SOUTH CAROLINA MARKET AVERAGES 25c

PRICES RANGE FROM 10 TO 66 CENTS ON TOBACCO OFFERINGS

Satisfaction Prevails All Through the Belt and Farmers Celebrate; Quality Considered Poor; Mullins Reports the Largest Opening in History

Columbia, S. C., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Tobacco markets in South Carolina opened today with good prices and prospects for a successful season, according to reports received here.

At Manning, approximately 100,000 pounds were on the floors of the two warehouses at opening hour. Prices ranged from 12 to 50 cents, with an average of about 25 cents. Merchants looked for a good season.

Satisfaction prevailed at Florence with both warehouses well patronized at the opening and prices ranged from 10 to 43 cents, at least one-third higher than were expected. About 200 tobacco farmers had brought their product to market.

Four warehouses opened at Darlington with 75,000 pounds on the floors. Early sales ranged from 10 to 66 cents, indicating an average of 25c a pound for the day.

Farmers were in high spirits and the town had a holiday atmosphere. The opening at Mullins forecast the largest first day's production in the history of the market there. Six warehouses with annexes, covering an area of 5 1/2 acres, were used in displaying the weed.

A report received today by K. W. Cobb, secretary of the Greenville Tobacco Board of Trade, from W. Z. Morton, who is on the Lake City, S. C., market, stated that the Lake City market opened today with poor quality, light sales, and an average of more than twenty cents. Farmers were delighted with the outcome of the sale, the report stated.

Old Man Killed On Lonely Road In Currituck

Elizabeth City, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Daniel Pailin, 60 years old, a native of Ireland and a retired navy man, was killed on a lonely Currituck county road late last night, when the car in which he was riding, left the highway and turned turtle in a canal, pinning him beneath it. Dr. R. L. Cribbs, who examined the body, declared the dead man's lungs contained no water, indicating he may have had a heart attack and died before the car left the road. He was alone.

Pailin had lived alone near Coinlock, since he retired from the navy about eight years ago. The Navy Department was notified today of his death and disposal of the body will be deferred pending word from authorities in Washington.

Zebulon Man Drowned Today

Raleigh, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Relatives in Wake county were advised today of the drowning of Fort Fisher this morning of J. H. Williams, of Zebulon. Details of the drowning were not given. Mr. Williams, who was 52 years old, was on a fishing trip at Fort Fisher. The body is expected to reach Zebulon this afternoon and funeral services will be conducted tomorrow.

The drowned man was for years a mail carrier at Zebulon and was about to be retired by the government after serving 20 years. He was a Mason and a deacon in the Baptist church.

DOLLAR DAY IS WELL ATTENDED IN GREENVILLE

Shoppers From Surrounding Communities Take Advantage of Bargains

Today is "Dollar Day" in Greenville.

And the ten stores participating in this event are enjoying the best business of the summer season. Most all of the merchants reported crowded stores during the morning hours, and it is expected the same thing will occur during the afternoon.

The shoppers are not composed alone of Pitt county people. Visitors from all surrounding territories were present during the morning. They expressed themselves as being greatly pleased at the hundreds of splendid bargains offered on all counters.

The crowd was larger than the last "Dollar Day". This is attributed to the fact that they had been agreeably impressed by the bargains offered during the event.

The original price of an article means little to the merchants on "Dollar Day". Many items marked as high as fifteen and twenty dollars for one lonely shoe. The merchandise offered at this price is not shoddy, out of season stuff. It is right up to the minute—the last wild scream in sartorial splendor, or the artist's craft.

"Dollar Day" has become a semi-annual event in Greenville. The coming of each half of the year will see the affair staged upon a larger scale. City merchants believe Greenville should be the shopping center of Eastern North Carolina, and they are using every influence to make this possible.

CHESS PLAYERS GATHER FOR WESTERN CONGRESS

Chicago, Aug. 10.—(INS)—Several hundred chess players, including scores of nationally and internationally famous masters, will congregate here on August 21 to participate in the Twenty-seventh Annual Congress of the Western Chess Association.

What Causes Divorce.
The Same to Persia.
By ARTHUR BLISSBANE

Yesterday Gabriel d'Annunzio published a self-analysis entitled "Why I Fascinate Women?" He says: "They're bewitched by the divine spirit-firing my soul. When this sublime force fills me, my face blazes with love, and I am transformed into an object of admiration. I beckon to women and they come to me."

Marvelously ugly, completely bald, physically feeble, spiritually a giant. It is pleasant to know that he is happy in old age and that with genius as with the common man, there is no fool like an old fool.

James T. Simpson, of Chicago, head of the Marshall Field Company, sailing for Europe, on Saturday, was cheerful about American business conditions. Nothing short of a national catastrophe could affect our unusually sound and solid prosperity.

Mr. Simpson, whose wholesale department store deals with merchants in every corner of the United States, knows as much as any man about real conditions in this country.

The United States Institute is told that Japan is unable to wage war on the United States. That is exactly what Persia would have been told about Macedonia, about twenty-two hundred and sixty years ago. Macedonia was nothing. The entire fortune of Philip, father of Alexander, amounted to less than the value of the Persian monarch's gold ornaments.

