MR. T. H. CHEVASSE DIED SUDDENLY HERE LAST NIGHT

Remains Taken to Henderson This Morning Where Funeral Services Will be Held Tomorrow

Mr. Thomas H. Chevasse, 69 died suddenly at 8:30 o'clock last night, at the home of his daughter Mrs. W. W. Phelps. While he had been in poor health for sometime, heart trouble was given as the immediate cause of his death. The body was carried to Henderson today, where interment will take place tomorrow.

Mr. Chevasse was born in Bronston, near Birmingham, England, and although he has been a resident of this country since 1874, he still remained a citizen of his mother country. Upon coming to this country he made his home for a short time in Raleigh, later going to Henderson. Later he made his home in Wilson and Kinston, coming to this city from the latter place a year ago. In 1882 he was married to Miss Elizabeth Dockery, and the union was blessed with one child, Mrs. W. W. Phelps with whom he was making his home at the time of his death. After the death of his wife in 1917 Mr. Chevasse's health began to fail and almost total blindness caused him to retire from business. Mr. Chevasse was truly an English gentleman and despite his afflictions, his patience, bright disposition and Christian character have won for him a host of friends in this and other cities where he has made his home. He was a loyal member of the Episcopal Church and when health permitted he was always present when services were held.

He is survived by his daughter, Mrs. W. W. Phelps, and three grand-children, Misses Elizabeth and Florence and Master Thomas Chevasse Phelps, of this city; two brothers, H. E. and Sidney R. Chevasse and a sister, Mrs. D. Y. Cooper, Sr., of Henderson; and an uncle, the Rev. Francis Chevasse, Bishop of Liverpool Cathedral, Liverpool, England.

Little Hope Active Cotton Market Ahead

Washington, June 5.—(AP)—The weather in the cotton belt at present is the dominating influence in the cotton market, experts of the Department of Agriculture declare in public comment on cotton today. They warn the growers in considering the market prospects for cotton to keep in mind the situation in foreign markets and prospective future demands for the cotton.

"Foreign demand is particularly important at present," the department experts say, "as exports are lagging behind last year in the pace of a record world production of 27,800,000 bales. The immediate outlook for substantial improvement in the European cotton market does not look bright although there is some indication that conditions in the German industry will improve as the effects of the economic depression pass away. Increasing exports to Japan have been noticeable this year and demand from that country continues to be good."

"Latest available information from Europe indicates little hope for an active demand from the spinners in the immediate future. In the American section at Lanchashire business is especially dull, stocks of yarn having accumulated. Demands from India and China, England's chief demand for cotton, remains slow."

DEMOCRATS VOTE FOR NOMINEES IN THIS STATE TODAY

With Few Exceptions Nominees Will Have Been Chosen When Polls Close at Sun Set

Raleigh, June 5.—(AP)—After an unusually quiet campaign the voters of the State went to the polls today to head their ballots in the State wide primary election for nominees of the Democratic and Republican parties. Barring the possible necessity of second primaries candidates will have been named when the polls close at sun set to represent the two parties in the general election in November. Nominations to be made follows: One United States Senator, ten Congressmen, four Supreme Court Justices, eleven Superior Court Justices, 20 Solicitors, a Corporation Commissioner and members of the State House and Senate.

Most of the candidates are unopposed and will be certified to the general election. The only candidates whose names were actually presented to the voters today were those in instances of contests for the nomination.

Senator Lee S. Overman is opposed for re-nomination by Robert R. Reynolds, Johnson J. Hayes, Republican nominee is without opposition. The Overman-Reynolds Campaign has been comparatively quiet. There are two contests for the Democratic nomination for Congress. In the ninth district J. A. Dimmette, of Gastonia, opposes Congressman A. L. Bulwinkle, of the same city, for re-nomination and the tenth district Congressman Zebulon Weaver, of Asheville is opposed by Felix Alley of Waynesville.

Borah Requests Information On British Holdings

Washington, June 5.—(AP)—The Borah resolution requesting information from the State and War Departments regarding British possessions in the Republic of Panama was adopted today by the Senate without a record vote.

The resolution was introduced yesterday and was based on reports that the intention of those holding the concessions was to produce rubber. A copy of the concession is in possession of the State Department which has seen nothing in it warranting diplomatic representation.

