CONGRESS TO AIR AMERICA'S POLICY REPUBLICS SOUTH

State Department's Policy in Nicaragua Described as 'Dollar Diplomacy at Its Worst'

Washington, Nov. 22.—(INS)—The whole broad question of American diplomatic policy toward the little republics of South and Central America is in for an airing when the Senate convenes two weeks hence, it appeared today.

The present situation in Nicaragua, where Adolfo Diaz has been elevated to the Presidency with the assistance of the State Department and American warships and Marines, is the reason therefor.

Senator Wheeler, Democrat of Montana, already has announced he will introduce a resolution on the opening day demanding the recall of the warships and Marines, from Nicaragua "to allow the people of that country to set up a government of their own choosing." This move is certain to provoke a bitter debate, in which the Democrats and insurgents will assail the State Department's policy in Nicaragua as "dollar diplomacy at its worst" and as "military autocracy."

On top of this, Senator Shipstead, Farmer-Laborer, of Minnesota, today announced that the machinery for Senatorial investigation already is at hand, the Ladd resolution, which has been slumbering in the foreign relations committee for eighteen months.

The resolution referred to was sponsored by the late Senator Ladd of North Dakota and hearings were held by a sub-committee of the foreign relations committee in 1925. After Ladd's death it was dropped, but Shipstead said today the resolution was still operative and he intended to push it. Shipstead is a member of the committee.

"I am going to push the resolution for further inquiry into the loans to Nicaragua and other Latin-American countries, and into the question of what American armed forces are being used for in these little republics."

"I think it is one of the most important questions before the Senate."

"I, for one, don't want a Balkan situation created in the western hemisphere by the actions of our State Department and Wall Street."

The previous hearings concerned chiefly American activities in Haiti, where American Marines have been stationed for years. Evidence was developed at these hearings, supported in part by official documents, that Admiral Caperton, the American Commandant, had "forced" Haiti to accept a treaty favorable to the American interests "under military pressure."

Funeral Services for A. B. Congleton Held On Friday

Funeral services for A. B. Congleton, 71, who died last Thursday night, were conducted from the late home near Stokes, on Friday afternoon, by Rev. C. W. Howard, of Kingston, and interment followed in the Congleton burying ground. He was a native of Pitt county, and his death marks the going of one of the most prominent, prosperous and beloved farmer in the county. For many years he was a faithful member of the Oak Grove Christian church. The funeral was one of the most largely attended ever held in that section, and the beautiful floral offering attested the high esteem in which he was held.

He is survived by two daughters, Misses Bessie Congleton and Gemma Whit Congleton, and three sons, James B. and Wilbur, of this county; and Edwin, of Dallas, Texas.

His only surviving sister, Mrs. Bettie Ward, 89, of Beaufort county, never recovered from the shock of the news of his death, and died at her home, Saturday afternoon and was buried Sunday afternoon.

DEFENSE TRIES TO ESTABLISH ALIBI HENRY STEVENS

Witnesses in Hall- Mills Case Testify Stevens Was Not in New Brunswick

Courthouse, Somerville, N. J., Nov. 22.—(INS)—Mrs. Anna Evans, who was cook in the home of Henry Stevens at Lavallete, N. J., was called to the stand as the first witness when the Hall-Mills murder trial was resumed today.

She testified that on the evening of Thursday, Sept. 14, 1922, the night the murders occurred she got supper for Henry Stevens. Mrs. Stevens was away in New York.

"Was Henry Stevens present?" she was asked.

"He was," she said.

Stevens, on the stand in his own defense Saturday had testified that he was in Lavallete, 50 miles from the scene of the murder of Edward W. Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills on the night of Sept. 14, 1922.

Price testified he remembered this because Henry's name was connected with the crime in the week following.

Simpson asked Price if he spoke to Stevens that night on the beach. The witness said no. Did he know Stevens? Yes, quite well.

Price admitted about a week before Stevens was arrested, he went to him and told him he remembered seeing him in Lavallete the night of the murder.

Mrs. Arthur Applegate, wife of a fisherman at Lavallete was then called.

She testified that on the night of Sept. 14, 1922, Henry Stevens went fishing with her husband about seven in the evening.

"I saw Henry Stevens at 10 o'clock that same night," she added.

Arthur Applegate her husband, testified that Henry Stevens was on the beach on the night of Sept. 14, 1922. He (Applegate) had some trouble catching fish that evening and Stevens gave him a "lucky hook."

John Plard testified he was in Lavallete on Sept. 14, 1922. He said he saw Henry Stevens fishing on the beach about seven o'clock that evening.

He said he saw him the next day, too, between 7:15 and 7:30 as he (Plard) was catching a train for Philadelphia to undergo an operation.

Willie Stevens positively will take the witness stand, reports to the contrary notwithstanding. It was announced by the defense a few minutes before court opened this morning.

The prosecutor asked her what time she saw Stevens Friday morning.

"About 9 o'clock—he was in his room."

Mrs. Marie Demarest, a witness for the State, has testified Stevens was in New Brunswick this particular Friday morning.

Simpson asked Mrs. Erason if she had been in hiding since August, this year. The witness said that she didn't know anything about that but she was away sick for two weeks.

Howard Price was called. He was in the paint business in Philadelphia, and had a summer home in Lavallete.

Price testified that on the night of Sept. 14, 1922, he saw Henry Stevens on the beach at Lavallete at 9:55 p. m.

Probably the best witnesses for Stevens during the forenoon were Arthur Applegate, a carpenter, and his wife, Mrs. Marie Applegate, who testified that Stevens weighed a six pound blue fish for Applegate on the beach at Lavallete at about dusk on the evening of Sept. 14, 1922 and that they saw him on the beach as late as 10:35 when they said good night to him as they were going home.

(The time of the murders in De Russay's Lane has been fixed at 10:20 p. m.)

Although Simpson confused Applegate under cross examination he couldn't make him change his story. Simpson tried to show that Applegate had sworn before the grand jury last August that Stevens weighed the fish on Friday night, not Thursday night.

