GIRL VICTIM OF ATTACK BY
A NEGRO MANGladys Kincaid, of Morganton, Dies of Injuries Sustained at Hands of Assailant.

Nebo, N. C., June 22.—(AP)—An armed crowd of men, estimated at around 2,500, at noon today had surrounded a woods near here and 18 miles West of Morganton in search of Broadus Miller, negro, sought on charge of attacking Gladys Kincaid, 15 year old Burke County girl.

A report reached Morganton at 10:30 o'clock this morning that the negro had been seen in this section and soon hundreds of men were enroute.

Officers said they feared they could not control the crowd if the negro were captured.

Blackwoodsmen from the hills, armed with squirrel rifles and shotguns, workers from mills and factories and men from the towns in the section made up the crowd of searchers.

The net in which they hope to catch the attacker has been stretched from Nebo to Bridgewater, a distance of 10 miles and with some semblance of order is being gradually closed in on the place where the negro is reported to have been seen.

The crowd has been rushing from place to place all day following reports that the negro has been seen first at one place and then at another. Officials however said the last report bore all of the earmarks of authenticity.

The roads from Bridgewater to Nebo are choked with automobiles carrying men and even some women to the scene.

Morganton, N. C., June 22.—(AP)—A $500 reward has been offered for the capture of Broadus Miller, negro, alleged slayer of Gladys Kincaid, 15 years old Burke County girl. The negro has also been declared an outlaw by Governor McLean, and a justice of the peace of Burke County, and may be killed in case of resisting arrest.

Burke County has offered a reward of $250, and the State of North Carolina has matched this amount by offering another reward of $250 for his capture.

Sheriff Hallyburton said this morning that there was approximately 1,000 men searching for him now.

Miller's clothes, consisting of a pair of pants and shirt, have been found out on the Old River road and it is now believed that he wears striped trousers and a cap.

Bloodhounds have been ordered from Asheville and Hickory, and a new search was started this morning near the place where the negro changed his clothes.

Miller is the first man to be declared an outlaw in Burke County in a score of years.

The negro alleged to have made the attack is about 30 years old, five feet eleven inches high and weighs about 160 pounds. He is of the "ginger cake" variety in color.

Morganton, N. C., June 22.—(AP)—Gladys Kincaid, 15, daughter of Mrs. Mary Jane Kincaid, died in a local hospital at 3:30 o'clock this morning as a result of an attack by a negro who has not yet been found.

The girl's skull was crushed "like an egg shell," said physicians at the hospital. It is believed that the alleged assailant struck her in the head with an iron bar.

It might long a vast crowd milled around the streets of Morganton awaiting news from the searchers, the local National Guard went out voluntarily for the dual purpose of maintaining order and searching for the negro, who is believed to be Broadus Miller.

A party of the searchers said they saw the negro near the Hunting Creek bridge, six miles east of Morganton, last night and after that information reached the milling crowd there was a speedy rush to that section where hundreds scoured the countryside.

When the news of the girl's death spread over the town at an early hour this morning the thousands who had waited throughout most of the night, started a determined search for the negro. Parties of men were dispatched in every direction and given instructions to telephone back whenever possible.

At yesterday afternoon the young girl was found in a small wood several hundred yards off No. 10 highway east of Morganton. Her clothes were torn to shreds and her head was bleeding and in a crushed condition. Passersby put her in a car and rushed her to the Morganton hospital.

Will Berry, a negro living on the Flemington road, out from Morganton, was arrested late last night and is being held as a material witness. A yellow slicker with blood (Continued on page five)

Man builds the house for God to dwell therein, was the old idea. The modern idea is a combination skyscraper church, stores, offices, apartments, swimming pools, gymnasium. New York's Manhattan Congregational church will spend $2,000,000 on such a building, twenty-three stories high. The clergyman will live on the ground floor.

