ACTUAL DRILLING FOR OIL HERE EXPECTED TO GET UNDER WAY SOON

Arrangements Now Being Made to Secure Experts to Supervise Work on the Westbrook Estate

Oil was the chief topic of conversation here today and inquiries flowed in from all directions regarding the announcement yesterday of the belief that oil had been discovered here on the property of Mrs. Jack L. Westbrook.

Within the Westbrook home however, everything was not idleness, for the owner was busily carrying on her plans for the future and endeavoring to ascertain the next step to take to bring to the surface the large quantity of oil believed at present to be entombed beneath her property.

State officials are expected here probably tomorrow to make a survey of the situation and designate the spot most suitable for the sinking of the first drill, and pending their arrival, Mrs. Westbrook is going ahead with her plans in an orderly manner.

As soon as all arrangements can be completed it is expected that equipment will be transported to the property and actual drilling for the oil will begin.

College Putting On Attractive Exhibit at Fair

Every afternoon during the week of the Pitt County Fair, students of the home economics department and the basketry class of the East Carolina Teachers College will give demonstrations in the Home Demonstration building.

Tuesday afternoon, from 2:30 to 3:30, Miss Catherine Clark will give a lesson in cake decoration. In an adjoining booth at the same time, Misses Rebekah Alexander, Kathleen Faison, Mary White and Gladys Tingle will show how baskets are made.

Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 Miss Gladys Kilpatrick will prepare a number of appetizing egg dishes. Immediately after this, there will be another demonstration in basket making.

A variety of vegetable dishes will be cooked by Miss Virginia Blount Thursday afternoon. The problems in clothing for that day will be alteration of patterns and the selection of collars becoming to different types of individuals.

The making of quick breads and fruit salads will be shown on Friday from 2:30 to 3:30. Elva Wheeler Tucker will demonstrate fruit salad, and Margaret Williams quick breads.

The Wasp Waist, Interesting War, How We Die, No Eternal Torture. By ARTHUR BRISBANE

Wasp Waists are coming back, says Fashion. The loose dress conceals a tightly laced corset making the already too thin woman look thinner.

The London Express, owned by Beaverbrook, well informed, says Mussolini preparing war against Turkey, will make conquests in the year. Perhaps he will ruin these regions, restoring ruined Roman temples, as Laoculis, to oblige his patriotic young Greek girl friend, restored temples in Greece.

It would be interesting to Mussolini and Pasha. The latter, you remember, sent word to Mussolini to make war against me, and your trouble will be to bury your ground for your dead Italians.

Such a war would show how much of the Italian Bonaparte survives in Mussolini, how much of the old Mohammedan conquerors in Kemal.

Let us hope no sloppy American statesman will find it necessary to send our men to that fight of finance it, as it goes along. Once was enough.

Some day, says a London publication, death certificates will tell the truth for instance: "Died after thirty years of over-work."

"Smothered to death, worked, lived and slept in unventilated rooms." "Poisoned by his wife, she did not know how to cook."

To millions of death certificates might be added, "Died at the top. His brains never taught to work gradually dried up."

In America, big life insurance companies, that pay bills for millions of funerals, fight foolish living and death very ably, with advertising and free advice.

Under Mr. Haley Fisk's management the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, for instance, has prolonged millions of lives by intelligent health advertising campaigns. It has doubtless saved $10 in continued premiums and diminished death payments for every dollar spent on advertising.

The Bishop of Liverpool and 'Ghomy' Dean Inge agree that Christians no longer fear or believe in eternal punishment.

The dean says christianity has given up the 'eternal torment' belief during the past 75 years, and adds "It is strange men ever believed that God, whom Christ came to reveal, is an implacable torturer."

The old colored brother looked at it practically: "I don't believe in fire and brimstone lasting forever, because I don't believe no constitution could stand it."

Those that mourn the loss of an omnipotent being creating miserable, imperfect creatures, then torturing them with fire for billions of years, may find comfort in the fact that things really worth while are not done through fear. ABSENCE of fear makes them possible.

SAN FRANCISCO TERRORIZED BY ORGY OF CRIME

All Available Police and Firemen Placed on Duty in Effort to Quell Maniacal Gunmen

San Francisco, Oct. 12.—(AP)—Every San Francisco policeman in uniform, or otherwise on duty, was called back to his post today to join in a concerted effort of the police department to round up two maniacal young men who have carried on a wanton raid of dilling, robbery and shooting since Saturday night.

Striking readily in various parts of the city, the bandits last night allowed up an orgy of crime on Sunday night and Sunday by dilling three men and wounding five others, either by shooting them or by beating them with pistol butts.

Two Arrested in By Local Officers

Two negroes, thirty gallons of whiskey and an automobile were taken in a raid last night staged by local officers.

The negroes gave their names as Kemp Joyner and Robert Godst and their home as New Bern. The negroes were captured near the corner of Fourteenth and Washington streets and the automobile in which they were riding was found to contain thirty gallons of whiskey.

The officers who took part in the raid were McKee, C. E. Jones and Steele.

STRUCK BY AUTO, DIES OF INJURIES

Henderson Youth Died Last Night From Injuries Received While Skating On Street

Henderson, Oct. 12.—(AP)—Kenneth Patterson, 11 year old son of Dr. Kenneth H. Patterson, of this city, died last night in a local hospital from injuries received when struck by an automobile. The car was driven by W. H. Bullock, a negro.

It was reported as an unavoidable accident, and no charges have been lodged against the negro.

TOBACCO MARKET AVERAGED $30.71 HERE YESTERDAY

The Greenville Tobacco Market yesterday broke all seasons' records for the high dollar when the entire sale of the market, averaged $30.71 per hundred pounds. The prices on all grades showed considerable strength and 90 cents a pound for some of the better grades was not uncommon on yesterday's sales.

Babe Ruth Saves His Life

Doctors credited two baseballs, autographed by Babe Ruth and other World Series players, with saving the life of Joby Dale Sylvester, eleven, of Essex Falls, N. J. The balls, rushed from St. Louis by airplane, revived the boy's vitality after doctors despaired of saving his life from blood poisoning.

PREDICTS FIGHT ON TAX REVISION NORTH CAROLINA GOVERNMENT WILL AID IN HANDLING OF COTTON CROP

Greensboro Editor Declares Next Fight in State to Be Over Re-organization Tax System

Chapel Hill, Oct. 12.—(AP)—"The next great fight in North Carolina will come in the next two years and it will be over the question of re-organizing our system of taxation so that the rich and poor man will pay his just proportion and no more," declared E. B. Jeffress, publisher of the Greensboro Daily News and Mayor of Greensboro, speaking here today at founders' day exercises on the occasion of the 133rd birthday of the University of North Carolina.

