DANIELS SPEAKS TO LEGIONNAIRES HICKORY TODAY

Says Victorious Nations in World War as Great Losers As Were the Defeated Ones

Hickory, N. C., Aug. 24.—(AP)—The World War was fought under the Great Illusion that the victorious nation would emerge from the conflict less ravaged and less broken economically than the defeated forces, declared Josephus Daniels, war secretary of the navy, in an address here today before the 8th annual convention of the North Carolina Department of the American Legion and the Women's Auxiliary. Post-war conditions, he said, offer proof enough of the falsity of the supposition that "plenty and peace and happiness come to the victors of a mighty struggle at arms."

Naval and Army officials before the war, he asserted, thought Norman Angell, the man who first contended "that in any war of the future the victor would reap no more benefits than the vanquished," was a dreamer. They laughed at his suggestion and termed it "absurd."

"If you should today embark with Europe as your destination what panorama would your eyes behold as you sailed in aeroplanes over the nations engaged in that titanic struggle? Grave on grave," continued the former secretary of the navy, "in scores of cemeteries would mark how blood was poured out by millions sacrificed by a Great Illusion. You would see lands still sodden and desolate by the ravages of war in France and Belgium where the hell of war flamed. In Flanders Field, in parts of France and elsewhere you would find poppies growing where you then saw ragged devastation in 1918. But as your craft carried you beyond the Rhine and into the German and Austrian countries, you would see no trace of destruction of houses or the demolition of great industrial plants.

"If you were a visitor from Mars and someone should tell you that bloody war raged from the Mediterranean to the North Sea over all that terrain, which

Many Autos Enter Pike's Peak Climb

Colorado Springs, Colo., Aug. 24.—(INS)—With indications pointing to the largest entry list in its history, the eighth annual Pike's Peak Hill Climbing contest for automobiles will be staged on Labor Day, September 6, under the auspices of the Pike's Peak Automobile Highway Association.

The thrilling race, over the world's greatest highway to the summit of Pike's Peak, is contested annually for the Spencer Penrose Trophy and cash prizes totaling $2,000.

The Penrose trophy is awarded to the winner for one year. It is an immense antique silver cup secured by Penrose in England.

The course, approximately 12 miles, up the side of the mountain, around numerous hairpin curves, is the most picturesque auto race track in the world. It is a double track boulevard, 20 to 50 feet wide.

The race is annually witnessed by thousands of spectators who can look down thousands of feet to the starting point and watch the speed demons climb the rock-walled peak and race on to its snow-capped summit above the clouds.

The road this year is reported in better condition than ever.

The contest is conducted under the sanction and rules of the American Automobile Association.

Among the early entries to be received is that of Charles H. Meyers, who took first place last year in a Chandler. He will drive a Studebaker special this year.

Glen Schultz, widely known western auto racer, is also entered in his Stutz Special, which won second place last year.

All the problems were solved on gags. What we are hunting now is solutions to the solution. —Lake and Ledger.

Girls, Get Married.
A New Quinine.
Picking Bootleggers.
No Fear of Death.
By ARTHUR BLISSBANE

Rosamond Pinchot, daughter of Anson R. E. Pinchot, niece of the Governor of Pennsylvania, retires from the stage. Her father, who has common sense, allowed her to act and she had great success in "The Miracle." No longer interested in acting, the earnest young woman is "looking for serious work."

She will find the best kind in matrimony. Tall, fair and as Nordic as Eric the Red, this young lady should realize that to remain unmarried is a crime.

What would Bertha, of "The Snows of Yesterday," amount to if she hadn't created Charlemagne? Who would know Nancy Hanks if she were not the mother of Abraham Lincoln, or poor Abrotonon, if her Thracian blood, Celtic undoubtedly, had not produced Themistocles?

Young ladies, act, dance, sing, run for office, fly, shoot lions in Africa, if you must. But GET MARRIED and have children.

German science asserts that a new drug called "Germanin" is absolutely certain cure for malaria. Tests in Africa where malaria ruins the lives of millions—as it does in the United States—show complete cures.

