

SAYS FORESTS GREATEST SOURCE OF STATE WEALTH

Gov. McLean Makes Plea for Cooperation of Counties With Officials in Preserv- ing Forests

Raleigh, Apr. 21.—(AP)—Declaring that North Carolina's forests "are our greatest potential source of wealth," and that cooperation in fire prevention work is the only "effective way" to preserve the forests, Governor McLean today made a plea for closer co-operation on behalf of the counties, with the Department of Conservation and Development.

His statement was issued in connection with the observance of American Forest Week, April 18th to 24th.

"I have determined to recommend to the next General Assembly," said the executive, "legislation which will enable the State Forest Service to expand its forest protection program throughout the state and to accomplish this there must be steady and hearty co-operation of the county officials, the landowners and the Federal Government."

The Governor emphasized the value of the forests to the development of the State, and the annual loss from fire of "more than a million dollars a year," and the deplored fact that, in the face of these conditions, the Department of Conservation and Development is "receiving co-operation for forest fire control from only thirty counties of our one hundred."

The Governor's statement follows in full:

"American Forest Week will, I trust, bring vividly to the minds of our people, the splendid heritage in trees and forests which has come down to us from the last generation. Thirty or forty years ago we had vast stores of virgin timber, both pine and hardwoods. It was then that our furniture industry, the largest in the South, was started in the center of an apparently unending supply of most suitable timber. Now most of their raw product has to come from a distance, much of it from other states. As late as 1914 we were the fourth largest timber producing state in the Union, now, with no more cultivated land, we take eleventh place. While we have as much forest land as we had twenty-five years ago, we are producing much less timber, and this in the face of an increase in value of land and of its products.

"Every good citizen of North Carolina, whether a landowner or only a consumer of wood, should welcome the opportunity presented him this week of re-viewing the situation. Rapidly thinning forests, dwindling production, and a loss from forest fires of more than a million dollars a year, yet the State Department is receiving cooperation for forest fire control from only thirty counties out of one hundred, and some of these are only half heartedly in the work.

"Our young growth, which nature is using to restore our cut-over areas, must be protected, even more than the mature forests. While it is the duty of the state to see that the future is properly provided for, it is likewise the duty of the landowner to handle his property so that its value as producing capital will not be impaired.

"Co-operation in forest fire prevention is the only effective way. I have determined to recommend to the next General Assembly legislation, which will enable the State Forest Service to expand its forest protection program throughout the State, and to accomplish this there must be a steady and hearty cooperation of the county officials, the landowners and the Federal Government. North Carolina is a recognized leader in highway development and other constructive achievement. Nothing should prevent her from assuming the leadership in reforestation.

"Let us remember that the young forests, to be found in every section of North Carolina, at the present time are our greatest potential source of wealth."

WAR CLAIMS COMM TO BE QUESTIONED

Decision Call Witness Outgrowth of Charges Made by Representative Garner

Washington, Apr. 21.—(AP)—Members of the German American Mixed War Claims Commission will be summoned for questioning by the Highway and Means Committee on a number of their awards.

Decision to call the witness was an outgrowth of charges in the House by Representative Garner, Democrat of Texas, that the mills bill designed to settle American and German war claims, was a stupendous steal.

Republican House leaders conferred today with Secretary Mellon at the Treasury and afterward Representative Tilson of Connecticut, the Republican House leader, said that inasmuch as the Commission award had been questioned, it was felt that commission members should be given an opportunity to be heard. The Mills Bill has been endorsed by the Treasury.

Body of Entombed Miner Recovered

Mediation Board Appointed Settle Textile Strike

Passaic, N. J., Apr. 21.—(AP)—Negotiations for a settlement of the strike of 10,000 textile workers today awaited the announcement of the mill owners to Governor Moore's mediation proposal. Spokesmen for the owners have indicated that discussions with Governor Moore will be welcomed, but they have made no formal announcement.

A mediation board of four members already has been appointed by the Governor. Immediately after the announcement of the board, appointment leaders of the strikers said they were ready to confer with mill owners, or cooperate with an outside board for conciliation.

William Greene, president of the American Federation of Labor, in a statement issued last night in New York, said the "authorities of New Jersey are violating the fundamental law of the land when they interfere with peaceful assemblage and free speech."

The striking workers are not members of the American Federation of Labor.

If Mussolini lives in view of numerous attacks on his life he will be remembered in history and not merely as another friend. In his plan to revive the greatness of the Roman Empire, he does not merely dream like Napoleon that Greece might yet be free. Mussolini works at his idea, plans great Italian colonies in Africa, means to make the Mediterranean an Italian lake as it was once a private Roman lake. But no old ideas about individual freedom or anything else starts in his way.

Lloyd George usually kept not easy to stampede, takes Mussolini seriously as he should. He sees Mussolini sailing for Africa accompanied by such an imposing fleet of armor-bills as never escorted any emperor. The ancient or modern world on a powerful mission to part of his dominions.

