MAYOR URGES THE CITIZENS SUPPORT RED CROSS CALL

Issues Proclamation Asking Every Man, Woman and Child to Enroll Under Banner of Mercy

Mayor D. M. Clark, in a formal proclamation issued today, has called upon all citizens of Greenville to renew their allegiance to the American Red Cross during the Annual Roll Call which will continue through Thanksgiving.

In this proclamation the Mayor declares that every man, woman and child should welcome this opportunity to express approval and lend moral and financial support to an organization which stands ever ready to extend a helping hand to the unfortunate in our community, in the nation and all over the world.

The American Red Cross has been called the nation's Badge of Mercy. Its charter from Congress designated it the official agency for extending relief in disasters both in this country and in foreign lands.

To all who suffer in fires, floods, hurricanes and other calamities it offers help and consolation. At all times the Red Cross carries on a program of public health which alone would merit support of the American people.

I therefore call upon all citizens to seek to share in its humanitarian activities by answering the Roll Call for members which opens Armistice Day, and closes on Thanksgiving.

15,000 Hunt Deer in Northern Minn.

Hibbing, Nov. 20.—(INS)—Deer hunting in northern Minnesota is going this fall, farmers and settlers in this region declare with 15,000 hunters on the Range on the opening day.

Closed seasons have not only made the deer population increase in numbers but has made them particularly tame and so will prove easy targets for the hunter's guns.

Fairbanks declared that this was the busiest season because of the fact that many hunters attempt to make their kills before the official opening of the season.

It is also reported that numerous visitors to this country contracted in advance for their deer, paying as low as $15.00. It is declared that they made contracts with shackers and hunters to deliver the animals on their arrival here.

DISEASES OF HYDROPHOBIA

Knoxville, Tenn., Nov. 20.—(INS)—James Owens, 25, a railroad man, is dead here today as the result of hydrophobia infection from the bite of a dog.

Owens is the second victim of rabies in Knoxville since the epidemic started two months ago, and his death is causing much discussion in medical circles.

TODAY

He Got It. By Poison and Gas. Ask Herbert Hoover. May We Have Canals.

(By Arthur Brisbane)

It was mentioned here yesterday that the Italian flyer Bernard would go after the three kilometer record, held by an American officer and get it. Bernard did go after it, and got it. His average was above 258 miles an hour, covering the course four times.

This is a good thing for the United States. In some way the government of this country must be made to realize that flying is a reality and that the airplane, invented in America, really flies.

Bernard, flying under the administration's nose at Norfolk, may help to make known the fact that flying is real.

George Sterling, brilliant poet, killed himself with poison, having written "Deeper Into the Darkness Can I Peer Than Most, Yet Find the Darkness Still Beyond."

He has looked perhaps a little deeper than usual now, and we ought to wonder what he saw. But we don't wonder, or care much. Nature keeps us so busy with little things that we forget we are all going to die until the time comes, and then, usually, we are too weak to care.

While George Sterling was dying of poison, in San Francisco, Mrs. Ella Gross, aged 31, was lying in the rear seat of her automobile with the garage door locked, and the engine pouring carbon monoxide into her lungs. She died, of course. Did the two meet in no man's land, and ask each other questions? Do we remember anything or anybody, when this foolishly short run of life is over? What does happen, after friends and relatives go home, and the undertaker sends his bill?

If you want to know about prosperity, and the future, ask Herbert Hoover. He continually travels about the country, and actually sees what he looks at. As Secretary of Commerce, he has full business information and he tells Universal Service that 1927 should at least equal, if not surpass 1925 and 1926. If the country will attend to business, instead of guessing about future conditions, there will be nothing to worry about.

Wild Cat Killed Near Pactolus

Charlie Reese, colored tenant, living on J. E. Winslow's farm about a mile from Pactolus, killed a wild cat weighing about fifty pounds last Thursday. Reese was working in the field gathering corn, when his tree dog began barking fiercely in a thicket nearby.

He ran and got his gun and made for the thicket. He saw a small tree bending towards the ground, and a large wild cat crouching in it. The animal showed signs of fight and was just ready to spring, when Reese opened fire. It took three loads to bring the animal to the ground.

Thousands of young girls are starving themselves almost as dangerously without any 200 weight as an excuse.

People no longer ask what's the use of science. Standard Oil ships are adopting radio beacons, low powered automatic radio transmitters. They feel when another ship, similarly equipped is near in a fog and with the radio compass, the captain can establish the direction of the warning signal.

Radio light house will one day replace the old kind, defying weather. Men will soon be as wise as rats that find their way in the dark, in a room filled with wires strung close together, never touching a wire.

