FUNERAL SERVICES FOR JUDGE LLOYD HORTON TUESDAY

Former Pitt County Man Died in Raleigh Yesterday; Funeral Services in Farmville Tomorrow Morning

Raleigh, July 12.—(AP)—The final tribute of respect to former Judge J. Lloyd Horton, will be paid tomorrow morning at eleven o'clock, at his boyhood home, Farmville, N. C. Services will be conducted in the Methodist church, of which he was a member, and interment will be in the family burying plot at that city.

Judge Horton died yesterday afternoon, after he apparently had withstood the ravages of a severe attack of meningitis, and was believed to be on the road to recovery. Death was caused by an acute dilation of the heart. He died instantly only a moment after conversing with his physician, Dr. Hubert Haywood, Jr.

Judge Horton was said to have been the youngest jurist ever to sit on the North Carolina Supreme Court bench. At the age of 26, after serving as county prosecutor and solicitor of his home district, he was named Judge of the fifth judicial district. He served in this capacity for five years, resigning last year to become a member of the law firm of Jones and Jones, of Raleigh.

The funeral cortege will leave Raleigh this afternoon at two o'clock for Farmville, traveling by motor. At list of more than 50 honorary pallbearers, including many prominent men of the state, was announced this morning, while active pallbearers will be chosen from among boyhood friends from his home town.

Judge Horton is survived by his widow and two small children, two sisters, Mrs. Frank Capps, of this city, and Mrs. Charles Rountree, of Farmville; and a brother, Mr. Marvin Horton, of Farmville. Joseph Lloyd Horton is believed to have been the youngest man ever elected to the Superior court judgeship in this state. He took his seat on the bench at the age of 26.

He was certainly the youngest North Carolina judge during the present generation, and so far as the records of the legislative library disclose, the youngest in the history of the commonwealth. Judge Horton's career, in fact, offers a remarkable example of the advancement that may be attained by a man while still in his twenties.

Solicitor of his home county of Pitt at 21, he became solicitor of the fifth judicial district at 24, and was elevated to the Superior court judgeship two years later.

A son of Moses Tyson and Dorra Askew Horton, J. Lloyd Horton was born at Farmville, N. C., February 3, 1894. He matriculated at the University of North Carolina in 1910 and spent two years at that institution, entering Washington and Lee University at the end of the second year. From the Virginia school he received the degree of LL.B. in 1914.

Returning to Farmville, he began the practice of law, but almost immediately entered politics, being successful in his race for county prosecutor. He held this office three years. Meanwhile in September, 1916, he was married to Miss Sallie Kie.

Becoming solicitor of the fifth judicial district in 1918, Judge Horton held that office for two years, being elected judge of the district in 1920. He was on the bench five years, resigning in March, 1925, to remove to Raleigh to become a member of the law firm of Jones, Jones and Horton.

While still on the bench, Judge Horton was a delegate to the celebrated New York Democratic National Convention of that year. Many people felt that a Superior court judge should not take an active part in politics, but Judge Horton was of a very determined nature, and he was in no wise deterred by unfavorable comment.

The same determination which manifested itself in this instance he carried into his cases he tried. In addition, his work in the court room was marked by unusual vigor.

TRAFFIC TOLL FOR LAST WEEK THIRTY-FOUR

Eleven Southern States Report 34 Killed and 246 Injured in Traffic Accidents

Traffic in eleven southern states killed 34 persons and injured 246, a survey conducted yesterday by the Associated Press revealed today. That total compares with 37 persons killed and 249 injured the previous week.

North Carolina led all southern states in the number reported killed with a total of seven. Alabama followed closely with six, while Virginia and Florida reported four each. Every state reported one or more from traffic accidents.

Reach Agreement Funding French Debt of England

London, July 12.—(AP)—Finance Minister Caillaux of France and the British Chancellor of the Exchequer, Winston Churchill, today reached a complete agreement on terms of funding the French war debt to Great Britain. Terms will be published tomorrow.

LILLIAN CANNON CONFIDENT SHE WILL CROSS CHANNEL

Cap. Gris Nez, July 12.—(AP)—Lillian Cannon, who swam 29 miles across Chesapeake Bay in 11 hours, is confident she will conquer the English Channel. "I shall not try before I am absolutely fit, perhaps not before August," declared the solemnized Baltimore girl after one of her dips in the Channel water. "In the meantime, there is much training to be done."