The new coal tar product will be a blessing to humanity, specifics of materia medica, has saved entire nations from extinction.

Some believe that the downfall of Rome was due, not to dissipation and the blows of invading Barbarians, but to the bites of home-grown mosquitoes.

Quinine was introduced into Europe by Jesuit missionaries from South America, who got it from natives of Peru. It was named for the Countess of Cinchon, cured by it.

Many conservative doctors bitterly opposed its use. And many earnest Protestants denounced quinine as "an invention of the devil," because Catholic missionaries had introduced it.

This, as the late Andrew W. White, great President of Cornell University, tells you, happened about 1653, when Hoffman was attempting to give a scientific theory of the action of the devil in causing his boils.

Neither Hoffman, Job or the devil, probably ever heard of streptococci.

Will Rogers, in London, tells Adolph S. Ochs, "You can pick an American bootlegger out of a crowd. He will be the one that is sober."

In old saloon days you could pick the owner of the saloon in the same way, also his bartender. Those that drank what they sold soon lost the saloon or the bartending job.

13,000 British coal miners yesterday returned to work with the old wages and a seven and one half hour day. This probably means complete triumph in the coal strike for Premier Baldwin and organized capital. The latter has been generally triumphant since the war.

War tres men, breaks their will. Money doesn't get tired.

The British government's suggestion that the miners should work eight hours and get more pay seemed reasonable to prosperous Britishers, and Americans too. That would die in six months if they had to work in a coal mine four hours a day. Seven hours underground is harder than ten hours in the sunlight.

American tourists traveling "far to admire and for to see," also to visit dressmakers, milliners and get away from prohibition, spent in France last year $226,100,000—a great deal of money and REAL MONEY. It would be a pity if misunderstandings about debt that may never be paid should make Americans so uncomfortable as to cut off that yearly tribute to the French dressmaking industry. We want France to prosper, and it is pleasant to have Americans leaving hundreds of millions in France bringing back information.

MOORE'S CREEK BATTLE GROUND GIVEN TO NATION

Hundreds Present for Celebration of First Decisive Victory of the Revolution

Moore's Creek Bridge, N. C., Aug. 24.—(AP)—Major General Johnston Hagood, Commandant of the Fourth Corps Area, Mrs. Alfred J. Brousseau, President-General of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution, and a host of other notables participated here today in the celebration of the 150th anniversary of the Revolutionary Battle of Moore's Creek Bridge. General Hagood acted on behalf of the Federal government the grant of a 30-acre tract of land which is to be made into a federal park. The General spoke briefly as the representative of the War Department, on the patriotism of the earlier settlers of the country which had made possible the republic and "especially on the courage of those who fought at Moore's Creek Bridge and those broke the backbone of the Tory movement in North Carolina."

Others on the program who delivered addresses during the celebration included Representative Abernethy of North Carolina, who sponsored the bill authorizing acceptance of the tract for a national park, and Senator Ovrman, who obtained passage of the bill in the Senate. Mrs. Brousseau also spoke as the representative of the D. A. R., which sponsored the celebration.

The celebration came to a close this afternoon with the serving of a basket lunch to those present.

Moore's Creek Bridge (Pender County), N. C., Aug. 24.—(AP)—"To rob the young of hero worship is just as cruel as to wantonly destroy the beautiful myth of Santa Claus," declared Mrs. Alfred J. Brousseau, Greenville, Conn., President-General of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution, speaking here today at the dedication of the Moore's Creek battleground as a National park.

The speaker flayed the modern realists who maintain that the heroes of the past are being clothed with false sentimentality and who insist upon "de-bunking American history."

"Truth never has and never will be submerged beneath any halo of romance or the glimmer of golden deeds, for ultimately experience teaches life's true distinctions," she declared.

"North Carolina is the Alpha and Omega of the American Revolution," Mrs. Brousseau stated in bringing out the historical significance of the Moore's Creek battle, which she characterized as lending major impetus to the beginning of the colonies' struggle for freedom.