RAINS WORTH MILLIONS TO STATE'S CROPS

Crop Reporting Service Says the Rains Yesterday and Last Night Worth "Literally Millions"

Raleigh, June 5.—(AP)—The rains of yesterday and last night were worth "literally millions of dollars" to North Carolina farmers, it was declared today at the office of Mike Parker, crop statistician of the State-Federal Crop Reporting Service. The tobacco crop alone was benefited $10,000,000. Mr. Parker's office believes. This figure is based upon the $83,000,000 crop of last year. The rains will result in many farmers who had not planted their tobacco in doing so and the tobacco already planted starting to grow with resultant increase in the crop. From Raleigh to the East the rains were general and heavy enough to be of material benefit to the crops. In general the Eastern half of this state beginning with the Piedmont section had good rain, but the fall diminished farther west and dwindled to local showers in the mountain counties.

ARREST SUSPECTS CONNECTION WITH BOMB EXPLOSION

Four Men Charged With Complicity in Plot to Wreck American Legation Montevideo

Montevideo, Uruguay, June 5.—(AP)—Four men of alleged "advanced ideas" are under arrest charged with complicity in the bomb explosion Friday morning in the entrance of the American Legation which demolished the ceiling of the hall directly under the office of U. G. Smith, the American Minister. The men denied the charges. No one was injured by the explosion, although the streets were filled with passersby, and the bomb contained large quantities of led, iron, steel, wire and screws. The authorities attribute the outrage to extremist sympathizers with Nicolo Sacca and Bartolomeo Venzetti, who are under conviction for murder in Massachusetts case and announced that "North America is soon to commit the most horrible of crimes"

Chamber Commerce to Establish Home Seekers Bureau

At a very enthusiastic meeting of real estate men from several towns in Kinston, Wednesday, called by the Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce, it was decided by those present to establish a Home Seekers Bureau in connection with the regular work now being done by the sectional organization. The purpose of this bureau will be to put the prospective home seeker in direct touch with the man who has land to sell suitable for his particular needs. All regular licensed real estate dealers in the forty six counties covered by the Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce will be invited to join in this movement. Those present Wednesday were very enthusiastic over the prospects of being able to bring into territory scores of good farmers during the next few years.

A committee consisting of W. B. Douglas, Kinston; N. E. Bradford, Goldsboro, and W. M. McKinney of Ayden, was appointed to confer with the Executive Committee of the Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce and work out a definite plan of cooperation. This committee will make its report at a meeting to be held in Goldsboro June 15th at 11 A.M. All real estate dealers in the entire territory are urged to attend the meeting to be held in Goldsboro June 15th at which time all details will be agreed on and the Bureau put into operation. This news item is an invitation to any licensed real estate dealer in the territory to attend. Eastern Carolina has the fertile lands and every body agrees that there is a real need for many more small farmers. This is the plan that will get them is the opinion of those who are familiar with it.

Last year there was unreasonable heat on the same day with the temperature reaching 95 degrees. The weather bureau predicts normal temperature by mid-week.

TODAY

(Copyright 1926) All Sorts of Small News Ladies Gone, Dividends High Colleges Wet, Senate Dry. Stop and Count Three. By ARTHUR BRISBANE

All sorts of little news, nothing VERY important on the surface. But, sometimes, days that seem dull, as you pass through them, become important later. On a certain fourteenth of July you remember, the French King, Louis Sixteenth, went hunting, got no game and wrote in his diary one word, "REIN," which means "nothing."

On that same day the Bastille was torn down, which meant that Louis's head was to be chopped off a little later. The main thing is to make it short, which few men find easy. Hanging in his playhouse elevator, William A. Brady has this wise word, in smallest type: "The more you say, the less people remember."

Money was cheap again yesterday, only 3 1-2 per cent, if you wanted it for stock gambling—more if you wanted to build a house. Stocks were cheerful and up. New dividends were declared by stocks that paid none before, bigger dividends by those with the dividend habit.

New York's old fashioned Fifth Avenue Bank, on the corner of Forty-fourth street, paid its usual dividend yesterday at the rate of 24 per cent, and an extra dividend of 26 per cent, for the quarter. A good, fair return on your money.

That little bank was started, as old get-tem remember, that a combine banking with luncheon, Delmonico's is gone, the ladies are gone, the bank pays more than 50 per cent a year.

Prohibition news is varied. American colleges are overwhelmingly wet. Of 7,311 students voting, nine-two per cent want the law changed. College boys, unfortunately know a good deal about prohibition and bootleg whiskey.

