REPUBLICANS ARE DEALT HARD BLOW AT BALLOT BOXES

Entire Democratic Tickets Swept Into Power in Several States; Big Gains in Senate and House

New York, Nov. 3.—(INS)—Belated returns from closely contested states up to noon today emphasized the breadth and scope of the Democratic victories rolled up in yesterday's off-year election.

More complete figures from the western states made it clear that the Republican margin of control in the Senate of the Seventieth Congress will not be larger than one vote—if it is that.

Oregon, where there is a three-cornered race for the Senate, remained the only state at noon about which there was any considerable measure of doubt as to the winner.

Late returns from states this morning considered doubtful, established that the Democrats gained seven Senate seats net, exclusive of Oregon.

If the Republicans ultimately succeed in taking Oregon that will have a paper majority of one, yet it is doubtful if even that majority could be made to function for a time as Senator Ashurst, Democrat of Arizona, announced in Washington today his intention of contesting the right of either Wm. S. Vare of Pennsylvania, or Frank L. Smith, of Illinois, to sit as Senators because of their campaign expenditures.

In the House, the Republican situation appeared only slightly more comfortable. The Democratic net gain of House seats hovered around 14 today as belated returns came in. The House, in any event, likely will be so reduced, in the final analysis, that the insurgent Bloc there can make trouble for administration leaders.

If final figures on the House contests bear out the apparent approximate line-up, the Seventieth Congress gives promise of being difficult if not utterly defiant of control.

President Coolidge has sustained probably the most severe reverse of his lengthy political career in the defeat of his personal friend and campaign manager Senator William Morgan Butler, in Massachusetts. Mr. Coolidge asked the voters of his home state to elect Butler to the Senate, and he travelled to Northampton yesterday by special train to vote for his friend and thus emphasize his desire to see Butler back to Washington.

Massachusetts responded to the White House by electing Butler's Democratic opponent; ex-Senator David I. Walsh, by a majority that surprised even the hopeful Democratic managers. Walsh ran as an avowed opponent of the Volstead law; Butler, chairman of the Republican National Committee, as a dry.

What effect, if any, this blow to the President's prestige will have on the "availability" for re-nomination.

In 1928 is a matter that was being discussed today wherever politicians gathered to hold post-mortems on yesterday's balloting.

LITTLE INTEREST IN THE ELECTION HERE YESTERDAY

One of the Smallest Votes in Recent Years Polled in Pitt County; Definite Returns Coming in Slow

Neither Democrats nor Republicans in Pitt county appeared much interested in yesterday's general election and the vote cast in the county was one of the smallest in recent years, and represented only a small percentage of the eligible voters.

In Greenville township, where in the last Democratic primary 2,600 votes were cast, scarcely 500 votes were polled yesterday and the voting throughout the county was in proportion. Only a few of the precincts had made definite returns at the noon hour today, but these indicated that the total vote for the county would run between twelve and fifteen hundred with the Republican vote comprising only a very small part of the total.

DEMOCRATS TAKE NEW YORK STATE BY BIG MAJORITY

Smith Is Re-elected Governor by 275,000 and Whole State Ticket Swept in With Him

New York, Nov. 3.—(INS)—Gov. Alfred E. Smith, re-elected by a smashing majority, estimated this morning at nearly 275,000.

Justice Robert F. Wagner elected to the Senate over Senator James W. Wadsworth, Jr., by an estimated plurality of 125,000.

The whole Democratic state ticket apparently swept into office on the crest of the Governor's victory.

New York's opposition to the Volstead law expressed by more than 1,000,000 majority.

Democratic gains in the Legislature were not sufficient to wrest control from the Republicans.

These were the outstanding features today of Tuesday's spectacular election, which saw a record-breaking off-year vote cast in New York State.

Gov. Smith more than doubled his plurality of 108,000 over Roosevelt two years ago, but it did not reach the figure by which he defeated Nathan L. Miller four years ago.

Only Living Mother Confederate Vet Celebrates Birthday

Fayetteville, N. C., Nov. 3.—The only living mother of a Confederate soldier today celebrated her 103rd birthday.

She was Mrs. Julia Anne Prigden, of Pender county. She was sent remembrances today by the Southern Memorial Association, 7,853 Daughters of the Confederacy, and others.

Storm Wrecked Ship Arrives at Morehead

Wilmington, Nov. 3.—(INS)—With her hull leaking and sails shattered, the storm-wrecked schooner, Pernel G. White this morning was safely in port at Morehead, after being adrift since October 21.

Orders for the U. S. Coast Guard Cutter Modoc to go to the ship's assistance at daybreak were rescinded. First reports said the ship was caught in a storm while enroute from Jamaica to Baltimore and blown from the lanes of navigation.

OVERMAN IN BY BIG MAJORITY TO SUPREME COURT

Veteran Democratic Senator Piles up Big Lead Over Johnson Hayes, His Republican Opponent

Raleigh, Nov. 3.—(INS)—A majority of approximately 45,000 votes already had been piled up by Senator Lee S. Overman, running for re-election against Johnson J. Hayes, Republican, unofficial returns here indicated today.

Representative Lindsey C. Warren, first district, and Representative Kerr, second district, were elected without opposition.

In the third district, Representative A'hernethy was leading by a large majority.

Representatives Pott, Steadman Lyon, Hammer, Doughton and Bulwinkle were apparently elected by overwhelming majorities on the face of early returns.

In the tenth district, 47 out of 241 precincts gave Weaver, Democrat, 6,710 and Smathers, Republican, 4,865. While the race was conceded to be close, Democrats, however, has not conceded defeat.

The entire state Democratic ticket was elected.

Beaufort County Man Kills Bear

Fred Sutton, who resides in Beaufort county, just across the Pitt county line, killed a bear weighing 180 pounds, about a half-mile from his home yesterday afternoon. He had suspicions that there was a bear near by, and took his dog and gun for a hunt. The dog ran the bear into a thicket and Mr. Sutton finally shot him in a pine tree. Mr. Sutton stated that he killed three bears in almost the same place last fall. He brought one of the bear's paws to the Reflector office today.