If this were all swagger says Lloyd George, the world would laugh, but there is an uneasy feeling abroad that it signifies business of a portentous kind.

"Italian imperialism," says Lloyd George, "has been aroused to a pitch of enthusiastic confidence in its destiny such as the Peninsula has not experienced since the days of the Caesars."

This shows what one man of powerful will can do following a great war that weakens the wills of feeble men. It took the French Revolution and the exhaustion that followed to pave the way for Napoleon. Mussolini follows 1914.

While the powerful Italian reconstructs the Roman Empire with his own strength and personality, the Japanese carry on an imperial work that interests Europe and America.

China breaking up, means Japan building up. Where the Chinese lose ground, Japanese gain. Another Roman Empire in Europe might be balanced by a greater empire in Asia.

In Japan as in Italy the fly in the imperial ointment is the radical and labor classes.

A charming lady of the west, getting her first divorce says, "I am only rectifying a mistake of my childhood."

Young people that plan marriage in a hurry should remember that saying. Thousands of marriages are "mistakes of childhood" doomed to failure. And they are made, so far as the marriage engagement is concerned, with less thought than the bride subsequently gives to selecting a wedding dress.

The Southern Pacific is transporting from the Massachusetts General Electric factory to Professor Ryan's laboratory at Stanford University, an engine with a capacity of 2,100,000 volts. It will make possible, experiments never made heretofore, even by Steinmetz, with a machine of higher voltage electricity than the world has ever known.

Everywhere science keeps marching ahead while fundamentalism continues to discuss good old Jonah and the whale, that's why science keeps in the lead.

What goes on in science is ever important than anything that ever happened in the whale's belly, and really religious people realize that. They concentrate attention on the greatest of miracles, which is the creation of the brain of man.

Our Government hopes that Britain will prevent sending whiskey shipments to America. We cannot keep it out, but the British who know how to enforce laws, could prevent its being sent to the United States. If we arrange for no British whiskey shipments we shall not stop bootlegging, preserve our bootleg market for home manufacturers and cause Americans to drink, not less alcohol, but worse alcohol.

The Junker Company manufactures airplanes carrying high power guns, and completely protected by armor plate. Our energetic South American neighbor (Chil) has ordered four of them. Our navy thinks, presumably, that it would sound too combative to order such machines. Better wait, perhaps, and see how they work if we remain unprepared.

WORK OF LEGION IN PITT COUNTY MOVING FORWARD

Local Post American Legion to Present Trophy of World War to the County

A piece of German artillery, trophy of the World War will adorn the courthouse square here soon, according to announcement made at the meeting of the Pitt County Post American Legion here last night. The meeting last night was well attended and many matters of business including arrangements for marking unmarked graves of veterans, procuring a complete roster of all ex-service men in Pitt County and plans for this year's Armistice Day celebration.

The committee in charge of procuring a trophy of the late war for Greenville announced that arrangements had been made to bring to this city a German gun used in the late war and mount same on the courthouse square. Indications are that this will be done by the early fall and the trophy will be presented to the county with exercises appropriate to the occasion.

As the work of the Legion can be best carried on if it is in close touch with all ex-service men at all times, a committee was appointed last night to revise the roster of Pitt County ex-service men. The committee will appreciate any outside help in procuring the correct names and addresses of these ex-service men.

Announcement was made last night that the Government of the United States was desirous that every unmarked grave of veterans of the American armies be marked and the Government will furnish free of cost an appropriate marker for such unmarked graves. This offer for the graves of all veterans who have fought under the Stars and Stripes. The Legion is desirous of locating unmarked graves of veterans and will appreciate information leading to same. A committee to make plans for this year's Armistice Day celebration and to procure a speaker for same was appointed.

ITALY WAR DEBT CONFRONTS SEN.

Takes Up Third Major Problem of Session; Other Two Have Been Approved

Washington, April 21.—(AP)—The third major problem of its session, the $200,000,000 war debt settlement with Italy, today confronted the Senate.

Other two, the World Court and the income tax reduction bill, and administration leaders were confident that they could muster the necessary vote late today to bring about favorable action on the agreement between the American and Italian Debt Commission upon which President Coolidge has spent his approval.

While conceding this opponents were not ready to give up the fight with their chief weapon, a motion to recommit, and efforts to have the terms of settlement amended so as to increase the interest rate.

Treaties to Seize Rum Runners Are Greatly Limited

New York, April 21.—(AP)—The effectiveness of the treaties with Great Britain, Norway and other countries permitting the United States to seize rum runners at any point within an hour's sailing distance off the shores was greatly limited today by a decision in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals' ruling forth that the treaties do not make law extending the limits of territorial jurisdiction of the United States.

