Put Not Your Faith. Must We Interfere? His Own Medicine. About Cancer. By ARTHUR BRISBANE

Prepare yourselves for thrill number two. Mr. Tunney is up. Mr. Dempsey is down. They will fight again—next spring, the noble minded 'prize fight fans' will have had time to collect two millions for tickets.

Perhaps Mr. Dempsey will be up next time. Mr. Tunney down, in which case think of the intense excitement and joy of a THIRD fight to come soon thereafter.

Mr. Tex Heakrd looks upon Americans as a very intelligent aggregation. Others say, slightly altering the old quotation 'Put not your faith in punches; or any child of man.'

The moving picture world a big one, with tens of millions that look upon it as the only world of importance, wonders what Estelle Taylor will do, now that the champion she married is champion no longer.

Everybody knows what Napoleon's second wife did, when he crossed to be champion, she forgot all about him. But no moving picture actress could do that and besides he may be champion again—Napoleon came back from Elba.

More shooting and killing in China with the United States mixed in the row.

In the League of Nations' Council China's spokesman accuses Great Britain of killing Chinese coolies, wrecking Chinese ships and small boats, drowning 100 passengers.

What Britain does to China and the other way round is not our business.

Why must we interfere? Admiral Judge Wilbur F. Bryant, seventy-five-year old, a just man. Obeying the law of Nebraska he sentenced criminals to jail on a bread and water diet and is called 'inhuman.'

He replies by sentencing himself to a bread and water diet. Losing ten pounds in five days, and telling the world, 'If I can stand it at seventy-five years of age, bootleggers can stand it at thirty.'

You respect a man who takes his own medicine. Braunsguard, great French physician and scientist was called cruel because he practiced vivisection on animals.

To prove that a man might think and recognize his friends after his head had been cut off, he separated the living head from the body of a dog, which turned its eyes to the right or left as the doctor whistled on the right or left side.

Having explained to his students that atmospheric pressure kept enough blood in the brain to allow for thought, the doctor, then past seventy, lectured on vital processes involved in the knitting of bones. As a preliminary he broke one of his own fingers in a vise, and lectured as he put on a splint and explained what happened calmly—commenting on his sensations.

One hundred cancer specialists of this and European countries have boiled into one brief statement all that is known about cancer. This is said to be the most important statement on the subject ever made.

First, nobody knows what cancer is. Some think it comes from a germ, others from a growth caused by irritation of tissue. Nobody knows.

Most important of all cancer is not contagious or infectious. You cannot 'catch it' from a cancer victim.

Cancer like drunkenness is not inherited. But you can inherit a TENDENCY to cancer, and a tendency to alcoholism.

As regards cure, everything depends on early treatment. Of a hundred that die of cancer in accessible parts of the body, which means practically all of the body, in these days, ninety could have been saved by early treatment. The only treatment worth while depends upon surgery, radium and X-rays.

TEN THOUSAND SEE NEGRO DROWNED NEAR CHARLOTTE

Charlotte, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Ten thousand persons looked on yesterday at Clinton Lake as Willie Green, negro deacon in Bishop C. M. Grace's House of Prayer was drowned during baptismal ceremonies. Green overcame with religious fervor waded into water over his head and went down before rescuers from the banks could save him. A negro physician pronounced him dead after working on him for some time. Grace in an address shortly after the negro was drowned said it was better to have died in the House of Prayer than to die in a house of vice. The bishop baptised 700 negro converts during a fortnight ago.

HEROIC EFFORTS MADE TO RECOVER ENTOMBED MINERS

Families of Entombed Men Eagerly Await Sign of Results of Rescuers' Efforts

Ironwood, Mich., Sept. 27.—(AP)—The sight of distressed women and children drove the weary men to super effort today in their attempt to reach the 43 men entombed by a cave-in three days ago in the shaft of the Pabst Mine of the Oliver Mining Company here. The bodies of three men, crushed to death when tons of boulders and earth crumpled the cave shaft, have been recovered.

There are three shifts each having as its objective the eighth level of the mine, 800 feet under the ground, where it is believed 43 men were trapped and disoriented drills are the means by which the rescue workers hope to learn the fate of the imprisoned men. At least one of the crews of men is expected to obtain the objective by tomorrow night, although obstacles encountered in digging through the earth and rock prevent any accurate determination as to what progress will be made. The diamond drills are being closely watched. They must bore 400 feet before the eighth level is reached. Communication can be established by this means to ascertain if the men are alive and food tablets can be lowered thru the small drilled hole.

