E. T. C. COLLEGE FINALS HELD HERE MONDAY

Congressman Lindsay Warren Delivered Literary Address Before Graduating Class.

Before an audience of approximately fifteen hundred people, the closing exercises of the East Carolina Teachers College were held Monday morning bringing to a conclusion the most successful year in the history of the institution. The awarding of diplomas to 36 graduates who had completed their four-year A.B. course and to 174 who had finished the two years' normal training and the inspiring address delivered by Congressman Lindsay C. Warren, of Washington, N. C., featured the program this morning.

Every available seat in the large auditorium was taken. Many extra chairs had been brought in and all of these were occupied. Scores were forced to stand in the aisles and at the rear of the auditorium. It was one of the largest gatherings ever assembled at the college.

Following the processional hymn and the opening prayer by Rev. M. F. Cooke, of Greenville, Mr. Warren delivered the commencement address which was termed by many in the audience as being one of the finest ever heard at the college.

Friends of the college were present in large number and the graduating exercises, from every point of view, were carried out in splendid fashion. As their gift to the college, the senior class gave to the institution a handsome gateway to the entrance directly in front of the administration building. This was given as a memorial to Miss Mittie Beaman, assistant lady principal of the college, who died last year.

The students and a number of friends enjoyed a specially prepared luncheon at the dining room of the college, following the graduation exercises at the auditorium. And then there took place a general exodus as the more than seven hundred young ladies prepared to leave for their homes in various parts of the State.

TODAY

Coming Home. Our Valuable Thrift. Haley Fiske's Good Work. Your Important Cells. (By Arthur Brisbane) Copyright 1927, by Star Co.

"We"—Lindbergh and his flying ship, have turned homeward on a fast American cruiser. Few boys have had a more interesting "first trip abroad." To find your way through the air from New York to Paris in thirty-three hours, to have all Europe eager to see you, Kings, Presidents, millions of ordinary people, to come back in a United States fighting ship, especially assigned to that service, and have the country's biggest city and nation's capital fighting for the honor of welcoming you first—that's a novel trip.

Lindbergh will deserve his fine welcome, and will realize as a philosophical young man, that the American people usually forget everything after about ten days.

Ontario, across the Canadian border, went "wet" and its wildest hopes of American patronage are realized. American "tourists" in Ontario have been such earnest buyers of guaranteed government Canadian bottled goods that the supply has run short, and the allowance per person has been cut.

This continent improves in health as well as in prosperity. Eighteen million industrial policy holders in the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company show a drop in the death rate during April of 21.6 per cent.

Much of this is due to the wisdom shown by president Haley Fiske, of the Metropolitan, and his associates, who spend their advertising appropriation not merely to advertise themselves and their company, but most generously and wisely, in spreading information as to care of the health.

A German scientist says your heart is less important than the billions of cells that make up your body. The heart is important, of course, but it is not the most important part.

COUNTY SELLS FUNDING BONDS

$100,000 Worth of Bonds Purchased by Kaufman-Smith Co., Of St. Louis, Mo.

The Pitt County Board of Commissioners in regular monthly session here yesterday afternoon sold $100,000 worth of 4-1-2 per cent funding bonds to Kaufman-Smith & Co., of St. Louis, Mo., at a premium of 54.82.

Thirteen other companies participated in the bidding, but the St. Louis concern's bid was $50 above W. L. Slayton & Co., of Toledo, Ohio, second highest bidder and $62 above Minnesota Loan Co. third highest.

Disposition of the bonds was the outstanding feature of the session. Considerable time was consumed in the meeting, but virtually everything considered was of a routine nature, with exception of a decision to close county offices at the noon hour on Wednesdays during the summer months.

BARONESS AND HUSBAND KILLED IN AUTO CRASH

Bidborough, Kent, England, June 7.—(AP)—Baroness Oranmore and Browne was killed and her husband Baron Oranmore and Browne was seriously injured today when their automobile skidded and collided with a motor bus near here.

Their chauffeur and a lady secretary were seriously injured also and were taken to a hospital.

PROUD WIVES ON THEIR WAY TO GERMANY

Wilda Chamberlin And Grace Levin Speeded on Way To Berlin by Cheering Friends.

New York, June 7.—(AP)—Speeded on their way by cheers and honors, two proud wives were on the Atlantic today bound for Berlin to tell their husbands what heroes they are. Their flying husbands went to Germany in 42 hours. It will take Mrs. Wilda Chamberlin and Mrs. Grace Levine ten days. They are bound for Bremen on the North German Lloyd liner Berlin as guests of the steamship company.

But upon joining their husbands, Mrs. Levine revealed, they hope to make a tour of European capitals in the Bellanca Monoplane Columbia which carried Clarence D. Chamberlin and Charles A. Levine on their record breaking journey.

The day before their sailing was a hectic one for the two women. There were scores of messages of congratulations to be read, ceremonies to attend and countless purchases to be made for a hurried trip abroad.

Foremost in the happy confusion were messages from the fliers. "Safe in Germany, Love, Clarence," said a cablegram from Kottbus, to Mrs. Chamberlin, while one to Mrs. Levine said: "Trust you and the children are well. Please overlook my action in leaving without telling you. I knew you would not sanction such a thing. Had a great trip. Would not have missed the experience. Love, Charles."

