DECLARES BILL GIVES MELLON TOO MUCH POWER

Says Public Building Bill Would Empower Secretary to Sell Any Government Building

Washington, April 30.—(AP)—Another attack on Secretary Mellon of the Treasury was launched in the Senate today by Senator Harrison, Democrat of Mississippi. Declaring that "Mr. Mellon would have full charge of everything that is to be done" by the $165,000,000 public buildings bill, the Mississippian read the entire measure substituting "Mr. Mellon each time for the Secretary of the Treasury was mentioned. "I just want the Senate to know how it reads," Senator Harrison said "and how much power we are giving to one man." Senator Simmons, Democrat, of North Carolina said the bill would give the Secretary of the Treasury "blanket power to sell at any price any site or any building owned by the United States and Congress has no right to interfere if it thinks that price is inadequate or the building in question should be torn down or changed."

Motion Made to Bring Farm Relief Before Senate

Washington, Apr. 30.—(AP)—A motion to bring farm relief legislation immediately before the Senate was made today by Senator Harrison, Democrat of Mississippi.

The motion apparently caught most Senators unaware, but chairman Fernald, of the Public Buildings Committee, forced a quorum call and after that debate became general.

Opposing the displacing of the $165,000,000 Public Buildings Bill on the Calendar, Senator Lenroot, Republican, of Wisconsin, declared, "no Senator need fear that agricultural legislation will not be taken up and voted upon before adjournment. I want Senators to realize what the adoption of this motion means in every state and our federal buildings in most urgent need of additional appropriations in order for work to proceed upon them." This led to a long argument between Democrats and Republicans as to where the money is to be spent for public buildings. Senator Overman, Democrat, of North Carolina, declared 22 states would go without appropriations, but this was disputed by Senator Smoot, Republican, of Utah. Senator Overman conceded that $15,000,000 of the total would go to practically all states to complete buildings already authorized.

Pistol Goes Off In Dr. Tayloe's Pocket He Escapes Injury

Washington, Apr. 30.—Recovering a highly prized Italian pistol which had been gone for several months, Dr. David T. Tayloe decided he would take no further chances with losing it and put the pistol in his left pocket for safety. Forgetting it was there, the doctor sat down to eat his evening meal Tuesday night and in some way hit the pistol against the side of his chair. The pistol went off with such a report that his family, who were present, were greatly alarmed, not knowing whether he had been shot or not. Dr. Dave rubbed himself for several minutes to see if he were really hurt, but found the lower part of his coat was the only thing to receive any damage. The bullet went up through the ceiling of the room over the dining room.

Paris, April 30.—(AP)—The Franc, refusing to react favorably to the conclusion of the Franco-American debt settlement, continued its steady decline throughout the day and closed at 30.49 to the dollar, a new low record.

BATTLE FIRE IN OIL RESERVOIR ON STORAGE FARM

Fire in Center of Field of Under Ground Reservoirs Each With 500,000 Barrels Capacity Started by Lightning

Bakersfield, Cal., Apr. 30.—(AP)—Hampered by a storm which washed out embankments and covered highways with water hundreds of workmen early today battled a fire in a 500,000 barrel crude oil reservoir at the storage farm of the Standard Oil Company of California, five miles from here. The fire was started last night by lightning.

Immediately thereafter and continuing today a deluge of rain almost cloudburst proportion, inundated the plains and highways surrounding the storage farm.

The fire is in the center of the field of underground reservoirs are not full and it is estimated 6,000,000 barrels of oil are stored on the farm. Two miles away however, on the main storage field of the district there are 40 such reservoirs.

As the oil in of low gravity an explosion is not expected, but workmen attempted to throw an embankment to prevent the spread of the flaming liquid when it boils over.

Because of the continued down pour of rain, water stands six feet deep in places on the oil farm. A number of retaining walls constructed to prevent the spread of the oil, have been washed out and the flooded condition of the highway made it impossible to move trucks and other equipment to rebuild the dikes.

Pamptico Scout Office Is Moved to Washington

John H. Wilcox, Scout Executive of the Pamptico Scout Council, has moved to Washington and will have headquarters in the Chamber of Commerce room in the First National Bank. The Council is made up of Beaufort, Martin and Pitt counties. The Pamptico Council was organized a year ago, during which time it has had its headquarters in Greenville. Mr. Wilcox has been executive since its organization. He is a native of Rockford, Ill., and became a Scout soon after the movement was started in 1910. He had the honor of being the first scout to attain Eagle rank in his home town and was one of the first in America. During his stay in Greenville he has won a host of friends who regret to see him leave.

Under his leadership the Council has made rapid progress and now has an enrollment of 22 troops and 457 scouts.

Gasoline Prices Advanced Today

New York, April 30.—(AP)—Gasoline prices were advanced one and one half cents a gallon today by the Standard Oil Company, of New Jersey. In North Carolina and South Carolina, and one cent a gallon elsewhere in its territory. The new tank wagon prices in North Carolina will be 181.2c a gallon. Kerosene was also advanced to 151.3c. The Texas Company met both advances.

