UPHOLD RIGHT OF THE PRESIDENT TO REMOVE OFFICERS

Supreme Court Renders Decision in the Case of Former Postmaster, Portland, Oregon

Washington, Oct. 25.—(INS)—The power of the President to remove a federal officer without the consent of the Senate was sustained by the Supreme Court today, thus ending a dispute as to constitutional rights that has waged between the Legislature and executive branches of the government for half a century.

The decision was handed down in the case of Frank S. Myers, now deceased, former postmaster at Portland, Ore. Myers was appointed by President Wilson in 1917, and removed from office three years later, without the consent of the Senate. Because his appointment had to be confirmed by the Senate, his heirs contended, in a suit for back pay, that his removal without the Senate's consent was not constitutional.

Chief Justice Taft delivered the opinion.

The decision is considered by legal authorities as among the most important ever decided by the Supreme Court. Solicitor General James M. Becon, in arguing the right of the President to remove, declared, "The principle involved is of the very foundation of our government. If the President can not remove officials, however unfit and unworthy they may be, he said, 'then he has neither the independence nor the power than has been attributed to the office.'"

The Senate's interest in the case was evidenced by the designation of Senator George Wharton Pepper, Republican, of Pennsylvania, to argue for the other side. He contended that the framers of the constitution limited the President's power of appointment by making his appointees subject to confirmation by the Senate and, therefore, his power of removal was likewise limited. In its decision today the Supreme Court rejected this theory.

The Myers case has been before the courts for several years. When Myers originally sued for $8,538 back pay, the government merely set up the defense that delay in bringing the suit was fatal to recovery of damages. The Court of Claims sustained the government.

Chief Justice Taft found that Congress in 1789 discussed the principles involved in the case and held that the President should have broad powers of appointment and removal. Not only is the President's power of removal upheld by legislation but also by the very nature of the office, the court held.

The check given by the Senate in the requirement that the President must submit some appointments for confirmation, does not imply a similar right of a check upon removal.

In its opinion the court held unconstitutional the tenure of office act of 1867 in which restrictions were imposed upon the President.

TODAY

(Copyright 1926) John G. Shedd. Wild Life Ending. When You Meet a Queen. Cuba's Disaster. By ARTHUR BRISBANE

The death of John G. Shedd is a loss to the new world that has grown up in this country. The world of constructive business and constructive philanthropy.

Mr. Shedd, formerly a partner of Marshall Field, and more recently with James Simpson, owner of Marshall Field and Co., has been for years an important figure in the world of affairs.

He worked in his youth to build the prosperity of Chicago and of industries everywhere on earth. Having achieved individual and financial success, he devoted the later years of his life to effective educational work and public benefaction.

The wise Confucius, visiting a crowded city, was asked by his disciples what should be done for such a population, Confucius replied, "Enrich them." The disciples asked, "What next?" Confucius replied, "then educate them."

That was John G. Shedd's program. He will be remembered among the good and useful citizens of this nation.

George Eastman, of Rochester, back from killing lions, says, "I'd like to see a lion in Africa." White settlers kill animals to protect their crops or their livestock.

That is good news. The end of all life on earth, except human life will come, and with it the extermination of disease.

Cats and dogs carry disease germs to children that play with them. An end of cats would end diphtheria.

The Tse-Tse fly sucks the germ of sleeping sickness from the blood of gaping crocodiles.

No more mosquitoes, no more yellow fever or malaria. An end of house flies would stop the carriage of disease germs to the food and mouths of millions of children.

The good natured Queen of Rumania, if she survives the well meant attentions showered, and sometimes forced, upon her, will soon start for the west. She goes to Niagara and there she will be disappointed unless she stays several days. It takes a week to become even slightly acclimated with the great Cataract.

It is not certain that she will go as far west as Seattle and California, but she should go, if she wishes to tell Europe what America really is.

The Pacific Ocean never disappointed anybody, in its bigness or its solemn majesty. Here, before the Queen proceeds any farther, let us enlighten many Americans, male and female, now wondering what they should do when and if, they meet a Queen.

The Queen, dear, noble citizens of the American democracy, does not expect you to lie down and roll over. She does not expect you to call her "your majesty" every other minute, and does not expect American women to make a courtesy to the ground, kiss her hand or any such nonsense.

If you are presented to a Queen in Europe you do as they do in Europe. When you meet Queen Marie in America she will be quite content with a polite bow, the greeting with which you would meet Mrs. Coolidge.

Take hands with the Queen, if she offers her hand, but don't try to prove what an outstanding man you are, by squeezing the Queen's poor fingers.

They are lame now, and thoughtful hostesses, marshalling democracy dollar ranks before royalty, will do well to whisper, as the shivering line moves along, "how don't shake hands please."

To the gentleman who asked, "Should I wear spats, if I meet the Queen?" the answer is "no."

Queen Marie has seen in this country many inspiring sights, including enough ropes of pearls on our fair ladies to make slave chains for all the Hottentot Venuses that prance under Africa's sun.

GRAND JURY WILL CONTINUE PROBE HALL-MILLS CASE

Despite Break Between Grand Jury and Prosecutor, Jury Foreman Announces His Body Will Continue

Somerville, N. J., Oct. 25.—(INS)—On the heels of a definite break between the Somerset county grand jury and state Senator Simpson, special prosecutor in the Hall-Mills case, it was understood today that when the grand jury meets tomorrow it will inquire into the way Simpson has conducted the revived investigation of the strange Crab apple tree murder mystery of four years ago.

Hostility between the prosecutor and the grand jury crystallized with the statements from both sides. Senator Simpson, at whose request the body adjourned from Thursday until tomorrow, notified it that its services would not be needed tomorrow because witnesses would not be available.

Perceval Synder, of Boundbrook, announced that the grand jury would meet tomorrow and proceed independently with the investigation of all phases of the investigation of the dual murder.

"I know of no one who has the authority to stop us," he added. "The state is not ready to proceed with all the evidence of these indictments," said Simpson. "The action of the foreman is in line with his intense antagonism to the prosecution, expressed when I appeared in Somerville last week to seek indictments."

"The foreman and several other members of the jury were obviously prejudiced against the state's case. That was one of the reasons why I asked for an adjournment. I may be ready to proceed Friday. I don't know. If the grand jury insists on proceeding meanwhile without the prosecution, it will be making a spectacle of itself, and I shall so inform it tomorrow."

COOLIDGE TURNS HIS ATTENTION 70TH CONGRESS

Endorsement of Butler, of Massachusetts is First Utterance of President in Behalf of a Candidate

Washington, Oct. 25.—(AP)—The political waters of the capital today in ever widening circle from the impact of the latest element cast into their midst—endorsement by President Coolidge of Senator William M. Butler, chairman of the Republican national committee, who is opposed in the November election in Massachusetts by former Senator D. I. Walsh.

The statement, the first utterance on the part of the President in behalf of any Republican candidate, was made public by the Massachusetts State Committee, and was in the form of a letter from the Chief Executive.

It also praised Governor Fuller a candidate for re-election on the Republican ticket, and drew immediate fire from the Democratic leaders in the form of a prediction by chairman Oldfield, of the party's congressional committee, that the letter would react against both candidates. He charged Mr. Coolidge with "regulating" his previous stand, and with "interference." The letter replied to a telegram asking whether the President intended to cast his vote in his home city of North Hampton. The Chief Executive wrote that he and Mrs. Coolidge planned to make the trip, but he requested absentee ballots he sent him for use in the event he could not return to Massachusetts to vote in person.

