BIRDMEN DENY INTENTION OF HAWAIIAN TRIP

Army Race Pilots Merely Testing of Triple Motor Fokker Plane.

Muskogee, Okla., June 17.—(AP)—Lieut. Lester Maitland, army air race pilot, and Lieutenant A. F. Hegenberger, who arrived at Hat Box Field here yesterday from Dayton, today denied any intention of entering a flight to Hawaii.

They declared they were making transcontinental test of their triple motored Fokker monoplane in line with a program outlined by the army with a view to adapting the ships to carry troops.

Their plane is loaded with sandbags equivalent to the weight of thirty men.

Lieut. Maitland said they planned to take off today for Kelly Field, San Antonio, Texas, where they may remain for several weeks to conduct a series of tests.

The plane has seen considerable service and was used recently by Assistant Secretary of War Davis in charge of aviation, for a tour of the Southwest, including the joint air corps-infantry maneuvers at San Antonio.

Chicago, June 17.—(AP)—The Herald Examiner today said that two army fliers in triple motored Fokker planes are now en route from Wilbur Wright Field, Dayton, Ohio, to the Pacific Coast, with the secret object of beating the navy to first honors for a non-stop flight to Hawaii.

The pilots, Lieutenants Lester Maitland, noted army air racer and Lieutenant A. F. Hegenberger took off yesterday, making every effort to attract as little attention as possible. The plane landed at Scott Field, near Belleville, Ill., during the afternoon, refueled, and then continued westward, the newspaper said, coming down again at Hat Box Field, Muskogee, Okla.

Dayton, Ohio, June 17.—(AP)—Word from Wilbur Wright Field here yesterday of Lieutenants Lester Maitland and A. F. Hegenberger was for an unannounced destination field attaches said today, and possibly has Hawaii for the goal. The flight is awaiting approval of Mr. or General Mason M. Patrick, chief of the army air service, it was said at the field.

Lieut. Maitland, unofficially holds the army speed record in flying having traveled 281 miles an hour in a test over Wilbur Wright Field some time ago. He was born in Wisconsin 29 years ago. Lieutenant Hegenberger, a native of Massachusetts, is 32 years old.

Although official announcements were withheld here, it was believed that the fliers have set out for the Pacific Coast, there to make a final test before attempting to hop to Hawaii.

Washington, June 17.—(AP)—The War Department has not as yet given its approval to any long distance flights by army aviators. Major General Mason M. Patrick, chief of the air corps, said today. He described the "unannounced" flights of Lieutenants Maitland and Hegenberger from Wright field as a test for the tri-motored plane but said he could not say where the plane would land on the west coast or whether it might hop off to Hawaii.

General Patrick declined to say whether a flight to Hawaii was under consideration. Other air corps officers revealed however, that a plane had been groomed at Wright field that was capable of a long flight.

Weather Man Says Summer Will Come Soon, After All

Faleigh, June 17.—(AP)—The North Carolina Weather Bureau says: there will be a summer after all—and soon.

The climatological data for May, issued today, found the month rather warm and dry. The monthly mean temperature was 68 degrees or 13 above normal, determined from 55 stations have ten more years' records. The highest was 100 degrees at Weldon on the 24th, the lowest, 18, at Mount Mitchell on the 12th, established a new minimum for May for the state.

Cotton made good progress, corn fairly good, tobacco good and poor in spots, strawberries very good, truck, potatoes, small grain and pastures showed effect of insufficient moisture. Low temperature of the spring reduced the peach crop to about one-half and apples to one-third, the statement concludes.

TODAY

Europe Worries. Thanks Be For Lindbergh. One Lady Jumped. One Lady Fought.

(By Arthur Brisbane) Copyright 1927, by Star Co.

A dispatch from Quebec late yesterday afternoon reported Nunnesser and Coll had been found alive. Safe return of those brave Frenchmen would be the best possible news all over the world.