Accompanied by her two dogs, who also are record swimmers, Lillian draws all eyes as she romps along the beach and plunges into the waves. Bill Burgess, with his mop of snow-white hair and body as supple as that of a youngster, makes the fourth in the party, and this veteran of more than thirty unsuccessful attempts to conquer the fickle strait has great confidence in his first girl swimmer.

TRUTH ON STAGE IS URGED BY LITTLE THEATRE LEADER

Lexington, Ky., July 12.—(AP)—One little theatre pioneering professor, Carol Sax, of the University of Kentucky, believes the person who does not want the truth on the stage is the worst enemy of the theatre and drama today.

Admitting there is trouble aplenty in real life, let alone added realism on the stage, Prof. Sax sees sugar-coated Cinderella stagings and cinemas as entertaining enough but not suitable for a steady diet.

He wants honesty in the theatre, plays true to life, by which one gains sympathy and understanding of fellowmen; for the most important factor in any drama he believes is that all acts contribute definitely to a definite end.

GARDEN FINDS NEW OPERA

Paris, July 12.—(AP)—Chicago will have the first hearing of a new French opera next season. Emile Bergerat's play "More Than Queen" has been set to music by the composer, Marcel Bertrand. Mary Garden, after hearing Madame Cortot and David Devries go through the libretto and the score, decided to produce the work in Chicago at the beginning of next season, taking the role of Josephine herself.

The work will be given in Paris next spring, under Mary Garden's direction, at one of the theatres under the management of the Brothers Isola, formerly directors of the Opera Comique.

He was an Elk, a Mason, and an Oddfellow, having become affiliated with these orders early in life. He was also a member of the Methodist Episcopal church, South.

A Job for Ford.
Henry IV. Would Laugh.
People Must Learn.
History in Pictures.
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

Millions of little people need a cheap and good electric refrigerator. Why don't you make it—render a public service, and make a few hundred millions profit—not that a hundred million would interest you.

Such a machine made by you would be a blessing to millions of mothers. It would interfere with more expensive ice machines more than your car interferes with the more expensive cars.

On the contrary, as your cheap car developed the use of more expensive cars, so your cheap electric refrigerator would develop the use of expensive refrigeration.

Please hand this suggestion to your son, Edsel, who is younger and perhaps looking for trouble.

King Ferdinand, of Rumania, a tear in each eye, says he must reveal the wild life of his son, Carol, heir apparent. He made the prince resign the throne because of his repeated "moral delinquencies."

In the language of our day, Henry the Eighth, of England; Henry the Fourth, of France, would get a good laugh out of that.

In old days, with an occasional exception like Marcus Aurelius, it was "the greater the moral delinquency, the greater the king."

Clemenceau, old French tiger, fought and worked until France was safe, then retired to his little cottage on the edge of the Rough Sea, north of the Pyrenees, and wrote a book. It tells his doubts about rule by the people.

Clemenceau offers no remedy, knowing that peoples and governments, like plans, must grow.

His lack of confidence in the power of the people to rule themselves is not discouraging and does not mean anything. If you saw a one-year-old child trying to walk, and had never seen a baby before, you would say, "Put it back in the crib or it will surely fall down stairs and break its neck."

Having seen babies before you know they must LEARN to walk for themselves. Old time, that has watched the rising and falling of planets through endless eternity, knows that people must learn to walk and that they can learn.

Much interest in Rudyard Kipling's statement, "Fiction is Truth's Younger Sister." More English speaking people know of Louis XI, through Walter Scott's "Quentin Durward" than from any history of France, and Scott's "Ivanhoe" has taught millions all they know about ancient England, the brutal persecution of Jews, and the era of knighthood.

But if fiction is truth's younger sister, the moving picture is the real teacher for truth and history—not merely a sister.

The Iron Horse, the Birth of a Nation, the Big Parade are as far above the average written history in their power to teach history as Paganini's violin was above a South African Tom Tom in its power to interpret music.

Mohammedans hate Hindus because they eat pigs and sometimes play music outside of Mohammedan mosques. Mohammedans say you must not eat pigs and play music. EXPLOSIONS AT GOV'T ARSENAL TAKE HEAVY TOLL

Sixteen Known Dead With Scores Missing As Result of Explosions Begun By Lightning Saturday

Dover, N. J., July 12.—(AP)—Ravaged by the merciless artillery attack as of an invader in wartime, the country surrounding the Lake Denmark Naval Ammunition Depot smoldered under a summer sun today. Marines and soldiers searched cautiously through the shelled area determined to wrest from the smoking ruins the grim secret of death and destruction hidden among them by the terrific explosions.