The appellate court in an opinion dissented seizure proceedings brought by the Government against the Sardinia, a Norwegian vessel, and the Diamantina, flying a British flag.

Election of officers, the induction of a new member and the transaction of routine business composed the program of the meeting of the Rotary Club held here Monday night.

At the conclusion of the meeting there was a special meeting of the new board of directors for the purpose of electing from this number the new club officers. The board elected W. H. Dail, president; W. W. Lee, vice-president and treasurer; and C. L. Outland, secretary.

NAVAL BOARD IS INVESTIGATING $49 DISASTER

Second Explosion at New London Sub- marine Base Takes Toll Three Lives and Nine Injuries

New London, Conn., Apr. 21.—With three seamen dead and nine other, injured, six of them seriously, the Naval Board of Inquiry had before it today the task of determining the cause of the explosion which shattered the battery room of the S-49.

It was the second major disaster suffered by the submarine base here in less than a year. Last September, the S-51, a sister ship of the S-49 went down with 33 officers and men, after a collision with the steamer City of Rome. Ten blast on the S-49 came without warning just as the seamen had finished a meal. No officers were on board, but within a few moments comrades of the seamen entered the wrecked and gas filled room with their heads covered by gas mask, and carried the victims of the explosion to the open air.

Ponzi was given 60 days in which to perfect an appeal.

DRYS GIVEN MORE TIME TO CONTINUE THEIR TESTIMONY

Demand Three Additional Hours Declaring That Reid's Cross Examination Had Consumed Their Allotted Time

Washington, Apr. 21.—(AP)—Failure of committee members to assemble kept the drys waiting today in the hearing room of the Senate Prohibition Committee to continue their testimony against modification of the Volstead Act. At 10:20 o'clock, 20 minutes after the hour set for the opening of the hearings, no one had appeared to call the meeting to order.

When the committee finally assembled the drys formally demanded three additional hours in which to conclude their case. They explained that much of the 24 hours allotted them had been taken up with cross examination by Senator Reid, Democrat of Missouri, the committee's only wet. The Senators took the demand under advisement and the drys went ahead with their case.

Washington, April 21.—(AP)—Defeated by complaints from both sides the Senate Prohibition Committee continued its hearings today in an atmosphere of increasing tension.

The drys again had the right of way and as the time allotted them drew toward its close they put on the stand a succession of witnesses who spoke for prohibition organizations, farm groups, and others in opposition to any change in the Volstead Act.

The extension of the dry side of the case is expected that their time be extended and the committee took the petition under advisement. It was pointed out by dry leaders that Senator Reid, Democrat of Missouri, the committee's only wet member, had taken up much of the time with cross examination allotted for dry testimony. Senator Reid on the other hand has complained that the drys are being favored by the committee's proceedings. At the outset Chairman Harrell announced receipt of a letter from Governor Pinchot, of Pennsylvania, declaring the dry law can be enforced but attacking present enforcement methods. The chairman turned the letter over to the dry managers, who indicated they would present it formally later.

Oliver W. Stewart, head of the flying squadron foundation, made a brief statement in which he declared conditions were improving under prohibition, and then the drys put on the stand N. L. Strickings, of Castle, New York, who said he spoke for the National Grange. He recapitulated the attitude of the Grange over 60 years of moral questions and disapproved any change in the dry laws. Many farms are going into the hands of foreigners, he said, and the one way to inoculate patriotism in these people is for America to obey the laws.

DRY CHIEF TOUR TO URGE STATE AID VS. WETS

Andrews in Nation Wide Trip to Seek Co-operation in Law Enforcement; Will Inspect Conditions Along Mexican Border, and Make Coast Survey

Washington, Apr. 21.—(INS)—Among the subjects of a nation-wide tour to be taken in July or August by General L. C. Andrews, prohibition chief, will be conferences with State and local enforcement agencies with a view to obtaining more effective cooperation in application of the dry laws.

Andrews plans to go west by the way of New Orleans, make an inspection of Mexican border conditions, followed by a survey of the Pacific coast which probably will take him to Alaska. Returning east Andrews will see a portion of the Canadian border, the Great Lakes enforcement machine and possibly will visit some of the middle western states.

With reports from administrators indicating considerable progress in the government's attack on sources of liquor supplies, Andrews hopes to build up enforcement by stimulating a greater interest in the minds of local law officers in "getting" the little fellows. Andrews' schedule calls for a number of addresses in which he is expected to stress the wholesome moral effect on enforcement of building up sufficiently strong cases against violators of the dry laws that they will be sent to jail, rather than fined. All federal administrators have been asked to "put the bootlegger in jail wherever possible." Although it was admitted that local public sentiment is a big factor in jailing liquor law violators Andrews believes that by the proper preparation of cases and by furnishing United States attorneys with overwhelming information the courts will be forced to use imprisonment more generally than fines.