HONOLULU TO USE WIND FOR INDUSTRIAL POWER

Honolulu, April 29.—(INS)—Edward A. Pava, in charge of the local weather bureau, has suggested to residents of the city the utilization of wind power from the trade winds which blow almost constantly throughout the year. Mr. Pava calls attention to the great sweep of wind which comes through the gap of the historic Nuuanu pass and which if harnessed would furnish this island with practically free power for various industrial and lighting plants. "Instead of developing power right here," said Pava, "we are importing it from the mainland in the shape of crude oil and gasoline. We have here the making of all the power we could possibly use."

Long Distance Reconciliation

After having twice sued him for divorce, only to forgive him, Elise Bartlett Schildkraut, filed the third suit in Baltimore, declaring she never wanted to see her actor-husband, Joseph Schildkraut. But Schildkraut, spending $6.40 a minute, a total of $675, called her up in New York, from Los Angeles, and persuaded her to change her mind again. Their third reunion followed.

LOCAL BASEBALL TEAM DEFEATS WASHINGTON

Greenville High Baseball Team Journeys over to Washington yesterday afternoon, and handed the Washington team the small end of a 10-1 defeat on Kugler's Field.

The game started off with Greenville pushing a tally across in the initial frame, this was followed in the second frame by a run to the Washingtonians, their only tally of the afternoon. The locals drew next blood by accounting for a couple of markers in the fourth and increased their lead to a point of safety.

Bob Forbes was the hero of the afternoon game. Not being satisfied with hurling a one-hit game and retiring nine men by the strike-out route, he contributed three safe singles and three runs during the game. West also welded the bluegum for three safe hits.

Publishers Take Notice. Professor, Teach Respect, See Wants to Die. $9 Day Old Rat in 25 Days. By ARTHUR BRISBANE

The Los Angeles Herald yesterday published the biggest week day edition of a newspaper ever seen in Los Angeles. This tells in part the story of Los Angeles progress. Newspapers reflect their cities.

Merchants everywhere are advised to get copies of Colonel May's advertising in yesterday's Los Angeles Herald. This writer counted twelve pages of May advertising in that one edition, and perhaps missed a few advertisements.

Colonel May and his son Tom may believe that the way to get attention is to COMMAND ATTENTION.

Newspaper publishers should get copies of yesterday's Los Angeles Herald from the publisher, Dr. Frank Parham, for use among advertising. It is important for the merchants to understand that the way to get business is to go after it, and let people know what they have to offer.

Another college professor says "modern petting parties are all right. Let the girls and boys pet. Telling boys that they may properly show lack of respect for girls with whom they are allowed to associate is not wise.

It has taken the world half a million years to teach men a little respect for women. No college professor should contribute to undoing that work.

Boys should be taught to respect girls, girls should be taught to respect themselves, not encouraged in the contrary direction.

Mr. Leslie Carter will act no more. The stage has gone to the dogs, she is through, and says "I am ready to die and hope I will die. My work is through, what else is there?"

There is much else. Leisure to contemplate this earth to study the work of others, and think for a year or two about what comes next, is important.

Two things in life are worth while, first work that produces something worth while. And second, leisure, that you have earned, to contemplate this little earth on which you are a passenger, and the big machine of which it is a part.

Yale and Harvard professors show that the childhood of animals can be greatly reduced; the growth made more rapid.

They are able to produce in twenty five days a male rat as big, strong and completely mature as was formerly produced in ninety days, thanks to "artificial selection" as opposed to nature's selection.

It is believed that similar experiments in feeding and heredity may produce full sized domestic animals for food purposes in half the usual time. It is even suggested that the duration of human childhood might be cut down. That, however, is not needed. Slowly, carefully grown human brain of real capacity is more important than any quick growth.

PARTS IN RADIO SET TRAVEL AS FAR AS WAVES THEY EMIT

Boston, April 30.—(AP)—The radio reaches nearly as far for its constituent elements as the waves flow which it transmits into melody or speech, William C. Redfield, former Secretary of Commerce, points out in his new book.

DEMOCRATS HOLD MOST PEACEFUL MEET IN HISTORY

Session Lasted Less Than An Hour and Platform Adopted Without Discussion

Raleigh, April 30.—(AP)—The State Democratic convention today was a matter of history—and it was recorded that the convention had a record attendance and adjourned without a single argument on any point. From a standpoint of peace the 1926 convention surpassed all others.

After hearing W. C. Seimster, of Newton, deliver a key note address, the convention welcomed former Governor Cameron Morrison, O. Max Gardner, and Governor McLean, adopted two resolutions of tribute, elected Rufus A. Doughton as permanent chairman, adopted a platform which would not touch on any major issues in a way so as to commit the party and then adjourned.