Telling briefly of the efforts that led to the success in having the site of the "first victory of the Revolution" made into a National park, Mrs. Brousseau also related accomplishments of the Daughters of the Revolution in marking other historically significant sites.

During the past year, she said, 1,271 such spots have been restored or reclaimed at a cost of $133,661.12. Of this number, 61 were in North Carolina.

Mrs. Brousseau laid emphasis upon this year, the 150th anniversary.

Pressmen's Union Elects Officers

Pressmen's Home, Tenn., Aug. 24.—(AP)—Installation of officers to serve for the next two years was the first business undertaken by the 31st biennial convention of the International Pressmen and Assistant Union of North America today, after the formal dedication of the world war soldiers' memorial chapel yesterday.

The present officers were re-elected by a referendum vote taken in February 1926. Major George L. Berry, was re-elected president and at the end of his term will have held this office for 21 consecutive years.

SITUATION IN MEXICO IS NOW AT STANDSTILL

Peace Might Follow Conferences Between President Calles and Church Heads

Mexico City, Aug. 24.—(AP)—The controversy between the government and the Catholic church over the execution of the religious provisions of the constitution again is at a standstill.

There were expectations that peace might follow the conference of President Calles and Bishop Eliz, secretary of the Episcopate, and Archbishop Flores which was declared by the prelate to have been a "truly satisfactory." The Episcopate has decided, however, not to resume church services, for the time being. Meanwhile, the economic boycott will remain in force and the church leaders will continue to formulate plans for bringing the religious controversy before Congress, in a hope of securing an amendment to the constitution which will prove satisfactory to the church.

No date has been set for a further conference between the prelate and President Calles and there seems some uncertainty as to whether they will meet again.

Goldsboro Man Elected President Water Works Asso.

Wilmington, Aug. 24.—(AP)—C. M. Grantham, city manager of Goldsboro, today was elected President of the North Carolina Section of the American Water Works Association, and Durham was selected for next convention city.

Other officers elected were O. E. Rhyne, of Gastonia, Vice President; H. G. Baitv, of the North Carolina Board of Health at Chapel Hill as Secretary.

Delegates today resumed discussion of matters affecting the water supply of various cities of the state and gave study to most improved methods of overcoming such difficulties.

Several Injured In Crowds Seeking See Body Valentino

New York, Aug. 24.—(AP)—A number of persons, including three women and three policemen were injured this afternoon in a panic among the thousands of persons standing in the rain at 66th street and Broadway in front of a funeral church, waiting to view the body of Rudolph Valentino.

WILSON MAN HELD WITHOUT BAIL FOR DOUBLE MURDER

Alvestus Ayers Killed Wife and Her Father at Latter's Home Early Today

Wilson, Aug. 24.—(AP)—Alvestus Ayers, is held without bond on a charge of slaying his wife, Mrs. Bertha Ayers, 30, and her father, William D. Starling, 55, at the Starling home this morning.

A coroner's inquest into the double murder is expected this afternoon. Ayers, it was said, had threatened to kill someone yesterday, and after going to bed arose shortly before midnight, went to his home two blocks away and secured his gun and returned and killed his wife and her father. Immediately after the shooting occurred the police were notified and the two mortally wounded victims carried to the hospital where emergency operations proved fruitless. Ayers was immediately arrested.

The "Million Dollar" Defense

The holding of Willie Stevens and Henry de la B. Carpenden for the Hall-Mills murder caused attorneys representing them and Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall to hold this tense courtroom conference.

SHERIFF JACKSON RETURNS TO CITY

A. C. Jackson, deposed sheriff of Pitt County, arrived in this city early today after an absence of several weeks.

Early in July, during his absence from the city, Jackson was temporarily removed from the office of sheriff by Judge R. A. Nunn on petition of the Pitt County Board of Commissioners, who charged irregular handling of county funds. The hearing of impeachment proceedings were set for yesterday's session of civil court. Jackson failed to appear when the case was called and Judge N. A. Sinclair signed an order making the temporary removal from office permanent.

