mar. 4.—(AP.)—Leading Tennesseans plan to appeal to the Congress for an appropriation to assist in erecting a lasting monument to the memory of Meriwether Lewis, the explorer of the Northwest, who is buried six miles east of Hohenwald, Tenn.

Tentative specifications are for a dome-shaped monument, similar to the famous domed-tomb which towers above the graves of General Andrew Jackson and his wife Rachel.

The dome, supported by Grecian columns, each representing one of the states of the Louisiana purchase, is planned to shield the dilapidated old monument over the grave of Lewis which was erected by the state of Tennessee many years ago with an appropriation of $500.

About the old shrine also would be placed the suggested statue of Lewis, a statue of Clark, his companion on the expedition, and the Indian woman guide who was probably more responsible than anyone else for the successful venture.

A two hundred acre tract thereabout, is being maintained by the government as a national monument.

the court for relief demanded in the complaint. The defendant will also take notice that a warrant of attachment was issued by the Clerk on the 13th day of February, 1924, returnable on the date aforesaid, when and where the defendant is required to appear and answer, or the relief demanded will be granted.

This the 13th day of February, 1924.

SCHOOL NEWS

Last Saturday was tree planting day at the West Greenville graded school. The trees will add much to the beauty of the school and are greatly appreciated by the pupils of the school.

The following compositions on the trees express the appreciation of the children. Others will follow tomorrow:

Our Shade Trees
Last Saturday out at West Greenville school someone planted nice shade trees. I was proud of them Monday when I came to school. They planted 12 nice young trees. They will be pretty in the late summer, because they are tall.

This was nice of Mr. Rose to think of us because we would not them. We certainly do appreciate them unless heh adsent ciate them.

LEWELLEN THORNTON,
Third Grade, West Greenville School.

Our New Shade Trees
We have recently planted some young shade trees around our school. I hope they will every one live and make good shade for the children to play in. It is so nice to have tall trees to play under or shade to sit in after running around and getting tired. Trees also improve the looks of the building. We children that are going to this school now will be in another school by the time the trees are large enough to make shade, but we will be glad to leave them for the ones that take our places.

J. T. BROWN,
Fourth Grade, West Greenville School.

Shade Trees at West Greenville School House
"The school house yard was so big and bare, No pleasant shadow or leafy trees; There was room enough and some to spare, To plant as many oaks as ever you please."

One morning when I came to school I saw twelve nice oak trees planted on our grounds. I am in the fifth grade and hope to be promoted in June. But I know the ones that are in the lower grades will enjoy them. I will say that the whole school certainly did appreciate the trees.

MARGARET STROUD,
Fifth Grade.

The Shade Trees
I came to school Monday morning surprised to see twelve shade trees in our school yard. It will make the yard look much better. We ought to keep them nice and not climb them and break them down. Mr. Rose had them put out there. I thank him very much.

ELIZABETH BALDREE,
Fourth Grade,
West Greenville School.

Shade Trees at West Greenville School
When I came back Monday morning, March 1, I saw twelve oak trees on West Greenville Grammar School grounds. I do not know who put them at our school, but I will make a guess. I think that the Woman's club planted them at our school. I am in the Fifth grade. I hope that I will be promoted to the Sixth grade and be in another building next year. The children in the lower grades will enjoy the shade of these trees for many years and I shall enjoy seeing the nice grove as I pass the West Greenville school.

GEO. H. TIMBERLAKE,
Fifth Grade.