The Senate Judiciary Committee scornfully rejects the suggestion of a prohibition referendum. "The fathers never intended that any constitutional question should be referred to a popular vote."

That's likely. Those dear old fathers had no high opinion of the average man. They would not let him vote unless he owned a certain amount of property. And he could not vote for President or Senator. He could only choose superior minds to do that for him.

The people have changed that, and may change other things. They even have power to enlighten the Senate Judiciary Committee.

When you are excited stop and count at least three. If angry, count ten. George Koskoza hanged himself by the neck, outside a window three stories up. A friend could not see a man die like that, so he cut the rope. But he forgot to pull his friend Koskoza inside the window. Koskoza dropped three stories and will die.

Mr. Carroll, who hired a girl of seventeen to appear naked in a bath tub party filled with alleged champagne, is fined $2,000 and sent to prison for one year. But he is punished for lying to the Grand Jury, not for outraging public decency and contributing to the degradation of a seventeen-year-old girl. This is a queer civilization.

Women's clubs at Atlantic City protest against woman's craze for unnatural thinness, causing many to starve themselves to the danger point.

Women will pay no attention, of course, but it is a useful suggestion. Future generations will feel the bad effects of a generation of skinny mothers, and also feel the bad effects of nicotine and booze cocktails. But all this, fortunately, applies to only a small percentage of the future mothers.

Mr. Leister, Henry Ford's chief auditor, tells the Federal Court in Detroit that Mr. Ford's profits in seven years, from 1917 to 1924, were $526,441,951. The (Continued on page 4)

TRUSTEES OF E. C. TEACHERS COLLEGE MET ON THURSDAY

525 Students Have Been Declined Admission for Next Year Because of the Crowded Condition

The trustees of East Carolina Teachers College met in regular quarterly session Thursday, in the office of the president of the college Mr. Wayne A. Mitchell, recently appointed by Governor McLean as a member of the board to succeed Mr. Frank Cugler, now a member of the Highway Commission, was present for the first meeting and was sworn in for duty.

The building committee reported the completion of the campus building and recommended that it be accepted by the board after a few finishing touches recommended by the Insurance Commissioner have been added. This building is the house of the Young Women's Christian Association, Bible classes, religious activities, literary societies and all social organization activities.

The main auditorium of the building will seat two thousand people. An order for opera chairs for this auditorium was placed with the General Seating Company of Goldsboro.

The resignation of the following teachers were accepted: Miss Maud M. Hall, teacher of English; Miss Dorothy Chamberlain, teacher of art; Miss Birdie McKinney, teacher of Mathematics; Miss Mary Carter Tatum, teacher of household arts; Miss Hillhouse, critic teacher, and Miss Miriam McFadyen, primary education.

Mr. A. D. Frank, professor of history, and Mrs. A. D. Frank, teacher of household arts, have both been granted leave of absence for the coming year during which time they will both graduate work at Columbia University. Mr. Frank expects to complete his doctor's degree and Mrs. Frank her master's degree.

Mr. E. Cleveland Hollar, now professor of history in West Tennessee State Teachers College, has been elected to fill Mr. Frank's place during the coming year. Miss Jamie Bryan, now teaching in the Asheville public schools will succeed Miss Hillhouse as critic teacher.

The remainder of the teachers and officers of the college who have served during the past year were re-elected. The salary of President Robt. H. Wright was increased from $6500 to $7500. The salaries of the remainder of the officers and teachers of the college will be worked out by the salary and politics committee to conform to the appropriations made by the General Assembly for the year 1925-27. A tentative salary schedule was submitted to the board of trustees at its meeting Thursday, and was adopted subject to further revision at the next regular meeting of the board. Salaries, according to this schedule, run from $1200 to $4500, according to training, ability and experience.

Mr. Leon R. Meadows, secretary of the board of trustees, presented to Mr. A. T. Allen, chairman of the board of trustees, a letter from the Rev. R. A. McLeod, secretary of the Presbyterian Synod of North Carolina, in which Mr. McLeod called attention to the Declaration of Principles recently adopted by the Synod. Chairman Allen read the paper to the board. As the letter from Rev. McLeod called for no action, no action was taken.

President Wright reported to the board as a matter of information that 525 students had been refused admission to the college for the coming year, and that the college is now registering students rather rapidly for the year 1927-28.

The board adjourned to meet again on the 26th of August. Reported by M. L. Wright.

