EXPEDITION INTO MEXICO NIPPED IN BUD BY OFFICERS

Expeditionary Force of 150 Men and Quantity of Rifles and Ammunition Taken

San Diego, Cal., Aug. 16.—(AP)—Approximately 150 men mobilized for a Mexican revolution, under the command of General Enrique Estrada, former Mexican Secretary of War, were lodged in prison here last night and a large quantity of arms and ammunition seized by American authorities.

Agents of the United States Department of Justice aided by city, county and other federal officers, captured what was to have been an armed party of invading insurgents, three miles from the Mexican border. Information gathered by government agents led them to the spot in the Imperial Valley where General Estrada and his staff were concentrating their forces preparing to descend upon the towns just below the border.

An armored truck, two ten-ton truck loads of rifles, machine guns and ammunition and other trucks for the transportation of men and supplies and about 150 Mexicans made up the material and personnel of the captured expedition, while government agents also captured documentary evidence and complete sets of plans for the insurrection.

The most important capture was made yesterday afternoon when General Estrada and his staff, including Earle C. Parker, San Diego hardware and arms dealer, were captured and brought into the city, while the munition trucks were captured in the country. The leaders of the expedition, were housed in the county jail while the captured munitions were left on the trucks in the court yard of the jail.

Estrada, who gave himself out as the modest title of civil engineer, was known to the federal agents as General Estrada, one of the leaders of the De La Huerga revolution several years ago and at one time Secretary of War in Mexico and commander of the Vera Cruz district.

General Estrada's chief of staff was General Ze Pulveda, a famous officer of the Mexican army, who said he had been a resident of Los Angeles for two years.

He admitted he had been a general in the Mexican army and was booked in the jail with that title.

While no airplanes were found in the expedition equipment, one of the men was designated as an aviator and chief of the air service. Papers were found on the captured Mexicans indicating that they had been employed and given instructions to gather near Dulzura last night. That the expedition had been carefully organized and was led by expert military men was further emphasized by the identification of Ascension Santana, who had served as a captain in the forces of the late President Carranza. Another supposed leader of the expedition is still at large, according to Department of Justice leaders.

Charges of leading and participating in an armed expedition against a government friendly to the United States, will be preferred against the prisoners to day.

Former County Commissioner Succumbed to Heart Attack; Funeral Be Held Wednesday

Mr. Sellers M. Crisp, 61, prominent farmer and merchant of Falkland and former county commissioner of Pitt county, died suddenly at his home in Falkland early today. NATIONAL POLITICS NOW WARMING UP

Developments Over Week End Show General Increase in Interest Throughout Country

New York, Aug. 16.—(AP)—National politics is warming up in the hot weather season.

A demand that the anti-saloon league be prosecuted, claims that a satisfactory number of dry candidates won in the primary, claims that the Republicans will use Senate control this year and a declaration by Governor Smith to wear himself out with another term as Governor were among week-end developments.

Representative Tinkham, Republican of Massachusetts, demanded in a letter to Attorney General Sargeant, made public in Washington, that the Anti-Saloon League be prosecuted under the corrupt practices act.

Claiming that this "ecclesiastical political organization" has set aside one of the "great constitutional guarantees of American freedom and liberty" the separation of church and state, Mr. Tinkham adds that prosecution of the league, for failure to report political receipts and expenditures or for falsely reporting them, were none, and of league officers, for perjury.

UNION SERVICES AT COURT HOUSE DRAWING CROWDS

Rev. J. E. W. Cook Delivered Inspiring Address to Large Congregation Last Night

In spite of the threatening clouds, a wonderfully large congregation met on the Court House lawn for the Union Service last night.

Professor June Rose led the singing, which was hearty and inspiring. The Rev. L. R. O'Brian read the Scripture lesson from Psalm 107. The Rev. W. S. Harden offered prayer. Prayers were also offered by K. W. Cobb, Wiley Brown, and R. C. Flanagan.

