GREENVILLE WOMEN LAY CLAIM TO GOOD SHARE $300,000,000 ESTATE

Claiming That She is Neice of Mark Hopkins, Mrs. Laura Edmunds and Two Daughters Seek Share of Fortune

Claiming to be the nearest living relatives of the late Mark and Moses Hopkins, and therefore heirs to the $300,000,000 estate of the late California railroad magnate, Mrs. Laura Edmunds, 83, and her two daughters, Misses Annie and Gattie Edmunds, of this city have employed local counsel, and papers setting forth the claim will be formally filed at once.

Claiming fraud in the settlement and distribution of the Hopkins estate forty years ago, 137 alleged heirs in this state have taken legal steps to have the case reopened and the fortune redistributed among the rightful heirs and a hearing on the matter will be held soon in United States Circuit Court before Judge E. Y. Webb.

Mrs. Edmunds, a native of Martin county, is the only living child of the late John Hopkins, who was brother of Moses and Mark Hopkins. She and her daughters have spent their entire lives in this immediate section of the state and a few months ago moved to this city from Scotland Neck. Living here in needy circumstances, the family seldom if ever read a newspaper and have been uninformed heretofore of the litigation in the matter of the Hopkins estate.

A neighbor, however, who on several occasions had heard the old lady, who now lives much in the past, talk of her early days and of her uncle who went to California in the "gold rush," chanced across a newspaper article referring to the present proceedings regarding the fortune, and immediately carried the information to Mrs. Edmunds. The old lady immediately established her relationship to the late railroad magnate by tracing accurately the family history.

Sweetheart of 30th Division Be at Hickory

Hickory, N. C., Aug. 19.—(AP)—The same entertainer who was with them on the battlefields of France, serving with the American Expeditionary forces as a Y. M. C. A. dancer, and winning for herself the title of the "Sweetheart of the 30th Division," is to appear on the program of the annual convention of the American Legion here August 23 and 24. Bonnie Murray first entertained the 27th and 30th Divisions in the LeMans Area of France.

During the war Miss Murray, in addition to being a Y. M. C. A. entertainer, was a member of the "Over There Theatre League," from New York City. She appeared before thousands of soldiers in England, aboard ships and in France, Sept. and Oct. and on the Northern seas.

The entertainer is personally remembered and known by a great many of the former service men who will attend the convention and she is coming at her own expense to entertain the North Carolina Legionnaires.

TOBACCO OUTLOOK FOR BRIGHT BELT IS ENCOURAGING

Markets of Eastern Section Open September 7; No Co-Op Markets This Year

Raleigh, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Greatly encouraged by the opening prices paid in South Carolina Georgia and the lower North Carolina belt, thousands of farmers of North Carolina will journey to tobacco markets of the state between September 7 and October 5 with their crops of this season. Indications are that North Carolina tobacco has had a good season and that the quality of the weed will be good.

The New Bright or Eastern Belt markets will open on September 7, with the date a little later than that in several places about the belt. The Old Belt markets will begin opening on September 20 and will continue to open through October 5. Ware houses in at least sixteen counties in the New Bright Belt will begin opening September 7 while approximately 12 counties will be represented at the opening of the Old Belt commencing September 20. A number of new warehouses have been added to those of last year.

For the first time in five years there will be no co-operative markets. The Tri State Tobacco Growers Cooperative Marketing Association is in the hands of receivers and the members have been released from the delivery contracts.

Two Tobacco Barns Destroyed By Fire

On Tuesday afternoon, a tobacco barn owned by Mrs. Sarah Whichard was destroyed by fire. A stick of tobacco fell and forward breaking a hole in the flue. The curer immediately went in to put the blaze out, but the instant the air struck it the whole barn was in flames. The contents of the barn belonged to J. P. Moss. Neither the barn nor tobacco were insured.

An hour earlier the same afternoon, a tobacco barn and contents were burned on the farm of Louis Highsmith colored, also in the same neighborhood.

CONVENTION OF RAILROAD MEN OPENS RALEIGH

First Session Brotherhood of Trainmen and Ladies Auxiliary Held Today

Raleigh, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Hundreds of members of the Brotherhood Railway Trainmen and the Ladies Auxiliary of North and South Carolina had registered here by noon today for the annual convention of the Bi-State Booster Association of the organization. The convention opened formally this afternoon with a joint meeting of the two branches.

Among those registering this morning were W. G. Lee, of Cleveland, president of the Grand Lodge of the Brotherhood, whose address will be the feature of tomorrow's activities, and Mrs. Ada B. Marshall, First Grand President of the Auxiliary, who will likewise address the convention tomorrow.

Although Governor T. G. McLeod, of South Carolina, has not yet arrived, C. C. Brooks, secretary of the organization, this morning, said the convention expected him to address an open meeting of the trainmen tonight. Last words from South Carolina's executive said he would be here. In the absence of Governor McLean, A. J. Maxwell, of the State Corporation Commission, will represent the state in an address tonight.

The meeting will be opened by an address of welcome by Mayor Calhoun, of Raleigh, and will be followed by addresses by General Cox, Governor McLeod and Mrs. Maxwell.

Nicaragua to Quell Revolutionary Move

Washington, Aug. 19.—(AP)—The Nicaraguan government is mobilizing and dispatching troops all over the country to suppress revolutionary outbreaks. Lawrence Dennis, the American in charge of affairs at Managua, advised the State Department today.

Mr. Dennis reported that revolutions had broken out apparently in three or four counties and all telegraph wires have been cut and railway operations have come to a stop.

State Department officials have not yet received a reported request for American gunboat protection at Bluefields. If precautionary measures are found necessary for protection for American lives and property, however, adequate action will be taken.

Observers who have kept in close touch with the Nicaraguan situation since the Chamorro faction took over the government in a military coup, feel there is a strong possibility that conditions will be in a more or less turbulent state for some time.