MRS. GIBSON IN COURT IN DRAMATIC CLIMAX OF HALL-MILLS CASE

Mrs. Jane Gibson, star witness in the Hall-Mills murder case, is shown on a bed in the courtroom at Somerville, N. J., where her testimony formed the dramatic climax of the trial. Senator Alexander Simpson, special prosecutor, is shown asking her questions. Beyond the bed are the defense attorneys, and beyond them Willie Stevens, Mrs. France Stevens Hall, and Henry Stevens, the defendants. (c) Inter-News Reel.

Head of Georgia Defunct Banks Gets Ten Years

Atlanta, Nov. 20.—(INS)—W. D. Manley, former president of the defunct Bankers Trust Company, was found guilty by a jury here today of fraudulent insolvency, and Judge Howard immediately sentenced him to serve a term of 9 to 10 years on a chain gang.

The verdict was returned at 12:40 P. M. The jury was given the case shortly after midnight but deliberations on Manley's fate did not begin until 9 A. M. Manley made no defense at his trial, although a vast amount of testimony was taken from alienists in a special hearing last week in an effort to show that the banker was insane.

CREW OF STRANDED STEAMER SAFE

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Nov. 20.—(INS)—The steamer Cottonwood's crew of 21, missing after the freighter was helplessly aground on the rocks, today were on board another ship at Batchewana Bay. The men abandoned the Cottonwood when it was feared that the blinding blizzard would cause it to sink.

The storm has now abated in the upper lakes region and vessels, which sent distress signals, are now safe.

ACQUITTED OF CHARGE OF POISONING WIFE

Port Angeles, Wash., Nov. 20.—(INS)—Dr. Paul D. Moore, well known physician, stood acquitted today on a charge of having poisoned his wife. A jury found him not guilty after three hours deliberation. Dr. Moore was arrested in Nashville, Tenn., and brought back here to face the charge.

NINE BODIES ARE RECOVERED FROM WRECKED TANKER

Exact Number of Casualties Resulting From Yesterday's Explosion Still Unknown

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 20.—(INS)—Nine horribly mutilated bodies had been recovered this morning from the smoldering ruins of the Norwegian oil tanker Mantilla, and from eight to a dozen other workmen believed to have been about the ship have not yet been accounted for by rescuers and firemen gingerly poking about the ship in momentary fear of another explosion.

The exact death list may never be known. Officials do not know certainly how many of the missing were aboard the boat when the blast came, and this has rendered difficult an accurate check. The injured number forty, and a few of these are so seriously hurt their deaths are expected.

The explosion is believed to have been caused by gas generated in one of the ship's storage tanks.

The Mantilla has been in drydock at Sparrows Point for several weeks, undergoing repairs. She was to have gone into the service of the Mexican Petroleum Company, on Monday. W. Wilhelmsson, Ponsberg, Norway, is the owner.

The big tanker was alive with workmen at the time of the explosion. Burning oil was scattered over a wide area and firemen had to fight for hours to prevent the spread of a serious conflagration. They had to work carefully to prevent a second blast from another tank.

Captain Nils Danielson, commanding the Mantilla, said the ship was literally blown apart. He was on the dock when the explosion occurred.

"The air was full of flying steel and burning oil," said Capt. Danielson. "Men were running around with their clothing afire, screaming with pain. I saw several with arms blown off. It was the most terrible thing I ever saw."

An accurate casualty list will not be possible until some time today when official, complete check-up of the injured who were rushed to hospitals by every available automobile.

The American Red Cross is a membership organization; its ranks are open to all. The dues you may support its gigantic program. Have you signed up?

Veteran Leaps to Death From Top Wash. Monument

Washington, Nov. 20.—(INS)—A discouraged and apparently unbalanced veteran of the Spanish-American War committed suicide dramatically today by leaping from the top of the Washington Monument, which towers 555 feet. He was identified later as Henry C. Anderson, an inmate of the U. S. Soldiers' Home here.

With a shout of vaanos (Spanish for away or let us go) Anderson made the fatal leap from the north side of the shaft, facing the White House. The scream was heard by guards and a small party of tourists, but no one actually saw him dive into space.

Identification was made by the name "Anderson" in his hat, and by a letter from his wife, who lives in St. Paul, Va. The letter enclosed school report cards for three daughters.

Anderson apparently had planned his act carefully. Water Aft Knight, one of the elevator operators, in the shaft, noticed him waiting and shivering when the doors were opened at the base of the monument at 9 o'clock this morning.

Charles Ward, of Havana, had a small party going up on the first elevator, and the stranger crowded in with them. No one paid any particular attention to him. While members of the Ward party were enjoying the view of the capitol in the cold morning sunlight, they were startled to hear the cry "Vamas!" and a slight commotion.

The guards at the base of the shaft heard the sickening crash of the body.