The Rev. James E. W. Cook, of St. Paul's Episcopal Church took as his subject "The Broken Things of Life," and as his text part of the 4th verse of Acts, 27 chapter:

"Some on broken pieces of the ship—escaped—safe to land." With dramatic skill the speaker described the voyage of St. Paul to Rome and his shipwreck at Malta. Then quoting several poets to show that life has always been described as a voyage, he went on to say, in part:

Among "The Broken Things of Life" we think first of broken time. Benjamin Franklin said, "Time is the stuff of life." It is a stuff very easily tattered. When a man is eagerly plying his own work, interruptions are intensely irritating. And one of the lessons everyone must learn who wants to achieve anything in life is how to hold to things through recurring interruptions. That is how the worker comes ashore. That is how the world's work is done: Not by men of an unbroken leisure—unbroken leisure is very rarely fruitful. It is done by men who have to seize their hours; rescue and redeem their opportunities; gather up the fragments that remain.

That gives hope to the majority of us who have so little time to do the things we most desire—"on broken pieces"—we may come "safe to land."

These words, again have comforting suggestion for those who are suffering from broken hearts. If you, my dear reader, are not in that class, you no doubt know many who are physical wrecks. Once they were strong, vigorous and tireless; now they are very easily tired. Once it was a great glad thing to live; now life is rather a burden to be borne. There is so much they would gladly do if they were only able; and they grow bitter over their felt uselessness. Health is a priceless blessing. Rubies and diamonds are nothing to it. Without it, castles and carriages are vanity; with it, the tiniest cottage is a kingdom. But never forget that with a little courage and trust in God, and patient, quiet endurance, you may get ashore "on broken pieces of"

Andrew Mellon, leaving Italy, expresses high admiration for Mussolini's management of Italy's finances. That is the most valuable tribute Mussolini could have. No matter what he may do in other directions, an absolute ruler must manage money well, or he falls. Prudhomme's warning applies to Mussolini, as it did to the Bourbons, and does to this country.

Monarchs are destroyed by poverty, republics by wealth. This republic seems able to stand a good deal of wealth.

COFFIN SAID TO CONTAIN BODY OF KITCHENER EMPTY

Sensation Created When Officials Find Nothing in Coffin Supposed to Contain Body

London, Aug. 16.—(AP)—The British Home Office announced today officially that a packing case recently delivered at Waterloo Station and alleged to contain the body of Lord Kitchener, was found to contain an empty coffin.

After an investigation of the packing case, Chief Constable Wensley and Detective Superintendent Brown, went to the Home Office where they held a lengthy conference with officials and legal advisers.

The case originally was shipped by Frank Powers, a British newspaper man, who announced recently he had found what he believed to be the body of Lord Kitchener on the coast of Norway.

Powers notified Premier Baldwin and said that the next step was up to the government, which hitherto had discredited the finding of the body and the clearing up of the tragic mystery of the sinking of the cruiser Hampshire during the World War.

The coffin was opened this morning under the direction of government officials. The greatest secrecy surrounded the proceedings as far as the public was concerned. A fresh sensation connected with the case developed early this morning when police, who were guarding the casket, were called to search the neighborhood for suspicious burglar. Neighboring residents of the mortuary reported they had seen two men scale the walls of the establishment. A search failed to reveal any intruders.

Scotland Yard officials are seeking to get in touch with Frank Powers. A statement issued by the Home Office follows:

"The packing case alleged to contain a coffin and human remains which on Saturday night was removed by the police from an undertaker's on Waterloo Road, was opened this morning in the presence of Colonel Oddie and Sir Bernard Spilsbury. The packing case was found to contain only an empty coffin. The coffin was new and obviously had not contained human remains."

ONE KILLED ONE HURT AUTO CRASH

Automobile Crashes Into Rear of Truck on Highway Near Charlotte

Charlotte, Aug. 16.—(AP)—One man was killed almost instantly and one perhaps fatally injured today, when an automobile in which they were riding, crashed into the rear of a huge truck. The tragedy occurred on the Concord highway shortly after midnight last night.

Waco Digh, 20, is dead, and Rex West is suffering a fractured skull, broken jaw and other injuries. The third occupant of the car escaped with only minor injuries.

It was explained that the automobile struck the truck when it was seen impossible to turn without colliding with another machine which was approaching.

New York, Aug. 16.—(AP)—Rudolph Valentino, "Sheik" of the movies, who underwent a serious operation last night, was reported on the road to recovery last night.

Hospital physicians were cautious in their statement last night because of the serious nature of the operation—removal of a gastric ulcer, and the appendix, but today they said definitely he was out of danger.

