MILITARY HONORS MARK FAREWELL DEAD NAVAL HERO

Sailors, Marines, Navy Band and Planes Form Escort Commander John Rogers

Washington, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Full military honors were arranged by the Navy Department as its farewell today to its command er John Rogers, the last of a long line of that name, who had given their lives to the service of the United States. These honors include a military escort of three companies of sailors and marines, the navy band and a squadron of navy planes.

A year to the day, after the giant seaplane P. N. 9 No. 1, under his command had risen from the quiet waters of San Pablo Bay, California, in the now famous attempt to span the Pacific to Hawaii by air, the valiant airman, victim of a crash last Friday at Philadelphia, was borne to his final resting place amid the rolling hills of Arlington Cemetery.

In the ancestral home at Havre De Grace, Md., brief funeral services were held yesterday in the presence of approximately 50 friends of the dead officer and his family. Admiral John Rogers, the 78 year old father and his wife, who is 72, showed their keen sorrow, but bore up well. A year ago they had suffered great anxiety when their son and his four companions were missing for 9 days in the Pacific Ocean, after they had been in the air approximately 25 hours and had been forced by lack of gasoline to land on the water 300 miles from Honolulu.

New York Builds Mammoth Vault

Albany, Aug. 31.—(INS)—One of the largest and most modern vaults in New York State will be constructed under the proposed new state office building, Sullivan W. Jones, of Yonkers, state architect, has announced.

The vault will be used to store the state's $200,000,000 in cash and securities.

A complete system of alarms and a squad of guards are to constitute the state's first line of defense for its new treasury.

The state architect's department now are working out the plans for the vault. Its exact location under the office building is being kept a secret as are the intimate details of construction.

The inside dimensions of the vault will be 50 by 50 feet. The walls, floors and roofs are to be of flat concrete, 48 inches thick, reinforced by an armor mat of high grade cold drawn steel fabric.

The huge door will be of a circular type, two feet thick, or drill proof steel, equipped with a time lock and opened and shut by a concealed electric engine.

There will be one carefully guarded entrance to the vault and only credited representatives of the various state departments will have access. To make sure, there will be a triple check on identities by means of photographs, signatures and finger prints.

FRENCH REVIVE FALCONRY TO HONOR AFRICAN PRINCE

Luchon, Aug. 31.—(INS)—A famous sport of the middle ages, falconry was revived in honor of the visit of the Bey of Tunis. Accompanied by his two sons, the princes Azzedin and Lamine the Bey was the guest of honor at a gala celebration held in the park of the Palace Hotel.

The star attraction of the fête was the revival of the ancient sport of kings. Two hooded falcons were presented to the Bey before they were uncovered and flung aloft to pursue a flock of game birds that had been especially released for the occasion.

CHOOSE NOMINEES SOUTH CAROLINA PRIMARIES TODAY

Voters Go to Polls to Nominate Governor, Senator and Several Congressmen

Columbia, S. C., Aug. 31.—(AP)—Voters of South Carolina went to the polls to express their choice for party nomination to the offices of Senator, Governor, several Congressmen and other state-wide officers. Though nomination is considered equivalent to election, a second primary on September 14 may be necessary in contests where one candidate has not received a majority of the votes cast.

Ellison D. Smith, for three terms a member of the United States Senate, entered a three-cornered battle for his seat with former Senator N. B. Dial, of Laurens, and Edgar A. Brown, of Barnwell.

PAPERS OF LINCOLN TO BE MADE PUBLIC

Washington, Aug. 31.—(INS)—Six truckloads of private papers, documents and letters written by Abraham Lincoln, now held for safekeeping in the Library of Congress, may be revealed to the public at a date much earlier than 1930—the date set in Robert T. Lincoln's, his son's agreement with library officials.

In 1913, Robert Lincoln formulated an agreement that the historic papers be kept in the library locked up for 20 years. The papers were the same that Nicolay and Hay pursued in preparing their biography of Lincoln. Robert believed that if the papers were made public now, irresponsible writers would turn their information to commercial purposes. Twenty years from now, he believed, the documents will have lost much of their commercial value.

Upon Robert Lincoln's death, however, the papers, along with other Lincolniana, were willed to his wife. It is now within her say to decide whether they will be revealed sooner.

The famous Healy portrait of Lincoln, which now hangs in the Lincoln home here, undoubtedly will be offered to the White House, in accordance with his son's often expressed desire. It was considered by Robert to be the best likeness of the Emancipator.

The gold watch of Lincoln, a prized possession of his during his lifetime, may also be given to the government.

In 1922, the national league, in recognition of his services, voted him a life pension.

EARTHQUAKE IN AZORES REGION

First Reports Indicate Much Damage; The Shock is Felt in Several Places

Washington, Aug. 31.—(AP)—The severest earthquake in the history of the Azores was experienced today, American Consul Remillard, reported to the State Department from Horta. All Americans, he said, were believed to be safe.

"Houses are down and all houses have suffered. Impossible as yet to estimate the lost property and life," the report said.

London, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Private advice from Horta on the island of Sayal, report a heavy earthquake in the Azores. First report said much damage had been done.