Anderson's the ground had foremost and the mutilation was so great that it was with difficulty identification could be established. A wrist watch worn by the veteran was found fifty feet away from his mangled remains.

EDUCATIONAL COM. NEW SALES RECORD WAS TO DISCUSS NEEDS ESTABLISHED THIS WEEK NORMAL SCHOOLS LOCAL TOBACCO MARKET

Dr. R. H. Wright to Appear Before Educational Commission in Raleigh on Monday

President Robt. H. Wright has been asked to appear before the Educational Commission in Raleigh on next Monday evening for a hearing as to the needs of teacher training institutions for the future. All state institutions engaged in the training of teachers are supposed to participate in this hearing.

Some of the questions the Commission is asking are: What are the present facilities and enrollment? What are the needs for the future? What further accommodations are needed in the future?

East Carolina Teachers College has been turning away students for the coming year since the 10th of November. Fifty-nine have been refused to date. This means an average of from eight to ten per day for the next six months. Last year, and the year before the college refused more students than it accepted.

The Educational Commission probably realizes that the situation is serious. Some are advocating the building of more normal schools in the state, others are advocating the enlarging of those already in operation to the place where they can accept all who want to enter. Still others are advocating doing both.

It is probable that if the next legislature would build two additional normal schools and enlarge the one at Greenville so that it could accommodate all who want to enter that this would take care of the teacher training needs of the state for the next biennium. It is understood that the Educational Commission is giving the matter of adequate teacher training facilities serious study.

HENRY STEVENS ON STAND TODAY HALL-MILLS CASE

First of Defendants in Murder Trial Denies He Was Connected With the Killing

Court House, Somerville, N. J., Nov. 20.—(INS)—Henry Stevens, a defendant in the Hall-Mills murder trial denied under vigorous cross examination this afternoon that he shot Mrs. Eleanor Mills to death and slashed her throat or that he killed the Rev. Edward W. Hall in a struggle for a gun in the Russey's Lane on the night of September 14, 1922.

The gruesome blood-red and white bust of a woman's head was placed on the witness stand in front of the witness and he was asked to show on the figure how he used to slash the necks of blue fish when you were cleaning them.

Stevens, his ruddy face paling, declined to make any such illustration on the wax dummy but he did explain how he used to cut out the gills of the blue fish.

It was the strangest cross-examination any witness ever had been subjected to at a murder trial.

"Did you shoot Eleanor Mills?" the special prosecutor, Alexander Simpson, roared.

"I did not," replied the witness, emphasizing each word.

"Did Dr. Hall seize your gun when you were remonstrating with him and did you say G—d—d—d, let go and did you then shoot him?"

"I did not." "That's all," said Simpson, finishing cross-examination at 2:05. On direct examination Stevens had denied that he had directly or indirectly participated in the killing.

WILL SEEK SENATE PROBE OF LATIN AMERICAN POLICY

Wheeler Resolution Will Request Immediate Withdrawal of Troops From Nicaragua

Washington, Nov. 20.—(INS)—A Senate investigation into certain phases of the administration's Latin-American policy will be demanded as soon as Congress meets.

The move was definitely known today as Senatorial muttering increased in volume over the latest development—the establishment of a virtual protectorate in Nicaragua.

Senator Burton K. Wheeler, Democrat, of Montana, is preparing a resolution to introduce calling for the immediate withdrawal of American Marines and warships from Nicaragua waters.

Non-partisan support of Wheeler's move was forthcoming today in the form of a statement from Senator Norris, Republican, of Nebraska, that "it is some of the American people know the truth of what is going on down there."

"It is time to take off the mask of secrecy surrounding our diplomatic relations with Latin-American, particularly Nicaragua," said the Nebraskan.

It is apparent that our government has furnished troops and warships to help establish a government in Nicaragua and on the heels of that action the first official act of the new government was to announce that it had negotiated a new loan with Wall Street bankers, with a $6,000,000 loan to come a little later.

The danger is that this government will maintain its armed forces down there to collect three loans and others that have gone before it. I am opposed to any such policy.

A considerable amount of support for a Senate investigation is assured. Charges of "dollar diplomacy" and of Wall Street loans backed up by United States Marines have seldom failed to kindle a conflagration in the Senate. Additional fuel has been provided in the present case because of the State Department's alleged accusations against Mexico. And the hint that American armed forces in the Caribbean will see to it that any further liberal revolution in Nicaragua will be smothered.

For the progressiveness of the Senate and for not a few of the Democrats this savors too much of interference with the political affairs of neighboring states.

The Senate already is on record against the maintenance of American armed forces on foreign soil. The resolution that called for the return of the occupational forces in the Rhineland set forth that the Senate was, traditionally opposed to keeping of American armed forces in any country even to keep peace. The sense of that resolution was that it is up to foreign countries to keep their own peace.