Other efforts at succor are moving with all the speed the large crews of workers can make. Two shifts are in the 45 degree angled shaft which is filled with debris which chokes the entry to the eighth level. One effort is being made from the top of the shaft with carriers removing the debris while another is coming up from the bottom of the shaft reached through the lower levels after descending by another shaft. The third attempt is being made by a tunnel being dug from an adjoining mine a quarter of a mile away. Sufficient air and water are thought to be in the level to keep the men alive until they can be rescued.

HIGH EXCHANGE ON YEN MAKES JAPANESE IMPORTS GO TO NEW LOW RECORD

San Francisco, Sept. 27.—(INS)—High exchange value of the yen and lower prices on raw cotton resulted in a drop in imports to Japan in August to the lowest level since September, 1924, according to a cable summary made public by the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce here. Exports of raw silk from Japan showed a marked increase for August, but silk and cotton yarn exports declined.

CHILL WIND SWEEP STATE YESTERDAY

First Touch of Fall Weather Brings Exchange of Topcoats for Beach Clothing

A chill autumn wind swept into North Carolina yesterday and sent the mercury scurrying down from mountain to the seacoast. The temperature dropped to such a degree as to make heavier wearing apparel comfortable. Wilmington reported that beach clothing was replaced by light topcoats as the mercury registered 60. Raleigh at eight o'clock this morning showed a temperature of 58 while Asheville had a temperature of 56. Salisbury and Charlotte both recorded 53 degrees during the morning hours. The general weather report today called for cloudy with a state tonight, probable showers and little change in temperature.

GOV'T. CONTINUES CONSPIRACY CASE H. M. DAUGHERTY

Present Evidence Tracing Merton Liberty Bonds to Former Attorney General

New York, Sept. 27.—(AP)—The government today began the fourteenth day of the conspiracy trial of Harry M. Daugherty, former Attorney General, and Thomas W. Miller, former Alien Property Custodian, with an attempt to trace to the former Attorney General an additional $50,000 of the alleged bribe of $441,000 paid to hasten the release of $7,000,000 worth of seized German property.

Last week United States Attorney Emory Buckner brought out testimony and exhibits to show that over $100,000 had figured in Daugherty's bank account the records of which he had destroyed because they "showed nothing." To Miller's bank and brokerage accounts $50,000 had been traced. The $441,000 was paid to the late John T. Eng former Republican National Committeeman from Connecticut, to influence the release of the impounded assets of the American Metal Company which Richard Merton, German metal magnate, claimed in the name of the Societe Suisse. The government contends the claim was false.

Vera Veal, assistant cashier of the Midland National Bank, testified today that she sent to Otis and Company, Cleveland bankers, four $10,000 Liberty Bonds, bearing serial numbers that were on the four bonds Merton gave King. The bonds were sent on November 27, 1923, Miss Veal said, on orders of Mal S. Daugherty, brother of Harry M. Daugherty and president of the Midland Bank. In its outline of the case the government said it depended for proof of its conspiracy charge upon its ability to convince the jury that King was "working in behalf of Daugherty when he treated with Merton." After Otis and Company had sold the bonds a check for $39,335.56 was sent to Mal S. Daugherty it was established. When the check for this amount, arrived at the Midland Bank, Miss Veal testified, it was not placed in Mal Daugherty's account, but he took a certificate of deposit which he said was the same as a cashier's check. Two weeks later, according to the bank ledger sheets, this sum was paid out by the bank to whom paid. Another ledger sheet, however, showed the sum credited $5 cash to Mal Daugherty's account. Subsequently it was shown by bank records that Mal Daugherty paid Harry Daugherty $49,165. The government was on the trail of five Liberty Loan bonds of $10,000 each. It was not shown today that the difference between the check given Mal Daugherty and the sum paid Harry Daugherty was connected with the fifth bond.

BRITISH CLIMATE MAKES AMERICAN WATCHES LAZY

London, Sept. 27.—(INS)—Britain's climate makes American watches lazy. Is the fixed belief of many visitors from the United States. Many of them observe that a watch that never varies in America will lose two minutes a day in London. Evidently American watches used to dry crisp climate find London a tribe enervating and react accordingly. It is for this reason that the management of the Savoy Hotel say they always keep the principal clock in the vestibule three minutes ahead of Greenwich time.

