Marvel Silvers Can't Entertain All His Family; Too Many of Them

Burnsville, N. C., June 23.—(AP)—Marvel Silvers, living at Higgins, near here, cannot entertain all his family at one time. It is not that his home is unusually small—rather that his family is unusually large.

There are eleven living children, 82 grandchildren, 400 great-grandchildren, a respectable array of great-great-grandchildren and a few great-great-greats.

Mr. Silvers himself is upwards of 108 years old. He may be older, for the family records have been lost.

IDENTIFY WOMAN IN THE HOSPITAL AS MISSING MINISTER

Mother of Woman Supposed to Have Been Drowned Identifies Her

Douglas, Ariz., June 23.—(AP)—Identification of a woman in a hospital here as Aimee Semple McPherson, Los Angeles evangelist, who was reported drowned here on May 18th, was made over the telephone by Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, the evangelist's mother, in conversation with William F. McCafferty, editor of the Dispatch this morning.

The woman in the hospital here told the name of the pigeon, which was Dennie, and also said that she was injured on the second finger of her right hand in Durham township, near Ingersoll, Ontario. The mother told McCafferty the same thing.

The woman also gave the name of a cousin now dead and described birthmarks on her babies for McCafferty. These statements led the mother to the declaration that the woman was Aimee McPherson beyond a doubt.

Crowder, charged with embezzlement of more than $50,000 of the funds of the defunct Farmers and Merchants Bank here, while he was cashier. Judge E. H. Cranmer completed his charge to the jury at 12:45 o'clock after speaking for about a quarter of an hour. The jury then retired and reached its decision after deliberating about ten minutes.

On the demand of Solicitor R. H. Parker the bond of the defendant was increased from $25,000 to $30,000 and two sureties required pending the reconvening of court at two o'clock when Judge Cranmer was expected to pronounce sentence.

TODAY

(Copyright 1926) Change is Permanent. New Thought is Science. Is Marriage Fading? Preparing to Live. By ARTHUR BRISBANE

Some one suggested to Henry Ford that the automobile eventually would be mechanically perfect and beyond improvement. Ford's excellent reply was, "No, there is nothing permanent in the world except change."

Every positive statement is dangerous. A wise agnostic said, "I am nothing, not even that. I affirm nothing."

The international new thought alliance, with ten thousand delegates, is holding its thirteenth annual convention in New York. Nothing more important than new thought, all progress comes of it. Nothing more common than the hallucination that we are thinking a new way. Nothing more rare than a thought really new.

Our thought grows out of old thought as forests grow out of dead trees. An old thought surprises us, we think it new. The patent office is bothered by geniuses seeking to patent old ideas.

Marriage and religion are both "fading out" according to Wells and others, sincere, but not acquainted with the mind of man.

This world will last more than one hundred sixty million years longer, according to science. When Wells reappears, with a different shape and brain, say 100,000 years hence a suggestion that marriage be abolished will sound as preposterous as a suggestion to restore cannibalism, torture of witnesses or burning alive for differences in religion.

Mary Roberts Rinehart in an article published yesterday, said a wise thing, to which rushing, nervous Americans should pay attention: "Prepare to live, we wear ourselves out, and die before the time comes."

Englishmen, Frenchmen, Germans, plan their lives, work to get what the plan requires, then retire, and live for a while. In America we plan industriously, every man will tell you what he will do and how he will live, by and by. Later you hear that he is dead—the plan is never carried out.

In the old days, moonshine was supposed to cause madness and death, and now it's an actual fact that it will if you drink much of it.—Nashville Banner.

M'NARY MEASURE WHITTLED DOWN TO $15,000,000

Vote On Measure Is Imminent; Proponents Hope to Force Action Today

Washington, June 23.—(AP)—Whittled down to a $15,000,000 measure and changed along other various lines, the McNary equalization fee proposal today approached a vote in the Senate. Although a vote was imminent before adjournment yesterday, and proponents hoped to force action today, this was not assured because of the undeterminable amount of time required for disposal of several pending amendments.

After making numerous changes in the measure to meet various objections, proponents yesterday claimed a majority of one vote but opponents insisted their forces outnumbered the other side by two votes.