Europe is really worried about war. The League of Nations considered the quarrel between Russia and Poland, caused by the murder of the Russian Minister, a serious menace to the peace of the world. Let us hope we shall not be dragged into it, we did not shoot that Russian.

It is suggested that all the other nations of Europe united in warning Russia that any blow struck by the Russian government will be resented and punished by all the nations combined.

That may frighten Russia, but probably won't. Europe's kings combined against France in her revolution, and France proceeded to beat them all. The revolution ultimately produced Napoleon and the world knows what he did.

Thank heaven for Lindbergh. He may make this government realize that to be defenseless in the air IS TO BE ABSOLUTELY DEFENSELESS. He told the Chamber of Commerce in New York yesterday: "We don't want war, and the way to avoid it is to be prepared for it. We need greatly enlarged commercial air service, greatly increased air mail service, to develop good pilots. It takes longer to make a pilot than to make a flying machine."

He reminded New York of the disgraceful fact that the richest city in the world has no air port, and must travel far off to Long Island to find one.

U. S. FLIERS LEAVE TODAY FOR HAMBURG

Levine and Chamberlin, With Wives, Hop Off After Early Morning Reunion.

Bremen Germany, June 17.—(AP)—The American fliers Chamberlin and Levine accompanied by their wives, left by air today for Hamburg, from which they will go to Magdenburg and then Berlin.

Bremenhaven, Germany, June 17.—(AP)—Giving the slip to about fifty newspapermen and photographers, the trans-Atlantic aviators Clarence Chamberlin and Charles Levine had an early morning reunion with their wives, who arrived during the night on the liner Berlin from New York.

The reporters and cameramen were awakened at 5 a. m. by the bugler of the Bremen on which the aviators were the overnight guests of the North German Lloyd, only to find that Chamberlin and Levine had quietly boarded the Berlin at about 1:45 a. m.

"When we bade you all goodnight at about midnight," Chamberlin told the correspondents later. "We didn't even know we could join our wives within the next hour. We understood that the harbor regulations forbade boarding the ship until the quarantine inspection was finished, but to our happy surprise we were awakened at 1:30 and informed we would be permitted to go aboard the Berlin with Herr Heinken (president of the North German Lloyd). You can imagine how surprised our wives were."

By 6:15 the official welcoming party, with the newspapermen and photographers, had drawn alongside the Berlin in a tender, and soon on the upper deck of the liner the aviators and their wives were being subjected to a barrage of questions and demands for poses.

They accommodated the cameramen, and exchanged kisses while the shutters clicked. Both aviators had their hands full of American newspapers, the first they had seen containing accounts of their flight and they stole glances of the headlines with obvious curiosity whenever, amid the questions of the correspondents and importunities of the photographers, they could snatch a moment for reading.

"Why didn't you even have those knickers cleaned?" asked Mrs. Chamberlin of her husband, referring to the golf knickers in which he made the flight from New York.

"How could I?" he replied good naturedly. "I have been too busy even to think of it. By the way, did you bring my clothes along?" Mrs. Chamberlin assured him that she had, adding: "But I forgot the shoes and cap."

A reporter asked Mrs. Levine whether she had forgiven her husband for his unannounced participation in the flight, to which she replied: "You bet. I think he is just wonderful."

When Mrs. Chamberlin was asked what she thought of her husband now that he had become a hero she replied raptly: "It would be foolish to say."

When the party took leave of Captain Friedrich Rehmer preparatory to debarking, Mrs. Chamberlin impulsively threw her arms about him and gave him a kiss.

"You've been just too dear for words, Captain," she exclaimed in gratitude for the courtesies extended to her and Mrs. Levine during the voyage.

Along the dock a vast crowd of early risers cheered the aviators who were conducted into the State coach reserved for foreign sovereigns or other high ranking visitors. The coach was partly filled with bouquets showered upon two couples.

PRESIDENT TO OPEN OFFICES AT RAPID CITY

Coolidge Begins Preparations For Carrying For Nations Business This Summer.

Rapid City, S. D., June 17.—(AP)—Wilderness charms of the Black Hills again beckoned President Coolidge today but he planned to turn against them for a few hours at least to resume direction of the nation's business.

