MUCH EXPECTED OF CONTEST WORKERS BEFORE SATURDAY

Quiet Opening Day Yesterday Indicates Big Things Before Week is Out

Indications point to this, the third week of The Reflector subscription contest, as being the busiest week of the six weeks drive.

Hardly a worker yesterday darkened the doors of the campaign office, which proves that the majority of the thirteen entrants for the more than $3,000 in automobiles and other prizes are hard at work this week.

Contributors for the $1,505 Studebaker Sedan, Chevrolet Coach and the cash prizes of $200, $75, $50, $40, are urged to keep their names well up on the list of contestants and their standing as published three times a week.

The entry list still remains open for those who would like to enter their names and compete for one of the six prizes or receive a cash commission for their effort.

Dr. Norris, who is on trial for the killing of D. E. Chippis, was ill at his hotel room with tonsillitis, defense attorneys said they did not want to delay the trial and would bring the defendant into court on a stretcher, if necessary.

MILLIONAIRES FIGHT BUILDING HIGH SCHOOL

Stamford, Conn., Jan. 18.—(INS)—Strawberry Hill, bewing home sites of wealthy New Yorkers, was hedged about with restrictions by the city many years ago in order to attract residents of great wealth.

Mrs. Mary Vuono, whose home adjoins the proposed site of the high school, has asked the superior court to prevent erection of the school there, and she wants $35,000 bail because of the trouble the school plans have caused her.

ROTARY HEAD TO VISIT THIS CITY ON TOMORROW

Harry Rogers, President of Rotary International to be Guest of Local Club

Harry Rogers, San Antonio, Texas, president of Rotary International, will be the guest of the local Rotary Club at a luncheon at noon tomorrow.

The president of Rotary International is an active business man whose interests include cotton mills, oil wells, railroads, banks and lumber companies.

Contributors for the $1,505 Studebaker Sedan, Chevrolet Coach and the cash prizes of $200, $75, $50, $40, are urged to keep their names well up on the list of contestants and their standing as published three times a week.

NORRIS TRIAL IS HELD UP TODAY BY HIS ILLNESS

Texas Minister Being Tried on Murder Charge is Seriously Ill at Hotel

Austin, Texas, Jan. 18.—(AP)—The trial of Dr. J. F. Norris was delayed today because of the serious illness of the defendant.

Dr. Norris, who is on trial for the killing of D. E. Chippis, was ill at his hotel room with tonsillitis, defense attorneys said they did not want to delay the trial and would bring the defendant into court on a stretcher, if necessary.

LEAGUE'S WORK INCREASES

Geneva, Jan. 18.—(AP)—With the entry of Germany into the League of Nations, activities at Geneva are steadily increasing with meetings of committees and commissions almost daily.

Well, what crookedness are you accused of, as one newly elected Senator says to another these days when they meet in Washington.

TODAY

The Stage is a Mirror. Less Mexican Strain Success and Age. Paul Rainey's Killing.

New York's District Attorney asks how he can discourage indecent plays swiftly, surely. He probably can't.

There must be a board to decide what is bad. It usually does not agree.

There must be a grand jury to indict. It usually does not agree.

And if you indict, you must get an ordinary jury to convict. It usually does not agree.

Steal a dollar and all agree to put you in jail. Steal a community's sense of decency and it is not quite sure that it has lost anything.

Congo natives eat decayed rhinoceros meat, unpleasant and bad for the health, but you could not convict rhinoceros meat dealers if there were any there.

An indecent stage is a mirror reflecting a considerable part of the public mind. That's the difficulty.

Less strain in our relations with Mexico. Thirty priests are released from Mexican jails and Mexico denies that any priests have been executed.

There is talk of reaching peace by the road of arbitration in Nicaragua and in Mexico.

In Nicaragua, the revolutionary row of Diaz and Sacas would be arbitrated, and in Mexico the oil question—not the right of Mexico to make what laws she pleases but their interpretation as regards American rights already acquired.

The University of Pennsylvania's school of finance and commerce finds great business and industrial organizations in this country controlled by men averaging sixty years of age.