Andrews' probable visit to Alaska may be followed by some radical change in the method of enforcing the prohibition and narcotic laws in that territory. A considerable volume of liquor is being smuggled into Alaska and narcotic peddlers are active among the salmon fishermen, according to reports.

Delegate Dan Sulzberg, of Alaska, has already laid the situation before Andrews. Liquor smuggling into Pacific coast states from both Canada and Mexico also is presenting something of a problem to the government. White officials have concentrated in the attack on smuggling on the eastern coast only a bare skeleton of a coast guard fleet is maintained on the Pacific and many of the vessels are taken from the rum patrol during the spring and summer for Alaskan journeys.

A plan for co-ordination of all law enforcement activities along the Pacific has been submitted to General Andrews, by prohibition administrators from California. It was thought probable that after viewing the situation, Andrews would make arrangements for appointment of a coordinator, under a plan similar to that adopted in the Southeast. General Andrews is considerably encouraged at the results of his first year in office. Reports from administrators, it was stated, prove that prohibition is "not a flop" and that in some sections there is an increasing sentiment in favor of enforcement.

K. C. Clergy Band to Attract Young Set

Kansas City, Apr. 21.—(INS)—"A pink cheeked youth in pale blue plus four golf knickers as a deacon of the church?"

"How can the church attract young people?" This is the question that the ecclesiastics of Kansas City have set out to solve, and they are welcoming new ideas and utilizing the University club advertising committee to do it.

Karl R. Koerper, editor of the "Christian," is one of the leaders of the movement, but he is followed by pastors of various sects and the purpose is the elimination of the whisker regime in religion.

True, some of the more timid souls have expressed apprehension as to the "college" result to be obtained from "sicing" university lads into such a serious problem. Venerable prelates are having nightmares of sermons on the correct way to play iron shot, or hymns that smack of "Red Hot Henry Brown" but the majority are "heartily in favor of the idea." The most opposition is from behind the "pasty physiognomies, that are to be re-labeled by the smooth, unfurrowed brow of youth.

Koerper, enthusiastically in the lead, meets that—"We must meet youth on youth's own grounds," and he added that the dance floor was usually the home grounds.

The movement, however, is in deadly earnest, and intends being permanent. True, no suggestion have been made for Te Deum with Charleston interludes but the idea is snappy, easily digested portions of religion, from the smooth, hairless lips of young men who understand.

No longer does the "flaming youth" trudge to Sunday School, scuffling dust from its copper toed shoes. It rides in father's roadster, with a set of golf clubs or tennis racquets under the jumper seat, and the churches of Kansas City are going to stay with them—and the heads of those churches are now busy acquiring the speed.

END OF CENTURY CLUB MEETS

The End of the Century Club was entertained on Tuesday at the charming suburban home of Mrs. R. L. Carr. The club felt honored at the presence of its beloved founder and honorary president, Mrs. R. R. Cotten.

After the conclusion of the business a most interesting and instructive article on the life of Booker T. Washington was read by Mrs. W. S. Harden. In the discussion that followed, Mrs. Cotten, who had known him, added many enlightening touches to the sketch of this great negro leader of his race.

Two poems by Paul Lawrence Dunbar were given by Mrs. C. A. Bowen and Mrs. W. S. Harden, respectively, and the two talented negroes were discussed and compared as to their relative value to the needs of their time and their race. The hostess served a most toothsome sweet course, assisted by her little daughter, and the club adjourned until two weeks hence, when it will have its final meeting for the year, at the home of its president, Mrs. J. L. Fleming.

FAIR WIG CHANGES HER PERSONALITY

Eleanor Boardman says she is a new and different person in "The Only Thing," the Elinor Glynn production, in which she plays the leading feminine role, that of Queen Thyra, which is at White's Theatre Thursday.

It all came about with my wearing of a blonde wig in this picture, I have been dark-haired all of my life. Becoming a blonde changed my thoughts as well as my appearance. I felt more dignified than I ever had before. Perhaps the gown and train and the Queen's crown had some effect upon that, but the wig was mostly responsible, I am sure.

WM. DE MILLE'S LATEST "THE RUNAWAY" BIG HIT

If you like your screen drama stark and real but lightened here and there with those intimate humorous and subtle touches of which only William de Mille is capable, you will enjoy "The Runaway," which comes to White's Theatre, tonight.

The Paramount producer, director selected material different from that which ordinarily attracts him when he chose "The Runaway." It was a fortunate choice and shows four players in roles which will make each of them more firmly situated on the ladder of popularity. Clara Bow, Warner Baxter, George Bancroft and William Powell all give stepping performances.

"The Runaway" was prepared for filming by Albert Shelby LeVine from Charles Neville Buck's novel.

Salvation Army Opens Campaign

New York, April 20.—(AP)—The Salvation Army is entering upon a new campaign of world expansion.