The executive offices were ready for him in Rapid City and he proposed to motor 32 miles from the state game lodge to look over the affairs which went by the boards during the three days he has been away from Washington. A definite program was to be laid out for meeting visitors in Rapid City and for the holding of Mr. Coolidge's regular bi-weekly conferences with correspondents.

The President went fishing with Mrs. Coolidge and she stood by admiring the skill with which he landed enough brook trout for a good sized breakfast.

This catch, furthermore, helped Mrs. Coolidge to make a decision so far as her own recreation is concerned. She vetoed a proposal that she accompany the President on one of his fishing expeditions, declaring that one fisherman of such adeptness was sufficient for a family.

She hopes to set out soon for some mountain climbing and in the stables near the summer White House a splendid riding horse named Senator, has been reserved for her.

Asheville, June 17.—(AP)—Mrs. Mildred Mitchell, accused of slaying Mrs. Sue E. Clay in a quarrel between the two during an automobile ride near here several weeks ago, is expected to go on trial for the second time at the term of court opening here next Monday.

A jury that heard the case on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week was discharged late yesterday after being deadlocked thirty one-half hours. After the jury had been dismissed it was said that it stood 6 and 6 throughout.

Mrs. Mitchell is accused of having fatally injured Mrs. Clay during a fight over the affections of W. N. Muir of Greensboro. Mrs. Mitchell claims that Mrs. Clay jumped out of Muir's automobile and that she did not strike her.

The purchasers have not announced what they will do with the huge wooden bowl and the 165 acres of land that go with it.

LINDBERGH IS WINGING WAY TO ST. LOUIS

City of St. Louis in Gala Attire Awaits Arrival Of Its Hero.

Dayton, Ohio, June 17.—(AP)—Lindbergh passed over Dayton at 1:02 p. m. and after circling McCook Field, headed in the direction of Wright Field, where the escort planes picked him up.

Reading, Pa., June 17.—(AP)—Lindbergh flew north of this city about 9 o'clock (Eastern Standard Time) this morning with two other planes as an escort. From this altitude the flier, if he had known the bearings, could have seen workmen on the new $700,000 bridge now being constructed in East Reading and this week named "Lindbergh Viaduct" in his honor.

Bedford, Pa., June 17.—(AP)—Colonel Lindbergh and his escorting planes passed over Bedford at 10:10 a. m.

St. Louis, June 17.—(AP)—Poised on the brink of the greatest reception in its annals, this city today stretched out its arms to receive Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh.

Never before has the city clothed itself in such festive attire, or prepared itself for such a public demonstration. Everywhere in the business section, flags were flying and bunting and other decorations, fitting for the occasion were displayed.

Only probably showers and thunderstorms, predicted by government meteorologists, could have damped the ardor of the city.

Colonel Lindbergh accompanied by an escort squadron of army planes, is to arrive over the Mississippi River here about 3:30 o'clock. He will circle the city at low altitude and then continue his flight to the Lambert-St. Louis Field, 15 miles from the city, where he will be officially welcomed by the Governor of Missouri and the Mayor of St. Louis.

Police and National Guardsmen will be stationed along the high wire fence encircling the flying field to keep back those who may become over zealous in attempting to extend their welcome.

Major Albert B. Albert, commandant at the flying field and Col. John Paegelow, commandant at Scott Field, near Belleville, Ill., across the Mississippi River from here, have arranged to signal the flier if the crowds become unruly and have him make his landing at Scott Field.

Washington, June 17.—(AP)—A Pacific Coast-to-Hawaii flight is being considered by the army and a flight now in progress by Lieuts. Lester Maitland and A. F. Hegenberger of Wilbur Wright Field at Dayton was said today to be in preparation for the trans-Pacific effort.

Maitland and Hegenberger who left Dayton yesterday are flying westward in a three motored Fokker plane which has been under preparation for some time.