Then Alexander came marching from Macedonia with a handful of men, swam the river, walked through the Persian line of elephants, chased poor Darius to his death, and the youth that all things but himself subdued, made himself ruler of Persia and the rest of the world.

Japan, of course, does not intend to fight the United States. The Japanese are intelligent, but there is a difference between not intending and not being ABLE.

Ten MILLION dollars worth of flying machines with good pilots, could easily do twenty billions worth of damage in the United States, and might compel this country to pay a ransom of fifty billions.

It would pay sleepy Uncle Sam, sitting in his grocery store with gold piled around him, to wake up a minute, rub his eyes and invest some of his money in a fighting air fleet.

President Coolidge understands this well. He knows that HE individually and nobody else, would be held responsible if this country were ever caught unready for attack. That is why he is interested himself in the flying plans of Henry Ford and his son. But, this country is a little too big to depend for its defense on private citizens.

What is it that promotes divorce? The Vassar Institute of Eugenics is told that marrying outside of your own race, Religion is responsible for forty per cent of divorces. Alcohol has caused twenty-five per cent of divorces, the modern kind ought to increase the percentage. Interference by in-laws causes many divorces.

The cause of ALL divorces is human imperfection. Men are not yet fit for marriage. But they must keep on trying until they are fit.

Americans generally are unpopular in Europe. Many deserve it, with their bragging, squandering and provincial ignorance, but that fine girl Gertrude Ederle, who has gone to Germany to visit her grandparents, was not unpopular, after she swam the English Channel. Three thousand British gathered to cheer her, and in France,

DECLARES MEXICO IS IN MIDST OF REFORM PROGRAM

U. S. Commission Declares Present Trouble Due to Effectiveness of Program

Mexico City, Aug. 10.—(AP)—The self-styled "good will mission from the United States to Mexico" which has been studying the religious situation in Mexico is of the opinion that the administration of Calles is engaged in a great program of social reform essential to the welfare of Mexico.

The resolution passed by the mission which is headed by Dr. Alva Taylor, editor of the Christian Century, reads as follows: "We believe a program of education and social reform necessary for the rehabilitation of Mexico. We believe the Calles administration is engaged in a great program of social reform and that all truly interested in the welfare of Mexico will co-operate in its essential undertaking."

The mission obtained directly from President Calles his ideas on their present religious situation. In a statement given out by the mission interviewing both sides the President is quoted as saying: "Mexican government respects all religion equally and gives to all the same protection and liberty."

The President reiterated that the Catholics throughout history had disobeyed the laws and were these of wars, disturbances and bloodshed in Mexico, and declared that the religious laws of Mexico would never be repealed even if the Catholic church "now turned toward the government," but in that even it would be necessary to enforce penalty. The mission said its members have seen no riots nor any signs of riot in Mexico.

Coolidge Says Ambassador Has Nothing Special

Paul Smith, N. Y., Aug. 10.—(AP)—President Coolidge does not understand that Ambassador Sheffield, the American Representative in Mexico will have any direct report to make upon his return to this country this summer beyond those he has already made or would make in the ordinary discharge of his duty.

As a matter of fact it was said at the executive office today Mr. Coolidge has no direct or definite information that Mr. Sheffield is coming to this country this summer, but he has assumed the Ambassador will return for a visit as is the custom of many diplomatic representatives. Whether he will visit the summer White House here Mr. Coolidge has not heard.

As for some published reports that President Coolidge had recently held a telephone conversation on Mexican questions with President Calles, of that country, it was that of course Mr. Coolidge had had no direct communication with Mr. Calles.

Notes are sent by the State Department from time to time to Mexico City, it was said, but the president has no information to any that may have been sent in the immediate past, it was said.

STORE HAS "DATE BOOK"

New Orleans, Aug. 10.—(AP)—A New Orleans department store provides a book, placed just inside the entrance, for memoranda of persons who have appointments to meet friends at the store.

If one finds it necessary to change an appointment, all the details may be noted on the register for the information of those who may read and run. "Could not wait, home for dinner," "Parked car at Canal and Camp," "Tomorrow, same place," were notes on one page.

MISS LUCY CRISP TALKS TO ROTARY CLUB MEMBERS

Falkland Young Woman Tells of Pitt County's Past, Present and Future

Miss Lucy Cherry Crisp, of Falkland, talked to members of the Greenville Rotary club assembled in regular meeting at the Rotary building last night. She used "Pitt County" as her subject, and discussed its past, present and future in a highly illuminating manner.

The session was presided over by Curtis Perkins, in the absence of President Haywood Dail. June Rose started the ball rolling by the singing of Rotary songs. This was followed by supper, the report of committees, and a barrage of oratorical fireworks.

J. E. Winslow, who attended the International convention of Rotary held recently in Denver, Colorado, told of his trip. He said the convention was one of the greatest in years, and that Colorado outdid herself in making their stay a pleasant one.

The matter of extending city power lines to rural communities was brought up by Dave Turnage. He told of what was being done along this line in another part of the state and expressed hope that it would not be long before such would become possible in Pitt county.