"Of course I want to vote for Senator Butler," the President wrote. "He is my friend. I know how faithful he is. I was to him that I turned to intrust the great and delicate task of conducting my Presidential campaign. His management of the campaign will long stand as a model of wisdom, efficiency and honest effort. It left him the natural choice of Senator. He represents Massachusetts ideals. In the Senate he holds a place which no one else could command for his wisdom, and respected for his integrity. In his rapidly taking rank as a great Senator I have an increasing pride in knowing that he is from my home state. He stands on the Senate floor independent, beholden to no one as Senator of Massachusetts, serving the people in the public interest. His presence there is of great importance to me in my effort to discharge the duties of my office."

TWENTY VILLAGES DAMAGED QUAKE DURING SATURDAY

Exact Number Casualties Armenia Unknown; Near East Relief Workers Escape

Constantinople, Oct. 25.—(INS)—Twenty Armenia villages, in addition to Leninka, and Eriyan, were damaged by the earthquake which visited Armenia on Saturday, according to the latest information available today. This information, however, still was incomplete. The exact number of casualties still was unknown.

The American committee of the Near East Relief was aiding the Near East Relief was aiding the victims and starvation.

Moscow, Oct. 25.—(INS)—Some of the American members of the Near East Relief Commission, at Leninka, Armenia, are probably among those killed in Saturday's earthquake, according to the Moscow representative, of the Trans-Caucasian Republic, building in which the Relief Commission was housed was wrecked.

Representative said, and telegrams to the member remained unanswered today.

At least 50,000 are reported homeless, in Armenia and search of the ruins in four Armenian cities is hourly increasing the list of dead, which is now estimated an excess of 300.

Some reports state that virtually every building within a radius of 100 miles of Leninka has been ruined. Many persons are believed to have been buried alive when they were under the streets after the first earthquake only to be crushed beneath the debris of houses which were toppled over at a second shock.

The Soviet government has created a special relief commission and has appropriated $200,000 for relief work. Special relief trains and all available physicians have been rushed to the stricken country.

New York, Oct. 25.—(INS)—The Near East Relief has received reports from its representatives in Armenia stating that there were no casualties among the Near East relief workers.

It is believed that Moscow's failure to establish communication with the Near East workers is due to faulty transmission.

PREDICTS LARGEST COTTON CROP IN HISTORY COUNTRY

Government Report Places Year's Total Crop at 17,454,000 Bales of 500 Pounds Gross Weight

Washington, Oct. 25.—(AP)—Predicting the largest cotton crop ever grown, the Department of Agriculture today placed the indicated production at 17,454,000 bales of 500 pound gross weight. That is 820,000 bales more than indicated on October 1 and it leads the previous record crop by more than a million and a quarter bales.

Reports from all parts of the cotton belt showed that production this year is greater than had been expected and that the yield of lint cotton per acre would be approximately 176.8 pounds, or 8.3 pounds more than indicated on October 1. The heavy yield combined with the largest acreage ever estimated resulted in the huge production.

Extensive defoliation of the cotton plant by the leaf worm coupled with warm weather, have advanced the maturing of the late bolls and permitted rapid picking, the department said. Ginning to October 18 totaled 8,722,000 running bales compared with 9,518,946 bales to that date last year.

Production for certain states follow: Virginia 45,000 bales, North Carolina 1,200,000, South Carolina 1,170,000, Texas 5,400,000, Ginnings for certain states were: Virginia 9,636, North Carolina 497,101, South Carolina 544,984, Texas 2,844,331.

QUEEN MARIE AND PARTY LEAVE FOR WESTERN TOUR

Royal Party Quits New York Early Today After Strenuous Week of Entertainments

New York, Oct. 25.—(INS)—The special train carrying Queen Marie of Rumania, her son, Prince Nicholas, and her daughter, Princess Ileana, left the Grand Central Terminal at 7:50 o'clock this morning enroute for West Point, Albany, Buffalo, Chicago and the Pacific Coast.

Only a handful of the curious were on hand to get a glimpse of the Queen, and they were disappointed, as she was asleep when the train pulled out. Thus the Queen bade farewell to New York, where she landed a week ago, after a continuous round of public and private functions.

The royal party spent the night aboard the special train in Grand Central Station after attending a performance of the Queen's Fantasy, 'The Lily of Life,' at the Metropolitan opera house.

The Queen occupied J. P. Morgan's box. Nearby boxes cost from $1,000 to $5,000 each, while the galleries were thronged with spectators who had paid only fifty cents for admission.

Queen Marie denied reports from Vienna that her husband, King Ferdinand, had ordered her back home because of criticism of her visit to this country. She admitted having received cablesgrams from the King, but asserted that he merely was concerned for her health.

Although Dr. Arthur H. Deell, a throat specialist who has been attending the Queen, announced that her majesty was greatly improved, Miss Adeline Young, a trained nurse brought here from Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore, accompanied the Queen on her western tour.

Fredrick Moore, Secretary of the Maryhill Museum, which the Queen will visit, did not depart with the royal party. He had been in charge of the trip but resigned because of a tilt with Colonel James H. Carroll, counselor for the Northern Pacific Railroad. Moore charged mismanagement of the trip.

Seek Slayer of Lineman Near Hickory

Hickory, Oct. 25.—(INS)—Search was being made over two states today for Glen Holland, of near Hickory, charged with the slaying here yesterday of Paul Donkel, 23 year old lineman.

Holland escaped in an automobile toward South Mountain. Authorities believe that he made his way into South Carolina, and authorities there have been notified of his escape.

Donkel was shot and killed when he and Holland met in a cafe near here, according to eye witnesses. A grudge of long standing was said to have existed between the two men.

A posse of deputy sheriffs early today was scouring the mountains along the South Carolina border. In the belief that the fugitive had not made his way out of the mountainous territory.

Meanwhile, officers at larger South Carolina cities were on the watch for Holland, at the request of North Carolina authorities.

Belgian Government to Stabilize Franc

Brussels, Oct. 25.—(INS)—The Belgian cabinet, after a night-long session under the chairmanship of the King, today decided to stabilize the franc at 175 per paper francs to the pound sterling. The cabinet decided to create a new monetary unit, 'The Belgio,' which will be equivalent to five paper francs and will be used for foreign dealing.

“SET YOUR HEART UPON HEAVENLY THINGS,” HE SAID

Rev. Stevens Urged Men and Women Not to Seek After Earthly Things, But Heavenly Things

Hundreds have been attending the revival services each night at the Immanuel Baptist church during the past week, but last night, despite the inclement weather, seats were at a premium. The main auditorium was filled at an early hour, and by the end of the song service it was necessary to open the Sunday School rooms and the gallery, which were also quickly filled.

For the past week, Rev. Stevens has been bringing messages to the Christian people of the community in an effort to build up their faith and awake them to their duties. To say the least, his sermons have been immensely helpful and inspiring, and so simple that even the little child of a child could not help but understand. This week, however, the tone of his message, changed, and in last night's sermon, he virtually "hit in on the sinners."

