SLAYS COUPLE WHO BEFRIENDED STEP-DAUGHTER

William Ross Placed in State's Prison After He Kills Sidney Odom and Wife

Warrenton, N. C., May 17.—(AP)—Because they befriended a young girl, Sidney Odom and his wife, of Arcola, N. C., were dead today, while the slayer, William L. Ross, of Hollister, N. C., was in confinement at State's prison, Raleigh.

Little is known of the actual slaying, except what was told by Ross himself, immediately after the shooting. He had been at odds with the Odoms because they took into their home several weeks ago, Ross' stepdaughter, who left her home she alleged, because of ill treatment by Ross. The man went to the Odom home yesterday and emptied his revolver, the shots taking effect in Odom and his wife, and causing immediate death of both. He then went down the road a short distance to the home of Lewis Capps and requested him to ride down the road. A short distance from Capps' home, Ross told his companion what he had done and asked to be taken to the Warren county jail. Mr. Capps stated later that Ross had indicated he would plead insanity when arraigned, but added he expected he would go to the electric chair. Fear that violence might be done by the prisoner caused the Sheriff of Warren county to carry to State's prison yesterday afternoon.

TODAY

(Copyright 1926)
When Gabriel Blows.
Mellon's Financial Plan.
The Right Can Hold Out.
Who Will May Study.
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

Hour after hour radio stations at spots far apart, Nome, Colorado, St. Paul, in the Pribiloff Islands, have continuously sent out the three letters I.H.T. Those letters are the call for the dirigible Norge missing in the Arctic. When you read this an answering call may have come from the explorers, or the call may go on and never be answered.

What could be more mysterious than the power of man to send all around the world. To the great airship the three letters would be like hearing your name called in the midst of a forest. Some day, according to Bible teaching, the Angel Gabriel will send out a call and every one will have to answer. We are used to that thought, but feeble men calling out across the Arctic ice to their lost brothers seems more romantic even than Gabriel's horn.

A new low price for wheat. "A new low price for the French franc."

A rather discouraged wind up in Wall Street. "Such is the weekend financial news. Finance is as sensitive as any new baby babe. It shivers to think of Britain's strike. Suppose it came here. It will not come here, but just suppose."

Secretary Mellon working to make Uncle Sam's finances ten times stronger than the rock of Gibraltar hates to see the people robbed by fake stock deals. In the Journal of the American Bankers' Association he urges a national program to prevent sales of fraudulent stocks. He ought to include land swindling enterprises in his useful program and doubtless will.

This writer has just investigated the case of a poor woman persuaded to pay four hundred dollars cash for a lease where land can now be bought for fifty dollars an acre. The lease would be really twelve dollars, and the ingenious rascals, to stimulate payment of balances due, send to each purchaser a cock and bull story about traces of gold being found in the neighborhood, warning each buyer that there must be no digging for gold, if you please, until the land is fully paid for.

Such swindling robs women and the very old. It hurts every reputable real estate enterprise. It injures the city and state. This applies both to Florida and California. The case mentioned is a California product. Such samehful exceptions to the general honesty injure a state that offers to investors the greatest opportunities in the world.

The British Government appears to have won more than half the big strike victory. Railway men were first to yield. Printers that walked out because they objected to editorial copy sent up and because they sympathized with the miners, tired of the strike also.

Hunger and unpaid bills are hard drivers. The striking workman must worry about food for his family. The employer can last indefinitely, far from hunger as a rule. The government can last until overthrown. A general strike is overloading. It is like one man saying to another "I shall hold my breath until you give in." And governments have big reserves of financial oxygen, workmen have none.

Professor John Burnet, who lectures in ancient Greek when he is at home, in his Scotch University, says our colleges are too big for the right kind of study. And that of course is nonsense. The right kind of brain can study and learn in a crowd or in solitude. The other kind does not much matter. It must fill in for the right kind.