Big business is self-made, the first generation of success, and it takes a lifetime to get ahead of others. None the less, sixty, as the average successful age, is an encouraging sign of longer life.

In the middle ages, when sewers ran through open gutters in the streets, and cemeteries on hill sides drained into drinking wells below, the second biggest city in France possessed not one man or woman past fifty years of age, and three-and-ten was a real limit in antiquity.

Paul Rainey's moving pictures of animal life in Africa provided interesting, valuable education to millions. He is dead, unfortunately, and an Englishman publishes a book foolishly criticizing Rainey's "Slaughter of Game."

The game that Paul Rainey slaughtered ought to be slaughtered, lions, leopards, panthers and other animals, of which he killed many, sufficiently savage to provide the danger that Paul Rainey thoroughly enjoyed.

Every time Rainey killed one of those savage beasts he protected the lives of natives and their children, saved the native live stock, preserved harmless deer and other gentle animals innumerable.

Rainey, an efficient killer of dangerous, savage animals, believed in getting rid of them. Others would like to nurse them along to kill them, a few at a time, for amusement. If in the meanwhile they ate a few natives, why, there would always be plenty of natives.

All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy—perhaps. But Mussolini notices that it also makes Jack a RICH boy, and under his leadership Italy is working with desperate earnestness.

It is not possible to take all the laughter and play from the gay Italian people. But there is a great change. Theatres and cafes are neglected. Hours of work are longer than ever, in a land that was always laborious.

Mussolini will make Italy rich, powerful, a dominating force on the Mediterranean and in Europe if will power can do it.

The question is what will come AFTER Mussolini. He is not immortal, and has many desperately dangerous enemies. He fears them not, but that does not destroy the danger.

Seven years ago the Volstead Act became effective and prohibition began.

On the effects of great changes men usually agree, in the main. All agree that slavery's end was beneficial, that substituting locomotives for stages coaches, sewing

Noted Actor Dies in Flames

Stupified by fear, or overcome by illness, Arnold Daly, the actor, sat in the chair in his New York apartment while fire, starting several floors below, crept up to kill him. Conscious he could have easily escaped through the window.

SITUATION IN MEXICO TODAY IS MORE ACUTE

Catholic Archbishop is Said to be Leading Revolting Army in Guadalajara

Mexico City, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Insisting that the uprising in Mexico is part of the Catholic rebellion, the War Department today said it had been informed that the Catholic Archbishop of Guadalajara under the emblem, "Long Live Christ the King," is personally leading a revolutionary army in the State of Jalisco.

The situation in Jalisco was serious today for the War Department ordered federal reinforcements to proceed to that State. At last accounts the federal forces had killed more than a hundred rebels.

While Jalisco and Durango seem to be the two States where the revolt is most widespread other regions are witnessing battles between revolutionists and government troops.

Samara, Russia, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Eighty persons have been frozen to death in the outlying districts of the government of Samara in the southern part of Russia; 18 others had perished from the cold north of the place while many deaths were reported from isolated villages along the Volga River.

ATTITUDE TOWARD MEXICO PREVENT AMERICAN LOSSES

Washington, Jan. 18.—(AP)—While the Senate and House were renewing debate today on the Nicaraguan-Mexican situation the White House took occasion to be gin to outline the attitude of the administration between Mexico's new land and oil regulations.

Shall American Property Be Taken Without Being Paid For, Asks President.

Mr. Coolidge feels that every step taken by his direction in regard to the new Mexican land laws has been taken with that in mind and for the purpose of preventing confiscation.

CHAPTER ENDS IN POLITICAL BOOK OF MA FERGUSON

Woman Governor of Texas Turns Over Reins to Dan Moody at Noon Today

Austin, Texas, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Twelve o'clock today, marked the end of a chapter in the political book of the Temple, Texas, housewife who became the first woman governor of the Lone Star State.

At noon today Dan Moody, the youthful governor-elect, became governor; Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson became a private citizen, and James E. Ferguson, her husband who has been a private citizen in name only, became a private citizen in fact.