The Red Cross drive, under the auspices of the Pitt County Post of the American Legion, reported at noon today that the quota was more than half raised. COUNTRY WILL HAVE COTTON CROP 18,399,000 BALES

Census Bureau Re- ports Yield This Year as 186.3 Pounds Per Acre Compared With 167.2 Last Year

Washington, Nov. 22.—(INS)—The United States will have a cotton crop of 18,399,000 bales of 500 pounds gross weight, the crop reporting board of the Department of Agriculture announced today. The estimate was based on reports up to Nov. 14. The yield per acre will be 186.3 pounds, as compared with 167.2 pounds last year.

The Census Bureau announced that 12,953,798 running bales, counting round as half bales, had been ginned from the 1926 crop prior to Nov. 14, compared with 12,308,352 bales for 1925. The final total ginnings for the season will depend upon whether the various influences, affecting the harvesting of the portion of the crop still in the field, will be more or less favorable than usual.

The indicated crop in the important states is larger than for November 1, in North Carolina, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas; in South Carolina and Alabama it was less, while in Georgia and Tennessee it was the same.

The average cost of picking this year's crop was given at $1.11 per hundred pounds of seed cotton—less than the $1.27 of last year and the $1.25 of 1924.

Total reduction of cotton in foreign countries, the Department announced, will probably be some what less than last year. A decrease was reported in Egypt where an estimated crop of 417,000 bales for this year is compared with the 1,629,000-bale reduction of last year.

North Carolina is in sixth place with an estimated yield of 1,300,000 bales.

VETERAN EDITOR DIES SUDDENLY MEMPHIS TODAY

Publisher of Commer- cial Appeal Drops Dead At His Desk This Morning

Memphis, Tenn., Nov. 22.—(INS)—Death today claimed Charles Patrick Joseph Mooney, one of the leading newspaper figures in the South.

Mooney was stricken with apoplexy on the eve of launching a new afternoon newspaper in Memphis. On December 1, he planned to start publication of the Evening Appeal as the afternoon edition of his more widely known Commercial Appeal, of which he was president and editor.

Coming to his office over the protests of his wife, who claimed he had been suffering the past few days from influenza, Mooney was seized with a fainting spell while seated at his desk and soon passed away.

A leading Democrat, Mooney was a delegate to the Democratic National Convention in Baltimore in 1912. He served as a director of the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis, director of the Red Cross and was trustee of the University of Tennessee and other schools. Mooney started his newspaper career as a reporter on the old Avalanche in Memphis. Going to New York he worked for a time on the old New York Daily News, and then entered the employ of William Randolph Hearst, first as managing editor and editorial writer of the New York American from 1903 to 1905 and then as managing editor of the Chicago Examiner from 1905 to 1908.

Born in Bardonia, Ky., September 15, 1865, he graduated from St. Mary's College, Kentucky, and at the age of 14 learned telegraphy. He soon abandoned this, however, to teach school for two years in Kentucky. In 1891 he married Corinne G. O'Connor of Pine Bluff, Arkansas.

He became managing editor of the Commercial Appeal in 1908, and later was made president and editor.

Mooney is survived by his wife and a son, C. P. J. Mooney, Jr., a member of the Tennessee General Assembly.

FORMER HUSBAND PEGGY JOYCE, WEDS

Chicago, Nov. 22.—(INS)—James Stanley Joyce, millionaire Chicago lumberman and ex-husband of Peggy Hopkins Joyce, has taken another plunge into the sea of matrimony. It was learned today. He was married quietly on Saturday night at the home of his mother here. His bride was formerly Mrs. R. N. Vall, of New York City.

Lloyd George Worries.
Lillith by Dusk.
Miracles Necessary.
Marianne a Strain.

(By Arthur Brisbane)

Lloyd George is worried about everything. Mussolini's treatment of Germans in the Rydell, annexed to Italy, will cause war between Germany and Italy and embroil all Europe.

Russia is the great problem, and more intelligent than our bankers that bought Kerensky's Russian bonds, Lloyd George says the danger will come not from Bolshevism, but from the irresistible return of Russia to Czarist Imperialism.

All nations should forgive all their debts, England included, says Lloyd George, but he fears the recent United States election will prevent that. He does not mention the fact that everybody owes us, whereas we owe nobody.

What Lloyd George calls "a general jubilee which would wipe out all international debts," simply means Europe saying to Uncle Sam "You free us of debt and you pay the piper."

Frank A. Simmonds, says "America is looked upon in Europe as the common peril." Europe feels that we got all the profit out of the war, Europe got nothing. We are to live rich and happy. Europe is to worry. Europe ought to remember that Europe started the war, as she will start others probably.

Men and nations that choose to cut each other's throats, have no right to hate, though they may envy. A nation or individual that stays outside the throat cutting, American got in part way, but not all the way, luckily.

George Sterling California poet, who committed suicide at 37 wrote "I am grown weary of permitted things," and adds, "rather by dusk for Lillith would I wait etc."

The trouble with this age is weariness, of "permitted things." And the trouble is weary of poets.

The pig is not confined to its pen, the cow of her pasture, the young man of his job, some young girls of decency and restraint. However the "permitted things" will continue to rule.

The pig is better off in his pen, the cow in her pasture, the man at his job, the girl with chaperone and the fifty seven year old poet as far away as possible from Lillith by dusk.

The Rev. Dr. Rainsford, tells a gathering of his former parishioners, "We are gradually giving up belief in God who believed Himself by reversing His own natural order and working miracles."

That means gradually giving up religion, of which hell, miracles, and reversing natural laws are an (Continued on page six)

FALL AND DOHENY OTTO WOOD, ARCH TRIAL GETS UNDER CRIMINAL, ESCAPES WAY WASHINGTON FROM STATE PEN.

Former Secretary of Interior and Multi- Millionaire Oil Man Face Charges De- fraud Government

Washington, Nov. 22.—(INS)—A jury to decide the fate of Albert B. Fall, ex-Secretary of the Interior, and Edward L. Doheny, multi-millionaire oil magnate charged with conspiracy to defraud the government out of its oil reserves, was obtained this afternoon.