The key note address lauded the Democrats and criticized the Republicans. The platform was a general reaffirmation of Democratic principals. The eight month school term was disposed of with a statement that equal educational opportunities should be afforded all children and the commission investigating the educational system no doubt would have some valuable suggestions.

The administration of Governor McLean was commended and likewise the action of the 1926 General Assembly. A pledge of continued progress in road building and development of fisheries and resources was contained in the party declaration.

The session of yesterday afternoon lasted less than an hour and the platform was adopted without discussion. Evolution, ships and ports, the Australian ballot and the eight months school term were not mentioned on the floor of the convention.

New Record for Balloons Appeared Probable Today

Little Rock, Ark., April 30.—(AP)—A new American record for balloons of 35,000 cubic feet capacity filled with hydrogen gas answered probably today in the Litchfield Trophy and National elimination race which started here yesterday.

Four balloons reported on to 10.15 o'clock this morning had but a short distance to go to beat the present record of 495 miles.

U. S. Has Half of World's Railroads

Washington, April 30.—(INS)—The United States has nearly one-half of the railway tracks and facilities of the entire world, according to a report on the Cummins consolidation bill, awaiting action today before the Senate.

American trackage of all kinds, total 400,000 miles, the report revealed, as follows:

Single, third and fourth main track, 46,000.

Terminal, switching, side and passing tracks, 116,000.

There are 2,500,000 freight and 58,100 passenger cars, exclusive of sleeping parlor, dining, and privately owned cars and 70,000 locomotives.

This equipment is owned by 1,500 and operated by about 1,000 separate and independent railway companies, according to the report, only 190 of which are rated by the Interstate Commerce Commission as first-class roads, or enterprises with annual gross operating revenue of $1,000,000 or more.

A single track mileage of 230,000 is controlled by class 1 roads. All of the remaining mileage is controlled by roads with revenues below $1,000,000 annually.

Mr. Coffin who has been tentatively offered the chair of journalism at the University, expects to spend the summer in Roanoke Rapids. He joined the staff of the Times ten years ago.

Two Women File As Solons Before Office Legalizer

Des Moines, Ia. Apr. 30.—Undaunted by the fact that the Iowa state constitution must first be modified before they can hold office as state representative, two Iowa women have ventured into the primary election campaign.

They have confidence that the voters will approve of change in the constitution in the November election which will make possible the seating of other women candidates who may be elected on the same date.

Two Iowa legislatures have adopted a resolution striking out the word "male" in the constitutional provision in regard to qualification of persons for legislative positions. This paved the way for approval by vote.

Women are not barred from any other state office, although candidates have filed only for secretary of state and state superintendent of public instruction—the latter now held by a woman.

China to Have Show at 'Seesqui' Some Time Soon

Peking, Apr. 30.—(INS)—China's participation in the Sesqui-Centennial Exposition in Philadelphia this June was assured when the Cabinet approved the budget and passed it on to the Ministry of Finance in March.

However, this participation was sadly pared down compared with the original conception of a special Chinese section contemplated by the Ministry of Communication, which was to cost Mex. $1,300,000. The budget approved by the Cabinet was but for $100,000 Mex.

In Peking, the American Commercial Attache's Office was active in securing Chinese cooperation for a creditable representation when the Sesqui opens its gates.

BRITISH CAPITAL AND LABOR HOPE FOR AGREEMENT

English Employers Learn That Higher Wages Pay By Pleasing Workers

London, April 30.—(INS)—Many signs point to a new and profitable association between Capital and Labor in Britain through ideas derived from the United States.

British trade has been going through a period of five years' terrible depression caused largely by outside influences. But this depression has been accentuated by two factors. First there has been the cry of the capitalists and the manufacturers: "Our goods are too dear. British labor costs are too high." On the other hand there has been the short-sighted view of the average worker, deliberately fostered in many cases by his elected representatives, "the harder we work, the more the capitalists will profit."

Both sides are now beginning to unite on the middle view. Various commissions and investigators recently studying the United States have reported, almost unanimously, that in America a man earns progressively higher wages the harder he works. In other words, that in the United States, men can be certain that they, and not "capital alone," will share the reward of increased effort.

The result is a general feeling among employers in Britain that high wages pay.

London's Summer Social Season To Be Most Brilliant

By H. K. REYNOLDS.

London, April 30.—The program for the principal London summer season, which promises to be the most brilliant since the war, has now approached completion.

The signal for the beginning of the season will be the opening of the Royal Academy's exhibition early in May. As one of the most important artistic and social events of the year in Europe, the exhibition will attract a large number of celebrated visitors, both from the Continent and from the United States.

The crowning events scheduled for May are the two Royal Courts at Buckingham Palace on the 15th and 14th. Preparations for those who will be received by King George and Queen Mary have been speeded up during the week following the announcement of the Lord Chamberlain's decision on the style and dimensions of the gowns of the women who will attend the royal functions. Samples of the authorized gowns are on display at the Lord Chamberlain's office and from these models the court-dress-makers are turning out hundreds of costumes.