The shells had rained their death dealing fragments among the country side since a bolt of lightning first ignited stores of T. N. T. Saturday afternoon, ceased intermittent thunder this morning and it was hoped that the worst had passed. The number of known dead at noon today was sixteen with several times that number missing. It was not believed an accurate check of the human loss could be completed today.

In the army's Picatinny Arsenal adjoining the naval ammunition dump there still remained vast stores of explosives which might be ignited by a shell fragment from Lake Denmark. If this should occur, officers admitted that the whole grim disaster may be re-enacted.

Polk Authorities Investigating Recent Killing

Tryon, July 12.—(AP)—Q. C. Sonner, Jr., is virtually out of danger. Meanwhile Polk County authorities continue to investigate the shooting of a society girl here last week while she was riding with Sonner and the wounding of Sonner. Neither Sheriff McFarland, nor John Will Pless, Jr., prosecuting attorney, would make any announcement of their plans following a conference yesterday.

Change Management of Wilmington Hotel

Wilmington, July 12.—(AP)—Announcement is made this morning of the acquisition of the Orton Hotel by W. R. Barringer succeeding Mr. J. H. Hinton, who has operated the hotel for a number of years. Mr. Barringer adds this hotel to a chain which includes the new million dollar Cape Fear in this city, the Central Hotel at Florence, S. C., and the Prince Charles at Fayetteville. He also operates the new Danville Hotel at Danville upon early completion.

GUNMAN ACTIVE CITY OF CHICAGO

Three More Killings Added to List of Slayings By Gang of Hold-Up Men

Chicago, July 12.—(AP)—Cicero, scene of the spectacular McSwiggan party slaying, counted three more killings today apparent prompted by a desire of hold-up men to obtain automobiles for marauding expeditions. A taxicab chauffeur, who protested against surrendering his car to a pair of robbers, was mortally wounded, stripped of his uniform and thrown from his machine, while less than a block away a young man and young woman sitting in a car in front of the latter's home, were slain when they remonstrated against giving up their automobile.

The police are holding Thomas Wayne, 24, from whom they obtained a statement implicating himself and a man known to them only as "Curly."

The slayings came before the echoes of Cicero's last sensational shootings had died away. Near the scene of today's slayings, William McSwiggan, an assistant State's Attorney, and two companions fell before a withering hail of lead poured into their automobile by machine gun gangsters last April.

LOVE OF LIFE IN SIBERIA HOLDS THE GERMAN WAR OFFICERS

Berlin, July 12.—(AP)—More than two hundred former German army officers and men, taken prisoners by the Russians during the war and exiled to Siberia, like the frozen wastes so well that they refuse to come back.

This is revealed in a statement of the German government which denied reports that the Soviet Republic was detaining the Germans in Siberia against their will.

Since 1923, the statement continues, the government has offered each exile free transportation back home. In three years only fifty have taken advantage of the offer; while two hundred and sixteen have been refused. Some of them have become Russian citizens. All have settled on farms and are earning a good living.

ROCKY MT. PAPER FAILS TO APPEAR SUNDAY MORNING

Reports Indicate That Morning Paper At Rocky Mount Has Encountered Financial Difficulties

Rocky Mount, July 12.—(AP)—Failing to appear Sunday morning, the Daily Tribune, morning newspaper here, is believed to have encountered financial difficulties, which a stockholder in touch with the situation, is quoted as declaring, may prevent further appearance of the publication under present management, if at all.

The Tribune Company, owners of the publication, has as its president Geo. W. Holloway; vice-president, C. H. Nowell; and Annie E. Holloway, secretary-treasurer. The capital stock is understood to approximate $20,000 with $15,000 paid in. Liabilities are placed at $9,000 with assets of $8,000.

Publication appeared last September under the name of the Morning Tribune which changed later to the Daily Tribune.

Officers were out of the city today and no meeting of stockholders has been called while the place of business remained closed as according to court order.

AGAIN SEEKS TITLE

Austin, Texas, July 12.—(AP)—Berkeley Bell, of Austin, the fifth ranking junior racket-wielder of the country, will make his second bid for the national junior net singles championship at Chicago, beginning August 9.