Half Wit Holds Officers at Bay

Kingsree, S. C., Nov. 20.—(INS)—Hanged in a hot-on-the-spot trials of Kingsree, Harold Wheeler 26 year old half-wit, today hurried defiance at officers who sought him for the probable fatal shooting yesterday of Sheriff H. G. Gamble.

The sheriff was seriously wounded in an unsuccessful attempt to arrest Wheeler on a charge of attempting to wreck all south-bound trains at Cades, S. C. Wheeler, who was released from the State Insane Asylum only a few months ago, fired without warning at the officer when he approached, wounding him in the jaw.

After a long search yesterday which extended over three counties, a posse traced Wheeler to his home near here, but would not attempt to enter the house because of the fear of injuring the half-wit's mother.

Officers were prepared to make an attempt today to enter the barricaded house.

Although Sheriff Gamble was first reported killed, it was found that he was only injured. Attendants at a hospital here said that he had a chance to recover.

HOLLYWOOD STYLE HINTS

Hollywood, Nov. 20.—(INS)—What is the smartest combination for the fall evening wrap.

Allene Pringle, "the best dressed woman on the screen," replied to this query by declaring that velvet and fur make the most novel and smartest wrays of the season.

The upper half of the best looking wraps are of some lovely fur, such as ermine, mink, caracul or squirrel; while the skirt of the coat or cape should be of felt that harmonizes or contrasts with the fur. My own favorite evening wrap is of mink and brick velvet, said Miss Pringle.

THREE PERSONS HELD IN JEWELRY ROBBERY

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 20.—(INS)—Three persons were held today in connection with the theft of $5,000 in jewelry and two fur coats from a guest room in the Savoy Hotel.

Those arrested were a man and woman registered as Jack Britton, 3 and his wife, Betty, Blinn, 20, and Alfred Hannas, 20, of Detroit.

The jewelry and coats were taken from a room in which a Mr. and Mrs. Lyons were registered.

In its many services to suffering humanity the Red Cross is able to act in the name of the people because it is supported by individual memberships.

CONTRACT TRADING MONEY FOR TITLE IS REVEALED TODAY

William K. Vanderbilt Bartered Daughter Consuelo for Title Thirty-One Years Ago

Riverhead, N. Y., Nov. 20.—(INS)—The thirty-one year old contract by which William Kissam Vanderbilt bartered his Yankee gold for a British Ducal title for his 17 year old daughter, Consuelo, was revealed today.

The contract, a voluminous instrument between the "most noble" Charles Richard John, Duke of Marlborough, party of the first part, and William Kissam Vanderbilt, Esquire, party of the second part, was found in the dusty files of an obscure, court-house here.

It was as formal, as cautious and as safe-guarding throughout its lengthy provisions as though the able financier was transferring a valuable piece of real estate or a valuable block of railroad bonds, instead of conveying a beautiful heiress into the nuptial bed.

The "heretofore unpublished document revealed the shrewd bargaining by which the Duke of Marlborough shared his title with Consuelo Vanderbilt, after having concession after concession from her wealthy father. It also disclosed that the Duke and William K. Vanderbilt were mutually distrustful of one another.

The discovery of the marriage contract comes on the heels of the recent annulment of the marriage by the Tribunal of the Roman Pontiff.

By the terms of the contract, Consuelo was to receive, in consideration of her marriage to the Duke of Marlborough, the proceeds of a trust fund of $2,500,000. From this fund, despite the fact that the couple has been divorced for several years, the Duke of Marlborough had already collected $3,100,000, and continues to receive an income of $100,000 a year from it.

In addition, Vanderbilt agreed to furnish Consuelo with an annual income of $100,000. To make doubly sure that the Duke got his "bit," the contract provided that in case the first trust fund in the Duke's favor was voided by Consuelo Vanderbilt's relatives, on the ground that she was not of age, the Duke was to receive a second trust fund of $2,500,000 which was left by William Henry Vanderbilt to William K. Vanderbilt, and which the latter promised to turn over to Consuelo.

In event of Vanderbilt's death Consuelo was to receive this second trust fund, thus insuring her an annual income of $100,000. Vanderbilt's distrust of his titled son-in-law was evidenced in the provision, that Consuelo should not be allowed to draw in advance a single dollar of her annual income.

But this was matched by a retaliation in favor of the Duke that if Consuelo should draw in excess of ten thousand pounds sterling, or $50,000 in any one year, all such funds in excess of the ten thousand pounds sterling should be paid into the Ducal trust fund. Elaborate provisions were made for the investment of the trust fund. All in consideration of the Duke of Marlborough's giving his hand in marriage to the beautiful Consuelo Vanderbilt.