The celerity with which the jury box was filled caused some surprise, as it had been freely predicted that selecting twelve men satisfactory alike to the government and the defense's array of legal talent would be a long and arduous task.

Washington, Nov. 22.—(INS)—A four-year-old trial of legal fencing ended soon after 10 o'clock this morning in the small, drab courtroom of Justice Hoehlingas. Albert B. Fall and Edward L. Doheny, both grey-haired, but nationally known, went on trial on charges of conspiracy to defraud the government out of its naval oil reserve.

A small but curious crowd was present when the gavel rapped for order at 10:05 a. m.

Fall and Doheny, ventral figures in the famous case, sat close together, flanked on either side by one of the greatest array of legal talent ever gathered in a Washington court. Two tables, running half the length of the room, were necessary for the lawyers.

There were no flourishes or dramatics attending the opening of the case.

District Attorney Peyton Gordon explained to the jury panel the nature of the case, and then began the laborious task of getting a jury.

At the outset, the defense showed that it intends to do a very careful about possible prejudices on the part of jurors. Doheny is a Catholic and the defense does not want any Klansmen on the jury.

Paul Adams, a restaurant proprietor was the first member of the panel called.

Frank Hogan, chief counsel for Doheny, did the questioning. He immediately took cognizance of the stories appearing in local papers to the effect that families and associates of prospective jurors had been approached concerning the business, religious and fraternal connections of the panel members.

Government attorneys also questioned the veniremen, but their questions did not go so deeply into possible prejudices as those of the defense attorneys.

Adams was tentatively accepted after Hogan had inquired as to whether he had read certain books, editorials, or had listened to one of Senator Thomas J. Walsh's radio speeches. Walsh was the Senatorial prosecutor of the oil cases.

Henry D. Byers, a driver for the American Express company, was next called and was tentatively accepted after going through the same line of questioning. Then came Thomas R. Carey, a negro bricklayer. The first three decided having any prejudices and apparently passed the scrutinizing test of both defense and prosecution.

George Cobb, a railway clerk, was next. He said no one had approached his family concerning his fraternal affiliations or business affairs.

More than seventy government witnesses, including former high federal officials, senators and nationally known figures, will be called as soon as the jury has been selected. It is expected that the trial will last until the first of the year.

Today's trial is an outgrowth of the investigation launched three years ago by Senator Walsh, Democrat of Montana, into the Teapot Dome oil leases. Walsh brought out that Doheny had made an unsecured loan of $100,000 to Fall, shortly before the signing of the Pitt Mills leases. This money having been conveyed to the ex-cabinet officer by Doheny's son in cash. The demand note on the loan was torn in half, Doheny retaining one (Continued on page eight)

Two Prison Guards "Fired" As Result of Escape of Notorious Bandit - Murderer- Author

Raleigh, Nov. 22.—(INS)—Two state prison guards today were fired as a result of the sensational escape this morning of Otto Wood, murderer-bandit-author.

A reward of $250 was offered by and his brother, were changing posts when the bad man made his daybreak getaway, prison officials said this afternoon.

Wood's escape was due to gross negligence and carelessness, prison officials said in dismissing the two guards.

Prison authorities said that they believed the gate of the prison was left open while the two guards were changing posts early this morning.

A reward of $250 was offered by the State for Wood's recapture this afternoon.

In addition to this, officers in every large city of the state and in all surrounding towns, have been asked to aid in the man-hunt.

One thousand circulars, offering the reward and giving a minute description of the convict, are being mailed from the state prison this afternoon all over the country.

Prison authorities said that they were certain in which direction Wood fled after his escape, extended a dragnet over a radius of 50 miles. The time of Wood's escape has been definitely ascertained, at 6 o'clock this morning, prison officials announced.

State prison forces are being mobilized to capture the Greenville-born desperado who was serving a term of from 22-42 to 30 years for the slaying of A. W. Kaplan, a postmaster several years ago.

Wood until recently had been kept in solitary confinement. Superintendent George Ross Pou vigorously protested against the change when the convict was allowed more freedom.

Wood gained the spotlight a few months ago with the publication of his autobiography, "The True Story of My Life," which was printed by a Raleigh concern and was distributed for fifty cents by Wood himself from his prison cell. The volume already has enjoyed a sale of about 500 copies.

The bandit-slayer wrote the story of his life "to let the public judge for itself whether or not I am a desperate character, as I have been pictured by the newspapers" and "to help some fallen mortal lead a better life."

"I have never been guilty of murder and bribery as the newspapers claim," Wood said just before his daring escape. "There is no man in the world who values human life higher than I do."

In a statement issued today from his home at Wadesboro, James A. Leak, chairman of the State Prison Board of Directors, publicly absolved Superintendent Pou and Chief Clerk Love of any responsibility in connection with the escape of the state's most notorious "bad man" and arch jail-breaker.

After Wood's escape and subsequent recapture one year ago, Superintendent Pou directly the convict placed in solitary confinement to prevent another such occurrence. This was done, but in September he was released by the Board of Directors over the vigorous protest of Superintendent Pou, chairman Leak, declared.

The prisoner then was given the freedom of the yard, Leak said, and was assigned to boiler room where it was believed he could be better guarded.

REIDSVILLE SUFFERS FIRE LOSS EARLY TODAY

Reidsville, Nov. 22.—(INS)—Damage estimated between $25,000 and $25,000 was caused here early today by fire which destroyed the structure occupied by the Reidsville Motor Company.

Alvis Daniel, manager and part owner of the concern, narrowly escaped with his life when he was trapped in a rear room of the building. Heroic work by firemen, finally resulted in his rescue. The loss was partially covered by insurance.

Daily News Letter

Consul of Staff Correspondents at World Centers of Population.

