TODAY A New Chinese Nation. Mr. Stabler's Discovery. Abie's Rose and Socrates. Excessive Punishment.

By Arthur Brisbane

Russia for centuries stood, as China stands now, a land of many languages, many wars, but no nationality. It took the personality of Peter the Great, following the struggling of Ivan the Terrible to create the Russia of the Czars. And it took Lenin to pave the way for what Russia will be tomorrow, a really great national power, probably the greatest in Europe.

Engineered to Provide Lowest Maintenance and Operation Cost

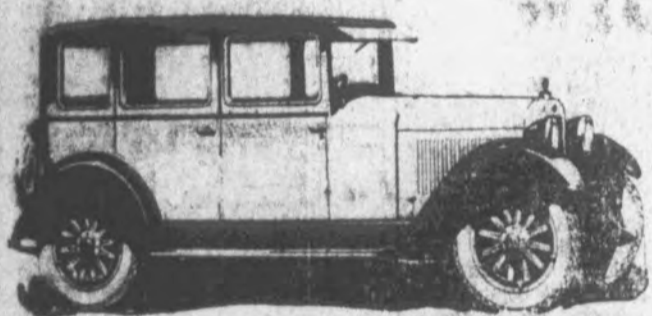

Now Showing

The New ESSEX SUPER-SIX

Entirely new in Appearance and Performance with New Bodies in a variety of Color

SEDAN

In performance as well as appearance, the Essex Super-Six is an entirely new car. It reveals the capacity of the Super-Six principle. It attains an engineering triumph in low maintenance and operating cost.

It possesses such stamina that 50 miles an hour all day long is an easy accomplishment. And so nimble and alert is its action that no car will surpass the quickness with which it may be driven through traffic or in touring, whether the trip is one of a few city blocks or hundreds of miles. To both driver and passengers, there is rare comfort in any kind of going.

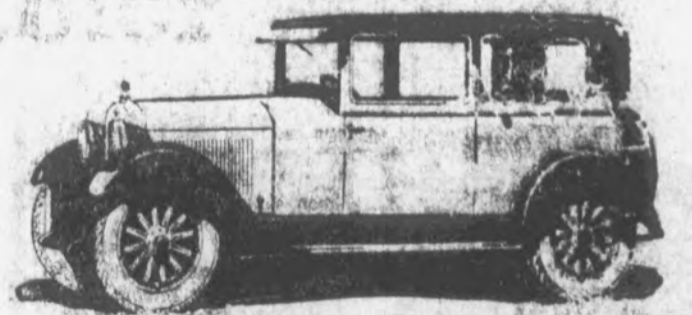

Unusual accessibility means big savings in replacement, service and all shop work. Economy in fuel and oil is also a notable feature of the new Essex Super-Six.

It holds further exclusive advantages in its Super-Six motor. Four years of development has resulted in a chassis that would permit full use of its capacity. In the Essex Super-Six, performance, safety and reliability are realized to a degree never approached in a car of its size or price.

The Super-Six motor delivers its power with a flowing smoothness; and riding in the new Essex is like flying. You must drive it, if for no other reason than to learn what really is meant when people discuss motor smoothness. You will sense its safety in the way it clings to any road at any speed, and in its positive brake control.

There are four new bodies on the Essex Super-Six chassis—all beautiful, all smart in line, finish, appointment and upholstery. They are easily the paramount values of Essex history.

INTERESTING MEETING OF D. A. R.'s

The Col. Alexander McAllister chapter of the Daughters of American Revolution, was delightfully entertained on last Saturday by Mrs. E. W. Moseley and Miss Doris Meade at the home of Mrs. Moseley on Fifth street.

Immediately upon the arrival of the guests, they were invited into the dining room where a five-course luncheon was served. The tables were lovely with their white damask cloths and lighted with crystal candlelabar holding tall red candles. The place cards were miniature colonial dames.

At the close of the luncheon Misses Jean and Mary Morton rendered a lovely musical program.

Mrs. W. B. Murphy of Snow Hill, regent of the chapter, then called the meeting to order and after a short business session a delightful program followed which consisted of short sketches of the North Carolina signers of the Declaration of Independence.

Mrs. J. I. Morgan of Farmville, gave a most interesting sketch of William Hooper and Mrs. Carey Warren gave two short sketches of Joseph Hewes and John Penn.