Physicians Attending Screen Star Believe Crisis Was Passed Last Night

New York, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Rudolph Valentino appeared today to have passed the crisis of a dangerous illness that sent him to a hospital Sunday for a double operation. A special medicine was on hand, however, for emergency use if local blood-poisoning should spread. This medicine was sent from Philadelphia by special messenger last night.

The special actor's doctors said he probably would recover unless there were unforeseen developments. Previously they had said local peritonitis poisoning had followed his operation for appendicitis and a gastric ulcer and that he would die if it became general. Valentino yesterday took the first nourishment since his operation.

(Copyright 1926) Think of Your Dollar. Gertrude Says, 'Come On.' Life, Space, Time. No Royal 'Exmo.' By ARTHUR BLISSMAN

'Have you thought about your dollar?'

That question is asked by one of the ablest modern financiers, a young man who has made the old-fashioned money generation sit up. He says:

'We pity France because the franc has fallen, but what about our own dollar, of which we are so proud?'

Isn't a dollar compared with what it was fifteen years ago? It's THIRTY CENTS.

When people say the cost of living has gone up—terribly! they really mean that the value of the dollar has gone down.

Men that tie up real estate in long leases are giving away their equity. What looks like a big rent today will be small ten years hence, the dollar will be worth less, and will be worth more. Money has been going down steadily from the days of Queen Elizabeth, and before, till now.

A President of the United States once complained that you couldn't hire a good man for less than $100 a year. You can't get a good laboring man now for less than fifteen hundred dollars a year. If that's the man it's worth more, but that the dollar is worth less.

Various English newspapers criticize Gertrude Ederle's manner of swimming the channel. They complain that she availed herself of the accompanying tug's protection and swam in the lee of the boat, which broke the force of the current. Being an American swimmer, she probably should have towed the tugboat with her teeth.

Yesterday, Miss Ederle challenged anybody in Europe, man or woman, to a channel swim for a purse of $20,000, and she is ready to swim now. That should clear up the atmosphere and open the road of opportunity for those who think Gertrude cannot swim.

Methodi Popoff, Russian scientist, following the path of Professor Loeb, shows that the eggs of sea urchins can be fertilized and caused to develop by pollen from plants grown in the sunshine. That is an interesting experiment with the mystery of life, but it doesn't help to explain what life is. We know no more about that than our ancestors did one hundred thousand years ago. Herbert Spencer admitted it, after he had spent forty years studying, writing and explaining. We do not understand life, space or time, the only three things that we possess.

An Oxford professor says that the Prince of Wales went through the University without any examinations. 'You couldn't examine a man who would be your king, you know,' said the professor, 'besides someone might be found better than his highness, and that would be embarrassing.'

The professor adds that the Prince of Wales was a conscientious student. He was a fortunate student also. Examinations are harmful, prove nothing, worry students, cause unnecessary strain and compel intensified study which does no good in future years. The ideal school and university will do away with examinations, being content to teach. It is the experience in life, later, that does the examining.

The Bolshevik government decides to solve its problems and get rid of its financial crisis by strict economy. Hundreds of millions of rubles saved in government expenses are to be invested in productive enterprises. Nothing more it seems, can or will be squeezed out of the peasant.

Countries in western Europe will discover after a while that they also must come to strict economy, especially economy in the gigantic cost of keeping ready for more war.

HOLD CARPENDER AND STEVENS IN HALL-MILLS CASE

Pair Held for Grand Jury Charged With Murder of Preacher and Sweetheart

Somerville, N. J., Aug. 19.—(AP)—Henry D. B. Carpende and Willie Stevens were held for the grand jury today on charges of having murdered Rev. Edward W. Hall and Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills.

County Judge Cleary, before whom the hearing began last Friday, said the state had established a prima facie case and one that warranted the attention of the grand jury.

Carpende and Stevens were remanded to jail. State Senator Simpson, special prosecutor, who ordered their arrest, said he planned to call a special grand jury and present to it as soon as possible the evidence on which the two are held.

The regular grand jury is in session and can be called within a few days, but the special prosecutor said he would not present his case to this grand jury because "the members have talked too much about the case."

Simpson also announced that he would move to have revoked the $15,000 bail on which Mrs. Francis Stevens Hall, widow of the slain rector, was released after her arrest on the murder charge.

TWO BOY BANDITS COPY EXPLOITS OF JESSE JAMES GANG

Youth of 14 and 18 Terrorizing the West With Series of Daring Holdups

Pueblo, Colorado, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Two boy bandits, Lester and Forrest Gove, aged 18 and 14, are re-enacting exploits of the Jesse James gang in a series of robberies in this section eluding with apparent ease the half a dozen posses, airplanes equipped with tear gas bombs and scores of volunteer sentries.

The pair recently shot their way to freedom in Garden City, Kansas after being arrested for holding up a filling station and fled into Colorado. Since coming to this state they have held up and robbed a deputy sheriff of his automobile and weapons, 'stuck up' a Y. M. C. A. camp at Rye, a small resort town and so generally terrorized residents at the resort that many of them are closing up their cabins and shortening up their usual summer vacation.

Just when sheriff's forces believed they had cornered the pair in a canyon here last night a large automobile sped through the streets of Rye and from its open windows the boys waved an urchin like greeting to the inhabitants as they sped west.

Where they commanded the machine is a mystery. Ranchers near Rye say it apparently had been placed in a field by friends of the boys to enable them to make their get away. It bore no license tag.