SUTTON-OWENS
Fountain, N. C., Nov. 20.—Mr. J. R. Owens announces the engagement and approaching marriage of his daughter, Triba Kathleen, to Mr. Jimmie Sutton, of Arthur, N. C., the wedding to take place in December.

ALEXANDER McALLISTER CHAPTER OF D. A. R.'s ENTERTAINED IN SNOW HILL
Marker Unveiled at Grave of Henry Best.

The Alexander McAllister Chapter of the D. A. R.'s spent a most interesting day, last Thursday. A large number of the members, assembled in Snow Hill about 10:30 o'clock, and from Snow Hill they drove ten miles in the country to the old Best home, where a bronze marker was unveiled at the grave of Henry Best, a Revolutionary soldier.

Mrs. W. B. Murphy, of Snow Hill, regent of the chapter, had charge of the exercises. After the flag salute, and the American creed, the invocation was offered.

Rev. Ruffin of the Methodist church in Snow Hill. Dr. Henry Best, of Wilson, gave a short history of the Best family, and the soldier whose grave was marked Miss Lucile Moore, of Elm City, one of the Best descendants, placed a wreath given by the family on the grave. Miss Mary Wright placed a wreath from the chapter, on the grave.

The members then returned to Snow Hill, where Mrs. Joe Exum and Mrs. Moseley delightedly entertained at luncheon, at the home room was attractively decorated with chrysanthemums and chrysanthemums were used for the centerpiece.

After luncheon, a short business session of the chapter was held, after which an enjoyable program was carried out. Mrs. Tom Farrar, of Tarboro, sang several selections and Mrs. Murphy gave an interesting account of her visit in London. The chapter adjourned to meet Dec. 11th with Mrs. Dan Quinberry in Kinston.

Those attending the meeting from here, Thursday, were Mrs. C. O'H. Laughinghouse, Mrs. B. W. Moseley, Mrs. Tom Farrar, Mrs. T. E. Hooker, Mrs. R. H. Wright and Miss Mary Wright.

FIRE ALARM TODAY
A fire alarm was sent in today just after noon from box 31. The fire company quickly responded and found that it was a colored dwelling on Pitt street, occupied by Pattie Roberson and owned by Emma Johnson. The fire caught from ashes and was extinguished by the fire company before much damage was done.

TYSON FAMILY REUNION
The Tyson family held its annual reunion at Tyson's church near Farmville, on Thursday, Nov. 18th. There were Tyson there from all parts of the country, some coming from Virginia and other nearby states.

Dr. B. F. Cox, of Winterville, president of the organization, called the meeting together at eleven o'clock and the assemblage gathered in the rustic and historical old church sang the National Anthem. After prayer had been offered by the Rev. Mr. Mewborn, the secretary, Mr. J. D. Cox, read his report and gave some interesting remarks on the history of the Tyson family in the early colonial days and in the various wars of our country.

Mrs. Shackelford, of Farmville, chairman of the Genealogy committee, gave a most instructive resume of the Tyson's from their early life in England on down to the present day. She also exhibited a huge family tree that the committee had worked out.

Mrs. Carl Tornage, of Farmville, Regent of the Benjamin May Chapter of the D. A. R.'s, asked the reunion to aid her in the dedication of the marker to Aaron Tyson, hero of the Tuscarora War. Walter Sheppard, of Farmville, and a resolution was passed to this effect. The next thing on the program was the reading of one of the poems of Anne Montgomery Tyson, of Alabama, daughter of Judge Tyson of that state. William S. Tyson of Greenville next introduced the speaker of the morning, J. J. Everett, of Greenville, who delivered a very impressive address on the three phases of our race, "A Pure Blood, Religion and Development." He showed how family organizations such as these could help establish such foundations for our race to build on.

After the address various committees were appointed and the following officers elected for the coming year: William S. Tyson, of Greenville, President; Miss Tabitha de Visconti, of Farmville, vice-president; and J. D. Cox, secretary.

The reunion also passed resolutions of eulogy to the late Judge J. Lloyd Horton, one of the most loyal members of the marker to Aaron Tyson, who died the past summer. Walter Sheppard, of Farmville, was appointed to draw up these resolutions. After an informal discussion the meeting was adjourned to the lawn where a bounteous dinner was served. This family has its reunion yearly and it is always attended by some of the most prominent people in the state, for the family numbers in its representatives today, five judges, several Congressmen and one U. S. Senator, and has been a force in the growth of Pitt county.

