JURY RETURNS VERDICT GUILTY WILKINSON CASE

Local Insurance Man Found Guilty of Embezzlement - Sentenced Two to Three Years

A motion by defense counsel in the Wilkinson case that the verdict be set aside was denied this afternoon by Judge N. A. Sinclair and the defendant was sentenced to serve not less than two nor more than three years in State penitentiary.

A jury in Superior Court here today shortly before one o'clock returned a verdict of guilty in the case of the State against C. L. Wilkinson, local insurance man, charged with embezzlement and misappropriation of funds. The jury received the case at 11:15 this morning after more than two days had been consumed in the hearing.

The case was the outgrowth of alleged collections of funds by the agent and failure to turn over same to the companies represented. The case was tried in the April term of court and resulted in a mistrial.

Immediately following the opening of this case to the jury, the court began immediately with the disposition of jail cases. Announcement was made that all other cases on the docket with the exception of the jail case, and the murder case against Edward Evans and Francis Johnson, would be continued to another term of court. While no definite announcement as to the Evans-Johnson case has been made those in close touch with the court do not believe that the case will be reached before the term is completed tomorrow.

Mack Floyd was sentenced to twelve months on the roads this morning for assault with a deadly weapon, and Willie Myers drew a like term for larceny.

Postal Receipts of Country Show Big Increases

Washington, Nov. 5.—(INS)—Postal receipts at fifty selected cities totalled $32,869,45 during October as compared with $32,489,923 in October, 1925, an increase of 1.14 per cent, the Post Office Department announced today.

Los Angeles, with an increase of 18.59 per cent led all the selected cities in increased receipts. Atlanta, with an increase of 15.32 per cent came next, while New Haven, Conn., ranked third with an increase of 13.14 per cent.

Officers Seek Girl Connected With Jail Break

New York, Nov. 5.—(INS)—While five official investigations were under way to fix responsibility for the sensational jail delivery attempt at the Tombs on Wednesday, detectives were searching for an attractive blonde girl who visited Hyman Amberg, one of the prisoners who was killed, a few minutes before the attempted break.

Prison officials said that the girl was not admitted when she called Wednesday, but revealed that she had visited Amberg frequently during the past month. Her identity is a secret.

Assistant District Attorney Pecora declared that a first degree murder charge would be lodged against any person found guilty of assisting in the escape attempt. Investigators were probing reports that several keepers were involved.

Amberg and two other convicts a warden and a keeper were killed in the attempted escape.

See Peace in British Coal Strike

London, Nov. 5.—(INS)—"The prospects of peace are distinctly encouraging," declared Trades Union Congress spokesman tonight after the conference regarding settlement of the coal strike had broken up at Ten Downing street. No statement was made as to the basis upon which it is hoped peace will be secured.

FALL, SINCLAIR FIGHT TO ESCAPE CRIMINAL TRIAL

Alleged Walsh Act to Prohibit Their Appeal to the Supreme Court is Unconstitutional

Washington, Nov. 5.—(INS)—Harry F. Sinclair, oil magnate, and former Secretary of the Interior Fall, today carried to the Supreme Court their fight to escape trial on a criminal indictment growing out of the Teapot Dome oil scandal.

They asked the high court to review a decision of the district of Columbia circuit court of appeals, dismissing a special appeal which had been allowed them.

Sinclair and Fall alleged the Walsh Act of June 3, 1923, which they said was enacted specifically to prohibit their appeal was unconstitutional. The Walsh Act prohibited an appeal from any interlocutory order in a criminal action in the District of Columbia court.

Fall, who with Edward L. Doheny, oil man, is scheduled to go on trial here late this month for conspiracy to defraud the government in the Elk Hills lease, may attack the court's jurisdiction to try the case when the defendants are arraigned to enter pleas next Wednesday. It was learned.

Peyton Gordon, District Attorney, said such a plea would necessarily delay the trial until the court had acted upon it.

DEATH LIST IN MINE DISASTER PLACED AT 51

Check Up by Mine Officials Reveals That One Miner Failed Report for Duty

Ishpeming, Mich., Nov. 5.—(INS)—Steadily receding waters of the Barnes-Hecker mine where 51 men in all probability met death Wednesday, stirred workers today to hope they might reach the 44 yet in the mine within the next 24 hours.

Lending mine authorities from all sections of the state declared today after a conference, there was at best one chance in ten million that the surging flood which engulfed the mine had not killed the entire 51.

Ishpeming, Mich., Nov. 5.—(INS)—The official number of men entombed by a quicksand cave-in at the Barnes-Hecker mines here was placed at fifty-one today instead of fifty-two as first reported mine officials, on a check-up of the mine, find that Frank Heino failed to report for duty Wednesday morning, the day of the disaster.

Heino is said to have stayed at home to assist the two-day bride of his son to arrange newly-purchased furniture in their home.

Heino, however, was too broken up over the news of his comrades' death to rejoice over his own good fortune.

Meanwhile hundreds of women and children, relatives of the entombed men, crowded about the mouth of the ill-fated shaft, hoping that by some miracle the verdict that "all were lost" might prove wrong.