Mrs. Levine who fainted when she saw her husband unexpectedly leap into the cabin of the Columbia at Roosevelt Field, was proud of him today.

"Forgive him," she said. "Of course I forgive him. I'm the proudest woman in the world, and I'll show I'm not afraid, either, by flying with him anywhere in Europe."

"If they take that great gasoline tank out there will be plenty of room in the Columbia for Mrs. Chamberlin and me."

New York motorcycle policemen escorted five autos with the fliers' wives and friends to Hoboken. At Hoboken more policemen supplanted the New York officers and remained with the travelers until they had worked their way through hundreds of enthusiastic people to the pier.

MEMPHIS HOST TO KIWANIS

Four Thousand Attend Annual Convention of Kiwanis International.

Memphis, Tenn., June 7.—(AP)—Four thousand delegates and visitors to the eleventh annual convention of Kiwanis International got down to routine business here today, listened to various committee reports and addresses and prepared for an afternoon of recreation and amusements.

The first day of the convention yesterday was marked by an address during the evening by United States Senator Simon D. Fess, republican of Ohio. His subject was "Citizenship" and characterized by Kiwanians as a master piece in oratorical art.

McAdoo Sounds Challenge To Political Leaders On The Prohibition Question

Greenville, Tenn., June 7.—(AP)—A challenge to political leaders of all parties to make known their stand on prohibition was sounded here today by William G. McAdoo, candidate for Democratic presidential nomination in 1924 with a warning that efforts to nullify the eighteenth amendment is part of a movement menacing the foundations of popular government.

Addressing the students of Tusculum College at commencement exercises, the former treasury secretary declared the prohibition question presents a vital issue that responsible statesmanship cannot ignore and called for courageous leadership such as Andrew Jackson, in restoring Jeffersonian Democracy to its real principles.

Charging that corrupt machine politics is attempting to gain control of the federal government "under the guise of an attack on the 18th amendment" he summoned defenders of the constitution to rally on the side of the prohibition laws if free institutions are to be preserved in America.

"Prohibition is a practicable issue of the most vital kind in which the whole country is interested and upon which it is looking for courageous leadership," he said. The question is interwoven with some of the deepest, and most challenging tendencies now at work in American life and which it is the imperative duty of responsible statesmanship to combat.

The attack on the 18th amendment is but a part of a great movement which menaces all that is most American in our institutions. It is the fighting front of a conflict that is deeper than the liquor question, deep as that which the conflict is, shall the constitution be nullified or shall it be enforced? This challenge to the very existence of constitutional government. What could be a graver issue than that? How can we afford to ignore it?

"But the liquor question itself is a question that political leadership can not ignore. The American people by writing the 18th amendment into the constitution, registered the conviction that the welfare of the nation demanded that they should be protected from exploitation by a traffic that took a heartless toll from millions of innocent persons, women and children for the most part who were sacrificed to its financial greed.

The liquor interests naturally resisted and their resistance has grown to the point where they have succeeded in inducing certain States to nullify the constitution and now are pressing forward to gain control of the federal government itself in order to paralyze prohibition enforcement.

"If free government means anything, it means precisely that issues of this kind should form the basis of party contests and popular decisions. If party government means anything, if political parties are to be more than a badge or label to entrap and confuse the unwary voters, then this is the kind of question upon which parties that appeal for votes should above all have and declare a policy.

"The avowed object of preventing a party decision upon the prohibition question is to gain votes of opponents and enemies of the amendment. It is a policy which, if followed, would place the party

KING ON TRIAL OF PEONAGE IN GEORGIA COURT

Wealthy Physician-Planter Charged With Cruelty to Employees of Plantation.

Athens, Ga., June 7.—(AP)—A picture of plantation negroes hoeing corn and chopping cotton under threats of death and suffering personal violence when incurring the displeasure of their wealthy employer has been held up to federal jury sitting in the trial of Dr. W.R. King, physician-farmer, on charge of peonage.

Barnett Arwood, a white man who worked on Dr. King's Oglethorpe county farm, testified that he was struck down with a pistol for suggesting that he attend a barbecue on the farm.

Arwood said he mentioned the matter to Dr. King while at a well drawing water for live-stock. His employer felled him with a pistol he testified and ended an argument by threatening: "I'll shoot you."

Prosecution witnesses were heard at the start of the trial as the government laid the framework for its specific charge that Dr. King forced Henry Dorsey, negro, to work on his farm without pay. An array of more than three score witnesses, several summoned by Dr. King, were held in readiness today by opposing counsel.

One of the witnesses came from Danville, Va., with a story of cruelties that last week caused Governor Clifford Walker to order an investigation. He had not testified, James Felton, a negro, told the Danville chief of police that about fifty negroes worked under armed guard on the King plantation and that five were slain. He escaped after three weeks ago, he said, after working more than a year.

Mrs. Barnett Arwood testified that she and her husband were threatened with incarceration should they leave the farm. "Dr. King promised me $1.25 a day," the husband testified, "and all I got was food and no clothes, except one time he gave me a quarter."