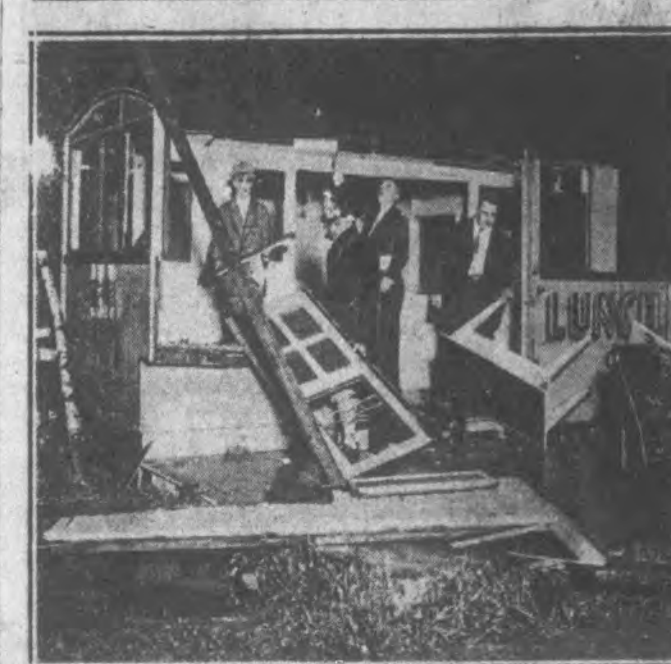

FRENCH APPOINT GUARD FOR UNKNOWN SOLDIER

Paris, Aug. 19.—(AP)—For three years, General Gouraud, President of the Committee of the Flame and the members of the committee, have been trying to have a guardian appointed to watch over the tomb of the Unknown Soldier. A former factory foreman, Gaudin, permanently disabled by the war, finally was appointed to the duty.

He has not taken up his work officially, however, as the question of what uniform he should wear has proved a difficulty.

URGENT CALLES TO SUSPEND PRESENT RULE IN MEXICO

Archbishop Urges Freedom of Thought, Religion, Teaching, Association and Press

Mexico City, Aug. 19.—(AP)—The Most Reverend Mora Y. Del Rio, Archbishop of Mexico, has requested President Calles to suspend the religious regulations which have resulted in the suspension of masses and other ceremonies in Catholic churches throughout Mexico.

Freedom of thought, religion, teaching, association, and the press is sought by the Archbishop who also asks that the church be granted recognition of the necessary personality to make these liberties effective. He writes in the name of Catholic clergy and laymen.

Twenty Mexico City merchants have written President Calles and the Episcopate proposing the government and the Episcopate confer. These letters say that it should be possible to reconcile divergent viewpoints.

In well informed circles the belief is expressed that it is almost certain President Calles will not grant the request of the Episcopate and the merchants.

Archbishop Mora Del Rio says in his letter that he is of the conviction that suspension of the regulations and granting of the freedom and recognition constitute the only way to end the religious conflict.

Aviators Are Forced to Land Here Yesterday

Alton Stewart, flying from Manteo to Raleigh, with pictures for the News and Observer of yesterday's celebration at Roanoke Island, was forced to land here just before nightfall yesterday.

The plane containing Stewart, N. A. Townsend, of Dunn, and Sergeant Hillenbrand, of Fort Bragg, was forced down at Williamson because of a burst water pipe. The break was repaired there and the plane hopped off again only to be forced down here. Before the damage could be repaired again it was too dark to continue the flight so the pictures were sent to Raleigh by automobile.

AS NEW YORK SEES IT

By the Associated Press
The adage that safety lies in numbers is upheld by the declaration of scientists that lower Manhattan, conceded the most 'built up' space on the globe, is the 'safest spot during an electric storm.' Seldom, says New York's weather bureau observers, does lightning cause a death in lower Manhattan.

New York has developed a 'glad hand complex.' The metropolis, now awarded the title 'the greatest port on earth,' has to live up to the reputation for hospitality enjoyed by the whole nation. Royalty, explorers, inventors, conquistadors of sport, princes of the church and celebrities in orders not so holy are welcomed with verve and oclat by bands, flags, ticker tape showers, symphonies and fire tugs spouting water. But New Yorkers do not do it all—delegations from other cities and states frequently participate.

Such is the varied demand for magazines in New York that a stand in one of the large subway terminals, keeps 500 different publications on its racks. Not all are fiction or popular magazines, however. Many of the publications are trade journals with limited circulation.

Enterprising New York bootleggers are soliciting customers by mail. Their mailing lists, however, are limited to persons who have been recommended. One speaksy sent out handsomely engraved invitations. They bore the names of the proprietors, but not their address. On the envelope was a mail return address which led the recipient of an invitation to the residence of a man who would direct him to the location of the speaksy.

It caused a crowd of pedestrians to collect. Policemen, flourishing their night sticks, hurried to see what the trouble was. The gathering crowd caused passing taxis and trucks to swerve to the left. Fingers pointed and eyes, opened in wonder. It was called as 'a sight for sore eyes.' The excitement a lone butterfly can cause at the busy corner of 42nd Street and Lexington avenue.

New Yorkers not only demand that The American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals exterminate their erstwhile pets, but many of them ask to see the bottle, afterwards, and thus assure themselves that Fido was not used for vivisection purposes.

The orient and the south sea lites send strange commodities to the New York port, where daily import lists record the arrival of everything from human hair stumps from Shanghai, to shark meat from the British West Indies.

From distant Singapore comes later, liquid rubber sap. Macassar supplies hair oil, bringing to mind again the days of antiseptics, the dollies grandmother used to use to keep the overstuffed chairs spotless.

Divi divi, and agar agar sound like eastern versions of Walla Walla, but they are, in reality, tropical imports used respectively for tanning processes, and germ cultures.

Jeloutong is the basic component of chewing gum, while the mysterious sounding shuyu, from Yokohama, turns out to be a humble soy bean, used in this country for forage, but used in its indigent habitat as a food.

'Rich man, poor man, beggar man, thief—all meet in Madison Square.

The old Madison Square Garden is gone and its plot soon will hold another skyscraper, but the square with its greenery and trees and fountain still remain. So do its habits.

The small park is laid out with irregular walks beneath the shadow of the Metropolitan Life Building and the benches form continuous rows along the tennis.

Morning and afternoon in warm weather they are packed, while out, hundreds of persons wander about. Prosperity sits next to a man in tatters.

It is the rendezvous of idlers, to a large extent, but it also is the one place of natural relaxation for thousands whose daily lives are spent around the square.

The ancient and honorable game of croquet has come into its own again in the parks of New York. The wicker courts on the velvet lawn of Central Park and Prospect Park, Brooklyn, are largely patronized. It is noticed that middle-aged men and women do most of the mallet swinging. And there is a large gallery.