The men were working on the bottom level of the 1,600 foot shaft Wednesday noon when the bottom of a quicksand swamp dropped into the mine workings and engulfed them.

Seven bodies from which the clothes had been washed by the force of the torrent, were recovered at the surface of an adjoining shaft, two miles from the main Barnes-Hecker shaft.

Bodies of the remaining victims may not be recovered for day, perhaps week, mine officials pointed out. It will be necessary to sink a new shaft through the quagmire of mud and sand before they can be reached.

CABINET TAKES DRASTIC STEPS CHECK PLOTTERS

Italy Cabinet Cancels Passports to Prevent Anti-Fascists Working Outside

Rome, Nov. 5.—(INS)—The Italian Cabinet today decided to cancel all passports which have been issued, as a part of the drastic program which is being undertaken to check the plot against the Premier and the Fascist government.

This action, it is understood, is taken to prevent anti-Fascists from leaving Italy to hatch plots in foreign lands.

The Cabinet issued orders to soldiers on duty on the frontier and customs stations, to shoot any Italian Nationals who attempt to cross the frontier without authority.

Orders were also issued for the abolition of political anti-Fascist societies and newspapers.

The organization of a special police force to guard against anti-Fascist plots was also decided upon.

Paris, Nov. 5.—(INS)—Sensational charges against Colonel Riccoitti Garibaldi, which may involve the Italian and French governments, were made in semi-official quarters today, but lacked direct official confirmation.

The semi-official reports declared that the police have evidence which tends to show that although Colonel Garibaldi professed to be an ardent anti-Fascist, he was really working in collaboration with the Fascist, from which he received 2,000,000 lire, to organize alleged plots against Mussolini on French soil, for the purpose of discrediting France.

From the same semi-official source came the charge that Colonel Garibaldi organized the Catalan plot and that Colonel Macia, who was arrested as the instigator of this plot, was but a tool.

The Spanish and Italian police, it is charged were constantly advised of the progress of the alleged plots, while the French police were in the dark.

The foreign office was exceedingly cautious today in commenting on these semi-official reports.

Police Guard Home of Trial Judge in McPherson Case

Los Angeles, Nov. 5.—(INS)—The home of Judge Samuel R. Blake, who ordered Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson, her mother, Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, and Mrs. Lorraine Wiseman-Sielaff, held for trial in Superior court on criminal conspiracy charges, was under police guard today, the guard being put around his home after he had received a death threat over the telephone last night.

The trial of the three defendants will probably be launched during the first part of January, it is thought.

While all concerned are recuperating from the ordeal of the preliminary hearing of five weeks rumors were still current today that a change of venue would be asked in the McPherson case.

STORES ARE ASKED TO CLOSE FOR FOUR HOURS ON ARMISTICE DAY

At the regular meeting of the Board of Directors of the Merchants Association held last night it was voted to recommend to the business houses of the city that all business suspend operations next Thursday, November 11, (Armistice Day) between the hours of 10 a. m. and 2 p. m. Last year the stores closed for just three hours because of the more lengthy program of the American Legion for the day, it was voted to recommend four hours to the business interests of the city with the hope that the day will be fittingly observed by the citizenship during those hours.

URGES DEFINITE ACTION AS TO WAR DEBT AGREEMENT UNTIL JANUARY

Frenchmen Believe Eventual Cancellation Debts and Reparations Possible

Paris, Nov. 5.—(INS)—Ratification of the Washington debt accord with certain reservations as a preliminary to an international debt conference and possible eventual cancellation of both debts and reparations is the thesis of M. Louis Malvy, French Deputy and faithful henchman of ex-Finance Minister Joseph Caillaux.

"I believe the problem of debts ought to be taken up after ratification and definitely settled at an international conference, with Germany participating," M. Malvy declared in an exclusive interview with International News Service.

"I hope, as does my eminent friend, M. Caillaux, that the policy of 'wiping the slate clean' soon be inaugurated. But I recognize that such a policy presupposes the adhesion of the United States.

"An equitable settlement of the debts seems to me to be the best preface for a grand policy of annihilation suggested by M. Caillaux.

Fortune has both smiled and frowned upon M. Malvy, Minister of the Interior at the outbreak of the war, he had much to do with the mobilization of French troops to repel invasion. He enjoyed the friendship and confidence of several successive Prime Ministers, but in 1917 was convicted of "violating the duties of his charge," and exiled from the country.

Two years later he was pardoned. He quickly re-established himself in the political life of the country, and was appointed Minister to the Interior in one of M. Briand's numerous cabinets.

"In ratifying the Washington accord, there must be reservations assuring that France will never have to pay more to the United States and Great Britain than she received from Germany, and providing that in case of disagreement the amount to be transferred in any given period be determined by arbitration," he added.

"A reservation stating that the annuities be fixed in taking into account the French capacity to repay, might sacrifice," he concluded.

TODAY HUSBAND OF SLAIN WOMAN ON STAND HALL - MILLS CASE

"Pig Woman," Star Witness of Prosecution is Still Critically Ill

The election figures come out, all supporting, and all pleasing to associate. They seem important to the people on the Mojave Desert in California, where this is written. The couple digging a well with pick and shovel, now down 110 feet, back in the early, care little about the bigness or littleness of Al Smith's vote in New York, George Brennan's vote in Illinois, or Butler's defeat in Massachusetts.