Raymond Tyler, a negro, testified that he and four other negroes were whipped on one occasion by Dr. King and a companion. Tyler asserted all were stripped of their clothes and beaten severely.

J. M. Nicholson, formerly a clerk at Moxey's, Ga., testified that he witnessed the whipping.

Wants To Fly

GEORGETTE COHAN ROUSE.

London, June 7.—(AP)—Mrs. Georgette Cohan Rouse, daughter of George M. Cohan, the American actor-manager-playwright, expects to take up aviation this summer as a "serious pastime." She plans to pilot her own plane.

Mrs. Rouse is visiting her mother, Ethel Lavey, now the wife of Graham White, Racer and aviator. She will remain in London several months. She denied recent reports that she would appear on the London stage in a new musical production.

FLOOD WATERS STILL REcede IN LOUISIANA

New Orleans, June 7.—(AP)—While the flood waters in the lower Mississippi valley continued to recede to make room for the new crest now moving down, the work of sending the refugees back to their homes, in sections where it is considered safe, was getting in full swing.

At Baton Rouge plans were perfected to start a party of 200 out for their homes tomorrow. With them will go a sufficient number of work animals to care for the early planting.

At Vicksburg, L. O. Crosby, relief director for Mississippi, said that the number of refugees being cared for in camps over the State had been reduced from 55,000 to 8,000. He said that all precautions were being taken to evacuate the camps in an orderly manner which would be best for the physical condition of the returning refugees. State troops are on duty at the camps, he said.

Along the lower Atchafalaya the water had begun to make the last expected rise which will bring it to its crest about the middle of the month. The gauge read 9.6 with the forecast for at least a foot more of water before the crest passes.

Backwaters at Greenville will rise at least a foot and a half, Major John C. H. Lee, engineer, added that he believed, however, that natural drainage would take care of a large part of the new water and that very little of the land recently drained off would go under water again.

Ambassador Jacob Schurman Hails Flyers as Messengers of Good Will.

Tempelhof Air Field, Germany, June 7.—(AP)—Clarence D. Chamberlin and Charles Levine brought their trans-Atlantic monoplane Columbia down on Tempelhof air field at 5:51 o'clock this afternoon, completing their interrupted flight from Roosevelt Field, New York.

"They flew from Kottbus, Brandenburg Province, 70 miles southeast of the capital, beginning the short hop at 4:15 p. m. It was at Kitzingen, a little village near Kottbus, that the Columbia came to rest in a marshy field yesterday while the fliers were attempting to reach Berlin from Etleben, where their great trans-Atlantic flight from New York was first broken.

The Columbia was first sighted from the field shortly before 5:30 p. m., and there arose a great roar of welcome from the thousands gathered at the airfield.

After having made his initial appearance, the pilot swung over Berlin proper in order to give the populace what it had awaited so eagerly all day yesterday and today, a chance to catch a glimpse of the plane that had conquered the Atlantic.

Then he headed back for the field and came down. When the Columbia swooped to land thousands at the airport café cleared the tables of cups and linen and then mounted them at vantage point to the landing.

The greatest enthusiasm prevailed, girls waving handkerchiefs and throwing kisses.

Ambassador Schurman walked out on the landing field where he greeted the fliers and escorted them to the official reception stand where both were formally greeted.

Huge laurel wreaths were placed on the plane's propeller and the Americans were escorted to the reception hall of the airfield while the Columbia was hauled into one of the Luftwaffe hangars.

As Chamberlin and Levine left the plane, the crowds impetuously attempted to break the police cordon a bit but did not get far.

At the conclusion of the welcoming speeches at the plane, the crowds raised three deafening cheers for Chamberlin and Levine and drove madly to get near the aviators. Chamberlin mounted the fuselage of the Columbia and acknowledged the tribute.

Ambassador Jacob G. Schurman, welcoming Chamberlin in his arrival at Tempelhof Field, hailed him as a messenger of goodwill and friendship from the American people to the German people and then invited him and Mr. Levine to be his guests at the American embassy.

"Welcome to the aviator who made the first non-stop flight from New York to Germany and covered the greatest distance ever made in continuous flight," the Ambassador said. "In accomplishing this wonderful exploit you have at the same time enlarged our vision of the possibilities of human achievement."

"We Americans here are proud of you. The American people are proud of you. We all congratulate you most enthusiastically, congratulate you and salute you as the conqueror of the ocean and the champion of the air."

"I am delighted that you and your companion on your flight arrived in Germany in such excellent condition and beg you both to come with me to the American embassy where you will be my guests."

A continuous telephonic communication between Berlin and the London Bureau of the Associated Press gave American newspapers today an almost instantaneous account of the sighting and maneuvering of the trans-Atlantic monoplane Columbia before her landing on Tempelhof Field, the airport of the German capital.

This account, forwarded by cable to New York in the form of sharp flashes, told of the Columbia's circling over the air field, the cheering of the crowd, the raising of the American flag and later of Chamberlin's graceful gesture in flying over central Berlin so the whole population might see the plane.