Last year Bell was defeated, 6-4, 6-3, in the semi-finals by Cranston Holman, of Leland Stanford, who eventually captured the singles crown.

The 17-year-old local player will compete in a number of tourneys, to get in shape for his main meet.

WHITE FLANNELS POPULAR

New York, July 12.—(AP)—Red flannels have gone out, and white flannels have come in. Tennis jerseys of thin, soft white flannel, resembling nothing so much as a good substantial midwinter shirt, come out into the summer sun as the last word in this season's smart woman's sport apparel. The price alone makes wide the distinction between overshirt and undershirt.

FORMER SECRETARY WAR J. W. WEEKS DIED EARLY TODAY

War Secretary Under Presidents Harding and Coolidge Died Today Following a Long Illness

Lancaster, New Hampshire, July 12.—(AP)—John W. Weeks, War Secretary under President Harding and Coolidge, died here at his summer home, Mount Prospect, at three o'clock this morning. Death came from Angina Pectoris and followed a long fight for health.

Mr. Weeks died without recovering consciousness from the coma into which he had lapsed early Sunday morning.

Mrs. Weeks and his son and daughter were at the bedside when the end came. Throughout weary hours of watching they had never ceased to hope that he would rally sufficiently to bid them farewell, but the pulse which had grown feeble continued to fall and soon death was but a matter of hours. When Mr. Weeks lapsed into the coma his physicians advised members of the family that death was near and there was only a slight hope that the former secretary would be able to rally.

Announcement of death was made to the Associated Press shortly after six o'clock this morning by his son.

College Students More Alert Today In Spite Slang, Jazz

New York, July 12.—(INS)—The college student of today has a harder time in his work, is more alert and accomplishes more than did his predecessor of the last generation, despite all the ranting and roaring about this "Jazz Age," in the opinion of Archibald Douglas, now serving his second term as alumni trustee of Columbia University.

Mr. Douglas, who graduated in '94, is prepared to deny all the charges of the old timers that the youth of today is in any way inferior. In fact, he thinks quite the opposite is the case.

The present students may carry an assortment of bootleggers' cards in their pockets, say a language that shifts from day to day and rank their jazz #1 high as their other studies, but nevertheless the boy or girl in college now has higher academic standards to gain than ever before.

People who have the idea that the past is always the most perfect time, said Mr. Douglas, are convinced that modern youth is disrupting the nation, should rub shoulders a bit with the boys who are responsible for the high standards the colleges have now set for themselves.

It is because the student body as a whole is more alert mentally that these standards have been raised to such a degree that the college man of twenty years ago would have been too discouraged to make the struggle.

RADIO NEWS BUREAU

Jerusalem, July 12.—(AP)—Hebrew newspaper offices at Tel Aviv have been getting their news quickly and cheaply since the introduction of radio news from the European capitals.

Two enterprising radio enthusiasts have formed what they call a Radio News Bureau, and tune in on Rome, Berlin, Moscow, Paris and London daily.

With the aid of an amplifier and a steno-grapher, the news is transcribed into Hebrew and flashed to the newspapers, and publication follows only a few hours later than in London.

RUSSEL SCOTT MAY YET BE SAVED FROM HANGMAN'S ROPE

Confession of Scott's Brother May Save Him From Execution for Murder of Drug Clerk

Chicago, July 12.—(AP)—Russell Scott, former wealthy Canadian financier, whose sensational trial for the murder of a Chicago drug clerk in a midnight robbery more than two years ago, resulted in a sentence to death, may yet escape the gallows.

Robert Scott, brother of the condemned man, who was a participant in the robbery today scattered a plea of guilty to the charge of having murdered Joseph Maurer, the clerk for whose death Russell was sentenced.

Three hours before he was to hang last summer, Russell was saved from the gallows by a midnight telegram from Detroit to Governor Small, purporting to be the confession of Robert that he was responsible for the killing. The telegram was a hoax and Russell was again held for hanging. A month later he was snatched from the gallows for a second time by a midnight plea for a sanity hearing. A few weeks later he was committed to the Chester Asylum for the insane, but last month was brought from there for a new hearing. At the last hearing he was found sane and sentenced to hang on October 15.

While Russell was in Chester, his brother, Robert, was found in Sag Quentia Penitentiary and returned here to face the murder charge.