The husband is down in the well, hammering his way through hard pan, not more than 18 inches gained in a hard day's work. His wife at the top, hauls up the dirt by windlass power.

Not who is elected but how much farther down to water, is their question.

Mr. Vernon Bailey of the Agricultural Department is here busy on the hot land, making a moving picture of a side-winder rattlesnake, photographing huge desert turtles, and studying the six inch lamantulus, with their hairy legs and fierce courage. They bite at a horse's hoof, as they would at a small lizard.

What the lawyer 120 30204 405 seen doing at the ballot box to ruralists here is less important than the problem of wiping out coppers.

Everything depends on where you are, and what you are doing. Travel three thousand miles out here, where the mail ships fly overhead and the wind roars across the mountains from the Pacific, and you wonder that 'who's elected' could ever seem important.

For your consolation, is disappointed, remember that one election in the life of a nation is not more important than one little convulsive kick in the life of a different from the Japanese. For made no difference had that particular kick never occurred. It would have made no real difference had Tuesday's election never taken place.

The evil that men do lives after them, especially when it is foolish talk to their children. Mamuelo Zamboni thought he was an anarchist and talked anarchy against all government to his three sons. The war's end made anarchy seem so near, that Zamboni lost his taste for it and joined the Fascists, following Mussolini.

But his 18 year old son, Antonio, remembered and remained faithful to his father's theorizing. The father, last Sunday night saw his young son's body in the Bolinas police station, stabbed and kicked to death by a mob for attempting the life of Mussolini. Be careful about the seed you sow in young minds.

We noble white westerners are rhy the pharaoh's son from nearth instance, the event that excites us is a great prize fight. The Japanese get excited about their marvellous annual Chrysanthemum show.

Japanese sympathize with their Empress just now, because her husband's illness keeps her from the show. We generally speaking, think ourselves more civilized than Japan. The Japanese reject that theory.

A third chamber of King Tut's tomb, (everybody calls him Tut now), just opened, reveals fifteen boats of the sort designed to carry the Pharaoh's soul from earth to heaven.

It would be hard to set sail from our earth now. We know that it whirls round, pointing in all directions, and it's hard to steer from a whirling dervish. Besides, perfectly respectable men, even clergymen, now doubt that it's real. It really is. It must have been a comfort to believe, as ancient rulers did, that God was their captain and expecting them to come and spend an eternity.

DRYS WIN CALIFORNIA
San Francisco, Nov. 5.—(INS)—Efforts to repeal the Wright act, the State Prohibition Enforcement law in California, has failed today. What was thought to be a commanding lead for a repeal, was wiped out as Filibuster from Southern California and rural districts were renealed. Early today the vote stood 49,782 for repeal and 546,186 against.

New York's wet and dry referendum proves overwhelmingly that New York City yearns for light-wine and beer, as the warden yearned for the flesh pots.

GREAT ARMISTICE DAY CELEBRATION TO BE HELD HERE

Hon. C. L. Abernathy Speaker of the Day; All Plans Are Perfected

It is the earnest desire of the committee from the Pitt County Post of the American Legion, on arrangements for the Armistice Day celebration, that every ex-service man in Pitt county be in Greenville next Thursday, Nov. 11. A splendid program has been prepared and there will not be a dull moment from the time the parade begins at 9 o'clock in the morning, until the last showing of the war picture "Behind the Front," at White's Theatre hat night.

The parade will form at 9:30 a. m., at the A. C. L. Depot and every ex-service man is urged to take part in it and wear his uniform, if possible. The parade will proceed to the court house, where at ten o'clock a band concert will be given and exercises for the presentation of a war trophy to the County Commissioners will be held.

At eleven o'clock, the principal address of the day will be delivered by Hon. C. L. Abernathy at the East Carolina Teachers College. Mr. Abernathy is an unusual fine orator, and the day will be worth while if nothing is heard but his address.

At 12:30 a dinner will be tendered all ex-service men, Auxiliary, honor guests, Boy Scouts, and Veterans of other wars at the Fair Grounds.

In the afternoon at three o'clock a football game will be staged between Battery B 11th F. A. of the Virginia National Guard, and Battery E 11th F. A. of the North Carolina National Guard. Some maneuvers by the batteries will also be given at the Fair Grounds.

White's Theatre will open at two o'clock in the afternoon, and the screen's ugly funny war picture "Behind the Front" will be shown continuously until eleven o'clock that night.

The public all over the country cordially invited to attend this celebration, and every ex-service man in Pitt county is expected to be in Greenville, as the occasion is planned for their enjoyment.

Dedication of Catholic Church Be Held Sunday

Rev. Henry Christ, V. F., pastor of St. Joseph's church of Lancaster, Pa., and former pastor of Father Gable, arrived today to perform the dedication services of the new Catholic chapel which will take place Sunday morning.

Father Christ has been pastor of St. Joseph's for 28 years, and one of the principal objects of his interest and devotion has been the training of boys and girls. His parochial school is among the largest, and best in the Harrisburg diocese. It was here that Father Gable received his early training. Father Christ comes then to bless and formally open but an extension of his own work begun years ago.