Expects Tree Rings to Tell Kiva Secrets

Flagstaff, Ariz., Aug. 19.—(AP)—The sciences of astronomy and botany are conspiring to release a secret locked in the decayed heart of an ancient Indian civilization in this region for perhaps hundreds of years.

The secret is the date on which the Indian kivas (sacred chamber) were built, a fact to be learned through a study of solar activity and the growth of the trees.

Dr. E. A. Douglas, director of the Steward Observatory here and professor of astronomy at the University of Arizona, years ago began a study of the rings found in tree trunks with a view, among other things, to determine the age of the kivas. To date he has found recorded in the trees "annual rings" a history of climatic changes over a period of five centuries. This chronicle tallies with astronomical observations of solar activity for the period.

His studies have taken him during the last twenty years to England, Norway, Sweden, Austria, Prussia, Bavaria and the states of Oregon, California and Arizona. His interest in pre-historic ruins was aroused by observation of the climatic conditions under which the yellow pine, common in the western Rockies, was growing.

Much of Dr. Douglas' work has been done in this vicinity because the limited 22 inches of rainfall assured many clear nights and superb skies for astronomical observations. The forest furnished a wealth of material for botanical studies. The critical problems of the tree was to survive periods of drought rather than to compete with other species of plant life in the struggle for existence, and the wax and wane of tree growth is chronicled in the size of the tree trunks.

The greatest drought in this region, Dr. Douglas finds, was from 1573 to 1586, and the tree rings held the record for more than three centuries before man discovered it. However, the biggest drought in the entire southwest occurred during the years 1729 to 1730.

By studying the ringed beams in the kivas of the old Indian ruins of this section, Doctor Douglas believes he will ascertain climatic conditions at the time they were built. Comparison of such data with the records of Arizona trees and of the big Sequoias of California will reveal he hopes, the actual years in which sacred chambers were constructed.

Conceives The Discovery of U. S. By the Vikings

New York, Aug. 19.—(AP)—How the Viking discoverer of America first set foot on the new continent in a freshly painted picture of American history which an author will soon present.

Two sagas after nearly all that history knows of the Norse discovery of North America 500 years before Columbus—the Saga of Eric the Red and the Saga of Thorfinn Karlsefni. Imagination therefore has a place here as handmaid to history, asserts Clara Sharpe Hough, author of "Lief the Lucky," to be published by the Century Company.

In her romance, Mrs. Hough gives this conception of the Norse landing for comparison with the more familiar debarkation of Columbus.

"At sunset the Grey Gull took her way lightly through a surge of breaker to the sandy shore of an island that lay bright with verdure and fragrant after the cold smell of the sea.

"Now the old light was back in Lief Eriksson's blue eyes, as in his damp blue coat, his winged helmet on his head once more, he swung up the shingled incline where no shod foot had ever tracked before.

ENTERTAINS FOR VISITORS

Bethel, Aug. 18.—On Monday night at her home, Miss Ann Jones Manning charmingly entertained in honor of her house guests, Miss Riva Jefferson, of Washington, Miss Nellie Fae Barnhill, of Everetts, Miss Thelma Ross, of Robersonville, and Miss Alma Marks and Miss Francis Hooker of Scotland Neck, who are the house guests of Miss Annie Dare Hooker.

As the guests arrived they were ushered to the punch bowl which was presided over by Misses Thelma Bunting and Fannie Jones Turner. The warm weather was completely forgotten when the strains of music, furnished by the andante Robersonville orchestra, resounded through the spacious halls of the beautiful home. Dancing was then enjoyed until a late hour.

Attractive tables were arranged on the veranda for games. Following the games, an ice course was served in the dining room which was decorated with a profusion of summer flowers.

After the merriment, many of the party motored to Tarboro for the dance there.

The out-of-town visitors beside the house guests enjoying Miss Manning's hospitality, were: Misses Josephine Roberson and Fannie Bonner Pope, of Robersonville, Fannie Jones Turner of Greenville, Messrs. ### RED OAK NEWS

Beginning Aug. 24, Rev. F. L. Fox, of South Carolina, will begin a series of meetings at Red Oak church.

Mr. Fox is well beloved in this community and we gladly welcome him again. This is his third year and although the meetings run in conflict with two others, we are expecting a fair-sized audience.

The following is his program: The sermons preached during this revival will be on the following subjects: The Uniqueness of Jesus; The Surpassing Christ; The Lifting and Drawing of Christ; Except these Bonds; How to Study the Bible; The Ministry of the Twelve Apostles; The Ministry of the Apostles Paul.

In the last two sermons we show who and what the twelve taught also who and what Paul taught, contrasting their ministries.

The Gospel of the Circumcision; The Gospel of the Uncircumcision. In these we show that there are two different Gospels for two different people mentioned in the Scriptures.

Is Man a Free Moral Agent? Together with Christ from Cavalry to Glory; The Citizenship of the Saints; The Evangel of the Glory of Christ. Showing that modern evangelists are robbing Christ of much glory due Him.

Is There an Unpardonable Sin? Are We Justified, or Pardonable? Which? Four Links in God's Sovereignty; Should We Pray the Prayer Commonly Called The Lord's Prayer? God Praying to the Sinner, or the Sinner Praying to God; Paul's Faithful Sayings; Is Paul a Model for Present-day Saints?

A hearty welcome awaits you at all these services. Come and bring your friends and your Bibles. Give the thoughts presented by the evangelist careful and prayerful thought, that this revival result in your good and His Glory.

"Across the Street" Is Beach to Many Chicagoans

Chicago, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Few other cities in the world have such a large bathing beach as Chicago. Just across the street, for countless thousands of bathers, its fifty miles along Lake Michigan bring it almost as close as the bath tub. Doffing street clothes, donning bathing garb, most of Chicago's bathers skip from home to the lake in a very few minutes. There they may taste all the pleasures of a seaside resort, except salt. Extremes of style and color in bathing suits and beach umbrellas meet.