THOUSANDS WILL PAY HOMMAGE TO VIRGINIA DARE

Crowds From All Sections Will Gather to Take Part in Virginia Dare Celebration This Week

Roanoke Island, N. C., Aug. 16. (AP)—Centering around the commemoration of the birth of Virginia Dare, "Homecoming Week" will be celebrated in Dare county this week. Hundreds of former natives, are expected to return for at least a portion of the week of festivities and additional hundreds are expected from all sections of North Carolina for the events of Wednesday. On that day the 339th birthday of Virginia Dare, the first English child born on American soil, will be celebrated.

Sir Esme Howard will be the principal speaker for the Virginia Dare celebration and he will speak from a rostrum under the oaks near to the spot where the baby, Virginia, was christened five days after her birth. The presence of the British Ambassador will mark the first time, in long years that the British government has been represented at the celebration. Sir Esme will arrive here by United States steamer from Washington and will be accompanied by a number of government dignitaries including Congressmen of this state and Virginia, governors or their representatives of Virginia and North Carolina and the officials of the Roanoke Colony Memorial Association. The Right Reverend Joseph B. Cheshire, of Raleigh, Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of North Carolina, will accompany the distinguished gathering and will preside over the ceremonies. He is president of the association.

Virginia Dare was the granddaughter of Governor John White who led Sir Walter Raleigh's ill-fated "Lost Colony." The Governor returned to England a few days after the child's birth and never again, was she seen by any member of his party. When years later after war had separated him from the colony, Governor White returned the colony had disappeared. Tradition has it that the settlers were merged with the Croatan Indians, were massacred in entirety or that some were massacred and their children taken off by the Croatan. No definite trace of the settlement ever was found and history has given it the name of "The Lost Colony." A grim jest of fate in the settling of Roanoke Island was that the colony had been destined to land at the mouth of the James River but plans went awry and the landing was made on the North Carolina coast. A few years later the settlement at Jamestown was made, almost at the spot where Sir Walter Raleigh had intended the Roanoke Island colonists to settle.

The general program of this week will include a varied number of festivities on Roanoke Island at Manteo, the county seat, and on the mainland portion of the county. Preparations have been under way for several weeks and a great week is looked forward to by the natives.

Sir Esme Howard will be introduced by Governor McLean if the Executive is able to be present and will be welcomed to North Carolina. A short speech of welcome also will be made by Congressman Lindsay C. Warren of this district and the man who was responsible for Congress at the last session officially recognizing Fort Raleigh on Roanoke Island as a Federal spot of national interest and granting of an appropriation for its maintenance. The remainder of the program will consist of singing, music and after the set program the entire party will lunch under the old oaks which once sheltered the early settlers of the nation. The close will come late in the afternoon when the entire party will be transported back to the mainland on a government cutter.

SAYS "BOB" DESTROYING FEMININE BEAUTY; BLAMED FOR MOUSTACHES ON WOMEN

Philadelphia, Aug. 16.—(AP)—The local dermatologists and beauty specialists scoff at the theory, made recently by Miss Frances Bartel, secretary of the American Cosmetic Society, that the Botox remedies moustaches, beards and sultry patches on young women's faces. Miss Bartel asserted the job should be done away with as it is destroying feminine beauty.

My experience with women, declared a prominent Philadelphia physician, is that if a woman's heart is set on having her hair bobbed she'll bob it if it kills her. So what's the difference if in two or three generations hence women will all be bearded ladies? The lady with long tresses would clip her hair just the same.

Scientifically no amount of bobbing will produce hair where Nature did not implant it, skin specialists assert.

Cutting the hair strengthens the hair's growth on the head, they say.

There are even a few cases of bearded ladies. But it is utterly improbable and fantastic that two or three generations to come will see the feminine half of the population utilizing the barber shops except to renew the popular bob, one doctor remarked.

Paroles On Merit in Illinois Jails in Future

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 16.—(INS)—Sweeping changes in Illinois' parole system, which has been under fire several times recently, are announced by Hinton G. Claybaugh, named recently by Governor Len Small as head of the state division of pardons and paroles.

Paroles hereafter will be meted out to an inmate of Illinois' penal institutions on a merit basis exclusively, Claybaugh said. The announcement came at a conference between Claybaugh and his assistants at Chicago. The new parole chief was appointed following resignation of Will Colvin, who was under fire at a grand jury investigation in Will County, following escape from Joliet penitentiary of a number of convict, and killing of a deputy warden.