When interviewed today, Mr. Jackson stated that at present he had no statement to make for publication. He stated, however, that he would give a full statement to the press within the next few days.

SENATOR FERNALD CLAIMED BY DEATH

West Poland, Maine, Aug. 24.—(AP)—Bert M. Fernald, a poor farmer's son, who overcame childhood physical infirmities and rose to wealth and a United States Senatorship, is dead.

Senator Fernald, a former Republican Governor, died yesterday afternoon after two weeks' illness from heart disease and complications. He was 68 years old. The funeral will be held Thursday.

Former Republican Governor Died Yesterday Following Two Weeks' Illness

West Poland, Maine, Aug. 24.—(AP)—Bert M. Fernald, a poor farmer's son, who overcame childhood physical infirmities and rose to wealth and a United States Senatorship, is dead.

KANSAS SHERIFF SAYS HE NEVER FINDS BOOZE AND BIBLE SAME HOUSE

Topeka, Kan., Aug. 24.—(INS)—You will never find booze and the Bible in the same house in Kansas. That was the message Sheriff Arthur Hamm, of Jefferson county brought to the congregation of the Euclid Avenue Methodist Church in Topeka.

DENOUNCES LEGION FUNERAL SERVICES FOR DRUNKENNESS FOR MOVIE ACTOR AT CONVENTIONS BE HELD MONDAY

North Carolina Department Chaplain Declares Some of Conventions Are a "Disgrace"

Hickory, Aug. 24.—(AP)—Declaring that some of the American Legion conventions are a "disgrace" because of the "vast amount of drunkenness," Department Chaplain R. E. Gribbin, of Winston-Salem, strongly denounced the use of liquors here today when he arose to deliver his annual report.

"If the preamble to the American Legion Constitution declaring that the order exists for 'God and Country' is bunk and bull, then it should be thrown away," he said. The crowded hall shook for several minutes with wild applause and shouts.

ROTARY CLUBS TO HOLD JOINT MEET MOREHEAD BLUFFS

A joint meeting of the Pitt County Rotary Clubs and the Morehead, New Bern, Washington and other clubs of this section will be held at Morehead Bluffs on Thursday evening, September 2, if plans discussed last night at the meeting of the Greenville Rotary Club are carried out. The matter was discussed thoroughly and a committee was appointed to make arrangements for the meeting and extend an invitation to the other clubs to take part in the affair.

With the exception of the discussion of the above last night's program consisted principally of routine matters and several short talks.

W. Z. Morton, delivered the fourth of a series of talks by the different members on the subject, "Who I Am, What I Am." These talks are proving very interesting and helps the members to get something of the early life of their fellow Rotarians.

The feature address of the evening was by Rotarian Billie Brunson, of the Ayden club, who talked on the "Exemplification of Rotary." He urged that the members not only practice the ideals of Rotary in their meetings but to live the same ideals in their daily lives and thereby bring to the world the real significance of Rotary.

J. B. Pierce, also of the Ayden Club, delivered a short talk.

CURE CANCER IN SLEEP BY USE OF VIOLET RAY SAYS BRIT. PROFESSOR

Dover, Eng., Aug. 24.—(INS)—Cancer can be cured during sleep by means of the "violet ray" in solution form is the assertion of Professor Barton Scammell of the radio institute of Dover.

Cancer is caused by a deterioration of the blood, owing to a deficiency in the body of the radioactive alkaline elements, says Professor Scammell.

The administration of these elements in solution form restores the proportion of red corpuscles in the blood, and while the sufferer sleeps the natural recuperative powers of the body attack the found-to which cancer can be compared—and gradually heal it.

These elements enable the cells of the body to breathe, to continue oxidation, the life process without death ensues.

Cancer, or cancer is anaerobic—a process of decay without oxygen. A close analogy to cancer is that of a bruise on an apple, the part being unable to oxidize and therefore decaying.

In persons suffering from cancer there is a marked deficiency of these radio-active elements.

Professor Swardmaker stated that these elements are vital to life; that in the human body 80,000 tiny explosions take place every second, due to the radial activity of these elements, continued Professor Scammell.