EDUCATIONAL CLASS IN NUTRITION AND CHILD TRAINING

On Friday afternoon Mrs. Grimes gave the last of the series of educational lessons in cookery and child training. Cake making and the science and business of home making were discussed. A fundamental recipe was used for making batter for eight different kinds of cakes. By quick, easy methods cakes of very fine texture were made. The home maker must select from the things she feels might be important, the duties that are the most important. By intelligent study, women might learn quick methods, and have more time to spend with their children. Probably the most important cake was the beautiful children's birthday cake. Wholesome and attractive was the sponge cake covered with beaten white of egg and sugar, then decorated with sections of orange and ball of mint jelly. The finished product was a feast for the eyes. She emphasized the importance of associating good, nourishing food with the gala occasions for children rather than the generally forbidden foods.

Mrs. Grimes' ideal is to teach the housewife, young and old, the importance of cooking for health. Whether she realizes it or not, the housewife holds in her hand the health and happiness of her family. It is up to her to learn the nutritive value of foods. Vitamins a, b, c, d, e, and the minerals iron, calcium, etc., may sound like Greek but it is her duty to find out about them. A knowledge of food values, the change, food undergoes in the body, the ways of preparing food to keep it wholesome and preserve the vitamin content, must be thoroughly understood, if the housewife plans her meal intelligently. One of the older women made the statement that this course in cookery years ago, would have saved her much worry and many dollars.

The women of Greenville have had a rare opportunity in having Mrs. Grimes from the State Department of Education, bring us the latest along with the most practical methods of home making and child training. Right living is recognized now by the colleges as the most important profession in life. Home making is being placed on a higher level than ever before. Mrs. Grimes is a woman of rare personality and ability. She closed her class by giving in her most charming manner, Van Dyke's "Give Us a Home."

The American Red Cross has become an intimate part of our daily life. To it the people turn instinctively and confidently when disasters occur. John.

THANKSGIVING

Psalms 100: part of verse 24:
"Into His Courts with praise."

Next Thursday, by appointment of the President,
the Governor of the State,
concurring the oldest anniversary of our country will be observed — Thanksgiving Day.

We have much to be thankful for. Sometimes we give thanks for that which we ought to regret.

One of our Ambassadors,
speaking, I hope, informally,
is reported to have said
last month that our United States might be thankful
that she was not to be entangled in the European difficulties. His words were quite robust and heart-felt.
Will you pardon me if I quote him as reported? He said his country was "damned
well out of the League of Nations."

I do not believe that we have any grounds for Thanksgiving in THAT. I do not believe our people generally take that attitude. Our politicians may be priests and Levites who "pass by on the other side," but, by a hundred generous deeds, our people have shown the characteristics of the good Samaritan who went out of his way to help an alien—foreign to him, both in religion and speech.

The very heart of Christianity to me is this effort to help the helpless—many or most of them may be unde-
serving—and to help them,
not according to their deserts, but according to their helplessness. We did not deserve much when God, in His infinite love and mercy, sent forth His Son to bring us back into the conscious love
and freedom of His children.

But, though our Thanksgiving may be tinged with regret because we have not done more for Europe in her troubles; we may still be thankful that we have the potentiality to help yet; and may pray that God will teach our nation that its very eminence and influence and power makes us
"our brother's keeper."

Apart from this no other nation on earth has so many causes for Thanksgiving as ours! Our wonderful country, our inestimable resources, our inextinguishable
and prosperity, the general happiness and contentment of our people, the spread of education to our remotest hamlets, the boun-tifulness of our harvests, the awakening of the souls of our people to the value of spiritual realities—that a man's life does not consist

in the abundance of the things that he has—all these
call for profound gratitude to Almighty God!

It is well that we should
"Enter His Courts with praise." Because all these things are due to Him, and not to us. We have done very little towards them. We have been recipients rather than incipients; and there is no one else to thank but Him.

Looking out on the world
at large, and impartially viewing the conditions of the nations, it seems to me that there is none so happily situated as is ours! And "to whom much has been given,
of them much shall be required."

Our Thanksgiving Day
will be this year, a real blessing if we, acknowledging God's goodness, go "into His Courts with praise" and then go out into the marts
and congresses of men and declare in His name liberty of thought, speech, and action; and, translating our thanks into deeds, work for the emancipation of men
everywhere from ignorance,
superstition, and racial prejudice.

"His Courts" are THEIR Courts, as well as OURS!
We have no monopoly of the goodness and favor of God; and we should do our utmost to lead men everywhere into the loving acknowledgment of His over-ruling Providence.

EYES TO SEE TROUBLE

A certain man went down from Jerusalem to Jericho and fell among thieves.—Luke 10:30.

When in reply to the lawyer's question, Jesus told the incomparable story of the good Samaritan. What did the lawyer say?
First of all, he was brought face to face with a bit of human misery that ought to make a straight appeal to any man or woman, with a heart of flesh. Christ showed him a man who was traveling along a road, as he was going peaceably about his business he was set upon by a band of robbers, who quickly clubbed him and robbed him of all his valuables, even taking away his clothing and made off into some hiding place
among the caves and mountain
fastness along that rugged road.