REAL ESTATE PROFESSOR IN MICHIGAN UNIVERSITY

Ann Arbor, Sept. 27.—(INS)—The first full professorship study of real estate ever offered by any American University was inaugurated by the University of Michigan at the opening of the fall term, Sept. 28. Professor M. M. Fisher, former director of education and research at the National Association of Real Estate Boards, will have charge of the new department.

BIG INCREASE IN COLLECTIONS OF FEDERAL TAXES

New York Paid One-Fourth of All Taxes While North Carolina Paid $149,637,306 On Cigarettes

Washington, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Reduced federal tax rates particularly those on individual incomes resulted in a heavy increase in collections for the fiscal year ended June 30 last, the first year the new rates, were in effect. This was revealed today in the annual report of the Internal Revenue Bureau which showed the total increase to be $251,857,623 and that virtually every levy except the admission tax, yielded larger returns than the fiscal year ended June 30, 1925.

The total Internal Revenue Bureau collections for the past fiscal year from all sources was $2,835,999,892, with more than one-fourth of this amount collected in New York state where income tax receipts were $569,595,474 and miscellaneous revenues $164,224,046. Despite heavy slashes in the personal income rate, individual returns brought $33,639,054 more than in 1925, while corporation levies under a rate increase of one half of one per cent during the last six months of the period totalled $178,747,037 more than in the previous fiscal year. Michigan led all the states in auto tax collections with $84,391,992 while the cigarette tax produced $149,637,306 from North Carolina alone.

500 U. S. NEGRO DOCTORS TO VISIT EUROPE SOON FOR STUDY OF HOSPITALS

London, Sept. 27.—(INS)—Five hundred negro physicians and surgeons from the United States are to visit Europe next summer to study hospital methods in England and the Continent. The doctors who will be accompanied by relatives numbering about 200 will visit Great Britain, France, Belgium, Holland, Germany and Italy, from May until September. A premature announcement of plans for the tour has provoked some lively passages between P. J. Holahan, director of the American Information Service in London, and Prof. William Wright, Dean of the London Hospital Medical School, who declared in an interview to a London newspaper that it was "not desirable to have a large number of negro doctors dumped on any particular hospital. Holahan accused Wright of violating a confidence in disclosing at this time that the tour was contemplated, and declared that he had "insulted" the negro doctors by raising the color question.

NEW WINE RULING HALTS MARKETING OF GRAPES

Cleveland, O., Sept. 27.—(INS)—More than 100 carloads of California grapes are standing on Cleveland railroad sidings awaiting a purchaser. But no purchaser sufficiently brave to defy a federal edict has come forth. Halt on expected sales is caused by a notice posted by Federal authorities saying that permits to manufacture 200 gallons of grape juice per year for each family have been rescinded and the manufacture must stop.

CABLE LETTER

London, Sept. 25.—(AP)—The Prince of Wales golf is improving—but it could still be much better. Daniels, who caddies for the heir aspirant to the throne when he plays over the famous St. George's links at Sandwich, is authority for the statement. Daniels says Wales gets along nicely with the good, frequently making magnificent shots. But his game is somewhat "scratchy." The Duke of York is considered by the caddy a "steady player and more likely to turn a better medal round at the honorable and ancient game than his elder brother. Wales is qualified for membership in the great fraternity of Average golfers. He is satisfied when he breaks 100 over a full course. He has been known, however, to finish 18 holes in the early 90's and to have been very proud of this. The chief difficulty of the prince is making his mashie behave when about 100 yards from the cup. Daniels says only practice will remedy this weakness but that the prince is a very human young man and would rather play a round with a friend than devote the little time he has for golf to dull practice.

The old home in Brampton, Huntingdonshire, of Samuel Pepys, the famous diarist, is to be taken over by the Samuel Pepys club and saved from ruin. Lord Sandwich, the owner, has offered to lease the place for five pounds a year, on condition that it will be maintained in good repair. There is nothing of the grand English country house about the Brampton establishment but Pepys looked forward to peaceful retirement there.

It was in the garden of this house that Pepys buried the money when the English feared the coming of the Dutch, when the danger was past, Pepys retrieved all of it except 20 or 30 gold pieces, and rejoiced greatly.

Paris, Sept. 25.—(AP)—The gum-chewing American doughboy so inculturated the habit in the growing generations from St. Nazaire to the Rhine that an American company is building a new factory for the flavored chicle. It took some time for the tobacco shops to sell out the chewing gum stocks left by the American army in France but the taste was so successfully fostered by the populace that now every cigar store of consequence in Paris has a supply of American gum in airtight containers on their counters.