Mrs. Ferguson relinquished the governor's mansion to Mrs. Dan Moody, the new "first lady of Texas," and took up her household duties after one of the most turbulent administrations in Texas history.

Thrown into the political whirl in 1924 when the Texas supreme court ruled her husband ineligible for the governorship because of his impeachment in 1917 for alleged misconduct of state affairs, "Ma" Ferguson became an international figure in the two years she held office.

Ferguson, who had twice been elected governor, placed his wife's name on the ballot immediately after the supreme court's ruling was made known and her campaign became one of vindication for the family name and opposition to the Ku Klux Klan.

She was elected, but opposition to the woman executive early entered in the person of young attorney general, Dan Moody, who eventually was to defeat her. The conflict between Moody and "Jim" Ferguson, who was an omnipresent figure in the executive offices came when Moody held unconstitutional the amnesty measure designed to free Ferguson from the consequences of impeachment.

From then on it was open warfare between them.

Criticism of her pardon policy, attacks on the highway commission, an epidemic of foot and mouth disease near Houston, opposition from leading women who declared Mrs. Ferguson did not represent the suffrage movement, textbook troubles, and many other controversies soon involved the woman governor.

The troubles became acute in the highway controversy. Moody obtained a confessed judgment for $600,000 from the American Road Company for alleged excess profits on state road contracts, and there went up throughout the state a demand for a special legislative session to investigate state departments, especially the highway commission. This demand, later was granted and committee were investigating several departments when the year ended.

Out of the road dispute came Moody's candidacy.

Mrs. Ferguson, in announcing her reelection, against asked for vindication for her husband, cited her record, and asked for the same treatment hitherto accorded all Texas governors—a second term. But she was defeated.

EVOLUTION BILL TO COME UP NEXT WEEK IN ASSEMBLY

Representative Poole Says Measure be Ready for Presentation at That Time

Raleigh, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Tense in expectation of witnessing the beginning of another evolution battle the House of Representatives today harkened to the tap of Speaker Fountain's gavel at 11 a. m. A number of Senators not due to convene until half an hour later, were in the House chamber and a fair crowd was in the rear and in the galleries.

The crowds dwindled, however when it was talked about that the evolution bill would not come up. Representative E. Scott Poole told the Associated Press he would not present the bill today and that it will be early next week before he had it in shape. He said the copy of his original bill had mysteriously disappeared from his desk where he left it over the week-end and he desired to incorporate certain amendments in the new measure before it was brought up.

He emphasized it would not be the same resolution that was defeated in the last session after a battle on the minority committee's report.

Raleigh, Jan. 18.—(AP)—The much heralded Poole anti-evolution bill failed to come up in the House today and that body contented itself with routine during its brief session. The only flare came in the presentation of a bill by Rev. Oscar Haywood, of Montgomery, to tighten the state "Blue Laws."

Representative Burlington obtained rehearing by the Pensions Committee on his statewide bill providing for increased pensions for Confederate Veterans and their widows.

Reverend Haywood, father of the anti-petting bill, introduced last week, in his blue laws bill provides for the closing of all soda fountains and drink stands in the state between ten and one o'clock the accepted church hours, on Sunday. His bill would not affect cigar and periodical stands of drug business outside of the soda fountain.

Representative McDevitt put in a statewide revenue bill to amend the act of 1925 regarding taxes on newspaper and magazine sales. The bill calls for $15 annual tax on wholesale and retail stores selling periodicals in town of less than 5,000 population. The tax rate runs up to $105 according to population. A newsdealer in a town of 20,000 inhabitants and less than 25,000, would have to pay a tax of $75.00.

Representative Little, of Polk county, removed possibility of any more Mexican war clouds over the house for several days. He said his resolution taking issue with "Cal Coolidge's policy" lies on the table.

The Johnson bill, seeking lights on horse drawn vehicles, was referred back to the committee after some debate. The Johnson automobile headlight bill was passed by the House.