A cable operator in the Sayal relay office notified the company's headquarters that his battery room was destroyed and expressed the opinion that if there was another shock the whole building would collapse.

Sayal is the westernmost island of the central group of the Azores. It is of volcanic origin and like the other members of the group, has been visited by earthquakes from time to time. The population of the island is about 25,000, mostly of Portuguese blood.

Athens, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Greece has been shaken by a strong earthquake affecting the entire country. No casualties are reported. There was a small amount of damage in Piraeus and Sparta.

Mexico City, Aug. 31.—(AP)—A violent earthquake has occurred in the city of Tehuantepec and a large part of the state of Oaxaca. No details have been received.

TODAY

(Copyright 1926)
Poor Joan of Arc.
Young Theodore is wise.
Building a Messiah.
A Meddling League.
By ARTHUR BRIDGEMAN

Five hundred years ago, Charles the Seventh of France, as ungrateful and cowardly a king as ever lived, voted that he would build a church in honor of Joan of Arc, if she drove the English out of France.

She did it, or rather the fighting Frenchmen did it, when they found in Joan the inspiring leadership that their king could not give.

But the chapel was not built, and the king looked on, never lifting a finger to save the girl that saved him, when the University of Paris and the Bishop of Beauvais caused her to be burned as a witch.

Now at last, the church in Joan's honor is finished facing the Hill at Domremy, where Joan was born and the world first heard her voice. It took 33 years to build the beautiful church which was consecrated two days since.

Let us hope that Joan of Arc looking down from heaven can see the church and find satisfaction in it. She probably looks down, also, on Charles the Seventh, burning in hell, with not the slightest chance of ever getting out. But she is too good a girl to enjoy that sight.

Theodore Roosevelt, the second attacks the World Court, with a fighting spirit that would please his father. He says "The force of internationalism, in the United States" were determined to get into the League of Nations, somehow. "If they could not get us by the front door with our eyes open, they would lead us blindfolded through the back door." The back door being the World Court.

Young Roosevelt's attack is called a definite break with President Coolidge, former Secretary of State Hughes and other important Republican backers of the World Court. But "It is a weak man that lacks the strength to change his mind," and those big Republicans will not be as enthusiastic for the court as they were, knowing that, supporting the World Court means, in politics "this way out."

The building up of a modern Messiah or Divine voice is following the same lines in many cases.

First, wise ones select their individual, as the Priests of Thet select a young boy to be their Dalai Lama. After he has been fed, bowed down to and worshipped for awhile, the youth says to himself, "I guess it's so, I really

LLOYD GEORGE NOT CONSIGNED TO CELLAR

London, Aug. 31.—(INS)—David Lloyd George's full-length portrait was not removed from the walls of the National Liberal Club in London, as was reported in the British press.

Years ago the pictures of Winston Churchill and Lloyd George rested for a long time in the basement of the former club building, and this fact is supposed to have given rise to the report that the latter's portrait had again gone to the cellar.

LONDON SHOPS STRIVE FOR TOURIST TRADE

London, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Fashionable Mayfair shops do everything possible to attract the attention of American visitors. One shop in Bond street has managed to catch the attention of Yankee visitors by displaying in its show window a print of New York in 1838.

It shows Broadway as a street where most of the trade was carried on in the street instead of in stores. Shoes are displayed, like Spanish onions, on a string, and a four-horse cabriolet is shown outside a cigar store before which the traditional wooden Indian stands.

The case against J. M. Mitchell Jr., on a charge of bigamy, was called before Judge N. A. Sinclair in Superior Court here at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon.

The charge against Mitchell grew out of his marriage here on May 10, to Miss Ward Moore whom he abandoned three days later when it was learned that he had a wife and family residing in Greensboro. ## WORK TO BEGIN ON POWER PROJECT ON YADKIN RIVER

Announcement Made
Today That Work
On Dam Will Begin
Tomorrow

Salisbury, Aug. 31.—(AP)—In an authenticated story the Evening Post today announces the beginning of work tomorrow on a 72,000 horsepower dam which the Tallahassee Power Company is to build on the Yadkin River.

The dam will be 50 feet high and 1200 feet wide and will be sufficient to generate 40,000 horsepower. The lake basin will reach 22 miles and will have a shore line of 360 miles.

Something like a thousand workmen will be used in clearing out the lake basin. The total cost is not announced but indicated to be several million dollars.

Raleigh, Aug. 31.—(AP)—An extension of the hydro electric facilities of the Tallahassee Power Company on the Yadkin River near Badin, was announced today by company officials through Frank D. Grist, Commissioner of Labor and Printing. While the exact cost of the project had not been worked out, Mr. Grist stated company officials had assured him it would be several million dollars, and he estimated it would run between twelve and fifteen million.

In making the announcement, Mr. Grist said the good crops predicted for this year and the large amount of private and public construction under way or contemplated seemed a promise of a "most prosperous fall and winter" for North Carolina.

The power company, at the present time, has two dams on the Yadkin river, and the operations which will begin tomorrow will create a third. The purpose will be to create a supply of water for the plant of the Aluminum Company of America at Badin and the hydro electric power to be created will be used for public service.