The 'Bean fair' opened today at Arpajon, a town in the Department of Seine-et-Oise, which is recognized in France as the 'bean home town.' The opening was solemnly celebrated and Boston's right to be known as 'bean town' officially challenged.

The origin of the bean dates back to an early age. Eight hundred years ago French warriors returning from the crusades, failed to bring back the laurels of victory, but they bore the little vegetable which has been of much more use to the world ever since in war as in peace. It was planted and raised here.

The fair is being held in the center of the town. The exhibits consist of uncooked beans in bags of 100 to 200 pounds while countless 'stores' prepare the finished articles to satiate the palates of the visitors.

The stores are deep holes dug in the ground in which there are hot coals of wood fires. The pots are placed in the holes and the beans cook slowly until done.

Here is the story of the Dempsey-Tunney fight at Philadelphia told in the picture. Tunney is upright, prepared to shoot his fist unchecked at Dempsey's head. Dempsey is crouched, vainly trying to land an effective blow on Tunney's stomach. Note Tunney's perfect defense. (International Newsreel).

Nothing like this ever came out of Boston, said an elderly woman who once worked in New England mills. 'Taste it. Flee France, please.'

Berlin, Sept. 25.—(AP)—The 'Charleston forbidden' is a sign greeting devotees of the dance entering a majority of public dance halls in Berlin, especially those on the outskirts. While the dancing masters' association recently announced that the Charleston had come to its own at last, dance hall proprietors rebelled because only a few Berliners could dance it correctly. The remainder, they said, kicked up their heels so awkwardly that other dancers' clothes were ruined, shins were scraped and ankles sprained. Fist fights were frequent. So the proprietors hung out the well-known sign 'Verboten' and chased the Charleston to the confines of hotel ball rooms and cafeterias.

The dramatic critics are wondering what Schiller would have done had he attended the production of his 'The Robbers' at the Staatstheater this week and seen the robbers march out upon the stage looting saxophones and wearing delapidated cutaway coats and stove-in-top hats. Stage manager Edwin Piscator has gone

Haulet in evening dress, and plus one better by converting the robbers and their followers into a modern revolutionary army, made up chiefly of students and intellectuals and having the historic character of Stiegelberg impersonate Leon Trotsky, at whose death a flight plays 'the international.'

LONDON FASHION NOTES

London, Sept. 24.—(INS)—Knee breeches for women's evening wear are the latest dictates of fashion in London.

To be smart a woman must now wear a tailored black moire dinner toilette. The skirt is short and slit at the sides to reveal the black satin court breeches, caught with small diamond buckles at either side. These breeches come below the skirt, which is attached to a bodice cut on the line of a man's evening coat, complete with tails.

This coat opens over a dress shirt of green georgette, the soft collar of which turns over on a man's dress tie. The very opposite of this creation is a crinolette gown with a bodice of ribbed silver tissue. The left side is covered with flat velvet flowers in shades of blue, green, cyclamen, green and yellow. The bodice ties in a huge bow on the left hip, and below spread a voluminous skirt of spotted lavender colored net, decked with frills of narrow silver lace. Underneath is a sheathlike foundation of silver lace. Another of the new fashioning is to glitter in a gown that is all gold sequins, closely massed in a variety of fancy "figures" alternating with stripes against a black background.

And if any woman wants to suggest a moonbeam, there is a model read for her, in the shape of a silver sequined dress; or, if she prefers to resemble a beautiful leaf there are any number of green sequin gowns that will carry out the idea in the most satisfactory way, and there are, too, many rainbow and flower-garden effect, for fashion, as far as evening gowns are concerned, is in a gay mood.

Beads, for the moment, are on the shelf. They are not used to any extent in dress decorations.

On the other hand, bright printed designs are used for adorning a plain fabric. This a bright green chiffon velvet evening gown is bordered with vivid tulips that look as if the flowers were hand-painted on the skirt. A huge cluster of velvet tulips rests on the right shoulder of the evening cloak that accompanies it, of the same flowered velvet.

MEETING OF N. C. C. W. ALUMNAE
On Saturday, October 2, at the Greenville Country Club at 10 p. m., there will be a meeting of the Pitt County Alumnae Association of the North Carolina College for Women. The meeting will be in charge of the chairman, Miss Eva Hodges, who, with various committees has prepared a very interesting program. In the history of the North Carolina College Founder's Day, October 5 has become almost sacred as the date when the college first opened its doors under the leadership of Dr. Charis D. McIver. Regular work is suspended on the campus and appropriate exercises are held. The alumnae take an important part, many of them sending messages or returning to the college for the occasion. This year the event will have an added significance, since the 35th anniversary of the college will be celebrated. All over the state meetings of the local alumnae will be held either on Founder's Day or during the week. It is very important that each member shall notify the chairman of the committee whether she can or cannot attend this meeting, as a very enjoyable luncheon will be served.

