FIFTH JUDICIAL DISTRICT:

I take this method of announcing my candidacy for renomination for Solicitor in the' June Primary.

Hon. Larry I. Moore, who received the nomination for three consecutive terms without opposition, succeeded by Hon. Charles L. It is unquestionably true, and will not be contradicted by anyone who has no political ambition himself, that the candidate who is best qualified for the position should be elected to this high and important office. Especially is this true since the greatest crime wave in the history of the Country is now sweeping it. I know of no office within the gift of the people where experience means more than in the office of solicitor, for the reason that it is absolutely imperative, in order for a man to become a successful prosecutor, for him to know and be acquainted with the people of his district. I make this statement without any fear of successful contradiction, that I know the Fifth Judicial District better than anyone of the other candidates for the reason that for six long years I have been in constant touch and intermingling with the folks who compose it, having tried over eight thousand cases during this time, and with what measure of success I have attained in the prosecution of this large number of defendants, they charged with every