The building of early English-country style, is a combination chapel and rectory especially designed to meet the present needs of the congregation. On the west side is a beautiful chapel throughly ecclesiastical in architecture furnished in fumed oak with trimmings of blue, gray and gold. On the east side is a spacious apartment intended for the residence of a priest for the future.

The dedication services will take place at 8 o'clock Sunday morning, followed by the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass and the opening of the Forty Hours Devotion. Father Christ will preside the sermon. Appropriate music will be sung during the mass.

At eleven o'clock Father Joseph Blum will say mass in the St. Plan rite. At 8 p. m., Rev. Charles H. Hagan, of St. Joseph's New Bern will preach, and Rev. Henry Christ will give benediction. Mass will be said on Monday and Tuesday at 8 and 7:30. Evening services Monday and Tuesday at 8 p. m.

$500,000 Oil Fire Now Under Control

Port Arthur, Tex., Nov. 5.—(INS)—An 18-hour struggle against the most menacing oil fire in the history of the spindle top oil field, near here, today was successful when it was announced there was little danger of more damage. Actual loss will not exceed $500,000.

The derricks of six wells were destroyed after the fire spread from the Reio Bravo Company's wells.

U. S. WILL BUST TRUSTS BEFORE THEY ORGANIZE

New Method of Dealing With Great Combinations is Being Adopted; Effectiveness of Program is Evidenced by Certain Recent Examples

(By Robert S. Thoraburg, INS Staff Correspondent)
Washington, Nov. 4.—(INS.)—The United States government's new method in dealing with big business combinations is resulting in benefit to both the promoters of these so-called trusts, and the general public, according to William J. Donovan, assistant to the Attorney General in charge of anti-trust prosecutions. "Therefore, action has been taken against corporations after the combination complained of had entered into the economic life of the country," Donovan said. "Dissolution proceedings, after prolonged investigation and protracted trials too often resulted in decrees more of form than of fact. While recently more effective methods of dissolution have been evolved, at best they are an agonizing process and far from satisfactory. A more simple and perhaps more obvious method has now been adopted. The effectiveness of this method is evidenced by certain examples of the past few months. "If an advertised merger of proposed combination be suspected of expediency, investigation is started at once and if there be evidence of "premeditated" proceedings are instituted before the plan can be consummated. By this method, stock in the concern is not unloaded upon the public, the interest of the consumer is protected, the honest promoter is benefited and the evil of the promoter is averted. Donovan pointed out it is fair also to the honest promoter of the plan who believes that he is acting within the law. The issue is at once presented to the court, which must in any case make the final determination and its decision is the nature of an advisory judgment. "If the judgment be in favor of the defendant," Donovan continues, "he can proceed with his plan with greater assurance and confidence, in the hope that this increased respect for the law, then with this advice in advance, he will see the inconvenience and the financial expense attendant upon endless litigation after his business has been set up." Donovan made these assertions in a statement relative to the relationship which should exist between government and business. The means that shall be taken to regulate, or to own, or to operate an industry, must be decided by the principle of what best serves the public, Donovan said. There are those who believe that there should be no interference with business—and that the restraints of the Sherman law and the Clayton act should be removed. Others would abolish our present antitrust system and in its place substitute that end aimed at with the growth of great combinations, in the hope that this will bring increased governmental control and finally nationalization of industry, he said. Donovan feels that the middle ground seems to be occupied by those who believe in the strict application of the competitive principle in order that governmental ownership may be avoided. Accepted theories of economics and principles of law sometimes clash, according to Donovan. He added that when that clash occurs, public officials must apply the yardstick of the law. Practical experience indicates, however, that these clashes are more infrequent than certain extremists would have us believe, it was pointed out. "What the department of justice is endeavoring to do is not to smash legitimate and honest business, but to apply the economic brake to runaway speculation, to illegal methods of business and to illegitimate combinations," he concluded.

Big Ten Football Unable Find Sub for Red Grange

Chicago, Nov. 4. (INS.)—Big Ten Conference football history for 1926 is going down in the books without a new "Red Grange." Despite intensive hallyhoo from various of the conference colleges, which set envious eyes on the shoes of the "Galoping Ghost," here isn't a player in Mid-West this season who even closely approaches the thrill that was Grange. At Illinois, made famous by "Red" in gridiron annals, heavy publicity was turned on "Frosty" Peters, a youth from the plains of Montana. "Frosty" it was, broadest, joined the fire department at Champaign, Ill., and actually sleep and ate at the fire station. Some termed Peters the "rambling fireman." Newspapers printed Peters' picture, showing him garbed in a red helmet and black boots, but "Frosty" failed to show he was worthy of that niche carved by Grange. At Michigan the admirers of Benny Friedman have admitted the Ann Arbor star has not reached the heights attained by the former Illinois marvel. Friedman was press-agented as "the rollicking journalist" and the "wonder boy writer" but he failed to intrigue the public as did the "college iceman." Marek and Karow, Ohio stars, have proved themselves extremely capable players this season, as have Joestring of Minnesota, Baker at Northwestern, Wally Marks at Chicago and Kutsch of Iowa. Kutsch perhaps more closely approaches the great Grange than any 1926 Big Ten players. Some of his end running and line plunging this year has been spectacular and color was lent him when the lads from the land of the tall corn clept him "cow-boy." Kutsch, playing far more brilliantly than last season, might even have attained the front rank of American college football as did the famous red-head, had he been playing with Michigan, Ohio or even Illinois this fall. His support at Iowa has been only fair and with a more powerful line in front of him the "cowboy" would have shone to better advantage.