Alfred M. Scales, of Greensboro, President of the General Alumni Association, who was to have delivered the address was unable to attend on account of illness.

"We are facing a critical period in North Carolina today," Mr. Jeffress asserted. "We have pulled ourselves out of the bounds of poverty and are now in a materialistic age. Wealth in itself is a great thing for any state, but on great trouble about it is that after it gets to a point that it becomes selfish and does not want to do its part. We are now engaged in a struggle between those who say we have gone too far and those who say we have not gone far enough."

"The state cannot afford to fail in its educational program. It must find the means to go ahead."

DAUGHERTY AND MILLER MAY NOT BE TRIED AGAIN

Long Drawn Out Trial of Former Government Officials Ends in Disagreement by Jury

New York, Oct. 12.—(AP)—There was doubt today whether Harry M. Daugherty and Thomas W. Miller would be tried again on charges of conspiracy against the United States while they were Attorney General and Alien Property Custodian, respectively.

"I will not be able to tell for a month at least, whether I'll bring them to trial again or not," said Federal Attorney Buckner, after a jury disagreed yesterday.

The jury, after hearing evidence for five weeks, debated its verdict for 65 hours, and forty minutes before the court accepted a report of disagreement. That is a record for federal courts in the district. The final vote was seven to five for conviction for Daugherty and ten to two for conviction of Miller, some jurors said. The charge was conspiracy to defraud the United States of honest services in the transfer of $7,000,000 worth of stock in the American Metal Company to alien interests.

Mr. Daugherty has left for his home in Columbus, Ohio. His first purpose is to have treated one eye which has been inflamed by a cold. He is also eager to see his mother.

Colonel Miller is going home to Wilmington, Delaware, to see his two children, and then to the American Legion convention in Philadelphia, after which he expects to go hunting with the Governor of Nevada.

Tunney Invited to Referee Charlotte Races on Nov. 11

Charlotte, Oct. 12.—(INS)—Gene Tunney, newly crowned heavyweight champion of the world, has been invited to Charlotte to act as referee for the Speedway races to be held here Armistice Day, Nov. 11.

Tunney's invitation was sent through Tex Rickard, promoter of the recent heavyweight battle between Tunney and Jack Dempsey, who is expected here to confer with speedway officials in regard to managing the corporation to be formed by the merger of four leading speedway tracks, which is scheduled to be completed at the forthcoming race.

C. W. Roberts, manager of the Charlotte speedway, sent Tunney an invitation to referee the races through Rickard, and says that he expects the heavyweight champion to accompany the promoter here.

Roberts will have a conference with Rickard in New York during the next few weeks and expects to extend Tunney a personal invitation at that time. Rickard will probably promote Tunney's next fight and they are good friends, Roberts pointed out, and Tunney will probably accompany Rickard here.

TREMENDOUS CROWDS ATTEND OPENING OF PITT COUNTY FAIR

REPRESENTATIVES OF COTTON STATES MEET IN MEMPHIS

Gathering Will Attempt to Adopt Best Method of Marketing Present Crop of Cotton

Memphis, Tenn., Oct. 12.—(AP)—Representatives of cotton growing states were assembled here today for a conference tomorrow which will attempt to determine methods of marketing present cotton crop at 1927 planting.

Delegations of bankers, planters, business men, and educators will attend the conference, which was called by Governor Whitfield, of Mississippi.

At a conference yesterday in Osceola, Arkansas, representatives of the cotton growing industries moved to meet the low price emergency by legislative enactment requiring a 50 per cent reduction in acreage for 1927. The General Assembly of Arkansas was called on to enact a law guaranteeing a cut of 50 per cent in next year's crop.

Federal Reserve bank officials in New Orleans yesterday stated that sufficient money is available to finance cotton growers if a plan can be worked out whereby the banker will be assured of a reduction in next year's crop.

The agriculture committee of the North Carolina Bankers' Association, meeting in Raleigh yesterday, commended the Memphis conference and recommended that North Carolina delegates push a plan to retire 8,000,000 acres from the market this year and to reduce acreage at least 25 per cent next year. The committee also adopted a resolution to extend credit only to farmers who agree to the crop reduction.

Raleigh, Oct. 12.—(AP)—The case against Reverend George Wood, minister of Kinston, charged with manslaughter in connection with the slaying of J. B. Vickers, a state prisoner here on September 1, was continued today in Wake superior court until the first Wednesday of the November term. A continuance was granted at the request of James H. Pou, a member of the defense counsel, who explained that J. G. Dawson, chief defense lawyer is unable to attend court this week on account of other business. Mr. Dawson is busy as chairman of the state Democratic executive committee.

Annual Gala Occasion Got Under Way Here Today With Greatest Variety of Exhibits Ever Offered

With tremendous crowds filling the grandstands and other spaces about the grounds the Pitt County Fair formally got under way here this afternoon with what is believed will be the most successful fair ever staged here. Long before the time set for the official opening followed by the afternoon races and other attractions, thousands of persons of all ages had thronged the grounds and each was finding something to attract his or her interest.

Some paused to gaze at and admire the big pumpkin, the fat porker and hundreds of other products of the farm. Some were attracted by exhibits of art or educational work in the county, others took delight in the exhibits of the Home Demonstration Department, and so on down the line of the large variety of exhibits, while others found attractions along the midway and hundreds upon arrival went straight to the grandstand in order to secure the most advantageous seat from which to watch the football and the progress of the afternoon race.

All in all it was a colorful gathering and there was amusement for all. In addition to the exhibits and midway attractions, the daily program during the entire week is one that will attract the attention of all. Each afternoon there are startling free acts, horse races and a balloon ascension, while the evenings are featured by free acts, a balloon ascension and a fireworks display.

In addition to being the opening day, today was School Day at the fair, and local schools observed holiday this afternoon to permit the little folks to attend and take part in the big event. All school children of the county were admitted to the fair grounds free of charge today.

Hobbs in Shipwreck On Greenland Trip

Ann Arbor, Mich., Oct. 12.—(INS)—A story of shipwreck and discovery which will form the basis of his report to the committee in charge of the expedition, was told here by Prof. William Herbert Hobbs, famous geologist from the University of Michigan, who reached here from the expedition to Greenland which he conducted this summer.