M. Swartz, superintendent of the Water and Light Commission told of what Greenville was doing and intended to do in the way of giving the farmer, the advantage of electric service now enjoyed by the city. He said the power lines even now were being extended along the hazy surfaced highways. He said the farmer along these lines were offered every convenience enjoyed by city people.

He also told of some of the ambitions of the department for the future. He declared they had "jumped the fence" in an effort to render service enjoyed by the highest developed communities of the country, and said it would not be many months before this ambition would be realized.

Ed Higgs, a pioneer of Pitt county industry, voiced the need of electrifying the rural territories of the county. He expressed gratification at the progress which had already been made, and urged that it be continued.

June Rose, superintendent of city schools, urged the Rotarians to stand by the Rotary ideal of "service above self."

Bill Lee continued the series of autobiographies dealing with "Who and What I Am." Bill told the story of his life in an interesting way, injecting wit and humor at various turns of the narrative.

Miss Crisp was introduced by J. E. Kittrell, chairman of the entertainment committee. Mr. Kittrell called attention to the fact that she speaker was the author of "By-ways and Hedges" a column carried in the News and Observer on Sunday. He stated that she was a native Pitt county, a daughter of S. M. Crisp, of Falkland.

Following is the outline of Miss Crisp's talk:

Pitt county developments, past and present, with a thought for the future, too.

Early colonization and life of the first settlers of the "Pamlico country." Period of county organization—1760-71, followed by war for American independence; Period of our educational awakening, just prior to the Civil war; period of gradual, slow development after Civil war until the present—railroads, tobacco markets, schools, roads, etc.

CREW PRESENTS STARTLING STORY OF RUM CAPTURE

With the Commander Missing Coast Guard Cutter Enters Jacksonville for Help

Jacksonville, Fla., Aug. 10.—(AP)—With her commander missing and her crew giving a startling account of the capture of an alleged rum running schooner thought to be the Hazel E. Herman, the United States Coast Guard Cutter 202 docked here today and immediately reported to the authorities in order that search might be instituted for the skipper. Boatsman T. L. Coker, commander of the ship, went up in a government sea plane piloted by Captain Geo. Gay yesterday off Fernandina. Members of the crew claimed that Commander Coker declared that he would return in a short while. The plane headed in a northerly direction and has not been heard from since. Members of the crew believed that the machine developed engine trouble and was forced down off the coast.

Rescue Workers May Reach Men Entombed in Mine

Salem, Ky., Aug. 10.—(AP)—Whether life remains in any of the five men trapped last Thursday by a cave-in of the Hudson Mine, is expected to be determined by sundown today.

Two groups of workers are laboring to reach the entombed men. One group is using an amp to remove the water and clear a path to the old shaft into the lateral tunnel. The other group is resorting to the method used at Sanj Cave, Ky., to reach Floyd Collins. A shaft is being sunk to tap the tunnel behind the slide. This shaft has reached a depth of 60 feet and it is estimated the workers must double that distance before breaking through the trap.

Efforts to communicate with the trapped men by tapping on air lines has failed, but compressed air is being forced through the lines, constantly in the hope that the victims are still alive. National guard troops are on duty to keep hundreds of curious people from interfering with the work of the rescue crews.

development of Pitt county; a vision of what we want to make it—a big, congenial community, "where agriculture leads and other arts follow"; definite efforts along agricultural, educational, and spiritual lines.

Two things necessary in Pitt county today; better understanding of the relative value of things—a steadfast determination to place first things in first places here in Pitt county, both as to organizations and as individuals.

WESTERN UNION ASKS FOR THREE N. C. TOLL ZONES

Postal Also Asks to Divide North Carolina Into Three Toll Zones

Raleigh, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Petition to divide the state of North Carolina into three toll zones was made to the Corporation Commission, here today by the Western Union and Postal Telegraph Companies.

Following the reading of the petition, the plaintiffs began to present evidence tending to show they have suffered losses in the operation of their intra-state telegraph business in North Carolina under the flat rate charge.

Under the new system the minimum charge will be 30c for messages of ten words or less between points in any one zone; 30c for messages between points in zones contiguous to one another and 48c for messages between points in non-contiguous zones.

The Western Union presented evidence to the effect that during the year ending December 31, 1925, it suffered losses amounting to $75,000 in North Carolina. The proposed toll system, the company estimates, will increase its revenue approximately $50,000.

The Postal Telegraph & Cable Company testified to a loss of $9,000 on intra-state business during the year 1925. It estimates the new rates would give an increase of $2,000 in revenue over that of last year.

Swimmers Abandon Effort to Cross the English Channel

Dover, England, Aug. 10.—(AP)—George, Michel, of France and Ishak Helmy, of Egypt, today abandoned their attempt to cross the English Channel after swimming from thirteen hours. They started from Cape Gris Nez, France, last night.

SAY, BOYS!

What is the cause of Greenville's material progress? Is it because of our prolific farm lands?

Is it because of the 'never-say-die' spirit of the men and women in our business and financial circles?

They are minor causes. But the main cause is an unbounded faith in ourselves, our country and our God.

Go wherever you will, and when you find a community made up of these kind of people, you can bet your last cent that they are due to stand out prominently in world affairs.