Denver's Jew Patriarch Dead at the Age of 80

Denver, Nov. 3. (INS.)—Henry Kadish, Denver's patriarch of Jews, is dead at the age of 108 years. For many years a familiar figure on the streets of Denver, Kadish enjoyed good health up to within a week of his death, which was hastened by a fall that broke his right leg. Born in Russia in 1818, the white haired, full bearded old man had experienced a fullsome life of sorrow and sadness, joy and achievement that ended amid comfortable circumstances and found him beloved by thousands of friends and neighbors in this city. Kadish, in his early life, rose from private in the czar's army to the rank of general, and is believed to have been the only general in the Crimean war of Jewish birth. GERMAN SPINNERS DECLARE LOCK-OUT Aachen, Germany, Nov. 5.—(INS.)—A Complete tie-up in the textile industry of this region is in prospect as a result of a lock-out declared today by the owners of the spinning establishments. The lock-out becomes effective November 18 and affects 12,000 workers.

CLEVELAND SYMPHONIC QUARTETTE GIVES INTERESTING PROGRAM AT THE COLLEGE.

The students and visitors at East Carolina Teachers College were most delightfully entertained on Thursday evening by the Cleveland Symphonic Quartette. The organization gave a program which appealed greatly to a large and appreciative audience.

The Quartette included the violin, flute, cello and harp. Each individual was an exceptional artist, and the combination produced a quartette of rare distinction. Miss Martha E. Feltz, harpist, also accompanied the various selections, and proved herself to be a pianist of unusual ability.

The opening number of the program was an Overture, "Hun-Faria" by Keler. "Bela" was played by the ensemble. Two other selections were then given, "By the Brook" and "Serenata." These selections appealed to the audience because of the brilliant and sparkling melody.

Miss Virginia Husted, cellist, gave two enjoyable numbers, "Serenade" and "At Dawning." These were followed by a flute solo with obligato by trio "Serenade" by Titi. The ensemble then gave as the closing number of the first part of the program Ballet Evolutions.

Before the next selection was given Miss Martha E. Feltz, harpist, told some interesting things about the harp. It was made of cedar, eye wood and gold. The music of the harp was contained in the front column of it. The harp contained forty-seven strings—red, white and blue ones. It also had seven pedals, four on one side and three on the other. Each pedal had three notches, which affected the tone. She also told of the case of the harp, and the effect of rainy weather on the strings. After these remarks she played "Valse Caprice" by Godard. As an encore she played "Homerophone."

The closing selection, The Evolution of Music, by the ensemble was immensely enjoyed. It was presented in three parts, the first was music of the present day, the second was music of the past and the third was music of the future.

Mrs. Richard Williams' Sunday School class will give a Halloween party tonight in the Sunday School room. Lots of fun for all the children, for 25c.

Popular music of twenty-five years ago, and the popular music of fifty years ago, or our grandfathers time. Each part of the selection was applauded, and so the ensemble combined the types and presented as their closing selection "Maggie Blues."

Twenty Nine Vessels Attack Validity To Be Added to the Japanese Navy

Tokio, Nov. 5.—(INS)—The Japanese Cabinet, it was reported here today, has adopted a naval subsidiary warship construction program covering a five year period of expenditure amounting to 261,000,000 yen.

The program, it is understood, provides for the building of 28 ships, including four cruisers, 15 destroyers, four submarines, three gunboats, two special service ships and one airplane carrier.

The appropriation for 1927 will be 4,720,000 yen, covering the cost of two cruisers, it was said.

Washington, Nov. 5.—(INS)—An early answer by the Supreme Court to Florida's petition for leave to attack the validity of the Federal estate tax appeared likely today.

Attorneys for Florida and the government, who had requested that the case be advanced, have informed the court that they will be ready for oral argument on the scheduled day of November 22.

Attorney General Johnson, of Florida, in a reply brief to the government challenge to the right to bring the suit, attacked the Georgia inheritance tax laws. He set out a statement of the Georgia law which he said was unconstitutional. He declared that the inheritance tax law of that state was more advantageous than Florida's constitutional amendment against inheritance taxes.

THE "LIKKER" REFERENDUMS

The referendum in the wet States conveys no new information and carries no mandate. Most of the dry leaders took the ground that a State referendum on an amendment already embedded in the Federal Constitution was unconstitutional, or at least an attempt on the part of politicians to pass the buck to the voters. The vote seems to indicate that the dry voters refused to take the referendum seriously. They did not like its phrasing and they did not regard submitting it along with the election of a Congress as a fair opportunity to secure a real expression. Therefore, they counseled non-participation and the bulk of the dry voters left it severely alone.