Mrs. Felix Harvey, of Kinston, then gave an interesting talk on "English Garden," in which she told of her recent trip to Europe and showed some lovely pictures of the wonderful gardens she visited in England and the other countries of Europe.

The Misses Morton then gave several numbers on the piano and violin, which were greatly enjoyed.

The guests for the afternoon were Mrs. Nannie Vester, Miss Hooper, Misses Jean and Mary Morton, Mrs. Annie Calvin, of Atkinson, and Misses Allison and Henejins of Greenville.

The February meeting will be with Mrs. C. M. Warren and Mrs. W. S. Harden, at the home of Mrs. Warren on Ninth street.

Says University Needs $2,300,000 For New Buildings

Raleigh, Jan. 25. — (AP) — Some $2,000,000 is necessary to bring the buildings and equipment of the University of North Carolina up to date, Dr. Harry W. Chase, president, said today in his annual report to the board of trustees meeting here.

The lower house of the General Assembly met an hour earlier than scheduled this morning in order to allow members to attend the meeting of the trustee board.

"The University building, program calls for $2,300,000," he said. "The University has not yet reached the basis on which it can stabilize itself."

WOMAN'S AUXILIARY OF PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH IN ALL DAY SESSION

The Woman's Auxiliary of the Presbyterian church held an all day mission study class Monday at the home of Mrs. John McKeithan in College View.

The class was in charge of Mrs. R. H. Wright, secretary of foreign missions in the Auxiliary. The book studied was "An Open Door in Brazil," by James Porter Smith and was a most interesting study of the history of Brazil and the work done by the Southern Presbyterian church in that country.

The author has been a missionary in Brazil for a number of years and is now president of a Theological Seminary in Camerinas.

The book consisted of eight chapters and were given in a most interest manner by the following:

Chapter 1.—Mrs. R. H. W.

Chapter 2.—Mrs. E. W. Ivey.

Chapter 3.—Mrs. H. H. Leach.

Chapter 4.—Mrs. W. S. Harden.

Chapter 5.—Mrs. N. O. Warren.

Chapter 6.—Miss Mary Bertolet.

Chapter 7.—Miss Lucy Moonman.

Three chapters were taken in the morning and four in the afternoon. At one o'clock a buffet luncheon was served by the hostess.

During the day, work was begun on the Auxiliary's allotment of White Cross work which consisted of the cutting and rolling of bandages to be sent to one of the Presbyterian hospitals in China.

The Auxiliary is closing a most successful year and is looking forward to the New Year, which begins the first of April with much enthusiasm and the hope to do even greater things in the local church and for the great cause of missions throughout the Southern Presbyterian church.

COMMUNITY THEATRE PLAYERS TO APPEAR IN "TWO BLOCKS AWAY"

The Community Theatre Players will appear in the college auditorium Wednesday evening at eight o'clock, January 26, in Aaron Hoffman's great New York comedy success, "Two Blocks Away." This comedy comes from the Piedmont Bureau, Asheville, and will be here under the auspices of the college entertainment committee.

According to press reports this comedy, "Two Blocks Away," is an unusual performance, affording great pleasure to the people, and is a good, clean, wholesome comedy, leaving with any audience a truth of the homely bit of philosophy, "It isn't what you have in your pocket that counts, but what you have in your head."

This play will appear in the college auditorium, Wednesday night, January 26, at 8 o'clock. Admission will be $1.00.

Loca Negro Professor Doing Educational Work in the State

Negro educators from state institutions had their inning in Raleigh on the 20th, on the fourth floor of the "New Revenue Building." The principal of the city school for negroes is sort of a mediator between the races, for thirty years he has been meeting with appropriations committees. He was the right hand man of Professors Sams and Newbold when Senator Holderness was on the finance committee, and three new buildings was the result.

He is grateful to his white friends throughout the state for their confidence and support. He says that "Negroes and white folks all should feel proud of the present representation—the county of Pitt is in the limelight. Messrs.

 Gossip of Staff Correspondents at World Centers of Population.

Paris, Jan. 25.—(AP)—Lieutenant Thorey, French flying ace seems to be the champion grocery delivery boy of the world. In nine days he made twenty-six flights and delivered more than 2,000 pounds of groceries and provisions.

The Lieutenant's deliveries were made from a height of 16,400 feet which appears to make them the highest groceries on record. The advance observation post called the Valtot Observatory is 14,324 feet above the sea level on the side of Mt. Blanc. Pack porters refuse to supply the post after the winter season sets in. Even though it was proposed to make up packs weighing but twenty pounds the old guides and packers said it was impossible to get up to the Observatory through the deep snow drifts.

