

SAYS SALT CREEK NOT MENACED BY EARTHQUAKES

Little Danger of Earthquakes Occurring in Regions of Salt Creek Field and Teapot Dome, Says A. R. Bartlett, Wyoming State Geologist

Cheyenne, Wyo., May 4—(AP)—“Faults” in the earth’s crust criss-cross one of the largest oil fields in the United States—the Salt Creek field—and the Teapot Dome, the naval oil reserve. But there is little danger of earthquakes occurring in these oil regions, in the opinion of A. R. Bartlett, Wyoming state geologist.

The faults are described by him as “dead.” There are nine small faults on the east side of the Salt Creek field and another three miles long between the Teapot and Salt Creek fields. Three faults have been located on the Teapot dome structure.

“Wyoming is not in a region of present earthquake activity, although slight tremors do occur,” Mr. Bartlett said. “The 1925 tremors increased the flow of oil wells and in some cases the tremors caused water to flow in with the oil.”

The largest “dead fault” in the state is that along Casper Mountain, six miles south of Casper. It has a displacement of 10,000 to 11,000 feet and is twenty-one miles long, and was once responsible for the elevation above Casper of the 3,000 foot pile of solid rock now known as the mountain, according to geologists. A geological survey of the mountain showed pro-cambrian granite on the mountain top, while the survey of the rock strata under Casper placed this rock formation 3,000 feet below the city.

The other large fault is in the western part of the state, running north from Kemmerer, halfway across Wyoming. It is believed that the displacements of this fault are small and have been made over a long period of years.

Evidence that another landslide may occur in the Teton mountains in the Gros Ventre region, where a mountain peak toppled over into the Gros Ventre river last spring, was made by Mr. Bartlett. The landslide last year pounced 60,000,000 tons of rock and dirt into the river. It was assumed, Mr. Bartlett said, by a slight earth tremor, the alluvium on the limestone formation having been saturated by spring thaws so that all it needed was a “gentle shake” to be sent tumbling into the river valley.

CONFEDERATE VETERANS WILL CAMP IN OFFICES

Birmingham, May 3—(AP)—Memories of the Sixties and Old South institution, will be revived when five thousand of the living remnant of the Confederate army and their ladies hold their annual encampment here May 18 to 21.

The reunion will bring together fewer of the gallant men who followed Lee than ever before. Only forty three thousand of them are now alive. The annual death rate has been approximately six thousand. Arrangements have been made to remove every possible physical strain from the veterans. Camping quarters will be huge downtown office buildings especially fitted with cots and other equipment furnished by the United States Government. The best food will be prepared under the direction of dietitians.

DOES YOUR BACK ACHE?

Bad Backs Bring Suffering to Many Greenville Folks

Is that dull, constant backache making you old and miserable? Does your back throb and ache until it seems you just can’t keep going? Do you suffer headaches, dizzy spells and urinary disorders? Feel weak, tired and worn-out? Then look to your kidneys. Delay may mean serious kidney sickness! Use Doan’s Pills—a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys. Doan’s are recommended by Greenville folks. Ed Moore, prop. bicycle and gun shop, Evans street, Greenville, says: “My kidneys caused troubling mornings my back pained me so I had to get up and move around before it eased up any. The pain started in the small of my back and worked up between my shoulder blades. My kidneys didn’t act right, either. I used a doctor’s medicine but didn’t get any relief. Doan’s Pills from Horne’s Drug Store rid me of the trouble.” Get at all dealers. Foster-Milburn, Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

Hollywood, Cal., May 4.—Holland and Hollywood are faced with the same problem, but Holland has met it more completely.

That world court will presently cost several senators their jobs, as it should. A start has been made in Illinois.

President Coolidge is an ardent supporter of the Boy Scout movement, as was shown in his address to the members of the National Council of the Boy Scouts in Washington, D. C., on May 1, when he said that the principles of the organization were based on the fundamental rules of right thinking and acting and that its code embraced every virtue needed in the personal and social life of mankind.

There are 3,000,000 boys in the United States who have been Scouts, one out of every seven eligible, the President said, and he felt it was impossible to estimate the physical and spiritual force that would have been added to the national life if in the period since its formation in 1910 the other six had also been Scouts.

At the present time in Norway, wine up to an alcoholic content of 20 per cent is allowed. The general sentiment of the people, Bjelland believes, is for an even stronger beverage.

After spending thirty-five years in the United States revenue service, spotting evasions and violations of the old liquor laws, John A. McCabe, 70, chief agent at one time, and another in the territory between the Hawaiian Islands, the Mississippi River, submitted his application for retirement this month.

Few Opera Stars Rise From the Supporting Chorus

New York, May 4.—(AP)—New stars and old stars told notes of great masters at the ancient Metropolitan Opera House, but rarely does fame beckon to a vast chorus of supporting singers for luminaries to place in its firmament.

Many of the choristers have followed this work for years. One woman has been there eighteen years. Recently she brought her daughter within the fold. Some remain several years for training and experience and then find other fields for their talents.

TODAY (Continued from page 1) An opportunity for a decent exit was missed by that young man, his father and his many brothers, who talked so much about fighting and "der tag," in advance, and kept out of harm's way when "der tag" at last came. What a reputation the Kaiser might have made had he imitated, in the last days of despair, a certain old blind king of Bohemia. He could not see his enemy in battle, so he had his horse chained between the horses of two knights, who led him and his orse into the thickest of the fighting, where he stuck with his sword at the foe, until he and his two companions were killed. Modern war isn't like that. The man that starts it stays safe at home, and talks about himself. The little fellow goes into the trenches. That same little fellow will not be so easy to conscript next time, by the way, especially if it isn't "our war." Queen Victoria in her mild, stoutry way, was a wise lady. Read her letter to Lord Stanley, foreign secretary, saying she did not want to be responsible for the foolishness of the French Emperor, Napoleon the third, and "would therefore urge on Lord Stanley, not to allow himself to be easily diverted from the policy of refusing to allow England to be made a party to the