Moscow, Nov. 20.—(INS)—“Americanization” of Russia is proceeding apace. The Commissariat of Transport and Communications, having changed the formula used by the girls in the telephone central, for addressing customers, claims that by this bit of “Fordism” it has saved $80,000 a year.

Formerly a person gave central the number desired, she replied, “I’ve rung,” and then waited for the customer to say “thank you,” before completing the connection. Now central merely says “ready,” and completes the connection without waiting for the expression of thanks. The time saved amounts to the working time of about 200 girls for a year, according to the Commissariat.

All Moscow is laughing at the Soviet rubber trust, “Rezina.” Last year it made itself ridiculous by shipping an immense quantity of “galoshes” to Vienna, where no customers awaited them and whence they had to be re-shipped to Moscow. This year it has beaten its record.

Turkish merchants in Constantinople sent the rubber company an order for galoshes, specifying extra deep heels and thick soles. The trust immediately shipped 150 boxes, but when the Turks opened them they discovered ordinary Russian galoshes with shallow heels and thin soles. They rejected the order, and telegraphed the trust to send no more.

Ignoring the telegram, the trust continued to ship galoshes to Constantinople until it had sent 88,000 pairs. The Turks refuse to accept a single pair. Meanwhile the local market is short on galoshes, and the 88,000 pair probably will not reach Moscow on their return trip until the spring.

Furs may be cheaper for American buyers, who take a large part of the fur, exported from Russia, if the plans of the Government Trading Board are put into practice. The Board has projected a chain of fur farms on islands in the North Pacific and Arctic oceans.

Blue polar foxes and beavers, species which yield the most expensive furs, will be used to stock the farms. One set of farms will be located on the Commander Islands in the North Pacific, just opposite Alaska, and another set on Kolozuev Islands.

The American buffalo, or bison, which for so many years was heralded as “nearly extinct,” and mourned as “nearly extinct,” but which has recently staged a come back on government reservations, has an unhappy counterpart in the Caucasian buffaloes. This animal, once as numerous in Central Asia as the American bison on its western plains, now has been reduced to eleven head.

A reservation of 200,000 desyatins has been created for the lucky eleven in the northern Caucasus, and the government hopes that by tender care it may prevent the species from dying out.

WESTERN STATES TO OFFER GREAT NEW COAL FIELDS

Pittsburgh, Nov. 22.—(INS)—When the coal supply of the Eastern States is exhausted, the United States will have two great undeveloped coal fields in the West to draw upon. M. R. Campbell, of the U. S. Geological Survey, told the International Conference on Bituminous Coal here.

Wyoming, Montana, the Dakota, and Colorado can produce millions of tons of semi-bituminous coal, according to Campbell. The Western coal is of an inferior quality because it comes from a younger field, but it will supply this country for many years after Eastern coal is exhausted, he said.

Hoboes of All States At Convention

Omaha, Neb., Nov. 20.—(INS)—The annual convention of the International Brotherhood Welfare Association of Migratory and Casual Workers is a thing of the past here in Omaha, but memories of it will remain in the minds of the local populace long after the speech of the Rotary Club speaker or the Kiwanian entertainer have been forgotten. The I. B. W. A. M. C. W. in case you don't know, is the national association of tramps and hoboes.

John James Earl, How, Chicago, millionaire president of the organization, presiding, sessions were held here for four days. More than a hundred members in good standing attended, coming from all sections of the country. Following adjournment most of them took freight trains going south, for the weather already was chilly, and the “hoboes” as a body move south in the winter and return north in May.

Convention sessions were, as a rule, held in the afternoon and at night. It seems hoboes don't like to be aroused early, and by common assent all sessions were timed so that no one's slumbers would be disturbed in the forenoon.

To some the idea of hoboes holding a convention may seem absurd, but for the membership it is of as much importance as any service club gathering. The organization has national officers and local chapters. At the recent sessions world economies were discussed, and the present unsettled conditions of Russia were debated. However, the most important session had to do with ways and means of procuring better food while on the move. Instructions also were given to the younger members on the best method of approaching a woman in obtaining “lifts” from motorists. Riding “side door Pullmans” was not taken up. Each member is presumed to be an adept at this pastime, and if he isn't he doesn't mention the matter to his betters.

The question of women hoboes also stirred the assemblage. For the migratory workers say they find the female invading their heretofore sacred precincts in ever increasing numbers.

Efforts of a committee, named by President How, to invite Queen Marie, who visited Omaha while the convention was in session, to join the hoboes and partake of “mulligan” with them failed when the committee got lost in the crush at the station. It was declared by the convention that Marie was entitled to membership for a “hobo” is a person who goes from place to place without paying fare, and that's what the Queen is doing.

Members who arrived late for the opening of the convention declared bad freight train connections were responsible.

The presence of turkeys in abundance on the market that Thanksgiving is at county and section have much to be thankful for this season, and it is to be hoped that they will fittingly observe the day.

IS PRECIOUS TIME LOST?

Declaring that precious time is being lost by delay in the efforts to secure the necessary reduction of cotton acreage next year and urging that definite steps to gain this end be pushed as rapidly as possible, the News and Observer says:

"When the slump in the price of cotton hit the south between the eyes some weeks ago, there was an instant and universal feeling that action must be taken to secure an advance of money to enable farmers desiring it to hold four million bales of cotton off the market and reduce the crop next year 25 per cent. That feeling found expression in the Memphis Convention.

"Legislation previously enacted had made money available for loans on cotton, the rate to co-operative and banking associations under certain regulations be-4-1-2 per cent. The matter of financing settled happily, the question of reduction of the acreage by twenty-five per cent struck a snag in North Carolina. While other states began the campaign of signing up a reduction the North Carolina authorities did nothing until last Friday, though the county agents and others might have put in four weeks in the good weather securing agreements of reduction of acreage. And even now the program seems to be 'as soon as blanks can be prepared.'
It is expected that the county agents will get 1,000 signed and bring them to Raleigh at a future meeting on December 6th, and, after they have been examined 'a more intensive campaign will be put on after that date.'
Even then the sign up will 'contain a suggested diversification program.' It is stated that if 1,000 farmers indicate diversification that will automatically result in a decrease of 30 per cent in land devoted to cotton. It is added in the statement given out: 'There will be no campaign to secure signature pledges for a straight reduction of cotton acreage.'