Attorneys for Harry F. Sinclair Ask for Writ of Review of Circuit Court's Decision

Washington, Nov. 3.—(INS)—The Teapot Dome oil case reached the Supreme Court today. Attorneys for Harry F. Sinclair, lessee of the Wyoming Naval Oil Reserve, today filed with the court a petition for a writ of review of the Federal Circuit Court's decision holding that the lease was fraudulently executed and was invalid.

Sinclair said there was no evidence of fraud or bribery in connection with the lease from ex-secretary of Interior Albert B. Fall.

FUNERAL SERVICES FRANCIS SKINNER HELD HERE TODAY

Popular Young Man Who Died Yesterday Was Buried in Episcopal Cemetery This Afternoon

Funeral services for Mr. Francis N. Skinner, who died at his home here yesterday morning, were conducted from his late home at three o'clock this afternoon. Interment followed in the Episcopal Cemetery. The services were conducted by Rev. Father Gabriel, of New York.

Mr. Skinner, the son of Col. and Mrs. Harry Skinner, was a native of this city and was 28 years old. He was very popular in social circles of this section of the state and enjoyed a host of friends.

A large number of out of town persons were here to attend the funeral services, and one of the largest floral offerings ever sent in this city was evidence of the sorrow of his wide circle of friends.

The pall bearers were: Elickon Arthur, Sheppard Andrews, Francis Bowen, Ollie Clark, Jack Edwards, Earl Forbes, John Flanagan, Graham Flanagan, Dr. J. C. Greene, Will James, Larry James, Altho Joyner, Julian Jones, Carl Laughlinhouse, Scott Loyd, James Little, Bob Little, Sheppard Moxton, Curtis Perkins, Geo. Powell, Frank Rice, W. I. Skinner, G. V. Smith, B. B. Suggs, Dr. A. M. Schultz, R. A. Tyson, Bruce Warren, David Whitehead, W. L. Whitehead, Charles White, Julian White, J. J. Weikel.

DISAPPOINTED AT BUTLER'S DEFEAT

White House Has Made No Statement But President's Disappointment at Failure of Friend Apparent

Washington, Nov. 3.—(INS)—President Coolidge arose early today to get returns from the electors.

He asked particularly for detailed reports to show whether the Republicans had lost control either of the Senate or House.

It was said at the White House that no statement on the election would be forthcoming from the President. There was no disguising however, the keen disappointment felt at the White House over the defeat of Mr. Coolidge's friend and campaign manager, Senator William M. Butler, in Massachusetts.

A White House official expressed satisfaction over the control retained in the House by the Republicans. This official pointed out that the test of national strength between Republicans and Democrat, lay in the vote for House members rather than the Senate, because every seat in the House is at stake while but little more than one-third of the Senate was up for election.

Los Angeles, Nov. 3.—(INS)—Aimee Semple McPherson, world-famous evangelist, was ordered held for trial today on charges of conspiracy to defeat justice.

Municipal Judge Samuel Blake's decision climaxed a five weeks' preliminary hearing, during which the State charged that the pastor's story of a Mexican kidnapping was untrue.

Important Election Shows and a Hair Shooting Mussolini ONE KNOT TOO HARD (By Arthur Brisbane)

This important election may take the Senate away from President Coolidge like taking the wheel from the chauffeur. Senator's Butler's election in Massachusetts, won't the Republicans, especially in spite of the fact that his defeat for the President.

Mr. Coolidge patriotically urges all citizens to vote. But what do votes amount to, cast by men not knowing why they vote, merely are voting some party label.

The President might have said to citizens frankly, "If you think I am making a success, believe your country is prosperous and want me to continue running it, send Republicans to Congress."

A sixth attempt to murder Mussolini failed after the shot had fired, the police collect what was left of an 19 year old boy, the he kicked and stabbed out of his body. "A furious Mos. Haroldson believes in "his start" and it shone favorably for a long while. Mussolini might well believe in his charmed life. He recently passed a law making it death to attempt to kill him. The mob makes the law unnecessary.

Those prosecuting or persecuting Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson, say a pair of her shoes, was found in Los Angeles, were found in a trunk belonging to the wandering Oranistan, alleged to have accompanied Mrs. McPherson on a vacation.

Mrs. McPherson's lawyers ask that the case be dismissed, the prosecution replies that it has found an Aimee Semple McPherson hair in the alleged lye nest, and will compare it with a hair from her head; there is a much difference in hair as in trees, great difference of size.

And counting the hairs of your head is not so difficult. Thirty thousand would be a good many even for thick hair.

Houdini, great magician, likes to visit newspaper offices and show how he could unite any knot with his hands behind his back. He was a useful man exposing frauds, including one that pretends to bring the spirits of the dead back to talk childish nonsense to those still living.

Now he is gone. Old death has tied for him a knot that not even Houdini can untie.

HALL-MILLS TRIAL GOT UNDER WAY IN NEW JERSEY TODAY

Daughter of Slain Woman is First Witness to Take Stand in Sensational Murder Trial

(By James P. Kilgallen, INS Staff Correspondent—Somerville, N. P., Nov. 3.—(INS)—Charlotte Mills, a slim, pathetic figure, took the witness stand in the Hall-Mills murder trial this afternoon and in tremulous tones told of the last time she saw her mother, Mrs. Eleanor Mills before she was slain with Dr. Edward Wheeler Hall, her pastor, with whom she was keeping a love tryst on the night of September 14, 1922.

It was at 7 o'clock that fatal evening when her mother said: "Good bye, Charlotte, I'm running over to the corner to use the telephone—I have had a call that Dr. Hall wants me to telephone him."

"Mother went away to make that call, and I never saw her alive again," said Charlotte, her voice breaking with emotion.