Mr. Stevens spoke last night on "Set Your Affections On Things Above, Not On Things on the Earth." This was perhaps the strongest message delivered thus far, in which the speaker set forth the things of the world which many strive for, instead of things of a higher, finer, nobler nature.

"Show me a man," said Mr. Stevens, "who, during his life, has set his affections on worldly wealth, worldly honor, or worldly pleasure, and I'll show you a man who will go to meet his God empty-handed. These things may satisfy for a season, but they are of no avail, they lead to ruin, destruction and despair."

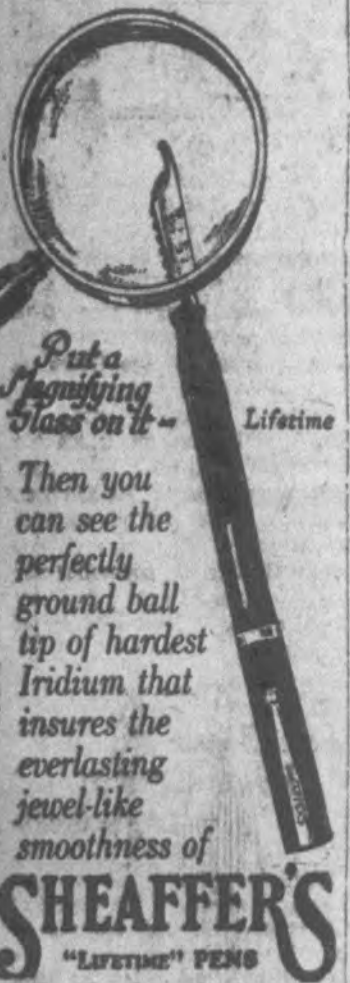

"But again," he continued, "show me a man who has set his affections on heavenly wealth, honor and pleasure; and I'll show you a man who is kind, generous and who is satisfied with his soul."

The speaker closed with a plea to the people to reach out and take of the things that God so freely gives to mankind. These are the only things that are really worth while, he said, and in them only will the workings of the soul be satisfied.

The music was again a feature of last night's services, especially the number rendered by the Immanuel quartette, composed of Messrs. John Clark, Manley Sellers, Burnie Warren and Rev. O'Brian. It has been planned to have special music at each of the services, the rest of the week. The public at large is cordially invited to attend.

CHURCHMEN ARE DIVIDED ON VISIT OF QUEEN MARIE

Some New York Ministers Yesterday Voiced Disgust at Action of American People

New York, Oct. 25.—(INS)—Gotham's churchmen are considerably at variance concerning Queen Marie's American trip, it was revealed today by a survey of Sunday sermons in New York churches.

While the Rev. S. Edward Young, pastor of the Bedford Avenue Presbyterian Church, was praising the Rumanian Queen as "another Victoria," and urging the American women to follow her example of "service and patriotism," quite another note was being sounded by the Rev. Christian F. Reiser in the Chelsea Methodist Church.

"To what are free-blooded Americans coming?" demanded Dr. Reiser, referring to the adulation that has been heaped upon Queen Marie since her arrival here. "How can any good come to us from such disgusting, dust-dickening and exaltation of a flesh and blood person who does not even represent a pope? Why not rather select an unknown American mother and glorify her than revive a false notion in democratic America that born royalty is better than character? We are choosing ourselves and existing wrong ideals by such praise."

HEAD OF HOUSE MURDERS FAMILY, COMMITS SUICIDE

Once Happy Home, Today is Morgue With Six Caskets in Drawing Room

Merion, Ill., Oct. 25.—(INS)—The home of W. O. Potter, until two days ago the dwelling place of a happy, carefree family, was today a veritable morgue. Six caskets, containing the bodies of six members of the Potter family, lined the drawing room side by side.

Five of the family had been murdered by the head of the house who then committed suicide. He was W. O. Potter, former United States district attorney, and one of the most prominent citizens in central Illinois.

A sudden fit of insanity, probably caused by worry over financial matters, a coroner's jury found, was the cause of the tragedy. Only two members of the family, who happened to be away from home at the time, remain alive.

Those killed were Potter's wife, two daughters and two grand daughters. One daughter was Mrs. Lucille Potter White, wife of Dr. Gilbert White of Miami, Fla. She and her two baby daughters, both of whom were slain, were visiting the Potters.

After crushing in the head of the victims with a piece of iron, Potter went to the rear of the house and drowned himself in a cistern. The tragedy is believed to have occurred about midnight Saturday.

Morris Potter, 26, a son, found the bodies when he returned home from a trip early yesterday. The victims apparently were slain as they slept.

DISMAL SWAMP CANAL TITLES ARE VIRTUALLY READY

Work Started By George Washington in 1785 Now Nearing Completion

Washington, Oct. 25.—(INS)—The United States Government is about to complete a job which George Washington started in 1785.

The Department of Justice announced today that legal experts have virtually finished the preparation of titles to the Dismal Swamp Canal property, connecting the Elizabeth River in Virginia with the Sounds of North Carolina.

When legal phases of the deal are approved, the government, acting under Congressional legislation, will purchase the canal and immediately take steps to improve this water channel for the passage of boats from Norfolk and adjacent waters, to the North Carolina Sounds.

"This move will afford safe inland passage for vessels that otherwise would be subject to the hazardous passage of the open sea in the Cape Hatteras region, where storms are severe and the coast dangerous to shipping," Attorney General Sargent said.

The present canal has a width of forty feet and depth of nine feet. The War Department, authorized to purchase the property for $500,000, plans to deepen the channel and prepare it for navigation.

The Dismal Swamp region was surveyed by George Washington in 1763. After the revolution Washington purchased the tract, organizing the Dismal Swamp Land Company. The original plan to reclaim the swamp was abandoned.

In 1785 Washington wrote to James Madison from Mt. Vernon, calling attention to the information that the legislative assembly of Virginia was proposing to connect Elizabeth River to the North Carolina Sounds. Apparently this was one of the first efforts of American history to develop artificial inland waterways. The canal eventually was completed in 1822 at a total cost of $1,200,000.

The old Dismal Swamp canal was built by Virginia and North Carolina jointly and by private stockholders among whom were Washington and Patrick Henry. The latter owned a considerable acreage ordering the channel.

Washington declared that "no other country in the universe is better calculated to derive benefits from inland navigation than the United States."

"Certain I am," he added, "that the consequences to the citizens individually and the source of wealth to the country generally, which will be opened thereby, will be found to exceed the most sanguine expectations."

He was removed to the Mountville jail for safekeeping. A sister of Maibes, Mrs. Norman (Dob) Maibes, gave a pint of blood in an effort to save the officer's life.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

DISCLOSURES IN MELLETT MURDER EXPECTED TODAY

Washington, Oct. 25.—(INS)—Funeral services will be held in the Sacred Heart Church next Wednesday. Burial will be in Cavalry cemetery here.

In Cleveland, He did not work, but maintained a servant in an automobile, it is said, and apparently was well supplied with funds.

He was lured into custody by means of a message sent to him by his brothers, to the effect that his aged mother, who is 81, wanted to see him. That McDermott was not "in" on the plan of men who indicated by his greeting to the officers, when they were brought into his presence at Twin Rocks.