This is a straight out refusal to adopt the Memphis plan. We do not think it wise. We think much precious time has been lost, the momentum of Southern solidarity has been thrown away, and sometime after December 6th there is to be 'an intensive campaign.' But for what? If the apparently complicated reports from 1,000 farmers, disclose that diversification will reduce thirty per cent, then the plan is to be presented in the succeeding months to all the farmers. If they agree to such diversification, the acreage reduction will be secured without asking anybody to sign up to reduce cotton acreage.

The committee evidently thinks this plan will work.
It is to be hoped they are right, but in our judgment two mistakes have been made and precious time lost. A simple direct sign up to reduce the cotton acreage is easily understood.
Every small farmer knows what that means. He is ready to reduce as a matter of co-operation and as a business necessity. But the real appeal is not to the small farmer. Already many of them have raised their own supplies, or a good portion of them. They do their own work, they make hog and hominy. Those who do not do so now see the necessity.

What is the real appeal?
It is to the owners of large farms which have been devoted almost exclusively to the cultivation of cotton by tenants or hired help. On too many of these there is an absence of real diversification and too little is grown for home consumption. This is particularly true of large farms on which the owner does not live. He wants a money crop. Cotton is the money crop. The chief thought is to make all the cotton possible. On such farms there are few cows, not enough poultry or vegetable gardens, not enough potatoes and truck which can feed the family with the sale of surplus. It is so much easier for the owner to get his rent in cotton and therefore, too, may take little interest in diversification.

Under the plan of getting information from 1,000 farmers, with no special appeal to reduce cotton acreage, what will be the result? To the contention that there be a horizontal cut, the answer is, of course, that those farmers who have already reduced acreage before it was requested or deemed necessary, should not be asked to make further reduction. But as to all others, self protection and necessary solidarity should impel them to make the reduction. Inasmuch therefore, as only 1,000 farmers are to report by December 1st, these reports should be by the owners of large farms if these 1,000 reports are to be of value at the December meeting.

"The News and Observer believed that the week after the Memphis meeting the Governor, president of State College with the agencies under his direction, and the Commissioner of Agriculture with all the forces in that department should have started out to secure an assurance of a reduction of 25 per cent of the crop. It would have been easier than when the enthusiasm was on. We fear time has been lost on the program now belatedly embarked upon will be more difficult. We also fear the reports outlined are too complicated for this acreage reduction campaign. However it is gratifying at last North Carolina has 'got into the game,' and all farmers, bankers, merchants and others should cooperate heartily in the plan that has been adopted. No plan is any good unless it has impetus behind it, and any good plan will work if there is co-operation and active effort to make it a success.

"All together!"

SPAIN'S EFFORT TO FORM NEW LEAGUE FAILS

Ibero-American Plan of Spanish Speaking Nations is Dropped; New World Republics Do Not Show Disposition to Join the Move

Madrid, Nov. 22.—(INS)—Spain's initial attempt at laying the foundation for an Ibero-American League of Nations, to replace the Geneva organization insofar as Spanish and Portuguese speaking countries are concerned, has failed.

The convocation of the Ibero-American Aeronautical Congress in Madrid was just such an attempt and it did not achieve the ends Spanish statesmen had hoped.

Since Spain decided to withdraw from the League of Nations she has embarked on an entirely new international policy.

First intimation of this new direction in her foreign policy was given when the King made his famous speech in La Hamida, when he welcomed the Transatlantic flyers there last spring. He announced his very definite desire to form a League of Ibero-American nations, in opposition to Geneva, intimating that Spain and the New World had little to hope from Geneva, but much to gain by forming their own Society of Nations.

When Spain retired from the League of Nations she was disappointed that none of the South American Republics followed her example. Then the Spanish government conceived the idea of concluding accord and conventions dealing with all subjects for which the League itself was created. This was an attempt to replace the functions of the League little by little and build up competition which would ultimately be unified into another organization in competition with the League.

Taking advantage of Major Franco's successful flight to Buenos Aires and heartily backed by Argentina, the Spanish government organized the Ibero-American Aeronautical Congress. One of the chief aims of the Congress was to work out the project of an Ibero-American Aeronautical Convention and a permanent commission entitled Ibero-American Commission of Aerial Navigation to function on parallel lines with the Commission created by the International Aerial Navigation Convention of Paris in 1919. The latter commission is dependent upon the League of Nations and is called Ciana by contraction. The commission created by the Madrid Congress is called Ciana.

Optimists at the Madrid Congress were convinced they would witness Ciana functioning in opposition and competition with Ciana. Ciana had already suffered a severe attack in a speech made by Minister of Justice Galo Ponte at the opening of the Courts of Justice the fifteenth of last September. Galo Ponte charged that Ciana was manipulated by former allies for their own benefit and at the expense of neutral countries. Copies of this speech were circulated among the delegates to the Madrid Congress.

Four of the countries represented at the Madrid Congress—Portugal, Chile, Uruguay and Brazil, were also represented at the Paris Congress. Brazil demanded the insertion in the Madrid Convention of a clause providing that member nations could continue to support the Paris Convention and specifying that the two conventions were not incompatible.

This attitude was enthusiastically supported and seconded by Uruguay, obliging the Congress to insert the reservations demanded. All other matters discussed were of secondary importance.

In the closing session of the Congress Minister of Foreign Affairs Yankas announced that his government would continue to call together the representatives of Ibero-American nations for discussion of other matters of international interest.

He intimated plainly that it is Spain's intention to continue her newly adopted policy of Ibero-American rapprochement.

SPAIN'S STEEL EMBARGO BRINGS BRITISH REPRISAL

London, Nov. 22.—(INS)—Strong British retaliatory action against Spain is being urged by leading British industrialists because of the Spanish imposition of an embargo on steel. The new Spanish tariff practically shuts out Britain's Lither to large exports of fine steel. Leading commercial institutions have therefore urged the British Government to give notice to terminate the Anglo-Spanish Commercial Treaty which expires on April 23, 1927.