Atlanta, Ga., June 23.—(AP)—Disabled veterans of the world war, went on a pilgrimage today to Stone Mountain where the gigantic memorial to the soldiers and leaders of the Confederacy is being carved.

PASTORS APPEAL FOR OBSERVANCE OF LOYALTY DAY

Methodist Ministers Would Have Independence Day Made Occasion of Loyalty

Nashville, Tenn., June 23.—(AP)—A church-wide appeal to Southern youth to observe Independence Day as "Loyalty Day," when they may renew their pledge of allegiance to the Constitution of the United States, will be made by Southern Methodist pastors throughout this section of the country on Sunday, July 4, Bishop James Cannon, Jr., chairman of the board of temperance and social service of the church, South, has announced.

Pastors throughout the church have been urged to hold special services on July 4, in an effort to rally young people of each community to open demonstrations of loyalty to the Constitution, and protest against the attacks which it is said are being made against that document by preachers of anarchy throughout the country.

In making his announcement, Bishop Cannon expressed a desire that these demonstrations should announce the determination of loyal citizens to closely adhere to such laws apt to be violated most generally. He included the prohibition law, saying that this law and all other laws of the land should be obeyed as a means of counteracting the attacks against the Constitution which it is said are being made today.

BAPTISTS WOULD MAKE MEREDITH MEETING PLACE

Question of Making College the Annual Meeting Place Crops Up in Convention

Raleigh, June 23.—(AP)—The question of making the new Meredith College the permanent annual meeting place of the Baptist Young Peoples' Union of North Carolina, cropped up in an informal discussion during the second day's session of the convention at the college today.

In opposition to the proposal of choosing a permanent meeting place, several delegates have already put in their invitations for the convention next year, Winston-Salem especially making a strong bid. At least 1500 young people were on hand for today's session. The morning and afternoon meetings were featured by inspirational addresses, routine reports, special music and round table discussions. Tonight an address will be delivered by Dr. W. L. Rouse, president of Wake Forest College. The convention will be concluded Thursday evening.

erable experience on the diamond have decided to provide a little diversion for the summer months. They have organized a club, and will play the first game here this afternoon.

It is only amateur baseball. But it is baseball. And hundreds of citizens, seeking recreation will find time to attend the games. They are not so particular about the kind of rating the club has. All they desire is good games and plenty of thrills.

A number of players saw service in the Eastern Carolina league. They may be a little out of form. But daily practice will condition them in a hurry. It is difficult for a seasoned veteran of the diamond to forget how to handle the old ball. And it may be safe to say that those in Greenville are no exceptions.

We have said that baseball is one of the greatest of American sports. We offer no retraction. The game has always held a certain indescribable attraction for American youth. But not for youth alone! Old men, young men, old women and young women are as fascinated by the crack of the bat against the ball as anybody. They live in an atmosphere dominated by baseball. It matters not where they go there will be people talking baseball. They may discuss the National League and minor organizations, but it will be baseball they talk about.

Greenville has lost the "high temperature" of old baseball days. But she is capable of catching the malady again. And if these boys get together a good organization, win a few games, and get the old ball rolling in earnest, there isn't any telling what may happen.

Gives Fatherly Advice to Bankers By Letters

Topeka, Kan., June 23.—(AP)—The role of father to the small town banker has been assumed by Roy L. Bone, Kansas bank commissioner. Mr. Bone has written a series of "Letters From a Banker to His Son," through which he has found a way to give fatherly advice to state bankers without appearing to meddle in the affairs of some particular bank. One letter from the fictitious old banker tells the boy how to be diplomatic as well as cautious in lending money. Another takes the boy to task for letting fake stock promoters use him as a cat's-paw in preying on the bank's patrons. Still another letter scolds the young man for borrowing money from the bank of which he is cashier. The commissioner incloses one of the letters with every communication to the state banks about the quarterly statement. He pays the cost of printing the letters, which he has copyrighted.

Collegians Make Good In the Coal Selling Stunt

Seattle, June 23.—(AP)—A Northwest coal company enlisted the aid of University of Washington students in a selling campaign here and found the collegiate salesmen successful. The students sold more than $45,000 worth of coal in a month. Fifty-five students took orders. A trip to the company's mine and lectures to teach the salesmen something about the product, they were handling preceded the campaign. Prizes were given the most successful salesmen.