However, the vote will confirm the wets in their belief that sentiment for repeal of the eighteenth amendment has grown. This is undoubtedly true in some sections. This change is due in part to two causes:

1. The enforcement by the Federal Government, except in certain particulars and in certain sections, has not been undertaken and carried on in a way to convince the country that the Treasury Department was as much interested in enforcing that law as it was in its other functions. Most prohibition officials were appointed on political recommendations. Such officials were more concerned to build up the political fences of their backers than to secure a sober America and to serve the Republican party than to see that the law was not flouted. Add to this the fact that not a few enforcing officials were notoriously opposed to the law and did not believe it could be enforced and it is easy to see that prohibition has never had a fair chance. Indeed, the Coast Guard ships were not called into requisition until last year and the flood of releases was not checked until Governor Pinchot's famous demand called attention to the ease with which bootleggers could get supplies by reason of the laches of Federal officials.

2. The prohibition forces have depended too much upon law and too little upon enforcing the truth that prohibition in itself is good for the physical well-being of the individual as well as for its moral value. Advocates of prohibition are well within their rights in demanding that the law be enforced concurrently by Federal, State and local authorities. But they have neglected their duty as educators, and have been too ready to expect victory by paramounting the virtue of being law-abiding over the higher duty of proving that total abstinence is good alike for the body and the soul.

The referendums held may cause some Congressmen to escape taking a stand by saying they obey instructions. They would be right in taking that course if the referendum had been participated in by the whole people. As it is, not one-half of the people voted on it and it will therefore have little effect. Senators and Representatives understand that the only referendum that affects them is the one that gave them support. Dry Congressmen, with dry records, who were re-elected are not apt to change because of the so-called referendum.—News and Observer.

 Mr. Editor:—
 I note with real pleasure, and pardonable pride the consummate skill exercised in the drafting of Greenville's program for Armistice Day.

It is replete with attractive, inspiring, thrilling numbers from beginning to end.
 I beg leave to say that in my opinion, no number will be more deeply interesting, informing and eloquent than the 11 o'clock address at the auditorium by Mrs. C. L. Abernethy.

It was my pleasure in convention days to present him to the convention for Presidential election. He was enthusiastically nominated.
 From that day to this I have watched his career. He has developed into a learned lawyer, a wise statesman, an eloquent and brilliant orator. Hear him.

Paris Police Take Steps to Protect Big Jewels Now

Paris, Nov. 3. (INS)—With famous rose diamond, the Grand Conde, in the hands of clever thieves, steps to increase the safeguarding of other valuable state jewels, are now being taken in Paris.
 The principal one of these is the "Regent" diamond now in the Louvre and worth considerably more than the one stolen from the Chantilly museum. It has been stolen once and carried away two by fugitive rulers, pawned twice to get supplies for the armies of Napoleon who redeemed it in 1802 and wore it in the pommel of his sword when he was crowned Emperor.
 It would probably be a very difficult task to make away with it now that it is so safely guarded in the Galerie d'Apollon. It is surrounded by an iron balustrade and the glass protecting it is so thick that a shot from a gun could not even break it. Aside from the special-guardians who watch over it, hourly rounds are made by others and at night the table on which the precious gem reposes is lowered into the floor and disappears, as if by magic to a spot where few thieves could find it.

NORTH CAROLINA LOVE TRIANGLE AIRED IN COURT TODAY

Philadelphia, Nov. 5.—(INS)—A North Carolina love triangle was aired in police court here today before Magistrate Pennoek who held the principals in bail pending communication with North Carolina authorities.
 Mrs. Betty Tobert, 22, Leaksville, N. C., and Mrs. Laura Jarrell, Lexington, N. C., were held in $800 bail while the alleged errand husband, William Tobert, was jailed under a $1,000 bond.
 Detectives testified that the trio were arrested here after they engaged in a heated altercation. Mrs. Tobert, according to detectives, claimed her husband deserted her and eloped with Mrs. Jarrell. Mrs. Tobert trailed the couple to this city. Tobert is wanted in North Carolina on warrants charging desertion and non-support.

WOOD TO RETURN TO UNITED STATES

Washington, Nov. 5.—(INS)—General Leonard Wood, Governor of the Philippines, will return to the United States on leave of absence next January. It was officially announced at the War Department today.
 It will be his first trip "back home" since he assumed his present office more than five years ago.

Strange how one can so easily be injured by a rich man, enough to invite a damage suit.

Her Friend
 Go into any home, ask any woman, and she will say her best labor-saving friend—her on real, every day helper is the Kitchen Sink.
 A Kitchen Sink is to a wife what a desk or a bench is to her husband. Yes, it is that, and a great deal more. It saves steps, it saves much drudgery.
 She should have the best. For only the best Kitchen Sink is worthy of being her helping friend.
 The Kitchen Sink was invented to save stoop and strain—to save time—to save the bloom of womanhood. And it has been improved until today it is an ornament as well as a necessity.

To Defend Titles In 1928 Olympiad

Los Angeles, Nov. 3. (INS)—Although he is now out of college and a practicing dentist, Dr. Clarence "Bud" Houser, Olympic shot putt and discus throw champion, will defend his joint title at the 1928 Olympiad.