"You have double-crossed me," shouted McDermott to his brothers.

Slater and McClintock, although they would disclose no details of information already revealed to them during the long automobile ride from Twin Rocks to Canton yesterday by McDermott, or of facts they expected to elicit from him during a grilling today, expressed the confidence that a full revelation of all angles of the plot to assassinate Mellett, as a result of a campaign against Canton's vice ring, would come to light.

Don R. Mellett, 32, was shot early on the morning of July 16, by gunmen, as he was putting his automobile in his garage at his home in Canton. During the two years he had been publisher of the Canton News, he had waged an unrelenting campaign against the operations of an alleged vice ring in the city.

WILLIAMS-DIXON

Beautiful Wedding of Popular Young Couple in Christian Church, Saturday Evening.

Never has Greenville society gathered for a prettier or more impressive wedding than on last Saturday evening at eight-thirty in the Eighth Street Christian church, when Miss Hannah Gay Dixon was married to Mr. Ira Bruce Williams, of Winston-Salem.

Long before the appointed hour, throngs of loving friends were assembling in the beautiful decorated church. The green and white color scheme was effectively carried out in the decorations, Southern smilax, aspen-tulle, white chrysanthemums, tulles, ferns and palms being used in profusion.

Prior to the entrance of the bridal party, a musical program was rendered with Mrs. Ray Tyson at the organ. She wore a gown of white crepe Elizabeth with gold trimmings, and a shoulder corsage of pink roses. Miss Ernestine Forbes, wearing a flesh crepe back satin gown beaded in pink roses and a shoulder corsage of pink roses, sweetly sang "The Sweetest Story Ever Told." Miss Marie Bowman, of Petersburg, owned in peach-colored busby willow with blue trimmings and wearing a shoulder corsage of pink roses, sweetly sang "Schubert's Serenade." A choir composed of Miss Bessie Brown, who wore a cloth of gold gown over blue and a shoulder corsage of pink roses, and Miss Bowman, soprano; Miss Ernestine Forbes, contra-vo; W. W. Lee tenor, and C. B. Rowlett, baritone, softly rendered "Oh Perfect Love" just outside the choir. They entered the choir loft singing Lohengrin's Bridal Chorus and continued singing while the bridal party entered the church. Mendelssohn's March was used as a recessional.

The ushers were first to enter the church. They entered two at a time and approached down opposite aisles. They were Ben Dixon, brother of the bride, W. B. Dupree, brother-in-law of the bride, Robert Little and Jake Dixon, brother of the bride. They were followed by the two little flower girls, little Miss Mary Horne, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Horne, and little Miss Jane Sellars, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Sellars. They were dainty in their long colonial frocks of pink georgette with ruffled skirts and trimmed with silver ribbons and flowers. They carried miniature pink chiffon muffs with showers of pink roses and silver ribbons.

The bridesmaids and groomsmen were next to enter. They entered alternately two at a time and proceeded down opposite aisles, the bridesmaids forming a semi-circle on the right. They entered in the following manner: Miss Margaret Caulkins, of Mount Vernon, N. Y., with Miss Willie Skinner, followed by James Little and Joe Rogers, of Winston-Salem; Mrs. Berry Taylor of Bluefield, W. Va., with Miss Anna Long, followed by Carl Ogburn and P. A. Wilson, Jr., of Winston-Salem; Miss Emily Moye with Miss Alice Lee Hooker, followed by Porter Williams, of Heath Springs, S. C., and Robert Critz, of Winston-Salem. The bridesmaids wore colonial dresses of silver cloth over pink. The long skirts were made bouffant style, with a ruffle of silver lace at the bottom. The waists were made decollete in the back having streamers of pink ribbon velvet from the neck to the bottom of the skirts. They wore pink moire pumps. They carried pink chiffon muffs with showers of pink roses and silver ribbons, and wore a pink velvet rose in their hair.

RECEPTION

Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Dixon entertained at one of the prettiest receptions of the autumn season at the country club, Saturday evening, following the wedding of their daughter, Hannah. The club house was attractively decorated to carry out a green and white color scheme. The lights were softly shaded and wedding bells, white cut flowers, smilax and potted plants were much in evidence in the decorations. A number of lighted tapers were also used. The punch table was especially attractive. As the guests arrived they were received and cordially welcomed by Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Flanagan, Mr. and Mrs. John Flanagan, Mr. and Mrs. Larry James and Dr. and Mrs. W. I. Wooten.

Miss Jennie Long and Scott Lloyd showed the guests to the punch bowl, which was presided over by Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hannah, Mr. and Mrs. Dall Laughinghouse, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Brunson, Miss Ada James and Van Stringfield.

The guests were introduced to the receiving line by Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Cooper. Receiving with Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Dixon were the bride and groom, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Williams, the members of the bridal party, Dr. and Mrs. James E. W. Cook, Rev. and Mrs. J. R. Tingle, Mr. and Mrs. Person Nicholson, Miss Emily Moye and George Hadley, Miss Alice Dunklee of Winston-Salem, and Will Whedbee, Miss Emily Harper, of Winston-Salem, and Tom Smoot, Mrs. Hester Banks, of Wilson, and Frank Hobson, Miss Mildred Morris, of Norfolk, and O. L. Joyner, Jr., Dr. and Mrs. C. O. H. Laughinghouse, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Hooker, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Sellars, and Mrs. H. L. Coward.

The guests were shown to the dining room by Mr. and Mrs. David J. Whitehead, Jr. and Mrs. Mrs. Graham Flanagan. Receiving in the dining room were Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Bradshaw, and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Gorman.

A pretty ice course in green and white was served by Misses Mary Warren, Saodie Moore, Margaret Fleming, Helen Joyner, Iva Shuburn, and Charlotte Ruth Summerell.

Presiding over the register were Mr. and Mrs. Francis Bowen, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Tolar, Miss Margaret Cook and Dr. Keel, of Winston-Salem.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Stokes, Jr. and Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Gaylord were at the exit door to bid the hundreds of guests "adieu."

The Vagabonds furnished music throughout the evening and at the close of the reception, dancing was enjoyed until nearly midnight.

Immediately after the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Williams motored to Rocky Mount, where they took a train for a bridal tour of northern cities. The bride's going-away costume was a tailored gown of blue pique with gold trimmings, water rose felt hat and tan pumps with black heels. She wore a brown squirrel coat. The brides bouquet, which was thrown on her departure, was caught by Miss Anna Long.

Among the out-of-town guests here for the wedding were: Mrs. J. W. Glenn, Miss Emily Harper, Miss Alice Dunklee, Robert Critz, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Rogers, M. A. Braswell, P. A. Wilson, Jr., Dr. Harry Keel, Willard Revelle, Dr. R. W. Spicer, Ronald Slye, and Carl Ogburn, of Winston-Salem, N. C.; Mrs. Perry Tyler, of Bluefield, W. Va.; Miss Margaret Caulkins, of Mount Vernon, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Williams, of Raleigh; Miss Mildred Morris, of Norfolk, Va.; Porter Williams, of Heath Springs, S. ### Pitt County Club Has Been Organized at the University

Jhapf Hill, Oct. 25.—At a meeting of the Pitt county boys which was held in the University Y. M. C. A. club room Thursday night, for the purpose of organizing a Pitt County Club, Frank Wilson, Jr., of Greenville, was elected president of the organization and Willis Whichard, of Stokes was elected vice-president. Tom W. Johnson, of Ayden, was elected secretary-treasurer. Wilson and Whichard are both sophomores in the University this year and Johnson is a member of the junior class.