Some days a quarter of a million bathers crowd them, a continually surging panorama of color, hundreds leaving, crossing Michigan avenue or other adjacent Lake side streets, and hundreds of others coming.

Stretching such a great distance along the city's lake front, they offer the poor as well as the rich the joys of bathing. From Chicago's "Little Italy" for instance, it is but a brief trip to a northside beach, and on the south side the beaches lie very close to the humbler homes.

'Napoleon House' Site Been Offered For Apartments

New Orleans, Aug. 19.—(AP)—A real estate sign on "Napoleon House" in Charles street, announces that it is for sale. It is suggested that "distinctive apartments may be made in the imposing three story building in which are many wonders including marble mantels. There is a court in the rear, the sign says, and the lot measures 46 frontage with 120 feet depth.

Napoleon House was never occupied by the Little Corporal but it was through no fault of his New Orleans friends that he never saw the beautiful building so elaborately furnished for him in the Vieux Carre.

After the downfall of the Corsican, Nicholas Girod built and furnished the house and with French friends here planned to rescue the emperor from St. Helena. Captain Bossier was engaged to act as captain of the expedition with Dominique You, as associate of Jean Lafitte, the pirate as first lieutenant. Three days before the Seraphine, Bossier's ship, was to sail for St. Helena, news came of the death of Napoleon.

The house has stood wasting away the splendor of its furnishings for more than 100 years.

OLD MAN THIRST STATUTE IN PUBLIC SQUARE BOOMS SOFT DRINK BY SUGGESTION

San Francisco, Aug. 19.—(INS)—With the return of the statue of Old Man Thirst to his pedestal in Washington Square, the power of suggestion, according to North merchants, legitimate and otherwise is once more substantiated.

The statue portraying a man drinking from his cupped hands was removed from the square three years ago to make room for a safety station. Then the drinking men ceased to drink, the merchants nearby claimed. The suggestive statue is back again and business in the soft drink parlors is again on the upgrade.

Bulb Industry In This State Very Promising

Raleigh, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Four million North Carolina narcissus bulbs have been quarantined.

This information is released in figures estimated by the State Department of Agriculture and prepared for a report to the federal government. The quarantine was recently placed on bulbs grown for commercial purposes with a view to stopping traffic between states in diseased roots and under directions of Washington officials, R. W. Leiby, entomologist for the State Department of Agriculture, has just completed an inspection of all bulb beds in the state.

The inspection was made with a view to finding out how the bulbs may be best fertilized, cultivated and cured of pests which are diseasing the beds. The growth of bulbs has even been taken up by state test farms and the plant is being studied closely.

By placing the quarantine, it is said, assures for North Carolina, a successful bulb industry. Growers have found the industry profitable and have been held up only because of disease pests.

The bulb industry in North Carolina is three years old. It was found that Eastern North Carolina could grow bulbs firmer than those coming from Holland and France, say entomologists of the state, and every precaution is being taken to foster the growth of good bulbs.

GIRL SIGNS LUNACY BILL AGAINST SELF TO PROVE SHE IS NOT A 'N U T'

Los Angeles, Aug. 19.—(INS)—Called a "nut" by her companions because of her conduct at beach resorts, Katie Mae Smith, 26, signed an insanity complaint against herself just to prove she was rational.

The county lunacy commission after a thorough examination, found her perfectly sane and she was released on order of Judge Walter S. Gates.

As a matter of assurance, however, she was paroled to a member of the county psychopathic commission.

Rural Library Help to Farm Residents

Pea Ridge, N. C., Aug. 19.—(AP)—A young woman with a buggy full of books may be seen leaving the little mission here almost every morning of the week and returning late in the afternoon with her load of books materially lighter. The woman is Mrs. K. de Volotton, wife of the rector of the mission, and she has introduced books into homes where they had never been before.

Mr. Volotton is the latest recruit of the State Library Commission which is using this means of distributing books in the county. She is the wife of the rector of the small mission at Pea Ridge and has established a small library there. A few weeks ago when Mrs. Lillian B. Griggs, secretary of the Library Commission, was in the county, she talked with Mrs. Volotton who was delighted to hear of the traveling library service of the Commission. She offered to take some of the books, distribute them through the surrounding country and personally attend to their collection and return.

Mrs. Griggs was delighted to have her aid.

DENTON'S QUESTION BIRD

My husband says medicine is for women and children—not for men! C.O.
Answer:—He's likely to change his mind if he gets a real stiff pain!

When you hear a grown up man explaining that medicine is for the women and kids just keep your eye on him for a while until you see him attacked by some wee pain that a woman would laugh at and you'll see him hot-footing it for a doctor or for this drug store. We know because we get a pain ourselves occasionally and we take our own medicine.

Almost every day there are hundreds of automobiles bearing licenses from various cities and states on our streets. Are you, as a citizen of Greenville, helping to make these many visitors feel that they are welcome and that in truth we are living up to our slogan of "Our Greenville, Yours If You Come?"

There is at present much activity in the tobacco section of the city in the form of cleaning up and putting on the finishing touches for the opening of what no doubt, will be the best season in the history of the Greenville Tobacco Market.

If the cutting up of our paved streets continues, a few years hence we will be needing a bond issue to repave our town.

Whether or not the Franklin county gold mining project pans out profitably we still insist that there is gold in North Carolina soil.

SCHOOLS NOT WAITING With several of the schools in various sections of the state already open and all the schools of the state scheduled to begin their fall terms within the next three weeks, the State Board of Education so far has failed to bring about a reduction in school book prices to the level of Tennessee prices.

Movie Cartoons Require Large Production Staff New York, Aug. 19.—(AP)—An animated cartoon comedy, requiring seven minutes to screen requires fifteen artists working two weeks to produce.