STONE DELIVERS ADDRESS BEFORE STATE FARMERS

Tells Growers That Straight Men Must Be Sent to the Legislature in Future

Salisbury, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Both the farm and the laborer must see to it that only straight men are elected as legislators if the state is to have fair and unbiased legislation, declared R. H. V. Stone, of Greensboro, president of the State Farmers' Union, here this afternoon in an address before the annual meeting of the North Carolina State Federation of Labor.

Speaking before more than 200 labor leaders from throughout the state, at their convention which convened this morning for a three-day session, the president of the Farmers' Union pointed out that the organized farmer and the organized laborer should be allies, pulling together for legislation beneficial to both organizations, and refusing to accept politicians as their law makers who are on the payroll of big concerns desiring legislation favorable to their own interests.

"A legislature that will allow special privileges to none and will provide equal taxation is not impossible," asserted Mr. Stone. "We can have this kind of a legislature if we take an intelligent interest in politics, register, vote and not stay away from the polls."

"We will do well to leave alone the sort of man who is on the payroll of some big concern having special interests in certain legislation. He is not needed as a law maker. He should be at home, working for their concern openly and not under cover."

The organized farmer has become wise to the fact that his prosperity depends upon the prosperity of the laborer, declared the speaker, pointing out that when times are good for the laborer the farmer is benefitted and vice versa.

Minister Held In Liquor Case At Asheville

Asheville, Aug. 10.—(AP)—Fred Cochran, of Chapel Hill, alleged to be a minister who until the first of the year held a charge at Mehans, N. C., was arraigned in police court this morning on a charge of possessing and transporting 22 gallons of liquor.

Cochran was arrested late yesterday after police had found the liquor in an automobile. He at first denied ownership of the car police said, but later admitted bringing the liquor to Asheville. The liquor belong to another man he told police.

It is understood that Cochran has been ill and has papers to enter the United States Veterans' hospital at Oteen. Judgment was withheld at the request of Cochran's counsel, as character witnesses are to be summoned.

HELEN WILLS' TENNIS BONNET TO BRING MUCH BUSINESS TO DOCTORS

Philadelphia, Aug. 10.—(INS)—Helen Wills, American tennis star, has started something in head gear, that according to optometrists, may impair the vision. Miss Wills, appeared on the tennis courts of Caen, Monte Carlo and Nice with a visor which resembled a hat and a parasol and retained the best features of each.

Soon this visor began to be popular and even those who had never played tennis began to wear the new head piece. Now delivery boys, taxi drivers, motorists, and others go about with their faces shaded different colors from the light filtering thru the visors.

Eye specialists here declared that they already have been treating several cases of defective vision which was traced to the continued use of this new head gear.

NORTH CAROLINA—
THE "MODEL STATE
OF THE SOUTH"

There are many reasons
why North Carolina should be called the "model state"
of the south.

But the main reason, according to a citizen of Georgia, who recently visited this state, is our system of hard surfaced roads.

B. B. Ivey, of Macon, was so impressed with his visit that he returned home and granted an interview to his home town paper. And here is what the paper had to say:

"B. B. Ivey returned Wednesday from an automobile trip through North Carolina.
When he was asked about the things which had impressed him most, in view of the fact that North Carolina has been held up so much lately as the model Southern state, his reply was: 'the roads—the roads, first, last and all the time!'"

"Mr. Ivey said the roads
from Macon to Milledgeville were plain old Georgia dirt roads, and that while he was lucky enough to go through in dry weather if it had been raining he almost would have had to give up the trip. After they reached North Carolina the roads were fine, nearly all of them paved, and those which were not paved were gravel roads, which are almost as good, he stated.

"The most impressive
thing about the roads, Mr.
Ivey stated, was the way they were posted. It was practically impossible to get lost. Every telephone pole in the towns has the route number on it. In Georgia towns, he brought out, it is almost impossible to get out of a town because of the lack of signs, without asking directions from people several times. This never happens up there. Besides that, at cross roads on the way, telephone poles are marked down the road after the crossing is passed giving the motorist that "safe feeling which makes him enjoy the trip." All curves are well posted with "Route 22, left turn" or whatever route the tourist happens to be following.
This makes mistakes the least trouble of the trip.

"He saw many other interesting things on the trip.
He went through a cigarette factory, and a county Institute for the Aged and Infirm. This last was something which he thought it would be well for this section to have rather, he believed in a privately owned institution which could be a home for the old and infirm—a place where they would pay to go and would have all the comforts and cares of home."

POVERTY AN INCENTIVE
TO THE SUCCESSFUL

It is no disgrace to be poor in America.

Poverty, instead of being a handicap, is generally an advantage.

Some great writer has said that most of those who have climbed highest on the shining ladder of fame commenced at the lowest round. The lives of those who have most profoundly affected the life of the times in which they lived, were born of humblest parent-age.

And last, but not least,
most of the intellectual giants of the nation were nursed at the sad and loving breast of poverty.

We do not have to do more than peruse the pages of history to find the truth of these assertions. America is made up of men and women who have mounted the shining ladder of fame after a difficult struggle for existence. They were born in the straw-thatched cottages of Europe, in the log houses of America, in the roar and din of industry, and on the verge of want.