For this reason the airplane was called in to solve the problem of supplying the post with food and scientific material. Lieut. Thorey volunteered to try the dangerous task. To reach the post it was necessary to climb nearly 17,000 feet in order to clear the peaks. After the proper height was reached the plane had to be jockeyed into a comparatively narrow gorge that the food might be dropped as near the Observatory as possible. The delicate instruments and breakable goods were dropped with the aid of parachutes. A special box was fitted under the plane with a sliding bottom that the pilot could pull out when the machine was over the post. Cases weighing eighty-eight pounds were dropped in parachutes which brought their falling velocity down to seven feet per second. This slow speed added to the softness of the snow permitted the aviators to drop most delicate material with impunity. We made twenty-six flights in all, says Lieutenant Thorey and we carried 2,312 pounds of material in nine days.

Women will rejoice and men will be exceedingly glad to hear the good tidings coming from the smart dressmaking establishments in Paris. Spring prices will be much lower. This is not a rumor, it is real truth. Prices soared last summer and autumn because of the low value of the franc. Inasmuch as more than one-half the dresses are bought by foreign buyers, the makers made them pay the real value in dollars. Many of the prices were even quoted in foreign money. French clients became as scarce as roses in December and the courtesiers began to get frightened. They say they must have French women buy their frocks to keep up their high standards. Many American women dress well, but more French women have that unattainable quality known as chic. It is the best advertisement these business houses can find.

They finally hit upon the scheme of securing cheaper materials to suit the pocket books of the French women and made gowns for them at more reasonable prices. Thus, they kept their French clientele as well as the foreign one. Spring wear come out in February they will have the prices marked in francs and they will be prices which even a smart French woman can afford. The dressmakers, like many others, have found that to do business which only foreign buyers patronize is not the most profitable one.

A special court for whatever minor infractions of French laws may occur during the American Legion's Paris convention next year will be requested of French police. The same plan followed by Philadelphia authorities during the war veterans' meeting there last September will be proposed to the Paris prefect in the time by the legionnaires. We only expect the 6,000 delegates to behave as well as the army of American tourists who come to Paris every summer and who rarely make trouble for the police. We believe they can have a good time without being arrested. There will be no more outdoor speeches at the graves of deceased members of the French Legion. Members of the Institute have themselves requested it. For the sake of the health of

WASHINGTON'S CASTOR OIL SHOP IN VA CLOSSES

Fredericksburg, Va., Jan. 25.—(AP)—Young George Washington, he of the cherry tree fame, probably would be a happy youngster were he here today. The drug store where his mother purchased castor oil for him is closed.

What may be the oldest apothecary shop in the United States was opened here by Hugh Mercer. The Washingtons lived nearby. Mary Washington, like most mothers of her day, was a firm believer in castor oil as a cure-all for what ails you.

When George grew up, however, he evidently forgot the physician's convictions, for it was at Washington's request that Mercer was chosen by Congress as a Brigadier General in the Continental Army.

The survivors prohibit all speeches at my funeral.

That is the statement signed by all members of the Institute. They feel that in addition to marching in the funeral procession, making speeches at the graves would be too great a strain upon their frail constitutions.

NOTORIOUS YEGG IS NOW EMPLOYED IN CAPITAL CITY

Once Sought by Sleuths from Frisco to Boston But is Now Raleigh's Beautifier

Raleigh, Jan. 25.—(AP)—The most notorious yegg that ever cranked a Tar Heel safe has been employed by the city of Raleigh. The capital city had not safe-cracking jobs either. It needed its parks and lawns beautified. It selected "Portland Ned" for the job over a number of other applicants because he presented evidence of being better qualified.

He is at work now on Nash Square, the block in front of the union station. Hundreds of people are coming to and going from Raleigh pass him at work laying out his flower beds. Not one of them has an inkling that the middle-aged kindly visaged man directing workmen on the job was once sought by sleuths from Frisco to Boston as one of the most efficient artists in the world for getting money out of a bank he hadn't put any in.

Ned met his Waterloo in Northampton county, North Carolina. He blew one vault too many and landed in State's prison here. Then came reformation. Under the kindly advice of Supt. Geo. Ross Pou, he ordered a correspondence course in flower culture and landscape gardening. He put his knowledge into effect on the prison grounds, and it wasn't long before Governor McLean noticed it and wanted to know who was responsible.