Charlotte answered to her name timidly when summoned to the witness stand. Attired in red, she slipped out of the third row of seats in the court room and made her way slowly to the stand, where, after objections from the defense, she was sworn in.

Somerville, N. J., Nov. 3.—(INS)—The curtain rose today in the famous Hall-Mills murder drama.

At 10:16 this morning Judge Charles W. Parker, seated in front of a huge American flag, formally summoned Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall and her two brothers, Willie and Henry Stevens, before the court.

WILL MAKE EFFORT PREVENT SEATING VARE AND SMITH

Senator Ashurst Declares Democrats Will Object to Senators As Result Slush Fund Probe

Washington, Nov. 3.—(INS)—At the very start of the next Senate, an effort will be made by Democrats to keep William S. Vare, winner in Pennsylvania, and Frank L. Smith, victor in Illinois, from taking their seats in the Senate.

Senator Ashurst (D), of Arizona, declared today that he would challenge both men because of revelations that the huge funds were spent in their Senatorial primary contests.

Such action would precipitate a sharp constitutional battle. Some of the Senate's constitutional lawyers, like Borah, of Idaho, for instance, contend that both men must be allowed to take their seats because they violated no law. But that the Senator later if it desires and can command a two-thirds majority, can expel them.

A majority vote only would be required to prevent Vare and Smith from taking their seats if the Senate decides that they violated the election laws.

Armistice Plans Materializing

The Armistice Day celebration to be staged here on Nov. 11th by the Pitt County Post of the American Legion has been well planned by the committee on arrangements. It is earnestly hoped that the largest crowd in the history of this county will be here to observe the whole day from the parade in the morning throughout the entire interesting program ending with the war picture at White's, "Behind the Front," in the evening.

NORTH CAROLINA DEMOCRATS MAKE GAINS YESTERDAY

Party Receives 100,000 Majority in the State With Many Prodigal Counties Returning to Fold

Raleigh, Nov. 3.—(INS)—As slowly incoming returns were received here today, it was estimated that the Democratic majority in Tuesday's election would exceed 90,000 vote, and would possibly reach the 100,000 mark.

The election turned Tar Heel politics inside out and then some and in the West there were surprises aplenty for both demoralizations. However, the majority of the counties which had been placed in the doubtful classification column went Democratic.

Democratic leaders were particularly gleeful over the result in Sampson county. Sampson, a Republican stronghold for 30 years, went Democratic yesterday by a large majority. Johnston county in Tuesday's election would "strategic column by more than a thousand plurality."

Washington was another county that could be safely claimed by the Democrat, today. While only meager returns have been received from Brunswick early today, a Democratic majority was indicated.

Stanley, a county which the Republicans were hopeful of, went Democratic by a slight majority. Burke also went into the Democratic column by a light margin.

Reports from Catawba were not by any means decisive this morning and the county was still claimed by both parties.

Henderson and McDowell apparently have gone Republican, Henderson by an overwhelming majority. Macon, for years a Democratic county, went into the G. O. P. column yesterday, as did Jackson, Cherokee and Swain, slipped back into the Democratic line.

Randolph, the cynosure of all eyes yesterday, apparently became a Republican by a slight majority.

Former Resident Greenville Dies

Goldboro, Nov. 2.—Mrs. J. M. Daniel, wife of Rev. J. M. Daniel, pastor of St. Paul's Episcopal church at Goldboro, died at Sanatorium, N. C. Tuesday morning at 9:40, after an illness of many months. The remains will be brought to Goldboro late today evening and the funeral services will be conducted at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning. The interment will take place at the cemetery in Warrenton at five o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Daniel was before her marriage, Miss Ellen Garrett, of Greensboro. She leaves besides her husband, two children, Helen and James Daniel, aged 14 to 12.

Mrs. Daniels has a host of friends, here, who will regret to learn of her sad death, having resided here when her husband, Rev. J. M. Daniels, was pastor of the Jarvis Memorial Methodist church several years ago.

Negro Killed in Auto Accident Near Grimesland

A thirteen years' old negro boy, the son of Henry Peed, who lives on the Hyman Proctor place near Grimesland was instantly killed last night as the result of an automobile collision near Grimesland.

According to information received the boy and his father were enroute from Aurora to Grimesland when they approached another car apparently parked along side the highway. As they neared the spot the car swerved out into the road and struck the Peed car. The negro boy's throat was cut by the flying glass from the windshield and he died almost instantly.

AMERICAN EDUCATION WEEK

An institution that has passed the transitional stage and is now firmly embedded in the consciousness of those interested in the education of our youth is to be celebrated for the period of one week beginning November 7th and terminating November 13th.

American Education Week again brings its message and significant appeal not only to the educators connected with our splendid system of public schools, but also to the parents or guardians of that vast army of youth who are being carefully trained in the public schools of the country. Sponsored by a number of leading national organizations, including two of the most effective bodies that are promoting American citizenship in this country today, namely, the National Education Association and the American Legion, the institution known as American Education Week is creating much interest and attention in the public schools, focusing as it were the eyes of millions of our countrymen upon the educational system that is creating an enlightened youth and assuring this nation patriotic and responsible citizens of tomorrow.

Although the public school system has not as yet been accorded the recognition in the President's Cabinet that it justly deserves, it is nevertheless commendably doing its full duty toward the youth of America. Ever also expanding and progressing in a marked degree, the American public school has by its excellent and invaluable service to the nation fully justified the moral and financial support accorded by the citizens of this country.

American Education Week will furnish many opportunities in which the public school may be studied from all angles. Its splendid equipment, its personnel of skilled instructors, its interest in healthy outdoor sports, its many advantages offered to the student that will enable him or her to take up practically every known profession or trade, its strong sentiment of patriotism, love of country, are but a few of the many exceptional advantages offered to Young America.