Mr. Grist stated he had been closely in touch with officials of the company for several weeks with a view to developing a supply of labor for the work. He estimated that several hundred men would be employed when operations began and at their height, a force of from three to four thousand would be required.

PRESIDENT WILL DISCUSS MEXICO WITH FLAHERTY

Head Knights of Columbus Seeking
American Intervention in Mexico

Paul Smith's, N. Y., Aug. 31.—(AP)—James A. Flaherty, Supreme Knight of the Knights of Columbus, will be received by President Coolidge tomorrow for discussion of a resolution of the order calling for American intervention in Mexico to protect the Catholic Church in their religious dispute with President Calles.

The appointment was made at the request of Mr. Flaherty after he had conferred with Secretary Kellogg of the State Department at Washington.

The result of the Washington conference has not been made public, but it was made clear that if Mr. Flaherty desired to see Mr. Coolidge after the meeting with Mr. Kellogg he would be given an appointment.

The policy of the Washington government toward Mexico, has been one of "hands off" unless American citizens are injured in person or property.

They say that the undertakers' trade papers are all in favor of prohibition. Well! There's nothing like supporting that which makes one's business prosperous.

BUSINESS HOUSES GETTING READY FOR FALL SEASON

Wednesday of Last Week Was Final
Half Holiday of the Summer Season

Last Wednesday was the last half holiday of the summer season by local business houses and business tomorrow will go on for the full day, as was the custom before the half holiday went into effect early in June.

The Wednesday afternoon half holiday was inaugurated here last year and during the two summers that it has been in effect indications are that it has proved very satisfactory.

During the present week the entire forces of the various stores are busily engaged unpacking and arranging fall stock, and getting the respective firms in "apple pie" order for the fall season that begins with the opening of the tobacco market here Tuesday of next week. The outlook for business this fall is very promising and all the business houses here are very optimistic.

Mother Confederate Soldier Still Alive

Dunn, N. C., Aug. 31.—(AP)—Mrs. Julia Anne Pridgen, who lives in Pender county, near the famous Revolutionary battle-ground at Moore's Creek Bridge, has risen up to deny that the last "Confederate mother" is dead, as was reported in certain news dispatches that reached her not long ago.

Mrs. Pridgen is now in her 103rd year and is the mother of a Confederate soldier, K. B. Pridgen, now deceased. A second son was within draft age at the end of the war and ready to join the colors when peace was declared. In all, she is the mother of twelve children, six of whom are now living, the youngest being 60.

Modern times do not appear to appeal so much to the Confederate mother, and she says that she remembers incidents of many years ago much better than those of the rapid moving present. She says she can recall perfectly when the troops marched off for the War with Mexico in 1845, and remembers when the first buggy ever came into the Pender county section. In her girlhood, she said, everyone rode horseback. There was no such luxury as carriage, then.

Mrs. Pridgen told of the days when the first two steamboats put in their appearance, and later commenced to ply regularly up and down the Cape Fear. These vessels were known as the "Henrietta" and the "James Walker." In those days they were known as enormous craft, and objects of great curiosity as they splashed up the muddy channel.

Mrs. Pridgen was born during the administration of President Monroe, and was a contemporary of every President except George Washington. She was three years old when John Adams and Thomas Jefferson died.

"LONG BOY" INSPIRED BY GENERAL GLENN

Indianapolis, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Major-General Edwin F. Glenn, who died recently at the home of his daughter, Mrs. James A. Garfield, at Mentor, Ohio, liked to refer to himself as the "granddaddy" of "Long Boy" a fitting humorous war song, of which more than a million copies were sold.

When the General was a command of the first officers' training camp at Ft. Harrison, Ind., he asked William Herschell, poet and special writer of the Indianapolis News, to compose a war song with a laugh in it.

As Herschell left the command, he saw a couple of lanky Hoosier youths crossing the parade ground. They gave him the inspiration for the lyric.

Dies From Injuries When Struck by Auto

Charlotte, Aug. 31.—(AP)—James W. Hobbs, of Mount Mourne, died in a local hospital today following injuries received yesterday when he was struck by an automobile near his home, when he was in the act of sleeping from his own machine.

ST LOUIS TO SPEND $76,000,000 GET NEW RAPID TRANSIT

St. Louis, Aug. 31.—(INS)—A rapid transit system, which would cost in the neighborhood of $76,000,000, the major part of which is to be defrayed by the general public through a bond issue, is contemplated here as a means of relieving St. Louis of its congested traffic condition in the downtown area.

The plan which will be completed next month and submitted to the special ad hoc committee on rapid transit by E. R. Kinsey, president of the Board of Public Service, would provide for an underground street car system, throughout the downtown section and extension to these lines to six points in the city's mid-section by either elevated lines or subway.

Whether the extensions would be above or below the surface would depend on the comparative cost and other conditions at the time the underground street car system is complete.

The first step in the plan—the underground system in the downtown area—would take about five years to complete after it was authorized and would cost approximately $40,000,000. It is the plan of those studying the project to get the first step completed as soon as possible to make way for the extensions to the mid-section which it is estimated would cost about $36,000,000.