Perhaps the first 100-story building will have a church at the top. When Mrs. Stetson established Mrs. Eddy's first Christian Science church in New York, she ingeniously rented space above a drug store and announced: "Science above drugs." The great church of the future will announce: "Religion above Commerce." Until lately churches were the tallest buildings in all cities.

One Frenchman who killed 2,000,000 poisonous snakes in India, had their skins cured in Switzerland, and sold as ladies' shoes in Paris is coming to organize snake killing on a big scale here.

May the French gentleman concentrate on rattlesnakes and oblige many of our states. The Lord, (see Genesis three-fifteen), warned the gully serpent: "Upon thy belly shalt thou go and dust shalt thou eat all the days of thy life." And further warned him that "The seed of the woman shall bruise thy head." Little did the serpent imagine that Eve's female descendants would some day go to and fro in the earth wearing skins of the serpent's descendants as shoe leather. That is having the last word.

Dr. Stratton, New York fundamentalist, says Christ's coming will eclipse even Lindbergh's reception. "Instead of the people of one city coming together, all the inhabitants of the earth and heavens, yes, even of hell itself, shall tremble in awe and wonder."

This earth according to scientists, will last at least a hundred million years more. By that time all the inhabitants of heaven, earth and hell itself will make a total most impressive.

FOUR PERSONS
DIE IN FLAMESThree Firemen Also Injured When Fire Destroys Home in Boston Mass.

Boston, June 22.—(AP)—Two women and two girls were burned to death and three firemen injured in a fire which swept the home of William L. Shearer, Jr., vice president of a large furniture company in the back district this morning.

The dead were Janet Shearer, 19 daughter of Mr. Shearer, Bettie Howes, 16, Alice Scott, 32, a housemaid, and a cook named Helen McLaughlin.

Mrs. Annie Dickson, a governess, who was believed to have discovered the fire, was the only other person in the building. She was rescued, partially overcome, while clinging to a balcony on the fourth floor of the street front of the palatial home.

The two girls and the cook were burned to death. Alice Scott was killed when she jumped from a fourth story window to the pavement.

The fire started in the basement from an electric iron which had been left on a shelf.

It was apparent that the fire had spread so rapidly that the women and girls had no chance to escape.

Mr. Shearer had gone aboard his yacht Paprika last night for a cruise and Miss Howes, a friend, had come to spend the night with Miss Shearer.

Ohio Governor
Will Not ReturnJ. E. Deitrich

Raleigh, June 22.—(AP)—Gov. Vic Donahay of Ohio today refrained from honoring extradition papers, signed by Gov. McLean of North Carolina for the return of J. E. Deitrich, former local decorator-florist employed, wanted in connection with the police scandal investigation and also on a serious charge.

The Ohio Governor held up action pending receipt of further papers from Raleigh and a probable hearing in Cleveland. Deitrich is the missing witness in the grand jury investigation into allegations that a local policeman sold his whiskey.

Pitt American Legion Post
Takes Action for Complete Observance Armistice Day

Members of the Pitt County Post of the American Legion were entertained at supper last night at the Rotary club building by Mayor J. Con Lanier and J. B. Kittrell, the occasion being the regular monthly meeting of the organization. Numbers of legionnaires from the different parts of the county were in attendance and thoroughly enjoyed the program. Dr. A. M. Schultz presided.

Probably one of the most important matters considered during the session pertained to action of the Eastern Carolina Warehousemen Association in asking that the warehouses of this district close only two hours during Armistice Day.

Members of the Legion declared that the warehouses should be closed the whole day of November and appointed a committee composed of Mayor Lanier and J. B. Kittrell to appear at the annual convention of the United States Tobacco Association now in progress in Morehead City and ask that its members use their influence in seeing that the day is properly observed. Telegrams were sent to important members of the association, and copies of these messages will be read to the convention by Mr. Lanier.

W. H. Rogers and D. K. B. Pace declared that the signing of the armistice was one of the most important affairs in the history of the world, and that it should be so observed by people everywhere.

