BYRD'S FLIGHT MAY BEGIN AT DUSK TUESDAY

Flight Will be an Effort to Learn Secret Of Storms of the Atlantic.

New York, June 20.—(AP)—Dusk tomorrow may see Commander Richard E. Byrd's monoplane America start on its scientific flight to Paris. Unlike his predecessors, Lindbergh and Chamberlin who left Roosevelt field, Long Island, shortly after dawn, Commander Byrd is considering a departure with his three flying companions at about 6 P. M. he believes his plane thereby would reach New Foundland with the dawn and Paris before sunset, of the day.

East winds and local rain storms along the North Atlantic seaboard and a low pressure area from New Foundland to the Irish coast indicated a hop off would not be wise before tomorrow, Byrd said.

His effort, he explained will be an effort to learn the secrets of the storms, winds and fogs of the Atlantic ocean as they affect aerial navigation.

"One of the things we are trying to prove" he said, "is that by getting weather predictions based on reports from ships at sea one can tell at any time what the weather is across the Atlantic which will be an invaluable aid to trans-Atlantic fliers."

Byrd stated a scientific station would be established this summer by professor, W. B. Hobbs of the University of Michigan on the Greenland ice cap which is believed to be 1,500 miles long and 500 miles wide "has undoubtedly some effect on the North Atlantic weather." Such a station would be an important supplement to the ships radio reports, Byrd thinks.

He said he hoped to discover whether the fog banks encountered by Lindbergh and Chamberlin extend from the water level to the clouds or only a height which leaves a clear space between them and fog. He declared he would also try to establish the truth of the theories that Atlantic winds differ in velocity and direction at different altitudes.

Three Babies Dead Others Near Death From Poisoned Food

Springfield, Ill., June 20.—(AP)—Three babies are dead, another is believed to be dying and five others are seriously ill of food poisoning at the Springfield Redemption Home an institution for infants under the care of the courts.

Rose Ann Norbet and Betty Bergman, both two years old, died last night, while the third death occurred early today.

Food served at the Sunday morning meal was blamed for the illness, which affected half the children at the home.

Samples of the food have been taken for analysis. The home matron, Minnie Manley, and the housekeeper, Alice Paul also became ill, but their condition was not regarded as alarming.

Several Injured When Car Plunges Into Big Crowd

Asheville, June 20.—(AP)—Four persons were in critical conditions in Asheville hospitals today the victims of the wild driving of a negro on the Waynesville highway near Clyde last night. Three others were in hospitals, severely injured and at least five others were recovering from minor wounds.

The accident occurred at 9 o'clock last night when the automobile, driven by Julius Whitmore, 17-year-old Canton negro, plunged into a crowd of 50 persons, assembled on the highway to watch a wrecker pull an automobile from a ditch.

Whitmore and his two male companions in the automobile are in Buncombe County jail held for Haywood County authorities who Sunday night rushed the men to Asheville when they learned a mob of more than 50 men had formed in Clyde. All three are held without awaiting formal charges, which according to Canton authorities will depend on the outcome of the injuries of the wounded.

Eye witnesses said the wild car approached at a terrific speed rounded a curve, plunged into wrecker and glanced off into the assembled crowd. Some sustained injuries direct from the negro's car others were wounded by the wrecker when it was pushed as the result of its impact.

FLYING HERO REST TODAY AT ST. LOUIS

St. Louis, June 20.—(AP)—Sheltered from the aim of the roaring crowds, Colonel Lindbergh rested today, after one month of unparalleled praise following his trans-Atlantic flight in the "Spirit of St. Louis."

The conqueror of the North Atlantic air is tired. Last night when 12,000 of his fellow citizens crowded the municipal theatre, he sat through the first act of "Princess Pat" and then left, but not before he had been coaxed to appear for a moment upon the stage.

Today was the first that he was not at the beck of welcoming committee; the first when he was not a part of elaborately planned ceremonies; the first when he was able to step down from the spotlight of undivided public attention into that "Slim" Lindbergh, flier, son of a beloved mother, Mrs. Evangeline Lindbergh.

With the possible exception of the week spent by Colonel Lindbergh on the cruiser Memphis which brought him from France, he had had little time for rest. The plea of a St. Louis newspaper that he be given time to "fiddle with his beloved Spirit of St. Louis" or lie upon his back upon a shady lawn, or roost on a rail fence somewhere, was the spirit evinced in his home town today.

The last whirl of greeting ended yesterday when more than 100,000 persons gathered at Forest Park, most beautiful and historic spot in St. Louis, to see Colonel Lindbergh fly his silver plane in widening circles and later to hear him speak of the future of aviation.

Today he had planned a short consultation with his backers if he feels like it. He had the thought even of looking over some of his mail of which there are more than 50,000 pieces, awaiting him.

Mrs. Evangeline Lodge Lindbergh planned to return to Detroit today while Colonel Lindbergh will make his home at that of Harry F. Knight in St. Louis county for a few days until his plans are more definite. Then he expects to find a place to live in St. Louis.

He has made no announcements concerning his future. Thousands of invitations to fly his ship to other cities lie unaccepted. Tuesday night he will attend a banquet of the Industrial Club here. In an address yesterday he gave a hint of what his future course may be when he said:

"St. Louis is in position to be the center of air lines in the United States. With co-operation we can put St. Louis where it belongs as the center of aviation in this country."

HORSE SHOE TOURNAMENT IS PLANNED

Championship of Greenville to be Determined by Boys Work Committee.

One of the latest features in connection with the Boys Work Campaign now in progress in this city is contained in an announcement of a horseshoe tournament to be played on the courts in the ravine back of the high school building. The contest will get underway Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 and continue until the champion has been determined.

H. C. Porter, director of the campaign said this morning that all boys under fifteen years of age who wish to play should meet him at the courts prior to the opening of the contest.

The second game of the Junior baseball league will be played at the fair grounds tomorrow morning at ten o'clock between the Episcopal Sunday school and a similar aggregation from the Immanuel Baptists Sunday school. Both these clubs have been practicing hard for the clash and a good game is expected. The first game of the season was played the latter part of last week.

SALVATION ARMY DOING MUCH GOOD

Over 1,700 People Attend Services of Organization in Various Parts County.

That efforts of the Salvation Army to reach the people of the rural communities of the county are meeting with success is contained in a report made public today by Capt. Summers, head of the local organization.

It was stated that a total of 1,700 people attended various services conducted by Capt. Summers and his co-workers during last week. Of this number 29 were converts. Numbers of reclamation reports were also reported.

The organization is accomplishing much good at the county convict camp. Services are held there twice a month, and are always largely attended by people who live in that community as well as the members of the convict camp. Capt. Summers said the convicts seemed to be intensely interested in the salvation of their souls, and that numbers professed religion.

Services are held at numbers of country churches and school houses over the county. Two or three hundred people are generally in attendance, and it is belief of the Salvation Army workers that interest will increase as activities continue.

Thursday night Salvation Army officers from Wilson will assist the local workers in services at Ballard's Cross Roads. It is the purpose of Capt. Summers to make this one of the outstanding services of the summer months, and it is hoped everybody interested in the work will attend. Services will begin promptly at eight o'clock.

U. S. Army Blimp Leaves Fort Bragg

Fayetteville, N. C., June 20.—(AP)—The U. S. Army Blimp TC-5 which landed here yesterday afternoon en route from Langley field Va., to Fort Banning, Ga., for photographic work, took off from the flying field at Fort Bragg at 7 o'clock this morning to return to Langley field.

The rudder of the machine was damaged in its attempted take off yesterday afternoon after heavy photographic supplies and a photographic expert had been taken aboard. A new rudder was ordered, and the plane as announced was to continue to Fort Benning.

The damaged part was repaired last night, however, and after a trial flight over the field early this morning the machine took off for its home field. It will resume its journey to Fort Benning, officials said, after repairs have been made at Langley and when weather conditions permit.

Commerce Commission Begins Hearing Today On P. & N. Extension

Charlotte, June 20.—(AP)—The authority of the Interstate Commerce Commission to pass on the plans of the proposed Piedmont and Northern Railway extension today was again questioned when a hearing on the proposal opened here.

Haskell C. Davis, examiner, conducting the hearing was informed at the opening by Mark W. Potter of New York, representing the electric line, that jurisdictional questions brought up in the case would not be waived by the company. He asserted that the proposed construction was not in the nature of new lines but instead a completion of lines already in operation.

Governor Richards of South Carolina was the first witness in the hearing which is expected to last a week or more with a final decision probably several months distant. The Palmetto State Governor pointed out what he said were advantages of completion of the P. & N. and to the two Carolinas and asserted that it was required "as a matter of public convenience and necessity."

The Governor said that the line serves the most thickly populated sections of the two States. He forecast a much more rapid development of the Piedmont section of South Carolina if the lines are extended and urged that the request authority be granted.

"South Carolina is in the midst of its greatest industrial development and our people will be greatly disappointed if the commission does not permit the completion of the P. & N. which will be a great factor in promoting that development," said the Governor in closing.

Governor Angus W. McLean of North Carolina, followed the South Carolina chief executive on the stand. He told the examiner he was acting in his official capacity and that he had no desire to antagonize the railroads opposing the petition.

The development in the section through which the electric line operates, the North Carolina Governor said, "has been phenomenal" and completion of the proposed extension in this state will take traffic existing lines for a time but he forecast that anticipated development in the territory soon would produce traffic that will more than counteract the loss.

"We must not think in terms of the present," he said, urging the examiner to visualize the needs of 25 years hence, "when this continuing and abounding development will have had opportunity to go forward." He asked the examiner to tour the section which he said "offers perhaps greater opportunity for industrial growth than any other section of the United States."

This growth he argued will enable the Southern Railway to continue its extension program through the P. & N. if permitted would share in the benefits.

Prior to the hearing of the two Governors, L. E. Jeffries of the Southern counsel that he had denied access certain papers to which he said he was legally entitled. The examiner said he would rule on this phase as testimony develops.

Sam Bleasie, chairman of the South Carolina railroad commission, advocated the granting of the petition. He said the freight traffic in South Carolina's Piedmont section "is undergoing an intensive development" which makes imperative the completion of the electric lines so there will be a direct line from Winston-Salem, N. C., to Greenwood, S. C.

LEVINE AND CHAMBERLIN IN AUSTRIA

Vienna, Austria, June 20.—(AP)—President Hainisch of the Austrian Republic today conferred upon Clarence D. Chamberlin and Chas. A. Levine the republic's highest order of merit, the "Goldenes Ehrenzeichen Dr. Republic" in recognition of their trans-Atlantic flight.

The American aviators who arrived here with their wives last night from Municipal, Germany, also were received by Chancellor Seipel.

A military guard of honor today attended all their comings and goings in the Austrian capital while great crowds gathered constantly outside of their hotel eager to catch a glimpse of them.

Vienna, Austria, June 20.—(AP)—Having completed a fortnight's stay on German soil after their momentous trans-oceanic flight from New York, Clarence D. Chamberlin and Charles A. Levine were guest today of the Austrian Government "Guten Tag, Wien!" (good day Vienna) with these words Chamberlin greeted the Austrians when he and Levine stepped from the plane Columbia on their arrival from Munich last night.

Notwithstanding a pouring rain thousands of Viennese were gathered at the Asperin air field to greet the Americans who were immediately surrounded and carried on the shoulders of admirers. Their wives came a few minutes later as passengers in one of half dozen escorting planes.

After shaking hands with Cabinet ministers and other officials, the party was driven around the field through dense crowds, the band meanwhile playing the American anthem.

When a semblance of order was restored and a path made for the machine some one stepped forward and offered the fliers a stein of beer.

It was the second great welcome of the day, for when they arrived at Munich from Berlin in the afternoon, all of Bavaria apparently had turned out in their honor. The fact that their visit to Munich was delayed a week had no effect on the Bavarian enthusiasm. Here too, police could not keep back the crowds.

Swarmed over the field, they surged about the Columbia as it landed and surrounded the airmen before the welcoming committee could greet them. Finally, however, the Americans were extracted from the mass of humanity and taken to the city hall to be formally welcomed by the Lord Mayor, the Bavarian ministry, aero club officials and the American Consul. They then stepped out on the balcony and the crowds in the street gave vent to their enthusiasm in sustained cheer.

Chamberlin and Levine flew from Berlin to Munich in less than five hours. Their trip from Munich to Vienna took about two hours. After a long series of functions in Vienna, during which they will be received by Chancellor Seipel and President Hainisch and entertained by visitors will visit Prague, Budapest, Warsaw, Zurich and Paris. Lack of time made it necessary for them to decline innumerable invitations to visit other cities and towns in all parts of Europe.

They have made provisional arrangements to sail for home on the Leviathan July 12.

Before they left Munich, Chamberlin and Levine issued a proclamation to the German people thanking them for the welcome and honors accorded them and saying in conclusion:

"We are scarcely able to express how deeply we are touched by all these honors and on our return to America it will give us the greatest satisfaction to describe our reception in Germany.

"We also hope that our flight may have brought the hearts of our respective nations closer together, and in this we would see the greatest distinction confirmed for our flight.

"May the day be not far off when we will greet a German air conqueror of the ocean in American, that the dream of all of us, air traffic between America and Europe, may soon be realized."

Dangerous Flying Stock. Worms For Bail. Ivan and Peter. What Third Term?

(By Arthur Brisbane)
Copyright 1927, by Star Co.

Be cautious about stock in flying machine companies, or your money may fly faster than the plane. This is a necessary warning, and Lindbergh gives it. A concern with a name something like Lindbergh's is alleged to have planned selling from $10,000,000 to $100,000,000 on stock on the strength of Lindbergh's achievement.

Running commercial flying routes must be a losing game for the present. Only heavy government subsidies can make it pay.

Senator Borah and Senator Reed of Missouri, deny President Coolidge's use of worms for trout fishing. Mr. Borah says the President probably caught catfish. "But if they were trout, they must have been imbeciles."

And Senator Reed says, "Any trout that will lie at the bottom of a lake and bite a worm is a degenerate trout."

However, the worm is a silent bait, modest and democratic. Fishing in his own way, the President has done very well with votes, he may do as well with trout.

Russia's rulers, Communist successors of Ivan the Terrible and Peter the Great, believe as those ancients did, the effects of terror. Peter, having discovered a conspiracy against him, put many to death with tortures on the scaffold. Others in the conspiracy being dead, their bodies were dug up, put on a sled and dragged by trained swine under the scaffold that their confederates might drip on their dead faces. Ivan did worse than that.

Modern Russia is mild in comparison, but little groups are put to death in a modern way, some accused of conspiring with England, some accused of being spies for Poland. This does not sit well.

COOLIDGE LIKES HIS NEW HOME

Rapid City, S. D., June 20.—(AP)—Eager to partake of all of the novel experience which this western country had to offer, President Coolidge entered into his second week in the Black Hills, convinced that the summer White House is in an area exactly to his liking.

He has fished successfully in its racing mountain streams known the romance of its pine covered hills, the thrill that an Easterner receives from being dressed in a ten gallon hat and he has heard from a twenty-year-old boy a simple statement as to why people should go to church. The President did not go fishing today but Mrs. Coolidge tried her luck this afternoon.

Perhaps more than any other, the President's first Sunday in the Black Hills was an experience long will remember, but the day was hardly less unusual for himself than it was for Rolf Lum, the big blonder youth who reached the first birthday of his life yesterday before the President of the U. S.

The youth stood behind the pulpit of the Hermosa Congregational church and looked out upon a gathering as typical of this western country as was the little building set up on the prairies for simple living folks who worship God in a simple way.

The day was one which probably never will be forgotten in that town of several hundred people, a town which years ago was famous for its shooting scrapes between miners and the cowboys of the section.

The word had been sent out from the summer White House several days ago that the President and Mrs. Coolidge would attend the Hermosa church—a large gathering was on hand. The smell of pine was in the air and great flocks of drifting clouds tempered an otherwise hot sun.

Inside, the church was sparsely. Glass fish bowls held the golden rose of the prairies. Lum, who came to Hermosa a few days ago to earn enough money as a preacher to put him thru as a senior in Carleton College next year, was calm as a veteran, and if he felt any misgivings he shielded them under a sunny countenance.

THREE POWER NAVAL CONFAB OPENED TODAY

Addressing the three power conference called by President Coolidge the First Lord of the Admiralty, W. C. Bridgeman, recommended reduction of future battleships from 35,000 tons displacement to "something under 30,000" and their main armament from 16-inch to 13.5 inch guns; reduction in the size of aircraft-carriers from 27,000 to 25,000 tons; and their armament from 8 inch to 6 inch guns; and finally reduction of future cruisers from 10,000 to 7,500 tons with armament of 6 inch instead of 8 inch guns.

He also advocated limiting the size of individual submarines to 1,600 tons, increasing the life of warships to 26 years instead of 20, and waiving rights of the powers under the replacement tables agreed upon at the Washington conference.

The first American reaction to these proposals was that it would be difficult to reconsider the Washington treaty provisions at the Geneva conference which is limited to but three of the Washington signatories—the U. S., Great Britain and Japan—with France and Italy represented only "observers."

Geneva, June 20.—(AP)—Extension of the 5-5-3 principle of naval strength to cruisers, destroyers and submarines of the U. S., Great Britain and Japan was proposed today at the three-power naval limitation conference by the American delegation.

It was understood that under the Ghibon proposal the United States would be obliged to scrap approximately 52,000 tons of cruisers and 10,000 tons of destroyers and submarines.

Old ships, virtually obsolete, of which the American Navy has many, would be scrapped to make room for the new ones.

Under the plan it was expected that Great Britain if she completes her present building program, would scrap approximately 50,000 tons of cruisers and Japan 40,000 tons.

While neither Japan nor Great Britain would be required to scrap submarines under the proposal, the United States would have an excess of about 3,000 of submarines to be scrapped.

Opening the conference called by President Coolidge, Ambassador Hugh Gibson, the chairman, proposed that cruisers be limited to tonnage of 250,000 or 300,000 tons for the United States and Great Britain and 150,000 or 180,000 tons for Japan.

Destroyer tonnage would be restricted to 200,000 or 250,000 tons for the two larger powers and to 120,000 to 150,000 for Japan. Maximum tonnage for American and British submarines would be 60,000 to 80,000 tons with 36,000 to 54,000 tons fixed for Japan.

Gibson presented his proposal after a brief address in which he presented an expression of gratitude to the powers from President Coolidge and declared that "the United States is prepared to accept a general program providing for as low a total tonnage" as acceptable to the other powers.

He expressed regret that France and Italy were not active participants in the conference and urged Japan and Great Britain who with the U. S. are the powers "which now lead in naval armaments" to assume "all responsibility for initialing further naval limitation." "If we are not prepared to limit," he said "we could not expect others to do so."

"If dairy yards are kept free of refuse and manure, flies may be more easily handled. They breed in filth and contaminate milk with disease organisms."

Home Runs Few In Virginia Loop

Home-run hitting in the Old Dominion circuit is apparently on the downgrade as thus far this season the fence blows have been few and far between.

A year ago a grand total of 279 "our-baggers" had been amassed in the Virginia League while this season's mark is 222.

ARKANSAS TEAM WINS RIFLE CHAMPIONSHIP

Fayetteville, Ark.—(AP)—The Razorbacks of the University of Arkansas are the new intercollegiate rifle champions of the United States, having led 32 other colleges in the country.

In announcing the award, the War Department said the university team had scored 7,916 points. Second place went to the University of Missouri. Earlier in the year Arkansas won the seventh corps area championship, scoring 7,865 of a possible 8,000 points, and capturing a match in which 12 teams from all sections of the country were entered.

FRENCH TO EXHIBIT DRIVERLESS AUTOS

Paris.—(AP)—Driverless automobiles, controlled by wireless waves are soon to be demonstrated publicly at a summer festival.

Two of the cars have been equipped with a mechanism that is said to work well in practice and they are to be operated on the Colombes stadium track where the 1924 Olympic games were held.

Wireless control of an airplane has been tested by the French army but little has been said of the experiments except that they were successful.

FINDS GERMAN FILMS TO HEAVY FOR AMERICA

Berlin.—(AP)—German films are inclined to be too ponderous and involved for the American market. Ernst Lubitsch declared on his return from four and one-half years' film producing activity in Hollywood. American films, the master picture producer believes, are generally more lucid and more to the point in creating "atmosphere" and scenery.

"The meat isn't everything in a roast. Much depends on how it is served," Mr. Lubitsch declared.

The more fortunate selection of film artists in the States he attributes to the American method of being on the lookout for distinct types rather than for good actors and actresses, as in the European custom.

Two More Weeks Of First Half In Piedmont

Raleigh, June 20.—(AP)—But one game remains until the first half of the Piedmont League season is over. The past week witnessed Raleigh drawing away from the herd by virtue of its six out of seven wins.

High Point and Rocky Mount are bunched together in second and third place respectively, only one point apart, two and one-half games behind the Caps.

Rocky Mount won four out of five starts the past week. High Point broke even on four games; Durham won two in five, and Winston-Salem two in six. Salisbury failed to win.

The first half closes July 2, the winner meeting the winner of the second half in a post series to determine the championship.

SPORTS SLANTS

By ALAN J. GOULD

Associated Press Sports Editor New York, June 20.—(AP)—There may be more and bigger headlines about the brace of Yankee belters "Buster" Gehrig and Babe Ruth, or the clouting combination of the Athletics, Ty Cobb and Al Simmons but no Pittsburgh fan would consent to take either pair just now for the two buccannier bombers Paul Waner, the bridge-room, and Joe "Moon" Harris.

Waner, a youth of 24, but already a star of the first magnitude and Harris, the battle-scarred veteran of 35 have been the big guns of the Pirate attack for weeks.

Their consistent and timely clouting has been as vital a factor as any in the club's ability to keep pace around the top where bad "breaks" such as the temporary loss of Krimmer and the injury to Cuyler threatened to be disastrous.

Paul Waner has replaced Glenn Wright as the team's foremost exponent of the timely art of driving in runs. With only a third of the season elapsed, Paul has driven in the astonishing total of around 70 runs, a pace which would carry him well past the National League record of 152 for a season, set by Hornsby, or the American League mark of 170 made by Ruth.

Harris has been zooming along the top of the league's batting ever since Manager Donie Bush shifted his line up and put "Moon" on first base; a move that netted immediate results and snapped the Pirates out of their earlier slump.

Harris and "Dutch" Reuther, both cast off by Washington last season have become vital factors in two pennant races. Reuther has been twirling brilliantly for the American League champions, the Yankees, now well out in front in a dash for a second straight title.

If present prospects are fulfilled "Dutch" may be tossing 'em up for his old teammate "Moon" when the world's series rolls around in October.

At least a substantial portion of the sports spotlight shifts this week from the now famous Sands and Mashie-Niblicks of Oakmont to the placid waters of the Thames where the crimson tipped oars of Harvard and the blue sweeps of Yale will have it out for rowing supremacy on Friday.

It may be a three-cornered party, however, if "Jimmy" Johnston, competing on his home course, displays the sort of shot making ability that carried him to the front of the national open field at Oakmont for the first two days. In spite of his disastrous 87 on the third round Johnston was only two strokes back of Jones at the finish of the 72 hole battle.

Willie MacFarlane, who defeated Jones in a play off for the open championship in 1925 at Worcester, was nearby the Atlantian as the latter finished out of the running last week.

"Well, Bobby," Willie consoled, "I see you're shooting like the professionals now with 77s and 79s."

Creator Of Sun Compass Charts Byrd's Trans-Atlantic Course

Albert H. Bumstead, chief cartographer of the National Geographic Society, and Commander Richard E. Byrd inspecting the automatic gun compass made by Bumstead. This device takes the place of magnetic compasses.

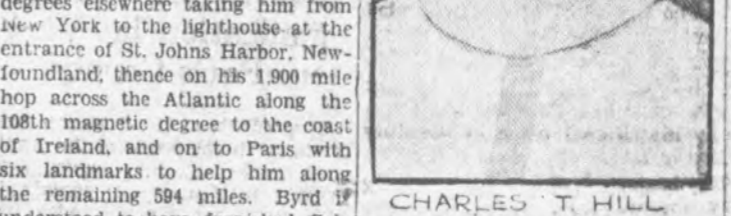

Washington.—(AP)—In planning his flight to Paris, Lieutenant Commander Richard E. Byrd once more is receiving the assistance of a retiring, modest man whose workshop is on the top floor of the National Geographic Society building.

He is Albert H. Bumstead, chief cartographer of the society, who created the sun compass which Byrd said, enabled him to make the first flight by airplane across the North Pole. For the Paris flight Bumstead has chartered a course designed to save the flier every mile possible and at the same time carry him within sight of as many recognizable landmarks as feasible.

The distance figured out for the course is 3,637 miles from New York to Paris, which is only 15 or 20 miles longer than the "air line" of the "great circle" arc between those points. It is plotted so that he may follow magnetic degrees of longitude part of the way and true degrees elsewhere taking him from New York to the lighthouse at the entrance of St. Johns Harbor, Newfoundland; thence on his 1,900 mile hop across the Atlantic along the 108th magnetic degree to the coast of Ireland, and on to Paris with six landmarks to help him along the remaining 594 miles. Byrd understood to have furnished Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh a copy of the chart before the latter started on his heroic flight.

Bumstead was born at Minneapolis, July 18, 1875, the son of one of the founders of Atlanta University, the Peruvian expedition of the National Geographic Society which was headed by Hiram Bingham now senator from Connecticut and which discovered and explored the remarkable ruins of the Incas high in the Andes. He invented the Bumstead map projector for the United States Geological Survey, several of which he was called upon to make for General Pershing in 1917, and the Bumstead tripod for the same government agency.

ENTERTAINS FOR BRIDE-ELECT

Bethel, June 20.—Mrs. Swan C. Ives entertained at her home on Main street, Monday afternoon in honor of Miss Frances Smith, bride elect of June, and her house guest Miss Anne Noble, of Selma, and Mrs. Victor Young, of Durham.

The guests were greeted at the door by the hostess who introduced them to her honor guest, after which they were directed to the end of the hall where punch was served by Mrs. Leighton Blount.

Her home was a scene of loveliness on this occasion, ferns and yellow cut flowers being used throughout the house. Silver candlesticks tied with green tulle holding lighted green tapers cast a lovely glow which was very effective.

Bride was played at eight tables. After four progressions high score was found to be a tie between Mrs. J. Irvin Taylor and Miss Annie G. Jones. By drawing, Miss Jones was found to be the lucky contestant. The booby prize went to Mrs. Larry James.

Lovely gifts were presented to the honor guests by Mrs. Ives. Miss Smith was also given a pretty nosegay.

The hostess served a beautifully arranged salad course, further carrying out the color scheme. Yellow baskets containing green mints were placed on each plate.

The out-of-town guests were: Miss Anne Noble, Selma; Mrs. Victor Young, Durham; Mrs. Mary White, Miss Rose Nowell and Miss Ruth Shaw Britton, of Coleraine; Mrs. Robert Farmer, of Bailey; Miss Selma Carson, Greenville; and Mrs. F. E. Price, of Miami.

Women's Invasion of British Sports Meets With Opposition

ALARM AND INDIGNATION HAS BEEN EXPRESSED BY MEN AT THE INVASION BY WOMEN OF REALMS OF SPORT!

WILL BOKING BECOME A POPULAR SPORT WITH WOMEN. AND THIS!

London, June 9.—(AP)—Eve's headway in the arena of sports has kicked up a row which has been smoldering for months. The fact that men do not like to beat women at games nor on the other hand be beaten by them has brought the co-sport question to a head.

Alarm and indignation has been expressed by men at the increasing invasion by women of realms of the "social sport" which, until a few years ago, were regarded as the exclusive preserve of their husbands and brothers.

Some of the golf clubs have already considered protests that there were too many women members, while the increasing participation of horsewomen in steeplechasing and point-to-point races is reported by objectors to be incompatible with the keen competitive spirit which enters into these contests.

The latest outcry is against women bowlers. It is contended by one authority that women should not intermingle with men on the bowling greens, but should form their own clubs.

In this connection it is pointed out that the Wells (Somerset) Bowling club has banned women from the greens on the ground that they have proved "an absolute nuisance."

"Men do not like to play with members of the opposite sex, chiefly because we do not like to beat or to lose to a woman. This applies particularly to competitions. Women should form their own clubs."

A Sussex women's bowling club applied recently for affiliation to the Sussex County Bowling association, but the men turned them down.

George Hills, secretary of the English Bowling association, says there is no reason why women should not play bowls so long as they don't encroach on men's preserves.

The one branch of sport in which women are not unwelcome appears to be tennis. "The more the merrier" is the slogan of the players on both sides.

Hickory Doctor Faces Trial In Shooting Affair

Hickory, N. C., June 20.—(AP)—Dr. F. H. Hicks, prominent dentist of this city, was brought before Judge W. B. The case, however, was continuing until Friday morning.

Fincannon are said to have resented the Doctor's interference and they rebuked him. During the argument which occurred on the street about 8:30 o'clock Saturday night, Dr. Hicks is alleged to have shot Everett Fincannon, inflicting a slight flesh wound on the head.

COFFINS ARE CASES FOR SWEDISH MATCHES

London.—(AP)—A striking example of economy was disclosed at London docks when a cargo of Swedish coffins was unloaded. Each coffin was packed with Swedish matches. LONDON STILL HAS ONE STAGE COACH

London.—(AP)—An old time stage coach, the "Old Berkeley," which sets out from Piccadilly on a daily trip to Box Hill, a Surrey beauty spot, is a source of great interest to overseas visitors to London, who see in it a picture of England as it was before the days of railways. The coach is operated by two London horse-lovers as a hobby. Passengers book and pay for seats but if the coach were filled every day the sum received would not pay for the horses' forage and shoeing.

Million Fishes Liberated Into State Streams

Raleigh, June 20.—(AP)—More than a million fingerling fishes have been liberated into North Carolina streams within the last few weeks from the State hatcheries, according to an estimate made Monday by the Department of Conservation and Development.

Trout constitute the greater part of the stock released into the streams this year, a recent survey by Director Wade H. Phillips and Assistant Director J. K. Dixon showed. They estimate that approximately three-fourths of the fingerling supply already liberated are members of the trout family.

Owing to cool spells during the spring, officials expressed fears that the original estimates of the output of bass will be cut down. The bass is one of the few fishes that have not yet yielded to artificial propagation, and control of the output of the small fry cannot be regulated to the same extent as other varieties.

The hatchery near Waynesville with an output of around half a million fingerlings easily leads the others in the number distributed.

TWO PAST 90 JOIN LODGES SET RECORDS

Chicago.—(AP)—Youngsters in their nineties are none too old to take fraternal rites, and two of them have proved it. Benton Hanchett, aged attorney of Saginaw, Mich., was initiated into the Elks lodge recently at 92 and Frank M. Mills, Sioux Falls, S. D. Capitalist, crossed the burning sands into the Mystic Shrine at 91.

In neither fraternal order do the records here show any other man inducted at so advanced age. Hanchett, dean of the Saginaw county bar, is not only regarded as the oldest man ever taken into the Elks, but is one of the oldest members of the order. He took an active part in the inductive ritual despite his years.

Mills, oldest alumnus of Wabash college of Indiana, one time publisher of the Des Moines Register, and founder of the Sioux Falls traction system, went through the Shrine rites at 91 after having been a Mason for almost 30 years, and he is still active in the order at 96.

Gossip of Staff Correspondents at World Centers of Population

Rochester, N. Y.—(INS)—Realization of a dog heaven on earth was accomplished when Miss Mary Warner Knapp, 86 Plymouth Avenue, presented "Forest Farm," beautiful $50,000 estate of seventy-five acres at North Chili, to the Rochester Dog Protective Association as a haven for dogs and other pets.

Miss Knapp's gift will accomplish much more than this. There will be a bird sanctuary, where homes will be constructed for many rare birds which have a retreat in its untouched forest.

An animal cemetery where markers to the memory of a faithful animal friend may mark the resting place in a scene of unusual beauty.

Its large maple grove, internationally known as the site of camp meetings, will be devoted to the use of Rochester and vicinity school children, for their own forever.

It will be a plane unique among philanthropic institutions in the entire world.

Lost dogs and those not wanted may find a home here in the spacious kennels, which will be erected for their use as long as they live.

The large forest, untouched since pioneer days, and primevally virgin, will be beautified by rustic appliances in profusion, where wild life, long protected here, can be studied under the best of conditions.

She is noted for her love of dumb animals. Miss Knapp, perfected her plans for the future use of the estate before turning it over to the association. Among the features of the place is a large sugar bush, which will be kept running every year.

A circus dog, accustomed to the applause and excitement of the circus ring, with a badly injured leg, will be among the first inhabitants of the new home.

Chubby, the big white firehorse, retired after twenty-six years of work, will enjoy the rest of his days in peace at the farm.

A rhesus monkey and a man will be maintained on duty for the future, securing refugee pets of the best treatment.

Mecklenburg County authority, personified by Sheriff Albert H. Baker, has declared war on the "gas laws" and highway necker.

Four extra deputies and motor-cycles have been asked for in addition to the regular road patrol. These will be used, Sheriff Baker is heard to bid the highways of Mecklenburg to rid the highways of neckers.

Prevalence of attacks on young girls, lured into the country by the "auto hawk" has precipitated action, he said.

The pulpit shared honors with the stage when the Rev. Clinton Wunder, pastor of the Baptist Temple, debated with Minor Watson, leading man of the Lyceum Players on "Let's Get Married."

The viewpoint of the stage on the matrimonial question was covered by Mr. Watson, who has played the role of husband in more than thirty plays. Mr. Wunder took the pulpit to shed light on the church's view of today's problems.

Four hundred colored citizens of Rochester paid tribute to the statue of Frederick Douglass, colored orator, journalist and anti-slavery leader.

Said to be one of the three statues erected to a member of the colored race in the North, the pedestal and figure was decorated with flowers and flags while a program of patriotic songs and speeches was completed.

Honolulu.—(INS)—Seagoing stills are said to be the latest thing in the illicit liquor trade around the Hawaiian Islands. Large Japanese fishing sampans with complete distilling apparatus aboard figure in the story that when the federal "revenuers" get too hot on the trail of land manufacturers the scene of operations is shifted to the bosom of the broad Pacific.

Thus far no arrests of the seagoing gentry have been effected by the revenue agents. It is presumed that the grain mash is used in the manufacturing process is prepared somewhere on the windward side of the island of Oahu, where little coves offer safe anchorage to the sampans. These gasoline propelled vessels of Oriental design slip in and out of the coves between dark and daylight, taking on mash and discharging fresh booze. Sampans have long played a prominent part in the dope smuggling trade around these islands. Evidence has been brought out in the U. S. district court here to show that certain of them lie in the track of the Oriental steamers approaching Honolulu harbor at night and by a system of flashlight signals to men aboard to toss boxes of bismuth in the water where it floats until picked up by the sampans.

A tendency to follow the roof-

style of the old Hawaiian grass houses is seen in much of the present-day architecture in Honolulu with the possibility that a wide-aved, curving roof that is spoken of as "typically Hawaiian" promises to become popular in many of the new building tracts. Efforts are being made, as well, to give the interiors a Hawaiian aspect. The old style Hawaiian grass house has become a thing of the past, even in the outlying country districts. A few are preserved as relics, one at the Damon estate at Moanalua, another at the Queen Emma home in Nuuanu Valley. With the advent of many ships from the mainland the Hawaiians found it much cheaper to build of wood like their foreign brothers, than to gather the long "pili" grass from distant hillsides. Now the style is swinging back, and while the white people are not contemplating grass as a building material, the outer lines of their modern cottages are being shaped like the Hawaiian houses of a century ago.

Flood waters from heavy storms in the Koolau mountains during the winter months swept into the waters of Pearl Harbor in such abundance as to kill off literally millions of young clams that had been planted there a few years ago by the fish and game commission of the territory. H. L. Kelly, executive officer of the commission, doubts if sufficient clams have been left alive to re-seed the locality and it will probably be necessary to bring in a fresh supply from the Pacific northwest.

"Bill" Jarrett, former Democratic delegate to Congress from Hawaii, who was defeated by a Republican in the last election after four years in office, has gone into the lumber business in this city. Jarrett's friends smilingly state that his familiarity with Democratic platform planks through a generation of political activity ought to make him a qualified lumber expert.

Every precaution must be taken for the personal safety of the aviators who will attempt the flight from mainland to Honolulu, according to instructions received from James D. Dole, president and manager of the Hawaiian Pineapple Company, Limited, who has offered prizes of $25,000 and $10,000 to the first two fliers to reach the islands. The Hawaiian branch of the National Aeronautical Association, which has been placed in charge of the arrangements, will follow out Dole's suggestions to the utmost detail. It is probable that Luke Field, the army aviation base, near Pearl Harbor will be chosen as the terminus of the flight, rather than John Rodgers Airport.

On the stomach of modern Europe, which chooses to forget that Louis the Eleventh did nearly all that Peter ever did.

Louis Siebold says Governor Lowden will base his effort to take the 1928 nomination from Coolidge on a "third term challenge." Such a challenge should wait until 1932. President Coolidge has been elected once. George Washington was elected twice. Filling a Presidential vacancy caused by death is not an election or a "term."

From the $25,000 reward won by Lindbergh in his New York to Paris flight, he must pay $1,465 income tax, and it is suggested that Congress remit this tax.

Lindbergh should refuse such a "chicken feed" reward. For the good he has done the United States abroad and the inspiration supplied to young men at home, Congress might well give him $5,000,000 and the nation's thanks.

While Lindbergh was in New York, a prize fighter, named Goldstein—knocked out after boxing one minute forty-seven seconds—was paid $25,000, just what Lindbergh got for his flight. We reward our "heroes" unevenly.

Two British fliers, Carr and MacWorth, started for India in a hydrogen-filled plane, hoping to break Chamberlin's record with a 5,000 mile non-stop flight. They had an almost perfect flight after flying 100 miles. We should have wished them better fortune. Every new "mark" helps flying. Had the British flown 5,000 miles without stopping some American would have soon doubled it. The country that invented flying machines is not going to stay behind in flying, with or without government encouragement.

Religious fanatics gathering for an attack on Manila, worry the authorities. They need not worry if they had a few flying machines with a supply of tear gas, and make but harmless explosives. The Philippine fanatics would recognize the airplanes and tear gas as something more powerful than their pious words.

The Bible tells how persons were not saved when a prophet of the true faith first poured water over a bonfire and then called the lightning to start the fire. Even fanatics know when they are beaten.

The British propose to reopen the Washington conference devoted to the size of cruiser at the next naval conference. Why not let the British, who employ statesmen instead of politicians, write out their "ticket," send it over for us to sign and save traveling expenses? In the end we sign what they write out, anyhow. Then they congratulate us on our nobility of character and don't laugh until they return home.

Then and Now

Years ago one Walter Hagen was interested in golf as he passed a link on his way to a Rochester, N. Y., ball team. Thereupon baseball lost its luster, and golf gained. Walter, now Hagen, played in a national open title, and as he looks today, a $100,000 professional. He has held every pro golf title in America and England, but today, experts say, he's past it.

After stating that he designed and built the Duke Power system, Mr. Lee said, "I think the Duke power system has a duty to the Piedmont sections of the Carolinas and my office is taxed to keep the power development to meet the increasing needs of the industry."

In discussing the question of power plants, which now total about 600,000 horsepower, he said steam plants soon will be built between Salisbury and Winston-Salem and Spartanburg and Gastonia and one further down in South Carolina.

German officials decided upon this innovation after observing how much more effective picturesque names have been in the United States.

The jury for the prize contest is made up of prominent newspaper men and railway officials. A further application of railway nomenclature is planned for express trains connecting with Berlin with Basle, Hamburg and Berlin with Holland and Munich with Basle.

Goldsboro Favors Extension P. and N.

Goldsboro, June 20.—(AP)—Eastern North Carolina made plans to add its voice to those urging the granting of the application of the Piedmont and Northern Railway for right to extend its line to Winston-Salem.

One hundred manufacturers and wholesale dealers of the section were represented at the hearing before the Interstate Commerce Commission examiner, which begins today in Charlotte, by W. L. Thornton, Jr., of Wilson, secretary and traffic manager of the Carolina Shippers Association, Inc.

The general opinion expressed here, is that in case the Interstate Commerce Commission grants the right to extend the line to Winston-Salem and Durham that eventually the road will be continued to a coast town, probably Beaufort or Southport. Goldsboro plans a concerted action in favor of granting the proposed extension.

Tampa Man Is Flogged By Mob

Tampa, Fla., June 20.—(AP)—William E. Sullivan, motion picture machine operator, was seized on the streets last night by four men, dragged into a waiting automobile and taken several miles into the woods and severely whipped. Sullivan was left in the woods, but returned to his home at 2:30 o'clock this morning and declared that he did not recognize any of his assailants.

Sullivan had just left the theatre where he is employed, when a touring car drew up at the curb and two men leaped out and seized him. Mrs. Sullivan who had followed her husband out of the theatre screamed and ran to the side of her husband and was likewise seized and drawn into the car.

Mrs. Sullivan was brought back to the city by the floggers and according to police was unharmed but Sullivan was left in the woods.

Richard Nosti, a friend of Sullivan's ran to his assistance and was struck down with the butt end of a pistol by one of the kidnapers as the car sped away.

Nosti was treated at a hospital for his injuries. He told officers investigating the slugging that he did not recognize any of the men in the car.