The King and Queen, now at Windsor, and the Prince of Wales, who is recuperating at Biarritz from his recent illness, will re-tire to London a few days before the opening of the Royal Academy.

The Prince has been flooded with invitations to balls, dinner parties, suppers, and even breakfast parties—many of them from American housewives. Some of these he has tentatively accepted, indicating that he will be socially active throughout the season.

The Duke and Duchess of York will also participate in many functions during the season, and will do considerable entertaining on a royal scale at their new home in Bryan Street Mayfair. The Duchess's activities will be limited somewhat at the beginning of the season on account of her new daughter, but she is expected to make an later for her temporary absence from social activities.

Bootlegger and Hijacker Kids Are Boy's Heroes Now

(Chicago, Apr. 29.—(INS)—Bootlegger and hijacker have supplanted the cowboy and the Indian as childhood heroes, according to Mrs. Martha R. Hicks, authority on child psychology, in an address here.

"Imitation of bootleggers and gunmen with toy pistols a weapon is a favorite pastime of Chicago's school youth of today," said Miss Hicks. "Recently in one school room fourteen toy pistols were found in the pockets of the boys, but as a rule, when not in play, the school boys leave their 'automatics' secreted on the playgrounds where he can pick it up after school work is over.

"The danger may have its dangers, a decade ago the youth of America played at cowboy and Indian, but there was little chance of their becoming cowboys or Indians in reality. Now, however, the boys can grow up and become bootlegger and gunman unless we act quickly in seeing that justice strikes down crime as swiftly as to take all the excitement out of it."

Seeks Treasure Lost Ships Under Beds Two Rivers

(Mont. City, Mont., April 28.—(AP)—Treasures of lost ships, buried under the shifting sands of the Yellowstone and Missouri rivers, will be sought by Elmore Elmer Wenner, who has spent a quarter of a century gathering information as to their location and possibility of recovery.

In the skeletons of these treasure ships, Wenner believes, still remain quantities of the cargoes of priceless pelts, gold, silver, quicksilver and various other merchandise, the value of which government reports indicate to approximate fifty million dollars. A portion of the cargo of one wreck, buried for thirty years, Wenner already has salvaged.

Strambled on the northern shores of the Missouri river began 100 years ago when a fleet of six river steamers were built under government contract for use with the ill-fated Yellowstone military expedition which had its object the establishment of a fortified post at the mouth of the Yellowstone river.

One of these, the Thomas Jefferson, provided the first Missouri river wreck, near the mouth of Yellowstone. In 1831, the American Fur Company started a fleet of steamboats on the Missouri. Its George Washington struck a snag below Council Bluffs, Iowa and went down. The Assiniboine, also owned by this company, was grounded in 1825 near the present site of Bismark, N. D., with a cargo of 1,185 yards of pelts and robes.

The Pontiac went down with a cargo of 500 barrels of whiskey, 500 cases of wine and 500 cases of brandy, none of which was ever recovered. The Louisville, loaded with whiskey, quicksilver and general stores, went down forty miles below Sioux City. At this same spot are eight other sunken steamers. The river has changed its course and the wrecks are believed to be buried at a point four miles from the present bed of the stream.

Foolish, Wicked Profane Cursing Abolished by Gen.

(Payetteville, Apr. 29.—(INS)—Determined to relegate to the limbo of forgotten things the phrase "to swear like a soldier," General A. J. Bowley, commanding officer at Fort Bragg, is having distributed to all his troops George Washington's order against "the foolish and wicked practice of profane cursing and swearing."

Copies of the now famous order by the first American commander in chief are being given to every man in the camp. It is in the form of general orders issued from General Washington's headquarters in New York in July 1776, and reads as follows:

"The General is sorry to be informed that the foolish and wicked practice of profane cursing and swearing, a vice heretofore little known in an American army, is growing into fashion. He hopes that the officers will, by example as well as influence, endeavor to check it, and that both they and the men will reflect that we can have little hope of the blessing of Heaven on our arms if we fill it by our language and talk. Added to this, it is a vice so mean and low, without any commendation, that every man of sense will characterize himself and abstain from it."

Moore, making the top score for the club, was presented a string of pearls while Mrs. R. D. Harrington, making the top score for the visitors, was given attractive coasters. Miss Virginia Suther, bride-elect, was remembered with a string of pearls.

During the progression, the hostess, assisted by Mrs. P. R. Elmore, served sandwiches and coca colas, and at the conclusion of the games a sweet course was enjoyed.

NEW WESTERN STAR AT WHITE'S THEATRE

Surrounded by a good cast, and appearing in an excellent story which has been brilliantly directed by James Gruen and Robert de Lacey, Tom Tyler, a new addition of the screen with the shoulders of a young Hercules, flashes a fascinating smile and a dynamic personality across the silver sheet at White's Theatre on Saturday when his first F. E. O. production is shown here.

"Let's Go, Gallagher" is the title of the picture, and it is just as fast as its name if not a trifle faster. It travels about as far as Nurni could run in four months, of furious footing, and it is lighted with a lot of good comedy and corking human interest material.