There was some doubt expressed as to whether the Morehead City convention would be able to assist in the matter, but this was set aside by W. H. Rogers who stated that the warehousemen were largely influenced by the buyers represented at the convention. In other words, if the various tobacco companies should give their buyers a holiday it would do the warehouses little good to remain open.

Dr. Schultz read a letter from the American Legion headquarters at Wilson asking that the local post use its influence in bringing about complete observance of Armistice Day. The letter told of action of the warehousemen in ordering the two-hour closing period for the day, and asked that concerted action be taken immediately.

W. H. Rogers, chairman of the committee to decorate the graves of former service men, asked other members of the committee who assisted in decorations last month to turn in all information regarding the graves which they decorated. He said they wanted to find the graves of the forty odd men who lost their lives during the war so that they might be decorated every year. To date the Post has record of the location of only twenty-two graves.

The matter of placing appropriate markers at the graves of the world war dead was also considered. James

Set New Record
In Collection of Federal Taxes

Raleigh, June 22.—(AP)—Federal tax collectors in North Carolina for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1927 today passed $200,000,000 setting a new record for the collection of Federal taxes in this state. Gilliam Grissom, U. S. Collector of Internal Revenue for the district of North Carolina, reported.

As a result of the record breaking collection North Carolina has taken its place with New York, Michigan, Pennsylvania, and Illinois, as one of the five states in the nation turning more than $200,000,000 annually into the federal coffers.

The bulk of North Carolina's federal tax money comes from the sale of tobacco revenue stamps.

RALEIGH MAN LEAVES
ESTATE TO HIS WIFE

Raleigh, June 22.—(AP)—In his will, written only four days before his death, J. B. Robeson, prominent real estate man of this city, who died Friday, June 10, at Mary Elizabeth hospital, left his estate valued at $10,000 to his wife, with the exception of $1,000 each, to each of his two sons, Palmer and Stewart.

His wife, Katie Drew Robeson, was named as administrator, to serve without bond. The will, which is entirely in his own handwriting, was written during Mr. Robeson's illness, on June 3, soon after writing it, Mr. Robeson died, the entire time of his illness being only ten days. The will was probated before Virgil Royster, Clerk of Wake County Superior Court.

MANY TESTIFY
IN P. & N. CASE
AT CHARLOTTEExamination of Witnesses and Cross Examination Feature Today's Hearing.

Charlotte, June 22.—(AP)—Although insisting that the Piedmont and Northern Railway, an inter-urban line is "distinctly an inter-urban" at present, J. S. Cureton, Greenville, S. C., told today Examination H. C. Davis of the Interstate Commerce Commission that extension of its lines might change its nature to that of a general carrier of freight.

Mr. Cureton was testifying in favor of the petition of the electric line's petition for a permit to extend its lines so there will be a continuous line from Greenwood, S. C., to Winston-Salem, N. C.

Cross-examined by Stahle Linn of Salisbury, of counsel for the Southern Railway, the traffic manager was put through a series of questions designed to develop that the line is a general freight carrier when he had stated that the extension might change the character of the line he was asked the extent and nature of the possible changes but said he could not tell.

Most of the questioning of Mr. Cureton related to intricate details of transportation problems. They were pressed closely, however, and reference made several times to testimony on yesterday that the P. and N. expects to make a physical connection with the Norfolk and Western at Winston-Salem and form part of a new and direct route to the Virginia coal fields.

George W. Forrester of Atlanta, a traffic manager, told the examiner that the proposed extensions are necessary to take care of the expanding business of the cotton mills. He said he was traffic and rate expert for 300 cotton mills, in the Southern States. On cross-examination he said the transportation service of the Southern Railway is good.

Mr. Cureton at the outset of his testimony said that the expansion of the textile manufacture industry of the Carolinas in the past 15 years has exceeded that of any other section in the union. A chart was introduced showing the location of the cotton mills in the Piedmont section of the Carolinas.