Prof. Hobbs disclosed the danger in which his party was thrown when the Schooner Morrissy, which had been chartered by the American Museum, was cast on a reef in the sea south of Greenland. The ship lost its keel and was damaged by the rocks so that the pumps had to be manned continuously. Several holes were found in the bottom when the Morrissy was hoisted and Prof. Hobbs with his associates were compelled to pump for their lives.

The Morrissy ran into a hazardous when it was 24 hours out of Holstenburg and the propeller sank to the bottom of the sea. The boat weathered the storm and the damage was repaired again.

Prof. Hobbs headed the expedition which had as its object the establishment of weather stations in far off Greenland.

U. S. CASH BACKS THE RUM MEN ACROSS BORDER

Washington, October 12, (INS)—Rum running has been developed to its highest pitch of efficiency on the Detroit river section of the Canadian border, according to federal dry officials.

This "sector" of the rum war front is regarded as the government's most serious problem in stopping the inward flow of foreign liquor.

The Canadian Rum trust, backed probably by American capital and manned chiefly by Americans, has developed a distribution machine in that district comparable to that of the big industries.

On the Canadian side are numerous liquor warehouses connected to the river by canals. Leading to the warehouses are railroad spur tracks furnishing direct communication from the Canadian liquor centers.

The "trust" has erected a number of boat houses on the American side of the river to house liquor smuggled over the border.

The dash from Canada to United States requires three to five minutes, according to the speed of the boat.

Liquor Stores Safe

The liquor stores thus placed on American soil are safe from molestation by the government excepting through the use of the search warrants, extremely difficult to obtain unless evidence of sale is furnished. Liquor is never sold from boat houses, but taken to Detroit or other market by automobile.

Government agents have the best opportunity to grab the smugglers on the river, but ever that chance is extremely thin.

"The Detroit river district is the scene of probably the greatest activity of rum runners for an area of the size. Just how much whiskey and beer goes through this section nobody can guess but the volume is extremely heavy."

The Detroit river sector was first handled by the prohibition unit of the land army of the government in the rum war. Later it was transferred to the control of the customs service, but was subsequently sent back to the dry unit. Responsibility for enforcement is now in the hands of the prohibition administrator for Ohio and Michigan.

Officials explained that liquor is shipped to the Canadian border on freight cars, titled "for Mexico." These shipments are entirely legal under the Canadian law and even operations of the liquor treaty between Canada and the United States cannot improve the situation.

Another danger zone on the Canadian border is in the vicinity of Niagara Falls. A considerable volume of liquor crosses Lake Ontario in fast motor boats. Smuggling is fairly general on the northern New York border, where the runners concentrate on furnishing a supply of beer and ale to the American trade.

Thousands of automobiles have been captured by the customs service in Northern New York in the last few months. Most of them are employed by the customs and prohibition authorities in the battle against smugglers.

The Florida district is still giving ing the government considerable trouble. M. O. Dunning, collector of customs at Savannah, Ga., and prohibition czar of the Southeast, making a good record having captured a greater number of motorboats and schooners.

Winter Operations

During the winter smugglers operating with the Bahama Islands and Cuba as bases, rushed liquor to the American shore almost daily. Probably fifty percent of the smugglers got by the coast patrol owing to lack of facilities for guarding the coast.

Smugglers, officials explained, "shoot at," and in addition they sent many of their liquor ships round to the West Coast of Florida where big bases hidden in the swamps formed a refuge for the rum runners and their wares until it could be delivered to the markets.

Smugglers are continuing their liquor running on the Northeastern Coast of United States, where scattered rum row has lurked for several years. The heavy concentration of Coast Guard cutters west, has held smuggling in this district to a minimum.

PARIS STYLE HINTS

Paris, Oct. 11, (INS)—Nothing comes back as regularly as black. In any season, and especially in Paris, a black costume is always chic, but it seems particularly so this year when Parisian couturiers are showing an amazing percentage of black frocks.

Black satin, black moiree and black velvet all go to make smart coats and frocks. But this does not mean full black, although it is also very chic, but black usually is set off with some bright color.

Molyneux and Chanel like black crepe for daytime wear, with its dull crepe surface and its extreme aristocracy. Lanvin is using black tasha which is also very distinguished. Girls of 18 summers are wearing black broad cloth and many Paris dressmakers are using it for sports costumes.

One of the great successes of the season is a black broadcloth sports ensemble, called "Pickwick." It is in three pieces with a two-thirds coat and a one-third jacket. The skirt is straight black broadcloth with a straight waist and a gilet of white crepe de chine buttoned up the front. The jacket is of black cotton velvet.

Lucia Leborg is showing an elegant heavy black pile velvet coat with brown marlin cuffs and collar. The bodice of the frock is in black crepe de chine and the skirt straight with inverted pleats set at each side of the front.

Nicole Grant makes a smart afternoon costume with the back half of the sleeves in velvet as well as the back half of the bodice and the front in henna satin. The skirt is made of two tiers. And there, by the way, are a very important item of fall fashions.

This dressmaker is also making a delightful black velvet zouave bolero worn over a pink georgette frock. The cash is of narrow black velvet and the bolero embroidered in pink pearls.

SAYS TEST WALL WITHSTANDS 1900 DEGREES HEAT

Chicago, Oct. 12, (AP)—With standing 1,900 degrees of heat that would melt either silver or brass a twelve inch wall constructed by the Underwriters' Laboratories here has been the means of determining the extraordinary resistance properties of stone tile type of concrete.

The test, which was conducted by fire insurance companies, the wall prevented the passage of heat to such an extent that combustible materials placed at the opposite side from the blaze would not burn for at least seven hours.

Under 80 Pound Pressure

Twelve inches thick, the stone tile concrete wall was exposed on one side to an especially built furnace. Hydraulic jacks were used under the lower bearing which the wall rested, and during the test a pressure of 80 pounds to the square inch was maintained on the panel by these jacks.

This put the wall under a pressure considered by most building codes the maximum allowable for this type of masonry. Then the blaze was turned against one side of the wall while observer watched the pyrometers. At the end of five minutes they indicated 1,000 degrees of heat; in half an hour they had raised to 1,600 degrees, and at the end of three hours, 1,900 degrees—a heat which will melt silver or brass.

Slow Heat on Reverse Side

Temperature on the other side of the wall rose very slowly and it was not until seven hours had passed that the unexposed side reached 300 degrees F. This is considered by fire authorities the temperature at which easily combustible material will ignite.