There the man lay, through no fault of his own. He had happened upon one of life's hardest fortunes. He had committed no crime. He was just going about his own business and having about him something which the thieves wished for themselves. He was left helpless and in a dying condition, only the best of remedies and those quickly applied could save him. He was breathing heavily in unconsciousness and the hot sun was beating down upon him. It would be but a little while till all would be over unless somebody passed who would help him.

Are there not people all up and down life's road, knocked out by some kind of misfortune? Through no fault of their own. They believe and forsaken by the wayside. Some of us do not even do as well as the priest and Levite. We are able to get by with eyes averted and never see at all the suffering and need, we pass.

Are there no poor made poor by their folly, or by somebody else taking advantage of them. Are there not sick brought low because life has such a burden for them that they are without the price of good food and medicines?
Are there no ignorant and prejudiced people who are selfish and failed to give them a chance? But some people try to prove an alibi
by saying that they are not responsible, they did not do anything to cause this trouble. Let the people who are suffering for their own sin remedy their lot if they want it remedied. I worked for what I have, they say, let them do the same. I did not their troubles or illness on them,
why should I be called on to bear the burden of it. But Jesus will not let it rest, he brings it all squarely before us, and says that we should love one another. And if we love one another, we will live better. Here are the hungry, sick and blind, there they lie in their helplessness. Can you do anything about it? Have you a heart in you, a heart of love, one that will help a brother in need?

Three killers, Norrona II, Han-

PALE & PEAKED

Texas Lady Was Advised by Her
Mother To Take Cardui,
Which She Did With Good Results.

Hamilton, Texas.—Mrs. Gladys Poitivent, of this city, says: "At times I suffered awfully with pains across my back and through my sides. I would have to go to bed and stay two or three days at a time. It was very worrisome. I managed to keep going, but... did not enjoy myself at all.

"One day my mother remarked on how bad I looked. She said: 'You look so pale and peaked, why don't you take a bottle of Cardui?' She had taken it herself a number of times, and it had always improved
her health, so she thought I had better try it.

"I got the Cardui and began taking it, and from the first dose or two I could see a change for the better. The first thing I noticed was that my appetite was improved.
I began to be hungry and I enjoyed my meals. I slept better at night.
My rest was so much quieter that I got the benefit from it. I kept on with the Cardui and took it for several months. The pains in my back and sides grew less until they finally quit bothering me."

Daughters of Confederacy Will Give Scholarship

Richmond, Va., Nov. 20.—(INS)
—Mrs. Woodrow Wilson received a warm ovation when she appeared here today before the 33rd annual convention of the United Daughters of the Confederacy.
She came here on a visit.

She was pleased when the daughters told her they had pledged $12,000 to the Woodrow Wilson Scholarship Endowment fund at the University of Virginia.
"Nothing would have pleased
Mr. Wilson more," she said.
Recommendation for the establishment of two scholarships and a relief fund occupied the closing sessions of the convention
here today.

It was decided to establish a scholarship at Oxford University
England, and to hasten completion of a $100,000 fund for the establishment of the Mathew Fontaine scholarship at St. John's College, Maryland. A proposal for a $50,000 fund for the relief of needy Confederate women received endorsement.

The convention recorded itself
in favor of establishing a memorial to Father Ryan, Southern poet.
It would be placed in St. Mary's church, in Mobile, Ala.

"Vest Pocket" Bathroom

You don't need a large room for that extra bathroom every house ought to have. The end of a broad hall, an unused sewing room, or clothes closet, may be sufficient.
We can install a modern bathroom, complete, in a space
five feet square.
Consider the convenience of an extra bathroom for the use of guests—and for the family, too, to save time and encourage daily bathing without having to wait. At best there isn't much time in the morning—if more than one is to have a plunge or shower.
Come in—or telephone. We'll be glad to send someone to show you where one of these efficient bathrooms can be installed.

PREDICTS GREAT DEVELOPMENT IN AIR MAIL SERVICE

Air Secretary Says 1927 Will Mark Rapid Expansion in Aeronautical Transportation

Washington, Nov. 19.—(INS)—Rapid expansion of aeronautical transportation in 1927 was predicted today by William P. MacCracken, Jr., air secretary of the Commerce Department.

Reports to the department show several of the large air transportation corporations are planning to increase their capitalization and equipment early next year, pointing to an effective air freight and passenger carrier over most of the United States.

During the present fiscal year most of the important centers of the country will be interconnected by this new form of transportation, carrying mail, express and passengers, said the annual report of Secretary of Commerce Hoover, made public today.