Later, they plan to make the system complete by giving such service through Greater St. Louis by extensions to the suburbs.

The cost of the system would be split three ways—among the street car riders, the benefited property owners and the general public.

The street car riders would pay their share of the cost by a slight increase in fare, not more than one-half cent over the present rate, which is seven cents. Assessments would be made against the benefited property owners and a bond issue to be subscribed by the general public probably would be proposed to take care of the major portion of the cost.

A year had been required to complete the survey for which the city appropriated $25,000.

RAGMAN BROKE FAMILY IN TATTERS AS WOMEN WEAR FEWER CLOTHING

Philadelphia, Aug. 31.—(INS)—The ragman will soon be a thing of the past in Philadelphia as well as any other large city. His business dwindled, the poorhouse, or some other job stores him in the face. His family is actually in rags.

This picturesque figure finds less and still less profit in his pious rounds of the city streets—because, it is said of woman's modern dressy costume. When there are few clothes there are few rags a big Burial broker declares.

The growth in favor of the white shirt among men might seem to counterbalance the trend in women's wear somewhat, but as a matter of fact the automobile absorbs this difference and more. A man formerly kept his shirt and sold them to the ragman after they were worn out, but now, if he is thrifty, he saves them to wipe his car with, the broker stated.

Fingerprint Tightens Net on Stevens

The fingerprints above—the one on the left from police records and the one on the right from a card found propped against the body of Rev. Edward Hall—were said to place Willie Stevens at the scene of the Hall-Mills murder. Experts pointed out six points of identity in court, and bail was denied Stevens, brother of Rev. Hall's widow, and Henry de la Carpenter, accused with him of the murder.

Business Conditions In District Good Says Federal Reserve

Richmond, Va., Aug. 31.—(AP)—General prosperity in the five states and District of Columbia covered by the Fifth Federal Reserve district was attested by the Federal Reserve report on business and agricultural conditions for July, issued here. Trade, debit accounts, building activity, lack of business failures and employment all unite to prove a healthy condition, the report shows.

The trade figures, based on confidential returns from 31 leading department stores, show July trade to have been in excess of the month's average, despite the fact that July is regarded as a "between season" month and is characterized by a smaller business volume than earlier and later months.

Debits, to individual accounts, during recent weeks, indicate clearly an increased trade volume during July and early August, although they were below the totals of preceding months, the report indicates.

Business failures in July were less than for any month since last October, and below the number for July of 1925. The figures of failures cover the entire United States and are: July 1926, 1,605; July 1925, 1,685; last July, in July 1926 amounted to $1,492,277 while in July 1925 they totaled $3,207,713.

Labor was reported as seasonably well employed and wages continuing at high levels set during and soon after the war.

Steadily rising bank deposits and the volume of banking transactions give a rosy hue to prospects for fall prosperity, the report says. These prospects improved distinctly between the middle of July and the middle of August. Estimates of probable production for nearly all leading crops were higher on August 1 than nearly a month or even two weeks earlier. The gains arising from general rains during the latter part of July. This is expected to bring material aid to agricultural interests over the entire district.

Camel—the greatest tobacco word of all time

NEVER in the history of smoking has there been such a cigarette as Camel. No other cigarette was ever made welcome in so many millions of homes, because no other ever brought so much enjoyment to smokers.

When Camels came into the world they brought an entirely new sense of smoking satisfaction and contentment. Millions who have tried them all, who could well afford to pay more, will smoke only Camels. Camels on the table mean that this is the home of experienced smokers.

Camel is the world's favorite cigarette. Camel is given a greater patronage than any other cigarette ever had. Why? Because Camels contain the choicest Turkish and Domestic tobaccos grown. Because Camels never tire the taste, no matter how liberally you smoke them. Because they never leave a cigarettey after-taste. The world's largest tobacco organization puts the utmost quality into this one cigarette.

If you want the mellowest mildness that ever came from a cigarette, try Camels. Regardless of what you are willing to pay, you will find in this famous smoke every fine feature you ever looked for in a cigarette.

Have a Camel!

BELIEVE PALESTINE ORANGES PREVENT DISEASE

Jaffa, Palestine, Aug. 31.

(AP)—The delicious taste and unique fragrance of the Jaffa orange has caused it to become more and more popular in Europe but the belief that it is possessed of almost magic virtues as a preventive against infectious diseases is held to be mainly responsible for its ever growing vogue.

The home of citrus fruit is southern Asia, from the lower provinces of China to the slopes of the Himalaya Mountains. Some 6000 years ago travellers brought the "first golden apples" from India to Nip-pur in Lower Mesopotamia and toward the 6th century, the Jews returning from the Babylonian captivity, imported them to Palestine.

Jaffa oranges are graded and packed by hand, according to the size of the fruit, 90 to 250 in a box. The size preferred in the market is the box containing 144 oranges.

A NEEDED REFORM

The counties throughout North Carolina as well as defendants in the criminal courts could be relieved of a lot of unnecessary cost witnesses could save a lot of valuable time, and the present congestion that marks the opening of each criminal term could be done away with should the next General Assembly change the present law governing the criminal courts of our state.