The Senate also passed a bill providing for improvement of the birthplace of Andrew Johnson and for celebration of Robert E. Lee's birthday.

Senator Johnson is supporting his bill for lights on animal drawn vehicles, said the measure should be entitled "An act to prevent suicide."

If half of what we hear is true, modern liquor should be called "moonshine."—Arkansas Democrat, Little Rock.

Whiskey Still Captured Today Near Falkland

An early morning raid in Falkland township today resulted in the capture of a moonshine still by Constable Fountain assisted by sheriff's officers. The still apparently had not been in operation for several days but six barrels of beer found nearby was ready for running and it is believed the plant would have been operated again within a few days.

The outfit was all copper and was about 60 gallons capacity.

Bible in Long Hand,
300 Years Old Found in Mayo Ruins

New York, Jan. 15.—(INS)—A Bible, believed to have been written possibly more than six centuries ago, has been found in the Mayo ruins, uncovered some months ago in the jungle of the territory of Quintano Roo, Mexico, where archaeological investigations are now being carried on by Sir Howard Jameson of Glasgow, Scotland, according to Sinclair Crane who has just returned to New York from the scene of the latest historical find. Mr. Crane said that it is the belief of the archaeologists, who uncovered the latest Mayo ruins in Quintano Roo, that the Bible which was written in long hand on parchment paper, was deposited there by a branch of the old Franciscan fathers, some of whom are said to have returned into that region about a century after the landing in Mexico of Fernando Cortez, the Spanish conqueror. Excavation thus far made of what is believed to have been the city of the Mayan Empire in the state of Yucatan, and which work is being carried on by the Carnegie Institute at Washington, said Mr. Crane, “leads the archaeological investigators in charge of the work to the conclusion that the Empire was at its height between 300 and 400 A. D. “These conclusions” I have been informed, “have been confirmed by the finding of several enormous stone monuments bearing Mayan hieroglyphics dating back to the early centuries in question.”

PELISH POLITICIANS ASK END OF “BLACK CABINET”

Warsaw, Jan. 15.—(INS)—The minority politicians of Poland have called to demand that the “Black Cabinet” of the government, which keeps a close tab on government opponents be abolished. The “Black Cabinet” is alleged to employ scores of detectives who continually dog the footsteps of the opposition politicians living in Warsaw and elsewhere. It is claimed that even servants of the watched men are really spies, who are afraid even to speak to old acquaintances. The petitioners are especially incensed at the fact that all their telephone conversations are admittedly overheard and reported. They demand that this disregard of personal liberty be stopped at once.

Ship Blows Up at Baltimore Dock, Killing 3 and Injuring 37

This remarkable picture of the burning of the four-masted schooner Hichelieu was taken a few minutes after an explosion set it afire at the B. & O. pier at Curtis Bay, near Baltimore. Three men were believed killed and thirty-seven injured. It was being loaded with pitch at the time. Efforts to control the fire were futile, and the ship was a total loss.

DECATUR'S HOME RELIC OF OLD CAPITAL SQUARE

Washington, Jan. 15.—(AP)—A bronze tablet on the corner of a plain three-story brick structure with three rows of windows looking out upon Lafayette Square announces to the passer-by that the house was built as a residence for and occupied by Commodore Stephen Decatur. The tablet further records the names of several prominent men of the early capital days who were from time to time guests in the house. It also strikes a note of tragedy, in that it recounts that Decatur died here as the result of a duel fought with Commodore James Barron. The house then was one of the few houses bordering the unkept vacant lot, with a cemetery in one corner and a scrubby apple orchard that is now Lafayette Square.

BRITISH REPORT ON U. S.
CALLED DISAPPOINTING

London, Jan. 15.—(INS)—The report of the Industrial Commission of Inquiry, sent by the British Government to the United States and Canada is likely to be disappointing. In a word, it will set no new light on British industrial problems. The labors of the Commission will apply no magical key to the labor troubles which have beset Britain since the war. The main statement of the report will be to pick the bubble that America and Canada possessed industrial systems superior to those in Britain. The investigation has been particularly pointed and profound, and the report will state that most of the surprises have come from the outside of the United States. Preliminary statements go to show that American industrial magnates have frequently been astonished to find themselves carried out of their depth by men who knew things about their businesses not even known by the greatest of hustlers.