BENNISON TO BE TRIED BY STATE

Lack of Provision for Capital Punishment Causes Government Not to Try Dry Agent Slayer

Charlotte, N. C. June 5.—(AP)—Although William Bennison will not be tried in Federal Court for the alleged slaying of Prohibition Agent V. E. Grant near Hendersonville, Federal Authorities will assist in the prosecution, it was announced today from the office of the Deputy Prohibition Administrator for Western North Carolina. Lack of the Federal Law providing for capital punishment will preclude hearing in Federal Court, it was pointed out.

ARIZONA POLO TEAM GOES TO THE EAST FOR TITLE MEETING

Tucson, Ariz., June 5.—(AP)—Developed from a "sand lot" organization to a contender for the national intercollegiate polo championship in three years, the University of Arizona "Wildcat" polo teams is on a tour in the East. The first series of games will be with the Pennsylvania Military Institute at Chester, Pa. June 5, 9 and 12.

The team was organized in 1922-23 and played with equipment gathered from the odds and end of the cavalry unit of the university. This year the Wildcats have so far advanced they are once more ready to big for the national title, if the games are arranged during their trip east. On this trip the handicap of mounts will not be felt for the players are traveling without horses, intending to split the use of ponies with teams they meet.

London, June 5.—(INS)—An amazing case of sleep-walking is reported from Ratisbona, Bavaria, where a young man, after dreaming that he had hanged himself, unsuccessfully attempted to hang himself while asleep. RECORD VOTE IS BEING CAST IN COUNTY TODAY

Women Vote in Large Numbers; Two Second Primaries Now Appear Probable

Despite this morning's rain local voters began to flock to the polls at an early hour and shortly after noon more than a thousand votes had been cast with indications that the total in the Greenville boxes would pass the two thousand mark before the closing hour which would establish a record vote here. Interest in the race for sheriff, State Senate, District Solicitor and Judge has brought forth the women as well as the men voters which accounts for the large number.

The standing of the various candidates at the noon hour was problematical but it was conceded that with five candidates for the offices of sheriff and district solicitor, a second primary would be necessary for a nomination.

Reports from other precincts in the county also indicate much activity at the polls and no doubt the largest vote in the history of the county will be cast today.

Brookhart-Cummins Race Is Chief Issue

Des Moines, Iowa, June 5.—(AP)—Approval or disapproval by the voters of the senate action unseating Col. Smith W. Brookhart, the farm relief question, and the senatorial record of Senator A. B. Cummins are the chief issues being debated in the Iowa primary campaign. Little interest centers in any other contest except that for the Republican senatorial nomination. The primary will be held on Monday June 7th.

Col. Brookhart has been touring the state telling the voters the senate overrode the Iowa election laws in ousting him, criticizing the attitude of Senator Cummins, especially on railroad legislation, and renewing his advocacy of farm relief measures and his denunciation of the "deflation" of agriculture.

Senator Cummins has been conducting his campaign through an organization centered here while he remained in Washington as one of the leaders in the fight for farm relief measures. His supporters are basing their campaign largely upon the senator's long record and drawing the voter's attention to the break between Brookhart and the regular party leaders.

Newspaper of 128 Years Ago Had Its Crime News

Indianapolis, June 5.—(AP)—Original copies of the Greenfield Gazette, printed in Greenfield, Mass., one hundred and twenty-eight years ago, are in possession of Wallace Cruger of this city. Yellowed with time, but in a remarkable state of preservation, each page is legible. The newspaper advertised in each issue that it was "an impartial register of the times," and was published every Monday.

A perusal showed that the early Americans were as much interested in crime news, the church question, national congress and in foreign activities as they are today. All foreign news was printed under one heading, News in the various states also was given prominence.

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT MEDITATION

"GOD BEHIND US"

Isiah 52:12:—"And the God of Israel will be your reward."

God is before us. He is also behind us: "Thou hast beset me behind and before."

God is in the future; He is also in the past; "The Lord will go before you, and the God of Israel will be your reward."

God fills the eternity from whence we came as well as the eternity to which we so rapidly travel: "I am Alpha and Omega, the Beginning and the End, the First and the Last."

The prophet seems to be remembering the earliest captivity of his people in Egypt. You recollect the story as narrated in the 14th chapter of Exodus.

Pharaoh had refused to let the people go, but under the leadership of Moses they escaped. From the outset they met with many difficulties and dangers. Before them stretched the forbidding waters of the Red Sea; behind them came the pursuing army of Egypt. Their danger was real and imminent. "They were sore afraid." "They cried unto the Lord" with helpless hopelessness; and, turning in fury upon their leader, accused Moses of unwise guidance, and asserted they would rather live as slaves in Egypt than "die in the wilderness."