This is one of the reasons
we find such a spirit of cordiality existing among the greatest men of the nation.
They are able to appreciate the position of those having a difficult struggle.

They have had an opportunity of testing out life from its every angle. They realize that money and success do not bring happiness.
They have been able at last to discover that real happiness such as every human heart craves, is the result of sacrifice in behalf of others.

Altruism in America is more in evidence today than it ever has been. And it is because those who have risen highest in life are using their every influence in bringing happiness to the less fortunate.

It is this spirit of sacrifice that is doing so much to make this nation the greatest on earth. It is this spirit that is doing so much to revolutionize business, industry, and to bring the people together in behalf of the great cause of human liberty.

The lives of those who have left such an indelible impression upon the "sands of time" are the pride of our people. And they always will be. Not because of what they actually did,
but because they go to show
what may be accomplished in this country by men and women honestly desiring to be of service to civilization.

So we say that instead of being a handicap, poverty is generally an advantage.
The poor, uneducated boy of today may be a man of education and affluence tomorrow. This is a land of millions of opportunities. It is a land where true worth counts in every walk of life;
where men and women win
out through lives of service to others.

12 Expeditions On World Exploration

Chicago, Aug. 9.—(INS)—
From the teeming jungles of Africa and South America to the frigid Arctic Circle, twelve expeditions today are exploring the earth's remote spots under auspices of the Field Museum of Chicago, it was revealed here.

In addition, field work is being carried on in four parts of the United States.

Principal among the Field-sponsored expeditions are the Rawson McMillan Sub-Arctic Expedition which recently was reported approaching Helstadberg, just inside the Arctic Circle.

Donald B. McMillan, famous explorer, is in command of the party, which also includes James C. H. Martens, Cornell University geologist and Alfred C. Wed-and Ashley Hine, scientists.

Three Brazilian expeditions are being carried on under the Field Museum patronage. The Brazilian zoological expedition is under command of M. R. Cherrie whose party includes Mrs. Marshall Field, Karl P. Schmidt and C. C. Sanborn, of the museum.

Dr. B. E. Dahlgren, curator of botany, is heading a botanical expedition to Brazil. This party will explore the upper reaches of the Amazon and some of its tributaries.

Central Africa is being penetrated by the Conover Evarard expedition. This is headed by H. B. Conover, member of the museum staff and its itinerary includes Tanganyika, Uganda and the Upper Nile Region.

COLLINS-SPEAR

Edenton, N. C., Aug. 9.—One of the most interesting weddings of the season took place at the Presbyterian church Sunday morning at nine-thirty o'clock, when Miss Annie Spear, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Spear, of Creswell, N. C., became the bride of Mr. James Edward Collins, of Greenville, N. C. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. T. Wadley, pastor of the church, the ring ceremony being used.

The bride is one of the popular young ladies of Creswell. The bridegroom is a prominent young man of Greenville, being a member of the firm of Turnage & Winslow, Inc., of that city.

Immediately after the marriage the young couple left for Washington, D. C. and other points.

MISS GAYLORD ENTERTAIN IN HONOR OF MISS FLEMING

Last evening at their home on Fourth street, Misses Mattie Moye and Julia Gaylord delightfully entertained at a dinner in honor of Miss Harriet Fleming of Kinston, also celebrating Miss Mattie Moye Gaylord's eleventh birthday.

The table was attractively decorated with yellow flowers and a birthday cake with eleven candles. There were three courses and covers were laid for ten.

SURPRISE BIRTHDAY PARTY

Mrs. Patti Lanier was honor guest at a surprise birthday party last evening at her home on Dickinson Avenue. At eight o'clock Mrs. Lanier's children and a number of friends arrived at her home. A very interesting contest was held, in which Mrs. Douglass Gibson was the successful winner, and was awarded a watermelon.

A tempting ice course was served. The table was very attractive with its birthday cake with sixty-one candles as a centerpiece. Mrs. Lanier was remembered with a number of pretty and useful gifts. The guests departed at a late hour, wishing her many happy returns of the day.

BRIDGE PARTY IN HONOR OF BRIDE-ELECT

Winterville, N. C., Aug. 9.—The home of Mr. Charles McLawhorn, near Winterville, presented a delightful scene this afternoon, when Miss Mary Ida McLawhorn, aided by her sisters, Misses Helen and Leekie, was hostess at a bridge party and dinner in honor of her sister, Miss LaRue McLawhorn, whose marriage to Mr. Obed Castello, of Aulander, is soon to be solemnized.

The guests arrived at 3:30 and took their places, making up four tables. For some time they were busy with cards, conversation, and the delicious white and yellow mints found on the tables, and then the game was interrupted by the arrival of a colored wash lady who bore a huge basket of "wash" and who called insistently for Miss LaRue. The lady of color turned out to be Miss Linda Worthington and her basket contained a miscellaneous shower for the bride-elect. The next few minutes contained many thrills, while the wackages were being opened. Following this, a pretty and delicious salad course with ice cream was served.