ZIMMER HARP TRIO AT EAST CAROLINA TEACHERS COLLEGE PLAY TO UNUSUALLY LARGE AUDIENCE

On Monday evening at 8 o'clock the Zimmer Harp Trio, with Miss Erna Korn, contralto soloist, appeared in the auditorium of East Carolina Teachers College in a most charming program. The Zimmer Harp Trio has won a nationwide reputation, and its eighth season finds it paramount in its particular field of musical endeavor.

In Greenville, the Trio played to an unusually large audience, and was greeted with an extraordinary enthusiasm from students, teachers and visitors. Miss Nellie Zimmer, solo harpist, and founder of the Zimmer Harp Trio, gave several lovely numbers, "Fantasie" by a great French harp composer, "Old Black Joe," a favorite old Southern melody, and a characteristic number, "The Moodra Shoe Dance," by Rogers. Miss Zimmer was applauded enthusiastically, and her encores were up to the high standard of her regular numbers.

Miss Erna Korn in the contralto solos, "On Wings of Song," by Mendelssohn; "Danny Boy," an appealing Scottish air, "Love's Old Sweet Song," and Schubert's "Erlking," was extremely good. The audience was impressed not only by Miss Korn's extraordinary contralto voice, but also by her charming personality, and she was recalled a number of times.

As an ensemble, the trio, consisting of Miss Nellie Zimmer, solo harpist; Miss Marie Mellman, harpist, and Miss Gladys Craddock, harpist, played several numbers. Of these the one most enthusiastically received was "The Spanish Dance," which concluded the concert of the evening.

The program was out of the ordinary, and the audience was lavish with its praise of the visiting artists.

THE BLOT ON THE SOUTH

With the inauguration this week of John G. Richards as Governor of South Carolina in place of Thomas G. McLeod, and with the meeting immediately afterward of the Criminal Court in Aiken, the State has an opportunity to set an example to the South in the punishment of mob violence. The case which confronts it is flagrant. The lynching of the three Lowmans, one of them a woman, one of them a man whom the judge was about to order acquitted as innocent, was peculiarly cruel. The evidence of the identity of some members of the mob is clear. This evidence is in form to go before the Grand Jury. The hoodlums, the Negro-baiters, the politicians of the Cole-Blease type, are asking, "What are you going to do about it?"—If there are no indictments, the conclusion will be clear that in parts of South Carolina the mob is stronger than the law. The eyes of the South should be upon Aiken and Columbia.

There is no defense for lynching to which an American State can give a moment's tolerance in the second quarter of the twentieth century. The old excuse of the "usual crime" has always been simply bunk. There were 3,224 recorded lynchings in the United States during the thirty-year period ending in 1918. Less than one-fifth of the colored men lynched were even accused of the "usual crime."

This roster of lynchings actually included fifty colored women. The motives for lynching vary. But there can be little doubt that the principal motive in the 4,000 lynchings which are estimated to have occurred in the South since reconstruction is the desire of ignorant and savage white men to strike terror into a subordinate race struggling to rise. When the Negroes become self-assertive, these men decide that a lynching "will take it out of them." That is the conclusion of careful students. Gov. Dorsey of Georgia told a conference which he called in 1921 when the state in two years had witnessed 135 cases of lynching or outrageous assault:

"In some counties the Negro is being driven out as though he were a wild beast. In others he is being held as a slave. In others no Negroes remain. In only two of the 135 cases cited is the 'usual crime' involved."