Governor Small has assured me that I am to have a free hand, unhampered by all personal friendships, politics, alliances, or other improper alliances, Claybaugh told his aids.

The board will not act in review of facts passed on by jury or of the sentence imposed. There will be fewer long-winded legal arguments about cases that have been properly tried. Only newly discovered evidence, or circumstances occurring subsequent to conviction will be considered. The only question to be determined by the board is: What merit has the prisoner for parole since his sentence?

No second chance will be given a prisoner who consciously violates his parole, Claybaugh said.

Japan Farmers See Big Yield of Rice This Year

Tokio, Aug. 16.—(INS)—Rice farmers of Japan are smiling this year in anticipation of a record harvest.

Forecast of the Ministry of Agriculture and Forestry, based on reports received from local authorities in the various prefectures and colonies, predict a bumper crop in Japan proper, Korea and Formosa. Since rice is the staple food of Japan and the measure of prosperity for a vast majority of her farmers there is widespread satisfaction over the rice crop outlook.

In view of abundant crop prospects, prices for rice are slightly lower than last year. A contributing factor to this situation is greater importation of rice due to removal of the customs duty. The price of rice on a long term transaction last year was Y44 to Y45 per koku, or about $22.00 for five bushels. This year the price per koku is Y39 to Y40.

The absence of harmful insects which destroy rice plants has been a factor in improving crops this year. Fine growing weather throughout most of July, the important season in the rice fields, also helped the farmers.

Conditions in Korea are reported especially favorable and a crop of more than 5,000,000 koku is predicted. This is an increase of at least 500,000 koku as compared with last year.

“UNCLE JACK” RICE, FAMOUS EXPOUNDER, IS PREPARING TO CELEBRATE 95TH BIRTHDAY

Carlinville, Ill., Aug. 16.—(INS)—In the log cabin which he watched his father build in 1835, J. W. Rice, known in this community as Uncle Jack, once a famed expounder of the Gospel in Illinois, is awaiting his ninety-fifth birthday anniversary.

He lives with his brother and sister, this country. In 1835 T. R. Rice, his wife and three small children migrated from Virginia to Illinois and settled at Rhode's Point, now Medora. After a perilous journey they reached this spot, and logs were hewn from the timber and later clapboards were added to make the place more pretentious. It soon became the rendezvous of stock traders, land prospectors and surveyors. Politicians also gathered there. The log cabin now has been sited and added to, but beneath the veneer of advancing civilization remains the logs, hewn and chinked in long ago. In one side lives Uncle Jack and his sister, Mrs. Emma Van Horbeck, and in the other lives Charles Alice, a brother, and his family.

Uncle Jack, like James Whitcomb Riley's Grandfather Queers, is a most remarkable man for his years. He enjoys good health and is very active, and expects to round out a full 100 years.

SAN FRANCISCO PACIFIC LEAGUES FIND WONDER PITCHER IN INDIAN BOY

San Francisco, Aug. 16.—(INS)—Owners of the Seals, San Francisco Pacific Coast baseball league, believe they have another Bender in the person of Otis Rocky, 19-year-old Indian youth, who has just signed a contract.

So far this season, in semipro ball, Rocky has twirled two no hit games. The young Indian is a strikeout pitcher, often striking down as many as 15 by this route.

FINEST VINTAGE WINES HUNGARY'S LIQUID "ASSETS"

Budapest, Aug. 16.—(AP)—Among Hungary's most valuable "liquid" assets, former Commissioner General Jeremiah Smith found over 10,000,000 bottles of the finest vintage wines, which the government was willing to sell at one fourth their former prices. Among these were a million bottles of the famous Tokay wines, produced only in Hungary which could have been bought for a dollar a bottle.

Before the war Hungary was a great wine producing and consuming country. Its citizens drank freely of the delicate amber colored wine from the slopes of the famed Tokay mountains. But the great war brought an end to all this conviviality, and the average Hungarian is now content to drink beer or even plain water.

BERLIN DANCERS SHOW CHARLESTON MORE FAVOR

Berlin, Aug. 16.—(AP)—The Charleston is just beginning to assume proportions of a ballroom craze in Berlin, one year after being imported from the United States.