FIREMEN, HERE'S ONE FOR YOU!

Hark! all ye firemen! Gather round about! For there is a big thrill serial coming to White's Theatre for ten successive weeks—one episode of two reels each—beginning Saturday, May 1st. Everybody enjoys a good serial, and during the past few years we have had various types of serial heroes, from "rentleman crooks" to sleuth-like detectives. Now comes the "name fighter" hero—and through two very exciting reels of hazardous adventure on land and sea, fighting the terrible, life destroying flames in huge tenement houses and on palatial yachts, we follow the redoubtable Jack Sparks, known because of his fearlessness, as "the daredevil of Hook and Ladder No. 4."

Herbert Rawlinson, one of the most popular male stars on the screen has the title role. It is a part which gives Mr. Rawlinson full scope for his dramatic abilities, at the same time involving a great amount of personal danger, as will easily be recognized by those who see the picture.

FALLING PLASTERING FRACTURES BABY'S HIP

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Jordan, who live on Evans street, received injuries Wednesday night when a piece of plastering fell on him while he was sleeping. An examination of the injuries revealed a fractured hip. The baby is only two months old and is getting along as well as can be expected.

GATHER TO PROTEST SHERIFF'S POWER TO BREAK UP ASSEMBLY

Passaic, New Jersey, April 30.—(AP)—Several hundred persons gathered in front of Belmont Park in Garfield for a meeting to test the sheriff's power to prohibit peaceful assembly during the operation of the riot act were driven away today by deputies armed with riot guns and uniformed police with clubs. There was no strife between strikers and officers.

Red Hair Dyes From Germany Used by Romans

Chicago, Ill., April 30.—(INS)—Blondes were not popular in Ancient Rome, but her flappers knew the use of rouge, hair dye, blackened eyebrows and powder, and the dazzling beauties who used such cosmetics were called "painted Britons."

These bits of information, and others regarding the "cake eaters" of the ancient empire were given members of the Graduate Classical Club of the University of Chicago by Miss Ortha L. Wilmer, in an address.

Red hair dyes imported from Germany were the favorite of the Roman emperors, Miss Wilmer said. Designation of such as "Britons" probably resulted from the fact that the dyes were imported from the general direction of "North."

The "shock" of those days gained the disfavor of "the men," Miss Wilmer explained, because they plucked the hair from their legs—having no Oxford bags to cover them.

Many Roman writers, she said, condemned the maids of ancient world capital, just as members of an older generation today condemn the younger generation of the female of the species, for their use of cosmetics. The ancient writers contended paints, powder, etc., would ruin the natural complexion and eventually destroy the beauty of the women.

Lenglen Does Not Believe the Word 'Impossible' Exists

Paris, Apr. 30.—(AP)—A frequently heard dictum in France declares that "impossible" is not a French word and many French notable folk seem to believe it.

Miss Suzanne Lenglen is categorical: "No! I have never in my career as an athlete had the impression of having run up against the impossible! I believe that with determination—nerves—and courage, the impossible does not exist!"

Prof. Edouard Branly, whose discovery of a coherer made wireless telegraphy practical, is much of the same opinion. "As long as you don't try to change the course of nature, nothing is impossible, not even to prevent it raining so often!"

Paul Signac, President of the Independent's Salon, thinks that it was artists who invented the word impossible as a synonym for the ideal that they feel they can never attain.

Joseph Delteil, the author, who was the Goncourt prizeman last year, belongs to the Lenglen school: "Impossible? Never seen it in my life. Have always got whatever I was determined to get. Impossible is not Delteilian!"

Alcove in Public Library Memorial Henry Watterson

Louisville, Apr. 30.—(AP)—In spirit, Henry Watterson, "Marse Henry" will live again in Louisville.

Louisville's memorial to her greatest writer and statesman will not be a cold marble or bronze statue, but a friendly alcove in the public library where the books and curio, willed it by Mr. Watterson, will be placed.

Library officials expect it to be opened by fall. Indexing the 6,915 volumes that composed Mr. Watterson's library are already under way.

Included in the memorial collection are autographed copies of all kinds of books—novels, history and essays—sent to Mr. Watterson by authors for his personal collection and many other volumes that contain inscriptions by famous artists.

FIND MAGNETIC IRON DEPOSITS IN MEXICO

Mexico City, Apr. 30.—(INS)—Vast deposits of magnetic iron ore have been discovered in the State of Sinaloa, not very far from the port of Mazatlan. Under the new law, the property will have to be worked by a Mexican concern unless the government lets the concession to foreigners for a period of years. Efforts are being made to organize a company here, but in any event, since the government owns the subsoil it will prove a tremendous source of new revenue.

AVIATION IS NEW FIELD FOR WOMEN OF EUROPE

Paris, April 30.—(INS)—Aviation on this side of the water is offering a wide, new field of work for women. There are now twenty-five aviatrixes in Europe, well furnished with diplomas, according to the latest statistics from the International Federation of Aviation.