Nightingales Dislike Jazz for Accompaniment

Oxford, Eng., June 23.—(AP)—Nightingales dislike jazz. They like soft, smooth musical scores as was shown by Miss Beatrice Harrison playing her cello as an accompaniment to the birds in her Surrey garden to sing for millions of listeners of the British Broadcasting company. The performances last half an hour, always after eleven P. M., when the birds sing best.

Miss Harrison has often tried jazz and marches on the nightingales, but they remain quiet and make no effort to sing as they do nearly always when she plays a sonata of a simple minuet.

Russian Industry Leans to the Capitalist Standard

New York, June 23.—(AP)—Soviet Russia is "working hard to reconstruct and develop industry, agriculture and commerce along largely capitalistic lines," says a report of the Foreign Policy Association. "The Soviet authorities have frequently been obliged to scrap their Communist theories when the latter clashed too harshly with economic realities and have made big concessions to capitalistic standards," declares James G. McDonald, chairman. "Some of the more orthodox followers of Marx have occasionally protested violently against these concessions, but in vain."

The growth and security of Russia's foreign trade depends on the rapidity of her economic recovery, Mr. McDonald adds, which in turn depends largely on the extent to which long term credits are made available.

"Before granting these, capitalism still demands further concessions."

The tendency toward doing business on a capitalist basis "grows stronger day by day," he continues. "Despite attempts by state competition to break the back of private capitalists in 1925, private enterprise again is enjoying a relatively free hand. Nearly fifty per cent of the retail trade in Russia today is in the hands of private traders. Russian foreign trade, however, is still a government monopoly, tho less rigorous."

The Brazilians, then, are not such "nuts" as we have been led to believe—Durham Sun.

Wyoming's First Oil Was to Grease Wagon Wheels

Cheyenne, Wyo., June 23.—(AP)—Oil was first marketed commercially in Wyoming in 1849, but not for fuel purposes. It was to grease the wheels of the "covered wagons" trundling across the wide prairies and lofty Rocky Mountains on the Oregon Trail, so the state historical department has found.

Prior to the coming of the white man, the Indians used oil for medicinal purposes. Historical researches have revealed that emigrants along the old Oregon Trail in 1849 found a petroleum "spring" in Uinta county and James Bridger, noted Wyoming trapper and scout, settled near the spring, naming his home Fort Bridger. He collected the oil and mixed it with flour to make axle grease. Later in the fifties, Cyrus Iba, a pioneer of Casper, discovered a seepage of petroleum, called by the Indians "Poison Spring," in what now is the large Salt Creek field. He also used it to make axle grease. In 1925, the state's oil production totalled 45,000,000 barrels.

Congressmen Revise Speeches for the Record

Washington, June 23.—(AP)—The folks back home may think that when they read the Congressional Record they are getting the real facts about what happens in Congress, but both the Senate and the House recently have been reminded that any such supposition is a fallacy.

Most of those who scan the official report of the Congressional debates long since have recognized the significance of that constantly-recurring item: "Mr. Whozis addressed the Senate. His remarks will appear hereafter in the Appendix." It usually means that some Senator has decided to sleep on what he has said, after he has said it, and perhaps blue-pencil some of it before it goes out to the country.

Hold Thrift Congress Franklin's Old Home

Philadelphia, June 23.—(AP) Thrift promoters and educators will come here June 29 to attend the national congress for thrift, which will be held in conjunction with the annual meeting of the National Education Association. The American Society for Thrift called the congress here in deference to the memory of Benjamin Franklin, who was a pioneer advocate of thrift. The last assembly of its kind was held at the Panama-Pacific exposition in 1915.

EASY TO DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though, at home is messy and trouble some. For only 75 cents you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use preparation, improved by the addition of other ingredients called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant.

Gray faded hair, though no disgrace, is a sign of old age, and as we all desire a youthful and attractive appearance, get busy at once with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound and look years younger.

MRS. R. L. ABBOTT ENTERTAINS IN HONOR MISS JOSIE MAE TUCKER

Mrs. R. L. Abbott delightfully entertained on Friday evening, at her home in Winterville, from eight to ten, in honor of her niece, Miss Josie Mae Tucker, who is to be married at an early date.