In asking that effective steps should be taken to protect British industries, the Federation of British Industries and allied bodies say "Great Britain is Spain's best market, and as Spain is not the only source of supply for the products which she sends here firm action is desirable, which would not be lost on other countries similarly disposed to ignore British industries."

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified crocodile that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, crocodile is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the most effective for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to crocodile, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the crocodile goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

ARCTIC DOG RACE CHAMPION ARRIVES IN UNITED STATES

Seattle, Nov. 22.—(INS)—Leonhard Seppala, champion dog racer of the Arctic, and who won considerable fame during Nome's diphtheria epidemic, has arrived in Seattle with 42 dogs and three sleds which he plans to use in dog team races in the United States, and Canada this winter.

Seppala will enter his teams in the La Pas, Manitoba classic, and in the American derby staged annually at Ashland, Idaho, according to present plans. If Tex Rickard stages his proposed race from Canada to New York, Seppala's teams are expected to be among the entries.

One of the dogs brought here by Seppala was "Togo" lead dog of the famous team who, led his master through a blinding blizzard for three hours over a distance of 150 miles, saved Nome from its tragic diphtheria epidemic early in 1925. "Togo" is now ten years old and is far from the canine motion picture hero in appearance—just a diminutive mottled colored dog, similar to the mongrel seen in the United States.

COAL STRIKE IN ENGLAND KEEPS TRADE NERVOUS

Many Industries Find it Difficult to Decide On Future Programs

Washington, Nov. 19. — (INS) — The British industrial, commercial and financial position continues in an unsettled state, owing to the prolonged coal dispute according to Commercial Attache William L. Cooper, of London.

"It is surprising, however," he added, "that industrial production and sales activities maintain their levels in view of the difficulties obtaining—especially the increased costs of coal, raw materials and freights."

"There is a fear that costs may go substantially higher; there is a possibility of a higher bank rate, and consequently an advance in credit terms in the face of many heavy bank overdrafts."

Many manufacturers are finding it difficult to decide whether it would be wise to shut down now or to continue to produce at a loss and so hold market, according to Cooper.

In the meantime, orders for future delivery and contracts are piling up.

According to the commerce department information the adverse trade balance was 45,000,000 pounds sterling greater the first nine months of 1926 than in the same period last year. On the other hand, new foreign loan issues at the end of September were 31,000,000 pounds greater and earnings on shipping, tin and rubber investments were larger.

These additional incomes, however, when added to other earnings on services, are not expected to be sufficient to make the year's business balance favorably according to Louis Domeratzky, chief of the division of regional information of the commerce department.

"Coal production is now in excess of 1,000,000 tons weekly, but supplies are irregular and including imports, they total only one-half of normal requirements, where prices are about double the pre-strike period," Domeratzky said.

"An increasing demand for coal as a result of colder weather is eliciting a greater interest on the part of the householders. An intensive campaign by the Miners' Executive Committee to prevent the return of men continues. There were about 270,000 of them at work on October 29. This number represents about 24 per cent of the total number of British coal miners."

Most of the miners resuming output are situated inland and so with the exception of nearby plants, industrial requirements are dependent upon imported coal, according to the survey.

The official permit system for coal purchases has been reimposed. New regulations, effective November 5, increased the ration of domestic coal for household use from 112 pounds to 224 pounds per fortnight. Coke distribution restrictions limit purchasers to four hundred weights a fortnight. Although both of these fuels may be bought within these limitations, extreme economy in consumption is urged.

TEST NEW GLOBES TO REPLACE KLEIG LIGHTS

Universal City, Cal., Nov. 20. — (INS) — Powerful incandescent electric light globes, burning 10,000 to 30,000 watts, may replace traditional Kleig lights for movie set illumination if experiments now being made here by General Electric Co., engineers are successful.

First tests have been satisfactory, it was learned, and sponsors of the experiment hope that the old type of carbon lighting will be eliminated.

The new lighting system would junk thousands of dollars worth of electrical equipment in the various movie studios, but the saving in time was thought valuable enough to offset this loss. The new lights measure from 12 to 14 inches in diameter and have tungsten filaments in nitrogen gas.

SHERIFF'S ASSAILANT IS STILL AT LARGE

Kingstree, S. C., Nov. 22. — (INS) — Search throughout the Eastern lowlands of South Carolina today had failed to reveal any trace of Harold Wheeler, 26, sought for the shooting of Sheriff H. G. Gamble.

Officers still kept a vigil near Wheeler's home in the belief that he would return sooner or later. Wheeler was released from the State Insane Asylum a few months ago.

Meantime, the condition of Sheriff Gamble, picturesque Williamsburg county dry rider, was reported grave today. Hospital attendants said his recovery was "doubtful."

FIANCEE MUST RETURN RING

Richmond, Va., Nov. 22. — (INS) — Not only is it proper for fiancées to return the ring when they break off the engagement, but, as a matter of law, it is a requirement, the Virginia Court of Appeals held, in effect today.

Charging disloyalty, Miss Emma C. Smith, pretty typist, "broke off" with Carroll D. Hagan, local attorney, her former employer. She wanted to keep the $800 diamond ring, saying that she had spent that amount on her trousseau. Hagan sued.

The equity court held Hagan should have the ring. Miss Smith appealed but lost her case today.

TWO KILLED AND ANOTHER MAY DIE RESULT OF SHOOTING

BBridgeton, N. J., Nov. 22. — (INS) — Two persons were shot and killed and a third possibly fatally injured here today by Linwood Ware, 22, according to police.

The dead are Mr. and Mrs. William Gandy, each 65, who boarded with Ware's parents. Mrs. Madeleine Maxwell, 26, Ware's sister, was the third victim. She is not expected to live. The youth used an automatic pistol.