Judge W. N. Gemmill declared Robert's plea placed a grave responsibility on the court. He said he would hear the evidence as fully as though the plea had been not guilty. The plea of guilty entails a penalty ranging from fourteen years in prison to death.

The prosecutors asserted they would demand the death penalty for Robert, but their access in this would likely prevent the hanging of Russell as evidence in the trial established that Maurer was killed by one or the other of the hold-up party.

Otto, of Chicago, Is Called World's Strangest Hermit

Chicago, July 12.—(INS)—The world's strangest hermit has been found, in the heart of Chicago. In a little rock-shed-cave on the shore of Lake Michigan, within a stone's throw of the Field Museum, Otto the mirror fisher, dwells in peace, comfort and happiness.

Otto, 54, a native of Germany, hasn't any relatives and few friends, he says. For eight years his only home has been the little nook on the lake front, and he doesn't encourage more than a casual acquaintanceship from anyone.

Fishing tackle forms his interior decorative scheme. A frying pan and a coffee pot; a gasoline stove and a few pots and dishes are all he has and "all I need."

"I've seen a couple of picture shows," Otto admitted. "But I like scenery, and"—his arm swept significantly—"where there are better scenery than that? A wide circle, including the lake Grant Park, Field Museum, and the ever-changing Michigan boulevard skyline."

That, he pointed to the busy boulevard, streaming with life "that's the blindest, nicest view there is anywhere. During the week nights, with the lights on I crawl into my cave and go to sleep."

"When the sun comes up, I'm awake. I make enough money to live on selling minnows to fishermen. And what could be better than that for me?"

Now all together: "It's been a good old Congress, but it's been broken down.—Miami Tribune. Another good way to avoid growing old would be to stroll nonchalantly out into the Roman forum and yell, 'Down with Mussolini.'—Nashville Banner.

JUDGE J. LLOYD HORTON

Announcement of the death of former Judge J.
Lloyd Horton, in Raleigh, yesterday brings grief to his hundreds of friends in this county and section, and sympathy to his loved ones who mourn their loss.

Stricken at the age when most men are at the beginning of achievement, Judge Horton had already lived a career of unbroken successes and had achieved for himself an enviable position. He was a licensed practitioner at 21 and served as county solicitor of this county. At the age of 24 he became Solicitor of the Fifth Judicial District and at 26 was elected Judge of Superior court in which position he continued until last year, when he resigned
to take up private practice in Raleigh. He was a lawyer of ability and has taken part in many prominent cases in the state since returning to private practice.
He was a Democrat and was active in the affairs of his party both local and national. Thus in brief, is the record of this son of Pitt county who on yesterday
died at the age of 32 years
and at whose passing the county and state feel a great loss.

A NEW SPIRIT

(Manufacturer's Record)
Never in the near half century of the work of this paper for the South has there been such a Southwide spread of creative upbuilding work. From Virginia to Texas people everywhere
are showing a spirit of activity for larger achievements.

As one outcome of this
the Manufacturers Record
is daily flooded with more interesting articles, more items of new voluntarily sent from all parts of the South than ever before in its history. Bankers, manufacturers, merchants and business men generally are showing an enthusiasm for constructive, creative work,
which guarantees a more
wide-spread and larger progress in everything that makes for human advancement
than the South has ever known before. It is a revival, but on a larger, wider scale, with much more behind it of that enthusiastic all-conquering spirit which,
after 1876 took possession of the South until the fearful panic following the Barning failure brought on general depression throughout the nation.

This spirit shows a determination on the part of the Southern people to work for the upbuilding of their own country. Southern capital and Southern brains and brawn are being thrown into constructive work with unwonted energy and enthusiasm, and coincident

with this is a nation-wide awakening to the fact that the South is the coming El Dorado of American development, unmatched in its resources and opportunities
by any other like area in the world.

Southern railroads have been making larger earnings than those of any other section, and hundreds of millions of dollars have been added to the value of their securities, to the great enrichment of their stockholders.

It is no longer necessary to try to convert Southern people to the possibilities of their country; no longer necessary to try, in the language of the day, to "sell"
the South to Northern and Western bankers and business men. The country at large, as well as the South itself, is already "sold" on the South. The only question at issue is, at what place and in what industry or in what enterprise there is offered the largest amount of profit with a fair degree of certainty of success.