Plans for extension of the organization's endeavors in many lands was disclosed by General W. Bramwell Booth of London, head of all of the Army's workers in sixty-three countries, upon reaching the United States to view the progress of the organization on this side of the Atlantic.

China is to be one of the first scenes of the Army's world program of intensive development, General Booth said in a statement to International News Service, adding that he hoped to visit China before the close of the present year.

"We are surely, though somewhat slowly establishing a firm foothold in China," he said. "In Peking, a headquarters and central hall forming a very impressive pile of buildings, have been erected as a Memorial to my dear father—it was almost his dying wish that I should make that country one of my first concerns when contemplating possible advances."

General Booth declared that remarkable results had been obtained in the Army's settlements for criminal tribes in India, asserting that wandering robbers have been transformed into industrious citizens. The work, which will be enlarged, has already reduced Great Britain's task of policing these centers, he said.

Conversion of natives is being sought in the new Colony of Kenya on the East and in Nigeria and the Gold Coast on the West in South Africa, he said. Natives are being trained for officership in the Salvation Army.

Alleviation of suffering in the Dutch East Indies where many natives suffer from ophthalmic troubles and leprosy is under way.

"As to the new European countries, I desire to begin our work in a thousand new cities and towns," said General Booth.

"I want also to establish a hundred new settlements for men and women."

men and banish the ugly night homeless from the cities of Europe, as we have so largely banished them from London."

Mothers' hospitals, particularly for unmarried mothers; homes for the aged and penniless, medical service, and young peoples' endeavors, were listed by the Salvation Army leader as goals for the future.

IOWA DIVORCE FIGURES SHOW INCREASE IN 1925

Des Moines, Apr. 21.—(INS)—Preliminary figures furnished for the year 1925 by the county clerks to the State Board of Health reveal that divorce made a substantial gain over marriage in Iowa, as compared with 1924.

In 1925 there were 21,789 marriages performed and 4,193 divorces granted. For the previous year 24,855 marriages and 3,784 divorce decrees were reported.

The photoplay will have as its background the Civil war period. Keaton has inspected locations near Chattanooga, to round out scenes.

UNIVERSITY PRESS BUILT INTO PAYING INSTITUTION

Eugene, Ore., Apr. 21.—(AP)—Starting in 1915 with assets consisting principally of a Washington, D. C. and since that time increased by an appropriation of only about $500, the University of Oregon Press has grown into a large institution.

The new home of the Press, a 15,000 structure, was financed out of funds which it had earned.

BIGGEST MUSKRAT FARM IN THE WORLD PRODUCE FUR COATS FOR CANADA

Quesnel, B. C., April 21.—(INS)—Largest muskrat farm in the world will be established at Ewas Lake forty miles northwest of here, according to J. E. McFarland, representative of a fur company in Vancouver.

The company has acquired 8,150 acres of low-lying ground surrounding Swan Lake, including meadows and streams already heavily populated with muskrats and beavers. Twenty-eight miles of wire fencing will be erected to close the land off. The farm will be stocked with additional animals and the first crop of pelts will be harvested this fall.

In addition to muskrat fur-bearing animals now raised in Western Canada include silver fox, black fox, raccoon, marten, fisher, lemming, beaver, karakul, sheep, Siberian hares and Chinchilla rabbits.

Fur experts predict that the bulk of the Canadian fur supply of the future will be raised on domestic farms.

OUR TOWN

"Our Town"—how much or how little does it mean to you?
Some men have nothing but ridicule and criticism for the home town. Some have nothing but flattery.
Some ignore the town and think only of themselves.
What attitude ought one to take?

Since the town is really an enlarged family, why not act toward it as one does toward the family?

A sensible person recognizes family faults, but he does not advertise them.
When one tells others of personal weaknesses or of family shortcomings these failures are likely to be remembered even after they have disappeared, and they are all too readily recalled when we wish that others would forget them as we have. One should tell family faults to the family and town faults to the town and not to outsiders.

Some citizens court public favor by flattery. It is a cheap and easy way to make a triumphal entry into the mind of the superficial ego-ist. Knowing that personal conceit will not meet with popular approval we satisfy the human love of approbation by encouraging it as a group. So towns and nations often boast and flaunt themselves in a way that they as individuals would not dare do.
The helpful citizen takes an attitude toward his town similar to that taken by a doctor toward his patients, a teacher toward his pupils, an adult member of the family toward the family.

Our town is not perfect.
We have no miniature Heaven on earth just yet.
But it is our business to make our town as nearly perfect as we know how.

To work intelligently for town progress one must have a goal, an ideal. He must take stock of present assets and liabilities and must set standards for future growth.

Hence, even though there is an easy comfort in living in happy indifference to town needs, and even though one may provoke a laugh by ridicule, or win favor by flattery, the desirable citizen is the one who sees facts, and the one who, in love and hope and faith, builds for the future.