The P. and N. he asserted has been "the contributing factor in the establishment of the 64 cotton mills built in this territory since 1910" and pointed out that the chart showed the mills were more dense in the territory served by the electric line than in contiguous territory. There are now 3,230,000 active spindles along the line.

The witness said that a service of "a different character" is afforded by the P. and N. as compared with steam lines.

On direct testimony Mr. Cureton read a prepared statement going extensively into statistics tending to show the delivery of interchanged shipments was completed with greater dispatch by the P. and N. than by the Southern Railway.

Connecting the Spartanburg-Gastonia gap, he said, "will greatly improve the service of the electric line." Completion of an extension to Winston-Salem would result in numerous benefits to brokers, factories and the traveling public (Continued on Page Six.)

BAD WEATHER CONTINUES TO HOLD UP BYRDDense Fog and Storm

New York, June 22.—(AP)—Continuing pranks of fickle weather off and about Nova Scotia indicated today that the Byrd trans-Atlantic expedition can only talk about flying to Paris today and tomorrow. Early reports of unfavorable weather suggested that no start could be made today and probably tomorrow.

James Kimball of the New York office of the Weather Bureau reported a storm and dense fog off the Nova Scotian coast and rainfall totalling 5.56 inches in 24 hours at Halifax.

The America continued in a state of preparedness. All hands were ready and the mail was awaiting word of favorable weather.

Washington, June 22.—(AP)—The prospective Atlantic flight by Commander Richard E. Byrd, is expected by scientists to furnish valuable information on radio transmission as his plane, the America, is equipped with a radio set designed to signal the call letters of the plane ten times each minute.

When the radio is not in use for other purposes an automatic attachment will keep repeating the call letters WTW. As the code for these letters is composed of dashes, detection of the signal should be easy.

The National Geographic Society said this signal should enable ship radio operators to know exactly where to pick up on their dials the messages that would tell that the plane was safe. Should the signals cease abruptly without explanation it would be inferred that something had happened and ships could start at once for the America's location.

The set, designed by Malcolm P. Hanson, and L. A. Hyland, of the Naval Research Laboratory at Washington, has a weight of 120 pounds including all equipment.

The set sends only telegraphic signals but can receive either signals or spoken words, the ear receivers for the latter being equipped with specially designed soft rubber ear pieces enclosed.

Elizabeth City
Ships 3,767 Cars
Of Irish Potatoes

Raleigh, June 22.—(AP)—Out of the 5,101 carlots of early Irish potatoes shipped out of North Carolina since opening of the season, 3,767 have gone from the Elizabeth City district. William A. Graham, state commissioner of Agriculture said today.

He said the Elizabeth City section "is one of the very finest sections in the entire United States." "Now that it has been provided with some good roads and Eden House bridge will be open soon, it is going to mean more to North Carolina and to itself than ever before. I look for continued progress in and around Elizabeth City and I am glad the state is beginning to realize what this section means and is giving it merited recognition."

The state department recently estimated a total shipment of 6,000 carlots for the season. Farmers of the state received $5,846,000 for last year's crop of early potatoes while the entire amount received for the spuds totaled $11,846,000 while potatoes last year sold for $4.50 average price per barrel, this year the average is around $8.50, it was said here.

The potato crop should bring in 7,000,000 the strawberry $3,000,000, and poultry marketing $500,000 department officials said.

HORSE, MULE SHORTAGE

There were 21,013,000 horses and mules in the United States January 1, 1927 according to estimates of the Department of Agriculture. The figures represent a decline of 17 per cent since 1920. Unless breeding is resumed, the department says, the present number will be reduced 30 or 40 per cent in the next five years. That will mean an acute shortage on farms.

SAYS AMERICA
STILL LEADING
WITH TOBACCOCarrington Delivers Opening Address at
U. S. Association Convention.

Morehead City, June 22.—(AP)—The U. S. of America is still the world's premier tobacco producing country by a large margin, A. B. Carrington of Danville, Va., told the assembled members of the Tobacco Association of the United States in his annual report presented as president of that body today.

Not only is America the greatest producer but is still the greatest exporter, 30 per cent of the world crop being harvested in this country, 25 per cent of the domestic crop being reported. Carrington presented an unusually comprehensive survey of world trade condition after securing data from capitals of tobacco producing countries as well as quoting records made available to him by the Department of Commerce in Washington.

In 1925 the world harvest of tobacco was about 4,400,000,000 pounds, he said, "figures for 1923 not being available. One-third of this great amount was set adrift in the channels of international trade."

While tobacco exporters have viewed with some apprehension the effect of Great Britain's policy in admitting colonial grown tobacco under a preferential tariff, consequently at the expense of this American market, the decline in exports of 13 per cent was practically made up by Europe's increasing demand. Russia, because of economic difficulties, is steadily sinking as a world producer, he reported.

Italy under the Mussolini regime curtailed her imports by 25 per cent and Spain, last year substituted on stocks on hand.

Germany took second place in 1926 for the first time as tobacco importer, the United Kingdom going to first place with 186,000,000 pounds, entering British ports, an increase of six per cent over 1925.

In 1926, the report said, American planters harvested 1,333,388,000 pounds of leaf, four per cent less than in 1925. Carrington viewed this decrease with satisfaction and pointed out that since there is a lower demand for native coarse grades, producers should concentrate on the finer cigarette types for which there is a steady demand.

AMERICA NOT IN FAVOR OF BRITISH PLANState Department Declares U. S. Proposal Should be Basis of Final Agreement.

Washington, June 22.—(AP)—The state department exerted itself today to make clear that the American proposals presented at the Geneva arms conference represented the best thought of the administration at this time and that barring the usual concessions of compromise on details, the plan should be maintained as the basis for any agreement.

Geneva, June 22.—(AP)—A study of the British and Japanese proposals for naval reduction has created the belief among the American delegates to the tripartite naval conference that it would be easier to arrive at an agreement on the basis of the Japanese suggestions than on those of the British. Nevertheless, the experts have not been shaken from their view that the plan presented by the U. S., Great Britain and Japan are so widely divergent as to make an agreement impossible unless some one withdraws from the original position.

Great Britain's idea for reducing the size and armament capital ships and cruisers appears to be not at all to the liking of the Americans, and it is understood the delegates of the U. S. will make it clear that their country never will be forced into building small size cruisers, as they are unsuitable for her national defense needs.

For the next few days the main task of the conference will be to agree on definitions. While the projects of the three participating powers were all presented in the English language, it is felt there is a difference of views as to what some of the terms employed, particularly technical ones, actually convey to all the delegates. This business of finding a common "lingua franca" is not expected to take over long, as the members of the technical committee are all seasoned naval men who prefer blunt unambiguous terms to the nuances of diplomatic phraseology.

Rear Admiral Schofield and Captain Andrews and Captain Smyth represent the United States on this drafting body. Once its work is completed, the three propositions will be re-examined in the light of the acquired comprehension of each delegation's exact intent. It is the expressed wish of Hugh S. Gibson, chief American spokesman and president of the conference, that all committee sessions shall be as elastic and informal as possible so as to satisfy everybody and hasten the work on these matters.

In a statement to the Associated Press last night, Admiral Saito explained the plan of his country would enable the U. S. to scrap some of her numerous destroyers and make use of the tonnage thus saved in the building of cruisers.

The British proposal it is emphasized by Admiral Earl Jellicoe and Vice-Admiral Sir Frederick Field is not to blow at the Washington treaty, but constitutes an effort to accomplish at the present conference things which would have been settled at the second Washington conference, in 1921.