In the press, on the platform, even sometimes in the pulpit, the sweep of Southern progress as it bears on the future of this section and of the country is being proclaimed, not only in the South but in all other sections. This is finding expression through a flood of news matter about towns
and cities, about agriculture
and industries, which crowds
our mails to such an extent that many important special articles have been waiting their turn for months—some of them for five or six months—and many articles,
good in themselves, have to be rejected because of the inability to find space for all that come. But in this very flood of enthusiastic work for the South is to be found the most unanswerable argument as to this wonderful awakening of the South
to itself and of the country
about the South.

"SOMETHING IS HAPPENING IN THE AUTOMOTIVE WORLD"

ALMOST A YEAR AGO the industry began to say: "Something is happening in the automotive world".

The public had found itself suddenly presented with a car that fulfilled beyond all expectations its conception of what a car
should be and what a car should do.

It was powerful. It performed with dash and spirit. It was at home in any traffic. It was easy to drive and easy to park. It was beautiful. It offered comfort and luxury
.... yet its price was low.

Immediately great interest focused upon this car. Day by day that interest grew more and more intense. It doubled and redoubled as the weeks and months rolled
by. On thoroughfare and highway this car asked no favors, feared no road.

Then, when endurance took first place among its proved qualities, in the hands of thousands of owners—the final proof of excellence was established.

Today public preference stands at a new peak of enthusiasm for the car that won its place by right of merit.

This public preference confirms the fact that something, indeed, was happening a year ago.

With the greatest year in Oldsmobile history
now a highlight in the history of the industry itself; with thousands of owners lavishing their praise upon this car; with a record of performance and stamina established

Now what was happening may be freely told:

GENERAL MOTORS was mustering new hearts and heads and hands to the service of Oldsmobile. A new staff of leaders was taking command.

From distinguished service, in all phases of the industry, they came, bringing with them
a new appreciation of public wants and needs,
a new will to serve, new pride, new vigor
and new skill.

They shared a common vision, cherished a common aim, held firm to a common purpose which they were determined to achieve.

And with Oldsmobile each man recognized the opportunity to achieve that common purpose. Shoulder to shoulder with him stood others just as earnest, just as capable as he. At their absolute command were the envied facilities and veteran craftsmen of one of the pioneer manufacturers of the automobile world. Back of all this, at their disposal, lay the vast resources of General Motors.

Seizing these facilities, they bent to their task with a will.

United in their purpose they dedicated to its achievement not only heads and hands but hearts... their whole-souled ambition to perform a public service, to fulfill a public need.

How well they succeeded, everyone now knows.

Why they succeeded is this:

DEEP-ROOTED in the mind of every man who plans or builds or tests Oldsmobile is the unwavering determination that his knowledge and skill and resources shall render constant service

... that the American family may have, at a moderate investment, a car that gratifies their finer tastes as well as satisfies their every need

... that Oldsmobile shall not be wanting in a single essential factor that contributes to performance, comfort, beauty or long life

... that in the design, material and manufacture of every detail, the strictest standards
shall be rigidly maintained

... that their boundless resources and matchless facilities shall be utilized to the utmost to provide these qualities at the lowest possible cost

This is more than a purpose; it is a creed.

It is accepted as a trust, with the firm determination that nothing shall ever deflect the loyalty of Oldsmobile from this ideal.

This—our steadfast pledge—is your firm assurance.

SUNDAY WORLD FICTION FEATURE

"The Lost Speech," by Honore Willse Morrow, in the first place, it is a Lincoln story. That in itself would suffice for a preliminary announcement, since there is scarcely another character in history that so appeals to the affection of Americans. In the second place, set against an anti-slavery background, showing the birth of the Republican Party on the one hand and the dawn of Lincoln's political career on the other, the author tells a perfect love story. Complete in next SUNDAY'S WORLD Magazine.

SCRAPS OF PAPER TWICE HELD UP ACTOR'S DEBUT

Scraps of paper twice delayed Harry Allen's debut in the movies. The scraps in question were legal papers, and without a loophole.

Allen, who appears with Colleen Moore in "Ella Cinders," which is to be shown at White's Theatre, today and tomorrow, was born in Melbourne, Australia, the son of two generations of celebrated thespians, both on the maternal and paternal sides.

At four, he was taken to London and placed with relatives who later entered him at Trinity College, Dublin, where he graduated.