The home was very simply but beautifully decorated with flowers of all colors. Upon the arrival of the guests, delicious fruit punch was served by Miss Lucy Bet Abbott, daughter of the hostess, and Miss Elizabeth Forbes.

Many clever contests, games and fortunes caused mirth and merriment to run riot. The last feature of entertainment came when every guest was handed a miniature bungalow and was asked to furnish it for Miss Tucker, the bride-elect.

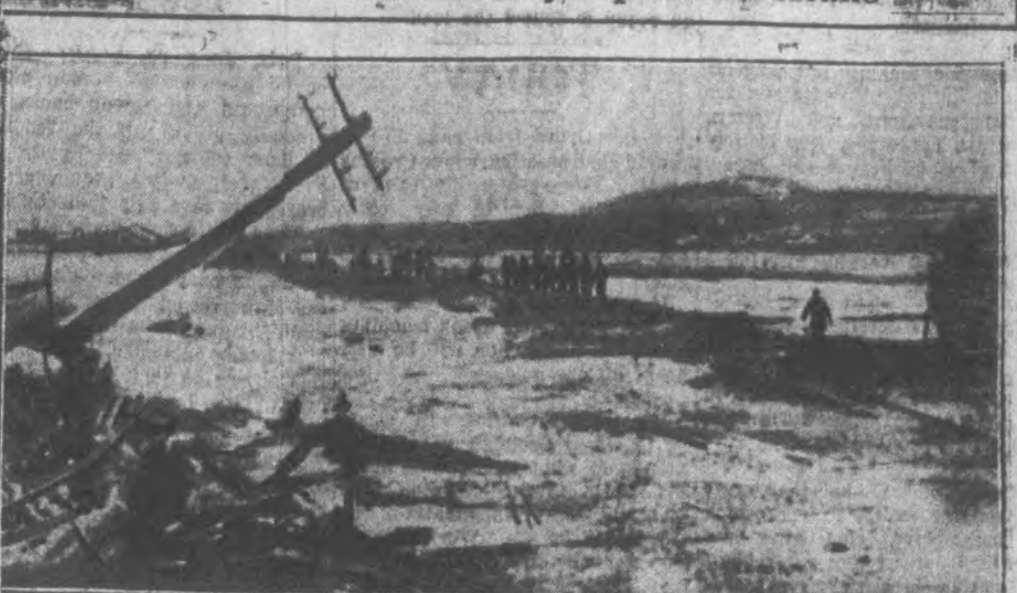

As soon as this contest was ended, a wedding march sounded forth. A wagon bearing a large basket, both of which were attractively decorated in the rainbow colors, was pulled into the center of the large reception room by little Miss Willie Gray Cox, beautiful in her rainbow dress. Behind the wagon marched little Miss Lucile Cox, the lovely wee bride and Master Lloyd Evans Ellis, the gallant little groom. When the basket had been unloaded, Miss Tucker was convinced that her many, many friends had really done their part in furnishing her bungalow. She was seemingly overcome with joy and appreciation because of such a happy surprise.

After congratulating the bride-elect, the goodly number of well-wishers reluctantly bade their charming hostess good night.

Four cases were given hearing by Mayor D. M. Clark in this morning's session of city court. All of them were of a minor nature and were quickly disposed of.

Daily News Letter

Gossip of Staff Correspondents at World Centers of Population.

Los Angeles, June 23.—(INS)—Music lovers of two generations ago responded to the magic name and voice of Jennie Lind, "the Swedish nightingale."

A Los Angeles girl, another Jennie Lind, today recalled the memory and charm of her famous ancestor.

The Los Angeles singer is a relative of her illustrious name-sake, and like her, is of striking blonde type and has a soprano voice of greatest sweetness and range.

The present Miss Lind was born in Chicago and is a protegee of Madame Helena Mojeska, the Polish tragedienne. She has a complete repertoire of Scandinavian folk songs.

"The original Jennie Lind for whom I was named," explained the Los Angeles girl today, "has always been my ideal and my example. I like to sing the songs she gave her audiences and I have always been happy to think that my parents gave me her name."