It is the duty of parents to familiarize themselves with the public school. It is their privilege to gain an intimate understanding of the institutions that are training their children. Therefore American Education Week should be observed in the fullest sense, and the various boards of education throughout the length and breadth of this country should be made to feel that their splendid service is appreciated and that they have the support of the mothers and fathers whose children are enrolled in the various classrooms.

Daily News Letter

Consent of Staff Correspondents at World Centers of Population.

San Francisco, Nov. 3. (INS)—If a man is worth marrying he is worth fighting for, according to Mrs. Virginia Stoker, pretty 21 year old wife of James Stoker, 23 Oakland chauffeur and mother of Buddy Stoker 2.

One day not so long ago Mrs. Stoker happened to be out for a stroll when, lo and behold, she should see but her husband James, walking blithely along with Miss Helen Rowley, 18, pretty blonde telephone operator.

Mrs. Stoker didn't even hesitate. She grabbed herself a convenient stick and before James and Miss Rowley knew what was happening, Miss Rowley was getting the thrashing of her young life.

"That's what you get for being with my husband," Mrs. Stoker, screamed as she angrily walked the stick.

As a result of the adventure, Miss Rowley had to nurse a bruised hip and numerous welts on her body. Miss Rowley says, it was James who was being thrashed and she only got a few stray blows, but Mrs. Stoker says otherwise.

If you don't appreciate classical music you needn't be ashamed of yourself. In the opinion of Lloyd Taylor, representative of a national music concern, who recently made an address before the Oakland Rotary Club, and Taylor says, don't let anyone tell you you are suffering from a plebeian affliction. You are just human.

"It is foolish for anyone to scorn a certain type of music," Taylor declares. "Popular music is the kind that gets closest to the people and therefore is of the most value."

"Love of music is a great natural force, and does a great deal toward harmonizing the home and bringing happiness to the common people."

Taylor divides songs into three classes: Nonsense, such as those referring to the situation of the banana market; smut songs, which refer to red hot papas and other thing, and real heart songs.

The latter, he says, sometimes live for a considerable length of time, establishing records like those of "After the Ball," "The Rosary," and "The End of a Perfect Day."

The fact that there are "so many ships in the world" is largely responsible for the present depression in the shipping business, according to Captain Robert Dollar, 82-year old head of the Dollar Steamship Line, who has just returned to his home in San Francisco after having completed his seventh business trip around the world.

He gave that as one of the principal reasons why the United States shipping board was finding difficulty in persuading shipping men to buy its vessels at prices which would be approved by the American public.

"You can't sell a man a boat unless he thinks he has a chance to make money out of it, or at least to break even," Captain Dollar said.

Captain Dollar spoke hopefully of the intereastal trade. He pointed out that there was plenty of cargo eastbound, but that development of more cargo from the Atlantic seaboard to the Pacific coast must be worked out.

COAL MEN SEE OIL DEPLETION WORRYING U. S.

Stimulus Conference at Pittsburgh to Study New Fuel Production; German Scientists to Present Meeting With Important Data

Pittsburgh, Nov. 3. (INS)—German scientists who lead the world in coal research and the production of fuel oil from soft coal will lay their information before the International Conference of Elements Coal, called here for November 15, President Thomas S. Baker, of Carnegie Institute of Technology, sponsor of the conference, said today.

Methods and processes evolved by Dr. Friedrich Bergius and Professor Franz Fischer, the German delegates will be carefully considered by the conference in its efforts to arrive at a conclusive opinion of soft coal problems, after declared.

Even France and England, which also will be represented at the conference, have made far more progress with their coal problems than the United States. It was pointed out, but this is because the foreign countries have not the wealth of petroleum available to this country.

Because of the scarcity of petroleum existing for years in the European countries they attacked the problems of producing fuel oil from coal while the United States is enjoying the benefits of a natural supply of petroleum, but far more in-time officials point out that the knowledge that our oil supply is limited has caused an awakening of American fuel technicians.

With the Bergin method the greater part of a given quantity of coal is converted into liquid fuel. A mixture of pulverized coal and petroleum is heated to a temperature of about 700 degrees Fahrenheit in an atmosphere of hydrogen under pressure. Under these conditions the greater part of the coal is converted into liquid products which may be separated into approximately one-third each of heavy gasoline, Diesel engine oil and fuel oil.

Fischer, who is director of coal research at Mulheim-Ruhr, has made a liquid fuel oil which he calls "crudol" by heating water under similar high pressure in the presence of a catalytic material. "Synthol" is a mixture of alcohol, aldehydes and hydrocarbons. It already has been used successfully in automobile engines as a substitute for gasoline, according to reports.

Scarcely less widely known than Bergius and Fischer is Gen. Georges Patart, of Paris, who has invented a process for making liquid fuel from coal. He will represent France at the conference.

England's delegation includes Dr. C. H. Lander, director of fuel research of the Department of Scientific and Industrial Research, Dr. R. Lessing, fuel technologist, Geoffrey M. Gill, consulting engineer and gas specialist, and Harold Nelson, inventor of the L. N. process.

While the United States can offer in helping solve the problem of wanting petroleum supply will be presented by a large number of American engineers and scientists who have made important investigations and invented successful processes.

While the problem of obtaining fuel oil from soft coal probably will receive the most attention, the conference will be split up into special sessions at intervals, for the discussion of such problems as the complete gasification of coal, high temperature distillation and air products, power and fertilizers. It was announced. The smokeless fuel problem of big cities also will be given a prominent place on the agenda.

DEMPESEY TO START TRAINING FOR TUNNEY

New Orleans, Nov. 3.—(INS)—There is a good chance that Jack Dempsey may once more go into training to enter the ring with Gene Tunney.

The former heavyweight champion of the world, accompanied by Estelle Taylor, his wife, made this statement here today when he stopped over enroute to California.

Within two weeks after his return to Los Angeles, Dempsey said, he will go into training.

"It will be light training for a while," he declared. "Then I will be going good. I want to see for myself what kind of shape I am in."