The three were at breakfast when young Ware entered, carrying the pistol. Without a word of warning he started shooting, and then ran from the house, police stated. He was arrested without a struggle a block away.

Says Condition King Ferdinand Is Precarious

Bucharest, Nov. 22. — (INS) — King Ferdinand's condition is precarious and Dr. Lescure, a French specialist, has been called in to determine whether an operation is necessary, according to the newspaper Cuventul.

The Cuventul states that it makes this announcement with official permission.

Meanwhile, political factions are engaging in maneuvers, one of the most important of which is a movement to check the efforts to bring about the return of Prince Carol and his restoration.

SECOND SUICIDE FROM MONUMENT TOP IN THREE DAYS

Washington, Nov. 22. — (INS) — Another man committed suicide here today by leaping from the top of the Washington Monument.

Donnie Ward, 35, a negro, was today's victim. He squeezed thru the protecting bars on the East side of the 555-foot shaft and plunged into space. His hurtling body narrowly missed a guard at the bottom of the monument.

Today's suicide was the second in three days, from the top of the monument. Henry C. Anderson, a war veteran, having leaped on Saturday.

'Peaches' Browning Awarded $300.00 Weekly Alimony

White Plains, N. Y., Nov. 22. — (INS) — Mrs. Frances 'Peaches' Browning, today was granted $300 weekly alimony and $8,500 counsel fees pending trial of her millionaire husband's suit for separation.

Supreme Court Justice, Morchauser in announcing his decision stated that the counsel fees should be paid within ten days of service of notice on Browning. 'Peaches' had asked for $4,000 monthly alimony and $25,000 counsel fees.

Browning originally brought a counter-suit for separation, in White Plains, and the two actions were consolidated so that they may be tried together.

THREE RADIO STATIONS ARE OPENED IN ARABIA

Jerusalem, Nov. 22. — (INS) — Progress in Arabia is symbolized by the opening-up of radio communications. There are at present three radio stations on the Arabian Peninsula, and they are connected with the world capitals. The first station is at Medina, the second Holy City of Meidaz, the third at Al-Tai the summer resort, and the fourth is in Ibn Sand's seaport of Jeddah.

Mecra has its own telephone and radio station, which relays news from all parts of Europe to Moslems in the Holy City of Islam.

EL PASO MAKES EFFORT FOR NEW INDUSTRIES

El Paso, Texas, Nov. 22. — (INS) — Twenty-one El Paso men have pledged $1,000 a year each for a period of five years to a fund to promote the bringing of new industries to this city.

The $105,000 pledged will be used to assist the establishment of industries here which the Chamber of Commerce, with its limited facilities, would be unable to finance.

A committee of fifty enterprising merchants and financial men has been organized within the past few weeks and has sponsored the raising of the money which probably will reach $150,000 within the next few weeks.

Among the first actions of the Committee of Fifty, it was announced, will be the promotion of a project to build a new road from El Paso to the Carlsbad Caverns, near here, and the acquisition of new land for Fort Bliss, the largest cavalry post in the United States.

Harry Hussman, refrigerator magnate of St. Louis and El Paso, who recently acquired valuable properties here, is credited with furnishing the inspiration for the new burst of speed on the part of local men.

Market Report

MARKET LETTER

New York, Nov. 22.—(INS)—Moderate recoveries in prices of the industrial stock favorites, under the stimulus of strong pool support, was the principal feature of the stock market today. The bears were roughly handled in Baldwin Locomotive, U. S. Steel and a few of the specialties, but speculative confidence on the whole underwent little or no change and public participation in the market was negligible.

The financial district received cheerfully the government's cotton estimate, adding another 500,000 bales to the probable cotton production for this year, with a corresponding increase in the financial market to be borne by the southern states in storing the excess supply as prices declined only moderately.

Baldwin's 4-point jump to 175, the highest since 1919, was rapid and more spectacular than the steady advance of U. S. Steel to 147 up 2 1/4 points for the day.

The prominent independent steel shares—crucible, remble, Bethlehem, etc., were inclined to follow the lead of U. S. Steel to the north.

price levels. The copper hung back. Sugars were higher, American wheat led the procession, with the Cuban wheat participating. All stocks were generally steady. Some interest was exhibited in St. Paul common and preferred in advance of the 10th sale of the property of the Road at Bait, but the balance of the rail list was unusually quiet, with prices unchanged.

Fall and Doheny Trial Gets Under Way Washington

Washington, Nov. 22.—(INS)—The trial of Fall and Doheny, charged on race rights, got under way today with the signature of the government used for cancellation of the indictment.

tion of the leases, won its case before the U. S. Court of Appeals at San Francisco, and the matter is now pending before the U. S. Supreme Court.

Conducting the conspiracy charge, the defense will allege that the $100,000 loan was not a bribe, but was, in fact, a personal transaction between two life-long friends. Fall and Doheny prospected together in their youth. Also, they will state that the lease and contracts in question actually were made by the Secretary of the Navy in connection with plans made by the Navy Department's only connection was in an advisory capacity under Presidential order. The $100,000, it will be explained, was used to purchase a ranch acreage owned by Fall at Three Rivers, New Mexico, procurement of which was essential if all water rights were to be protected. Doheny volunteered the loan. It will be said, because of friendship and desire to prevent Fall from losing his home.

Fall and Doheny will maintain separate defenses. Thus, it is stated, after two opening and two closing arguments may be presented.

In keeping with the times, a million-dollar defense will be on display. Leading Fall's counsel, William J. Lambert, of Washington, with a reputation of never losing a case in the District of Columbia criminal court. He will be assisted by Harry A. Wise, formerly U. S. District Attorney for New York, and Cook, of Washington, and Ark B. Thompson, of New Mexico.

Doheny's legal talent is comprised of Frank J. Hogan of Washington, Frederick J. Kellogg, of New York, Joseph J. Carter and Harold Baker, of Washington.