Johnson, who acted as chairman for the first meeting, explained to the boys that the Pitt County club was inactive last year, but he and several other of the county boys, feeling the need of a county club, had called the meeting to bring about the organization. He stated that there was about 35 boys from the county in the University at this time and expressed hope that the club would bring about a closer relationship between the boys now in the University and between the University and the high school boys who will enter here next year and the years to come.

The chairman pointed out some of the things of service that during each year the club will toward bringing in high school students and making the county better known on the campus here and throughout the state of North Carolina.

The club will meet twice during each month on Thursday night. Plans are now under way for a club smoker which will be held at the next meeting. Three times during each year the club will have a big banquet at which time there will be addresses by some well known member of the faculty.

One time during the year, either during the Christmas holidays or Easter holidays, the club will have a banquet at some central place in the county and have all the University alumni at the gathering. This will tend to cause each "grad" of the institution to become more attached to his Alma Mater.

From time to time the club will gather statistics concerning the county boys in the University now and data concerning the success of the county boys who have already received their degree here and send it to the county and state papers.

How to Gain 5 Pounds in 30 Days

Ask Denton Drug Co. or any druggist for a box of McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets. They cost but little, are sugar coated and pleasant to take.

Skinny men and women take them to speedily put on plenty of good, healthy, soft flesh, and for this purpose they are so extremely good that thin men and women often take on 5 pounds or more in 30 days. THE LEGION CAN HELP
 "If the legion men will mobilize to get out the vote and secure clean elections, they'll measure up to the sort of fighting they did in France," declared Josephus Daniels, former Secretary of the Navy, in an article in Sunday's News and Observer. His statement was by way of comment on the attitude of the American Legion, in its recent national convention, when Legionnaires all over the country were urged to show their patriotism and true Americanism by getting the voters to the polls on the first Tuesday in November.

This effort on the part of the American Legion should be far reaching and every post in the nation should put its shoulder to the wheel and push the movement along by getting out the voters in their respective counties and precincts. The Pitt County Post of the American Legion is a live organization in this county and if the members will make an honest effort in behalf of the move to get voters to vote, our county will show up much better when the votes are counted.

America entered the world war to make the world safe for democracy, and yet we are not living under a truly Democratic form of government because half the eligible voters in the United States stay away from the polls on election day and let the other half decide who is to run the government. If our government is to be representative the people of our nation must take part in the election of the various officers. Regardless of the way he votes, a person who goes to the polls and casts his ballot is a better American citizen than the one who remains away from the ballot boxes and takes no part in the choice of the officers.

The American Legion is a hundred per cent American organization, and it is to be hoped that the various posts including the local post, will take advantage of the opportunity to help to make the country hundred per cent American by urging upon the eligible voters their duties as citizens and get them to perform these duties on election day.

WILL WE GO FORWARD?
 Grading work on the Cox Mill road extension has already been completed, and now wooden bridges are in process of construction which will complete the job so far as the present program is concerned. The question, now, is will we go backward or will we go forward? If there is nothing else done to the road, we will soon begin to go backward, for our experience has shown us clearly that a dirt road will not hold up under the present day heavy traffic. If the money already spent on this road is to be a permanent investment, the road must be hardsurfaced, and now is the time for our county officials and our business men to be giving the matter their undivided attention.

The hardsurfacing of the Cox Mill road extension should be a state project as it is a connecting link between Greenville and New Bern, two county seats, and every effort on the part of the two counties should be made to get the next legislature to make provision for same. Should these efforts prove futile, however, then it is up to our county to see to it that the paving project is carried out as the hardsurfacing this piece of road would open up one of our richest sections and bring to us thousands of dollars in business yearly.

Surely our alert business men realize that the hardsurfacing of this road is an investment that will pay big dividends and will see to it that before another harvest season the project is carried to completion either by the state or the county.

Apathy of Citizens is Causing Anxiety in Ohio Campaign
 Columbus, O., Oct. 23.—(INS)—Heretofore marked by a public apathy plainly disconcerting to party leaders, Ohio's political campaigns began to assume some proportions of aroused general interest today just around the corner.

In past years always a political hotbed, Ohio—the voters that is—has failed, for some reason unaccountable to veteran observers to become even warmed up this year to the campaigns waged by the candidates for the United States Senate and Governor's chair.

The usual issues set up by the two major parties have been there, the weighty arguments of "Republicanism" and "Democracy" have been on hand, the oratorical eloquence has been decidedly among those present, and the fiery addresses by the candidates themselves have been up to standard, but, until very recently the voting public simply could not seem to snap out of the lethargy.

Aside from biased partisans, few with an open mind on the matter care to vouchsafe a prediction on the outcome of the Senatorial contest between Frank B. Willis, the incumbent and Albee Pomeroe, his Democratic opponent, while fewer still care to speak for publication on the probable outcome of Governor Donaher's efforts to be elected to a third term over his Republican adversary, Myers Y. Cooper, of Cincinnati.

Of paramount interest in the forthcoming election, from a voter's standpoint and sharing in the belated campaign interest, is the referendum to be taken on a proposed amendment to the Ohio constitution modifying the state's primary law.

The amendment, its sponsors emphatically aver, would restore representative government to Ohio, but, on the other hand, its opponents vehemently declare it ultimately would relegate the direct primary to the ranks of "has-beens" and give the nominating power to controlled state political conventions.

ST. BERNARD MONK NOW WATCHES AUSTRIAN ALPS
 Vienna, Oct. 23.—(INS)—A lonely Monk of St. Bernard now watches over the spiritual and physical needs of the mountaineers in Austria as do his more famous brothers in the Swiss Alps. A tiny chapel has just been built 2100 meters up on the Grossglockner Mountain, where the Monk will dwell amid a vast field of snow and only a dog.

The chapel has been built because of the increasing popularity of the Grossglockner with mountain climbers, among whom have been several deaths in the last year.

Isadora Duncan Dodges Court Fight
 Nice, Oct. 23.—(INS)—Isadora Duncan, American dancer now living on the Riviera, doesn't want to be dragged into the legal tangle over the estate of her eccentric Russian poet husband Serge Esenin's parents are contesting the claim on the grounds that Serge could not have been legally married to Sofia since he was still the husband of Isadora Duncan.

I am disgusted with all this wrangling over a dead man's bones, declared Isadora. I am the only real wife of Serge Esenin. The alleged third wife, Sofia Tolstoy obtained an illegal marriage by forcing Serge to produce the certificate of divorce from his first wife.

His father and mother ought to have his money. The only way I could be dragged into the affair would be to fight for the rights of his parents.

I believe firmly that Esenin committed suicide in order to escape from Sofia Tolstoy who refused to allow him to drink. This must have been a hard blow for him as he was a hard drinker, she declared.

Riviera in Throes of the Greatest Land Boom Now
 Nice, Oct. 24. (AP)—Frenzied speculation never surpassed even in the hectic days of the Florida land boom, has struck the French Riviera. Hundreds of thousands of dollars are being lost and made in a wild scramble for land from Toulon to Mentone.