French Race Track Gambling Men Now Behind Bars

Paris, Nov. 3.—(INS)—Several employees of French race track found a sure fire system of beating the betting game. They won once too often, and now they are behind the bars awaiting trial for fraud.

All those arrested were employees of the pari mutuel system. They worked their game at all the race tracks, Longchamp, Maison LaFite, Tremblay, Chantilly and Auteuil. The system was to await the result of a race. In the general confusion following immediately after posting of the winner, the manager to slip out a few tickets on the winning or placing horse. They paid themselves off at the same time as their customers.

Old Folks Made New

It is now five months since I took a course of your medicine for gas and stomach trouble and I am feeling entirely well. My friends all tell me I am looking twenty years younger and I certainly feel as they say. I am recommending May's to all afflicted with stomach and liver trouble. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the cartharal poisons from the intestinal tract and allows the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Sold by all leading druggists.

They never lost. Suspicion was directed toward the men when it was discovered that although their wages were approximately $2 daily each, they all owned country homes and automobiles and some had even bought out business concerns. It is estimated that during the last year they cleaned up at least $100,000. Since in pari mutue betting the amount paid on a winning horse depends upon the total amount of money placed on that horse, this sum was obtained at the expense of the bonafide betters. Odds should be appreciably higher with the grafting gang cleaned out.

SURPRISE BIRTHDAY PARTY

Tendered Mrs. Mollie Harris by Her Three Daughters.

The attractive home of Mrs. C. F. Blanchard, in College View was the scene of a pretty party on Tuesday evening, when Mrs. Blanchard, Mrs. R. S. May and Mrs. A. B. House had about three dozen guests, all relatives or intimate friends, to honor the twenty-sixth birthday of their mother, Mrs. Mollie Harris.

The guests all arrived, while

THE PREFERENCE OF SMART WOMEN—A NESTLE CIRCLINE PERMANENT WAVE

THE VANITIE BOXE

Mrs. Harris was taking tea away from home. On her return about eight o'clock, she was much surprised to find the festive scene. The sun parlor, drawing room and dining room were beautifully decorated with chrysantheums and potted plants, carrying out a pink and green color scheme. As Mrs. Harris entered, the guests began singing:

"We love her, we love her, she is so sweet and good, three cheers, three cheers, for mother and sister Harris, We love you."

After receiving congratulations from all present, she was ushered to the dining room, where a beautiful pink and white birthday cake had been arranged with its seventy-six lighted candles. She was then led to a seat of honor in the drawing room, when amid much merrymaking, little Mrs. Mary Rivers May, youngest grandchild of Mrs. Harris, wearing a pink crepe paper dress, entered rolling a tea cart beautifully decorated with pink and green and laden with attractive birthday gifts. Mrs. Harris opened each gift and in her own sweet, unassuming manner, graciously thanked each giver.

At the close of the evening, Mrs. Blanchard and Mrs. House, assisted by Miss Margaret Rene and Ruth May, served a pretty little course in pink and white.

Mrs. Harris is one of Greenville's oldest citizens, and although she is seventy-six, she is still quite active, and has scores of warm friends.

FIELD MUSEUM EXPEDITION BRINGS FINE SPECIMENTS FROM RECENT TRIP MESOPOTAMIA

Chicago, Nov. 3.—(INS)—Expedition work in the far places of the earth is not all romance and glory, for like the soldier in time of war, the scientist in the field suffers privations, wrestles with the problem of food, and combats climatic and other conditions foreign to his homeland. Henry Field, cousin of Stanley Field, president of the Field Museum, said in giving some first-hand impression of his month in Mesopotamia with the Field Museum-Oxford University expedition to that country.

WILL HALL-MILLS MURDER TRIAL SOLVE NEW JERSEY'S FOUR-YEAR-OLD MYSTERY?

Somerville, N. J., Nov. 3, (INS)—Who killed the Rev. Edward W. Hall, of New Brunswick, the wealthy and respected rector and his sweetheart, Mrs. Eleanor Mills, choir singer in his church? And why?

These questions that have been agitating the authorities, the press and the public, more or less ever since the crime was committed—the night of September 14, 1922, when the bodies of the pair were found lying side by side under a crabapple tree in a "lover's lane" on the outskirts of the town in which they lived.

From that date until this, investigators and others interested in the baffling mystery have puzzled over the answers to questions such as these:

Who conceived the murder—or was it premeditated?

Whose revolver or revolvers were used?

What weapon was used to gash Mrs. Mills' throat after she had been shot through the forehead? Was it a cleaver, razor, butcher knife or saw?

How did the love letter, found at the scene get there?

What motive did the slayers have for leaving the letters found at the scene?

How many automobiles were there at the scene, two, three or four? Whose were they?

Although the murders were committed on the night of the 14th—a Thursday night—the bodies were not found until thirty-six hours later. Whether the place where the bodies were found was the actual scene of the murders has been a moot question.

The bodies were laid out carefully, the authorities said immediately after their first investigation at De Russeys lane—the scene. To some detectives this fact indicated that the bodies were brought to the lane, in some vehicle and lifted into the ground. A different version was given, however, by the state's principal witness, Mrs. Jane Gibson, the "pig woman," who was out riding her mule in the vicinity on the night of the murder. She owned a farm some distance away. She said she saw several persons near the crabapple tree, saw one man with a flashlight, saw a woman, too, heard shots—and then she fled. If her story is correct, the murders were committed there in the lane.

Many automobile tracks were found in a nearby lane. Over the ministers face his Panama hat had been placed as if to shield it; over the woman's face her brown silk scarf was found.

The bodies were parallel. Their heads were close together at the foot of a tree and their feet pointing toward the lane. The bodies lay face up and Dr. Hall's right arm was raised at right angle, with his body, so that it lay under the woman's head.

A cartridge shell from a .32 caliber pistol was on the ground between the bodies. The other shells and the pistol with which the killing was done was missing, however.