Against this imposing array, the government will send in former Senator Alben W. Barkley, of Ohio, and Owen J. Roberts, of Philadelphia, appointed by President Coolidge as special oil counsel; District Attorney Peyton Gordon and all of his assistants; George G. Chandler, of Philadelphia; Frank Larson, of Cleveland; Urie J. Leiser, of Philadelphia; W. L. Combs, of Philadelphia; and Lowell Carpenter and John B. Dempsey, of Cleveland.

Texas Woman to Probably Run for V.-President

Dallas, Texas, Nov. 22.—(INS)—Mrs. Edith Wilkins, of Dallas, may be a candidate for the Vice-Presidency of the United States in 1928.

Mrs. Wilkins has been approached by officials of the National Woman's Party, she says, with a view to having her cast her lot with them.

Promoted for the Texas Democratic gubernatorial nomination, Mrs. Wilkins is one of the pioneer women officeholders of the Lone Star state. She has the distinction of being the first woman legislator to sit in the lower House, as representative from Dallas county in the Thirty-Eighth legislature.

From my experience and observation from many years in the Democratic party, Mr. Wilkins said, I have about come to the conviction that so long as women are in either the Republican or Democratic party, those parties will continue to be dominated, at least to a considerable extent, by the masculine element.

Mrs. Wilkins charged that the two big parties are more concerned with the election of officeholders who could be controlled than with the principles upon which the parties are founded.

Regarding her attitude toward political forces with the National Woman's Party, Mrs. Wilkins said she had not made up her mind yet. Direct political activity by a Woman's Party, however, appeals to her, she says, and if she does decide to cast her lot with such a group it would mean that she probably would be a candidate of that party for a national office in 1928.

San Antonio's "Helen Keller" Becomes Expert Mechanic

San Antonio, Texas, Nov. 22.—(INS)—Automobile housewife and preacher, these are the accomplishments succeeded in by San Antonio's Helen Keller. Fringe Weiner, living illustration of will power who forced herself to accomplish tasks deemed well nigh impossible in view of her handicap.

Her ambition was to follow a career of music. She plays the piano, the saxophone, sings and composes music. A few months ago she borrowed money for carfare and played before several local musicians, they pronounced her work good and promised to aid her.

A little over a month ago she was married to Rev. B. M. Gibson and now she smiles as she goes about helping her husband in his work. Secure in the knowledge that she will now be able to pursue her ambition to study music.

Pennsylvania's Tobacco Industry Makes a Great Stride

Harrisburg, Pa., Nov. 22.—(INS)—Figures on file in the State Department of Agriculture today show that the tobacco industry has experienced more change than any other Pennsylvania farm enterprise in the last half century. Acreage of the crop has been increased five times and the yield per acre has doubled due to improved methods of growing and fertilization.

Figures show that the state this year produced 45,302,000 pounds of tobacco on 33,000 acres.

In 1866, the earliest date for which figures are available, the state produced 4,000,000 pounds of tobacco on 6,200 acres. While tobacco was grown in twelve countries of the state this year, more than 91 per cent of the total crop was produced in Lancaster county.

Discuss Plans to Advertise State

Raleigh, Nov. 22.—(INS)—Efforts toward permanent organization of North Carolinians, Inc., were made here today at the morning session of the association's first annual meeting.

Representatives from more than three score cities and towns over the state were on hand for a free discussion of North Carolina's proposed national advertising campaign.

The opening address was made by Governor McLean, who stressed the importance of the campaign to 'put North Carolina on the map.' Following a series of talks by state leaders, chairman Fred N. Tate, called for an open discussion of the national advertising campaign.

Of the various cities represented at the meeting, a number already have approved the national advertising campaign and have pledged their support. These were represented by full delegations.

The some 300 delegates will remain in session all day. A short recess was taken before the afternoon session.

PAROLE PRISONER TO GIVE OPPORTUNITY TO ATTEND FUNERAL

Raleigh, Nov. 22.—(INS)—Governor McLean today granted a parole to Luther Gardner, Wake county prisoner serving a sentence of two years and three months for forgery. The parole was granted until Tuesday noon in order to permit the prisoner to attend the funeral service of his wife, who will be buried here tomorrow.

The Governor today revoked the parole of Willie Fitzgerald, Buncombe county, sentenced to two years for larceny.

essential part. Raising the dead, casting out devils, and similar achievements, are necessary to impress the primitive mind seeking relief from thought.

With belief in old religion gone, we still should have the Sermon on the Mount, the teachings of Confucius, the solemn meditations of Marcus Aurelius, and the brave philosophy of Epicurus. They supply enough religion for anybody, you might say.

But a working religion, profitable to those that manage it, permanent in its grip on the masses, requires many miracles, and a hell with hot fire. 'No hell, no fear, no faith,' that's the rule with 90 per cent.

Madame Alexandra Kollontai, Bolshevik lady ambassador to Mexico, forbidden to enter the United States territory, lest she should undermine our political and other morals, tells us about marriage. It is a big strain on romance.

Madame Kollontai speaks English, French, Italian, German, Norwegian, as well as Russian. In any of those languages, she will tell you that woman has not enough freedom. She is opposed to 'free love,' but says the new woman does not deny her female nature. She does not dodge life, nor reject earthly joys.

That's putting it mildly. Madame Kollontai, believes in 'a school of love,' and that school requires great efficacy of soul, attentive tenderness and psychological wakefulness.

The woman of today, says this Russian lady, feels that marriage is a shackle even if it is an informal marriage without external bonds.

And the new woman makes more demands on her lover than did the old fashioned woman. She can forgive any slights, even infidelity, which the old fashioned woman could not forgive, but she forgets no slight to her spiritual ego.

It will be hard for the new man to keep up with the new woman. This Madame Kollontai will learn from Balthus, French, German, Italian and Norwegian history, that while marriage may be a big strain on romance, as the wife grows pudgy, and the husband dull, absence of marriage laws creates a greater strain.

Men have been caught, married, signed up, tied down, because the process is absolutely necessary to civilization. The strange thing is that modern women, not men, should attack the marriage institution that, with all its imperfections, is the only hope of women and children.