The Western States have long since suppressed lynching, and there is no reason why the South cannot do as well. In fact it has already shown what it can do. In 1922 there were 61 lynchings, a normal number. But that year the agitation for the Dyer Anti-Lynching Bill reached its height, while the South took alarm also at the continued northward migration of Negroes. The number of lynchings declined to 28 in 1923 and 16 in 1924; it remained at 16 in 1925. This was due to the pressure of public opinion and the wide effect of the repressive measures of such Governors as Dorsey of Georgia and Morrison of North Carolina. Now the totals show a tendency to rise; but what the South has done once it can do again. It needs Sheriffs who will use the hose or, if necessary, the riot gun; county prosecutors who will obtain indictments, and Governors who will spur on the local officers. Georgia had just one indictment to 400 lynching before Gov. Dorsey entered; but the year 1922 saw twenty-two mob participants indicted and four sent to the penitentiary.

Behind the local officers should stand an increasingly public opinion. The press, represented by such newspapers as the Columbia State, Birmingham Age-Herald, the Charlotte Observer and the Atlanta Constitution, has given far more attention to lynching in the last few years than before. Southern denominations, supported by the Federal Council of Churches, have begun a vigorous campaign. County committees on race relations, and even county leagues for law enforcement have increased rapidly. Lynching is to a large extent an evil concentrated in a small number of backward communities. Ouachita Parish in Louisiana is credited with nineteen lynchings in thirty-four years, Caddo Parish with eighteen, Marion county in Florida with thirteen, Hinds county in Mississippi with twelve. An impressive number of counties in even Georgia and Mississippi have never had a single lynching. A vigorous state opinion can make the delinquent counties ashamed of themselves. It is the verdict of The World's special investigator at Aiken that it will be many years before that community, pilloried as it is, permits another lynching.

The worst blot on the South, the worst blot on American civilization, is lynching. Is the state of Rutledge and Hayne and Calhoun going to deal with that blot as it should?—New York World.

Tennessee Lady Had So Little Strength She "Couldn't Get Around." Took Cardui With Benefit.

Gassaway, Tenn.—"I wasn't able to do any of my work, and it seemed like I had so little strength I just couldn't get around," says Mrs. Frank Murphy, who lives near here.

"My mother knew of the good Cardui could do, so she told me to take it. I sent and got a bottle, and seemed like all the time I grew stronger."

"I had been suffering with pains in my sides all the time, and Cardui helped this wonderfully. I needed a tonic for female trouble, and Cardui just fitted the need. I was awfully restless and could not sleep at night, but after taking two bottles of Cardui I could sleep like a top. I got along all right, and I know it was due to Cardui. I can certainly recommend it to women suffering from women's troubles."

"My present health is just fine." Thousands of women have written to tell how Cardui relieved them of pain and suffering, and helped them to improve in health and strength. Cardui is perfectly harmless, being an extract of mild-acting herbs, and contains no dangerous drugs or harmful ingredients. Sold everywhere. NC-174

Colorado to Have New Health Program

COLORADO TO HAVE NEW HEALTH PROGRAM. Denver, Jan. 18.—(INS)—The Colorado Board of Health will ask the state legislature, in session now, for $90,000 a year to carry on its program of health activities it was learned today.

Dr. R. S. McKelvey, secretary of the board, has prepared a tabulation showing the various activities supervised by the health department, which demonstrates the enormous scope undertaken to better health conditions in the state and co-operate with federal and local health authorities.

The activities are divided into ten departments, each with a director, and, according to Dr. McKelvey, each division is greatly in need of a larger staff and more funds.

The administration of the health department has been done without a permanent staff, the burden of the work falling on Dr. McKelvey, with what help he could get from other divisions. The work of administration includes the holding of health conferences, lectures, and exhibits, and supervision of hospitals and sanatoriums. The department also co-operates with local health officials, the U. S. Department of Public Health, and publishes regulations covering public health problems.

London Fashion Notes

London, Jan. 18.—(INS)—The Englishwoman of 1927 is to be essentially feminine in her dress as her counterpart of 1926 was mannish, according to famous dress designers.

Every indication points to 1927 completely breaking away from the mannish modes that dominated the feminine wardrobe for the last few years.

Even the plainness and severity of the tailormade has been attacked in the new models for 1927. The coats, which reach to within some four inches of the hem of the skirt, no longer have mannish panels or straight backs. The coat collars are a cross between a Medici and a roll-shape collar.