The following guests were awarded prizes: Mrs. R. E. Daventon, high score; Mrs. W. A. Forbes, low score; Miss Grace Cox, September bride-elect; and Miss Gertrude Boone, house guest. Other guests were Messdames A. D. McLawhorn, Lloyd Ellis, John R. Carroll, D. T. McLawhorn, and Misses Lina and Cammie Worthington, Beth Carroll, Lillian Rouse, Nannie Loy Tucker, Elizabeth Forbes and Bertha Carroll.

Wheat Pit is Forest of Wigwagging Arms

Chicago, Aug. 10.—(AP)—To see the Roman salute given in all its classic perfection, visit the Chicago Board of Trade. On an exciting day, the crowds of wheat pit really outdo the Fascists.

Especially of late with wheat prices whirling wildly, tourists in Chicago seem never to tire of the picturesque spectacle of a forest of waving arms thrust skyward on "change."

The life-and-death earnestness of the action appears all the more fascinating because of strange accompanying gestures. Their significance is rarely understood by outsiders, but every detail is full of meaning—an indispensable deaf-and-dumb language of the grain trade.

The whole bizarre pantomime—however much it may resemble a salute to Mussolini—is demonstrated by experience to be the best method yet devised for transacting like a flash business that runs daily far up into millions of bushels.

The device is simplicity itself.—A sign manual in which the whole hand displayed vertically means 25,000 bushels, each finger counting as 5,000 bushels. Price in even cents is indicated by the clenched fist held horizontally. Each horizontal finger separately extended represents an added eighth of a cent up to five eighths. The extended hand entirely with the fingers horizontal but close together means three-quarters, and the thumb raised separately is a signal for seven-eighths. Whether the grain is offered or being bid for is shown by a slight motion of the hand to or from the trader himself.

Grotesque as this system may

Missouri Women Voters Studying All Candidates

Columbia, Mo., Aug. 10.—(INS)—The women of Missouri are going to vote in the November election with a definite knowledge of the men and the policies they represent, as a result of the campaign now being waged by the Missouri League of Women Voters, with headquarters here.

Despite the insinuations which have been cast by various politicians to the effect that women are swayed by such considerations as the color of the candidates' eyes, the way he parts his hair, and the romance contained in the sound of his name, and the many more statements that have been made to the effect that women vote from prejudice rather than from knowledge of the character or principle of the candidate, the Missouri women are going to have the low down.

The feminine contingent through the state has been bombarding each other with posters urging:

Look the candidate over, if possible. If he visits your neighborhood and speaks, go to hear him. Whether or not you are thereby much enlightened as to the issues confronting the people, you may be able to size him up, and will certainly receive some impressions as to his personality and calibre.

If you can't hear him, read what he has to say, and if he has a record, find out whether it is good or bad.

Note carefully the crowd he runs with. Who are the people and the forces supporting him. What is the character of the people who oppose him.

Greeks Demanding National Election

Athens, Aug. 10.—(INS)—The demand for a national election is growing daily among the Greeks, especially since the repeated failures of several politicians to form governments without parliamentary majorities but with the dictatorial support of President Pangalos. The present government seems inclined to order an election for fear that it would encourage army cliques to combine and possibly attempt a coupe d'etat.

The president is understood to be willing to order the election if other means to obtain a government fail, but also will support certain changes in the national constitution.

President Pangalos addressed the following notice to the foreign correspondents in Greece:

Now when probably a new government will be formed, it is our intention to restore the old constitution.

stitution as soon as it is able to function smoothly. Orders given by me on January 4, 1920 will be rescinded. The people will be given a chance to decide about the political parties and persons who will govern in the future and also will have an opportunity to change the constitution.

I am convinced that the great majority of Greeks do not want new elections at present but only quiet and order and I also consider the wishes of the minority.

SCHOOL FOR MARRIAGE TO TEACH HOW TO PICK MATES SUCCESSFULLY

San Diego, Cal., Aug. 10.—(INS)—Marriage, the most important event, should not be left to caprice and chance. Mismatched couples are seldom happy, and are rarely successful in business.

With this declaration of principle, Rev. and Mrs. Lawrence Wilson, of a fashionable San Diego church, started a class in marriage with an initial enrollment of 16 girls and 7 young men.

Included in the curriculum of the marriage school will be such subjects as:

Ten rules for a successful marriage. Modern enemies of the home. The deepest basis of attraction. The sanctity of the person. Manly virtues. Symptoms of true love. Spiritual interpretation of sex. Heredity. Differing religious beliefs. Diseases which should bar marriage.

Paris, Aug. 10.—(INS)—There will be no more free days for the foreign tourists who wish to visit the museums of Paris on Thursdays and Sundays when admission, up to this time, has been gratuitous to all. Only Frenchmen who can justify their nationality by official papers will be able to enter without paying the usual two-franc fee.

The new rule seems only just inasmuch as tourists are here for only a short time and should pay their quota toward the upkeep of the museum treasures. In spite of the exchange rates, it has been noticed that foreigners were increasingly making use of "free days" for their visits to the Louvre and other museums.