The wall, heated into the open as red hot and could be approached on only by men clothed in asbestos. Cold water was shot against it and brought down the temperature quickly to determine what would be the effect of a fire hose stream in an actual conflagration.

Next day the pressure of the hydraulic jacks was doubled causing a stress of 160 pounds on each square inch of wall, or 11 1/2 tons each square foot. It had no effect.

British Royalty Rises Early Even On Vacation

London, Oct. 11, (AP)—Ceremony and rule are not entirely abolished by the Royal family during their respite holiday.

Promptly at 7:30 a. m. guests are awakened by the shrill of pipes as the King's pipe major marches up and down the corridor playing Cock o' the North. There's no more sleep after this, and breakfast is taken at 8, so that the men can leave with the King for shooting.

Before they are well away from the castle, Queen Mary is busy looking over the domestic arrangements and putting O. K. to the menus, after which she pays visits to personal friends nearby.

Dinner at 7 p. m. is a jolly homely affair during which the shooting bag is discussed and the King takes a sly dig at his sons and other guests who are not so expert with the gun.

YOUNG ANTON LANG SAYS UNITED STATES IS TOO NOISY TO BE PLEASANT PLACE

Worcester, Mass., Oct. 12, (INS)—The United States of the 20th century has too much noise and too much of a hurried business atmosphere to make it a pleasant place in which to live according to the observations of Anton Lang, Jr., 21 year old son of the Christus in the German Opera House.

Since arriving in this country to enter college life at Holy Cross College, young Lang has had much opportunity to observe city life in the new world. He recently took part in the staging of "Philadelphia" by the dramatic students of Holy Cross college.

Philadelphia is a much nicer place in which to live than is New York in the opinion of Lang. This preference is based upon the absence of noise and a hurried atmosphere such as he found in New York. Asked his opinion of American girls he declared that he takes but little interest in them as his studies occupy his time and his desire to attain a professorship prohibits the interference of outside interests. The only girls he has taken particular note of he said were those on the American stage and these he described as beautiful and as wonderful dancers.

STUDENTS BARRED TO DEBATE IF THEY SMOKE

Baldwin, Kas., Oct. 12, (AP) Students who swear or smoke cannot participate in oratorical contests at Baker University here, for which the will of Albert M. Lumpkins of Fort Worth, Texas, provided gold prizes.

Mr. Lumpkins, a Baker alumnus, bequeathed to the University a fund to pay $100 to the orator placing second. His will contained a clause barring users of tobacco and profane language from competing.

Too Much "Acid?"

Excess Uric Acid Gives Rise to Many Unpleasant Troubles.

Authorities agree that an excess of uric acid is primarily due to faulty kidney action. Retention of this toxic material often makes its presence felt by sore, painful joints, a tired, languid feeling and, sometimes, toxic backache and headache. That the kidneys are not functioning right is often shown by scanty or burning passage of secretions. Thousands assist their kidneys at such times by the use of Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic. Doan's are recommended by many local people. Ask your neighbor!

SICK HEADACHE

No Pleasure, Says Ohio Lady, to Go Places, Till She Took Black-Draught Which Brought Relief.

Langsville, Ohio.—"For years and years I suffered with severe headache," says Mrs. Jane Campbell, of this place. "It wasn't any pleasure for me to go places, for I came home with sick headache. If I went to church or to any social gathering or to town to shop, when I got back I would have these headaches and have to go to bed for a day or more, till I would just get out of heart and would not try to go."

"About 15 years ago I discovered that Black-Draught was good for these headaches. I began using it. I would take it two or three nights in succession if I felt the least bad, and it sure did wonders for me. It is about 14 years since I had sick headaches, and I can go places and really enjoy life. It surely is splendid."

Headache often is a symptom of constipation. The best relief is secured by treating the cause of the trouble and in such a case many people have been greatly helped by the use of Theford's Black-Draught.

The handsome home on Evans street was prettily decorated with roses, dahlias and ferns. Covers were laid for thirty-two at eight tables, each seating four. Lace covers were used on the tables and the centerpiece on four were bud vases of pink roses, while the other four were pink lighted tapers in silver candlesticks. The places were marked with miniature pink straw baskets filled with rice, which the guests strewed over the bride and groom-elect. Mrs. W. I. MORE FUN THAN "CHARLEY'S AUNT"

Syd Chaplin Has New Comedy Hit in "Man on the Box."

White's Theatre will feature a Warner Bros. Classic of the Seven when "The Man on the Box" starring Syd Chaplin will be shown on Wednesday, with one of the most remarkable casts of the season.

The picture is said to be even funnier than "Charley's Aunt," Syd's last production and one of the biggest box-office bets ever screened. In one sequence Syd impersonates a flirtatious maid, and with his handsome features disguised with wig and make-up was quite an attractive figure on the Warner lot during the making of the picture. It is said that Bull Montana, seeing this young lady from the distance, asked for an introduction to Syd Chaplin. At any rate, the photoplay is claimed by reviewers in other cities, to be a complete "knockout."

TENANT HOUSE OF DR. MORRILL'S DESTROYED BY FIRE

About six o'clock Sunday afternoon, a tenant house belonging to Dr. Jennis Morrill was completely destroyed by fire. The house was located near Bruce and was occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Be. Little and their five children. The family went away Sunday afternoon, and on their return found all their belongings completely destroyed. There was 1,000 pounds of tobacco stored in one room, and was ready to be marketed Monday. Neither the house nor its contents were insured. Any help that could be given the family would be appreciated.

AUXILIARY OF PITT CO. POST AMERICAN LEGION WILL MEET TOMORROW

The Auxiliary of the Pitt County Post of the American Legion will meet tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock with Mrs. H. E. Austin, on East Eighth street. All members are urged to attend as this is a very important meeting. All those that are eligible are cordially invited to join at this meeting.

EDITORS TO VISIT UNIVERSITY SATURDAY

Chapel Hill, Oct. 12.—(AP)—H. L. Mencken, editor of the American Mercury and arch-enemy of "Babbitry," is due to pay a visit to the oldest University in the south here Saturday, October 16.

According to present plans, Mr. Mencken will be accompanied by Paul Patterson, publisher of the Baltimore Sun papers, to one of which Mr. Mencken is a contributing editor. Mr. Mencken has avowed he will make no speech during his visit, but will confine his activities to informal conferences with faculty members.