Near the bodies, was found a piece of steel, about two feet long, fashioned like a footrest from the running board of an automobile.

Witness told the authorities that they had seen a woman enter the side door of the Hall home in New Brunswick at 3 a. m. on the morning of Friday, September 15, a few hours after Dr. Hall and Mrs. Mills were found murdered.

This woman proved to be Mrs. Hall. She admitted it was her. She explained that she became alarmed at the failure of her husband to return home on Thursday night and that she went to his study in the Protestant Episcopal Church of St. John, the Evangelist to look for him.

Three Districts In Tennessee Fail to Vote

Johnson City, Tenn., Nov. 3, (INS)—So marked was the lack of interest in Tuesday's election in Eastern Tennessee that three districts in Union county did not even open their polls.

Only 25 per cent of the normal vote was cast in the first Congressional district, which although re-electing Carroll B. Reece, Republican to Congress, gave a majority of more than 1,000 to Governor Peay.

MRS. HALL CENTER OF SPOT-LIGHT NOW

Somerville, N. J., Oct. 2, (INS)—Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall, refined, aristocratic looking widow of the slain Rev. Edward W. Hall will be the very center of the tragic spotlight that will be turned upon the three defendants in the now famous Hall-Mills case when the murder trial gets under way on November 5.

She and her two brothers, Willie, a middle aged eccentric, and Henry, an expert marksman, are the first three of the four defendants who will be tried for the murder of Dr. Hall and his choir singer with whom he carried on a love affair. Mrs. Eleanor Mills, the fourth defendant, Henry Carpenter, a cousin of the Halls, will be tried later.

Suspicion was first directed at Mrs. Hall shortly after the bodies of her husband and Mrs. Mills were found shot to death underneath the crabapple tree in De Russey's lane on the outskirts of New Brunswick on Thursday evening, September 14, 1922. She admitted to the authorities that she was the woman in a pea coat seen entering the side door of her home at New Brunswick about 3 o'clock in the morning of Friday, September 15, 1922.

What was Mrs. Hall doing out at such an hour? This was the question asked by investigators at that time, and reiterated again and again since then.

Mrs. Hall has explained her absence from home at this hour by saying she was so anxious at the failure of husband to return to home after going out at 7 o'clock the evening before that she had gone to look for him at his church—the Protestant Episcopal Church of St. John, the Evangelist—at 2 o'clock. She said she thought he might have fallen to sleep while studying in his office failing to find him in the church she returned home about 3 a. m.

Strangely enough James Mills, husband of the slain woman, was out about the same hour looking for his wife who left her home about the time Dr. Hall let his Mills went to bed early but awoke at 2 a. m.

"When I woke up I thought my wife must have fallen asleep in the church," Mills said. "I went over to the church and lit it up. (Mills was sexton of the church.) I looked around for my wife. I was there about fifteen minutes, the church, he said. He assumed his wife was with her sister.

Mills did not see Mrs. Hall in and went home. His efforts to locate his wife the day after the tragedy consisted of calling up several times on Mrs. Hall. This was on Friday. The bodies were not found until Saturday.

"I saw Mrs. Hall at church in the morning (Friday morning)," said Mills. "She said: 'Did you have any sickness at your house last night?' I said no. 'Mr. Hall did not come home last night,' I said. 'Neither did my wife.' Like a flash it came into my mind that they had eloped. Mrs. Hall said they are dead or they would have come home."

He saw Mrs. Hall later when she came to the Mills house and she said: "I am all at sea on this."

Mills said he never thought to question Mrs. Hall regarding her statement that they must be dead.

No charges have been made against Mills by the authorities.

Mrs. Hall told investigators that before going to church, she awakened her brother William Stevens, who lived in the Hall home, and persuaded him to accompany her on the search for her husband. She also said her mother was with her when she returned home. However, witnesses who first told the authorities of seeing a woman enter the Hall home did not see anybody with her.

BOSTON SEEKING JOB GATEWAY AIR

Boston, Nov. 3, (INS)—Development of Boston as a port for air routes, in trips to Europe, has received added impetus with the recent boost given the city by Anthony Fokker, inventor and builder of the first North Pole airplane.

The belief that Boston is the gateway to the air, and is the logical starting point in the East for all trans-Atlantic flights, has long been held by Boston men interested in the future of aviation. Fokker has upheld this belief and steps are under way to make the Hub the chief point of embarkation for Europe via the air.

A design which will effectively designate the Boston Airport is now being planned by army officials attached here. The design will be such that it can easily be seen on planes at a great height and thus identify them as from the Boston port.

Flights from Boston to Europe will be via Newfoundland and will take 50 hours, according to calculations of the airmen of the city.

Capt. Horace N. Nelson, U. S. A., commander of the Boston airport is prominent in the advancement of airplane facilities in Boston. He and others interested are firm in the belief that eventually the planes that will leave the shores of Massachusetts for Europe will be as safe as earthly vehicles and are under way to make the Hub will be luxuriously fitted.

ENGLAND'S CONEY ISLAND KEEPS ALL LIGHTS BURNING IN SPITE OF COAL STRIKE

Blackpool, Nov. 3, (INS)—England's "super-Coney Island" is defying all Government edicts regarding diminution of public lighting on account of the coal strike.

Every fall, Blackpool likes to light itself up. Half a million multi-colored electric lights illuminate five miles of the sea promenade, and the whole town is ablaze of color. As the nights draw in so Blackpool's lights go up. But this time it is against the express orders of the Government.

The Emergency Regulations of the Government state that no coal is to be used for pleasure lighting, and that all artificial lighting is to be restricted to the lowest point possible—even shop window lighting has been brought down to the ## minimum compatible with safety. But Blackpool says that it has several hundreds of tons of foreign coal which is useless for anything else except illumination and it therefore intends to carry out its original program.