The normal time difference between Berlin and New York is six hours. But this is reduced by five by the fact that New York now is on daylight saving time. Thus the tellings of the landing of the Columbia at 5:51 p. m., Berlin time, and received at 12:33 p. m., was a bare two minutes behind the actual event.

SOX AND YANKS FIGHT TO LEAD IN AMERICAN

(By The Associated Press)
Big league baseball fans today had the thrilling prospect of a duel between Chicago White Sox pitching and New York batting with the leadership of the American League at stake.

In their last game before the series with the Yankees, the second place White Sox yesterday administered a 10 to 2 defeat to the Boston Red Sox for their fourth straight victory in the east end of a clean sweep of the series. Since the Yankees were idle yesterday victory carried the Sox to within 25 percentage points of the leaders.

The latest victory of the White Sox was another pitching triumph although the mound work was backed by better than average work afield and at bat. The game was the tenth victory in twelve starts this season for Ted Lyons whom Ray Schalk is working in rotation with Ted Blankenship and Alhapse Thomas.

While the White Sox were making things hot for the Yankees in defiance of all pre-season predictions Connie Mack of the Athletics was tinkering with his club's man-chipery to see what was keeping it from going faster. The result of revamping the line-up was a 4 to 1 victory over the Cleveland Indians in which Zack Wheat and Fox, the substitutes who were given regular jobs in the shift, played important roles.

John McGraw, with no big league game scheduled yesterday, also was considering a shakeup in a lineup which has been going none to well in the West.

To make things all the more uncomfortable for the Giants who meet the Pirates today, all the Western teams in their league were going at a never faster clip.

A 7 to 5 victory for the leading Pirates over the Phillies added to their lead while the Cardinals also quickened their pace by downing the Robins 6 to 2. By beating the Boston Braves 4 to 3 in 10 innings, the Chicago Cubs pushed into a tie with the Giants for third place.

Wrestling Under Cloud In Chicago

Chicago, June 7.—(AP)—Professional wrestling was down on the mat today under a cloud of charges that may end its career in this State.

Shouting assertions of crookedness, fakes and flops, witnesses before the State legislative investigating committee in a five hour session yesterday were answered both from the stand and the floor in denials equally as loud while promoters, managers and wrestlers called each other hard names.

No evidence was adduced, however, to show that any fake matches had been staged since the Illinois Athletic Commission took charge of wrestling last November.

A threat to introduce a repeal of the law legalizing the mat game was legislative committee's contribution to the uproarious session. Another and quicker result was the cancellation of the heavyweight wrestling champion match between Ed "Strangler" Lewis and Joe Mac scheduled for the Cubs park here next Friday night.

Jim Mullen, the promoter, said he would have nothing further to do with wrestling until the charges could be disproved. "If that can be done."

Ahoskie To Play Local Military Unit Tomorrow

Probably one of the fastest ball games to be seen at the fair grounds here this season will be played tomorrow afternoon at four o'clock between members of the local military unit and Ahoskie. The visiting club will not only be prepared to fight as they never fought before, but are determined to win from Greenville if such a thing is possible.

The military boys on the other hand are as determined not to drop the contest, and have been putting in some grueling practice work to get themselves in trim for the fray. It has not yet been decided who will do mound duty for the locals. Sammy Carson is rather reticent in such matters, but from all indications West is slated to start the game, and this in itself assures local fans of something interesting.

GEORGIA TECH MAN GETS TRY OUT WITH SENATORS

Washington, June 7.—(AP)—Shortstop "Topper" Rigney, recently obtained by the Washington Americans from the Boston Red Sox, has been benched and Manager Buckey Harris announced Bob Reeves, former Georgia Tech captain, was to be given a tryout at the position in today's game with Cleveland.

Rigney, since May 18 has made ten errors and his batting average has been .212.

ODDS AGAINST JONES REPEATING

(By O. B. Keeler)

As usual, the question of the national open championship of 1927 tends to resolve itself to a simple premise. Who will be right?

Who will be right at Aakmont, that 7,000-yard test of championship golf? Who will remove Bobby Jones's crown, or one of his two big crowns, from his blond head—or will perchance Bobby himself be right at Aakmont?

The odds of course are powerfully against Bobby. It has been more than fifty years since an open champion of the United States repeated. The incredibly brilliant and woefully fated MacDermott was the last, indeed, the only one in what we call modern golf. Willie Anderson, back in the days when the lively ball emerged from its gutta-percha cocoon, was the winner in 1903 and 1904, and 1905, and two years before this string. In 1901, he also had been champion. But the total number of entrants in four tournaments would total no more than one-third of the gigantic field which entered the regional qualifying rounds of the championship of 1927.

Golf is a different matter now. And there is the fiercest competition to be found in individual sport today.

McDermott seemed set to hang up a record beyond even his successive victories in 1911 and 1912. In 1910 he was tied for first place with Alex and MacDonald Smith—the Smith Brothers—and Alex won the play-off. So for three successive years over the 72-hole route the great McDermott was at the top. Then came that ghastly day at Muirfield, in Scotland, when in the British open championship McDermott flared drive after drive out of bounds from a tee alongside Arch Wood. It broke his heart. It broke his health. It finished his nerves. And today Johnny McDermott is to golf much as our American boy, Paul Morphy remains to chess—its pride and its sorrow.