Besides possessing a pair of million-dollar legs, Mistinguett, the celebrated French music-hall star, is said to own the finest silver service in all France, second only to that of Leon Blum, wealthy Socialist. It is composed of all the knives, forks, spoons, sugar-bowls, creamers etc., which have been presented to her as souvenirs by all rants where she has eaten during her rather long lifetime and in all countries of the globe. Whenever she takes a meal Miss is certain to be offered a piece of silver from the chef de Maison which she the proprietors of famous restaur-accepts with little ado.

Louis Marquis of Clinchy was barred from a swimming competition and in a rage threw himself into the river to prove that he really knew how to swim. He never came up again—that is alive. Crowds on the bridge that had gathered to see the exhibition thought he was only joking and no one dared to dive in to save him. An hour or so later his dead body was washed ashore.

Death and insanity followed behind a hearse taking the body of a working woman to a cemetery on the outskirts of Prague recently. One of the horses drawing the hearse became frightened and plunged into the mourners. One woman was mortally injured, several others were seriously hurt and a few minutes later the grandmother of the woman being brought home on a stretcher believed they were dead and suddenly became insane and attempted to throw herself under a street car.

That the Czar's Daughter is not dead is being proved in a new sensational novel running in a French serial. This is the title of the story which is said will help the interest from beginning to end and prove that statement made in the title. The author is a young Frenchman, Pierre Mariel.

Glorie, beauty, amour-fame, beauty or love—which would you choose if a lovely fairy made an offer of one of these fine days? This is the subject of an interesting questionnaire put before the fair readers of the Paris Intransigant.

In spite of the frivolous reputation of pretty Parisiennes, beauty has not received highest favors, but to be a beautiful little thing in the arms of a lover, what fame equals that? asks Myrjara Harry, renowned French writer who has recently stirred up the Paris critics with her book on Cleopatra.

I do not give such importance to beauty—so fragile and ephemeral, says Rosie of the Dolly Sisters, and since Jenny is always of the same opinion as Rosie that means that they both think love is the only thing that counts and that without it fame is nothing.

Little Cupid comes off with all the honors. Fame and beauty appear desirable only when leading love.

ARMY AND NAVY GO TO COLLEGES FOR AIR PILOTS

Tremendous Development of Coming Years to See Need for Fliers; Services to Ask Schools to Provide Material for Manning Planes

Washington, Aug. 10.—(INS)—The army and navy are going to the American colleges to supply the pilots for the vast fleet of airplanes that will be available under the five-year building program authorized by Congress.

The services will get approximately 3,500 first class, fighting planes. The Navy also is planning to build two dirigibles, each about three times the size of the wrecked Shenandoah.

With the rapid development of commercial aviation, the need for pilots during the next few years will be tremendous. Present facilities are far inadequate for training pilots. In addition, there will be a growing demand for aviation engineers, designers and constructors.

Anticipating this need, the army and navy are going to the colleges for future officers. The present work is handicapped by lack of funds. Each succeeding year, starting at the session in December, will find army and navy heads asking Congress for more money to train college men and reservists. These men will form the backbone of the air force. West Point and Annapolis cannot fill the demand.

Military officials declare that there is a fertile field ahead for youths who will turn to aviation as a profession. The opportunities are as great as civil and mechanical engineering offered to the college man of the last century, when railroad building and construction were in full swing.

Aviation is still a pioneer science. Some aeronautical engineers are not at all convinced that the present type of airplane will fill the need of the future. They say a way must be found to take a plane vertically as well as horizontally. Until this is done the airplane cannot become as universally used in transportation as the automobile, the truck or the railroad. Then there's the question of size, load, safety, etc. The rewards will be rich for the aeronautical leaders, military men say.

In a rather minor way, the army and navy already are developing the college field. There are six army air corps ROTC units in the colleges throughout the country. These have developed a number of men who have qualified as pilots and engineers.

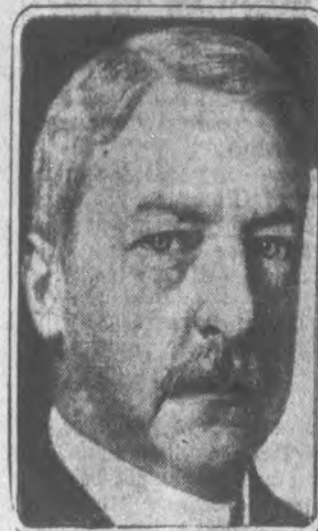

One of the army's prize units is located at the University of Illinois. Last fall, 493 students registered in the course but failure to pass physical examinations and other losses dropped the number to 233 at the end of the year. Major Haxwell Kirby, air service, is the only officer on duty with the unit. He reports that thus far ten students have applied to take the examination for a commission in the regular army.

Major Kirby recommended to the War Department that special attention be paid this year to developing a larger air corps ROTC. The air service has approved the idea and will seek money to carry out the plans.

The Navy likewise is planning to establish air units in various colleges.

Then there is the driver who thinks he has done all that can be expected of him if he blows his horn in your ears just before the collision.—Mobile News-Item.