Gerald Johnston, formerly head of the University School of Journalism and now editorial writer of the Baltimore Evening Sun, is a personal friend of Mr. Mencken, and his influence is thought to have influenced the virriolic Baltimorean to come and look over one of North Carolina's most cherished institutions.

TATOOWING IS STYLE NOW FOR HOGS

Washington, Oct. 12.—(AP)—Tatoowing is now the style among hogs, reports the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

The marking, however, is not for the enhancement of beauty, but is done as a means of identifying the origin of the animals, thus giving a way to check upon development of various litters.

PARIS STYLE HINTS WAR DECLARED ON MOONSHINERS

Ficks, Oct. 12.—(INS)—That everything must match was never such a rigid rule as it will be this season. There is a veritable harmony wave in force.

The vogue of the ensemble was the beginning of having uniformity in the wardrobe. But one could wear a hat that did not exactly match, provided it meant uniformity and harmony. Beige was worn with anything and everything.

But for the winter season lines are to be much more strictly drawn and each costume will have its special hat. Shoes and all other accessories will also enter into the harmony plan. If they are not the exact color, they must be tied into the color-scheme in some way by a piping or a motif of colored leather on the top or heels of the proper tone.

FASHION NOTES

London, Oct. 12.—(INS)—Detachable sleeves and train are the latest addition to sleeveless evening gowns.

The sleeves are made of the same material as the train, and such from the elbow to the wrist, almost in the manner of the elbow-length kid glove without the hand covering.

The detachable sleeves are also worn without a train, and are then embroidered in beads to match a bead necklace and bead earrings, favorite colors for the latter being jade and flame.

The sleeves, which are usually made of satin or velvet, are claimed to enhance the charm of a well-shaped arm and wrist, and to decrease the contour of a fat one.

Carolina, Duke to Meet in Tenth Gridiron Contest

Chapel Hill, Oct. 12.—The University of North Carolina and Duke University will meet here next Saturday afternoon at three o'clock in the tenth gridiron encounter between the neighboring institutions.

The showing of the two teams indicates a nip and tuck battle for supremacy next Saturday. The Blue Devils have been engaged in strenuous practice and the 32 to 0 victory over Elon last Saturday would seem to show that the results of hard work are beginning to tell.

On the other hand, the Tar Heels also blossomed out last Saturday in the game with South Carolina and they are now a greatly improved outfit as compared with the team that faced Wake Forest three weeks ago.

The Carolina coaches, however, are yet far from satisfied. They are proud of the way the boys fought last Saturday, but they could see plenty of flaws even in a game that was played as prettily as that. They see the Duke game as a tough proposition.

Of the nine games between Carolina and Duke to date, the Tar Heels have won six and lost three. All the Methodist victories came during the early years of the rivalry. Carolina has not lost since 1893.

Flays Rich Men Who Back Bootlegging

Charlotte, Oct. 11.—(INS)—"Rich men who in order to satisfy their appetite encourage violation of the prohibition law, yet decry the idea of giving the same privilege to the masses are the curse of America and breeders of anarchy."

Thusly, declared Judge E. Yates Webb in his charge to the federal grand jury at the opening of federal court here. "The rich man knows that whisky is harmful and therefore wants to keep it away from the workers," declared Judge Webb.

The movement recently launched here by Congressman Lindsay Warren for an extension of the state highway program in Eastern North Carolina is gaining ground daily throughout the district...

In his recent address before the Rotary Club here Congressman Warren pointed out the apparent discrimination that has been shown against the far eastern section of the state in the state highway program...

With its unsurpassed natural resources Eastern North Carolina needs but developing to be the undisputed greatest spot on earth, and it behooves every citizen of this section to get behind this movement started by Congressman Warren and urge the next General Assembly to extend the state highway program in this section of the state.

While we are greatly impressed with the prospects and sincerely hope that what is now only problematical will soon be proven a reality, we want to warn our citizens to go slow and be sure of your next step...

PRESS COMMENT

WHAT TO DO ABOUT COTTON

(News and Observer) The meeting of farmers, bankers and business men in Raleigh yesterday very wisely deferred specific action in the cotton situation to the gathering of cotton men from all the States to be held at Memphis this week...

The North Carolina delegation goes to Memphis free to discuss with leaders from other cotton sections as to the best plan to meet the serious situation. Some of those present at the meeting yesterday believed that the goal should be borrowing money on one-half of the cotton crop and reducing the average one-half next year...

Fortunately, there is a situation as to money that never obtained before. Mr. Ousley pointed out that the Wilson administration through the Federal Reserve Board had made a money panic hardly possible and that under the intermediate bank policy abundant money could be had at 4-1/2 per cent interest...

The Raleigh gathering further expressed the feeling that the time to begin the reduction of cotton next year was NOW, by planting as much land as could be wisely done in oats and other cover crops. On all hands it was conceded that no measure of relief would truly meet the need that did not insure the raising of supplies on the farms...

BEARS TUCK AWAY BIG FOOD STORES, INDICATING HARD WINTER FOR WEST

(San Francisco, Oct. 12.—INS) The coming winter will be one of the worst recorded for many years in the Far West, according to the following indications:

First, the pine nut crop in Western Nevada and adjoining California counties has been exceptionally heavy this year, and second, the bears in Yosemite Valley are beginning to store away considerable quantities of food. The pine nut crop indication is infallible according to old Indians and white pioneers. Indian squaws are intensely busy these days making pine nut flour for a long season of snow.

At Gardier, famous bear feeder of Yosemite Valley, predicts a long hard winter with plenty of snow because of the behavior of the bears he feeds every night.

Instead of feeding on their usual feeding platform the Yosemite bears pick up great chunks of food and lumber back into the deep recesses of the forests to store the stuff in their rocky caves.

This means an extra hard winter, according to Gardier.

NEW PROJECTOR MAKES FLICKERLESS PICTURES

New York, Oct. 12, (AP)—Flickerless screen projection is an established fact at the Capitol Theatre.

The Mechau projectors are responsible. Other projection machines are of the intermittent type of movement. They have a revolving shutter, which means that the screen is illuminated actually only one half of the time. The Mechau projector is shutterless. There is no flicker of light because the screen is constantly illuminated. In addition to giving more brilliance to the screen, it produces an almost stereoscopic effect in the picture.

Of further significance to the spectator is the removal of the complaint of sitting too close to the screen. With the elimination of the flickering the picture can be observed at close range without experiencing any discomfort to the eyes.