That started the one-time yegg on his road to a parole. The governor borrowed him to fix up the mansion grounds. Portland took it long and faithfully there, going and coming without guard. He made a good impression on the chief executive, who addressed him by his pseudonym in crime, "Ned." Portland's real name, Howard, had been left behind.

One day, not long before the elections last November, Portland broached the matter of a parole to the governor. The canny Scotchman who rules the destinies of the state only smiled.

"How long would it be before you would be back blowing safes?" he inquired.

"Never," Portland responded, and there was a ring of sincerity in his tone.

But the governor was not ready to lower the prison bars. Portland toiled on through the election season. Now another ward about freedom. Thanksgiving came and passed. Other prisoners were paroled. Christmas was approaching. Portland's flower beds were banked to protect them from winter cold. He was looking around for new barren ground to conquer.

Then it came. Five years in prison faded under an official document bearing the governor's signature and the state seal.

Portland Ned was free. He went to see the Governor and reiterated his promise not to drift back into crime. The governor wished him well and Portland landed his job with the city.

"All my old confederates are either dead or missing. I couldn't locate the old gang if I wanted to, and I can't want to," he said, adding that he believed his reform action was complete.

Now he has been free for more than a month. The skillful fingers that once unravelled strange combinations on vault locks or set the fuse on a shot of "soup" have become calloused from contact with the handle of a spade. Banks have added no locks nor extra guards. Prison officials and burley cops pause to pass a cherry greeting when they meet him.

Portland Ned and his flower beds are daily writing another word of refutation to the popular version: "Once a thief—"

HOW DOES HE KNOW YOU STILL LOVE HIM?

If you are too tired to "fix up" for him when he comes home, if you are all tales of woe, instead of gay little stories of delightful afternoons, if complaints take the place of kisses—how does he know that you haven't really changed?

Good Elimination Is Essential to Good Health. THE kidneys are the blood filters. If they fail to function properly there is apt to be a retention of toxic poisons in the blood. A dull, languid feeling, and, sometimes, toxic backaches, headaches, and dizziness are symptoms of this condition. Further evidence of improper kidney function is often found in burning or scanty passage of secretions. Each year more and more people are learning the value of Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, in this condition. Scarcely a neck or hamlet anywhere but has many enthusiastic users. Ask your neighbor!

A THREE DAYS COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Buick
 Everyone says—
Buick is Reliable

Buick reliability is one reason why the majority of new Buicks every year are purchased by old Buick owners.

Buick is the car with the Sealed Chassis, which encases every operating part inside an iron or steel housing, to keep out dirt.

Buick is the car with the high-speed starting motor, for reliability in starting—with mechanical 4-wheel-brakes, for certainty in stopping—and with a six-cylinder, valve-in-head engine, for engine performance that is the envy of the motor car industry.

Buy a Buick! It is a more dependable and more enjoyable motor car.

HUDSON-ESSEX CO. ANNOUNCE NEW CARS

Coming as the culmination of four years' development, an entirely new line of Hudson and Essex cars is announced by Harrington-Lang, Inc., Hudson-Exsex distributors. New Essex cars already have arrived in the city and Hudsons will follow soon. On both cars, it is said, appearance has radically changed to provide sweeping streamlines and finer detail, and chassis have been re-engineered for better speeds, road safety and comfort, faster acceleration, fuel economy and a smoothness described as "superlative."

Claims for performance in the new cars are sweeping. It is asserted that the new Hudson Super Six motor will show "the highest safe driving range on the road," yet with an improved fuel economy and without the sacrifice of other desirable motor qualities. It is claimed the Essex will drive smoothly and easily above a mile-a-minute. Both cars, it is said, are capable of high sustained speeds over long distances and all types of roads. In line with its new performing qualities, the Essex is re-named the Essex Super-Six.

Prices, in line with Hudson-Exsex policies, continue moderate despite the many improvements, and trade comment is that having been once announced they may be considered as stabilized. Hudson is understood to have reached what it considers the proper price level for both Hudson and Essex.

This new Hudson-Exsex line of cars is composed of twelve body types—a variety of cars which will meet almost any individual preference. This variety is still further enhanced by the adoption of attractive color combinations.