The Dancing Masters' Association has announced that the reserve of dancers has at last been broken down and that by Charlestoning they no longer need feel they are putting on "an exhibition performance."

The Charleston is none too popular on the stage. Five hundred members of the Wandervoegel, a New Youth organization, recently precipitated a riot when they demanded that Miss Wicki Werkmeister be "thrown out" for doing the heathen dance. Scores of fist fights developed. Police stopped the show and cleared the theatre.

Daily News Letter

Gossip of Staff Correspondents at World Centers of Population.

Honolulu, Aug. 15.—(INS)—Two glass containers—a fruit jar and a beer bottle—each holding records which give clear title to Kingman's Reef as a possession of the United States have been deposited in the archives of Hawaii by Loran A. Thurston, who laid claim to this islet on behalf of the Federal government, Kingman's Reef is a coral atoll located several days' sailing distance south of Honolulu. Four years ago, Thurston, then on a cruise of the South Seas, came upon Kingman's Reef and knowing that no government has ever laid claim for it, he forthwith pronounced it a part of the United States.

In the cleft of a rock he placed the fruit jar, containing an American flag, a newspaper and a copy of the proclamation of annexation on behalf of the United States. Two years later, W. G. Anderson of this city, visited the reef in his copra schooner and left the beer bottle with records stating that he had found Thurston's papers and reiterating the fact of annexation to the United States. This summer, Thurston returned to the spot as a guest of the U. S. Whippoorwill and the records were officially removed to be brought to Honolulu for deposits in the territorial archives. Thurston, who is a Honolulu publisher, was Minister of the Interior under the Republic of Hawaii.

Japanese residents of the island of Kauai have recently erected a large stone monument in the village of Lihue, in memory of William Hyde Rice, wealthy sugar planter and son of an early missionary family, who died at his home in Lihue some two years ago. The monument is carved from native lava stone and carries in bold relief a striking likeness of the man in honors. Below this on a brass plate are engraved the words, Erected in Loving Memory by his Japanese Friends. It is said that virtually every Japanese in the island, young and old, rich and poor, contributed to the monument fund.

Wild goats are becoming so numerous in the district of Puna, south of the volcano of Kilauea on the island of Hawaii, that a monster goat drive is being arranged by the territorial board of agriculture and forestry.

The goats are said to be rapidly denuding some of the primitive native forests in the district which is always an attractive feature on a drive through that portion of the big island.

Contract has at last been let for the widening of Manoa Hill highway, which is the entrance of automobiles and street cars into the Manoa Valley residential district. With the execution of the contract will go the transplanting of a large part of the famous night-blooming cereus hedge which adorns the stone wall along Punahou College campus. It is a debated question with gardening experts whether or not the old hedge can survive the transplanting. Sentiment in regard to the hedge has been so strong that in spite of the serious congestion of traffic on the hill, the development project has hung fire for two years since it was first authorized by the city supervisors.

The murderer said he committed the crime on a mad impulse, but that did not save him. The jury convicted him on a sane impulse. Capital punishment is out of date, as unworth of modern days as torture by fire or the rack, but in past ages the hangman, headman, all the official killers have done much to improve the human race, by eliminating impulsive killers, and other criminals.

Executioners have been demonstrating Darwin's interesting law of natural selection, selecting for elimination, the worst types. Similarly war, giving the fighters a chance to be killed quickly, has made the race more peaceful. Once almost any man was ready to stab almost any other.

One of the original fundamentalists, Dr. Dieffenback, editor of The Christian Register, tells the Institute of Politics, to forbid the teaching of evolution, because it conflicts with the Bible. Is this same as establishing a religious government, substituting the Bible for the Constitution, as the law of the land.

That is true, but our system of government makes it all right. One state, Tennessee, or Texas, can decide that the teaching of several thousand years ago must prevail today. Another state can decide otherwise.

We have different laws of divorce, capital punishment, insanity, horse-stealing, in different states, and there is no harm in adding different laws on education. If the majority want them. Thus we make interesting experiments locally, and do not harm, nationally.

Bishop Pascual Diaz, Secretary of the Roman Catholic Episcopate of Mexico, replied vigorously to statements by President Calles and the American Good Will Mission, made up of thirty investigating United States citizens. It is not true, the Bishop states, that the Mexican Catholic Church seeks to keep the people in a state of ignorance. To President Calles' accusation that the Catholic clergy are ambitious for power, Bishop Diaz replied that it is not true, and asks, What right has any democratic government to oppose this or that party, in its desire for power?