A dozen citizens can build a worthy town. Are you one of the dozen?
Raleigh is to be congratulated upon its action in voting $1,300,000 for the enlargement and modernizing of its school system.

No community can make a mistake in seeing to it that ample provision is made to give its children the education to which they are entitled.

The government is offering markers for the unmarked graves of veterans of all wars and the local post of the American Legion has taken upon itself the task of locating such unmarked graves in this county. Help to see to it that the graves of these heroes are marked by informing the American Legion where such unmarked graves can be located.

Now comes a suggestion for a "listening in" charge for all radio listeners to increase the royalties of those whose works are used in radio.

If this is done it might be well for the radio listeners to be given a voice in the arrangement of the programs and were this the case there are many whose royalties would indeed show a decided decrease.

DEMOCRATIC LEADERS WORRY ABOUT NEW BOOK

Commonly Believed War President's Widow is Preparing "Intimate Papers" Which May Be Published Before Next Party Convention

By GEORGE R. HOLMES, INS Staff Correspondent.

Washington, April 21.—Democratic leaders in the Capitol are wondering—not without trepidation—how long it will be before Mrs. Woodrow Wilson abandons her policy of seclusion and silence and comes forth with the "Intimate Papers" of the late War President.

Few have any doubt but that these papers are in process of preparation, although Mrs. Wilson has preserved a stony silence concerning them to all save a few of the former President's intimate friends.

Other hands than Mrs. Wilson's have set the stage almost ideally for their publication, and there is a feeling that they will see the light between now and the next Democratic convention in 1936.

In the last six years more books have been written about Woodrow Wilson than about any other single subject. Newspaper correspondents who have claimed special intimacy with the Wilson mind have written their views; various members of his Cabinets have lifted the curtain slightly on the latter dark days of his Presidency; men whom he appointed to high place have made public their correspondence with him; Joseph P. Tynan, his secretary for eight years, published a book; Ray Stannard Baker compiled his "official papers"; foreign statesmen with whom he associated in Paris have given their impressions of the man; and lately, Col. E. M. House, who was his closest intimate for six years, has published his memoirs.

None of these numerous volumes, however, has ever reproduced any of Woodrow Wilson's correspondence, save the official papers in Baker's book, compiled while Mr. Wilson was still alive, and in which he collaborated. What Woodrow Wilson thought about this man or that man has not been revealed through any published correspondence, for the Wilson heirs, principally Mrs. Edith Bolling Wilson, have resolutely refused permission to anyone to reproduce anything in writing by her late husband.

She has pursued this policy even to the extent of threatening court procedure, and on one occasion she compelled the withdrawal of a column of a magazine which had produced a letter by Woodrow Wilson in one of its articles.

There remains to be published, therefore, only the private papers of Mr. Wilson to make his Presidency fairly complete. It is no secret in Mrs. Wilson's circle that she, in common with a good many other of the late President's intimates, deeply resents the picture of Mr. Wilson presented in some parts of Col. House's work.

The question is not particularly concerning the portrait of Mr. Wilson as always revealed upon Col. House for advice.

Efforts to obtain Mrs. Wilson's views of Col. House's memoirs for publication have been fruitless, but they are nevertheless known to her friends. And these friends have advised her that the best way of answering the Colonel's is to publish the private letters of her late husband.

Mr. Wilson was noted for the facility of his pen, and the strength of his like and dislikes. The publication of these letters is expected to let in a flood of light upon the feelings of Woodrow Wilson toward the men who were his friends and with whom in the latter days of his life he suffered.

Comparatively little is known about the opinions and the mental attitudes of Mr. Wilson after his retirement to private life in 1912. He gave no interview, he wrote nothing for publication, he saw few people. But he was busy continuously with a vast amount of correspondence and writing, some of which has been the light of day.

When, and if, these latter writings are revealed they are expected to prove a treasure trove of personal history.

The trepidation of some Democrats is over the possibilities of this publication just prior to the next campaign. It is hinted that some of the late President's views on men and issues would exactly conducive to party harmony were they made public at "an inopportune time."

MAY ASTONISH BIG LEAGUE WORLD AS BASEBALL FIND

Rode Into the Big League on a Band Wagon and the First Thing He Knew He Was Playing a Trombone

By DAVID J. WALSH, INS Staff Correspondent.

New York, April 21.—Usually big money ballyhoo sets the minor league luxury back at least a year in his development, and sometimes forever, while he tries to live down the past. For more than a season Babe Marquard was about as useful as a rungless stepladder. Joe Petty is just beginning to catch up with some of his back installments.

Jimmy O'Connell, Marty O'Toole, Larry Chappelle, Lefty Russell and

some others never did pay their own car fare in value rendered. There have been several notable exceptions, however. Glenn Wright furnishes one of them and Willie Kamm another. Tony Lazzeri, of the Yankees, may be a third.