The English are in the majority among speculators but the Frenchmen, Germans, Americans and Spaniards are all taking advantage of the unprecedented rise in land values.

Every kilometer on the Corniche road between Cannes and Monte Carlo is littered with huge posters advertising lots for sale. Juan-les Pins, a hamlet a year ago his developed into a brilliant casino town practically overnight.

In the fall of 1925, land around the few French cottages, and the one inn could be bought for 20 francs per metre. It now brings 300 francs.

At Venice, Grasse and Saint Raphael, the same speculation is in progress.

"FINIS" WRITTEN TO SUICIDE PACT
Forlorn Husband, in Person for Killing Wife, Takes Own Life

Nashville, Tenn., Oct. 23.—(INS)—"Finis" has been written on one of the most sensational suicide pacts ever recorded in Nashville's crime history.

The body of Walter Sharp, whose mysterious death at the State prison here was attributed to self-administered poison, has been laid to rest beside his wife in a local cemetery.

A romance that started between Sharp a stage hand, and Fay C. C. "A girl who did not care," and later culminated in their marriage is the sensational story that lies behind the death of Sharp.

Several months ago Sharp called a friend who was in the undertaking business. He ordered two coffins and told his friend that when they arrived he and his wife would be dead.

When police arrived, Mrs. Sharp was found lying across a bed dead. A bullet hole through her head had ended her life. Sharp, pistol in hand, was lying nearby. He was shot through the head but still alive.

Under police guard, Sharp recovered at a local hospital.

"It was an agreement. She asked me to kill her and she didn't have the nerve to carry out our suicide pact," Sharp told police. "I will kill myself the first chance I get."

Sharp was tried for murder. "It will be a long time before they burn me up in the electric chair, but I wish they would hurry it along." Throughout the trial Sharp never mentioned the motive for the death pact. He declined time after time to tell.

"Give me the electric chair. I am sane," he pleaded with a jury. But volunteer lawyers made more brilliant speeches and he was saved from the extreme penalty. He was sentenced to life imprisonment on a plea of temporary insanity.

At the prison three weeks, the prisoners heard him moan, "Fay, I'm coming." They thought he was sleep talking. The next morning his body was found on a cell cot, feeble and prone.

BROOKS DECLARES THEORY OF CO-OP MARKETING SOUND
Says Entirely Different Contracts From Those Former Organizations Necessary to Interest the Farmer

Greensboro, Oct. 22.—(AP)—Asserting that the country was entering upon an era "in which co-operative marketing is to play a much larger part in rural economics, Dr. E. C. Brooks, president of N. C. State College, declared here today that it was "unfortunate" when "the whole movement of our agricultural people is toward co-operative marketing that the cotton and tobacco associations are practically negligible as factors in prompting agricultural prosperity."

Dr. Brooks was speaking before the Greensboro Civitan Club on the occasion of Farmers' Day of the organization. He outlined what, in his opinion, would help the farmers in the present cotton emergency and in the future and dwelt on what State College thru its Extension Service was attempting to do for the farmers. He cited figures as shown that some results already had been accomplished by the college.

The speaker declared that the principle of co-operative marketing as "sound" but the organization of these associations is defective and these defects in his judgment are due: (1) to the nature of the contract which the farmers sign which does not appeal to a sufficiently increasing number of farmers to make the association very effective and too much discontent appears and this is incompatible with co-operation and association; (2) to the fact that a small minority of farmers carry the burden of attempting to stabilize the prices for themselves and also for the large majority, but if all the farmers, or the great majority, were each called upon to sign up for 25 per cent or 30 per cent of the cotton produced, all then would be co-operating and each would have approximately three-fourth of his cotton to dispose of at will, and his sense of liberty and of property rights would not seem to be violated; and (3) the associations as constituted have tended to organize the farmers away from all other industrial or financial forces of the community and to create a monopoly, the control of which would seem to be in the hands of officials far removed from the cotton producers, and this has resulted in discord among neighbors and among related individuals, and it is a serious question, not yet answered as to whether a monopoly so constituted would in the long run be of advantage to the farmers.

"I believe it is possible to re-organize these associations in such a way as to make them real factors in promoting agricultural prosperity, but it is unthinkable that the State or Federal government would seek to compel all farmers to pay a tax on their commodities and thus force the majority to cooperate with a small minority thus organized."

"The remedy for over-production of any commodity," declared the speaker, "is, of course, to reduce first the production of that commodity. But sign-up campaigns that seek to bind the farmers of several states into an agreement to reduce the acreage in cotton do not apply the necessary remedy for over-production. In the Southern States the systems of agriculture are different because of a difference in soil, climate, occupations, varieties of commodities produced, and cost of production. Of course, there should be an adjustment in the cotton acreage, but it should come about in each State by substituting a more stable agricultural program and this must be worked out in each state with reference to its needs, conditions, and market demands. However we should now redouble our energies, using every agency available, to inaugurate a more stable agricultural program based on market demands, possible diversification, and means of bringing

MICHELHAM ART SALE BIG EVENT SET FOR NOV. 23

Treasure Store to Go On Auction Blocks, Causing Sensation; Inquiries Received From All Parts of World As to Details of Collection

London, Oct. 23.—(INS)—The coming sale of the art treasures of the late Lord Michelham is expected to be the most sensational event of its kind in the history of the auction-room.

Hampsons, the internationally known English auctioneers, will begin the disposal of this great collection of pictures, art, furniture, porcelain, tapestries, etcetera, which took Lord Michelham many years to gather together on November 23.

Already they have been inundated with inquiries from dealers and connoisseurs the world over for particulars of the sale, and a record attendance is anticipated.

Nearly two-hundred pictures of class are to be sold, and of fifteen of them it may safely be said that any one would invest a sale with first-class importance.

At a modest estimate these fifteen, which have vastly increased in value since their purchase by Lord Michelham, are expected by experts to realize between a million dollars.

The fifteen include four fine Romneyes, two of them rivalling the famous portrait of Mrs. Davenport, by the same master which brought the record price of approximately $300,000 when sold by Sir William Bromley-Davenport last July.

Gem of the Michelham Romneyes is the portrait of Anne Lady De-La Pole—a beautiful work which has hidden away for more than a century in a Devonshire country house before its value and importance were realized. Twenty-three years ago Sir Joseph Duveen, the famous London art dealer, paid $70,000 odd for it.

The other great Romneyes in the collection are portraits of Lady Elizabeth Forbes, the Three Children of Captain Little, and one of the celebrated Lady Hamilton as the 'Ambassadress.' Emma Hamilton was a favorite sister of Romneyes, and some of his finest work is seen in this portraits of her.

Two works by Sir Thomas Lawrence, an early President of the Royal Academy, three Hoppners, including a portrait of Lady Louisa Manners, for which Charles Wertheimer paid $210,000 twenty-five years ago, the then highest price ever paid in an auction room for a single picture.

The collection also includes two of the better examples of Raeburn's work, a portrait of Mrs. Robertson Williamson, for which Sir Joseph Duveen paid $75,000 in 1911; and a portrait of Lord Dundas.

There are also two examples of the work of Gainsborough—Master Heathcote and Miss Tatton. Big prices are expected to be realized for these two works, especially if there is any strenuous competition from American buyers.