HONORS AWAITING LEGION AUXILIARY
Several Unusual Distinctions Will Be Awarded It at National Convention

According to an announcement made by Mrs. John T. Love, of Lexington, president of the Department of North Carolina of the American Legion Auxiliary will carry off several of the highest honors to be awarded at the National Convention of the Auxiliary which will meet in Philadelphia October 11 to 15 inclusive. Mrs. Harry F. Vass, of Winston-Salem, Department Membership Chairman for the past year, is herself the National "Member-Getter" of the Auxiliary, having enrolled in the Auxiliary a greater number of members than any woman in the 53 departments of the United States or the two foreign Departments in which the Auxiliary is organized. Mrs. Vass, by her own individual efforts enrolled 288 members in the Unit of the Clyde Bolling Post No. 55, of Winston-Salem, of which she is president, and won the "member-getter" trophy at the State Convention held in Hickory August 23 and 24. This unit, with a membership of 425, is the largest unit in the state. With 3,655 members and an increase of 162 per cent, the North Carolina Department stands second in the National Organization of the Auxiliary in percentage of increase in membership over the highest former membership. This will seat the North Carolina delegates at the very front of the Convention Hall in Philadelphia, and likewise facing the speakers' table at the States Dinner, the most brilliant social event of the Convention. The Southern Division of the Auxiliary, comprising fourteen Departments, of which North Carolina is one, leads all divisions in increase in membership for the year. The membership of the Division is 29,507, an increase of 37.5 per cent over last year's enrollment. Miss Annie Lee, of Monroe, Department president until the election of Mrs. Lowe at the Hickory Convention, has been very active in bringing up North Carolina's standing during the past year.

THE COX MILL ROAD

With the completion of grading work on the Cox Mill Road, extension, the road will be complete so far as is at present planned, but it will be far from being a road that measures up with the balance of Pitt county's highway system, and if nothing further is done to the road, the grading work will no doubt in a short time prove labor and money thrown away.

The Cox Mill road extension leads into one of the richest sections of the state, and the paving of this piece of highway would bring numbers of people and thousands of dollars in business to Greenville, that are now going to other places. Even now thousands of pounds of tobacco for the Greenville market are being hauled over this road daily and were the road hardsurfaced the total amount of this product would be greatly increased for the farmer who must sell his crop will invariably follow the road especially if it leads to a good market. With the completion of grading the road will be in shape for hardsurfacing and next spring is a good time to start such work, as same would be completed before another tobacco season and would bring in new business to this city and county a good dividend on the investment. It is our understanding that the cost to build necessary bridges and hardsurface the little more than ten miles of unpaved road would be around $350,000 which is small compared with the value the road would be to the community through which it passes, as well as to Greenville.

It is to be hoped that the County Board of Commissioners will take favorable action on the proposition and every citizen of the town and community is urged to use his or her influence with the commissioners to the end that the Cox Mill road extension will become a part of Pitt county's unsurpassed chain of hardsurfaced highways.

PRESS COMMENT

BORAH UNDERSTANDS THEM

(News and Observer)
It is easy to understand why Senator Borah is not beloved by the practical politicians of the Old Guard. Just about the time they are ready to do something crooked, concealing it behind some virtuous claim, Borah exposes the hypocrisy, as he did in the Daugherty matter. He upheld Wheeler when the gang was trying to destroy him for the crime of exposing the corruption in the Department of Justice.

Last week Congressman Wood, Republican chairman, issued an appeal for a Republican House on the alleged idea that Southern Democrats could not be trusted to hold committee chairmanships. At that very time, without knowing of the Wood "bloody shirt" business, Senator Borah was speaking in Idaho and with characteristic plainness of speech was telling the truth about the plans of Southern Republicans. He said:

"The Republican organization of the South is held together and sustained by the worst kind of corruption. I was in the South a few days ago and learned first hand of an incident which illustrates what I mean. A young man was postmaster. He desired reappointment. He had made a good official. The patrons were thoroughly satisfied with him. The political boss, the national committeeman, stated to him, however, that his reappointment would cost him $1,000. He could not pay it. Another gentleman was recommended. That is general practice in the South.