This young man rode into the big league on a band wagon, and the first thing he knew he was playing a trombone. He may blow a sour one every now and then, but the belief among ball players is that Tony is a bargain, even at the $65,000 price the Yanks are alleged to have paid.

That, by the way, was one of the things he has had to live down. Another was his world's record of sixty home runs, made with Salt Lake in the Coast League last year. He naturally was a marked man when he reported to the Yankees at St. Petersburg this spring, and for a time he failed to shake off the effect of his unwelcome attention.

But the boy was so quiet and reserved that the news scavengers were forced to retire with empty hands and so determined that soon he began to hit. Before he had finished the training trip, Lazzeri was hitting well up toward 350 and had topped Ruth, Gehrig and Meusel in the home run stakes with a total of five.

His showing stilled the clamor about his Coast League record being due to the rarified air around Salt Lake City. The air in Florida, Georgia and the Carolinas is about as rare as a day in January:

therefore, Lazzeri's sixty homers in 197 games; his record of 222 runs batted in and his average of .355 for the 1925 Coast League season began to assume the proportions of rear significance.

For one thing, everyone noted with due satisfaction that he hits a long ball with a short swing. It is all in his wrists. Harry Davis, of the Old Athletics, used to tell them that way and the man who does seldom goes wrong.

"He's not a good hitter; he's a great one," said Jacques Fournier, of the Dodgers.

This may or may not be true. It is saying a whole lot for a man who has played only a few seasons of league baseball and has just turned his 22nd year. Tony still has to deliver and keep it interestingly at it.

His chances are good, however. He has the ability, he has the temperament and he has the background. A native of the San Francisco Italian quarter, he has the example of Ping Bodie, Babe Pinnell, Jimmy Caveney and other Italians, who played their first baseball on Telegraph Hill.

Lazzeri is the last of them. He may be the best.

Movie "Heartbreak House" One That Is True to Name

Culver City, Cal., Apr. 21.—(AP)—"Heartbreak House" is a place in the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios that lives up to its name. Here directors, executive, players, experts and others gather to decide on necessary operations upon pictures. Then the film goes to the cutting rooms, where scissor, razor blade, and glue do the actual work.

Sometimes a director's favorite shot—one that he has spent nights in developing—is found unnecessary. So out it goes. Many a star may be seen weeping tears of disappointment as the scenes she wanted to appear in all her life, are ordered to be whacked out as irrelevant. Of it may be the author or the camera man.

Many thousand feet of negative are used in every picture, so when the cutting is made to bring the action within five or ten reels, a most every one connected with the play suffers.

Sold Out!

All 400 Lots In Hotel Section Of WILDACRES Taken Up Since Opening Day, March 15

BY N. C. HINES, GENERAL SALES AGENT

"The Wildacres idea has gone over like wildfire. The entire Hotel section is sold out. Thus North Carolina steps with Dr. Dixon and his associates. I knew North Carolina would. And so Dr. Dixon's dream comes true quickly. A notable colony is under way on the mountain tops at Little Switzerland. A still greater demand for Wildacres property is yet to come—when people from the states south of us pour into the mountains in June and July. It looks good for re-sales for our early investors.

"The hotel section is about one-fourth of Wildacres. The next section to be offered surrounds the Auditorium, seat of the summer Forum to be initiated by the Mt. Mitchell Association of Arts and Sciences. It links up with the hotel section. Its homesites are between hotel, auditorium and casino, and close to all three.

"Our engineers have rushed the preparation of the Auditorium Section. We expect to offer it to investor and homeseeker within the next few days."

Daily News Letter

Gossip of Staff Correspondents at World Centers of Population.

Dublin, Apr. 21.—(INS)—Complaints are being made by Irish millers that owing to the dumping of flour in Irish ports they are unable to compete with foreign manufacturers.

It is stated that more than half the flour mills in the Irish Free State have been closed down primarily due to this dumping, and that many more are working on short time.

Despite the cheapness of the foreign flour landed here, however, the loaf in Ireland costs more than anywhere else in Europe. In Cork and Dublin the loaf is 50 per cent dearer than it is in English cities. This state of affairs is unanimously ascribed to the wholesale profiteering which now seems to be cursing this country.

Indexes of the cost of living here show that Ireland is practically the dearest country in the world in which to live. The Government has promised to hold an inquiry into food prices and profiteering, but three years ago a similar inquiry was held, the committee presented its report, but nothing was done to lower the price of commodities.

The rings and combines have practically got the whole country into their hands, and they are giving less and less every week to the farmer for his produce. In Dublin the farmer gets less than a cent for his cabbage, yet the consumer has to pay 12 cents for it.

Ireland is getting back to its old electioneering ways. A few years ago the revolver was the best political weapon and ruled the political meetings and the votes, but now political meetings are attended with all the old pre-war Irish interruption and fun.