France furnishes the largest contingent, counting twelve official pilots of the feminine sex, with two who were famous recently killed in accidents.

In Belgium, Mademoiselle Durieux holds the first place among all the European aviators, having obtained her diploma at the age of 16 and flying regularly ever since that day.

England counts seven well-known aviatrixes, Holland, Sweden, Rumania and Czechoslovakia each one.

In France Mademoiselle Maryvingt, Adrienne Boland and Madame Maryse fly often and make active propaganda for aviation. Of these Madame Maryse is perhaps the one who is most in the air.

WITH TWO WEEKS TO GO

On December 8, Mr. Coolidge laid before Congress a program for the winter's work. He asked for a modified Mellon tax plan. He asked for a modified Harding World Court plan. He asked for ratification of a new group of foreign-debt agreements. And he asked for some twenty-two other measures which were of his own choosing, were regarded by him as deserving prompt attention and constituted not inherited issues but what might be called the Coolidge program.

The Republican leaders in the House and Senate have now set May 15 as a good date to go home. Two weeks and one day, according to the present schedule, remain to the present session. President Coolidge has had his tax bill. He has had his tax bill, somewhat along Mellon lines, because in certain brackets a large section of the Democratic Party was ready to out-Mellon Mr. Mellon. Mr. Coolidge has had his World Court plan. He has had his World Court plan because even before he became President a great body of opinion favorable to American participation had been built up, and time itself wore down the opposition. He has had ratification of his debt agreements not necessarily because it was proved that they were the best that could be made, but because not enough votes could be found in the Senate in favor of keeping a troublesome issue open longer. The trend of the times, and some carried-over impetus, has helped Mr. Coolidge with three major issues. Nothing of the sort has been at hand to help him with the balance of his program. It is really a remarkable fact that of the twenty-two proposals of Mr. Coolidge's own choosing, twenty-two are still awaiting action.

Old favorites appear upon the list. There is the coal legislation recommended by the Coal Commission as long ago as 1924, and urged upon Congress by the President in his last message as vital, if the Government were not to remain 'so powerless that its only attitude must be humble supplication.' It is quite clear that we shall have no coal legislation at the present session. It is quite clear that we shall have no reorganization of the executive departments, no placing of Government shipping interests under a single execu-utive, no legislation to facilitate voluntary consolidation of the railways—issues which Mr. Coolidge championed in December. Congress has had time for many various adventures. It has had time to hold protracted hearings and stage a protracted debate on the merits and demerits of Prohibition something which Mr. Coolidge did not recommend at all. It has had time to debate Mexico, and to bridge the Pea River, and to widen First Street between G and Myrtle. But it has done little with the Administration's program.

SCHOOL DAYS By DWIG

Now they say that bugs are fully equipped broadcasting & receiving stations

Two weeks remain. Some of the Administrative measures will doubtless slip through Congress. But they have had little, to date, to drive them forward. On the subject of coal legislation Mr. Coolidge has peeped just once, and that time casually through his Official Spokesman, since Congress met. On the subject of Muscle Shoals the Administration has so completely failed to formulate a policy that we have had it wishing on the Legislature the performance of an entirely executive task, and turning a committee of Congress into a contracting agency to receive bids—an extraordinary disregard of the true division of functions in the American scheme of government if there ever was one.

This is the Congress, let it be remembered which was elected with Mr. Coolidge and for Mr. Coolidge, on a Coolidge landslide. To date it has taken few cues from anybody in the White House—New York World.

Joyner Stirred to Reminiscence of Pitt County

Andrew Joyner at the State Insurance Department, was stirred to interesting reminiscence by the news story from Greenville's old home town carried in the News and Observer yesterday, of the catching in a fish net of a 118-pound sturgeon.

"It is the first sturgeon catch I have heard of on Upper Tar River in a long time," he said. "I recall when sturgeon was sold as regularly in the fish market down east, in season, as any other fish.

"In sturgeon season, I witnessed the hauling in at my boat landing on the Tar River, by Mr. William Peebles and his brother, Major John Peebles, on these diminutive hippopotamuses, that weighed 166 pounds. As evidence how numerous sturgeons were Mr. Joyner backed it up with a fine fish-story, giving the names of Hons. O. L. Joyner, Harry Skinner and F. G. James, of Greenville, of those now living,

In the News of the Day

HUGH S. GIBSON

MRS. MARGARET ASHBY

REP. F. H. LA GUARDIA

CAPT. RENE FONCK

Led by Hugh Gibson, the American representatives in the Geneva Arms Conference were instructed by President Coolidge to insist on reduction of armaments. Mrs. Marjory Ashby will preside over the World's Congress of the Women's International Suffrage Alliance in France. An attempt of Congressman F. H. La Guardia, of New York, to amend the Prohibition Enforcement bill with a "wet" plank was ruled out on a point of order in the House. Captain Rene Fonck, French "Ace of Aces," arrived in the United States to attempt a trans-Atlantic flight.

who could verify it, Mr. Joyner being the nephew, Colonel James the law partner and Colonel Skinner long-time legal brother and associate of the hero of the story, the late Col. Isaac Avery Sugg.