Commenting on the delay in action, the News and Observer says: "While the action of the State Board of Education on the price of school books which are now selling at a lower price in Tennessee than in North Carolina, seems to await on the return of Governor McLean from his vacation in Wisconsin, it is pertinent to remark that the opening of the schools will not wait. With the opening of the schools will come the necessity for the purchase of school books by North Carolina fathers and mothers at a higher price than the same books are sold in Tennessee. With the opening of schools and the purchase of these books the wrong which is about to be practiced on the school children of North Carolina will have been consummated.

"Now is the time for the Board of Education to act in the interest of these children and not in the perpetuation of a contractual technicality which instead of representing a point of honor to be observed, tears the heart out of the spirit and purpose of the contract. This spirit, this purpose is that of the North Carolina school children shall have school books as cheaply as the children of any other State purchasing the same books from the same publishers.

"Why wait on the Governor?"

State Women Seeking Four Leading Artists

Philadelphia, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Preeminence in art, literature, music and civics among women will be recognized and honored by the states' committee of the women's board of the Sesqui-Centennial celebration.

The governor of every state, aided by two selected women, will represent his state in the women's committee, has been asked to name the four women who have done most in these fields in his commonwealth. These women, it is planned, will be guests of the Sesqui and the women's board during the period set aside to honor their respective states. In this connection, the states' committee is organizing a calendar of 'State Days.'

Those who represent the best in art, civics, music and literature in a certain state will be honorary hostesses on the day celebrated by their state. Special honors will be bestowed on the four women by their respective states, as a part of the State Day ceremonies.

State Days for a dozen states already have been fixed and a dozen more have been tentatively agreed on. The District of Columbia and Alaska also will participate, it is planned.

The assembling of a set of 'peace flags' from the various states which participate in the Sesqui, also has been planned. The first two flags of the set have been received by the women of the State Roof House, which is headquarters of the states' committee of the women's board. Hawaii and the state of Ohio have celebrated their days and have presented flags representing each. The flags all are to be of uniform size and material and will later be presented to the 'City of Philadelphia.'

These state days have been determined. Maryland, August 27; Pennsylvania, August 30; New Jersey, August 31; California, September 3; Delaware, September 20; Massachusetts, September 27; Colorado, September 29; North Carolina, October 6; Tennessee, October 7; Virginia, October 12; New York, October 18; South Carolina, November 10.

Movie Cartoons Require Large Production Staff

New York, Aug. 19.—(AP)—An animated cartoon comedy, requiring seven minutes to screen requires fifteen artists working two weeks to produce.

Pat Sullivan, creator of Felix the Cat, said that each reel of 500 or 600 feet needs from 5,000 to 9,000 separate drawings, while the artist's capacity must be from 100 to 200 drawings a day.

"I make the basic drawings and outline the story, but the bulk of the work must be done by fourteen other artists or animators," Sullivan said. "Every drawing first is done in pencil on transparent paper which is held on a drawing board by two pegs. A drawing completed, the artist fits another sheet of paper on the board and draws the next position, changing the figure to suit the action."

The drawings are then copied on celluloid and the 'blacks' denoting clothing filled in.

When the drawings are completed the pictures are photographed in sequence according to a carefully prepared chart which shows the exact timing. Twelve to fifteen days are required for the photographing.

The detail of the drawing is illustrated by the requirement of forty figures to make a figure cross the street in the picture with the object moving one-fourth of an inch at each step.

When she left her real estate business to support Anna Q. Nilsson in 'The Masked Woman,' the actress-real estate broker employed a force of business managers and assistants to control her affairs so money making might not interfere with picture making.

The national parks in their natural coloring will be the background for Tom Mix in his future pictures, photographed in technicolor.

This was decided after Mix had traveled through the western preserves, studying the possibilities of color photography and also the present conditions under which tourists must hurry through the beauty spots on abbreviated vacations, missing many of the most significant.

When 'The Black Diamond Express' is released by Warner Brothers it will be the second picture of that name shown in the movies. The other was among the first motion picture films ever made, being produced in the late '90s. This picture, founded on the historic train, will include a strip from the original production which was only a photograph of the moving train.

Each time a book is pictured, motion picture fans rush to read it.

Marian Fox, head of the research department of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has discovered that after the filming of stories taken from novels, stores and libraries report increased demand for the books. Old time classics, filmed, come in for renewed favor, it was found.

A new record for motion picture rights to a novel was established when Samuel Goldwyn, dean of Los Angeles producers, disclosed that he had paid Harold Bell Wright $125,000 for the film rights to 'The Winning of Barbara Worth.'

Although he said his friends thought him crazy, Mr. Goldwyn said:

'If it had been offered to me as an original story I would have bought it. As an original it was worth perhaps $10,000. But it was worth $125,000 because it had been ready by approximately 10,000,000 persons.'

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has developed a 'deteriorating department' where new furniture, and even pots and pans, are given the requisite wear and tear to make them in keeping with the story.

Colored motion pictures will comprise three-fourths of all films in five years, believes Dr. Herbert T. Kalmus, recently director of electro-chemistry and metallurgy for the Canadian government.

Dr. Kalmus, now president of the Technicolor Motion Picture Company based his prediction on the present development of color photography, which he said had eliminated the more glaring colors. He asserted that colored pictures now stand out so prominently only because the audience are not used to them.

WILD ANIMALS INTERFERE WITH GOLF IN RHODESIA

Bulawayo, British South Africa, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Wild animals from the jungles have been hindering golf in Rhodesia. Sharpshooters have been posted on some of the links with the view of shooting away the pesky beasts.

At the Winkie course a Rhinoceros has been appearing as a natural hazard, much to the discouragement of the players, while two lions have been seen frequently about the links at Bieria. One of these was afterwards shot by the men on outpost duty.

Between Beira and Dondon two grown elephants and a baby elephant tramped onto the main railway line and nearly wrecked a train. One of the animals was killed and the elephant catcher of the locomotive was smashed.

GOOD TELEPHONE SERVICE

The following record will no doubt be of interest to the public generally, and one of which the local telephone exchange ought to feel very proud. At 3:10 P. M., Wednesday, August 18th, I gave the operator a person to person call to St. Louis, Mo. At 3:41 P. M. we were connected with the party at St. Louis and talked three minutes without interruption.