"Whenever there is a real contest in the national convention for the nomination of the presidency, the delegates from the South are sought to be controlled and managed by shameless use of patronage and money. We have political brokers in patronage who are experts in the game. When a presidential campaign is on these political brokers carry their wares to the market. That is corruption at the very source of power.

"It is poisoning the stream at the very well-springs of national influence. The Republican party owes it to itself to clean out that Augean stable. It is a difficult task but the Republican party is big enough and strong enough to do the work.

"It is all right to expose the use of money in the primary. One virtue which the primary has is that it does enable us to expose the use of money more successfully than in conventions. But that is only one phase of the evil. We should also deal with this shameless traffic in public positions which goes on under the very eyes of those in power. United States district attorneys, marshals, postmasterships, should be taken off the market. Let us hope that we will throttle the practice which not only has its say in elections but also its influence and effect throughout the field of legislation and the whole fabric of government."

This proves that nobody understands the Southern Republican party so well as Senator Borah. The traffic in positions could not go on unless representatives of the Washington administration winked at it or approved the course in order to control the delegates to the National Convention. The Southern delegates always vote for the dispenser of patronage and then live on the money it brings on. The fact that there are exceptions proves the rule.

CUPID UP TO DATE

The people of Greenville will be interested to know that the Juvenile-Teachers Association has arranged to sponsor 'Cupid Up to Date,' Wayne P. Sewell's new and best local talent musical comedy.

The people of Greenville remember with pleasure the other shows produced by the Wayne P. Sewell Lyceum Co.: 'Microbe of Love,' 'Mr. and Mrs. Polly Tickle,' 'The Flapper Grandmother,' and 'Rose-tine.' A full house is expected to witness these performances, matinee and night, which will be 100 per cent new, absolutely different and entirely up to date.

Ten reasons. There are ten reasons why you should see 'Cupid Up to Date' at White's Theatre.

- 1. We agree with Shakespeare, 'The Play's the Thing.'
2. Because the play contains science, philosophy, music, art, dancing, singing, comedy, tragedy, humor and love.
3. Because this show contains over 200 pieces of costuming, the most unique, original and cleverly designed of any local production ever staged in the South.
4. Because this play is sponsored by one of our up-to-date organizations and it is patriotic to back your home town and home talent.
5. Because this play is 100 per cent new, absolutely different and entirely up to date.
6. Because Cupid means love, and all the world loves a lover. 'Cupid Up to Date' not only gives you clean, wholesome entertainment, but leaves a beautiful lesson on life.
7. Because twenty-five local children are in this play who sing, dance and act as stars, cats, fairies and bed time children.
8. Because the talented young ladies who dance for you as chorus girls will represent modern chickens, moon beams, monkeys, clocks and cross word puzzles.
9. Because this is a Wayne P. Sewell play and that alone means success. Think of the laughs you get from this play. You must see 'Cupid Up to Date.'
10. Because a good laugh is worth $10.00—come and get your money's worth for 50c, 75c, and $1 at White's Theatre Friday afternoon and Friday night.

MEMBERS KIWANIS CLUB PAY TRIBUTE TO DR. LAUGHINGHOUSE

(Continued from page 1) reward, or hope of reward. "He has been administering to our people for 33 years, and many a man, woman and child is living tonight, due to his skill as a physician. And to think of the pain and suffering he has relieved our people during his many years of practice. I am one who is old enough to remember when he first started his practice in Greenville, with that grand old man, his grandfather, the late Dr. C. J. O'Hagan, whom everybody loved and admired for his skill as a physician, his friendship, kindness, charity and benevolence. "Dr. Laughinghouse had his first training as a partner with his grandfather, a man of learning, who always had the best interest of his community and fellow men at heart. He started practicing with a poor horse and a Flanagan buggy, and we boys who stayed out late at night, and into the wee hours of the morning, frequently heard the rattle of the old buggy and the tramping of the horse on the cold, gray ground, and we would remark, "Here comes old Doctor." And so it was. He had probably been to Back Jack, Pactolus, Grifton or Bethel the same night on a mission of charity.

"A little later came along the automobile. Dr. Laughinghouse was the first to purchase a one-lunged Brush, thinking he could give his patients quick and better service. Frequently you meet him, some distance from town, stuck in the mud, trying as best he could to get some patient probably some lady, to relieve her of as much pain as possible in order that she might pass safely through the shadow of death to bring forth some good citizen who is with us today.

Dr. Laughinghouse has not only been one of our best family physicians, gone into our homes, relieved our suffering, but he has been one of our most progressive citizens, giving his means, time and talent to his people and community.