Body of Rudolph Valentino to Be Placed in Woodlawn Cemetery Pending Arrival of Brother

New York, Aug. 24.—(AP)—The funeral of Rudolph Valentino will be held at ten o'clock on Monday morning, from St. Malachi's church on West 49th street. Following this service the body will be taken to a receiving vault at Woodlawn Cemetery, if Valentino's brother has not yet arrived from abroad.

New York, Aug. 24.—(AP)—Rudolph Valentino wanted to die young and today the body of the 31 year old "perfect lover" of the screen lay in an undertaker's parlor, the magnet for a crowd that blocked traffic. Funeral plans are awaiting the arrival from Italy of his brother.

From his native Italy to Los Angeles the capital of filmdom, tribute flowed in to the dead actor who came to America practically penniless, got a job as a gardener, and last year earned and spent a million dollars.

John W. Considine, producer of his pictures, said in Los Angeles, "Valentino several times remarked to me 'I shall die young, I know it, and I shall not be sorry. I would hate to live to be an old man.'"

Italian admirers in Los Angeles have started a movement to fund to erect a monument to the screen star. Polo Negri, who announced some time ago that she expected to become his third wife, is prostrated. Charles Byton, of Los Angeles, a mutual friend of Valentino and the Polish actor, says the wedding was set as soon after January 1 as their motion picture work would permit.

Marian Benda, the Folie girl, who was Valentino's companion in New York the evening before he went to the hospital for the operation which preceded his death, said Valentino had no intention of remarrying. "He was said Miss Benda. "You will notice that all of the statements have come from her. He never denied any of them because he was too fine. He did think a great deal of her."

Valentino died of septic poisoning that entered his heart and lungs. Internal disorder, which brought about his death, began six weeks ago, physician said. Rumors that there were other factors in his death were vigorously denied.

One estimate is that Valentino left an estate of $750,000. Joseph H. Schneck, head of the United Artist Film Corporation, said Valentino had spent practically every cent of the $1,000,000 he made last year under his contract, which called for a salary of $200,000 and one fourth of the gross from his pictures. Reports that his life was insured for a million dollars in favor of Mrs. Schneck, were declared erroneous. He was insured for $500,000 in favor of the company.

AUSTRIAN POSTAL SERVICE IS IMPROVED OVER YEAR

Vienna, Aug. 23.—(INS)—The Austrian postal service is more efficient today with 35 per cent less employees than it was in the year 1920, says a departmental report. When the League of Nations insisted that the government rid itself of thousands of unneeded wage earners as the initial step toward monetary stability, the postal department was attacked first. Altogether 16,777 postal employees have been discharged from the former 40,000 employed.

The work of the department has increased it is shown during this period which has not hindered the establishment of the best postal service in the Balkans.

Moscow, Aug. 23.—(INS)—A large electrical power station will be constructed by Russian engineers in Herat, in the northern part of Afghanistan, according to the terms of a contract just concluded here between the Russian Chamber of Eastern Commerce, and a group of Afghan merchants.

IF THEY ARE TO SUCCEED

When a child enters school naturally the parents wish the child to be a leader in his or her class or at least to be among the leaders, and yet in many cases, the child is not given a fair opportunity to do this and usually it is the parents' fault. If a growing child is not physically fit he or she cannot be expected to stand the strain of the school-room nor meet the mental test.

With the opening of the city schools only two weeks off, the school authorities are urging all parents to have the health of the children looked after before the opening date. Every child who has not attended school before must be vaccinated for small pox before he or she can enter. Parents who have not had their children vaccinated are urged to do so at once in order that the children may get over their sore arms before school starts. Adenoids, tonsils, and teeth should also come in for their share of attention before the child enters school this year. A child suffering from adenoid or tonsil trouble has not the vitality needed to bring him or her up to standard in the school room and children not physically fit to meet the requirements are not only unable to keep up themselves, but are a drawback to the entire class.

Parents should remember that a weak body will eventually draw a strong mind to the lower level and they should see to it that their children are made as physically fit as possible before sending them to school this fall.

ANOTHER VICTORY

The Pitt County Highway Commission on yesterday won another victory in Superior Court here. The controversy was one of many growing out of certain lands used by the commission in straightening out the road right-of-ways in order to give the county the most advantageous road system possible. In every case of this kind that has come before the court it was found that the commission had acted for the benefit of the people of the county as a whole and each case has had the same result. There is only one more such case pending and no doubt when this is heard the outcome will be the same as in former cases. The men who compose the commission are doing their duty as they see it in the interest of the county and are not trying to infringe upon the individual rights of any of its citizens.

A GREAT HELP

To know one better is to avoid misunderstanding and disagreement and the movement fostered by the local Rotary club for more get-together meetings with clubs of surrounding towns will mean much toward the bringing together of the people of Eastern North Carolina and the building of a better understanding between the people of this section. With the advent of the automobile and the hard surfaced highways the age of a city or town living to itself is past. What we do affects those who live about us and what they do affects us and this getting together for fellowship and the exchange of ideas and an insight into the other fellow's point of view means much to the upbuilding of the entire eastern section of the state. It is to be hoped that this fellowship between the towns will continue on an ever growing scale.

REALM OF SPORTS

By the Associated Press
Old Promoter's Troubles
Old timers at El Paso opine that Tex Rickard did not have any trouble at all in getting set for the proposed Dempsey-Tunney fight compared with what promoter Dan Stuart went through to stage the Peter Maher-Job Fitzsimmons bout here in 1896.

Texas Rangers were dispatched to El Paso, the Arizona national guard mobilized, federal and state officers centered in Las Cruces, New Mexico, 45 miles northeast of here, and Mexican troops sent to Juarez to put a quietus on this fight.

There was no padding the gloves used by Maher and Fitzsimmons. They fought stripped to the waist and virtually bare fisted.

Promoter Stuart announced that his bout would be held February 14 but, like Rickard, he wasn't quite certain where, except that it would be near El Paso. Citizens here raised a purse of $10,000, which was big money in those days.

Then a little group of local preachers got busy. T. B. Catron, territorial delegate from New Mexico was induced to rush a bill through Congress barring prize fights in the territories of the United States and the District of Columbia. It was signed by the President.

Four days before the fight was to take place Adj. Gen. Thomas Mabry arrived here with 12 Rangers. He conferred with Governor Thornton of New Mexico, who was here to do what he could to prevent the bout being held in his state. Two other troops of Rangers came during the next two days.

Gov. Ahumada with 150 cavalrymen reached Juarez February 12; Governor Hughes of Arizona ordered the state militia companies in Tucson, Phoenix and Nogales to be ready to entrain for San San Simon, where it was rumored the fight might be held.

Then notice was suddenly given that a special train was ready. Three hundred people boarded it. It went east and stopped near Langtry, Texas. A platform had been hurriedly constructed on the Mexican side of the Rio Grande. The song clanged and the battle was on. It lasted exactly one minute and twenty seconds.

Jai-Alai Grows

An international jai-alai circuit, with frontons in Spain, Cuba, and the United States, for the playing of the so-called "world's fastest game," is being developed here by the South Florida Amusement Company.

Five years ago jai-alai was introduced at Fronton Hialeah, a specially constructed court at Hialeah, an amusement-residential community near Miami.

Jai-alai is played with curved bats which appear somewhat like tennis rackets, across a net, the object of the player being to catch and throw the ball back and forth without dropping it to the ground.

Joaquin Nrestararu, director general of the organization, is on a tour of Spain and Cuba to recruit a number of young players for the string of frontons. The contestants for the most part range in age from nineteen to twenty-five years, speed being a principal requisite among the youths.

Britton Comes Back

Jack Britton, former welter-weight boxing champion of the world, cherishes the hope of regaining his lost crown, now reposing on the brow of Pete Latzo, the Scranton miner.

Britton has come out of retirement after an absence of more than a year from the ring. He outpointed Red McLaughlin at Miami, in a 10-round decision match on August 2. Known in private life as William Jr. Beslin, he virtually retired in June, 1925, when he suffered a broken bone in his hand.

British Pro Qualifying

The system of qualifying by section for the British open golf championship, tried this year in line with the American system, has not worked out to the satisfaction of the majority of English professionals. At least there is a strong sentiment among them for a return to the method of two qualifying rounds by all entrants on links adjacent to the course on which the year's championship is played.

A change was suggested, however, in that the qualifying number be fixed at 100 any who may tie for the hundredth place, instead of eighty, as before.

Boston Cops Offer Plenty of Blood to Save Comrade

Boston, Aug. 21.—(INS)—Word came from the City Hospital that a blood transfusion was necessary to save the life of Police Sergeant John J. Flynn.

Every policeman attached to the City Point station, South Boston, frons rank to file, offered their blood to save their comrade's life. When the call came for blood every man in the station was ready. Lieut. Sweeney got the first chance to volunteer when he received notification from the hospital that the sergeant was in a serious condition and new blood was needed.

"I'll be right over," he said, but before hanging up was convinced that the doctors must make their own selection.

"All right," said the lieutenant, "send your doctor over and we'll have plenty ready."

He was good as his word. As each patrolman pulled his box the situation was explained. A rush to the station house began and in a few minutes the entire district was barren of policemen except for the snurdroom at the station house. Here the officers assembled and underwent physical examination, each hoping to be the "lucky one."

Patrolman Theodore Belton was the "lucky one." He was selected by the physician.

If Belton's blood doesn't put the sergeant on the road to recovery several gallons more await his needs.

THRILLS APLENTY IN NEW LAROCQUE FILM "RED DICE"

A strange bargain which links a promise of death within a year with a $100,000 life insurance policy; a marriage of convenience; a part of the program, which unites two unwilling people to suit the whims of the master mind of a huge rum ring; the later awakening of a love between the two and the thwarting of a villain's well-laid plans.

Such is the gist of the swinging melodramatic plot of "Red Dice" in which Rod LaRoque is starring and which comes to White's Theatre, Wednesday.

William K. Howard, who directed such successful productions as "The Thundering Herd," "Code of the West" and others, directed the picture.

Even a ground in Germany, said Mr. Daniels, the people would be found to be going about their business, having suffered no loss of property, paying small taxes, compared with payments in adjacent nations, and favored separate treaties and other evidences of assistance from the government of the United States. Although, he continued, sad women were seen mourning for their dead, "you would return to your far away home to report that every indication pointed to the fact that in the World War Germany had emerged with evidence of little loss except the men who fell in the struggle." In France, he pointed out, it would be found that American money was repairing the Cathedral at Rheims, and that those factories being restored only by borrowed money.

nations," formed "under specific covenants"—in short, without the League of Nations.

Continuing, the former secretary, pointed out that "it is idle for us to dream that nations will not disagree or that in supreme misunderstandings will not provide a forum in which to settle their disputes. The final arbiter in all ages was the one resorted to in 1914-18. It will be resorted to again unless a better one can be provided. It cannot be provided by any alliances or entree or balance of powers. It must be a world wide association or great and small nations, animated by the resolve and power to pass upon controverted claims as a Supreme Court determines the rights of individuals. In my judgment the League of Nations is the answer—it affords the forum. Unless that or a better substitute is found to prevent war, it is a shadowy and hopeless illusion to suppose that war can be prevented by any or all of the half-baked and small measures which have raised the hopes for six years.

"The only substitute for war is a forum where justice resides, and the duty of America in 1926 is to lead for the attainment of the only possible substitute for war—an Association of Nations."

Gossip of Staff Correspondents at World Centers of Population.

Los Angeles, Aug. 24.—(INS)—Jacqueline Logan, former Ziegfeld dancer, will play Mary Magdalene in Cecil B. DeMille's picture of the life of Christ, "The King of Kings."

The role is one of the most difficult an actress has ever attempted or, as DeMille himself pointed out, no greater extremes of character can be imagined than Mary Magdalene, wanton, voluptuous and sinful, the toast of Jerusalem; and Mary Magdalene after her conversion, humble, sorrowing, penitent, and spiritually beautiful. Screen tests convince me Miss Logan is thirty different actresses were taken, and as many more were considered, but DeMille himself felt unable to make a decision. The director then asked Jesse Lasky and Samuel Goldwyn, rival producers; Sid Grauman, movie showman; Jennie Macpherson, scenario writer; Bruce Barton, famous essayist; Mrs. Lasky and Mrs. Barton to help him. Miss Logan was then selected. She is a native of Texas, and was educated there and in Colorado.

The romantic and colorful life of Jennie Lind, the "Swedish Nightingale," and the idol of the civilized world in 1850, is to be filmed.

Irving Thalberg, associate executive of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, is authority for the announcement that an original story of the beautiful singer is now being prepared for the screen.

Jennie Lind was brought to America by P. T. Barnum, the greatest showman of the Nineteenth Century. An actress to play the role of Jennie Lind has not yet been selected.

F. W. Murnau, the red-headed German director of the "Last Laugh," and Hollywood's latest importation in the effort of American companies to "buy out" the German menace, will direct one picture for Fox Films. One of the snuggest casts on record will be used in "The Song of Two Humans," only three characters appearing in the film. George O'Brien will have the leading role.

How have the mighty fallen! The magnificent royal carriage of the late Emperor Franz Joseph of Austria-Hungary has been brought to Hollywood for Erich von Stroheim's new picture, "The Wedding March."

The scene of the picture is laid in Vienna and the emperor is one of the characters.

P. A. Powers, producer of the picture for Paramount, had some difficulty getting the carriage out of Austria on account of the opposition of the press. Powers also bought eight sets of gold-plated capable of handling this characterization. The selection of Miss Logan ended a search that has intrigued the interest of the motion picture world for weeks. Screen tests of barnes and the uniforms of all footmen, postillions, outriders and attendants who accompanied the imperial equipage.

Snitz Edwards, the diminutive comedian who added a humorous touch to Marlon Davies' latest starring play, "The Red Mill," has now joined Rod LaRocque and Mildred Harris in the act of the "Cruise of the Jasper B," a farce by Don Marquis which is now being produced at the DeMille studio.

It'll probably be my last chance to tell Laura what to do, observed William Selter, Universal director, when told that he will direct Laura La Plante, blonde comedienne, in "Bride Will Be Bride." The title is appropriate, indeed, as Miss La Plante plans to become Mrs. Selter in the very near future.

Maurice Costello, the first great lover of the screen, will return to pictures in Jackie Coogan's new production, "Johnny Get Your Hair Cut."

Costello's two daughters, Helene and Doroles, are considered the most promising star material in Hollywood.

Hagry Langdon, First National's comedy star, is a graduate of every branch of the amusement profession. Langdon's first appearance was in a cheap Omaha music hall, many years ago. He has since played in amateur performances, vaudeville, small town stock theatrics, and medicine shows. Recently, Langdon graduated out of the two-reel comedy game into feature length productions and has just completed his second picture for First National, "The Strong Man."

Air Wizard Says Planes Are Safer Than Automobiles

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 20.—(INS)—William B. Stout, airplane wizard, addressing over 200 aviators at a dinner here, gave his fellow diners a few laughs and assured them that there was no danger in piloting an airplane.

The airplane is like a hobo, because it has no visible means of support. Exploding the myth about the danger of the airplane, Mr. Stout asked if anybody thought that him self and others would be fools enough to travel by airplane if it meant risking their own necks. He voiced the opinion of famous pilots at the dinner who said the danger in an airplane was less than in an automobile. The fact was stressed that accidents are mostly due to reckless and inexperienced pilots. We are just beginning to get laws requiring proficient drivers, while heretofore anybody could run an airplane without a license as there has been no law of the air. Mr. Stout pronounced the present airplane motor is absolutely reliable under all conditions, even in the Arctic. We hear so much about European air service, Mr. Stout said, but let me assure you that America has the best motors, the best plane, and the best pilots in all the world.