All cars are characterized by higher radiators, hoods and general streamline effects. Essex is now a small counter-part of Hudson in appearance. Fenders are of handsome curved type, well designed and proportioned. Four wheel brakes are standard on Hudson. Lamps are bullet-shaped—nickel-plated on Hudson and lacquer finished on Essex to harmonize with body tones. All cars have front parking lights.

"To assure finer performance, a large number of mechanical betterments have been built into the cars. New ignition systems provide a full automatic control. Sparks are about 50 per cent hotter than ever previously used. Compression ratio has been somewhat raised. Radiation is increased 16 2-3 per cent in both cars. Improved carburetion has been applied to both motors. According to one high official, the combination of tremendous power and gasoline economy achieved by the new Hudson is proving the astonishment of the carburetor fraternity.

In the Super-Six principle of construction used on both cars the vital component is the crankshaft. This type of crankshaft, patented more than 11 years ago by Hudson, is designed with counter weights, so located and arranged

What? Change That Nose?

"If you had a nose like that would you have it altered?" demanded friends of Mae Murray in refutation of unfounded reports that the famous film actress had undergone a facial operation at a Cincinnati hospital. Miss Murray herself, unmistakably with the same beauty that commanded success for her, and brimming with indignation, declared the reports "absurd."

ed that the shaft rotates even at high speed with a flywheel-like effect. In experiments, Hudson-Exsex engineers have rotated a Super-Six shaft as high as 5,000 revolutions per minute, yet the shaft ran true and smooth in only one-half a bearing. Now that the whole chassis have been developed up to a standard comparable with the possibilities of this motor, both the Hudson Super-Six and the Essex Super-Six are reaching performance levels far above former standards.

The improved Essex engine runs with remarkable smoothness. With an improved and highly developed splash lubrication system, ample oil is supplied to the engine at all speeds up to the maximum. Twenty pounds have been added to the fly wheel and clutch assembly. This additional weight, plus close weighing and checking of all units, greatly increases the smoothness of the engine. All rotating parts of the motor—and also the flywheel, clutch, transmission and driveshaft—are now carefully balanced to extremely close units. It is declared that smoothing out these units has imparted a smoothness and power output far superior to anything previously known.

Construction changes in the Essex include several features of accessibility. Pistons can now be removed from the bottoms of the cylinders. The transmission may be demounted for service without disturbing the clutch. The Essex

Lost Chests of Old Pirate Loot Hunted By Big Syndicate

New York, Jan. 24.—(INS)—An effort to locate and recover vast chests of hidden pirates' loot said to contain untold and fabulous wealth, and consisting of strings of priceless pearls, rubies and emeralds, to say nothing of a huge fortune in Spanish golden doubloons, now is the scheme of a New York syndicate.

The venture, it was learned today, is to be under the leadership of J. E. Fuller, president of the British-Yucatan Railway Company with offices in this city, and associated with him in his search will be a number of prominent New York businessmen and financiers.

While a number of ancient maps and faded plans of points along the Gulf of the Mexican State of Yucatan stores, will necessarily be put to use in an attempt to recover the pirates' loot, Mr. Fuller and his associates will rely mainly upon a recently invented electrical apparatus, which is noted for its buried presence of metal more than 50 feet below the ground.

The treasure seekers, according to plans made known to International News Service, expect to leave Key West, Florida, aboard a vessel recently purchased for the purpose from the Shipping Board during the early part of April and continue their search along points on the Spanish Main until October, by which time it is hoped that a have been recovered.

The maps and plans came into possession of Mr. Fuller while he was in Yucatan last fall when excavations were being made by his company for a new railroad warehouse at Lagartos, and which neighborhood is said to have been the most accessible for the pirates during their raids along the coast of the Spanish Main.

One of the principal objects of the search, said Mr. Fuller will be an attempt to locate the endow taken by the pirates from the British sailing vessel Avondale, which was looted and burned off Lagartos late in the seventh century and its priceless treasure of stones and Spanish gold buried somewhere along Yucatan's coast in the vicinity of Lagartos.

The loot of the Avondale is said by Mr. Fuller to be worth about $10,000,000 according to the records of the British Museum in London, which have been searched for all available data, while the maps and plans now in his possession indicate that these have to do with the location of the treasure.