MONTHLY MEETING OF THE DORCAS CLASS HELD ON MONDAY

The regular monthly meeting of the Dorcas Class of Jarvis Memorial Sunday School was held at the home of Mrs. M. B. Massey on Dickerson Avenue, November 1st, at eight o'clock.

Mrs. Massey, Mrs. Whit Harris and Mrs. Virginia Johnson were hostesses for the evening. The lovely old home was decorated with masses of yellow chrysanthemums and many little turkey goblets—a reminder that Thanksgiving will soon be here. The roaring open fires and golden lights caused the chilly night to be forgotten and much hearty laughter over the toast in apple grabbing warmed all hearts. Much entertainment was afforded by Mrs. Leo Burks who favored the guests with several amusing readings, while the lovely singing of Miss Emma Mallison was very much enjoyed. Delicious refreshments were served by the three hostesses, and everyone left for their homes in high good spirits.

Those members of the Dorcas Class who were elsewhere last night missed a most pleasant evening and are urged to attend next month's meeting, announcement of which will appear in this paper at an early date.

Market Report

MARKET LETTER

(By W. S. Cousins, INS Financial Editor)

New York, Nov. 3.—(INS)—With few exceptions stock prices sought lower levels today in irregular selling which originated chiefly in professional sources.

Wall Street and the stock market were left without special stimulus from the election. The speculative feeling in the motor, steel, oil, equipment, sugar and a few of the railway shares were freely vented.

On the whole, the market was dull rather than reactionary, with most transactions in the first three hours involving only 600,000 shares and many apathy on the part of the outside public combined with a lack of incentive for the bullish trading the market of typical power.

The advanced steel trade review was not over-enthusiastic about the immediate future of the industry, reporting a decline in incoming orders and an estimate of October iron production at a considerable decline from the September total. Another large increase in the oil production from the current daily production of 2,257,500 barrels, up nearly 300,000 barrels daily from the same period last year. Call money was in good supply, reflecting the $200,000,000 decline in broker's borrowings over the past month, but call rates were advanced at 4 1/2 per cent.

Most of the speculative activity of the day centered around a small group of the steel, motor and specialty stocks, with such prominent groups as the rails, equipments, coppers, sugars, etc., unusually quiet. The oil stocks were firm after the early fractional declines the situation in the industry having been improved by the cuts in Texas and Midcontinent. Midcontinent crude, with prominent oil men taking active steps to prevent excessive drilling in Seminole, Pan Handle and other new fields.

United States Steel common declined to 137 3/4 for a loss of 2 1/4 points from Monday's closing price, other market favorites lost a point or two. But the volume of openings and sales was comparatively small. Warner Brothers Class A continued to move down hill.

There was a better tone in some of the commodity market but cotton prices were again reactionary, with all options down about 25 points, principally under the pressure of Southern and Hedge selling.

General Motors at the head of the motors, sold up to 151 1/2 for a gain of nearly 5 points from the low of the day, while U. S. Steel climbed back to 140, compared with its morning price of 137 3/4. Shorts were driven to cover in this period as prices moved up briskly. Rails were fairly active and steady near the close. Call money was unchanged at 4 1/2 per cent.

Wadsworth has long been regarded in New York as almost invincible as Gov. Al Smith. Wagner rode to victory on the crest of the landslide which carried Smith back into the executive mansion at Albany for a fourth term. Wagner's majority over Wadsworth is approximately 100,000, it appeared this morning.

Wadsworth's defeat is attributed to a split in the Republican party over prohibition, which brought out a bone-dry anti-saloon league-backed Republican opponent in Franklin W. Christman. He took enough votes from Wadsworth to let Wagner ride in on Smith's coat-tails. Smith's own majority will exceed 325,000.

Barring eleventh-hour shifts in the Senatorial races, it seemed certain this morning that the Senate of the seventieth Congress will be composed thus: Republicans, 48; Democrats, 47; Farmer-Labor, 1.

Because of tardy returns from sections where Congressional races are close, the house line-up was not clear, but on the face of incomplete returns it appeared the Democrats have reclaimed a dozen seats in the lower House. This figure may be raised or lowered as complete returns become available. In any event the margin of Republican control has been narrowed too much for Republican comfort for there is an insurgent bloc in the House, the nucleus of which is in the Wisconsin delegation, that can cause trouble almost any time.

The Socialist party in Congress, comprising Rev. Victor Berger of Milwaukee, and Rep. Lloregia LaGuardia of New York, appear to have been eliminated in yesterday's balloting. On the face of returns this morning both have been defeated.

Four women apparently have been elected in the House—Mrs. Edith Nourse Rogers, (R), of Mass.; Mrs. Florence Kahn (R), of California; Mrs. Mary T. Horton (D), in New Jersey; and Mrs. John T. Langley (R), of Kentucky. All save Mrs. Langley are members of the present Congress. Her husband, ex-Rep. Langley, is now serving a term in Atlanta for conviction of violating the prohibition law.

bar of justice to answer to the charge of having murdered the Rev. Dr. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor R. Mills who were shot to death in a lovers' lane on the night of September 14, 1922.

Mrs. Hall arrived at the courthouse at 9:35 a. m. She was wrapped in a heavy cloak and was accompanied by several friends. She had driven here by automobile from her home in New Brunswick.

As she walked up the long cement sidewalk leading to the court house steps, Mrs. Hall was the object of the curious gaze of several hundred people who were thronged on the court house lawn. She bowed her head as newspaper photographers took pictures of her.

A few minutes earlier Mrs. Jane Gibson, "pig woman," star witness for the state had arrived at the court house.

The tiny courtroom, built like a miniature theatre, was packed to all its exits.

Down in the "pit" before the bench sat the defendants. They were surrounded by their battery of lawyers—the so-called "million dollar defense."

Mrs. Hall was calm and serene as she glanced casually around the court room and smiled assuredly at her two brothers.

Sitting on the bench jointly with Judge Parker was County Judge Frank L. Cleury.