Pre-eminently then, in their history, the Lord went before them and the God of Israel was their rear-guard; "and the angel of His presence saved them."

So the prophet now assures them, after their seventy years captivity in Babylon, that God would again lead them, and protect them, and bring them once more into the Promised Land, if they would forsake their evil ways and depart as He commanded.

We, too, are pilgrims and strangers as all our fathers were. We, too, have been led captives into the Babylon of sin. We, too, need a guide as we struggle forward; and just as the rear-guard of an army protects the rank and file from ambushed foes who await its passing to attack the rear; so we need God as our "rearward" to fend off the foes that lie in wait behind us in our past.

We often fall into the error of believing that the past is done with forever. The Romans used a far better word—the PRAETERITUM—"the gone-by." There is nothing absolutely finished with. In the "gone-by" facts still exist, thoughts still live, and acts still possess their moral qualities. Only in the ceaseless procession of events and feelings they are pushed gradually further and further away from our immediate notice. THAT THEY ARE THERE, real and vital, is often proved by memory, recollection and conscience.

In moments of quiet thought and reflection, in hours of sickness, at some particular crisis in life, at the beginning or end of another year, we may be startled out of our complacency. An invisible hand seems to draw back the curtain and show us the living past. The cupboard is opened, and the ghastly skeleton revealed within; nay—'tis not a skeleton: IT BREATHES AND LIVES.

Longfellow said: "Let the dead past bury its dead;" but there is no "dead past." We are all made by our yesterdays. The past is still a part of our lives. It belongs to us, and will belong to us. We cannot cut it off, nor fling it aside as we would an old garment. We rush to the future, but the past comes with us. And there are dangers lurking therein. Let us enumerate some of these dangers that threaten us.

1. There are evil thoughts and actions in our past lives that menace us today.

2. There are past temptations and habits.

"Man is a bundle of habits," says an old proverb. Put a weak boy in a blacksmith's forge, and by the continued use of the hammer, he will become strong. "Habit" is a significant word. The constant repetition of any act renders it as natural and easy a fit as a close-cut tailor-made garment. But evil habit, like the iron jacket used in the torture chambers of the Inquisition, squeezes tighter and tighter, never heeding the cries of the sufferer.

"Can the Ethiopian change his skin? Or the leopard his spots? Then may ye hope to do good, who have been accustomed to do evil?"

Where the paper has been blotted and scratched, we are more likely to make a blot again. The floods will break through the dyke where the former breach was made. Each moment spent in sin makes it easier for the next—until we at last realize that we are fettered, defeated and helpless; and in our helplessness lies our danger.

3. There are past failures and sins; not only sins of commission, but what will be far heavier for some of us, sins of omission.

4. In addition to all this the past will be revealed at the last Great Day. "For there is nothing covered that shall not be revealed; neither hid, that shall not be made known."

This is the solemn assurance of the Son of God!

CABLE LETTER

London, June 5.—(AP)—How widely the foibles of the Prince of Wales for sartorial effect are watched and copied has just come out at a meeting of business men discussing trade secrets.

It was related that the heir to throne on one occasion was seen wearing a bright Fair Isle sweater. Overnight this fact created an enormous demand. The hand knitters on Fair Isle, way up in the Shetland Islands off the coast of Scotland, suddenly were so swamped with orders that some of them had to be turned over to Donegal knitters.

Then Leicester manufacturers evolved a machine which made a fine imitation of the pull-over and an European demand followed which kept the machines going day and night for a month.

Dame Nellie Melba's farewell performance in opera will take place at Covent Gardens next Tuesday night. King George and Queen Mary have promised to attend and listen for the last time to the melodious voice of the Australian diva. Melba's farewell concert appearance will be June 25 in Albert Hall. This concert was to have been given in May, but was postponed because of the general strike. It is asserted that Melba's farewell will not be of the Adeline Patti type—that they will be in reality farewells.

London's social season was so deadly upset by the general strike that many of the hundreds of dances and dinners postponed probably never will be given.

There will not be nights sufficient to accommodate all of them before the middle of July, when the social season ends. Some hostesses already have decided not to endeavor to take up the broken strands in an effort to carry out their original dance and dinner programs.