 Those interested in theatres quote the London run of "Chu Chin Chow" 2,238 consecutive performances, the world's longest and predict that another highly intellectual production "Abie's Irish Rose" will break the record some time next July.
 Some one should say a word for Euripides, whose tragedy, "The Bacchae" ran in Athens with occasional interruptions, for five hundred years. It was one of the few performances that Socrates thought worth seeing. He would have been much puzzled by "Abie's Irish Rose" and "Chu Chin Chow."
 He never knew that there was any such place as Ireland, or China, never heard of any one named Abie.

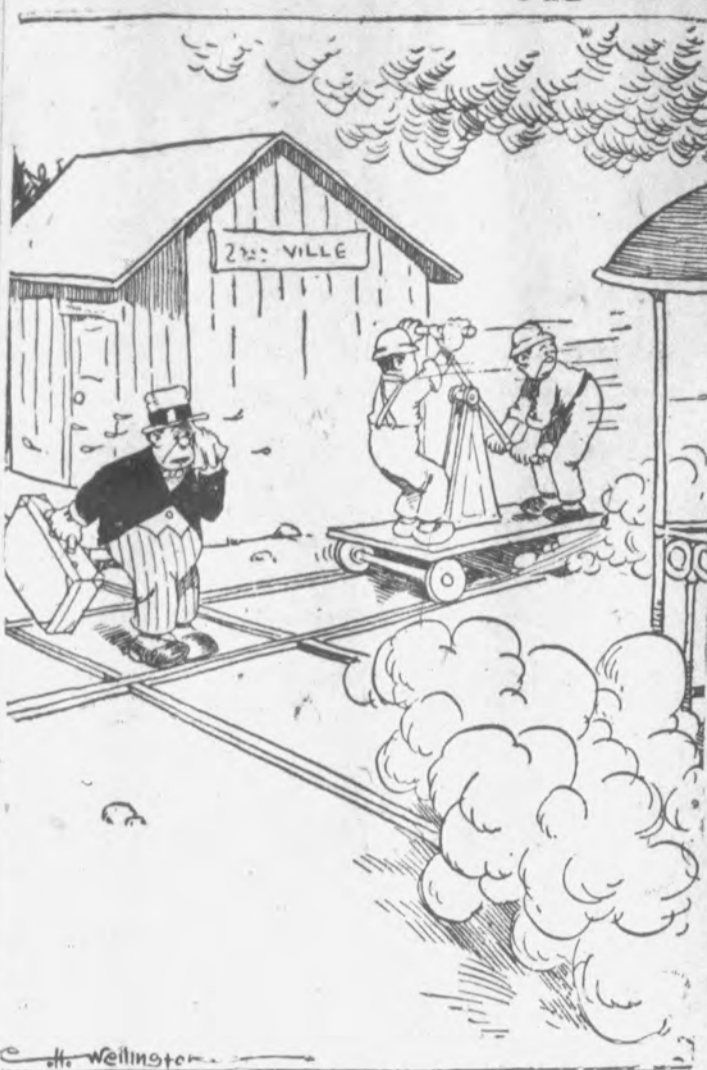

victed three times previously. It is discovered that juries refuse to convict, and witnesses will perjure themselves rather than inflict what they believe cruel punishment.
 Excessive punishment usually fails, whether it be modern life imprisonment or ancient, tearing out a man's eyes, cutting off his nose and lips, and pouring boiling oil into his intestines.
 When England hanged men and boys for stealing objects worth a certain number of shillings, merchants were sometimes punished because they perjured themselves to keep a young boy from hanging, swearing that the article stolen was not worth enough shillings to make hanging a penalty.
 What is needed is EVEN, SURE RELENTLESS JUSTICE, not hysterics.

COAL MEN FIGHT SOUTHERN MOVE TO GET MARKETS

Pennsylvania Operators Fear Mines of South in North and East

Washington, Jan. 24.—(INS)—A big fight on the part of both anthracite and bituminous coal operators in Pennsylvania to prevent producers in the southern fields of West Virginia, Virginia and Kentucky from getting a further foothold on the markets of the Middle Atlantic and New England states, is being waged before the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The Southern operators are being aided in their efforts to capture the northeastern markets by various interests in New England which are asking for the continuation of preferential rates from those fields to New England in order to avert fuel shortage in times of emergency.

Telling the Commission that the anthracite industry "has achieved an epoch-making reform assuring continued and uninterrupted operation for five years with practical assurance there will be no interruption of operation at the end of that period," the Anthracite Operators Conference protested against "continued preferential rates to southern coal fields shipping to northeastern markets."