We will miss you, Doctor. Our Kiwanis club will miss you, our wives and children, our town, and citizenship will miss your advice and consolation, but what is our loss is the State's gain. We want you to remember, if perchance you do not find your field of work entirely to your satisfaction, the gates of Greenville stand ajar for your return. Although we hate to give you up, we look forward to your return, some day, at which time we will welcome you with open arms.

The address by Dr. W. W. Dawson on "Professional Activities of Dr. Laughinghouse," was as follows:

"It is with a great deal of satisfaction, that I am here tonight. I have a most pleasing and satisfactory subject to discuss; that subject being the telling of what Charlie Laughinghouse has done for North Carolina in a professional way. I was asked to tell what he had done for Eastern North Carolina, but his activities in a professional way have been so large that the whole state has been affected by them almost equally. "First, let us glance at the early training of this beloved and respected physician. After his early childhood the first man's influence he came under was that of the Rev. N. Col. Hughes of Old Trinity School, Chocowinity with whom he spent some of his early days getting some of his inspiration from that zealous man. From there to Horner's School to drink of the philosophy of Rom Horner, on to Chapel Hill during the last years of Old Pres. Battle's incumbency, when personal contact with the faulty was close and all the traditions of things was dwelt on at length, then to the University of Pennsylvania for his medical education, and afterwards taking post graduate work at John's Hopkins and elsewhere.

Is it anything but natural that with his native ability, having come in contact with these teachers and men in his young adult life, that he should return here to his home fired with zeal to help humanity, and further encouraged and inspired by that pioneer in medicine in Pitt county, Dr. Chas. O'Hagan.

Plunging into his profession he became connected with the Pitt County Medical Society, State Medical Society, Southern Medical Society, American Medical Association and others. He has been president of the State Medical Society, Tri-State Medical Society, member of the board of Medical Examiners of the State of North Carolina, and a most influential member of the State Board of Health since 1910. He served in the World War with marked distinction, entering with a rank as Major and arising to a Lieutenant Colonelcy as commanding officer of Base Hospital Paris, being mustered out of service in 1919, returning to his home in Greenville to enter private practice again with all his old enthusiasm.

"In 1902 Dr. Laughinghouse delivered an address before the State Medical Society on one of the state's immediate needs as shown by legislative history) giving the need for increased appropriation for public health work in North Carolina. This address was reprinted, circulated and used as the basis for appropriations made by the State Board of Health since that time. At the time of this address public health work in North Carolina was a very negligible thing, but, guided by the wisdom and farsightedness of this paper, the legislature has increased its appropriations until now our work in that line is second to none in the country.

"If Dr. Laughinghouse had never done anything else, but spurred the public health work of this state as he has, the state would owe him a debt of gratitude. In 1916, under the guidance of this man Pitt county established a whole-time health service which has been a boon to the county as we all know, and giving better service all the time.

As medical director for the East Carolina Teachers College, his influence for sanitation and better health conditions through the girls who go out as teachers and mothers cannot be computed.

"As a general practitioner and conferee, Dr. Laughinghouse has been an ideal. I heard a young practitioner of medicine who was raised in Greenville, but now lives elsewhere, having attained eminence in his profession, say publicly that his ambition had always been to know as many things and be as influential as Dr. Laughinghouse. Most of us doctors feel the same way.

The beneficent influence that Dr. Laughinghouse has wielded in medicine in his community, county, section and state, cannot be recounted in words. It has to be studied to be appreciated. "With all of his successes and accomplishments there is one thing which has probably been nearer to his heart than any other project he has ever thought of and reasoned over that has not materialized as yet. Although he, with others, have been successful in the establishment of a hospital in this county, privately owned, yet his pet and most cherished vision or dream has not come true, that is, a publicly owned and operated institution for the care of the sick and help less that can be contributed to by all available agencies, looking after the needy and developing a medical center for his beloved Pitt county second to none. Perhaps he has expended more energy and enthusiasm over this one thing than any other, it has been very close to accomplishment several times and it is not so far away now. Can we do better in wishing Charlie Laughinghouse godspeed in his new and broader work than dedicate ourselves to the accomplishment of this unfinished task?"

San Francisco, Sept. 27.—(INS)—Fourteen year old Nathan Levy, all the way from Palestine, passed through San Francisco the other day headed for Los Angeles where he was to join his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Solomon Levy.