19 CHURCHES IN LONDON TO GIVE UP TO BUSINESS

If King Approves Bill Sites Will Be Developed for Commercial Purposes; Discussion in Parliament Revealed Inner City Is Over-Churches

London, Aug. 10.—(INS)—Nineteen churches in the square mile of the City of London may be razed to the ground and their sites developed for commercial purposes if a bill which has just passed the Lords and Commons received the Assent of King George.

Strong opposition sentimental grounds has been forthcoming from many quarters against the destruction of the churches, which, although of no great historical value, include five built by Sir Christopher Wren, the famous architect of Saint Paul's Cathedral.

The sites on which the nineteen churches stand are said to be worth about ten million dollars, and this sum will be used by the church for the furtherance of work in other parts of London. The bill was supported by many influential churchmen in the House of Lords.

Speeches during the discussion of the bill in the House of Lords elicited the fact that the main purpose of destroying the churches is to eliminate the unnecessary places of worship and give the City a number of churches commensurate with its population.

Although something like two million people work in the City itself during weekdays, on Sundays there is only a resident population of 13,000 people, with the result that many of the thirty churches at present situated in the city are very sparsely attended, and in some instances the only worshippers have been the minister and choir.

It is proposed that the remaining twenty odd churches in the city shall be divided up into four, with a minister and four attendants over every four, in order to avoid unnecessary expense. Saint Paul's Cathedral itself is within easy walking distance of any part of the city proper, yet even this fine church finds it hard to gather a congregation sufficient to fill the pews immediately facing the altar, although it has an organ among the finest in the world and furnishes some of the foremost preachers in London for its services.

The remains of prominent London citizens buried in the churchyards will be disinterred and removed to other consecrated ground before the churches are destroyed.

"BEAUTIFUL CITY" SUITS ALL TASTES The tastes of movie patrons are varied. Some like romance; others revel in sensational thrills; still others prefer a bit of human life.

All of these classes will find satisfaction in "The Beautiful City," Richard Barthelmess' latest starring vehicle for First National pictures, which comes to White's Theatre Wednesday.

The star's leading woman is Dorothy Gish, others in the cast being William H. Powell, Florence Auer and Frank Puglia.

"The Beautiful City" is based on the original story by Edmund Goulding, and was directed for Inspiration Pictures by Kenneth Webb.

MOUNTAIN MOONSHINER HAS GONE; OUSTED BY CITY BOOTLEGER IN CAR

Asheville, N. C., Aug. 10.—(INS)—Another picturesque figure is passing from the American scene. Exit, Mr. Mountain Moonshiner. Enter: Good roads and automobiles.

It's not the Eighteenth Amendment that has wrought the change in the mountains of North Carolina, dry officers admit; it's the march of progress.

The dry agents admit it's not the mountain moonshiner that's giving them the trouble; it's the town bootlegger with his high-powered motor car, they say.

For the heritage of the hillsman—the eternal right of the mountaineer, as handed down from father to son for time immemorial—has been overcome, and the mountain folks are learning a new trade, or leaving their mountain hovel.

Cheap whiskey concocted by city bootleggers is underselling the mountain dew and the hillsman can't compete any longer with his more efficient brother, according to dry agents.

UNITED STATES TIRES ARE GOOD TIRES

Questions and Answers about "What Makes a Good Tire?"

Question—Does anyone single feature make a good tire?

Answer—No.

Question—Then what does make a good tire?

Answer—The perfection of all the different operations that are necessary in producing the finished product from tree to tire.

Question—As for example?

Answer—The success of the United States Royal Cord Balloon in delivering true balloon cushioning and comfort, and yet giving long-lasting service is largely due to these six important factors:

Plantations

The United States Rubber Company owns and operates scientific Rubber Plantations in Sumatra and Malaya. Has 7,000,000 rubber trees, all yielding latex now, from which this Company produces its Sprayed Rubber and its Latex-treated Web Cord.

Sprayed Rubber

Of the greatest importance, because of its fine quality, and its freedom from acid and smoke. Briefly, the latex is sprayed into a chamber containing hot, dry air, which dries out the liquid from the latex, leaving the pure, solid rubber. This does away with the old methods of smoke-drying and acid coagulation.

Uniform Cotton Cord

To insure absolute uniformity and high quality of the cotton cord used in United States Tires, the United States Rubber Company operates its own cotton mills at Wainsboro, South Carolina. Here the choicest grade cotton is made into cords to meet the rigid requirements of the tire factories where it is used to produce Latex-treated Web Cord.

Latex-treated Web Cord

Also an invention of the United States Rubber technicians. The cords are laid parallel without tie-threads, and soaked in virgin rubber latex, which forms an elastic web through and through and between the cords. Important because it gives the cord structure maximum strength and maximum flexibility.

Flat-Band Method of Building Tires

Do not miss the importance of this revolutionary improvement in tire-building. The way it works is highly technical. But the result is that each cord in a United States Royal Cord is made to lie in exactly the right position, under precisely the right tension, and to take its due share of the work.

Searching Tests from the Tree to the Tire

United States Tire tests begin with the raw materials—and these tests never stop. Many tests are made during the process of manufacture and finished tires undergo various factory tests such as the "Tread Wear Test" illustrated. Even after the tires are sold and in use, their performance on the road is being checked by factory-trained experts stationed all over the country.