To pass a call from Greenville, N. C., to St. Louis, Mo., in the short time of 31 minutes is a record which would be hard to equal, and is evidence of the good service given by the local exchange.

Love Scenes' Background Must Be Kept Harmony

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 19.—(AP)—The old fashioned parlor with puritanical atmosphere is no place to stage a modern love scene, even in a picture film.

The background for a scene embracing amorous liberties must be in sophisticated harmony not to offend picture audiences.

Coarse, boorish love in a castle would appear ludicrous on the screen, said Charles Cadwallader, art director at the Metropolitan studios here. A specific form of love scene in the films loses much of its suggestion when it is made secondary to a room design that is ultra-daring.

American audiences have come to a point where they accept certain types of love as being possible only in a distinctive environment, he added.

Seek Commercial Value of Forest Leaf Litter Now

Minneapolis, Aug. 19.—(AP)—Science, prying into the secrets of the big woods, is going to determine the commercial value of leaf litter in dollars and cents. Dr. Raphael Zon, director of the Lake States Forest Service, is collaborating with University of Minnesota experts in the study of the results will be used as still another argument for greater efforts toward fire prevention since fire destroys leaf litter, thus robbing the trees of needed nutrition.

Removal of the test litter from a section of Minnesota coniferous forests was made in a 30 year old stand of mixed Norway and jack pine. Burlap, treated to make it durable, was laid on the forest floor covering three plots of one twentieth of an acre each.

The harvest of dead pine needles was dried, first in the open and then in an oven. From this Dr. Zon estimated that for an entire year about one ton of needles will fall to the ground in the jack pine and a ton and a quarter in the red pine.

It was found that a ton of dry leaf litter per acre can hold a ton and a half of water by its own absorption. The scientists also were able to tell the length of time since the last fire swept over the test plot.

Now the specialists will determine chemically the amounts of such elements as calcium, potas-

Daily News Letter

Paris, Aug. 19.—(INS)—That pretty girls make the best sellers, is the opinion of all French employers.

This means especially when the buyers are men. But in any case, a pretty woman in a business house is said to exert an extraordinary influence upon the sales and for this reason, there should always be one on the premises.

The owner of one of the largest automobile garages in Paris has one of the prettiest and fairest women of the capital in his 'Maison.' She is distinguished, elegant and genteel. The proprietor employs her under the title of secretary, but she has never written a word on the type writer and doesn't know any shorthand. Officially, she does not sell anything. Unofficially, she makes the largest sales of any employee in the house.

She wanders about the building smiling at one client and speaks with another. In her hand she plays with a little mirror, supposedly for her own use. The client looks at it and always buys one. Another day she will be fingering little boxes of polish, saying she uses it for her nails. She often sells four at a time. She plays distractedly with the stopper of a radiator, the latest model, and sells eight or ten per month.

The automobiles in my garage look like the finest on sale in the shops. They're all trimmed up like Christmas trees and this pretty woman is the cause of it. Says the proprietor, 'Nobody can resist her lovely eyes. Between two automobiles, one of second-class quality and another of the first, she will always decide the client for the latter. She only has to murmur, 'Oh, Monsieur, your car is dirty, and the order will at once be given to have it cleaned up, he said.

Paris can't get away from the ticket mania. Ticket tickers everywhere. In fact, one could scarcely believe that there was place for another ticket in the French capital, when someone recently came along and started the movement for autobus tickets.

This ticket, however, would really be a good one and as a matter of fact would only mean replacing one for another. Instead of the cumbersome system now in use, each passenger buying a ticket according to the distance he is travelling, and the conductor carrying about his awkward sack, making change, etc., there will be a system of books of tickets which are bought before boarding the vehicle. If perchance, the passenger forgets his ticket he may ask to buy one of his fellow passengers or procure one from the conductor, but this is at a little higher price.

Paris certainly uses more paper for tickets than any other city in the world. If you want to take a street-car, get a ticket. There are little packets of them at every stopping place, a ticket for every car that passes. A car comes along, the conductor calls out the numbers and that ticket is finished, but another soon takes its place.

'Punch in the presence of the passenger,' wrote Mark Twain when he came to Paris many years ago. He would write the same thing today: 'A buff-strip slip for a two-cent fare. 'A pink-strip slip for a three-cent fare. 'A blue-strip slip for a four-cent fare. 'Punch in the presence of the passenger.'

Before you board an autobus, get a ticket. There are tickets in front of one and tickets behind one. If you prefer the subway, get a ticket. First class are pink and second are green.

of violence. Samuel Insull of Chicago sets a good example to husbands. He married a young woman, an actress of great talent. Her son is grown up and in business with his father. She doesn't want to sit with folded hands and watch the procession go by, wasting her talent. Her husband, wise man, leases a theatre, and Mrs. Insull will have her stock company and produce plays of merit. She will be IN BUSINESS, in her line, as her husband is in business in his line. His being money and industry, her being art and culture, and they will both be happy. Wise Mr. Insull.

In many public schools radios will be installed, and free lectures, many tiresome and boring, will be curtailed. That's a step in the direction of common sense. With the radio the most interesting lecturer with something to say, knowing how to interest young minds, can be engaged to talk to a million school children. One great service of the radio will be the elimination of second-class ability, and the substitution for it of real power everywhere.

Find Laziness Student's Vice and Frankness Virtue

Philadelphia, Aug. 19.—(AP)—'Laziness' was termed the principal vice of modern high school pupils and 'frankness' their outstanding virtue in a symposium on secondary education taken among teachers from fourteen states, attending summer sessions at the University of Pennsylvania. Ninety-five percent of the educators noted an increasing tendency to shift too much of the burden of child training from the home to the school. Half of the teachers declared there was too much parental devotion to outside interests, such as social activities and politics. The teachers likewise criticized their own shortcomings. Many deplore what they described as a disposition on the part of some members of their profession to view it merely as a stepping stone.

Of the teachers experienced in both rural and city schools, 75 per cent said they found rural pupils more obedient and anxious to learn than those in the city, but 45 per cent expressed a preference for rural teaching.