"One time," said Colonel Joyner, "my rural neighbor, who like myself in them days, was a hard working town lawyer but a farming lover and country home resident on the Greenville Farmland road about five miles out, had a terrible fresheet on his Tar River low grounds. He prided himself on corn and pea crops, as well as cotton. The fresheet, not only covered but practically annihilated about fifty acres of corn in the roasting ear stage, that he said was good for 75 bushels per acre, with only two plowings. He took me down about the third day after the fresheet to show me the havoc.

But the waters had subsided until there were just little sloughs all about the field, itself a mass of tangled and muddy wreckage of corn stalks, foliage and ponderous ears. Colonel Sugg's lamentations, while natural, were profuse, if not reasonably profane, over the devastated scene. I don't think the idea of money loss appealed to either of us so much as the despoiling and ruinful promise of a fine-harvest induced by advanced agricultural methods for that period.

"Now upon closer observation, Colonel Suggs called my attention to the strange fact that in nearly 'slough' there were some kind of slate colored logs, apparently washed from the fresheet, and not following the receding water into the river. That's—damn strange," he remarked as he kneeled over one of the mudpools and licked a log. "But what happened was strangled still," said Colonel Joyner, for just like a flash a great whale of a something leaped from the mud, while we started to leap homeward. To make a long story short, Colonel Joyner said it turned out to be river sturgeons jettisoned in these sloughs. Colonel Sugg got more fore the 120 sturgeons, according to the records, than two crops of corn would have brought, besides salvaging about 100 barrels of corn from the voracious sturgeon's carcasses. One of the sturgeons looked like a whale, and weighed 197 pounds, after, not before, about a barrel of roasting ears were extracted. Colonel Joyner now concluded appearing to be totally unconscious of having recalled, for posterity, a whale of a fish story and a voracious one.

Daily News Letter

Consist of Staff Correspondents at World Centers of Population.

Paris, Apr. 30.—(INS)—"Man spricht Deutsch" (speak German) reads the bright armbands worn by twenty-five members of the police force in Paris today. All of them are proficient in the German language and are stationed in various parts of the city for the accommodation of visitors from Germany, who do not speak French. This courteous manifestation of the Spirit of Locarno was put into practice immediately after the Treaty was signed.

The words "cinema," "taxi" and "tyro" are not correct French ones, according to the illustrious members of the French Academy, who have just decided to exclude them from the great dictionary. The "famous forty" declare that these abbreviations are vulgar words of house-porters, apaches and servants. Besides, they are much too new to adopt. If three generations are required to make a gentleman the same is more than necessary for a good French word. In the future, all correct speakers will say "cinematograph" and "taximetre" and thus have a good excuse for arriving a bit late.

that the mode "a la hurblerie," as the bob was then named, would be charming for her daughter and urges her to adopt the new fashion. And she names the Duchesses de Sully, la Comtesse de Guiche and Madame de la Troche among others who have succumbed to the idea. Not long afterward, the coiffure "a la St. Germain" took France by storm. The Queen and all the ladies of the court and fashion had the hair cut on both sides and then piled up in layers of round neglected looking curls which hung no more than a finger's length below the ear. And in spite of the doctors' warnings to women that to cut the hair was fatal to the teeth, there were very few of them who retained their long locks.

Half a century passed, the Regent died and Monsieur le Duc came to power. In the "Memoirs de Maurepas" one reads that the fashion was then to cut the hair three-fingers length from the head and then put on the little "cornette," a light lace cap to which was attached their hair with two hairpins, which the coiffure then arranged in large curls. Short hair fashions have always put money into the barbers' pockets. An old lackey by the name of Fricon started the mode "an million" with the hair cut short and rolled into tiny curls of equal length all over the head. It was Madame Dodum who launched him and he became extremely rich although the fashion lasted but a short time.

Then came the Revolution and after that the guillotine and short hair came into fashion again with the "victims" who lost their heads. Within less than thirty years, history shows that there were no less than six short hair periods each one as popular with the ladies as the present one.

Americans in Business Haste 'Sandwiching' Themselves to Death

By W. F. SULLIVAN, INS Staff Correspondent
St. Louis, April 30.—American people in their rush of business in the larger cities of the United States are "sandwiching" themselves to death, in the opinion of those who prepare the daily menus in hotels, cafes, cafeterias and soda fountains here. This change in custom has its root in the fact that persons are more careful in the selection of food with a view to the promotion of health, a noted French chef, who has been in the business for more than thirty years, observes. "Years ago," said the chef, "our patrons used to eat much more than now. They were not so careful of their diet then, but they did take longer to eat. A large percentage of the younger generation, however, rush in like mad in the average eating place, grab a sandwich that is already prepared, swallow it with a few gulps and wash it down with a cup of coffee or some beverage and rush back to work in from five to fifteen minutes."