There is scarcely a political meeting and now but a few score or so interruptors have to be ejected in the good old-fashioned way. At a country meeting a few days back a Free State cabinet minister was speaking. There were about twenty young men present and all shouting and roaring at once, but they failed to drown the speaker's remarks.

Then somebody had a brilliant idea and released all the pigs from a neighboring sty, while other young men drove all the hens and cocks they could lay their hands on to the meeting. The din was terrific, but the speakers were still winning.

Another bright lad in the hall then called in the local bag-pipe band. With the pigs squealing and grunting, the cocks and hens fighting, and the bagpipes walling, the meeting was more reminiscent of Bedlam than a political gathering. In the end the speakers had to give up and retire.

Jim Larkin's star has at last set in this country. Since his release from prison in the United States and his return here the fiery political leader has caused nothing but trouble.

Strike followed strike for apparently no earthly reason after Larkin's arrival here, and they were generally attended with unfortunate results for the men whom he attempted to lead.

The last venture ended in complete disaster. Over a thousand men working at the Dublin quay-rides left their jobs at his bidding. The next morning their positions were filled by men of a rival union. Larkin had no money to help the deluded men and his name is now the cause of frequent expressions of disgust.

"FAN MAIL" SLUMPS AS NAMES APPLAUDERS NOT ANNOUNCED

Chicago, April 21.—(AP)—Since the radio broadcasting station quit announcing the names of persons who wrote or telegraphed to them, the "fan mail" of broadcasters has dropped heavily.

But it still keeps the mailman busy. An Iowa station had 325,000 responses to a week of "anniversary programs" which is broadcast. A Nebraska station got 182,000 letters in a 24-hour radio advertising campaign offering free samples. On the other hand a Chicago station which offered $15,000 worth of broadcasting apparatus to those who wrote in, got so few replies that not all the prizes were distributed.

URGES AMERICA'S SWEET TOOTH AID CORN BELT

Legislation Before Congress To Place Corn Sugar On Par With Cane and Beet; New Sweet Is Wholesome According to Bureau of Standard Experts

Washington, Apr. 21.—(INS)—America's sweet tooth is to be enlisted in the fight to bring the long-suffering corn belt out of its present hardships.

Before Congress today is legislation which will place corn sugar on a parity with the familiar cane and beet varieties, insofar as Pure Food laws are concerned.

Opposition to the legislation is understood to be of the slightest. Representatives and Senators of all political faiths are gleefully jumping on the bandwagon and indications today were that it would become law before the end of the month.

Means of extracting sugar from corn in commercial quantities were only recently perfected. According to Senator Cummins, of Iowa, who sponsored the measure in the upper chamber, it will provide a ready market for hundreds of millions of bushels of corn as soon as present obstacles to free use of the product are removed.

"The great obstacle," said Cummins, "to the ready sale of corn sugar is the fact that under Pure Food laws sugar is now defined as sucrose, which is manufactured from sugar cane.

"If canners and food packers generally desire to use corn sugar they must distinctly label their packages to that effect and many housewives hesitate to buy such products in the belief they are adulterated. That is not so as corn sugar has many valuable food properties and is highly recommended by chemists and physicians."

One of the main reasons why corn growers are intermittently swept by depression is because it is largely used as a stock feed and lacks a ready export market.

American radio sets are the most popular in Sweden, the latest statistics show. In 1924 Swedish fans bought more radio supplies from America than from any other country. Last year they purchased in the United States, were exceeded only by those of Spain and Great Britain. Yet the Swedish radio imports from the United States increased from $33,442 to $52,319.

Seeks Solution Radio Mystery—Crystal Detector

Ithaca, N. Y., April 21.—(AP)—The mystery of the crystal detector now is being subjected to an intensive study by Professor Ernest Merritt, head of the Cornell physics department, who believes important results hinge upon the solution. Familiar to all radio enthusiasts, this simple little device has been known to physicists for twenty years, but no one has been able to explain its action satisfactorily. "Most crystal detectors," said the professor, "are natural minerals of rather complicated composition and very likely to be impure. In my study of the subject I am trying to simplify the problem by using elements which are as nearly as possible chemically pure, instead of complicated compounds. I have found that selenium and germanium are excellent detectors, and confidently expect that several other elements will show similar action. The most promising theory of the crystal's action now seems to be something as follows: "If current passes from germanium to a metal contact the electrons must cross the minute space that separates the element from the other metal, and in order to do this the electrons must be pulled out of the germanium. "If current goes the other way they must be pulled out from the other metal. It may be that it is harder to pull them out of one metal than the other so that the current flows more rapidly in one direction than in the other. "If some explanation of this sort is the correct one it may prove that a study of this simple little device will help very materially in giving us a better and more complete understanding of the