It is understood the flight now in progress is for the purpose of testing new instruments developed to aid navigation. If they prove to be successful and the plane demonstrates its fitness it is believed it will hop off for Hawaii soon.

Reports from Vicksburg also said that the new rise was bringing about a serious situation at Tallulah, La., where relief forces were considering the establishment of a concentration camp to which they would withdraw Madison parish refugees from Vicksburg, Delhi and Levee camps.

Water was reported receding in Lake County, Tenn., and replanting again was proceeding in sections of that area. In the neighborhood of Hickman, Ky., however, the flood still covered all farm lands and most of the homes.

NEW YORK BIDS FAREWELL TO HERO OF AIR

Lindbergh Recipient Of Added Honors Last Hours In New York.

Mitchell Field, N. Y., June 17.—(AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh hopped off at 8:17 A. M. daylight time, for St. Louis in his monoplane the Spirit of St. Louis after four days of unprecedented receptions in New York.

There was a large crowd of enthusiastic admirers at the field to see him off. They lined the runway and police had a difficult time in keeping them away from the path of the plane. The take off however was perfect and in a few moments the plane was in the air.

Lindbergh is expected to reach St. Louis 4:30 p. m. (St. Louis time.) When he flew here more than a month ago he covered the 900 miles from St. Louis in seven hours and 15 minutes establishing a new record for the route. He will be aided in his flight west by a difference of two hours in time.

The Colonel submitted to his last interview with newspapermen just before he left Mitchell Field. He said he planned to proceed directly west, pass over Columbus, Ohio, possibly Indianapolis and then head for St. Louis. He expects to pick up a new army escort near Dayton.

The young flier appeared extremely tired as he answered the questions of reporters. He renewed his thanks for his reception in New York expressed appreciation of the courtesies extended him by the Army Air Service at Mitchell Field and thanked the press for its cooperation.

Lindy appeared under the impression that unannounced shifts in his plans during his stay in the city had displeased reporters who had "covered" him in his four day welcome in New York.

With characteristic diplomacy, he explained the difficulties of planning his program in advance. "Often times it was impossible to announce our plans for any length of time," he said.

New York, June 17.—(AP)—Strenuous entertainment of Colonel Lindbergh in New York for four days ended in time for him to get a little sleep prior to hopping off for St. Louis and home with the other members of the firm of "we".

Sleepless for 36 hours, during which he buried evening clothes beneath a soiled flying suit for a surprise trip to Washington and reunion with the Spirit of St. Louis, Lindbergh was whirled about Borough of the city to receive his final honors.

He retired at midnight to rest a few hours before his 900 mile flight to St. Louis, the home of the man who financed his $25,000 expedition across the Atlantic.

In his final day in New York, the Colonel received four medals, bringing his total decorations to twenty-one, and the $25,000 prize awarded by Raymond Ortleig for the first non-stop air flight from New York to Paris.

Colonel Lindbergh on his return from Washington with the Spirit of St. Louis, ran the plane down Roosevelt field in a sentimental farewell gesture to the spot where he started his great flight, cruised into the air again and landed at Mitchell field.

Police headquarters and the New York Sun building were visited briefly at the start of the day's ceremonies. After receiving a silver Plaque copy of a Sun Editorial written in tribute to his lone flight Lindy was welcomed by 700,000 cheering enthusiasts at exercises in Brooklyn.

After a parade over a 20 mile course during which 200,000 school children sounded their greetings, the flier received a medal from the Borough at Prospect Park.

He thanked all New York for his welcome, in a brief address at a luncheon at the Knights of Columbus Club-house in Brooklyn, and was then whirled to Roosevelt field to be guest of honor at a Nassau county celebration.

There he received a medal from the Nassau county Spanish War veterans and the veterans of foreign wars. Colonel Theodore Roosevelt presided. With his motorcycle police escort clearing a right-of-way for his automobile, Lindbergh speeded back to the Hotel Breevoort where he was given the Ortleig prize.

"I have two thoughts in making this offer," said Mr. Ortleig, a native of France who offered the prize in 1919. "One was to stimulate aviation, the other to strengthen relations between the United States and France. Through you, Colonel Lindbergh, my aspiration have been materialized beyond words."

Lindbergh described Ortleig's offer as a challenge to the pilots of the world to see if they could build and

BOBBY JONES OUT PICTURE AT OAKMONT

Oakmont, Pa., June 17.—(AP)—Harry Cooper, of Los Angeles, bagged a "birdie" four of the ninth hole to tie Tommy Armour, of Washington, D. C., for the first nine holes of their 18 hole play-off for the American open golf championship. They remained deadlocked with 39 strokes each, two over par.

Par out—544, 543, 435-37. Armour out—445, 553, 535-39. Cooper out—544, 644, 444-39.

Oakmont, Pa., June 17.—(AP)—Bobby Jones today for the first time in his golfing life will watch two other golfers play off a tie for the open championship of the United States. Tommy Armour of Washington and Harry Cooper of Los Angeles, tied at the end of 72 holes with scores of 361, have removed the champion from the picture. There have been two other play-offs since Jones began to take an active part in open championships seven years ago, but he was a player instead of a spectator in both.

Although the champion will not be named until Cooper and Armour have fought out an extra 18 holes this afternoon, one victory has already been awarded. The Oakmont course, a nightmare to many of the participants, now hands down from all concerned. No player was able to string together four rounds approaching par. Only two players were able in any one round to beat the 72 par and if anyone had been able to club the traps into submission sufficiently to complete four 75's he would have won.

Tommy Armour, a golfing Scot, won the right to contest further with Harry Cooper, British born but American trained golfer, by an exhibition of the daring that has made him famous as a player always willing to take a chance. The Congressional Club pro came to the 18th green after a round in which a less stout heart would have broken, needing a birdie three to finish with the leading 361 Cooper had contributed some time before.

A drive almost down the middle and far enough to be useful, left him something less than 200 yards from the green and only two shots left if the Armours were to be considered in subsequent championship developments. Armour, noted as a truly great handler of irons, needed no debate with himself as to his program. He tore into the ball and sent it right on the pin determined to get close enough to get down the shot carried straight and true and came to a stop 12 feet from the cup. There was one stroke left and it was enough. The putt went into the cup and a recount was necessary to decide the champion.

Cooper had led all day for his good 74 in the morning round left him with a 54 hole total of 224, a stroke ahead of Armour, at lunch. The afternoon brought a path of 79 for the Californian for his card was cluttered up with a trio of sixes and just before the finish he gave away a stroke to par at the 17th. He finally limped home with high hopes, although he had started with a six on the par five first hole where birdies were not uncommon.

AN APPEAL TO PRESIDENT COOLIDGE.
 Declaring that provision for the Mississippi flood sufferers is indeed a national problem, and that a special session of Congress should be called immediately to pass necessary legislation for that purpose, the Manufacturers Record editorially says:

"Through the course of a hundred years Congress has from time to time appropriated money for the relief of sufferers by flood, earthquake and fire. It also appropriated enormous sums for the relief of suffering in Russia and in Europe generally during the War period. Precedents without limit, therefore, give justification for the Constitutional right to make such appropriations in any time of great emergency.

The greatest emergency that this country has ever seen, except in war itself, is now upon the land. Six hundred thousand people are for the time being, at least, homeless, a large proportion of them living in tents under most disadvantageous circumstances, subject to all the weather conditions that prevail, and often having to meet tremendous downpours which add to the flood situation.

The Red Cross has done heroic work, but its work has not exceeded in heroism or in generosity the work which has been done by the local people in the flooded district. Heroes without number have done as heroic work as Lindbergh did when he crossed the Atlantic. He receives the well-earned plaudits of the world; but thousands and tens of thousands of people have risked their lives, in saving the lives of others, negroes and whites alike. The poorest negro child has been rescued with as much avidity as would have been put forth for the rescue of the richest man endangered. Human needs have appealed to these rescue workers. Men and women have given up their own homes that they might be turned into hospitals, or for the housing of those who have been driven by increasing rains from tents.

This appalling situation should strike deep into every human heart. Its horrors cannot be exaggerated. Sickness is inevitable. Thousands will die, unless immediate relief be given by the Federal Government on a scale never before necessary in this country, and rarely ever necessary to such an extent in any other country.

Once more we appeal in the name of humanity, in the name of suffering men, women and children, for sake of the living and to prevent the death of thousands, to President Coolidge to call an immediate session of Congress in order to appropriate a sufficient amount of money to be thrown into that district either by a Government Commission or through the Red Cross, or other agencies, to do all that is humanly possible to meet this national disaster. Back upon the nation and upon Congress, and all previous Administrations falls the absolute responsibility for every death that occurs from this disaster and for every dollar lost by those whose homes, whose livestock and everything in the way of property except the land itself, has been washed away.

Some Congressmen have opposed a special session because, as they have freely said, they were afraid of political activities if Congress should be assembled. Surely in the light of the awful facts that day by day are being revealed, members of the House and Senate dare not put such an excuse to the front; and if called in session they would dare not, without being traitors to God and humanity, utilize the occasion for the advancement of individual or party political ambitions.

Mr. President, no help adequate to the situation is possible, except through an immediate session of Congress and an appropriation, whether it be $100,000,000 or $300,000,000, to be expended for immediate relief. These people ask not for charity. It is an insult to them to offer them charity when they have a right to demand of the Federal Government on every moral ground that relief which the Red Cross cannot give and which all the banks and intermediate credit organizations cannot possibly furnish. For the sake of these 600,000 sufferers living in refugee camps, idle because there is no work, suffering poverty because everything they owned has been swept away, endangered by disease, which indeed might be carried widespread throughout the land, will you not reverse your position, and win for yourself the everlasting gratitude of the country by an immediate session of Congress?"

Cop Stabbed By Young Woman at Waynesville, N. C.

Waynesville, N. C., June 17.—(AP)—Coleman Howell, popular local policeman, is dead and Miss Dolly Carnes, young woman of the Junaluska section, is in the Haywood County jail on a charge of murder as the result of an affray which followed an argument in a room at the city hall here early this morning.

Howell was stabbed in the neck and his jugular vein severed by a knife wounds in the hands of the Carnes girl following a prolonged altercation between the two, according to Chief of Police Will Whitener, who was in a downstairs office at the city hall when the tragedy occurred and who arrested the girl immediately after the stabbing.

The pair had gone up to a room occupied by Chief Whitener early last night while Whitener and Howell were on duty, according to Whitener's statement today. Howell and Miss Carnes had been engaged in conversation for some time when the young woman, who is 20 years old, became boisterous and the chief went to demonstrate with her, telling her to keep quiet. She exhibited a knife and threatened him, Chief Whitener declared, but he left the room after she had been quieted.

Going back downstairs to his office Mr. Whitener stated he heard no suspicious sound indicating trouble for some time, but shortly the Carnes girl became boisterous again. He then hurried upstairs he said and found Howell lying on the floor, dying from the deep gash from a knife in his neck. The girl was standing close by and Chief Whitener arrested her and placed her in the county jail.

An inquest was held this morning under the direction of Dr. J. F. Abel and a verdict was returned that Howell "came to his death from wounds inflicted by a knife in the hands of Dolly Carnes."

Howell was 37 years old and is survived by a widow and several children.

The slaying of Howell leaves Chief Whitener as the only policeman in Waynesville.

STOCK MARKET
New York, June 17.—(AP)—Resumption of the upward movement in today's stock market was featured by the development of strength in such recently neglected groups as the baking, merchandising, tobacco, public utility, rubber and motor shares. With the exception of the establishment of new high records by General Motors the so-called "richmen's stocks" were quiet but steady.

Total sales approximated 2,100,000 shares. The close was steady.

Horse sense behind the steering wheel is better than horse power under the hood.
About time to cut the oats. We carry McCormick - Deering Mowers and repair parts.
Again we had about the usual crop of college graduates. College education never hurts a fellow if he has sense enough to go ahead and learn something after graduates.
We have about one hundred bushels of field peas, together with every thing for the farmer.
The fish stories are coming in good now.
We are boosting Swifts Red Steer top dresser for the "Golden Weed".
One of our customers had been feeding corn alone to his plowing mules until we asked him to try Omolene (horse and mule feed), his experience was the same as others. The mules plowed better and do not give out as they do on straight corn or oats. 100 pounds of Omolene is the equivalent to 5 bushels of oats or three bushels of corn.
Roofing, cedar shingles, nails, farm implements, repair parts, in fact one of the most complete stocks in Eastern Carolina.
Give us a chance to show you our feeds we carry the Famous Purina Chows - in Checkerboard - Bags, Feed for Cows, Horses, Hogs and Poultry. Poultry supplies, Mash Feeders, Drinking Fountains, Ground Oyster shells etc.

Madrid. (INS)—Statistics recently published show that Spain has one million men who are not working. But this does not seem to affect the crime record which is steadily on the decrease. According to "El Sol" fewer crimes are committed in Spain at the present time than in any other European country. The unemployed class is largely made up of men who do not want to work and are content to live on agnasy celobias, bread and onions, as the old saying runs. They are too lazy even to do an yharne and are not numbered among the criminals. These are drunkards and drug-takers.

But if Spain has fed criminals, she has plenty of beggars to make up for them. After a short respite, the capital seems to be invaded by boards of mendicants of every kind and variety. A few months ago the city officials got busy and cleaned them up, sending nearly all of them back to their provinces. But they did not stay long. They like the city better and find it much "better pickin's" when it comes to begging.

They came back in droves just before Easter when peoples' hearts were soft, and it looks as if they were here to stay. All the halt, the lame and the blind are to be seen, some in tatters and others only shabby. Every block has five or six, some of them very young, others, middle-aged and still others very old. Young women with haggard faces, carrying babies, are the most pitiful. Old women wrapped up in shawls follow one down the street whining out a dreary tale.

The doorstep of every church has two or three beggars. They bask in the sun all day and gather in a neat sum. There are plenty of good asylums for them but they prefer to be free. The public gardens and parks are filled with "gitanas" gypsy-beggars who tell fortunes for a few coppers.

Madrid's new Mayor, Senor Semprun, declares he is going to be the proverbial "new broom" and sweep the city clean. He has already given orders to the civil guards to clear the streets of boot-blacks, rollers of lottery tickets and "medicine men" who gather a crowd about them to explain their wares and hinder circulation.

The new mayor also intends to change the chauffeurs of taxis keeping the letter of the law about smoking only when at their stands.

Chaperoning is still one of the most important ways of earning a livelihood in Spain.

Proper young girls of aristocratic families do not yet step out alone. They are still tied to mother's apron strings, but inasmuch as mother is very often too busy to chaperone her daughter, she hires one for a ridiculously small sum and rests easy, going about her most serious business of finding a suitable mate for her offspring.

These "carabinas," (shot-guns) as they are popularly called, are modest, but genteel women with little means, very often widows old enough to furnish protection. They are discreet and human, always keeping at a polite distance when Senorita walks out with her "novio." And if they sit down in the park, she is certain to arrange her seat so that a little love-making may be carried on.

A few of these chaperones are hired by the hour of half-day, but a large majority of them live in the house, like any other servant and is really Senorita's nursemaid. She mends and cares for her clothes and accompanies her wherever she goes. Between eleven and one in the morning she must take her "constitutional" in the "Pasos" or in one of the fine parks. In the afternoon there are teas, dances and what not and to these she must never go alone. The family is usually with her for evening affairs so the "carabina" can rest after eight. Any one of them could very likely write an interesting tale about what goes on from the inside, but she never will.

anti-aircraft guns. Then a dozen bombers would sink it. The aircraft guns might, but probably wouldn't, bring down a few pilots. But airplanes would wipe out a $20,000,000 battleship and its great crew of men.

Many people, including the government, must listen to Lindbergh. That's the advantage of climbing to a high place among men. You can MAKE others listen.

Millie Renee Valette, eighteen year old French girl, crushed with grief, jumped off the Eiffel tower, 1,000 feet high. Her dress caught thirty-five feet down and she was rescued.

Powerful publicity and its results will now cure her suicidal thought. Her pictures will be in the papers. Many gentlemen will want to marry her. She will realize that this world is interesting. Not one to be left in a hurry.

Much of woman's trouble has been caused by her prejudice against her own sex, her lack of mercy for other women that go wrong, her contempt for women generally. Miss Bessie Mack, of Chicago, accused of flirting with two large policemen, "beat them up" when they sought to arrest her. She surrendered peacefully to a very small policeman, saying, "No woman can arrest me."

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., whose family has given to education more than any ten other American families combined, says, wisely, that colleges should be supported by students, not depending on gifts. Parents that can afford to pay the full cost of tuition should pay it. For students less prosperous, there might be arranged "student loan funds," giving them ten years in which to pay back the cost of education.

Education should be democratic, and Mr. Rockefeller's suggestion is a good one.

Either public schools paid for by the public, or universities supported by students and their parents.

Oxford decides to educate only one woman for every four men. Miss Margery Fry, representing women that want knowledge, says women should be treated, "Not as women but as human beings." Oxford records probably would show that one earnest woman can absorb as much real education as four average men. The rule against young women may not be as unjust as it seems.

American national and private finance are on a big scale. Private concerns will lend you $50,000,000 in less than fifty minutes if you have "collateral." Yesterday, Uncle Sam's cash department beat all records in one day's turnover of two and a half billions. And the gigantic transactions involved caused no money market disturbance.

Negro Denies Killing Fink

Charlotte, N. C., June 17.—(AP)—The Charlotte Observer in a story obtained by a staff man who visited Dave Devlin, 22-year-old negro, at the county jail in Winston-Salem, today says that Devlin denies statements of officers that he has confessed to the murder of C. M. Fink, Charlotte man. Devlin is accused also of having killed Deputy Sheriff Lindsay T. Yarborough of Salisbury and it was for that crime that he was arrested.

The Observer's staff correspondent says, however, that the negro's story as told yesterday in the presence of two witnesses was identical with that told by Charlotte detectives who interviewed the negro on June 7 regarding occurrence on the night of May 28 in Charlotte with the exception of the killing. He said that he was with a negro he called "Buddy" until they met a white man but that he continued on his way while "Buddy" stopped. He asserted he did not see the killing.

The negro said that "Buddy" the next day gave him $50.

Board Completes Appropriations For The Schools

Raleigh, June 17.—(AP)—The State Board of Equalization had completed its work today of appropriating $3,250,000 public school equalizing fund to the 90 counties participating to help finance the local schools for the next term. The amounts ranged from $97,727.12 in Union County which gets the largest slice to $4,087.51 in Pasquotank, which takes the least.

During the fiscal year ending July 1, the State has apportioned $1,507,000 among the counties participating in the equalizing fund. The list of counties and amount of their apportionments was disclosed, and only one or two members of the board remained today to finish the detail work.

Catfish Man Held On Murder Charge

Newton, June 17.—(AP)—Frank Fox, 28, and a resident of the Catfish section of Catawba county, 12 miles north of here, was arrested late yesterday at his home and placed in Catawba jail awaiting a preliminary hearing on a charge of killing Robert Heffner, 16, at the Fox home yesterday afternoon. Young Heffner died from the effect of a pistol wound in the abdomen while being taken to the home of his father, Obe Heffner, in North Newton. Fox did not attempt to flee but submitted quietly to arrest when officers approached his home. Heffner, with Charlie Gobel and other friends had started on a fishing trip and on their way Heffner is alleged to have gotten hold of some whiskey. He and his companions went to the Fox home