The real student has his university inside his skull. In there the work is done and there no crowd worries the man anxious for knowledge. Many instruments were ticking about Edison's ears as he sat at his key and thought out new inventions and ideas. Bunyon, in the solitude of his prison, or young Richard Harri-

BURY QUESTION OF UNIFICATION FOR FOUR YEARS

Methodists Decide Against the Election of Any More Bishops

Memphis, Tenn., May 17.—(AP)—The general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church South, today buried the question of unification for four years after deciding against the election of any bishop at this time. The conference thus disposed of two major problems within a few moments. The conference overwhelmingly supported the report of the Episcopacy Committee and refused to elect any more Bishops. A minority report from the committee was laid on the table without discussion and the majority report was adopted and applause.

Following disposition of the much discussed Bishop question the question of unification came up in the form of a report from the Church Relations Committee. The report recommended a committee to study the question for a period of four years and to report back to the next general conference. The report also asked that there be no discussion of the matter during the four years. It was passed almost unanimously.

REV. E. L. HILLMAN PREACHES TONIGHT TO YOUNG PEOPLE

Two Strong Sermons Delivered Yesterday at Revival Services in Methodist Church

The revival services which have been in progress for one week in the Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church were largely attended yesterday and Rev. E. L. Hillman delivered two of the best and most inspiring sermons of the revival. The musical programs which have been attractive features of the services were very enjoyable yesterday at the morning service. Mr. Coston sang, "When I've Gone the Last Mile of the Way."

Mr. Hillman took his text from the first part of the second chapter of Acts, taking for his theme "How the Church May Preserve Its Spiritual Vitality."

In developing his sermon Mr. Hillman declared that the church has a most glorious history, when we consider the millions of people who have come within its walls. The history of her future will be filled with the spirit of the first Christian church. The speaker also declared that we must keep the church definitely close to the Living Christ, and see to it that our eyes are kept upon Him—our captain. The center of greatest alarm we should have on part of church folks is rank indifference, carelessness. If we keep personal experience with the Lord Jesus, we need not fear what other men may say or do. Mr. Hillman appealed to his hearers to keep the spirit of service, resist the spirit of classiness, Christians in their attitude toward other folks, keep distinction between church groups and groups called the world and to keep pace with out going kingdom. The Church of God must be kept young and fair. Never was there a greater call than comes today, and we must be hopeful in midst of materialism. The speaker urged and stressed the necessity of keeping the spirit of youth in our church life.

At the night service a very effective musical number was given by Mr. Coston and a hidden quartet. Mr. Hillman discussed "The Tragedy of Sin."

The different sins were enumerated as follows, sins of passion, sins of temperance, sins of society, sins of indifference. The sin of indifference, declared Mr. Hillman, is one of the most atheistic things of today, leaving God out of our life.

NORGE BATTLES ARCTIC STORM BEFORE LANDING

Final Lap of Dirigible's Flight in Doubt Until Lull in Storm Permits Landing Near Nome

Nome, May 17.—(AP)—The final hop of the dirigible Norge's flight from Spitzbergen over the North Pole to Alaska, was a heroic battle against an Arctic storm, over which the result was in doubt until momentary lull permitted the airship to be landed near Nome. An official account of the flight sent by Commander Umberto Nobile, designer and navigator of the Norge, to Premier Mussolini, from Nome this morning, reads as follows:

"The trip from Spitzbergen over the North Pole to Alaska was carried out successfully, covering about 5,300 kilometers, (3,283 miles) in 71 hours."

"The first part of the Polar flight was accomplished without difficulties but during the second part between the Pole and Point Barrow dangerous ice formations on various metallic parts of the dirigible hindered flying, causing damages which fortunately were not serious because of precautionary measures which he had taken."

"From Point Barrow to here, the flight was very difficult because of strong winds and thick fogs which caused deviations toward the Bering Straits making the last few hours of navigation very painful. Flying on the outskirts of Nome there was a cutting wind with snow."

Their aerial adventure over Captain Ronald Amundsen and Lincoln Ellsworth, heads of the first expedition over the top of the world from Kings Bay, Spitzbergen, to Alaska today evaded a steamer from the South to take them to the United States. The Italian airship Norge, in which they and 16 associates arrived at Teller, 75 miles northwest of here Thursday night, is being dismantled for shipment south by steamer when tch ice permits resumption of aviation. Much care is being taken because it is expected the blimp will be reassembled for future flights in the future.