WHISKEY CARGO AT BOTTOM BAY WORRIES OFFICERS

Many Divers Seek Permit to Visit Liquor Ship Sunk in Miami Harbor

Miami, Fla., Oct. 23.—(INS)—Steamer Evelyn D. with her cargo of 1,000 cases of imported liquor, has caused much worry to David Tyre, deputy collector of customs.

The steamer lies at the bottom of the Miami river, a result of the hurricane that recently swept over Florida.

The cargo and the steamer had been confiscated by officers a few hours before the hurricane struck this state.

Divers, who claim to be prospective bidders on raising the steamer and her cargo, have been applying for permits to dive down and inspect the boat so often that Tyre is becoming suspicious.

"All the divers say they will work for so much per day. But none of them will give me a bid of any amount for raising the steamer or an estimate on the number of days it will take to do it.

"There have been over a hundred prospective bidders, given permits to dive down and inspect the steamer. I wonder if the cargo has anything to do with the number?" asks Tyre.

The schooner Evelyn D. has become a millstone around the neck of customs and coast guard officials alike.

"I must have a bid on how long it will take to raise the steamer and what the cost will be before I can let a contract," declares Tyre.

"But none of those who get permits for inspection come back to make a bid, I wonder?" asks Tyre scratching his head and readjusts his glasses.

SAN DIEGO ASTRONOMER SEES MORE BAD STORMS

San Diego, Cal., Oct. 23.—(INS)—Further weather excesses and catastrophes, such as the Florida hurricane and the mid-western floods, were predicted today by C. M. Coomer, San Diego astronomer, who based his prophecy upon the appearance of a new and great sun spots, discernible here recently on the rim of the blazing sphere.

"The new spot is swinging toward us as the sun rotates," he said. "It will soon be felt along with the eight other spots now bubbling on the side nearest the earth. This group of spots is unusually large, being strung out over a 300,000 mile breadth on the sun's surface."

PARIS STYLE HINTS

Paris, Oct. 23.—(INS)—Shawls are being seen on more shoulders this autumn than ever before.

Perhaps the fine weather has had a little to do with it. A shawl is about the wrap one has needed so far and velvet cloaks seem far too heavy. Not every woman owns a Spanish shawl, so fashion has decided on a shawl mode, leaving the owners of that variety to wear them if they please for they are always beautiful.

New shawls are three-cornered or separate pieces of brocade or silk heavily fringed with silk. They are of all colors of the rainbow. Emerald green and gold come in lovely combination and silver unites well with blue. Huge wool flowers are often embroidered against a silken background.

There are not a few shawls in painted embroidered metallic cloth sometimes with patterns of raised velvet. One of the most beautiful ones seen recently comes from Italy but is made in Spanish fashion with long silk fringe. It is reversible, one side being of soft oyster-white velvet in a sort of Cubist effect with long, jagged lines and triangles with a line of mottled georgette showing through and the other side of a lovely figured georgette in pinks, blues and lavender. The fringe is speckled with the same pastel colorings.

The Cheruit scarf which is much like a shawl is also being much worn. One is in black and white with the deep ruffle ends embroidered in cream and red lacy patterns. Deep side points are accentuated in a number of them as in those composed of gold cloth and lined with nasturtium orange. Another takes its points from pleated lace.

There are six heron runs in France, the most important being located at Clairmarais, which contains more than 700 adult herons.

REALM OF SPORTS

NEW N. C. A. A. SMIM TITLE

Crack swimmers of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, representing universities in all sections of the country, will compete for team and individual championship honors in the new University of Iowa pool at Iowa City, April 2.

The team title will be decided for the first time since the meet attained national prominence in 1924. Heretofore only individual places have been counted and no points scored by teams.

David A. Arbustler, Iowa swimming coach, who is in charge of the tournament expects an unusually large entry list from the East, middle west and Pacific coast.

Nine events, probably will be included on the program. The tentative list is 50, 100, 220 and 440 yard free style, 200 yard breast stroke, 150 yard back stroke, 300 yard medley relay, 200 yard relay and fancy diving.

FOOTBALL IN HAWAII

Football fans at Honolulu are looking forward to seeing the three mainland football eleven in action on the local gridiron this season.

The University of Hawaii team will meet the University of Utah team December 18, and the University of Texas team will play here Christmas and New Year's day. Negotiations are under way for a third eleven to play here December 4.

The Hawaii football players will not invade the mainland this season, but are planning a trip in 1927.

AMERICAN JOCKEYS SECOND

The race for second honors on the French turf for 1926 is a neck and neck affair between the American Jockeys, Frank Koegh of Kentucky, an Matt McGee of Sheepshead Bay. Semblat, the crack French jockey, has such a lead in the number of winning mounts, that he is practically certain to repeat his 1925 success.

Koegh is inclined to take on weight and finds it more and more difficult to ride in handicaps on horses carrying light imposts.

A YALE CAPTAIN'S HONOR

A Yale captaincy in a major sport carries with it a signal honor—the right to be photographed leaning against the old wooden fence. Although the fence disappeared many years ago captains of today still are 'shot' in the characteristic pose.

In each photograph of the leader of Old Eli team, the grass in front of the fence is always the same; it is never cut and no lawn mower was ever run over it. The reason is that the men are posed in a photograph gallery where there is a section of the genuine old Yale wooden fence. A photographer's mat to represent grass is placed on the floor.

PLAN CODE FOR CHANNEL

A Channel Swimming Association is being formed in England to draw up a code of rule governing Channel swimming. Alfred Jones, founder of the Webb Memorial at Dover, pointed out that all recent successes have been achieved by swimming from the French shore to the English, while only two persons, Sullivan and Burgess, have rivalled the feat of Captain Webb in swimming from England to France.

He suggests a world's channel swimming trophy to be offered to the one who succeeds in swimming from England to France under the proposed code of rules and that the trophy be held until captured by another aspirant.

CHICAGO SINGS TO BATTLE

Candidates for the football team of the University of Chicago are wondering whether they must include a clear tenor voice among the assets they bring to the grid iron. A. A. Stagg, coach had the men march onto the field for the opening game with Florida singing "The Song of the C." which only letter men may sing.

The entrance was an impressive departure from the honored custom of sending the squad scampering onto the turf to run up and down the chalk lines in a dummy signal drill. But some of the local humorists apparently have little ear for music. The press has been full of jibes about the 'old man's' singing school.

NEW KIND OF BREAD MAKE COMPLETE FOOD AT 23 CENTS PER DAY

Vienna, Oct. 23.—(INS)—A nourishing bread that will amply sustain life at the cost of twenty-three cents a day has been produced by an Austrian. The bread is made of herbs, nuts, apples and other vegetable substance and baked into a hard brick. Twenty-five grams of the bread eaten without more ado than nibbling it is sufficient for breakfast. Another fifty grams during the rest of the day will give vigorous life. The cost of all this daily nourishment is one and a half Austrian schillings (23 cents).

Dr. Stein, who compounded the bread declares that for twelve years it has been his only sustenance and that he has completely done away with the kitchen and dining rooms. The economic effect he declares has been to reduce his living costs sixty per cent and it has given him perfect health although he is sixty-two years old.