Under the present law all criminal cases are returnable on the opening day of the term and despite the number of cases docketed, every defendant and witness as well as their counsel, must be on hand when the term opens. Upon the opening of the term, the judge delivers his charge to the grand jury and then a considerable amount of time must be consumed fixing the calendar for the week. During all this time hundreds of witnesses and defendants have jammed the court room and after the loss of half a day's time or more, the majority of them are informed that they will not be needed until their case is called for hearing later in the week.

When a civil term of court is to be held a calendar of cases is made up several days prior to the beginning of the term and furnished to the lawyers which gives them ample time to get in touch with their clients and all witnesses and have them here ready for trial when the case is called. Under this system it is not necessary for these defendants, plaintiffs and witnesses to come to town the first day of court and lose a whole day from their work just to learn that they are not needed until several days later. Cannot a similar plan be worked out for the fixing of the calendars of the criminal terms?

At most every term of court there are cases docketed for hearing that have been continued from former terms, together with new cases, and it seems that these cases that need no further action by the grand jury could be placed upon the calendar with sufficient time allowed each day for the hearing of these cases upon which come before the grand jury at the opening of the term. It is not often that the cases to be heard at a term of court are crimes of only a few days standing and it appears that in cases to be heard before the grand jury there is usually time between the commission of the crime and the opening of court for the clerk to have these bills drawn and ready for the grand jury at the opening of the term. If this were done these cases also could be placed upon the calendar, the witnesses to go before the grand jury could be summoned and the grand jury could complete its work in much less time than at present.

It is not our idea to outline a system of reform for the operation of our courts for that must be left to those in closer touch and more familiar with the courts than we, but we do know that there is much lost motion in getting a term of criminal court really underway and that during that time there are hundreds waiting who might be using their time in the pursuit of their respective vocations and both county and defendants would save money.

THOUSANDS HONOR U. S. DEAD IN PARIS CEMETERY

Paris, Aug. 31.—(AP)—On the slopes of Mount Valerien, with all Paris lying below, there is an attraction for American tourists, which vies with the cabarets of Montmartre. The fact that twenty thousand people from the United States are visitors, there this year indicates its drawing power.

This is the American cemetery at Suresnes, where lie the bodies of 1,500 men of the A. E. F., men of every front line division who were killed in action or died of wounds.

James Duncan, the caretaker, has compiled a short history of each division's battle record, giving the names of those buried at Suresnes by divisions, which is available to visitors. Also there is a visitors' book in which anyone visiting the cemetery may register and express his sentiments.

This book is a revelation. For it shows how strong is the drawing power of this field of honor against the gay attractions of Paris.

This the 30th day of July, 1926.

Woman Candidate Marries; Debate Her Eligibility

Minneapolis, Aug. 31.—(INS)—Miss Winifred McDermott is the democratic candidate for clerk of the state supreme court of Minnesota. Today she is no longer Miss McDermott. She has married Roy Henry Perrigo since filing for office.

Now Mrs. Perrigo's status as a candidate for office is under debate. The question raised by her marriage is brand new, as far as is known here. Can votes for Winifred McDermott be counted for Mrs. Perrigo? If not, how can her name be changed on the ballot? These questions will be the subject of a conference between the attorney general and his assistants in the next few days.

When a woman who is a registered voter marries, she is required to register all over again. It is impossible for Mrs. Perrigo to register over again, however, as the time for filing for a party office, expired last May. She has not followed the Lucy Stone League plan of retaining her maiden name.

It is possible that the situation will be cleared up by affidavit stating that Mrs. Roy Henry Perrigo is identical with the former Miss Winifred McDermott. The question, however, is a new one and a puzzler, according to the attorney general.

COAST BUTTERFLIES MAKE ANNUAL TRIP TO SHORE

San Francisco, Aug. 31.—(INS)—Bored with their homes in the Sierran mountains, thousands of brown monarch butterflies have completed their annual pilgrimage to the sea shore. Every year the horde of butterflies go to Stinson beach, north of here, to spend the winter and enjoy the mild climate, only to die in the spring.

The trek of the butterflies is unending, however. Next year a new flight will complete the same tragic cycle.

"NEWS" and "PROGRESS" No. 9

ECONOMIC SIGNIFICANCE AND SERVICE OF THE AMERICAN NEWSPAPER AND NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING—From latest volume in Manhattan Library of Popular Economics, republished in serial form through courtesy of Bank of the Manhattan Company, New York.

FOLLOWING THE NEWS

IN any attempt to trace or to classify the various economic influences which flow from that great modern institution, the American newspaper, it is necessary arbitrarily to fix upon certain phases and to ignore innumerable others. So varied and complex are the activities and influences of a newspaper, one would otherwise be lost in an intricate and confusing maze. As the market place of the community, functioning through its advertising columns, the newspaper produces economic results that are fairly obvious and easy to identify—such as convenience and time-saving for the buying public, the stimulation of trade locally and nationally, the lowering of prices and increasing of profits. Likewise, the influence of those distinct sections or departments of the newspaper, devoted to the news of commerce, finance, industry and transportation, are not difficult to trace.