WEATHER BILL PREDICTS A NICE WARM WINTER

Kane, Pa., Oct. 11.—(INS)—The man who foats the coal bills this winter, will not have to dig deep into his pockets if what William Altman, of this city, known the country over as one of the best weather prophets and woodsman says is true.

According to 'Weather Bill' as he is known hereabouts, basing his predictions on his knowledge of wood lore, predilets that mild weather will prevail until December. Followed by only six weeks of 'real winter.' Spring will come early, he said. Altman believes that the south will bear the brunt of the cold weather this winter. Bill's predictions on the weather are remarkably accurate, his friends say and he has few equals in this line.

PLUS FOURS ARE NOT PCPULAR WITH FRENCH Paris, Oct. 12, (AP)—Frenchmen do not like plus fours. They seldom wear them on the golf course, and hardly ever on the streets of Paris.

Consequently, men who wander about Paris in plus fours are almost instantly spotted as Englishmen or Americans, although American tourists are much less given to wearing sports clothes when traveling than Englishmen.

REUNION ISLAND SMILING PARADISE FOR ABD EL KRIM

Paris, Oct. 11.—(INS)—Reunion, the little island in the Indian Ocean to which the French and Spanish Governments have banished Abd el Krim is no bleak rock-floored fortress but a smiling paradise with a climate that varies between sixty and seventy degrees, parliamentary representatives that see that their island gets its share of roads and post-offices and a population of about 200,000.

The Rifman Chieftain's Saint Helena was formerly known as Bourbon Island but after the French revolution the name was changed to something that sounded more democratic. It had many vicissitudes. Discovered by the Portuguese in 1543 it was taken by the French in 1638 and again taken by the English in 1810 but handed back to French rules in 1815 after the signing of Treaty of Ghent.

If the exiled Chief wants to become industrious he will be able to find many interests in the vast sugar plantations that are the island's principal source of wealth. They are mostly controlled by French capital and are the only serious competitors Cuban sugar has had as the cost of production is greatly inferior.

Reunion is a volcanic island four hundred miles off the coast of Madagascar. It achieved sudden prominence some years ago when it became known as the home of the extinct dodo bird. Its population is about three quarters colored, comprising Chinese, Negroes, and Hindus and even some Aimautes.

During the recent seizure of the Lermat sailor, Alain Gerbault, an encounter utterly unexpected brought him and the Government Inspector of Colonies together at Saint Pierre, the largest city and capital. Since that meeting Reunion had fallen into oblivion until the recent conference of Madrid and Paris diplomats who decided on it as the place for banishment for the most troublesome of all modern revolutionaries.

BIG ANNUAL FUND TO AID KING OTTO

Budapest, Oct. 11.—(INS)—Far from forgetting their Hapsburg sovereigns, the nobles of Hungary have decided to subscribe annually a large amount of money for the use of King Otto, the heir of the late Emperor Charles. The money is to be used for his education and to allow him to have luxuries in keeping with his royal rank, now denied him in the plain surroundings of his exile home in Spain.

The noblemen of Budapest also have bought a motor car for the Hapsburg prince. It is a large seven passenger car and is equipped luxuriously, the mountings being silver and engraved with the arms of the King of Hungary. It has been sent to Spain.

A part of the money allotted to the prince will be used to hire him a chauffeur and another part to buy him riding horses.

WHEN IN ACID SOIL LIABLE TO WINTER KILL

New Brunswick, N.J., Oct. 12. (AP)—Experimentation at the State College of Agriculture indicates that wheat planted in acid soil is much more liable to "winter killing" than that planted in fields where lime has been used to neutralize the acid.

A. W. Blair, associate soil chemist, says that in the majority of cases 1,500 to 2,000 pounds of pulverized limestone per acre, or the equivalent in hydrated lime, will be sufficient for wheat. If clover or alfalfa is to be grown, heavier applications of lime may be required.

TWO RADIO STATIONS ORDERED FOR TURKEY

Constantinople, Oct. 12. (AP)—The formation of a Turkish Radio Corporation has been approved by the Ankara government and the construction of the first radio stations in Turkey has been begun at Ankara and at Constantinople.

These two stations will be of sufficient power to broadcast to all parts of Europe. Programs similar to those given in America will be inaugurated.

It's almost time for the corn crop to be ruined.—Lakeland Ledger.

SUBSTITUTES FOR BATTERY BIG RADIO PROBLEM

Chicago, Oct. 12. (AP)—A source of ever-willing but rather touchy power supply for radio receivers has finally been conquered by engineers. This power, available in nearly every house held through the alternating current lines, offered many obstacles before it finally was put to work to replace A, B, and C batteries.

Talternating current, when cut into a receiver in the raw state drowns out all sound because of the loud ripple generated by the rapid variations from positive to negative. To overcome these difficulties the house lighting supply first is changed into direct current and then an output which contains no disturbing qualities.

"B" Battery Eliminated
The first step in the use of "A. C." brought the development of the B. battery eliminator. It consists of a current changing device and a filter made up of choke coils and large condensers. This filter is absolutely necessary because after the A. C. is changed to direct current the ripple still is present.

Further advances in the B battery eliminator, which is correctly known as a "power pack," came with the designing of improved rectifying or current changing tubes and better chemical rectifiers. The power pack is intended to deliver a high voltage at low amperage.

Now Dispense With "A"
Replacement of the storage battery or dry cell supply for lighting receiver tubes offered a somewhat different problem. This battery delivered a current of comparatively high amperage but low voltage. This difficulty has been overcome, and "A" eliminators for use with five volt tubes are beginning to appear. The furnishing of the filament current for the three volt dry cell tubes was much easier because the B power pack with a few changes can be made to furnish the lighting current. The necessary C battery current is provided through either the A or B device, depending upon the type of tubes used.

Previous to the appearance of the A eliminator, storage battery operation through a slow rate charger gained much favor. This "trickle" charger was intended to replace the faster charger, remaining connected to the battery and house lighting lines at all times. These combinations provide a compact unit that requires but little care and gives a steady filament current.

CIRCUITS IN MODERN RADIO ON SAME BASIS

Chicago, Oct. 12. (AP)—Unlike the various electrical instruments they represent circuits used in radio receiver construction have shown no great basic change since the wireless art emerged from the laboratory stage.

There have been elaborations and improvements without end, but a diagram of the modern receiver shows that it is surprisingly similar to the earliest models. In fact the methods of coupling the circuit of one tube to that of another is practically the same today as it was when tubes were first devised. Other sections of the hookup have changed only in keeping with the increasing number of tubes and other apparatus.