Missouri Drys In Stiff Fight on Referendum

St. Louis, Aug. 19.—(INS)—Following the claims of the 'wet' forces in Missouri of having scored a great victory in nominating both Democratic and Republican candidates for the United States Senate who were opposed by the 'dry' forces, the latter forces will concentrate their efforts in opposing the prohibition repeal referendum at the November election. The first concerted move in the campaign of the 'dry' has been announced in the calling of a meeting at Jefferson City for September 2 for the purpose of protesting against the state dry law proposal.

The call is made by a state-wide committee styled as being composed of members active in the prohibition movement and of others opposed to the proposed repeal. Accompanying the call was a statement in which it declared the move to 'surrendering' the state to moonshiners, bootleggers and their associates in crime. Appended to the call is a list of 250 names which include Governor Samuel A. Baker and three former governors of Missouri—Arthur M. Hyde, Elliott W. Major and

A. M. Dockery. The committee's statement attacks the repeal movement bitterly, terming it an indirect attack on the constitution of the United States by withdrawal of the state's support from the enforcement of prohibition. The meeting and statement is expected to draw the fire from the Association Opposed to the Prohibition Amendment which was active in the recent Missouri primary.

WOMEN MAY NOW SMOKE ON WHITE STAR LINERS

New York, Aug. 19.—(INS)—Another barrier has gone down before the onslaught of modern women. The 'no smoking' sign, applying to women passengers only, has vanished from the smoking rooms of the White Star liners. The liner Homeric was the first vessel to observe the new ruling. Women passengers discovered the new regulation when the ship sailed out of New York for Europe recently. No time was lost in taking advantage of the liberty granted.

SHIP REPORTERS FIND NOTABLES IN 3RD CLASS

New York, Aug. 19.—(INS)—Ship reporters no longer confine their quest for travelling notables to the first class passenger lists. Third class or 'tourist' cabins, now carry persons who figure in the day's news. Professor Raymond M. Weaver, assistant professor of English at Columbia University in New York was discovered in a third class cabin of the White Star liner Homeric when it sailed for Europe recently. 'I'm saving money this way so that I may take an automobile tour while abroad,' Professor Weaver explained.

BLACK AND GRAY AWFULLY SMART HOLLYWOOD VIEW

Los Angeles, Aug. 19.—(INS)—What is a smart combination for fall wear? Black and gray, declares Joan Crawford, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer actress. I have just bought a street frock of black Elizabeth crepe, with a hip length bodice and skirt made entirely of panels. There is a wide berthe of the same material in gray. This is trimmed with silver buttons. The cuffs are also of the gray and the panels on the skirt are piped with the same color. Black is awfully smart, but it's often too harsh next to a youthful face. The gray has a wonderfully softening effect, declared Miss Crawford.

"NEWS and PROGRESS" No. 4 ECONOMIC SIGNIFICANCE AND SERVICE OF THE AMERICAN NEWSPAPER AND NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING—From latest volume in Manhattan Library of Popular Economics, republished in serial form through courtesy of Bank of the Manhattan Company, New York.

THE MODERN MARKET PLACE WHEN a carrier leaves a paper on a doorstep, it may not occur to him that he is playing a part in the economic life of his town, but so it is, for to each individual subscriber he is really delivering the market place of the community. How many carriers, how many readers even, would recognize their familiar newspaper under such a title? Yet such it literally is. Perhaps few people have stopped to think how completely the newspaper has become the market place of the community, bringing to all a knowledge of available goods and services. In fair and stormy weather this market place comes to the buyer in the form of news—news of what to buy and why, where to buy and when, and how much to pay. Follow a newspaper into any home. Here are gathered the members of the family circle—father, mother and children. Within a few hours each will read it and for each there must be that which he is most interested in reading. Every editor knows this; every successful editor makes provision for it. To address each little audience with its special tastes he sets forth an extensive bill of fare. In it are political and financial news, foreign cables, a woman's page, news of sports, society items, literary and amusement reviews, science, comedy and what-not besides. To this wealth of information each member of the family will respond and each in his peculiar way. Only to one part of the newspaper will there be any degree of common response because that part has a universal appeal. Yet curiously enough it is the one part which was not directed by the editor, prepared by any of his writers, or received in any of his reports. That part is the advertising columns. In these, could the editor view the reception of the paper, he would find that the advertisers—were supplementing his labors by providing for tastes and needs outside his province. It is really not fanciful to say that in these advertisers the paper has acquired a number of new department editors. Each one presents the subject he best understands—the offerings of his own business. Such 'editors' have the largest possible motive to make their announcements interesting, for their own money is at stake in each issue. But even more than this their reputation as well as that of the paper itself is at stake. When an advertiser resorts to misrepresentation of his goods or services he reflects not only upon the integrity of the paper which contains his advertising but shakes the confidence of the public in the announcements of his fellow-advertisers. It is for this reason that responsible publishers and advertisers alike are today found marching together at the head of that great public movement which has for its watchword: "Truth in Advertising." Regarded from an economic standpoint the newspaper has become the market place of the community. "shoppers," the total volume and value of such saving mounts to enormous figures. But that is not all. As the market place of the community the newspaper not only saves the time of the buying public, but, paradoxical as it may seem it makes it possible for the merchant to lower the selling price of his goods and at the same time increase his own profits. As was demonstrated during the newspaper strike in New York, when the newspaper market place fails, the volume of buying rapidly decreases. But the merchant's expenses for overhead, such as rent, interest, salaries and other fixed charges continues whether the volume of sales is large or small. In the latter event, what is known as the "turn-over" is slowed up, which means that the merchant's stock of goods is sold more slowly. The inevitable result is either loss of profits for the merchant or increased prices for the customer. Who, then, pays for the advertising? In a sense, nobody, for advertising pays for itself. It should not be measured in terms of costs, but in terms of time saved and of new wealth created through increased production. In this its magic consists (Next article, "Selling Service and Ideals.")