Now let us go a little deeper from a shattered body to a broken faith. There are many in the world today whose early faith is very sorely shattered. Trained in Christian homes, there was a time when they believed things, or, at least, accepted them. They prayed, they read their Bibles, they attended Sunday School, they went to church. And now the years have gone, and everything is different. The old sweet assurance has departed, and clouds and darkness are around the throne.

Once their faith was like a gallant vessel, with sails set and the flags flying. They thought, once, that they would make the Harbor so—and now that gallant vessel is a wreck.

I wish I could tell all such, earnestly and quietly, because I fervently believe it is true, that "I've broken pieces of the ship" they can make shore.

There are those who make a prosperous and sunny voyage. Their love is burning, and their faith is bright; they live and die in the fullness of assurance.

But I thank God that men can reach the heaven clinging to a spar, for the Lord God is merciful and gracious.

Let these doubters grip Christ, the little bit they know of Him; let them tell Him that they will not let Him go, and He will pluck them out of the deep waters.

And, to close, I apply the words to broken character. They speak of hope to those whose character is sorely broken, and who today are on the margins of despair.

I think of the Prodigal Son in the far country; his conduct had disgraced the name of son. I think of Peter when he denied his Lord and his whole life seemed toppling to ruin. I think of Rahab in her life of sin, that must have crushed all that was fairest in her. I think of the woman who was called Magdalene. Not perfect characters—very far from that; rent and torn by the fury of their passions; characters that sin had battered, as the storm had battered the vessel of St. Paul. And then, thanks to the grace of God that is able to save to the uttermost, on broken pieces of the ship they came ashore. The Prodigal came home again, and there was music and dancing in the house. The Magdalene was drawn out of the mire into the garden of saintly womanhood.

So to those who are in danger of going to pieces morally, I gladly sound out the hope of the text: You may yet be numbered among the "some," who, "on broken pieces of the ship—escaped—safe to land."

DAY LABORER GETS $9,000,000 ESTATE; TO BUILD MARBLE MANSION AT ROANOKE, VA.

Galesburg, Ill., Aug. 16.—(INS)—From an iron worker to owner of a $9,000,000 estate, of coal lands in the Shenandoah valley is the good fortune which has befallen John Cooper, Kewanee, who formerly worked here at day labor. Cooper is leaving for Virginia, but he is not stingy with his good fortune. For with him will go several Kewanee families, all in moderate circumstances, to share in his wealth. They are selling out their property and will join Cooper in his auto caravan to the valley of wealth and affluence in "Ole Virginia."

Cooper has approved plans of architects for a mansion of thirty rooms, to be built of the finest marble, about 30 miles from Roanoke, Va. Less pretentious homes will be built for the families making the trip with him. Mrs. Lorette McReedy Nelson, Cooper's mother-in-law, an aged woman, will have a home in the new palatial residence.

Cooper will be 33 years old September 18 and on that day will come into possession of the vast fortune. Due to a break with his family over religion, the legacy came unexpectedly to him as he believed he would be disinherited. When younger, Cooper rejected the girl his parents wanted him to marry, and then following this renounced the religious faith of his father. That act, he believed, wiped away his chances of inheriting his fortune of his grandmother, Mrs. Mary Bradford. He went to Kewanee in 1911 and later married Opal McReedy, joining another church, in which he became a pillar.

Frank Cooper, his father, married Frances Bradford, daughter of Mary. John was the seventh son. Cutting the father from the will the rich old lady made John the chief beneficiary when he was 7, but as he left home when he was 21 over religious trouble he believed that he had lost all chance of inheriting the estate. The old lady's will will be read September 18 in the offices of Cooper and Bradford, Wilmington attorneys and will disclose the reasons for her leaving the fortune to John.

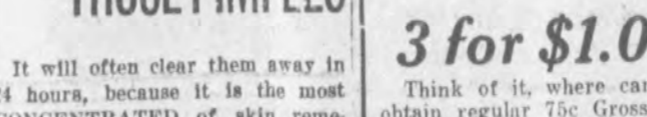

Cooper has promised the Christian Church at Kewanee a new building to cost $250,000.