"Yes I'm going to Games," Bud declared today. "I'll need a vacation by that time."

In addition to holding the two Olympic titles, Bud also is the world champion discus thrower. His official record is 158 feet 1-3/4 in.

"How long do you think that mark will stand?" I asked.

"It's hard to say. My previous record, 156 feet, stood twelve years."

Eventually, Bud believes, the world discus record will be something like 170 feet.

I, myself, have made a couple of lucky throws of more than 160 feet," Dr. Houser declared.

"Some day, a big fellow, weighing 250 pounds or so, will be in perfect rhythm and co-ordination on one lucky heave and he will send the disc 165 or 170 feet."

"Then big men make the best of work—"

SCHOOL DAYS By DWIG

"Not at all," Bud replied, "The perfect type for the discus is neither too large or too small. The secret of discus throwing is not great strength—it's perfect muscular co-ordination."

Bud didn't start throwing the discus till he was a sophomore in Oxnard High School. Asked how he happened to specialize in the discus and the shot, Houser replied that "that was about all there was for a kid to do in Oxnard."

"I came to Los Angeles from Oxnard whenever I could, Bud continued, "and talked with the coaches and athletes on the college track teams. I didn't have a coach at Oxnard."

"Wasn't this self-training a handicap? Did you have to unlearn anything you taught?" I queried.

"Oh," Bud replied, "I changed my style several times, but discus throwing is one of those things you have to learn for your self."

Had Bud not taken a dental course in the University of California, he might have been a great football star.

"I would have been tickled to death to go out for football," the discus champion admitted, "but dental students can't play football."

The classes ran from 8:30 to 6 p. m. and if student in the Dental College hurt his arm he'd be helpless. An injured hand or finger doesn't make so much difference in the Art or Law College."

Making a world record discus throw, Bud revealed, is largely a matter of luck.

"Many men can throw the platter 145 feet," he explained, "but few get over that distance. A record-breaking heave depends upon the second dip. After the soaring plate has reached its highest height and has started to drop to earth, occasionally it is caught by the air that it curves forward in another and smaller arch—something like the second hop a flat stone takes when it is scudded on a river. That second dip adds the extra ten or fifteen feet to the distance of the throw."

this purpose will be asked in a bill which Congressman Henry I. Rainey, of Carrolton, Ill., will present to congress at the next session, he has informed the Association of Levee and Drainage District of Illinois.

The federal government now spends $10,000,000 annually for relief work in the Mississippi river valley. Under Rainey's bill this amount would be increased to $12,000,000, and the scope of the relief work be broadened to include that in the Illinois river valley.

Prince of Wales Gains From Tin Price Boom His Mines to Reopen

London, Nov. 3. (INS)—The Prince of Wales is likely to be one of the fortunate beneficiaries from the great tin gamble. Some of the mines on his estates in Cornwall are likely to be re-opened in consequence of the world's demand for tin at any price.

In fact, so tempting are the rewards, that adventures in Cornwall, with tin at over $1500 per ton, are prospecting for likely spots to "tin streaming."

At one spot, known as Porters Beach, streaks of black tin particles appear, in ridges in the sands after each tide. These are to be raked off as the tide recedes and raised by means of an aerial basket to the workings in the valley above where the tin miners will mill and "buddle" the sand, on approved principles and send the product to the smelters. Although the British Empire on account of the great mines in the Malay States and other tin-hiring countries control nearly 60 per cent of the world's output, and can sell to the United States and the rest of the world at practically any price, the home manufacturer is suffering just as

700 Doughboys Wed in France; 800 Others Return Home

(By William P. Carney)
INS Staff Correspondent
Paris, Nov. 3.—Why do 700 American boys, who left home nine years ago to go to war, stay away?

The answer in most cases is a French wife, according to American Legion officials here. The Paris Post looks after the interests of these members of the A. E. F. remaining in France, and their secretary, Dr. E. E. Goodrich, estimates that around 700 never returned to the United States after the Armistice. Another 800 came back to France after being demobilized in America, he says, making a total of approximately 1,500 ex-service men here now.

The doughboy who married Mademoiselle from Armentiers or Gay Paree seldom hesitates to discuss the relative merits of the French and American wives. Naturally, his viewpoint is slightly prejudiced. He loyally gives his wife all credit for making him happy and contented in a foreign land.

Dr. Goodrich is a tactful bachelor and dodged what might be ripened into a hot controversial subject. He holds no brief for either the French or American wife, because he can't afford to have his statements used against him later.

Dr. Goodrich willingly supplied general and impersonal statistics based on his official relations with the men of the A. E. F. who stayed in France. More than three-fourths of the 700 married French women. His records show (this official source of information was emphasized) that at least 5 per cent of the marriages turned out happily. Dr. Goodrich said:

"Reports of the desertion of French war brides by American soldiers, have been greatly exaggerated. You only hear of these few cases and the general public never learns of the many happily married ex-soldiers in France. This post tries to adjust and aid as far as it is able, every case of desertion brought to its attention. For example, the mayor of the small town of Bourbon has just written that a desertion case we worked on there was the only one out of forty-two marriages between American soldiers, and

French girl, which ended unhappily.