Captain Amundsen, Ellsworth and two companions arrived here in a launch from Teller yesterday. They received a chilly reception, quite different from the welcome planned for the explorers by the residents of Nome, when it was announced the flight would end in Nome. Elaborate preparations were made here to receive the Norge and a triumphal arch was erected in the principal street and the buildings were decorated with flags and bunting.

When it was learned Amundsen had changed his plan and descended at Teller the plans for the reception fell flat and most of the interest and enthusiasm for the explorers was lost. Only a few went to meet Amundsen when the launch bringing him from Teller arrived. The explorer made no direct explanation of his change in plans other than to remark that he thought a wireless station should be erected at Teller because of its superior harbor. The landing at Teller was accomplished with ease after an anchor had been cast in the frozen harbor. The explorers were pleased with their voyage. The Norge, they said, behaved perfectly and the flight from Spitzbergen to Teller was made in approximately 71 hours. It was uneventful except for the stretch from Point Barrow to Teller when ice particles threatened to puncture the gas cells.

ANOTHER NORTH CAROLINIAN

Out of that ample reservoir from which Virginia has drawn so many of its leaders in the professions and in its business life, comes another North Carolinian who already has achieved distinction in the field of the church and now stands on the threshold of enlarged endeavor and Christian usefulness as the new president of the Union Theological Seminary.

Dr. Lacy is a North Carolinian and it is a North Carolinian whom he succeeds; the latter Virginia claims as its own, despite the place of his nativity, just as in future years it probably will claim his successor. Dr. Lacy is a native of Raleigh, N. C., and that State is proud of him.

ited for the leadership of that institution and for the fountain head of much of the spirit of those men who go out from the seminary into the ministry of the church.

It has been the habit of many persons for a long time to refer to Dr. Lacy as a coming man in the Southern Presbyterian church. The term is incorrect. It was applied quite naturally because the man it formerly described was a conspicuous figure from his boyhood days through his college days and his war days into his ministerial days.

"If it is a leader of men that the seminary wants, the trustees have found him in Ben Lacy." Taking the cue, then, from the News, Richmond welcomes "Ben" Lacy. It is confident that he will occupy, not the place in its heart which now belongs to Dr. Moore, for that will remain occupied, but a place of his own which with the years will become equally warm.

CABLE LETTER

London, May 15.—(AP)—The Prince of Wales has learned the Charleston and London society is waiting expectantly for his next appearance in an English ballroom to see how he performs the trick American dance. Lady Walpole, a society leader and herself an enthusiastic dancer, considers the Charleston vulgar. It is danced chiefly, she says, by "silly girls."

The Prince learned the Charleston while he was at Biarritz recuperating after an operation on his ear. For a week he took lessons in the dance, instead of his usual exercises in the gymnasium of the Helianthe hotel.

A woman, Mrs. Ella Verney, is one of two or three ranking bookmakers of England, and makes an average profit of approximately $40,000 annually. Quiet and unassuming, she books her bets with lightning calculations. The race track, however, does not claim all her attention, as she is a good dancer and plays golf and tennis when the racing season is over.

She also visits Monte Carlo at the end of each season. The town of Bradford has an official story teller who gathers the children about her and relates to them the tales of the dwarfs and fairies that have entertained the young in all parts of the world for hundreds of years.

Mrs. Mary Bradford, the official story teller, believes that the fairy tales serve as a valuable introduction to sound literature in the children's later years. The dragon and ogre type of stories are avoided altogether. Since Mrs. Bradford began work, 12,926 children have sat at her feet and listened to the stories.

Berlin, May 15.—(AP)—Lady Luck, in addition to a large army, was regarded by the former Kaiser as an important factor in the success or failure of his dreams of Germany as a world empire, judging from "good luck" emblems in the former Imperial palace.

Above a gilded and intricately carved door leading from the sumptuously furnished ante-room connecting with the former Kaiser's study, there hangs a rusty old horseshoe. It dangles on a rusty nail driven into the gilded portal under which the Kaiser passed many a day. The horseshoe was picked up by him more than 25 years ago while he was riding horseback in the Tiergarten.

OLDEST LONDON COP TELLS OF OLD HANGINGS

London, May 17.—(INS)—That London was a bloodthirsty place sixty years ago is the verdict of Harvey James Lee, the veteran of the police force. When Lee first became a policeman in 1865, executions were public, and crowds were attracted.

"I shall never forget the execution," he says, "of the five pirates for the murder of the captain of the 'Flower Land' ship. In anticipation of the crowd, huge barriers had been erected around Newgate and a large force of police was in attendance. The huge scaffold was erected immediately outside the gate, and was covered with black cloth. It was summer-time, and as the dawn broke, more than 10,000 people were present. When the prisoners appeared on the scaffold all took off their hats, not, as might be thought, of reverence, but to give the people who were standing behind a clear view."

The prisoners were nearly half an hour on the scaffold, saying prayers and listening to the chaplain of Newgate. The executioner was dressed in a tall hat and long black coat and had three assistants. "As they fell the hangman and his assistants went below and hung on their legs to shorten their sufferings. "While these men were dying the crowd yelled and screamed, and as soon as it was finished the saloons were stormed."

HOLY LAND WAR COMING IN 1936 PREDICTS WYNN

Real Armageddon to Be Fought in Palestine as Shown by the Bible

London, May 17.—(INS)—The real battle of Armageddon will be fought in the Holy Land in 1936. It will be preceded by a war between Great Britain and Turkey, followed by an invasion of Palestine by Russia and her allies. It will culminate on September 16, 1936, in the overthrow of the invaders in the most terrible battle the world has ever known.

This, in brief, is the prediction of the Rev. Walter Wynn, an English cleric, who has made himself famous by his predictions of important events, in his book, "What Will Come to Pass," published here. Rev. Wynn, who bases his predictions on the Bible and the Pyramids, made himself the talk of England at the beginning of the World War by foretelling the date when Germany would appeal for an Armistice. Since then he has accurately predicted the exact date of Britain's fall prior to the recent League of Nations fiasco. Other of his remarkable predictions have been amply born out.

Reading his book, it would seem to be excusable if an impressed worlder cried "A Happy New Year" on January 1, 1936, with rafter a quivering voice. His story of what will happen in September that year makes very nervy reading indeed.

"The battle of Armageddon," says the Rev. Wynn "will take place on a triangle, twenty-one miles on each side, accommodating all the armies of the earth, and it will prove the theatre of the greatest tragedy ever recorded. Russia," he declares, "will make a final determined effort to clear God and His Son out of the world, but will fail, losing 90 per cent of her army."

There will be the most awful scenes, according to Rev. Wynn. In the streets of Jerusalem, the soldiers of a Christian will be smitten with blindness and insanity. "A strange use will be made of them; their flesh shall consume away as they stand, their eyes and tongues shall rot in their sockets and mout. Their horses, asses, camels shall all be smitten stout with them."

"And when the enemy, his weapons of warfare and animal helpers have been buried in fierce fires, Jerusalem shall still stand for the nations of the earth to gaze upon." In another passage Rev. Wynn, describing Russia's overthrow, states that "her soldiers shall die like sheep upon the open plain" and that for seven years after the battle graves will be dug for the dead.

"It will prove a ghastly spectacle," he says, "out at sea passengers will stop their mouths and noses. Men shall refer to the country in after days as the Valley of the North Multitude."

Then the Rev. Wynn makes his boldest prediction. On the strength of Revelations V. 14, he foretells that, during this battle, when the kings of the earth and "the whole world" are gathered to the fighting, "Christ will come as a thief." Christ, standing on the Mount of Olives, "will be the center of the storm." It will be His victory, he says, and when the anti-Christian armies have "passed into eternity blaspheming the Almighty, His Kingdom on earth will begin."

OLD RUSSIAN CUSTOM OF MASS FIST FIGHTING LEADS TO PUNISHMENT

Moscow, May 17.—(INS)—Police have been forced to intervene to stop a revival of the ancient Russian institution of mass fist-fights known as "Kulachnie Boy" which for centuries has been the chief means employed by Russian peasants to express their belligerence. Summoned by a riot call a squad of militiamen found sixteen ivostochiks, or cab drivers, slugging methodically another set of sixteen ivostochiks. Two sturdy figures lay unconscious. Half of the warriors succeeded in escaping. Arraigned in court, the spokes man for the sixteen defendants declared "life is too dull without a fight. What the harm if we don't break any bones?"

These persons corresponded with Gilbert, it is alleged, and paid for inquiry regarding their claims. Gilbert now is under indictment on a charge of using the mails to defraud, according to word received here.

DE PAOLO PLEDGES SAFETY ON PAIR OF HIS BABY'S SHOES

Indianapolis, May 15.—(AP)—A pair of baby shoes was worth $97,500 in cash to Pete DePaolo last year, but they failed to bring him victory at the recent international speedway race.

The 1925 American automobile racing champion, who also leads the pack for 1926, attributes his success to the fact that a pair of his youngster's boots hangs from the front axle of his car in every contest. His cash winnings aggregated approximately $97,500.

DePaolo is superstitious only in that one respect. He said from the time he attached the shoes he has not had a serious accident. They will be his good-luck piece until he quits the sport.

The champion driver will have two new cars in the 500-mile Indianapolis race and the shoes will be switched to the one he selects to pilot.

U. S. WILL OBJECT TO CONSCRIPTION IN PEACE TIME

Washington, May 17.—(INS)—The United States is unalterably opposed to peacetime conscription and will voice that opposition at the preliminary disarmament conference in Geneva it was learned today.

Disarmament Conference at Geneva Will Be Told of America's Views

Whether the delegation headed by Hugh Gibson, Minister to Switzerland, will foster a formal resolution calling for the abandonment of peacetime conscription or whether the proposal will be expressed outside the actual conference meetings will depend upon the contingencies of the parley, it was said.

The following constitute the main objections of this country to compulsory service:

1—It keeps the standing armies of large nations too strong and results in competitive land armaments.

2—It tends to promote a militaristic atmosphere in nations where every man must serve from two to three years in the army.

3—It interrupts the career in industry or profession of young men when they are in their formative period and should be given undisturbed opportunity to apply themselves to their own personal progress.

4—It is completely out of harmony with the philosophy of peace held by this government.

Should the conference at Geneva favor the suggestion of abolishing the age-old method of keeping up great armies at a minimum expense, it will undoubtedly precipitate one of the bitterest rows at a parley predestined to be fraught with squabbles, officials here believe. Some believe the conscription issue may lead to a breakup of the conference.

Japan, France, Poland, Italy and other nations having compulsory army training will oppose to the end any plan calling a halt in such training.

The pay of a conscripted soldier in those countries is next to nothing, and to enlist armies with volunteer soldiers would perhaps triple the cost of upkeep, possibly make armies impossible.

Moreover, experts here point out the supremacy of the dominant states of Europe today is maintained by their military force which would suffer almost a complete collapse by the cutting away of this fundamental policy of armament.

Pair Left Handed Recruits Become Sensation Baseball
New York, May 14.—(INS)—Just about this time last year, the major leagues were the happy hunting ground of a pair of recruit left-handers, who came up under an approximate debit of $130,000 and looked like the change out of a dollar. One of them, Bob Grove, of Baltimore, was so wild that he couldn't hit the ground with his bat. The other, Jess Petty of Indianapolis, couldn't hit the catcher's glove often enough because the boys kept sticking their bats in the way.

They are the sensation of baseball today. Up to and including the first week in May, Petty had won five games out of five pitched and every one of them was a classic. He began by shutting out the Giants in the season's inaugural with one hit. His succeeding efforts were almost as good, only three earned runs being scored against him in forty-seven innings.

His victories came in the nature of a personal triumph, the Dodgers hitting poorly behind Petty and hitting none too well, at that. This is the same Petty they referred to as a front-runner last year. All his front-running during 1925 has been done from the rear or from a margin of one run, if that.

major league. Grove was handicapped by that $105,000 price tag and thought all he had to do was to turn on his stuff and let nature take its course. There is more to good pitching than that and apparently Grove learned it between seasons.

COPHER TAILS IN IMPERIAL VALLEY WORTH A DIME EACH

El Centro, Cal., May 15.—(AP)—A new use for gopher tails, in which gophers have no interest, has been found in the Imperial Valley.

The tails are becoming legal tender in many valley towns where a bounty of ten cents a tail is paid by the county horticultural commission.

One man, a storekeeper near High Line, brought in 2350 tails in one bundle. He said he had taken them in trade over his counter.

Gossip of Staff Correspondents at World Centers of Population.

Paris, May 14.—(INS)—From a young drug store assistant to the authors of the day—this is the story of Mademoiselle Claude Dazil, whose play "Tu M'aimeras" has just been having great success on the Boulevards in Paris.

Mademoiselle Dazil has spent nearly all of her life in a pharmacy for her father was a prominent druggist and wanted her to follow his profession. She says she fell into a box of poisons when a baby and whenever she misbehaved she was sent to meditate on life between two bags of corks. Here the strange odor of drugs and herbs brought suggestions to her young head. There were always packages of musc and opium from Symrna somewhere about, quinine from India and a thousand things with glamorous names recalling Medea.

As soon as the young scientist was old enough, she went to study in a hospital, following advanced courses in chemistry and later obtained her diploma in pharmacy. In the meantime, she began to write and her first work was a novel, "Madette," which deals with life and love in the South of France who has lived there a great share of her life. Then came "Tu M'aimeras," (Thou Shalt Love Me), a play with a scene in a chemical laboratory among many bottle and retorts. It is the story of love over science in the life of a professor and a girl student. The third act, in which the girl's former lover, whom she has left and her present flame, who is as passionately devoted to her as she to him, meet and come to a conclusion, is a striking bit of psychological writing by the young druggist-shop clerk.

These women! Even when they are French and very chic, one is always wondering what they will do next. Marie-Joséphine Larroux appeared before the police commissioner in Paris recently, saying that she had been married to a certain Andre Roche last year, but had since learned that he was already bound in wedlock with another woman.

The gentleman in question is now arrested on the charge of marrying too many wives. Two of them, Marie-Joséphine and Marie Anne Guetz, were asked to come to Police Headquarters and identify him. When they saw their mutual husband, they burst into tears and tried, both at the same time, to throw their arms about his neck. When they saw it real could not be done, they called each other all kinds of impolite names and then set about, each one, to claim the husband for keeps. They then begged the policeman to let him go, but of course he did not and it is still unknown just which woman will get the prize.

Every night about 12 o'clock a lovely green plant is put outside the door of a little cafe in the Latin Quarter to pass the hours until morning. Any passerby might carry it away very easily, but no one ever seems to think about it. Labiche, Courtine and other comic French writers, have so much ridiculed the man caught carrying a pot of flowers or any kind of green plant, that the proprietor is very certain he will find his next day.

TODAY

(Continued from page 1) ing Davis, writing excellent short stories in the old Evening Sun office, with the stereotyping machines in the same room, could do the best that was in him. Both of them wanted to work. If you want to work, solitude will not make you a student.

American divorcees are of all kinds, based on many reasons and excuses. Often hidden away in cold legal papers you find woman as usual sacrificing that which is most precious for the one she loves. Poor Mrs. Helen Shirey for instance, young, beautiful, felt that she was holding her husband back. He wanted to be a great doctor and needed complete freedom for study.

She gave him a divorce, in the easy American way, and then learned that he was studying a widow in Hollywood. So she told the judge and he cancelled her divorce.

But Europe's idea that you can get a divorce here for any reason, merely, for instance, because you do not like the shape of your husband's nose, is false. Mrs. Rose Bernard wanted a divorce because her husband called her a dumbbell. The judge would not give it to her when she proved that he often stayed away at night.

Twenty-One Courts in Session in State During This Week

Raleigh, May 17.—(AP)—With 20 Superior courts already on the calendar for this week, Governor McLean has called a special term for McDowell county, so that there will be a total of 21 courts in session during the week in as many different counties in the state.

The McDowell term is for two weeks, for the trial of civil cases. It comes on the heels of a special two-weeks' term in that county completed Saturday. Since the first special term was not sufficient to clear a congested civil calendar, this second term, virtually a continuation of the first, has been called.

Judge P. A. McElroy, of Marshall, all, who held the first term, will continue to preside.

Judge McElroy, by virtue of an exchange between him and Judge W. F. Harding, would have presided this week over the court term which opened today in Buncombe county. Since he goes to McDowell, Governor McLean has named Emergency Judge C. C. Lyon, of Elizabethtown, to hold the Buncombe term, which is for one week. Both criminal and civil cases will be tried.

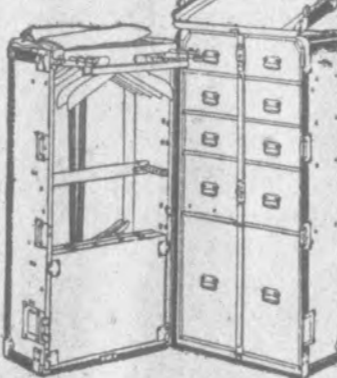

A two weeks' civil term opens today in Mecklenburg. Judge Harding, as a result of being in exchange with Judge McElroy, will hold this court in his home county.

Another exchange in effect is that between Judges W. A. Devin, of Oxford, and Romulus A. Nunn, of New Bern. The exchange places Judge Devin in Durham county, and Judge Nunn in Pitt. The court in the former county is a criminal term, of one week. The Pitt term is exclusively civil, and will continue into the second week.

The other court terms opening today are those in Hyde, Warren, Harnett, Lenoir, Wake, Pender, Forsyth, Moore, Iredell, Caldwell, and Jackson. The five other counties in which courts will be in session are Wilson, Robeson, Guilford, Yadkin, and Rutherford. In these latter five the terms were begun previously and will continue during this week.

The terms in Hyde, Warren, and Harnett are all mixed. The Hyde and Harnett terms are for one week each, with Judge H. A. Grady, of Clinton, and N. A. Sinclair, of Fayetteville, presiding. Judge E. H. Cramer, of Southport, will hold the two-weeks' term in Warren.

The Lenoir court is for one week, exclusively criminal. Judge W. M. Bond, of Edenton, will preside.

In Wake, Judge M. V. Barnhill, of Rocky Mount, will hold a two-weeks' civil term.

Judge G. E. Midyette, of Jackson, will hold the one-week term opening today in Pender. It is for the trial of both criminal and civil cases.

The Forsyth and Jackson county terms are both civil, and each is for two weeks. Judge J. L. Webb, of Shelby, will hold court in Forsyth, and Judge John M. Oglesby in Jackson.

The Moore term is for one week, civil. Judge Michael Schenck, of Hendersonville, will preside.

The court terms in Iredell and Caldwell are for two weeks each. The former is a mixed term and that in Caldwell civil. Judge T. D. Bryson, of Bryson City, goes to Iredell, and Judge H. P. Lane, of Reidsville, to Caldwell.

'BOOKIES' AND CHURCHES OPPOSED TO BETTING TAX WAGE WAR ON MEASURE

London, May 14.—(INS)—Every bookmaker in Britain is up against Winston Churchill's betting tax. But their antipathy is nothing compared to that of the British churches.

All the religious bodies in Britain, with the exception of the Roman Catholic church, have met together and determined to wage war to the uttermost against a measure that practically legalizes betting. They are also raising a large fighting fund for their crusade.

Enormous demonstrations are being organized both in London and the provinces. The Bishop of Lichfield, the Bishop of Woolwich, Rev. Dr. Scott Lidgett and Rev. Dr. Garvie will be the chief speakers with the Archbishops of Canterbury and York lending their fullest support. Not for many years has religious opinion in Britain been mobilized in such a fashion with such unanimity.

The measure is likely to cost Premier Baldwin—who himself publicly opposed the tax as late as last December—many votes at the next election.

R. O. T. C. Praised by Secy. of War Davis

Washington, May 17.—(INS)—Lauding the Reserve Officers' training corps maintained in colleges and universities, Secretary of War Dwight F. Davis today declared that "the worth and results obtained are recognized as an integral part of our national life."