But what of those other columns in which the reader finds the general news of the day? It may be the simple notice of a birth, a wedding or a death, or it may be the news of some devastating calamity such as a flood or a conflagration. It may be an "Act of God" or an Act of Congress. But whatever its subject may be, scarcely an item appears which fails to stir into instant life the business or professional activity of some individual or millions of people.

For instance, the day's paper may contain a cable dispatch about the League of Nations, and next to it one from Washington, in which several American senators are quoted on the subject of the World Court. Both these questions are of the very warp and wool of international relationships, with their bearing on national debts, on national debts, on the value of foreign bonds. They could, therefore, concern the American investor in foreign securities and the American dealer in foreign markets.

Then, one may read of the arrest of a criminal gang. Not only are these particular crooks charged with burglaries and hold-ups amounting to several hundred thousand dollars, but their operations and those of others like them are the reason for high premium rates in this class of policyholders.

Then, one's eye may fall upon a discussion of State debt increases, which may affect taxes, bond issues and contracts for public works; news of a bonus plan for workers in a large industry; a dispatch on the issue of a new food staple, rendered meatless; the market; one reporting a hearing plan for a large railroad reorganization; which will, of course, be reflected in its securities.

Incidentally, it is interesting to note the way in which business men are able to get suggestions from newspaper items that would seem at first to have little relation to them. For example, in a recent article a bonding salesman explains his method of discovering opportunity in casual headlines. Thus, when his eyes catches the headline, "Three Million Dollar Fire Sweeps Dock," his thoughts lead ahead to the time when plans for rebuilding will be discussed and contractors and sub-contractors will go down through all the ages and live perhaps even longer than the stone from which the Cenotaph is hewn, says Miss Terris, who is the wife of the actor, Seymour Hicks.

BRITISH WOMEN SEEKING NEW SALUTE TO HONOR UNKNOWN SOLDIER TOMB

London, Aug. 31.—(INS)—Leading British women are endeavoring to find a special salute to be used in passing the Cenotaph in Whitehall, England's most famous war memorial.

It has now become a universal custom for men to raise their hats in passing the Cenotaph, and the suggestion is made that women, too, should make some sign of homage or respect to the war dead.

Miss Ellaine Terris, the well-known actress, has proposed that women should raise their left hands at the Cenotaph, turning the palm toward the monument. The Romans raised their hands to Caesar, and I suggest that as we pass the lovely thought that Whitehall holds, we should raise our left hands to it. There need be nothing extravagant in the sign we make, but a sign it will be, and one of which our children will ask the meaning of, and they in turn telling those who follow after them, this symbol of gratitude.

An alert mind finds the news columns laden with opportunities for business

In a similar way he notes and interprets many other items and thus proves that an alert mind may find the news columns laden with opportunities for business activity.

The significance of news varies with the character of the reader. A housekeeper, a broker, a laborer, a schoolmaster, even a social idler, each has a particular interest. Yet all of them, even the poorest, survive only as the nation is economically stable. The factors and conditions that threaten or promote economic stability must be met and dealt with. That is possible only as economic news is readily and constantly available, not annually as by government statistics, but daily and hourly. In that sense the economic significance of news is fundamental, and it is generally available only through one channel—the newspaper.

Some Questions and Answers about United States Water-Cured Tubes

Question—What is the Water-Cure Process?

Answer—The Water-Cure Process is a new method of curing or vulcanizing automobile tubes now in use in the United States Rubber Company tube factories.

Question—How does it differ from the old process?

Answer—During vulcanization heat and pressure must be applied to the tube. The old method used steam to supply this pressure and heat. The new method uses water under high pressure and at steam temperature.

Question—Why does this make a better tube?

Answer—In the old steam method the pressure could not be applied evenly. Small air bubbles were formed in the tube, each of which became a source of weakness.

The new Water-Cure Process eliminates the possibility of such bubbles by its heavy, even pressure. It also insures better union between the tube and the valve-base, and at the same time gives the rubber itself a finer, longer-wearing, more age-resisting texture.

Question—Can water-curing alone make a good tube?

Answer—No. A good tube demands good rubber, proper construction and proper splicing as well.

Question—How are these provided in United States Tubes?

Answer—The rubber used is Sprayed Rubber, the purest and most uniform rubber known. It is made from rubber latex from the United States Rubber Company's own plantations, by a process developed and patented by the Company.

United States Tubes are constructed of four plies of rubber. Most other tubes are made of one or at most two. Splicing is done by a specially developed method, which not only insures uniformly strong splices but also limits the pressure and heat to the splice itself and does not tend to weaken the rest of the tube.

Gossip of Staff Correspondents at World Centers of Population.

Moscow, Aug. 31.—(INS)—Because of a mistake made by Soviet engineers in Leningrad, more than 1,000 miners in the Aldan gold fields, the Siberian Klondyke, must continue to fight this winter without proper equipment against the cold, and without sufficient food to insure their comfortable survival.