Regenerative Disguised
One of the circuits first to become popular with the home building enthusiast was the regenerative. It had numerous variations. It still is in existence in the modern receiver, although somewhat disguised. It is now preceded, as a rule, with a step of tuned radio frequency amplification, retaining all of its advantages with added selectivity.

The five tube tuned radio frequency receiver and its co-models of a greater number of tubes, is another that has shown no revolutionary change. It consists entirely of a series of circuits known as the "simple audion" with various systems of oscillation control.

Frequency Amplifier
The simple audion layout was first used with the development of the vacuum or audion tube. It provides a method of connecting the tube to its batteries and accompanying condensers and coils. Also it does not show a great difference from the wiring arrangement of a crystal set.

In analyzing a modern eight tube radio frequency amplifier the fact that it is merely an elaboration of the five tube is quickly apparent. It too consists of a series of audion circuits, with changes made to accommodate added equipment necessary to maintain the receiver in balance. The superheterodyne, which sprang into popularity along with the tuned radio frequency type, also goes back to the audion and the regenerative. These two are combined with long or short wave radio frequency amplification to the point where great selectivity and volume result. In some cases the tuned radio frequency amplification has been added to improve the receiver.

HOME LIFE ON BARGES

Amsterdam, Oct. 12. (AP)—Barge life and home life are often one and the same here, where a shortage of houses has forced thousands of families to live on the canals.

The number of barge homes in Amsterdam is constantly increasing despite the protest of holders of residence property along the canals.

EXPORT SYSTEM OF RED RUSSIA CAUSES LOSSES

Instead of Profit on Grain Shipments, Soviet Loses $7,000,000; High Cost of Foreign Financing is Given as One Reason

Moscow, Oct. 12.—(INS)—Disastrous results of the Soviet system of exporting grain are revealed in a report on foreign trade just issued here by the Collegium of the Commissariat of Workers and Peasants Inspection.

Instead of making profit on its exports of grain, the Soviet Union lost 12,900,000 roubles, or $8,000,000 during the year just closing from October 1, 1925, to October 1, 1926.

The Commissariat reports that in general the export for 1925-26 was unprofitable.

In its analysis of the causes of the unprofitability of the Soviet foreign trade operations, the Commissariat throws an interesting light on the difficulties of administering efficiently an immense apparatus in which is concentrated all the functions of buying, selling, shipping and financing ordinarily carried out by hundreds of different firms in capitalist countries.

First of all the Commissariat declares that exports were unsatisfactory due to the fault of the Commissariat of Trade. This is a slap at the recent Deputy L. R. Kamenev, one of the leaders of the opposition to the Company Central Committee.

Specifically, reports of the Commissariat "The causes for our losses were the extraordinary overhead expenses, the high cost of foreign financing, the inefficient maneuvering and failure to cooperate of the export agencies, and the unfavorable relationship of domestic grain prices to the prices of grain on foreign markets."

The Commissariat reports that overhead expenses alone cost the government from 40 to 60 percent of the price paid the peasants for their grain. By the time the grain reached the foreign consumer it had already cost the government in many cases more than he consumer could pay.

For the first three quarters of the fiscal year 1925-26 total exports amounted to only 493,400,000 roubles, instead of 720,000,000 roubles as planned at the beginning of the year. The decrease amounting to one-third reduction of the plan, resulted in passive foreign trade balance of $4,577,000 roubles and became the cornerstone of the present economic crisis in which the Soviet Union finds itself. Even after the first plan was revised, exports failed by 11 per cent to come up to the revised plan.

On the import side, the Commissariat established the fact that the government weakening before the immense goods-hunger of the country, used up virtually its entire import allotments for the whole year during the first six months. Imports gathered such a momentum that before they could be checked the government found itself before a passive balance. Imports totalled 577,977,000 roubles for the first three-quarters of 1925-26.

Back of all the immediate causes for failure of the government's export plan is the stubborn refusal of the peasants to sell their grain. They will not sell because they can buy nothing with their money. The famine of manufactured articles extends to every commodity required by the peasant.

The government again this year in mid-Autumn has failed by thirty per cent to obtain as much grain from the peasants as it had counted upon. Unable to buy grain because the peasants will not sell it, and unable to furnish the peasants the goods they require because, in turn, the government has no money.

SEES ENGLAND PASSING AS GREAT WORLD POWER

London, Oct. 11.—(AP)—Dean Inge is fairly gloomy in his survey of present-day England which Ernest Benn, Limited, has just published. But the Dean of St. Paul's thinks England will survive, in spite of the disorganization of its industrial system.

While he is slow to hazard prophecies, as he says prophets have been very pessimistic about England's future after all of its recent wars, Dean Inge is of the opinion that the future will lie with large countries. The Americas and Eastern Europe still have room for large populations, and the dean believes it is unlikely England can continue as a great world power.

MUCH BRIGHTER MEN IN SIGHT, TAILORS DECREE

London, October 12. (AP)—Very much brighter men will appear in London streets, this fall if tailors have their way.

Violet, red, lavender, purple and other showy colors will banish dull grays, blues and blacks, if customers accept the suggestions James Wedell, of Manchester, president of the National Federation of Merchant Tailors made at their annual meeting.

"I combat the idea that color in men's dress is a sign of effeminacy," declared the president. "The great captains of the Elizabethan period, who built up our empire were attired in ribbons, velvets and silks of every color in the rainbow. May not the dullness and deadly respectability of men's wear in recent generations typify the decay of the spirit of manly adventure?"

This is a careless sort of country. There isn't any more curiosity about the whereabouts of Jack Dempsey than about Sally these days.—Nashville Banner. Pinch a few hold-up men so they'll know they're not dreaming.—Wall Street Journal.

Gossip of Staff Correspondents at World Centers of Population.

Honolulu, Oct. 12. (INS)—The Hawaiian people take to politics as a duck takes to water, a fact that is borne home to the community every other autumn as the Republican and Democratic municipal offices begins warming up in preparation for the November elections.

From one end of the territory to the other the Hawaiian people turn out—men, women and children, attending the huge outdoor meetings night after night and showing far more political zeal let it be said, than do their white brothers and sisters.

Local campaigns never lack for candidates, and this year the number of entries in the primary race has been exceptionally large. To glance over the list, it seems as if almost everybody or his brother is a candidate for something.