CABLE LETTER

London, Oct. 23. (AP)—Miss Ellen Wilkinson, labor member of parliament, likely will be known as "Miss Parly" for the rest of her political career. She was called that during a hot debate held at the House of Commons by Sir Frederick Hall, a conservative, who tried to tease her. Miss Wilkinson flushed angrily and appealed to the chair. "Mr. Speaker," she said, "may I ask whether I am to be insulted by the member sitting next to me. I claim your protection." The speaker admonished Sir Frederick but Miss Wilkinson had seen the funny side by this time and began laughing. The names stuck.

Austin J. Small, better known as "Seamark" the Novelist, has contributed several dramatic sketches at the Little Theatre lately. Small ran away and went to sea at 13. He rode freight trains from New York to the west, where he earned his living singing in the ranch houses and mining salons. Drifting south, he worked as a cook. One day he met Jack London and told him a few of his adventures.

"Buy a pen and write them," London said. He did.

Viscount Ullawater, former of the house of commons, say he has enough speeches to let him a lifetime. Presenting prizes at a public school at Kendall he said: "There is nothing I dislike so much as public speaking. I do not believe in public speeches. I have heard too many. Reckoning up not long ago the number I came to the conclusion that I was 50,000. I am not anxious, therefore, to add to the number, or to listen to myself."

Paris, Oct. 23.—(AP)—"Land me your lipsick; my lips are parched from the cold," were the first words spoken by Mme. Denyse Collin when she landed after a full hour's flight which qualified her for the third feminine aerial pilot license issued in old France.

The request was addressed to Mme. Adrienne Boland, who in 1921 was the first French woman to obtain a license, and who had watched her friend's flight with great interest. Madame Louise Maryse, who qualified as a pilot at last year, was not present. During her test of sixty minutes on a heavy biplane, Mlle. (correct) Collin, looped the loop, glided with motor cut off and other stunts, and easily passed her examination. A nurse with the French hospital corps during the war, the young woman flew for the first time when she accompanied a wounded French general in a plane from Rheims to Paris. She then vowed that she would be an aviatrix. Later she became a parachute jumper, dropping no less than forty times from airplanes in full flight. She has an autographed letter from M. Laurant Eynac, then air minister in France, congratulating her for services rendered to the French aviation.

Infants Don Jo'me, second son of the king of Spain, spent a few hours in Paris between trains while returning from London to Madrid recently and improved the beautiful autumn day as well as the state of his finances, by a little-business, with the 'Par-mutuel' booth at Long Champs race track. The infant sat in the stand nervously clutching a few thousand franc tickets bet on the Argentine owned, trained and ridden three year old Berbe, who turned up as the winner of the last big feature of the flat racing season, the Arc de Triomphe stakes.

Wedding bells jingling merrily and continuously since the beginning of the month and the unprecedented number of marriage notices posted at the Mayor's of the Ultra smart ward, of Paris, shows that although June may continue to be known as the month of brides and rises, October has passed it in the number of actual marriages.

Licenses issued in the aristocratic eighth and sixteenth wards were far in excess of the number for the corresponding period last June. October brides are not married in fluffy chiffon or georgette dresses and the dress-maker have been doing a rushing business in woolen fabrics. That the starched collar is an instrument of torture, a straight jacket for the neck and must disappear is the first article in the by-laws of the anti-collar league recently organized in Paris. The founders are all writers of some note, but the collarless fashion is making timid progress.

At the first meeting of the league, Andrew Antoine, a noted author and theatrical critic, was elected president and an executive committee formed. Press photographers in attendance asked the committee to pose for a picture. When the picture appeared in the newspaper it was found that seven out of 8 on the committee were wearing stiff collars. The attention of the president was called to the fact. He declared: "This was not an oversight; it was done on purpose to show how miserable we were and how uncomfortable we looked and felt."

rules for chastisement of the younger generation were among practical hints handed out at the meeting of the Ohio Welfare Conference here recently.

In substance, they were: Spanking, if any, should be administered promptly after the alleged offense has taken place—or better yet, immediately upon its discovery. The entire profit gained by spanking is to associate a bit of leather, or a well developed palm with a bit of wrongdoing.

Spanking should begin at an early age, and may prove helpful until the child is eight years of age; a hitherto unspanked child should not be irritated after that time, as he or she will more than likely feel outraged.

Old Dobbin, who has been the power behind the log skidding industry throughout the history of the timberlands, will shortly hear another death knell ringing in his behalf.

Gasoline skidders and caterpillar tractors have practically displaced him, according to facts brought out before a session of the Appalachian Logging Congress.

E. H. Frothingham, director of the Appalachian Forest Experiment station at Asheville, N. C., also told the congress about the blight that has killed millions of chestnut trees throughout the Appalachian timber range.

In New York, Connecticut and all along the Appalachian range, millions and millions of chestnut trees—hardwood timber—have been destroyed by the Chinese blight. There is no solution except to use the trees before the destruction is complete, he said.

TODAY

She has seen Washington, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Jersey City, Columbia College, and has watched, never laughing, thousands of American women making courtesy worthy of a chicken with a broken leg walking across the barnyard.

What impressed her most was not the dome of the Capitol, nor the highly polished domes of bankers with whom she lunched on Friday. In a hospital ward a negro child, scarcely out of babyhood, reached up its arms to her. The queen kissed the little black face, and said it was the most touching sight she could remember, the bright little black eyes defying pain.

News of the hurricane sweeping over Cuba becomes more serious. And the loss of money is estimated at one hundred millions. It is to be hoped that the United States Government will show sympathy in some practical business way.

Cuba is rich, powerful, independent, and asks no outside charity. This country might well establish closer, more friendly commercial relations with the neighbor at our door.

Say to modern youth there are 'tongues in trees, books in the running brooks, sermons in stones, it will reply, 'Yes, but I don't want to hear them.'

Change it to 'sermons in the Dempsey-Tunney fight,' and youth will say, 'Tell me!'

One Dempsey-Tunney moral is:

WHEN YOU SEE AN OPENING, DON'T HESITATE.

A New York merchant who once held the American heavyweight amateur boxing championship said to Tunney, whom he likes, 'Don't forget that when Dempsey starts a fight he stoops over and begins 'weaving' from side to side, keeping it up for twenty or thirty seconds. Then he dashes in like a wildcat. Don't let him FINISH his weaving. The minute he starts, let him have it.' Tunney said, 'That's what I have been thinking' and that is what he did.

To Dempsey's amazement, Tunney did not wait for the weaving to stop, but interrupted it at the start with a powerful blow, demoralizing Dempsey, as he never had been demoralized before.

Dempsey was Tunney's opportunity, and he took it. Young gentlemen, don't stand idly watching while your opportunity is weaving back and forth. Go in and take it.

Moscow reports that Soviet Russia will punish any man guilty of bigamy with $250 fine, or jail. It would be interesting to know what sort of marriage would involve the jail term. Multiple marriages contracted in the first period of Bolshevik fighting will be overlooked.

Stealing a girl to marry her, which happens among Russia's Mohammedan subjects, will be punished with imprisonment, unless the girl was willing. Professional dealers in girl brides will be fined the price of each bride.

Here the husband and wife take a trip to Paris, and everything is legal. Unlike the Bolsheviks, 'We do those things politely.'