About half of the 700 ex-soldiers in France, according to Dr. Goodrich, are working as unskilled laborers. The other half includes about 200 clerks, employed by various French and American business firms. The remaining 150 represent such professions as doctors, lawyers and musicians, and probably 50 are in business for themselves. Less than 100 are paid dollar salaries by American employers.

Four American banks in Paris haven't a single veteran of the A. E. F. in their employ. Some positions are filled temporarily by American college students and the permanent employees are mostly English speaking Frenchmen. Three American newspapers publishing in Paris, have had a few ex-service men on their staffs since the Armistice.

One former doughboy with his French wife owns and presides over a smart dressmaking house. Many have groceries and garages.

During the first four years after the Armistice there were some cases of hardship among those who stayed in France, and at the end of 1922 the American Legion, co-operating with the American Aid Society, sent home 1,700 ex-service men. Some of these had washed dishes in restaurants, to earn their meals.

Nearly all of the 700 survivors here are native-born Americans, and in accordance with their wishes the Legion has taken steps in Washington to protect their citizenship, as well as that of their children born here. Dr. Goodrich says most of these children are being taught first to speak French, but their parents intend to send them to college in America later.

No obstacles are put by the French ministry of labor in the path of American, seeking employment. Dr. Goodrich declared although it is true that the proprietors of cabarets, and theatres employing American jazz bands have been compelled to employ one French musician for every American player. This order was cheerfully complied with however, owing to big profits and low salaries customarily paid French musicians. Some cabaret men never required their French musician, to work after hiring them.

"An ex-soldier was never obliged to return to America because the ministry of labor refused him a permit to work," Dr. Goodrich said.

Market Report

MARKET LETTER

(By W. S. Cousins, INS Financial Editor)

New York, Nov. 5.—Stock prices covered considerable territory today without arriving at any place in particular. Fittingly to inaugurate a rally through the use of the railroad stocks, the professionals turned their attention to the high priced industrials and specialties, from which the results appeared to be more satisfactory.

The market maintained a confident tone throughout, and the professional bears gave more attention to the covering of their short lines.

The outstanding market factors were the persistent report of an extra dividend for General Motors stockholders to be declared next Thursday, and a forthcoming favorable report of unfilled orders of the Steel Corporation to be issued next Wednesday.

Some of the railroad stocks showed good action.

The railroad equipment stocks advanced in company with the rails with Baldwin locomotive selling at 125 a gain of about 8 points, from the low of the week. Pullman and American Car and Foundry sold higher.

An enthusiastic forward move in United States Steel, which carried the price to 145 featured the industrial stocks. Buying of steel common was based on the reported increase of domestic currency business, with a revival of the old rumor relative to the extra dividend in cash or stock to be awarded to stockholders at some future time.

The Public Utility and specialty stocks had a good day, the latter including the Theatrical stocks, the Texas Sulphur producing Companies' stocks, the Iron Pipe Manufacturers' shares and the Radio stocks. (Some demand was also seen for the tobacco stocks, Philip Morris advancing to 32 for a new gain of 3 points.)

The commodity market was somewhat unsettled and backward in their movements. Higher yields for cotton in prospect held up the rally in prices there, while overproduction of wheat allowed speculating ing, and is having it.

Science rises from little things to big, and has not really started on its journey. Ancient doctors, in the time of Homer and long before, took the temperature of human beings, as nearly as they could, counted the heart beat, then said what was the matter. Marvellous, cried the beholders.

Now, at Mount Wilson Observatory, Dr. Adams and his assistants will take the temperature of the planet Mars, and take it exactly. And they will analyze that planet's atmosphere.

...voting and voting, however, will have little to do with getting the wine and beer. The Eighteenth Amendment is there, and will stay. Congressmen are in the fear of ferociously earnest prohibitionists, that never forgive, and never forget to vote.

New York's vote will have some effect. Public officials will take the vote as justification for "going easy" with bootleggers, possibly for going "fifty-fifty" with them.

That will make bootleg whiskey and gin more plentiful. But beer and light wines? No. They are far in the future it would take a revolution to bring them back. The bootlegger is entitled to his

Gorman's Market Report

GORMAN'S has first sale Monday, second sale Tuesday, first sale Wednesday. No sale Thursday and second sale Friday. The sales have all finished each day this week around four o'clock. Up to Thursday night GORMAN'S sold 519,000 pounds. Prices on the fine and good bodied tobacco, also the tobacco up to thirty-one or two have sold with us as good as at any time this season. The thin cutters tobacco above thirty-three has been from two to five cents per pound lower than two weeks ago but on Wednesday new orders and instructions came on and then tobacco sold much better. Our Thursday's sale of 174,482 pounds sold for $59,057.50 which averaged near thirty-four cents. Our customers with very few exceptions have all received more than they expected. Many who had not been selling at GORMAN'S told us they had heard "Tobacco was off," but theirs was the best sale they had made this season. It takes judgment and nerve to back this judgment to get the value and we have both. We never try to deceive or make statements that cannot be proved. Come see us run a sale, "Seeing is believing," and we will sell the balance of your crop. Below we give a few sales made Thursday:
