

AMERICAS JOIN IN BATTLE ON TUBERCULOSIS

Campaign Against Serious Ravages of Disease Will Be Organized; International Discussions Prove of Great Benefit in Carrying on Work

Washington, Oct. 4.—(AP)—North and South America will join hands in a campaign against the ravages of pulmonary tuberculosis under plans outlined by the Pan American Sanitary Bureau, following the recent conference here of Pan American directors of public health and the International Union Against Tuberculosis.

Tuberculosis, which for many years has constituted one of the most serious health problems of the United States, is a problem in all Pan American countries, despite the great progress made, especially in South America, in combating it, according to Dr. B. J. Jones, assistant director of the Pan American Sanitary Bureau. In formation, which several South American public health officers asked in the informational discussions here and in first hand study and investigation, is expected to prove of great benefit in carrying on the work.

Following the health officers' conference, Dr. Paul Lelita de Cunha, director of the sanitary services of the federal district of Brazil, embarked upon a visit to some of the leading health centers of the United States to make an investigation of public health methods employed. Dr. Cleonides Blasco Galindo of Bolivia, Dr. Pablo A. Suarez of Ecuador and Dr. Antonio Vidal of Honduras are investigating public health problems before returning to their homes.

In addition to the campaign against tuberculosis, the health officers of the western hemisphere who gathered here (Sept. 27-29) pledged themselves to make special investigation to aid in the eradication of plague, ending the world monopoly in quinine held by the Dutch East Indies and to make practical studies to be presented at the Pan American Sanitary Conference at Lima, Peru, next year.

that the output, restricted almost solely to the Dutch East Indies, is restricted under government monopoly. The chicon tree, from which quinine is made, is indigenous to Peru, Bolivia, Ecuador and Columbia, according to Dr. Cumming. The recent international conference here recommended that governments of these nations an investigation of the advantages of cultivation of the chicon tree.

PARIS STYLE HINTS

Paris, Oct. 6.—(INS)—Pretty legs will be warm this winter if Lame Fashion can persuade the use of high gaiters which she is bringing out to wear with cold weather costumes.

The new gaiters are of cloth and go with the coat above them, usually made of the same material or contrasting with it. They are very nice and soft and not too thick to make slim legs look ungainly. Besides giving warmth they will do wonders to prevent the mud-splashed stockings so familiar in Paris where the rain comes down often. There are no buttons to bother with, for they close up with the new 'zip' fastenings which are very speedy and practical.

Doctors are urging the dress-makers to make the gaiters an important item of their new winter models and to show them with each and every coat, believing they are quite necessary to health and besides, give a pretty touch, with a little Russian air. Just how women will feel remains to be seen.

Iridescent shoes are the latest novelty for the feet and come made of a curious, lacquered kind that is dark in the shade but glows with blue, green and rose reflections when the light falls upon it. They are dyed, painted, incrustated and plated in innumerable ways to get new effects. A change was needed from the usual varnished black leather.

THE COUNTY FAIR

The following editorial
from the Dearborn Independent, in glowing terms sets forth just how great an institution is the county fair and what it means to a community. What the Dearborn paper says of the county fair in general might well be applied to our own Pitt County Fair, which opens in this city next Tuesday:

"The harvest moon, yellow as a new cheese, rides high in the heavens. The sun sinks in shrouded majesty, lighting a canopy of clouds banked in the west.
A haunting mist softens the lines of the high board fence the grandstand and the judges stand at the race track. The twin lights of hundreds of automobiles are gently blurred like stars beneath a filmy cloud. The evening breeze wafts the scent of new-cut corn across the country. All is in readiness for tomorrow's county fair. For weeks the children and their parents have been looking forward to the event. The women folk have been canning fruit and making pickles for the exhibit. The men have fed and groomed the colt, the calf and the shorthorn. Tomorrow is the big day. In the households and in the fields and barns careful preparations have been made for the scheduled competitive events. Here, also, will be a great open forum for the discussion of the issues which interest the farmer folk. The astute campaigner for county office will be bustling about with the proverbial box of cigars under one arm, the other free to lift little Johnny Jones and his sister to his knee while he praises
them to their parents.
Properly done this means
two votes and maybe more.
The displays in the agricultural hall are properly arranged, as well as the exhibits of new machinery and other mechanical devices.
The county fair is a great institution. Long may it live."

CZECH REGIME NOW GATHERING BENES TARGET

25 YEARS TO END PRIVATE TIMBER IN WASHINGTON

Discontent is Growing Though Re-election of Dr. Masaryk is Likely; No Danger of Fascist Coup is Seen, and Move for Dictator Not Strong.

Washington, Oct. 6.—(INS)—Growing discontent in Czechoslovakia with the Masaryk-Benes regime is assuming proportions of a movement against the present government, Dr. Ferdinand Pelikan, editor of the Review Kuch Filozoficky, of Prague, declared here today.