Well, Well—no one has repeated since Johnny's time, fifteen years ago. Jones has been nearest since in the last five championships he has been either first or second and he and Walter Hagnalome have won the title twice since McDermott.

It's a matter of who will be right I've seen it happen so again and again. I saw Sarazen getting right early in 1922 in Florida. He came home with a 68 at Skokie to win the national open by a stroke. At Oakland Hills in 1924 there was a whisper about that little Cyril Walker was "right," that he was playing staidest golf of the field. Cyril was not a hot favorite, compared with Hagen and Jones and Sarazen and some others. But his four rounds over that vast gale-swept course were 74-74-74-75—297, three strokes ahead of Bobby Jones, and unapproached for steadiness by Jones or anyone else.

Who will be "right" this time? If the big winter champions mean anything and their form maintains itself, Bobby Cruickshank is as likely to be right as the next one. But there are too many good ones for speculation; a dozen or 15 of our own boys, and that squad of Britons, say 20 in all, any one of whom is good enough to win if only he's right. And if you named 20 who, along might come another hotter than the others, and upset your figures.

How many, save a few intimates, would have picked Walter in 1924 or Macfarlane in 1925, in 20 selections?

Amateur Turns In Best Card In Golf Play

Atlanta, Ga., June 7.—(AP)—Walter Gunn, the only amateur to turn in a card in the sectional qualifying rounds here for the national open tournament had the best card of 17 contestants. His score of 74-73-147 over the East Lake course was three over par and 11 strokes better than that of Walter Kennett, Tampa, Fla., professional. Fairly Clark professional at Savannah, Ga. was the third player to qualify. His card showed 63-78-101.

Twenty-one players were entered for the 36 hole test. Four did not play and four quit after nine holes. High winds affected the contestants.

CAPS ON TOP IN PIEDMONT

Raleigh, June 7.—(AP)—Turning in fine assists, on outcut and two errors, "Red" Proctor, Raleigh's new pitcher, had a full day of yesterday as he pulled the Caps to a ten inning victory over Winston-Salem, 9-8; Page walked four Colts to help Salisbury lick Durham 4-2; and bunched hits aided High Point to win from Rocky Mount 6-2.

The Piedmont loop race continues a tight affair, the Pointers gaining runner-up position on the Caps who held on to the lead they gained for top position in the week-end series. Durham remained in the cellar while Salisbury, with its win kept farther away from the bottom rung.

Voight Loses In Golf Tournament

Richmond, Va., June 7.—(AP)—George Voight, ranked by virtue of his spectacular winning of the North and South championship among the leading amateur golfers of the present season, will be absent at the tee off in the national open tournament.

Negotiation of two holes for seven in the sectional qualifying play here yesterday by Voight was responsible for his failure to win a place in the tournament's entry list. Two young North Carolina professionals, Roland Hancock, of Linville and Harold Long of Raleigh, captured the two qualifying berths each with 153 for the 36 holes.

Voight turned in card of 156. In the afternoon play he took a seven on the first hole and a similar tally on the par five tenth hole. Voight in gaining the North and South championship last spring at Pinehurst, set an American qualifying record of 135, with successive scores of 67 and 68.

Urge Automobile Owners To Avoid Last Minute Rush

One hundred and fifty automobile licenses have been issued by the license bureau in this city since June 1st, according to information made public this morning.

Automobile owners are being urged to purchase licenses as soon as possible in order to avoid the rush the last part of the month. No one, however, will be permitted to use the new license plates before July 1st, and F. A. Doughton, commissioner of the department of revenue has so instructed State and county officers.

Miss Ward Moore, who is in charge of the local bureau in the Exide Battery building, today urged car owners to determine the amount of the cost of the license which they require and to be able to present the specific change when applying for the plate. This plan it is believed, will eliminate considerable worry and facilitate the handling of the enormous business during the final days of the month.

Moral Disarmament Called Rotary Goal

T. C. THOMSEN

Ostend, Belgium, June 7.—(AP)—The trend in Europe today is toward higher barriers of trade but someday the pendulum will swing and the barriers will be levelled to smooth the way for progress, T. C. Thomsen of Aarhus, Denmark, declared today before the convention of Rotary International.

"The new diplomacy," he said "must build bridges of international understanding, tolerance and good will across the frontiers of Europe—not only in arts and sciences but commerce and industry.

"International peace is a wonderful program, but this aim cannot be accomplished unless better economic relations are established. International industrial ententes are forming. They should be encouraged, organized in the right way and in the right spirit.

"In Europe, with many nations all with their special culture, language and traditions, mutual understanding and friendship are not very prevalent today.

"But when Rotary grows strong we can disclose through our members the hidden sources of national difficulties, and then educate public opinion and finally, by united effort in a spirit of friendliness and tolerance we can hope to solve our common problems.

"Rotary will help bring about that moral disarmament without which no material guarantees of peace and security will prove adequate.

Colored Schools Finals End Today

Dr. R. H. Bowling, of Norfolk, Va., delivered the annual literary address before the graduating class of colored schools of Greenville last night. Final exercises of the commencement were held this morning.