"The Commission should give no weight on any alleged strike emergency, present or prospective, for none exists," the anthracite operators asserted. "There is no just reason for subsidizing the entry of southern bituminous coal into northeastern markets by according to a depressed and preferential level of rates."
 In answer to this the New England Governors' Fuel Committee contended that "New England has outgrown the anthracite industry. There is urgent need in New England, in the committee's opinion for additional transportation service which will enable those states to obtain a large tonnage of West Virginia coal to supplement the anthracite supply."

"The establishment of temporary rates on West Virginia coal from time to time when an emergency is threatened will not be sufficient," the committee declared. "Permanent rates are needed to facilitate the gradual introduction of the substitute under normal business conditions. Our people should not be left unprepared and powerless to avert the shortages of fuel and profiteering incidental to the suspension of anthracite mining which probably will be repeated if we defer action until the next suspension of anthracite mining is at hand."
 Asserting the Pennsylvania coal industry "is fighting for its existence," and to survive it must get the full benefit of its proximity to eastern markets, the Broad Top Coal Operators' Association has asked the Commission to establish rates from their mines to Tidewater and to New England which will give them the full advantage of their location.
 The Pittsburgh Eastern Coal rate committee and the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce want the present freight rates on prepared sizes of low volatile coal from southern fields withdrawn.
 "No necessity exists for any additional rates on coal from these fields to Middle Atlantic and New England states," they assert

Old Time Fiddler Coming Into Own in This State

Raleigh, N. C. Jan. 26.—(AP)—Fiddlers are calling from mountain to sea.

Granddads favorites, Polka tempo, are crowding tin pan jazz and dream waltz from the stage; or so will the young folks who read the flow to be popular ads and learned to foot the saxophone and twiddle the uke.

The fiddlers are back with their lively airs from elderly fingers. The craze for antiques has extended to music.
 Old Fiddlers' contests from Murphy to Manteo, music sales in a dozen cities, phonograph record manufacturers statements all go to prove it, while the youths with their sax and uke staunchly proclaim that 'tis but a passing fancy and jazz will in the end prevail.
 Hank Ford gets the blame.
 It is said that he revived the fiddle just the same as he reduced the fiver.
 Old Fiddlers have been his hob

by. Wherever he goes he gathers them about him—whether it is his winter retreat at Fort Myers or his new-found little red schoolhouse in Sudbury, Mass.

Fiddling for Hank has become art—he insists on the best and gossip has it that he pays well for what he gets, but in North Carolina where there are no billion-aire patrons, the noble art of fiddling appears to have come back of its own momentum.

Hardly a county in the State but had its Old Fiddlers' Contest last year. Hardly a mountain community that did not experience its famous thrills and cold chills under the spell of an old fiddler's impersonations. Not a coastal community that didn't sway in enchantment.

Cooing lovers or ferocious are consoled from the strangled instruments with equal facility.

Then there is a prize—often times second and third to be awarded. Dependent upon the verdict of the audience or by popular vote, the fiddler who wins the most music out of his soul or the proudest former who came nearest making his auditors believe a great bear was upon them or the rooster had escaped from the barnyard.

IF RHEUMATIC EAT NO SWEETS
 Says Glass of Salts Help to Overcome Rheumatism Acid
 Rheumatism is easier to avoid than to cure, states a well-known authority. We are advised to dress warmly, keep the feet dry avoid exposure, and above all drink plenty of good water and avoid eating sweets of all kind.
 Rheumatism is caused by body waste and acids resulting from food fermentation. It is the function of the kidneys to filter this poison from the blood and cast it out in the urine; the pores of the skin are also a means of freeing the blood of this impurity. In damp and chilly cold weather the skin pores are closed, thus forcing the kidneys to do double work; they become weak and sluggish and fail to eliminate this waste and acids, which keeps accumulating and circulating through the system, eventually settling in the joints and muscles, causing stiffness, soreness and pain, called rheumatism.
 At the first twinge of rheumatism get from any pharmacy about four ounces of Jad Salts; put a tablespoonful in a glass of water and drink before breakfast each morning for a week. This is helpful to neutralize acidity, remove waste matter, also to stimulate the kidneys, thus often ridding the blood of rheumatic poison.
 Jad Salts is inexpensive, and is lemon juice, combined with lithia, made from the acid of grapes and is used with excellent results by thousands of folks who are subject to rheumatism.