Pelikan is expected to return to Europe soon with the word that thousands of Czechs in United States are largely in accord with the new turn of affairs.

While President Masaryk's re-election next year is anticipated American Czechs insist that Edward Benes, the foreign minister must go.

That the present regime is tottering to its fall is obvious to observers, Pelikan declared. But it is equally obvious that a change will be brought about by democratic methods.

Pelikan denied that there is any probability of a fascist coup d'etat and likewise he cast into the discard any idea that Czechoslovakia will come under the hand of a dictator.

I can assert unqualifiedly that in the Italian sense of the term there is no fascism in Czechoslovakia, Pelikan said.

What does exist is a profound discontent with the present regime on the part of the masses who bore the struggle for independence and who resent the attempts of the present holders of power to bring the Germans into the government without real German reconciliation with the republic, Pelikan added.

The German minority in Czechoslovakia was said to be imbued with the idea that the national state is being pushed into the back ground.

Pelikan also referred to opposition on the part of the masses to international capital, termed very powerful in the republic.

Much of the opposition to the present regime is out to the personal unpopularity of Dr. Benes, who actuated by presidential aspirations, has antagonized most of his war time friends and is at logger heads with almost all the influential politicians of the country, Pelikan declared.

Benes is maintained in office only through the influence of President Masaryk, according to Pelikan.

Apparently there are a series of movements in Czechoslovakia against the Benes regime, none of which as yet have produced a real leader. An effort is being made, it was learned, to crystallize these efforts under a single outstanding man who would bring them to a successful conclusion.

Seattle, Oct. 6.—(INS)—The state of Washington's privately owned timber supply will become exhausted within the next 25 years at the present rate of consumption, according to figures compiled by Victor Beckman, Seattle lumber statistician.

Timber holdings in Washington comprises 3,404,000 acres privately owned; 9,000,000 acres in national forests, and 2,000,000 owned by the state. Private timber is being logged off at the rate of 100,000 acres a year. Including what is being cut from federal and state lands it amounts to approximately 250,000 acres annually.

The annual payroll of the lumber industry in the state is $113,784,023, according to Mr. Beckman's figures. The daily capacity of sawmills is 26,842,000 feet of lumber, and of shingle mills 38,891,000 pieces. The daily log capacity is 41,709,500 feet log scale. The total value of the industry is $226,892,894 or $390 for every man, woman and child.

OHIO ELECTRIC COMPANY AWARDED COFFIN MEDAL

Cleveland, O., Oct. 5.—(AP)—The Pennsylvania Ohio Electric Company today was awarded the Charles A. Coffin award as the local transportation organization which in 1926 had done most for the industry.

The award consisting of a gold medal for the company and $1000 in cash for the employees' benefit fund, is each year contributed by the General Electric Company and is awarded by the American Electric Railway Association. The winning company operates a city and intercity service in the vicinity of Youngstown, Ohio.

BERLIN BANS NUDITY, BUT THERE IS LOOPHOLE

Berlin, Oct. 5.—(AP)—It is prohibitive to present nude or im properly draped form on the stage. Berlin police have decreed. And yet, there are certain subtle distinctions by which the letter of this regulation is to be evaded.

For the injunction stipulates distinctly that the interdiction refer, to the almost nude or insufficiently clad figure in motion, whereas the stationary human form is considered permissible, in this airy make-up as it gives the impression of a statue, which is not so objectionable.

As theatrical censorship has been abolished in Germany, however, the only means left the Police to enforce this present is to attend every first night performance.

It's a mistake to say gasoline doesn't mix with moonshine. It does—and always with fatal consequences. Tanager, Nashville, 9 sequences.—Nashville Banner.

(Continued from page 1) should be necessary. We could afford to build an adequate flying fleet. Secretary Mellon's management of the Treasury makes anything possible. Three months' income for the first quarter of the present fiscal year is one billion, five million and a half of dollars, eighty five millions more than last year, why not spend a few of those millions, even two or three billions if necessary, to make this country absolutely safe, with such a fleet of submarines and airplanes, adequately manned, as would insure in European nations the respect they always pay to superior force.

dren bankers grabbing at usurious interest rates and discounts ought to digest that lesson. They are now lending billions of the American people's money to various concerns in Europe. Many of those billions will never come back. However that's another story. The important point made by Stalin is that it might pay the United States to be friendly with Russia. Stalin said that Russia now needs the United States. Possibly that day might come when the United States might need Russia's friendship. That statement interests President Coolidge more than any other American. He can't help knowing how Europe hates this country and he is responsible for the country's welfare, as President, and as head of the army and navy. No one appreciates the perils of motoring like the pedestrian. Lakeland Ledger.