During the strike, ball rooms were turned into barracks for volunteer workers all over Mayfair. Mistresses and servants alike abandoned their routine to help in the relief in Hyde Park and Regents Park. Chaperones and debutantes joined hands distributing and selling newspapers.

Paris, June 5.—(AP)—Individually American visitors along the Riviera are "tight wads" in comparison with persons of other nationalities who seek enjoyment and rest in that salubrious region. As good spenders, the Americans are ranked fourth, coming after not infrequently to be found cafe, which is nearing completion.

the Russians, Germans and Egyptians. British visitors are placed fifth. Leading hotel and restaurant proprietors along the Riviera are authority for this statement.

"Americans and British are so numerous on the Riviera that their total expenditures amount to more than half of all the money left there by foreigners" says a writer who interviewed the purveyors of food and frolic. "But it is a myth that they are the most generous of the visitors. Despite the fact that many of the Russians are in poor circumstances, when they appear in public they are the freest spenders of all foreigners. During the past year the Germans have occupied many of the most luxurious suites in Nice, Cannes and Monte Carlo. And the hotel proprietors consider them excellent guests."

Flying has become so popular with the newly-weds that factitious observers of the tendency of the "just married" to take to the air are suggesting that soon it will be necessary to add a "honeymoon special" to the continental airway schedule. Although it is estimated that less than 20 per cent of German women, including school girls, who still wear braids, have bobbed their hair, an ornamental feather manufacturing company has given the abbreviated hair styles as the reason for filing a petition in bankruptcy.

The petition asserts that in keeping with shorn locks hats have become so small that there is no longer any room on them travelling in a plane to the continent.

Mac Millan Hopes to Chart More of North

Chicago, June 5.—(AP)—The discoveries of Commander Donald B. MacMillan in his four years in the White North do not include the Pole but he has attained twenty-one objects which affect the maps of the world.

When the explorer leaves this month to lead another expedition into the Polar regions his ambition will be to make more of this uncharted area a matter of the white man's record.

MacMillan's recent book shows he has disproved Crocker Land. He has found evidence of a new land far to the west of his last camp on the Polar Sea. Surveys of previously unexplored areas have brought much significant matter to light while the discovery of coal in Bay Fiord and his finding of records of the Kane and second Grinnell expedition, added further credit to his work.

Another feature has been his extensive contribution on the fields of geology, botany, ornithology and meteorology.

MacMillan also has done many things for the inhabitants of that land, among which was his aid in compiling a dictionary of 3000 words of the Eskimo language.

The itinerary of the expedition which sailed June 19 from Wisconsin, includes twenty stops on a voyage of about 5,600 miles. The Bowdoin, smallest ship ever taken into Arctic waters, will have a crew and personnel of but ten men, each of whom will take his turn at the wheel.

One of the chief purposes of this expedition is to survey the Norse ruins in Labrador, which are located on Turnitvik Island. The trip is financed by F. H. Rawson a Chicago banker, and made in the interests of the Field Museum of Natural History.

Commander MacMillan gives an inkling of the spirit which moves the explorer into the north land.

"The weapons which assail the explorer are extreme temperatures, heavy snows, drift, bitter winds, treacherous thin ice, high pressure ridges; and often the result is starvation, diet, sickness, death," he says. "Through centuries man has struggled ever and on and out, over No-Man's Land, rustling in thin ice of leads, sealing lowering ice caps, staggering along uncharted coasts and wearily planting his flag upon hitherto unknown truths, glorying in his struggle against the elements for the accumulation of knowledge."

What a comfort it would be at times to see an oculist on the sidelines warming up another "Don't work. Go ahead and umpire.—Tampa Tribune drive. Anything you will do will be a violation of some traffic

"THE S. S. CLUB" MEETS

The S. S. club met with Miss Margaret Bostic Friday evening at 8 o'clock. The members present were Annie Lee Hooker, Pearl Lautares, Laura Smith Fleming, Maria Garrett, Elizabeth Carr, Lucy James and Mary Elizabeth Ferguson.

The following were initiated into the club: Elizabeth Carr, Annie Lee Hooker, Pearl Lautares and Laura Smith Fleming. After the business was completed sandwiches and punch were served and the booby prize was awarded, Miss Lausa Smith Fleming, being the winner.

The meeting closed with all looking forward to the next meeting which will be held at the home of Miss Maria Garrett.