The R. O. T. C. movement has grown so rapidly that there are more institutions desiring military training than can be accommodated from the available appropriation, he said, answering a letter from O. Ellery Edwards, New York lawyer, who also praised the movement.

"It has been charged that the War Department is attempting to militarize our country," the Secretary of War wrote. "Even today this fallacious doctrine is being preached in the educational institutions where we maintain Reserve Officers' Training Corps units to prepare our youths so that in event of another emergency we may have available leaders for our cause."

"This is not militarism—it is insurance, and the difference between a system of adequate defense and militarism is so great that it should be apparent to all right-thinking people. There are those who are prone to forget the words of the Father of our Country, 'to be prepared for war is one of the most effective means of preserving peace!'"

Ohio Club Builds Bleachers Save Feet Galloping Galleries

Columbus, O., May 17.—(INS)—A decided innovation is to be introduced by the Scioto Country Club of Columbus, in staging the American open championship next July that is expected to reduce the number of lives endangered annually by the galloping galleries at this greatest of our golf classics.

A long section of bleacher seats spacious enough for several hundred is to be erected near the club house, where those spectators, mindful of their ease and comfort, can view much of the strife without hopping from bunker to bunker and fairway to fairway. The Scioto links are so laid out that anyone from one of the bleacher seats will be able to see the play at Nos. 1 and 10 tees and Nos. 9 and 18 greens.

Something else novel at an open golf event will be the broadcasting of play by station WEAO. Results will be sent over the country as soon as each pair finishes.

Plans are being made for the reception of several hundred newspaper men. The flat roof over the dining room of the club house overlooking the course, is to be headquarters of the golf writers. It will be covered by a tarpaulin, and will be reached by a stairway from the outside. Tables for typewriters will be available in the big space, and inside the club house rooms will be set aside for the convenience of the scribes.

Two Weeks' Term of Civil Court Convenes Here

Pitt County Superior Court for the trial of civil cases, convened here today with Judge Romulus A. Nunn, presiding. The session is for two weeks, and will be devoted entirely to civil cases.

A large docket has been arranged, and every effort possible will be made to clear it by time of adjournment.

Millionaire Will Marry Maid That Stuck to Him

Boston, May 14.—(INS)—Miss Anna Marie Johnson, now 40, who came to this country from her native Sweden as a mere slip of a girl twenty-two years ago, will soon become the wife of Theodore Hastings, in whose home she has been long a maid. Many years ago, Hastings was associated in business with the late Thomas W. Lawson, financial wizard.

Wealthy and successful, with many servants, he has always remained single but his love match was revealed by the filing of marriage intentions in City Hall.

According to friends, Hastings became fond of Miss Johnson when fortune failed to smile on him and he had to give up his household. Miss Johnson, realizing that he had been forced to curtail expenses, readily offered to take over all the duties of other servants and carry on the housekeeping alone.

This sign of affection and loyalty on the part of the Swedish immigrant girl touched Mr. Hastings' heart and love entered. The culmination of the romance will be the trip to the altar.

Mr. Hastings is sixty-six and his wife twenty-six years his junior. She is still a beautiful and young-appearing woman.

What Are You Doing for Your Puny Child

One Boy Gained 11 Pounds in 7 Weeks and Is Now Strong and Healthy

For weak, frail, under-developed children—and especially those that have rickets, and need a sure builder that promotes the growth of teeth and bones, cod liver oil is the one medicine supreme—nothing helps like it.

But it is nasty and repulsive and evil smelling and nearly always upsets children's stomachs—so now up-to-date chemists advise McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets.

Children love them as they do candy, because they are sugar coated and easy to take. One boy gained 11-2 pounds in 7 weeks, and is now healthy and happy—thousands of other children have grown strong and robust.

Sixty tablets for 60 cents at Denton Drug Co., and all druggists—but be sure and ask for McCoy's—the original and genuine.

Give them to the sickly, frail child for 30 days, and if they fail to help—wonderfully, your druggist is authorized to hand you back the money you paid for them.