"Willie," the eccentric brother, whose habit of loafing in the fire engine house brought to him the nickname "Fireman Willie," peered about curiously from behind thick lensed spectacles.

Henry Stevens sat deep down in his seat, grim and rather dejected looking.

The clerk went through the formality of calling the 29 names left on the "struck" jury list from which the trial jury is drawn. Some of them failed to answer. The panel was so meager that there was a possibility that the trial might be delayed through failure to obtain a jury from the list available.

State Senator Alexander Simpson, the prosecutor who is handling the State's case virtually alone, went over the list of names of available talemans with the two judges.

Selection of the jury progressed speedily. After several were challenged for cause, the first juror, Frank A. Dunster, was accepted. He was satisfactory to both sides.

The second juror accepted was John W. Young. In quick succession Rudolph Steffens and John B. Stryker were accepted. Samuel Packard, a Somerville barber, was challenged by Prosecutor Simpson because he had at one time shaved "Willie" Stevens in jail.

A jury of 12 men was completed at 11:33 o'clock this morning.

The twelve jurymen had been selected in an hour and seventeen minutes.

The court then took a short recess.

Immediately after court was reconvened, Senator Alexander Simpson, special prosecutor, began presentation of the State's case to the jury.

Judge Parker enlivened the routine of jury selection by suddenly pounding his gavel and shouting:

"Seize that camera."

A cameraman had crept into the press row and was taking pictures. This was against the specific ruling of the court.

The camera was confiscated by a court attaché.

The fifth juror accepted was Edward S. Tillman.

The sixth, seventh and eighth jurors accepted were, Fred Sage, Raymond Young and Charles V. N. Skilman, farmers. William Dalley, a mason of Somerville, was the ninth. The tenth was George Labana, a farmer. The eleventh was Charles G. Acker, a mechanic. The twelfth was Joseph A. Rosch, a blacksmith.

VOLSTEAD LAW SUFFERS SLOW ON YESTERDAY

Result of Yesterday's Election Show Unpopularity of the Law in Many Sections

(By William K. Hutchinson)
INS Staff Correspondent

New York, Nov. 3.—American prohibition suffered a staggering defeat in Tuesday's elections wherever the wet and dry issue finally was submitted to a direct vote of millions of people.

By voting wet on state referendums and through the election of wet candidates to the Senate, incomplete returns today revealed that ten states went on record as voicing a protest against the dry law. The protest raised incidentally was the expression of a majority opinion from the electorate, representing more than 35,000,000 population.

From New York to California the country apparently was swept by a wave of protest against the restrictions of the Volstead act and the eighteenth amendment. The revolt was led by New York which rolled up a majority of more than 1,000,000 votes for a "dripping wet" Democrat to the United States Senate.

In Massachusetts the voters chose former Senator David I. Walsh, who ran on a "wet" platform over Senator William M. Butler, who campaigned as a dry with anti-saloon league endorsement.

The revolt spread westward into Illinois, where the wets rolled up a majority reaching into hundreds of thousands against prohibition. In demand for a liberal revision of the Volstead act the wets carried Chicago by a 1 to 1 vote and then stunned dry leaders by running wild down state in districts previously deemed reponderantly dry. This vote coming directly upon issue, wiped out the defeat of George E. Brennan, wet Democrat, by Frank L. Smith, dry Republican.

In Wisconsin, the wets also won a beer referendum, piling up large majorities in the cities and winning handily in rural districts. They added to the dry's humiliation by sending Governor John Blaine, (R), to the Senate virtually on his "mug of beer" platform.

In Pennsylvania, the wets scored again. Rep. William S. Vare, (R), being elected to the Senate on his promise to try to bring back the "five cent glass of beer" in the face of slush fund scandals and threat, to throw him out of the Senate if elected, Vare over his bone-dry Democratic opponent, William B. Wilson.

In Colorado, dry since 1916, early returns indicated the electorate had voted to repeal the state prohibition law, which for years was a model for dry legislation in other states. The wet victory was won by a slim majority—estimated at 8,000—but it came in a state consistently dry for ten years.

In Nevada, the people voted in a state referendum for modification of the Volstead Act and first returns indicated a "landslide victory" for the wets. The same result was recorded apparently in Montana, where initial reports indicated the people had voted 2 to 1 to repeal the state enforcement act.

In the far west, the wet revolt ceased off but California reelected Senator Samuel Shortridge, Republican, whom the Anti-Saloon League characterized as "unsatisfactory" and rolled up an early majority in a referendum for repeal of the state enforcement act.

The wets had some consolation in the face of all these defeats. They won in Ohio, elected a dry Senator in Illinois over a wet and apparently saved Senator Wesley L. Jones, their Republican dry leader, in the State of Washington. Jones, though, ran behind A. Scott Bullitt, dripping wet Democrat, in the cities.

The effect of the wet victories, while revealing public sentiment among a third of the people, can cause but little change. The South reelected all its dry delegations to Congress and the Senate will remain a warm friend of prohibition throughout the Seventieth Congress.

Plenty of Food for Any Couple for $25.00 Monthly

Berkey, Cal., Nov. 3.—(INS)—Appetizing, wholesome meals, amply sufficient to satisfy the wants of any married couple may be prepared on a budget allowing $25 a month for food, according to Dr. Ruth Okey, professor of household science in the University of California.

This allowance is a proven practicality Dr. Okey states, and was actually put into effect by a young married woman student. It was necessary that she practice rigid economy in order that she and her husband might finish their studies, and this budget did the work.

The basis of the system lies in a proportionately large allowance for fresh fruits and vegetables, while that for meat, is comparatively small. Milk and eggs are allowed in abundance, although the cheaper cuts of meat must be used, it is easy to cook them attractively, Dr. Okey says.

"What one married couple can do, can be done by others," the household scientist declares. "If those in charge of devising the family budget would watch the expenditures for food, money could be saved and used for other necessities or luxuries.

"This cutting of the food budget, however, must be accompanied by a scientific study of food and food values."