A leading cafeteria proprietor says that the people learned to eat economically during the war and have not forgotten it. Women, he said, fear they will become too fat and are the best patrons for sandwiches and salads.

The manager of a soda fountain declared that hundreds of younger persons spend no more than ten to fifteen minutes at his soda fountain counter daily. A sandwich and some sort of ice cream soda or sundae is their selection.

"Our ice cream business has mounted upward with each succeeding year and we now sell it steadily throughout the year," he said. Hotels are complaining that little money now is made from their dining rooms. "You will be surprised to know," said one hotel official, "that from every dollar meal we serve, our profit runs about two cents. The food we serve amounts to about 50 per cent of the cost of the meal. The remainder is taken up in expenses for music, flowers, rent, salaries for waiters."

Agreement to Fund France's Debt Is Signed

Washington, April 30.—(AP)—Certain to face bitter opposition in Congress and the French Parliament the last of the major agreement has been signed with the President's approval by Secretary Mellon and Ambassador Berenger. It provides for payment by France of $6,847,674,000 including interest in 62 annual installments graduating from $30,000,000 to $125,000,000. The principal was fixed at $4,025,000,000 and interest was waived for the first five years rising gradually thereafter from one to three and one half per cent, the latter rate applying for the last 22 years and making it average a little more than one and five-eighths per cent. Opposition in Congress to the French agreement which Secretary Mellon described as representing "substantially France's capacity to pay" probably will center upon the fact that if the interest had been fixed on the same basis as that of the American bonds from which the money turned over to France was derived, the total payment called for would be much greater. Computed on a four and one half per cent interest basis the present value of the French agreement to the United States is slightly less than one-half of the principal. On the same basis however the Italian agreement which the Senate recently ratified, represents a current value of 25 per cent of the debt funded.

France's Political Unrest Brings in 5 Cabinets in 2 Years

Paris, April 30.—(INS)—In twenty-three months France has had five separate and distinct governments three different Premiers and seven successive Finance Ministers. Such a period of government instability has never before been equaled in the history of France. Instability began with the arrival in power of the Left Bloc. Their majority has not been adequate nor sufficiently stable to avert five complete ministerial crises up to date and two partial crises when Finance Ministers Culliaux and Loucheur were forced out. During that period forty-seven persons have occupied ministerial positions, the majority, however, not for the first time. If the Left Bloc average of instability is maintained it is estimated that Briand's present government should not fall before August 28, while Peret, unless he is more successful than his predecessors should retire from the Ministry of Finance about June 19.

$7,000,000 Williams Estate in Court As Heirs Seek Part of It

Atlanta, Ga., Apr. 30.—Twenty-seven heirs of Mrs. Cora Ben Williams, widow of Jesse P. Williams, prominent financier, who died in Atlanta August 5, 1923, have filed suit in Fulton Superior Court for their share of the $7,000,000 Williams estate. The suit is against John Lord

The disappearance of Capt. George H. Wilkins, Polar explorer, while enroute by airplane from Fairbanks, Alaska, to Point Barrow, from which he hoped to fly to the Pole, is worrying members of his expedition. Searching parties have been organized.

Nisbit, of Pensacola, Fla., who was Williams' secretary during the latter's lifetime and who was named executor of the estate in Mrs. Williams' will. The heirs maintain that before his death, Williams entered into an agreement with his wife that she would leave no will and that she would look after the estate after his demise and make a will disposing of the property to her heirs and his. They alleged further that Mrs. Williams carried out this agreement, but that her heirs have not received their share of the estate, as she directed in her will.

This second suit filed in connection with the Williams estate, the first being settled out of court.

TODAY

(Continued from page 1) "to put teeth into the prohibition law." New teeth were put in by the House of Representatives by a vote of 198 to 4 an absolute victory for the "drys."

How sharp or useful the teeth will be is not certain. Up to now indications are that you can lead an entire nation to ice water but you can't make the whole nation drink it.

Mohs Hindus and Mohammedans were killed for religious reasons in India. If you ask a Mohammedan to have common sense and stop killing Hindus, he would accuse you of insulting Mohammed. If you told the Hindu to stop he would say that some six armed God approved the fighting.

It was that way once among Christian sects. The killing was done on a much bigger scale and more barbarously, with fire, boiling oil, the rack, etc. We have improved, but eternal vigilance is necessary. Nothing as easy as to start or as hard to stop as religious war.

Read a few lines that tell how brains and machinery can reduce the number of workmen. Where four gas fired furnaces with six men and a foreman did one thousand connecting rods an hour, in Ford's plant, two electric furnaces now HARDEN AND DRAW thirteen hundred rods an hour with only two men. The four gas furnaces and ten workmen only performed the drawing operation. Not the hardening.

Every step in Ford's factory shows machines replacing men, the only way to meet the United States labor problem.