This misfortune is recorded in the "Tale of the Trekking Tractors." Away up in the far northeastern corner of Siberia, in the triangle between the Arctic and the North Pacific oceans and the Lena River, is the richest gold field in the world. It lies along the Aldan river, just before that stream enters the Lena.

Five hundred miles from the nearest railroad station on the trans-Siberian line, the Aldan gold fields are shut off from the rest of the world for about nine months in the year. During the three months of freedom from yard deep snow and killing frost all the supplies for the mining camps must be carried on mule and pony back from the railroad.

The Aldan Gold Trust, chief exploiter of the Aldan fields, conceived the idea this year of buying tractors to make the long trip from the railroad. They announced they were "Americanizing" their methods. With tractors they could bring to the Aldan more than enough supplies for the camps and make up for the lack which the miners had always suffered. They counted so heavily upon their scheme that they cancelled the major part of their mule train orders.

In Leningrad, engineers of the factory "Bolshevik" recommended a type of new tractor just completed for use in the sugar cane fields of southern Russia. Trusting to this expert advice, the Aldan Gold Trust bought six of the machines.

They started on their journey this spring. They are not yet in the Aldan. Carrying 8,000 miles by rail, they were unloaded at the Aldan Gold Trust's base camp on the trans-Siberian. There they took on freight for the gold fields, and started a 50 mile trek across the country.

The six machines have now been more than two months covering the first 20 miles. At this rate they will reach the Aldan next summer if ever.

Latest reports from the trail declare the tractors are stuck so fast in a mudhole that it will require a corps of engineers and a regiment of mules to pull them out. The Aldan Gold Trust has booked a loss of $100,000 on their experiment, and the miners are tightening their belts for a hard winter.

In the Aldan, pure grain also hol for drinking purposes is selling at a flat exchange with gold: one glass of alcohol for one glass of gold dust.

In Moscow, things are not quite so bad. Safety razor blades are selling at ten times their weight in silver. One blade cost one rouble. A silver rouble, worth fifty cents, weighs about ten times as much as the blade it buys.

Just as precious is imported face powder. For an ounce of silver in roubles, the Moscow equivalent of the American flapper receives one-half ounce of French face powder, weighed out in chemist's scales.

Lemons at this season of the year are travelling not a whit behind safety razor blades and face powder. To hand a person a lemon in Moscow today would be the height of generosity. Small, under-sized specimens are selling at 60 cents apiece. At the same time, just across the border in Czechoslovakia lemons are selling in any quantity desired at 1-2 cent apiece.

Buddha.

It is so with others, great and small. Many mediums believe that they talk with spirits of the dead, even though Napoleon Bonaparte and Aristotle are made to talk like some uneducated female from the backwoods.

In Chicago, thousands meet the gentle, modest young Krishnamurti at the railroad station, shower him with flowers, hail him as the great awaited one. Blame human folly, not the young Hindu, if he really believes himself something extraordinary, if not actually divine.

It's easy enough to deceive ourselves, almost impossible not to deceive ourselves seriously, when thousands assure us of our greatness.

That is one reason why men elected to public office often prove to be inefficient geese. They take the praise of sycophants literally.

Sentimentalists, anxious to have Uncle Sam rely on others to protect him, said the League of Nations would not touch matters involving this continent. But already that League is asked to settle a conflict between Nicaragua and Mexico, thus weakening the Monroe Doctrine.

Fortunately, the Mexican government tells the League, to mind its own business, and attend to Europe, an example which we might follow.

The United States has landed marines in Nicaragua, because the local governor says he cannot maintain order, against revolutionists.

The less the United States meddles or takes sides in the internal affairs of republics south of us, the better. Meddling, lending, talking much, only makes enemies, as we learned on a big scale in Europe and on a smaller scale in Chile and Peru.

Uncle Sam should maintain the Monroe Doctrine, warn Europe away from the two American continents, and let our southern brothers settle their own affairs, with our good wishes and without our interference. The art of minding your business is important.

Some one suggests a swimming match and a bet of $25,000 between Gertrude Ederle and Mrs. Corson, the female channel swimmers. Such a bet would spoil a fine performance.

Two women from America have done what no other woman could do, both of them beating the best record ever made by a man at that time. That is enough a betting match between the two would be unwelcome and mean nothing.

Such American power and courage are best employed defeating foreigners, and adding to the glory of America.

MANCHESTER BROUGHT SEA THIRTY MILES TO DOOR

Manchester, Eng., Aug. 31.—(AP)—All the ingenuity of building engineers is represented in the Manchester Ship canal, which makes this city an ocean port thirty miles inland.

The canal crosses a river and a canal, and five railroad bridges were raised on long grades so that large vessels might steam in to Manchester.

The Bridgewater Canal, handling horse towed barges, crosses the Manchester strip without their waters meeting. This is accomplished by actually carrying the smaller canal across the other on a high swinging bridge.

Gates at either end of the water bridge shut the water in the channel, close the exposed ends of the canal and bridge, water and all are pivoted around.

The canal, which cost 14,000,000 pounds, was constructed to fight the high rates charged at Liverpool for dockage and shipping and was opened in 1894, six years after construction had begun.