Among the corporations contemplating expansion programs are the National Air Transport, Western Air Express, Colonial Air Transport, Philadelphia Rapid Transit, Ford Motor Co., Northwestern Airways, the Pacific Air Transport and Florida Airways, according to department advices.

Although no figures were available for the aeronautical appropriation to be asked of Congress, it will be materially larger than the original $550,000 authorized for organization of the Bureau of Commercial Aeronautics.

Where but 500 miles of airways were in operation, excepting Post Office routes, a year ago, 1926 closes with about 10,000 miles of national airways. MacCracken said this mileage will be increased materially within the next twelve months.

Hoover's report showed that the purpose of the government in aeronautical development is three fold.

1. To secure better development of this form of transportation for commercial purposes.
2. To create private commercial services which can relieve the Post Office of its expenditure upon air mail.

Speaking of passage of the air commerce act MacCracken said:

Little commercial aviation could be organized until the fundamental services of administration, regulation and inspection of routes, equipment and personnel were assured.

Already commercial operations have been undertaken in reliance on the provisions of the air commerce act and it seems certain the Post Office will be able to let contracts which will relieve it of all transportation of air mail during this fiscal year, he concluded.

Six months after a tornado razed Murphysboro, Illinois, the people were living in newly constructed and furnished homes. Red Cross workers did the job. Did you help with your membership?

DEMONSTRATION OF OLDSMOBILE IN MOVING PICTURE LAST NIGHT

The well appointed show room of the Sugg Motor Co., distributors for Oldsmobile cars, for Eastern Carolina, owned and operated by H. C. Sugg in a new and attractive building on Third street was crowded with interested friends last night, when a five reel picture "Through the Oldsmobile Factory," was shown, followed by a 2 reel comedy in the "Service Department." The picture began with a history of the beginning of Oldsmobile car, and the first car they made was shown. The new model cars were shown from beginning to completion. First the motor parts and the assembling of the motor were shown and each part was checked for accuracy; then the fenders, were shown in the process of the making, the machine used valued at $100,000; next the body in the making was shown in the Fisher Body Corporation, which plant adjoins the Oldsmobile factory in Lansing, Mich.; then the completed car was shown being driven over the General Motor, proving grounds, and the picture closed with the finished and proven car being demonstrated to a prospec-

Gorman's Market Report

We were asked by the Wilson Tobacco Board of Trade to agree to close for Thanksgiving on Tuesday night; All Greenville warehouses agreed, but Kinston and Rocky Mount and the small markets would not agree; So all the markets will keep open until Wednesday night. We believe prices will be stronger after Thanksgiving. The redrying plants are over-run on all markets and with more orderly marketing we know that prices will be much better. The sales have been large all the week, blocking on three (3) days. However all houses finished Friday and we will start Monday with all floors clean. GORMAN'S has First Sale Monday, Second Sale Tuesday and First Sale Wednesday. We did not get a sale Thursday. Friday we were filled from wall to wall after turning away many loads, but with more baskets than ever before on our floor we made a record selling 2650 baskets, averaging 365 baskets per hour for the entire sale. We started at eight-thirty, took a half hour for dinner and finished at four o'clock. GORMAN'S had but few loads of strictly fine tobacco this week but when we did have these fine tobaccos they sold as high as at any time this season, we sold many lots around eighty cents per pound. We know good and fine tobacco and put it where it belongs. In our Friday's sale we had more barn cleanings and mean comm on tobacco than on any sale this season. We sold for the week:

Monday	240,026 pounds for $ 74,975.27	Average $31.23
Tuesday	53,554 pounds for $ 15,007.95	Average $
Wednesday	270,394 pounds for $ 80,392.38	Average $30.22
Friday	260,400 pounds for $ 71,954.71	Average $27.63
Total for week	824,376 pounds for $243,330.21	Average $29.52

We give facts and figures and never misrepresent. Your confidence is what we want. With this and our selling experience we know we will continue to lead the Greenville market. Send us your tobacco and you will go home satisfied.

Market Report

MARKET LETTER
New York, Nov. 20.—(INS)— Moderate recoveries took place, in the short session today, in many of the industrial stocks which bore
the brunt of Friday's closing short selling.
Another 4 point jump in Baldwin
Locomotive in the short movement,
which has added approximately 39 points to the market value of the stock in 21-2 weeks, was the outstanding feature of the industrial group.
The sharp advance in Mack Trucks to above 96 was accompanied by reports of better business and higher operations and profits for the company. Hudson Motors was well bought at 45 and fractionally above, while Chrysler and Willys Overland lost ground.
With the exception of the St.
Paul issues, the railroad stocks
were unusually dull and quiet. ST.

Government Report, sworn to by the ware-housemen themselves, shows Greenville is paying more money for tobacco than any market
in North Carolina.