MRS. R. L. SMITH ENTERTAINS

Mrs. R. L. Smith very delightfully entertained at a garden party Friday afternoon at 6 o'clock, at her home on Evans street, in honor of her sister, Mrs. S. E. Jennett, of Greensboro, and Miss Annie Perkins of Yarmville.

As the guests arrived they were greeted by the hostess and her guests of honor, and directed to the punch bowl by Mrs. S. T. White and Mrs. L. G. Cooper, where Mrs. Ray Tyson, Mrs. Hattie White and Mrs. Lelia Higgs Humber served fruit punch and sandwiches. The punch table, with its cover of many butterflies and the bowl banked with red cherries and green foliage, made one feel that summer is here.

The guest were then directed to the sun parlor by Mrs. W. H. Smith and Mrs. S. P. Heath where they were asked to register by Mrs. J. H. Boyd, Jr.

After the guests had gathered in the garden, which was beautiful in its brilliant colored summer flowers, the hostess distributed to each one a number, and dainty little Miss Fannie Cooper drew the lucky number for the gifts, which were concealed in a large garden hat, each prize being suggestive of summer sports.

The drawing for the lucky numbers caused quite a bit of merriment. To Mrs. Jennette the hostess presented a beautiful Madeira bouffant pillow, and to Miss Perkins a box of Houligant powder.

While the guests were being served delicious cream and cake, Mrs. J. H. Waldrop sang very sweetly several selections. The plates were most attractive with their green and pink icing.

After a most pleasant hour, the guests reluctantly departed, wishing the hostess a delightful summer, as she and Mr. Smith are leaving Sunday morning for a four months' stay in the New England states, attending the races.

LEAVE MONDAY FOR CANADIAN TOUR

Dr. and Mrs. E. P. Spence and daughter, Clara, of this city, and Mrs. E. M. Spence, of Goldsboro, will leave Monday by automobile for a trip to Chicago, Niagara Falls and points in Canada during their stay in Chicago. Mrs. E. P. Spence will take a special course in floral designing.

Directors Differ On Value of Movie Acts

Hollywood, June 5.—(AP)—The screen prologue, whose developing strides in the last few years have carried it from a tabloid of ten minutes showing to an elaborate production rivaling widely heralded stage presentations, is praised by one group of picture directors but characterized by another as a curse to the silver sheet.

Sid Grauman, under whose direction the prologue rose to its greatest height in the Southwest, believes the picture preliminary will prove the agency which ultimately will span or lessen the gulf between stage and screen.

"I believe the playhouse of the future will divide its entertainment period half-and-half between footlight and film production."

"I vision the highest salaried dramatic artists appearing in person in conjunction with the presentation of mighty screen productions."

James Cruze is squarely behind Grauman.

"A good prologue," he said, "increases a picture's worth a hundred fold. It works up the spirit so that when the picture is shown the mind of the audience is in the atmosphere of the picture. A poor prologue, however, tends to disrupt the train of thought."

Marshal Neolan, producer-director, condemns the prologue.

"They have come to be the curse of the motion picture theatre. One becomes so weary looking at them that he is not able to enjoy to the utmost the picture that follows."

Cecil B. DeMille philosophizes: "Making prologues for motion picture is good showmanship, but making pictures for prologues is mighty poor production."

Rupert Julian believes the prologue is of great importance, in providing a fitting background for a picture, while Herbert Brenson said they were hurtful to screen production.

POLO AS PLAYED IN AMERICA IMPRESSED LORD WODEHOUSE

London, June 4.—(AP)—Lord Wodehouse is much impressed by the "go-aheadness" of polo in the United States.

Weatherby, Miss.—Mrs. James M. Hall, of this place, writes that she was "getting weaker all the time" when Cardui, the woman's tonic, was first brought to her attention. After she had taken Cardui a while, she writes that she "never did see such an improvement."

"I suffered all the time and had pains all over," says Mrs. Hall. "I was so weak I could not stand. My skin was cold and flabby. I did not have any color. I had always been a very active woman—used to outdoor exercise, walking and going where I pleased, and to get down, not able to get myself a drink, was indeed a hardship."

"Nothing seemed to help me, till I began on Cardui. The first bottle began to strengthen me, and I sent for five more. By the time I had taken these, I was on my feet, going around, doing my work, gained in health and strength."

"I took two more bottles, and I am well and strong. Can work my garden. I haven't had any more sickness."