Ships pass through a system of locks to Manchester where the water level is 60 feet higher than the ocean.

Near the mouth of the canal, it is crossed by the river Gowy, up which the tidal waters flow. This river is piped beneath the canal in huge siphons of cast-iron, 12 feet across, and 400 feet long.

The canal terminates in eight docks branching in groups of four on each side of it, covering 120 acres, with 286 acres of quays.

Along the dock quays are transit sheds and warehouses, and in front of and behind these are railway lines connected with all the great railway systems.

Two grain elevators with a total capacity of 80,000 tons can take grain from vessels at the rate of 500 to 900 tons an hour, while under the quays on both sides of one of the docks, reached by manholes, are endless moving bands, electrically driven over rollers, carrying the grain in streams, sometimes half a mile long to the elevator at the dock-head.

War may have been Germany's favorite game, but she preferred not to play on her home grounds.

"CHILDREN'S CORNER" IS MONUMENT TO BABY BOY

Chicago, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Thousands of people who daily pass by a few squares away know nothing about the "Children's Corner" of Chicago, or the story connected with its founding. The place is Fullerton Avenue and Orchard Street just west of Lincoln Park.

Almost the first thing that catches attention in the neighborhood is a "Bambino" above a doorway, the quaint blue and white enamel figure of a baby that Della Robbia, centuries back made the world wide symbol for childhood. The "Bambino" signifies in this case a Chicago child's hospital, and likewise that within half a mile radius a large group of other childhood charities have arisen besides the Hans Christian Andersen statue and a monument to Eugene Field, the poet of "Little Boy Blue."

The history of the Children's Corner begins directly across the street from the hospital Bar, no. Here in the vestibule of one of the city's stateliest churches, St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran is a memorial to a baby boy, the son of a washwoman with no other kin.

Telling for year overruns this mother a widow, achieved finally her life ambition—to earn enough to place in the splendid church doorway a painting which would tell of her love for her baby boy. Some near-by residents say that in doing so she effected more than she foresaw, the establishment of the Children's Corner of Chicago.

GERMAN BEER PRICES CUT ITS POPULARITY

Berlin, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Germany once known as a nation of beer and coffee drinkers, is turning to cocoa and chocolate.

The high price of a stein of beer, the government reports, has cut the annual beer consumption from 102 liters for every man, woman and child to 75 liters. Coffee consumption has been cut in half, the average cost per pound being about one dollar.

BUTTERFLIES LIVE LONGER WITHOUT HEADS

Paris, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Life without a head is not only possible, but as the Academy of Science was informed, there are insects that live longer without their heads than with them.

In describing the investigations carried on for many years by the Rev. Father Cambounet, a missionary in Madagascar, Professor Bouvier said they were in continuation of those described by Edmond Perrier, before the Academy in 1911, in which certain caterpillars survived the loss of their heads and became chrysalises and then headless butterflies.

Father Cambounet found that over 80 headless butterflies, belonging to two different families, not only survived the loss of their heads, but lived appreciably longer than other members of their families which had not been deprived of their heads.

JARVIS FAMILY HOLDS RAT CATCHING RECORD

London, Aug. 31.—(AP)—England's rat catching record is held by the Jarvis family, three of whom are girls. Bags of 700 to 1,000 rats a week are nothing out of the ordinary for the Jarviss.

Misses Nell and Kitty Jarvis, twenty-one and twenty-three respectively, are on the rat catching job every night in the week, often assisted by their sister Rose, who is twelve. They also accept extermination contracts where cockroaches, mice and black beetles are concerned.

The girls come by their rat catching abilities quite naturally, as they were taught by their father, John Jarvis, official rat catcher of the London County Council, and of most of the government offices. Jarvis claims to be the only rat catcher in Great Britain whose father and mother, and grandfathers on both sides have followed the same trade. His wife also has been a rat catcher twenty-five years. There are two boys in addition to the girls, who assist in the work.

PASTOR WATCHES SOLES AND SOULS

Leeds, England, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Not satisfied with caring for the souls of his parishioners, the Rev. J. G. Sutherland, of the Bel-

CITY MEMORIALIZES KOSCIUSZKO'S LIFE

Cracow, Poland, Aug. 31.—(AP)—Cracow is to the memory of Tadeusz Kosciuszko what Mt. Vernon is to the memory of George Washington. One cannot walk far in this old city of the Polish kings without coming upon some reminder of the great national hero whose name kindles more enthusiasm both in America and in Poland than that of any other Pole.

Whether as colonel of the artillery and personal adjutant to

George Washington in the American War of Independence, or whether as leader of the Polish insurrection of 1794 against Russian oppression, he was one of the most picturesque figures of his time. Partisans of Marshall Pilsudski today refer to the virtual savior of Poland as "the second Kosciuszko" and the imagination of Polish school children is fired by copious references in the textbooks to the exploits of Tadeusz Kosciuszko.

The mecca for the visitor to Cracow was the Wawel, a rocky hill of the left bank of the Vistula. It was the fortified seat of the Polish dukes and kings from the very dawn of the nation's history. It is thus, as it were, the emblem of the Polish nation.