Dramatic presentations at college enlisted his interest and

GEORGIA DRY FORCES SEIZE ENOUGH BOOZE TO WHOLE U. S. 2 GAL. EACH

Atlanta, Ga., July 12—(INS)—Enough liquor to give every man, woman and child in the world a one-pint flask, or to give every inhabitant of the United States a two-gallon demijohn, has been confiscated during the six and one half years of prohibition by Federal prohibition agents in Georgia. W. T. Day, head of the local prohibition enforcement organization declared here.

Day estimated, from records kept by the department that liquor and "mash" seized by federal agents in Georgia during the dry era, would total 222,910,430 gallons.

At bootleg prices, the seized beverages would gross at $8,884,183.032—enough to pay for a sizeable war. The illicit liquor would float a ship larger than the Leviathan.

The dry agents arrested 7,563 persons in connection with their seizures, and destroyed property worth $3,335,067 in raids. Day figures.

JAP STUDENTS COMING HERE

Washington, July 12—(AP)—The idea of American university students going abroad, especially to Europe for a summer tour, is to have an Oriental counterpart. One hundred Japanese students will reach Pacific coast cities this season for a brief sojourn, as the first step in what its promoters expect to be an influence for mutual good-will between the two countries. The program calls for an annual interchange of students, the Americans going to the Island Kingdom to gain clearer understanding of that country, and the Japanese coming to the United States for a like object.

More Dependable Than Ever

Dodge Brothers, Inc., achieved third place in world production this Spring because they have been able—WITHOUT SACRIFICING FUNDAMENTALS—steadily to improve the smartness of their product.

Owners and engineers know well that mechanically the car is sturdier than ever—cost of upkeep lower—and performance more dependable.

Refinements and lower prices have been made possible by spectacular increases in sales. Not by violating the basic tenet of Dodge Brothers success: NEVER TO LOWER QUALITY IN A SINGLE DETAIL.

Daily News Letter

Gossip of Staff Correspondents at World Centers of Population.

Moscow, July 12.—(INS)—Since the Bolsheviks put a ban upon fairy tales, American authors have leaped into the front rank of favorites among Russian children. A canvass of Moscow libraries just completed here shows that only one Russian author competes with Americans for the favor of the Russian youth.

Mark Twain, Jack London, Captain Mayne-Reld, James Fenimore Cooper and Harriet Beecher Stowe are now being read literally by the million in Russia. Among the living Upton Sinclair enjoys as much popularity with juveniles as he does with adults.

A natural envy of America, and the desire to read unpleasant reports of her has made Upton Sinclair the most popular American author in Russia. His glowing accounts of the horrors of American coal mines, packing houses, universities, schools and newspapers have made him almost a national figure in the Soviet Union.

No amount of experience of war, revolution and famine has shaken the fundamental naivete of the Russian Nature. In this land of Turgenev, Chekov, Dostolevsky and Tolstol one of the most popular books in the libraries is Louisa May Alcott's Little Women. Children have scarcely any chance to read it. The adult readers keep it constantly engaged.

Bolsheviks are quoting the experience of the "Women's Agricultural Commune" to prove that the Russian revolution wrought a deep change in feminine nature. More than a year ago 68 women formed a commune, were given 60 desiatines of land formerly belonging to the church not far from Moscow, and began to work it themselves without male help. Fifty-nine of the women are peasants, four were formerly workers, four former teachers and one former office employee.

The preamble of their constitution recites that "we shall prove to men that women can work the land independently of them." Their strictest rule bars men from entering the premises.

According to the rules of the 68 women receive the same remuneration. The profits are split evenly among them. This strictly communist principle proved the undoing of nearly all the ordinary men's agricultural communes which were so popular at the beginning of the Soviet regime in Russia. It has apparently not had the same effect on the women. Their first year's crop was better than that of their peasant neighbors, who had nicknamed them "the wild women," their communes has won for itself the general respect of the adjacent male agriculturists.

Stimulated by their success, the women farmers have branched out. They have now put up a machine repair shop, a shoe repair shop, and a brick factory with which they do not only supply themselves with building material, but furnish the surrounding population with bricks.

Not a single case of violent disagreement leading to the infliction of corporal injuries has arisen among the members of the commune. According to their own testimony not one hair is missing from the heads of the 68 feminine communists.

Such is the story of hairdressing in Australia which Michael Terry, explorer, has brought back to London after a trip through little-known parts of Northern Australia.

Female hair is much prized by the aborigines, as it is used in weaving belt sand making various sorts of ornaments.