The waist slightly arched at the back under a bodice, is gaining popularity for evening gowns, and black and white is in vogue for afternoon wear here. White-topped evening gowns with draped black skirts, are also being shown at some of the more exclusive fashion houses. The toilette is completed with Jesh colored hose and black patent shoes.

Lace evening frocks also carry out the idea of growing femininity. A single jewel, usually of diamonds, is the only decoration allowed on these frocks, which are worn over an underfrocks of mousseline de soie or crepe georgette in the same shade.

Granite colored tweeds are all the vogue for sports wear among the fashionable Englishwomen. These are woven with multi-colored strands, resulting in an indescribable effect. Round necks are being worn on the waists that go with the sports outfit.

1000 People Killed in London Streets Bring New Rules

London, Jan. 18.—(INS)—Confronted with the problem of 1,000 people killed, over 100,000 injured in London's "battlefield" highways during the year 1926, the London County Council has sent out an "S. O. S." to all traffic authorities to hold a conference to see what can be done.

According to the report of a committee of the Council, three-fourths of the people killed in London street accidents are pedestrians, the remainder being cyclists and occupants of vehicles.

The main causes of accident, according to the Commissioner of Police, are: Pedestrians passing between or behind stationary vehicles. Cycling in crowded thoroughfares. Riding improperly on vehicles. Drivers of mechanical vehicles. The report, often met with an accident in attempting to avoid an erring pedestrian. In other words, the "Jay Walker" often has only himself to blame. "It is the duty of the pedestrian," continues the report, "to protect himself and use ordinary care. In some cases the pedestrian should be held equally guilty with the motorist."

Lewis, of Farmville, president; Clifton C. Stokes, of Grifton, vice president; and Durward G. Hart, of Ayden, secretary and treasurer. Mr. Lewis is a junior this year while Mr. Stokes and Mr. Hart are sophomores.

President Lewis, in his inaugural address, stated that he highly appreciated the honor bestowed upon him and that he would do all in his power to make this quarter one of the most successful in the history of the Club. Mr. Lewis has given the Club his hearty co-operation during the three years as a student here.

Tom Johnson introduced to the Club the idea of publishing a newspaper during the present quarter, in which the advantages of the University would be put before the high school students of the county who will enter college next year. The idea was very favorably received by the club, and the officers for the publication will be elected at the next meeting of the club. In addition to general facts about the University the edition will carry stories of interest to Carolina alumni and all Pitt countians who are interested in educational development in North Carolina. The meeting closed after a social hour during which refreshments were served.

But wets and dry agree not at all. The next Democratic national convention will have two issues—alcohol and a desire to get back jobs.

And because Democrats disagree, as usual, the Republicans probably will have an easy time of it, as usual.

What is your opinion of prohibition? How many would take the responsibility of ending it, if they could do it by pressing a button?

Of one thing all are agreed, that it is a blessing to be rid of saloons. What would have been the result, do you think, had whiskey, gin, etc., been classed with morphine and cocaine, light wine and beer classed with tobacco? Would that have discouraged bootlegging?

MARKETS

COTTON FUTURES

New York, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Cotton futures opened steady today. January 13.17; March 13.30; May 13.50; July 13.70; October 13.88.

New York, Jan. 18.—(AP)—The cotton market opened today at a decline of three to seven points under renewed liquidation coupled with some southern selling. The local selling probably was prompted by reports of falling off in spot demands after the completion of mid-January engagements but early offerings were readily absorbed by covering buying on continued favorable reports from Liverpool and predictions of another cold wave in the south.

STOCK MARKET

New York, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Heavy buying of oils and rails contrasted with renewed liquidation in motors and other industrials at the opening of today's stock market. Baltimore and Ohio and Frisco common, sold at highest prices in years, but initial gains were small. Allied Chemical opened at a point higher but fractional recessions on initial sales were reported by U. S. Steel common, General Motors, Willys Overland and Hudson.