Yankees Even Series With the Cardinals

(Continued from page one) up. Strike one was called on the batter. Hornsby made an easy play of Koenig's roller and threw him out. Ruth up. Cheers and boos greeted him. Ruth took the first ball pitched and hit another home run over the right field stands into the street. He was loudly applauded. Rhem had tried to fool him with a slow ball. It was Ruth's sixth world series home run. Meusel up. Strike one was called. Strike two, he swung at this one. Ball one, high and inside. Meusel had to jump away from the plate in order not to get hit; ball two, outside. Rhem threw out Meusel at first. One run, one hit, no errors. The stands applauded Babe Ruth as he went out to left field.

Ball two, too low and inside; ball three inside. Combs got a free pass to first base the fourth pitch going wide of the plate. Koenig up. Strike one, called; strike two, he swung at it. Koenig slammed the ball into right field for two bases. Combs did some fast base running and got a run. The mighty Babe at the plate. Ball one, low; ball two, inside. Strike one, he swung at it; ball three, inside. Ruth walks, the fourth pitch being outside. Meusel up. Strike one, called; ball one, too high; ball two, outside; foul, strike two; ball three outside. The game delay d when Hornsby came in and talked to Reihart. Hornsby went back to second base and the game resumed. Reinhart was still in the box. Meusel got a base on balls, and the bases were filled. Gehrig up. Ball one, inside; ball two low and outside; strike one called; strike two, he swung at it; ball three, high and inside. Koenig handed a run when Gehrig got a base on balls. Koenig being forced to cross home plate. The bases still were full. Hornsby sent Reinhart to the showers. H. Bell was called to the box. Bases were still filled. Two runs had been scored and there were no outs. Lazzari up. Ball one, inside; foul, strike one. Babe Ruth scores on Lazzari's sacrifice fly to Southworth. It was the Babe's third run of the game out of three times at the bat. Meusel went to third on the play while Gehrig held to first base. The stands were filled to overflowing but there was not the joy which had reigned at the end of the fourth inning when St. Louis took the lead by scoring three runs. On the contrary there was a tense silence over all except the Yankee rooters as the Yankee batters did their deadly work. Dugan up. Strike one was called. Meusel scored while O'Farrell was throwing Dugan out at first. Gehrig went to second. Severeid up. Gehrig went to third on a balk. Ball one; ball two, outside; ball three, outside. Severeid was purposely passed. Hoyt up. Ball one, too high. Hoyt forced Severeid, the play being Hornsby to Thevenow. Four runs, one hit, no errors.

Cardinals—Hornsby up. Ball one, inside; strike one, he swung at it; ball two, inside; strike two, he swung at it; ball three, outside; strike one was called. Lazzari scored on Dugan's two-base into left field. Douthit and Hafey collided trying to make the catch. The two players were knocked to the ground and were unable to arise. Lazzari crossed the plate as the ball bounded away from Douthit. Time was called and the players of both clubs rushed to the outfield. It was apparent that both players were badly shaken up. After a couple of minutes the two St. Louis outfielders arose and the Cardinals took their places in the field. The crowds cheered when it seemed that both players could continue in the game. Severeid up. Ball one, inside; strike one was called; Severeid singled into center and Dugan was thrown out at the plate, the play being Douthit to O'Farrell. Hoyt up. Ball one, inside; foul, strike one; foul strike two; Hoyt struck out, taking a third called strike. One run, two hits, no errors.

Cardinals—Bell up. Hoeng made a nice running catch of Bell's fly. Hafey up. Hafey got a single over the middle bag. O'Farrell up. Ball one, too low; foul, strike one; Meusel came in from right field to second base and the players gathered around him. The Trainer was called and it appeared as if Meusel was ill. He washed his mouth out several times with water. The trainer talked to him for several minutes. Meusel finally went back to right field and play was resumed. The batter had one ball and one strike. Ball two, inside; Koenig fumbled O'Farrell's grounder when a double play was in sight. Hafey went to second. Thevenow up. Strike one was called; foul, strike two; ball one, high and inside. Hafey scored on Thevenow's double to right. O'Farrell went to third. Toporcer batted for Rhem. Toporcer up. Strike one, he swung at it; strike two, he swung at it; foul. Toporcer fled out to Combs and O'Farrell scored after the catch, tying the score. Combs' throw was wide. Thevenow held second. Douthit up. Strike one called; strike two, he swung at it. Douthit wanted to help out his team and he swung mighty hard. Foul; ball one, too high; ball two, outside. Thevenow scored on Douthit's double to right field. The stands went wild. Southworth up. Strike one, he swung at it; strike two, again he swung hard. Southworth singled to left field, but Douthit was thrown out at the plate, the play being from Ruth to Severeid. Three runs, four hits, one error.