One of the most interesting features of the election campaigns in Honolulu is the "soap box" at King and Bethel streets where candidates on both sides gather at noon each day to tell why they should be elected to office. J. K. (Two Gun) Mokuania, popular tent car driver and proprietor of the only strictly Hawaiian restaurant in the city, resides over the ancient star of civics rights. Mokuania is a huge, but graceful man—a perfect type of the Hawaiian that is becoming all too scarce in these parts. A luhala hat, fully three feet across the brim, tops his mighty form in pleasing proportion and gives ponderance to his words.

"Two Gun" presides with much dignity. He never takes sides in an argument, but he sees that every candidate has a square deal. "Have a heart, give this fellow a chance" he will say when some recker starts to bother a speaker.

Hawaiian, whites, with tourist visitors scattered here and there Chinese, Japanese, Portuguese and numerous mixtures make up the soap box crowds, and for the most part they are a laughing good natured set, always willing to give the speaker his due.

Now and then some speaker attempts a plea based on race prejudice, but Mokuania nips him before he gets under way. "Have a heart," he will again admonish. "We all American in Hawaii."

Mokuania got the nickname of "Two Guns" some years ago when two highwaymen attempted to hold him up on a lonely bit of road between here and Pearl City peninsula. He flashed two big revolvers on the bandits and brought them to jail.

Six rounds-the-world cruise ships will call at Honolulu this autumn and winter for two and three days stay. The first of these is the Holland-American liner Ryndam, due here on October 19 with 450 students on a seven months "floating university" cruise. Next will be the Cunard liner Carinthia which will be in port November 7 and 8 before clearing for Yokohama. The Belgian and of the Red Star line will be in Honolulu from January 8 to 10 and will be followed by the Cunard liner Franconia, due here February 3, sailing from here for Apia, Samoa. The California of the same line will be in days before sailing for Japan. On the last leg of her 27,000 mile cruise, the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Scotland will arrive from the Orient on St. Patrick's day, March 17th and will be in port two days.

The one able man in Britain's government, according to Mr. Fyfe, is Winston Churchill. It is interesting to remember that he got his intelligence from an American mother, daughter of a New York stock broker, Jerome. It must have come from her, for on his father's side, that of the Marlboroughs, there is little sign of mental life.

However, the Duke of Marlborough married a Vanderbilt girl, with an able father and mother. That will help to bring back the family whose great founder Sen Allart en Guerre.

Catholic church does. We Protestants object to this.

The Catholic News replies, editorially: "The Catholic Church does nothing of the kind. Political topics are never discussed in Catholic Churches. No priest would so far forget himself as to tell people how they should vote."

If, however, a candidate were opposed, for nomination or election, because of his being a Catholic, Jew or Protestant, would not the clergy of the different religions be justified in mentioning the fact?

The English are concentrating on alliterative sentences, in place of word puzzles. "Alliteration's artful aid" can be used to advantage often. And to develop knowledge of language the alliteration craze is more useful than the word puzzle.

To select words for yourself is better than puzzling over words selected by another. Many children have tried to repeat rapidly, "Shoes and socks shock Susan." The administration, which will soon be asking farmers' votes, might think over this run of words, "Cotton, corn, crops, crisis."

Our immigration laws keep out the best men and women of Europe—enterprising, ambitious people that would like to come.

International smuggling bands are bringing in the worse kind of foreign population, those whose coming is based on crime and deception, men without wives or children, breaking into this country across the Mexican border, as thieves break out of jail.

Eight thousand foreigners are said to be in Mexico now, waiting to be brought in.

It would be better to select the right kind in Europe and admit them openly.

French Press Wailing Over Fonck's Failure to Make Big Flight

Paris, Oct. 12.—(INS)—Failure of the Fonck air flight from New York to Paris despite the expenditure of tens of thousands of dollars in preparations has furnished the French press with one more subject for expating the failure of American civilization, "based on dollars."

The fact that a Frenchman, Captain Fonck, was in charge of the giant Sikorsky plane when it crashed, only adds to the possibilities for investives. Fonck, it is claimed, fell a victim to the lure of American dollars and must have known deep down in his French heart that the project couldn't succeed.

In contrast to the supposed expenditure of $203,000 on the Argonauts' venture, "L'Ouvre," which regularly manifests an anti-American attitude, points out that nine important French flights this year have been accomplished with the expenditure by the government of less than $12,000.

Among the nine successful spectacular flights enumerated are those of Pellittier Dolsy from Paris to Peking, the flight of the Arrachart brothers from Paris to Bassora on the Persian Gulf, of Captain Girier from Paris to Omsk, Siberia, and of Captain Challe to Bender-Abbas, Persia. The last three were non-stop flights and won for the pilots who performed them successive world records for the longest straight line non-stop flights.

Private airplane companies furnished the planes. The government furnished the pilots and the organization.

CORN BORERTO FORCE FARMERS TO FIND NEW HARVESTING METHOD

Indianapolis, Oct. 12.—(INS)—Another decade will see the entire corn belt using a different method of harvesting their crop, Frank N. Wallace, Indiana State Entomologist, believes.

The revolution in method will be necessitated by the advance of the European corn borer, which, Wallace says, will be over the entire Middle West within the next ten years.

The pest invaded this state this year, sweeping in on the north-easterly winds from the Ohio section infested around the region of Lake Erie. Several counties in the northeast part of the state have been quarantined as a result.

The method by which the corn borer lives, Wallace says, is making it necessary for farmers to devise some method by which they will be able to harvest their crop, and at the same time absolutely destroy all the fodder.

A new machine is now being devised that will cut the corn stalks almost even with the ground. It will take the stalk through a set of jaws, shredding it, but squeezing the ears of corn out of their husks.

The fodder then will be burned or plowed under, Wallace says, resulting in the death of the borers and destroying them to a great extent.

But with all the new machinery, Wallace thinks that it will be necessary to continue their use entirely after the borer once infects a given area. He says there is nothing that can stop the advance and spread of the pest after it once gets a foothold.

As proof of his contention, he cites the conditions in Canada, and the eastern states, where the borer has been prevalent, and continues to do untold damage to the crops yearly.

The worst thing about the spread of the borer, Wallace says, is the columns of publicity given the advent of the pest into any given community.

They scare the farmer to death, he says, and when they go out into their fields and don't find any serious damage the first year, they laugh at us for yelling wofe, he declared.

The second year comes around, according to Wallace, and still done by them almost impossible. Once the moths get as far as the western part of the corn belt, Wallace feels positive that all hope of controlling them will be lost.