Paris, June 5.—(INS)—Golf on a shop roof is one of the latest sports in Paris. One of the largest department stores in the Paris shopping district has established a large flat roof-terrace on which it has laid out a miniature "green" and a cage in which lessons are given by a first-rate professional. Tea tables are close at hand and from the hours of 3 to 5, the roof is very gay with Paris' most fashionable women. As an additional attraction to attract students of the game, the management has instituted the "film de correction." The learner is filmed while making a shot and when the film is thrown on the screen, the professor points out the good and bad stroke. A great "golf week" is being planned, with prizes amounting to 4,000 francs winding up with a big luncheon on the course.

room in plain sight of everybody. I arranged with the sealer of weights to weigh Dempsey for the benefit of the spectators.

Colleges Viewed As A School for Marriage
Ann Arbor, Mich., June 5.—(AP)—American colleges offer an excellent opportunity for the training of young women for the responsibilities of matrimony, believes Miss Jean Hamilton, Dean of Women at the University of Michigan.

The average girl goes to college knowing she probably will marry, and Miss Hamilton asks, in view of this, why they seek this additional and higher education, unless it will benefit them as wives?

"The reason," she said, "is that one of the great necessities of life is work. Even a woman is so unfortunate as to have only play in her life, she has to make work of that play. The nature of woman's work has changed so in the last three generations that to be prepared for the majority of the interesting forms of work possible to a woman today, she must be trained in a new way.

"Work for women has gone outside the home—man took it out. It is a modern, man-made joke when a wife was said to 'sing about her work' for a skeptic to ask, 'What work?' Women know that there is much work still left at home, but it is only a fraction of what once was there.

"The number of self-supporting women in the United States has increased fourteen per cent in ten years. Decidedly, the preparation of his daughter to earn capably must be in the mind of every intelligent and just parent. This is the chief reason the number of women seeking higher education has so increased."

This preparation to earn a living, Miss Hamilton added, does not eliminate the "old cultural appeal." Formerly college women were represented only by those with a "burning curiosity for intellectuality." This group still exists she said, and the others have been added.

"There is this advantage," Miss Hamilton continued, "many girls who never were 'exposed' to cultural influences a generation ago and who never awakened to the joy of using their minds, are awakened today, although they may have come to the university for economic reasons."

Why Dempsey "Pulled" Weight for Willard

New York, June 5.—(AP)—Jack Dempsey gave away sixty-two pounds to Jess Willard in their titular contest at Toledo, Ohio, July 4th, 1919, and then knocked the heavyweight diadem from the brow of the surprised Kansas "Man Mountain" in three rounds.

Physical condition, they said, enabled the smaller man to fell the tall champion but Jimmy DeForest, who rained Dempsey, chewed away on the stump of a half-burned cigar and smiled as he recalled the incidents of that fight. He had kept the "inside story" to himself until now.

In one corner of the ring the bulky form of Willard was crouched under a huge umbrella. He looked fat and loggy but his immense proportions impressed the spectators who gasped as they tried to fathom the chances of the ambitious challenger against such a big man as Willard. The weights were announced: Willard 245, Dempsey 183. A roar of amazement swept over the crowd. They couldn't comprehend. They didn't believe. Hadn't Dempsey weighed 201 at a public function in his honor at Toledo, three weeks before the fight? But DeForest knew and he smiled increased. His first plan of battle was a success. Willard, with a dumbfounded expression, proved that. The sympathy of the crowd was won to the underdog and that was what DeForest wanted.

Here is the secret of Dempsey's fluctuation in weight, as DeForest described it:

"There was a nation-wide cry because of the difference in the weight. The reformers called it cruelty. The fistie fans themselves didn't care to see such a slaughter.

"The citizens of Toledo planned a big public dinner for Dempsey and this looked to me to be the psychological moment to stop the cry. I had a new set of scales hauled into the ball-

Channel Swimmers Favor the Strategy of "Landlubber"

Boulogne, June 5.—(AP)—Swimmers attempting to cross the English Channel this year favor a line of attack mapped out by a "landlubber" to cope with the tides, as against the advice of both French and English pilots.

The course and the proper time of entry into the water have been worked out by a railroad engineer, M. Douai, who has been a channel swim fan for several years. Douai's plan was adopted by both Enrique Tirabocchi of the Argentine and Charles Toth of Boston, who covered the distance in 1923 in much quicker time than the three men who preceded them in crossing the channel.

Whereas seamen have maintained that swimmers should enter the water with the falling tide, Douai's plan calls for the start to be made four hours before