Nearly 30,000 Arizonans will flock to Los Angeles this summer to escape the heat of the desert state, P. G. Spillbury, secretary of the Arizona Industrial Congress, estimated today.

The visitors from Arizona will spend about $6,000,000 in Los Angeles during their stay here. Spillbury calculated.

Plans for making Los Angeles the distributing point for silk for the Pacific Coast and Western states are now under way by representatives of France and Japan, it was learned today.

A large Japanese silk firm will open a warehouse here in the near future. It was learned, carrying a $100,000 stock.

French silk interests are also said to be planning to establish a distributing point in Los Angeles. The French company expects to maintain silk supplies worth from $100,000 to $200,000 here.

"Uncle Tom's Cabin," that bearded patriarch of the drama, which has been played more often and more badly than any other show in America, is being given a film version by Universal. Harry A. Pollard is directing the motion picture adaptation of Harriet Beecher Stowe's famous story.

The motion picture industry is extremely initiative.

One "Covered Wagon," started a whole series of historical vehicles, one successful dog-picture resulted in wholesale raids on the thoroughbred kennels, and one Jackie Coogan has caused every parent in Hollywood to scrutinize the baby with prying eyes.

Now the run seems to be on pictures glorifying the "American working man." Charles Ray is busy on the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer lot glorifying a city fireman, and Emory Johnson has just been signed by Universal to direct a series of nine pictures treating in epic style the ordinary life of the laboring man. Other film companies are all ready to follow the lead.

French Public Libraries Finding Fewer Patrons

Paris, June 23.—(AP)—Either the French are reading more newspapers and fewer books or gradually giving up the reading at home habit, if the figures of France's eighty-two municipal libraries are any fair indications.

These institutions loaned 1,258,955 volumes last year, a decrease of 31,263 over 1924. The number of borrowed books has been diminishing since 1920.

A Paris publisher has made this stipulation in the sale of certain of his books: "This book must not be hired out for reading before June 1, 1927, except by arrangement with the publisher. Any infringement of this clause will be prosecuted."

This departure is a result of the movement to obtain some returns for the author whose books are let out by libraries and other book-ending agencies.

swayed that question when Croesus proudly showed him his piles of gold: "Oh, king, if any other come that hath better iron than you, he will be master of all this gold."

If any nation comes flying east or west with better flying machines than ours, that nation will be master of all our gold.

Wisconsin primaries will again let President Coolidge and the nation know what voters think about the World Court. Senator Lenroot, who seeks re-nomination, was the leader of the World Court movement in the Senate. Watch what happens to him at the polls.

He is about to learn, as McKinley, Pepper, Stanfield and Cummins have learned, that when the country voted twice, against the League of Nations, with 7,000,000 votes to spare, it did not mean "maybe." The World Court is the "maybe" of the League of Nations.

It had been announced that the President and Mr. Mellon planned no further reduction in federal taxes for at least a year or two. But this country is rich; receipts seem to increase as taxes are lowered, and the June payments of income and other taxes are far beyond estimates. Uncle Sam will probably find himself with $500,000,000 more than he needs this year and able to cut taxes again.

How those figures will sound in Europe. And how earnestly Europeans will feel that we ought to enter the League of Nations, or at least the World Court, and give Europe a chance to dispose of that surplus.

Another Boundary Links

Hardy Bishop of 70 Is Still Trekking Alaska

Seattle, Wash., June 23.—(AP)—A vast territory towards the top of the world is "home" and "workshop" to Peter Trimble Rowe, who for thirty-one years has extended a helping hand to residents of the frozen north as missionary bishop of Alaska.

Today at seventy years of age, the Episcopalian bishop looks forward to several more winters extending the outposts of civilization farther to the north, ministering to his flock. Then he says he will give away to a younger man imbued with ardor for a difficult mission. Bishop Rowe makes his headquarters here. He describes his missionary district as the largest in the world.

Friend of explorer, Indian and Eskimo, Bishop Rowe's life is closely interwoven with the most interesting chapters in the history of Alaska. He was on the march with the "boys" in the gold rushes of the Youkon and Dawson and admits frankly his hope that there will be one more good find of gold.

He recalls how some gazed in amazement as they rushed along the trail seeking the yellow metal when he told them his sole object in making the arduous journey was to "look after them." He taught many tenderfoots, many of the murdered from the city, how to fashion their own boats.