All he had with him was a big smile on his face, one suitcase and a dollar bill. He hadn't seen his father in thirteen years and he hadn't the faintest recollection of what dad looked like.

Mrs. Levy came to this country three years ago to join her husband. Since that time they have made good in the poultry business and they sent Nathan enough money to come to Los Angeles.

But here's the reason for recording all this: The dollar that Nathan had was given him in Omaha.

When he passed through San Francisco he still had the identical bill, and the chances are he arrived with it in Los Angeles.

On both sides of the south corridor in the city prison here there are large mural paintings that reach from the floor to the ceiling. They have been there for years.

Among them are pictures of Grant's Tomb, the Washington Monument, Yosemite, Lonesome Pine and Old Homestead.

The name of the artist who painted these murals is unknown. In a corner of each of the paintings are the initials T. B., but nobody knows who T. B. was or is. Nobody even knew how the paintings got there.

The mystery, however, was cleared up somewhat the other day when up the elevator came a man with a cane, a goatee and an eight inch cigarette holder in his mouth. He asked if he could look around, especially in the south corridor.

He walked through the whole length, now and then taking off and putting on his eyeglasses as he studied the paintings. When he had finished with them he remarked:

"I did that work. It is the last of the sort I ever did. You may think it pretty rotten and perhaps it is. But it was the making of me."

"Fact is that I used to get pinched once in a while and have to stay in jail for 30 days or so. The last time I was in Lieutenant Tom Tobin, now retired, gave me some brushes and paints and told me to do some decorating."

"When my time was up and the work completed I said to Tobin: I am through with red wine. He said, 'Those so. I never touched a drop from that day to this. You see that picture of a farmhouse? That is where I was raised. Well, everything looks natural around here. I guess I spent more time in this place than you have.'"

And before anybody could get his tongue he was gone.

Carl Applegate, San Francisco citizen, just simply hasn't any luck at all when it comes to dodging automobiles.

The other day in Oakland Carl dodged to the right and left and then jumped straight up in the air but he couldn't escape being run down by Miss Dollie Curran, Oakland girl.

Applegate told police and hospital authorities that he tried three ways on land and then took a flying leap into the air with a vain hope of vaulting the pursuing automobile.

He was knocked to the pavement, however, in spite of all efforts.

Miss Curran took him to an emergency hospital where he was treated for cuts and abrasions.

What price royalty? The Queen of Roumania is coming with her charming daughter Princess Lieana. The young lady, related to King George, the recent German Kaiser, and the late Czar, might consider marrying a young American, able to finance a royal wife.

Boris, young bachelor, King of Bulgaria, also plans to visit us. Some American father might get him for his daughter and be royalty's father-in-law.

Since Mrs. Leda, widow of the tin plate king married a Greek Prince, financed a Greek revolution and died just as she had finished spending her money, the ambitious eyes of Europe turn this way. A comparatively small fortune, say half a million or a million income could do wonders in a Balkan kingdom.

What is it that frightens men, making them more and more timid as they climb higher in the world of success? There is a story of a king frightened in a thunder storm who said to one that expressed sure "OF COURSE YOU are not frightened. You are not a king, lightning would not strike you."

All American citizens are supposed to be kings and many of them are frightened in the midst of their prosperity.

Eight out of ten Americans will ask you, "What do you think of business conditions? Does everything look all right for the next five or six months?" They specify a number of months with an eye to business commitments.

What is there to worry about in this country, if we mind our business and continue to work? Apart from the fact that the nation is absolutely unprepared for attack in war, there is nothing to worry us. And war for some years to come is not probable. Therefore amiable, optimistic amateurs in charge of the nation's defense are no great menace yet.

If there is anything a nation needs that we haven't got, what is it? Men like gold, we have more than half of all there is in the world.

We have the greatest crops on earth, plenty of land to double and treble them.

We have 115,000,000 of people and could soon have two hundred and fifty millions and be individually and collectively twice as rich as we are now, if we had the intelligence to encourage instead of shutting off immigration.

There has never been such prosperity as ours, and it has only begun.

'It hath not yet been shown what we shall be.' And yet, intelligent Americans are nervous.

STOCKS
New York, Sept. 27.—(AP)—Stock prices headed upward again today as indications of more staple money conditions appeared. Initial gains of a point were registered by Baldwin, Dupont, General Asphalt, Atchison, Postal Cereal and Brooklyn-Edison. A few points of weakness remained however. Selling of mining stocks such as American Smelting and Anaconda were based on the sharp drop in silver prices. U. S. Steel also was heavy.