The colored schools for years have endeavored to prepare interesting programs for commencement day. That last night is conceded to have been the best in many years. The parade of high school classes, former graduates now teaching in the various schools of the county and the faculty was a brilliant affair—one long to be remembered by the hundreds in attendance.

Dr. C. J. Henderson, of Washington, who introduced the principal speaker of the evening was presented by Prof. C. M. Epps.

Prof. J. H. Rose, superintendent of white schools, presented diplomas to the graduates. Those receiving diplomas were Ralph Peele, Thelma Lanier, Nannie Perle and Lucile Daniel.

Senator M. K. Blount presented certificates to the grammar grades to enter high school.

In the absence of Hon. E. G. Flanagan, Dr. J. A. Battle presented prizes. Prof. Epps had a purse of $50. to present to Prof. J. H. Rose from the "High School Club" to aid in the purchase of maps, but Mr. Rose left before this part of the program could be carried out.

The Domestic science department from "Fashion Show" reported the reduction of a debt of $39. to $17. for furniture and the payment of $37.50 on the World Book.

A report just made public by the Agriculture Department shows that while cotton and tobacco are still considered North Carolina's main money crops, farmers have received millions of dollars for poultry, truck, potatoes and the like. The farmers who are devoting all their attention to the two so-called money crops are indeed passing up the opportunity to make some real money out of diversification or sideline crops.

The market price for titles would seem to be depreciating, for it appears that an American woman was able to induce a prince to marry her "in name only" for the modest wage of $250 a month. A lot more American money than that has been paid for titles in the prenuptial "settlements."

Presumably the enthusiasts for Lindbergh have not yet had time to think of completing his glory by proposing him for President.

Lindbergh has reported that he got his only fright at the beginning of the automobile drive from Croydon. He saw a great limousine about to plunge into his car, as he thought, and shrank back only to find that nothing had happened. "No one had ever told me that the drive on the left-hand side of roads in England." Only in Great Britain and Ireland is this custom followed. There is an amusing story of a visiting Englishwoman who demanded to know of her French hostess why the motor cars in Paris all followed the right-hand side of the way. "It is positively ridiculous, you know," she said. "Not at all," was the answer; "they do the same thing in the United States." To which the Englishwoman retorted: "But that is no excuse. Why should the French be wrong also?"

THOSE PRESS CONFERENCES

One may readily believe that the newspaper correspondents were more than pleased when President Coolidge abolished his much criticized "White House Spokesman." Now, they thought, Mr. Coolidge would say only what he wanted to say and let them print it. But it seems that the predictions of new restrictions have been promptly verified. One correspondent, bubbling over with hopeful enthusiasm, ventured to ask for the President's views on a third term. Result: a new set of rules. It is now reported that the correspondents may not say they saw the President: they may not quote what he said; they may not say that an official spokesman said what Mr. Coolidge told them; they may not say to what extent the information is official; they may not even mention that they asked a question which Mr. Coolidge declined to answer. In short, they may say only what Mr. Coolidge would like them to say, and as there is possibility of doubt as to just what this is, repudiation may follow. It looks as if the last state of the correspondents is rather worse than the first. Those writing for Administration organs can cheerfully act as mere publicity agent of the President, but the correspondents of the more independent press, representing all shades of opinion, must be inclined to ask themselves whether it is really worth while to attend these press conferences at the White House. One would think that the President himself must share their doubts, and that a man so sensitive to criticism as he would prefer to stop them but for their "publicity" values. At any rate, "news" so indefinite in character is of little service to the public.

STOCK MARKET
New York, June 7.—(AP)—Strong buying support came into the stock market today to counteract the selling inspired by the huge increase in brokers loans last week. While several new weak spots developed during the season, major speculative activity was again on the upside, more than two score new high records being established in the early hours of trading. Trading was in fairly heavy volume, with indications that the 2,000,000 share market would again be crossed by a comfortable margin. The closing was steady. Total sales approximated 2,500,000 shares.

Two Farmers Are Highly Honored At State College

Raleigh, June 7.—(AP)—Two North Carolina's best farmers, one from Rowan county in the west and the other from Wayne county in the east were honored by the North Carolina State College today. W. D. Graham of Mt. Ulla, Rowan county and E. E. Stevens of Grantham's township, Wayne county, each were awarded a "certificate of meritorious service" proclaiming that these two had rendered service to the state's agricultural industry. Extension workers nominated them, the faculty of the school of agriculture passed on them, the board of trustees unanimously conferred the certificates and awards was in person incident to conferring of degrees at the 38th annual commencement exercises today.

Graham is rated as one of the best farmers in the piedmont section, a member of the Rowan county board of commissioners, father of 13 living children, ten of them boys, and has a farm of 350 acres as carefully tended as if it were a garden. The farm is cooperative at fair.

Sheriff Stevens is 68, leader in political, educational and community affairs of his home section, and has a 600 acre farm self supporting etc.

COLLEGES OF STATE

Chapel Hill, June 7.—(AP)—North Carolina smiled on women in education this commencement time. President H. W. Chase of the University of North Carolina, announced that women are to be given membership on the faculty for the first time in 133 years.

At North Carolina State College three women were given degrees and next year women will be admitted to the school of education for the first time. At Wake Forest College, women will be admitted next year for the first time.

Soviet Russian Minister Slain

Warsaw, Poland, June 7.—(AP)—The Soviet minister Poland, M. Wojkoff, was assassinated at the Warsaw Central Railway station today by Boris Kwowarda, a young Russian student.

(M. Wojkoff, who papers says signed the death warrant of Czar Nicholas and the Russian imperial family.)

The minister had gone to the station to meet A. P. Rosengolz, former charge d'affaires in London en route to Moscow after the recent breaking of diplomatic relations between England and the Soviet.

During the train stop M. Wojkoff and Rosengolz had coffee and then walked up and down the platform young Kwowarda approached and drawing a revolver, fired six shots.

Although mortally wounded in the breast, M. Wojkoff drew his own pistol, but collapsed before he could use it. The assassin, a 19-year-old student in Vilna high school surrendered his revolver saying "I killed Wojkoff."

His wife and Foreign Minister Zaleski of Poland arrived before the end. After the minister's death, M. Rosengolz declared he had been informed in Berlin that there was an anti-Soviet Club in Warsaw and that there was danger of an attempt on his life.

The assassin who is the son of a former Russian employe living in Vilna, stated that he had decided months ago to kill M. Wojkoff.

VETERANS URGED TO CONVERT INSURANCE
Unless World War Veterans heed the warning of the U. S. Veterans' Bureau to reinstate and convert their wartime insurance by July 2, 1927, some thirty billion dollars of insurance will become void on that date and will be lost to veterans. At though numerous bills to extend this date were introduced during the last session of Congress, is no possibility of the final date none of these were passed, so there being extended as happened in the past, for Congress has adjourned without amending the law in this respect, and the date cannot be changed by Bureau regulation.

On March 1, 1927, the Veterans' Bureau had paid out in disability and death benefits, on term insurance, the huge sum of $949,936,509. On converted insurance up to that date, they had paid disability benefits totalling $2,313,265, and death benefits to beneficiaries amounting to $27,038,929.

The total amount of term insurance reinstated up to March 1 was $2,649,267,868, and converted insurance which had been dropped and later revived totalled $76,555,063.

J. S. Pittman, regional manager of the Bureau at Charlotte, calls attention to the fact that while a large number of veterans within the state are taking advantage of the opportunity, many, possibly through ignorance of their rights, are neglecting the opportunity, and he, therefore, urgently advises that all World War veterans of North Carolina communicate without delay with the Charlotte Regional Office, or American Legion or American Red Cross representatives within the state, either of whom will be pleased to furnish detailed information.

BADLY RUN-DOWN

Kentucky Woman Had "Terrible Time" Doing Her Home Work. Strength Returned After She Took Cardui.

Shelbyville, Ky.—"Several years ago," says Mrs. Alven Jesse, of this place, "my health was very bad. I was very much run-down. I was in such a weak, nervous condition that I was not able to do my housework. I struggled to keep up, because I had to, but many a time I spent hours in bed, trying to force enough strength to go through the daily routine."

"This condition went on for some time, until I heard about Cardui, which some one told me was good for such ailments. I gave it an immediate trial, and, I am thankful to say, my improvement was rapid. I soon was able to do my housework with ease and comfort. I felt fine and I looked so much better."

"This spring I was not as well as I had been. I was ill in the winter with colds, which left me weak. So I sent at once to the store for Cardui and began taking it. In just a little while I was feeling much better, my strength returned and I was able to get my work done easier and with less effort."

Brain and heart are the government. The cells are the citizens, and most important.

Dr. Mendelsohn, of Berlin University, says: "The secret of life is the ability of living cells to effect change of matter and absorb and eject fluids. This change of fluids seems to be the principal cause of blood circulation."

The secret of making life worth while is the ability of the living brain to accept and absorb new ideas. That is the principal cause of human progress.

The man, actually committing the crime, was the more guilty, was a murderer, and deserves extra punishment in addition to being a punishment for cowardice.

Heavy Rainfalls Cut Forest Fires

Craven County has passed through one of the driest seasons in many years—and when the people get to praying for rain, it must be quite dry. The rains of the last week have materially lessened the danger of fires. At this time it is difficult to say how much land has been burned, but a large part of it was consumed the month of March when the county temporarily ceased co-operating. Laws were violated with no fear of being apprehended. Due to the good work of the warden organization, large areas were saved from the devastating flames.

County Warden Simmons has been busy with fires and has also handled a large number of prosecutions. Many parties responsible for starting fires paid the extinction costs rather than be prosecuted, which has amounted to a saving to the county of about 1-4 of the appropriation.

A peculiar phenomenon in regard to the fires this spring is that the same ground has been burned over more than once. Many people who burned their land early in January or February apparently for protection were surprised and disappointed to have it burned in April or May and do by far more damage the second time. The very ground has burned to a depth of six feet, making it very difficult to handle fires satisfactorily.

Jones County has also been very hard hit by forest fires, especially during May, when the county discontinued the work of fire protection. Lenoir and Pitt counties had few fires, since they had slightly more rain and have less bad fire hazards.

Wayne and Green counties have been asked to co-operate with the government in protecting their valuable timber lands from fire and much favorable sentiment has been expressed in regard to the work there.

Wall Street's bears, bruised and scarred, but happy, sat on top yesterday reciting, "Time at length makes all things even, and if we do but wait the hour, there never yet was human power which could search and vigil long of him who treasures up a wrong."

Just how long the bears will continue happy remains to be seen. Not VERY LONG probably.

The world's dancing record is retained by Fernando, who "remained in motion" in Berlin for 144 hours, with ten minutes pause each hour. One thousand six hundred and forty-two partners danced with him, different bands played 1,861 selections, and hundreds of young women proposed marriage.

Such futile dancing seems supremely silly. The Japanese whirl-mouse could dance Fernando off his feet. The heart, most marvelous machine, next to the brain "remains in motion" all through life. And the brain of man, more important than his dancing feet, works steadily every waking hour, and does not tire.

James Francis Burke, former secretary of the Republican National Committee, and Republican whip in the House, having polled "the best minds" in the north, says they will "force" President Coolidge to run. Seventy in 100 best minds demand Coolidge.

Governor Lowden comes second, with ten per cent of the best minds—the remaining twenty per cent scattered.

The best minds also agree that the Democrat hardest to defeat would be Governor Smith. So, it looks more and more like "Cal and Al" for 1928.

Denver.—(INS)—"It was in his blood!"

That was the cryptic comment here of Mrs. Jennie E. Land, Denver clubwoman, whose late husband Scott Land, was a great uncle to Captain Charles Lindbergh, whose solo flight from New York to Paris has made him an international hero.

And the blood that races through the veins of the intrepid young flier is a composite of many peoples, according to Mrs. Land—blood of the Vikings of old, of the French, Irish and English, all now thoroughly Americanized.

There was nothing of chance in Captain Lindbergh's adventure. Mrs. Land declared. "He not only answered the summons of his own spirit to test his convictions and the truths of science learned from his mother, Evangeline Lindbergh, but he listened as well to the still small voice of ancestors who had faithfully followed the high, hard path of science."

Mrs. Land partially traced Captain Lindbergh's ancestry as follows:

The great-great-grandfather of Captain Charles Lindbergh on his mother's side was a Captain Hayden, who won renown as a shipbuilder in England.

A son of this shipbuilder left the motherland and settled in Canada, where a son and daughter were born to him.

The great-grandfather of Captain Lindbergh on his mother's side was Dr. Lodge, who won fame as a scientist, and the grandfather of the peerless flier was Dr. C. L. Land, a dentist of Detroit, Mich.

Dr. Land, according to Mrs. Jennie Land, had a daughter, Evangeline, who became the mother of Captain Charles Lindbergh.

There is reason why Captain Charles Lindbergh should be at ease with the great of the land where he is an honored guest. Mrs. Land continued. "He has inherited greatness and gentleness and splendid courage, and has acquired through a splendid mother a knowledge of what is best in life and how to express it."

"Lucky" Lindbergh was widely known throughout Colorado, where he spent several months doing stunt flying in Denver, Pueblo, Rocky Ford and other sections during 1925. His great achievement in flying alone from New York to Paris was made the occasion of a splendid eulogy by John Thurston 16 year old North Denver high school senior, whose verse has been set to music by Leon W. Cowles, 24, of Denver.

The eulogy, entitled, "The Birdman" dedicated to the American aviation hero follows:

"Into the mist and fog of the sea
 Winging your way on high;
 Fearlessly, bravely, yes tirelessly,
 Cleaving the gray of the sky.
 Only a dot in the heaven o'erhead,
 Only a speck there alone,
 And only a frail little monoplane
 Blazing a trail all it sown.

"Humanity's proud of you, Lindbergh, my man,
 And a thousand good wishes we bring,
 To a man who could dare, who could brave all the world,
 And return to his homeland, a King."

 course, but the cells, eating, drinking, digesting, each living a separate life, are more important than the heart, even in blood circulation. The human body is like a nation

Narrowly Escapes Mad Customer

"There is one thing that absolutely gets my goat," said a business man recently, "and that is for a dealer to pick me for an easy mark."

The other day I stepped into a soft-drink place and asked clearly and distinctly for Orange-Crush. Instead of giving me what I wanted, however, the dealer tried to slip me a cheapened imitation.

"He was so slick and sly about it that I completely lost my temper and made a swing at him. My only regret is that I didn't knock him through the window!"

Violent words but who can blame him? For Orange-Crush is made from real oranges, contains real orange juice, whereas the substitutes that are usually offered in its stead get their flavor entirely from imitation extracts, contain no orange juice whatever.

In making Orange-Crush, the juice of luscious oranges is blended with the delicate flavor of their peel, the zestful tang of the fruit acid found in oranges, lemons and limes, a pure food color such as is used in cakes and candies, beautiful carbonated water, pure cane sugar. Nothing else.

The public is warned always to ask for Orange-Crush by name and to accept it only in the Krinkly Bottle.