Belgian Queen Holds the Love of All Classes

Brussels, June 23.—(AP)—Musician, physician, artist, scientist or laborer, each a sympathetic audience with the Queen of Belgium.

She is cherished by the poor because she is modest, charitable and a loving mother. The middle classes are impressed with the Queen's cordial and simple ways. Through a Princess of German birth, she has never, even in the darkest hours of the war, lost the hearts of her subjects.

Since the day twenty-five years ago when, as Princess of Bavaria, but not of the reigning branch, she entered Belgium as future Queen, she has with diplomatic skill consolidated her position. And her people in the main are inclined towards republicanism rather than monarchism.

A learned physician and hospital nurse, before her marriage, the Queen assisted her father Prince Charles Theodore, the famous oculist. As a social worker, she has established two foundations for child welfare.

Dog and Cat Burials Profitable To Oakland

Oakland, Cal., June 23.—(AP)—City Pound Master J. P. Mc-Tierney has added a funeral wagon to his department and has increased the revenues of the city.

One month's 132 private dog funerals were held at a charge of a dollar each. The owner of a dog was assessed $3 for an obsequy. Youthful owners in their "hour of sorrow" do not regard the city's prices so high and the dog mortician netted $817 one month for pet burials.

Grasp for the Background Behind Urge for Books

New York, June 23.—(AP)—Best sellers in America, within whose list no author objects to landing, are suffering with "growing pains."

The stereotyped phrase "the six best sellers" has become obsolete. Today, the list contains about thirty best selling books. Non-fiction has advanced to claim its place in the foreground.

Alfred Harcourt, the publisher ascribes the growth to several reasons and conditions.

One of them is that libraries and schools have undergone a remarkable development, with a corresponding encouraging influence upon reading and literature.

New York Urged to Mark Graves of These Men

Albany, N. Y., June 23.—(INS)—A plea for the erection of markers to the memory of the members of New York's Provincial Convention, who voted for the independence of the colony in 1776 has been urged by Dr. Alexander C. Flick, New York State historian and chairman of the State Sesqui-Centennial Committee.

"The members of the convention who voted for independence deserved to be placed on New York State's roll of honor," Dr. Flick said. "Their graves should be marked in some special manner. Tablets should be placed to their memory in the county courthouses and exercises should be held locally this year in the various counties to commemorate their services to the State and Nation. The State will share with localities the expense of erecting memorial markers to the memory of those creators of New York's statehood."

In Fighting Clouds Airmen Make Rain

Hartford, Conn., June 23.—(INS)—Fifteen spurts of rain have resulted from experiments being conducted over Brainard aviation field here by federal scientists and army fliers. They are seeking a sure way of dispersing clouds. Incidentally they produce rain. Thus a war and peace combination has been effected which may have great results in the future, according to the men in charge of the work.

Dr. L. F. Warren, of New York, is chief scientist in charge of the work. The fliers are James Denison and Samuel G. Davis, army fliers from Aberdeen, Md.

Their apparatus is a deHavilland plane equipped with an air-propelled generator that produces 220 volts, alternating current. This is transformed, or stepped up, in the plane to 22,000 volts, direct

Gila Dam Will Open Up 150,000 Acres to Crops

Florence, Ariz., June 23.—(AP)—A half-century old debt owed the Pima Indians by the United States government will be paid with the construction of the Coolidge dam on the Gila river, about fifty miles east of here. Government engineers are ready to begin construction.

Eighty thousand acres of land will be irrigated by the dam which will be the first so-called "dome-type" to be built. Half of this acreage will be cultivated by the Pima Indians of the Gila river reservation, whose once prosperous fields were rendered unproductive by diversion of water from the Gila by settlers on the upper stretches of the stream.

The dam itself will create an opportunity for land development such as attended the building of the Roosevelt dam in 1912. The Coolidge dam will rise 220 feet above the bed of the river and have a total length across the top of about 1,000 feet. It will impound 1,200,000 acre feet of water.

Engineers claim that at least 150,000 acres of land in this district are susceptible to reclamation. Oranges, cotton, figs, dates and other semi-tropical crops can be raised. Six harvests of alfalfa may be obtained during a single year.