Veteran Actor

San Francisco, June 22.—(AP)—Increasing weakness and a rising temperature brought John Drew, veteran actor, near to death here today. His physician, Dr. Lawrence Hoffman, declared the determination to fight which the actor is making against his illness is the only hope of recovery.

Drew was seized with an attack of arthritis at Portland, Ore., recently and brought here for treatment. He has been in a critical condition for several days.

NO VIOLATIONS OF LABOR

In the last two years, employees of 72,931 women workers generally are observing the State laws covering working hours and industrial environment surrounding women workers is good, he finds.

YANKS AND CARDINALS GAIN GROUND

(By The Associated Press)

St. Louis Cardinals and New York Yankees today had doubleheaders, to thank for boosting them onward two whole games in the chase for world baseball honors.

These two powerful clubs who fought it out last year for the title and are going strong again this season were the only teams to win two games yesterday. The feat is not accomplished every day.

By downing the Chicago Cubs twice by 6 to 5 and 12 to 3, the champion Cardinals passed them in the National League standings and became the runner-up club to the Pirates. By dropping a 7 to 6 decision to the Reds that league leading aggregation meanwhile lost a few precious points of its leadership margin.

Injury to Tommy Thevenow crack Cardinal shortstop, marred the Red Birds day of triumph. Sliding into second in the second game, Tommy suffered an ankle fracture which may keep him off the field all season. As though spurred to better baseball by the mishap his mates scored a one-sided victory over the Chicago club that forced them to 13 innings in the first game.

The fast-sailing Pirates fell victim the last time in the league race the Reds winning in the tenth on Crite's single and the superior pitching of Luque and Mays.

Even though back home in the East where the National League picking is supposed to be easier, the Giants lost to the Braves by 7 to 5, their win-loss average falling to just .500 for the season now far. Two homers for the Boston catcher Frank Hogan, former Summerville, Mass., schoolboy, spelled disaster for the McGraw men.

Pressing their Metropolitan rivals the Giants closely, the Robins in fourth place continued their rise by dropping the Phillies by a 7 to 3 as the arm of Dazzy Vance flashed its finest pitching.

The Yankees' two victories, scored over the trailing Red Sox by 7 to 3 and 7 to 1, shoved them along farther than ever in the American League race. As the White Sox were idle and the Senators and Athletics split a double bill, none of their rivals gained.

Walter Johnson lost his third game in four starts when the Athletics took his measure by 8 to 2 after his mates had won the first game by 5 to 4. Rube Walberg bested the Washington veteran this time, holding the foe to five hits while nine in costly bunches were made off Big Barney.

Caps Four Games Ahead in Piedmont

Raleigh, June 22.—(AP)—With Rocky Mount and Raleigh fans urging them onward to victory and the series money almost in the grasp of each, the Piedmont League teams of the two cities entered the crucial series today at Rocky Mount.

Raleigh, whose 37 wins this half are credited to Harry Roger, star relief hurler, a record said to be unequalled in many seasons, today stood four games ahead Rocky Mount and five over High Point.

Raleigh took a hectic 13-inning affair from the Pontiers here yesterday, 4-3. Foster Beal worked for nine innings, Moger relieving him to gain the spoils. Moger struck by a batted ball in the 11th act, appeared to suffer a painful right fore-arm as he hurled shut out ball.

Salisbury licked Rocky Mount, 8-2. Doran, newcomer, played third base for the Colonials. Errors embled Winston-Salem to defeat Durham, 5-3, at Durham.

Dempsey Confers With Rickard

New York, June 22.—(AP)—Jack Dempsey today came to terms with George L. Rickard for a "come-back" bout with Jack Sharkey at the Yankee Stadium, New York, July 21. The financial arrangements, agreed upon at a conference with the promoter were not announced.

New York, June 22.—(AP)—Shrouded in secrecy, Jack Dempsey arrived in New York today for a conference with Tex Rickard looking to a bout with Jack Sharkey.

Bobby Jones To Defend Title

London, June 22.—(AP)—Publication here of the report that Bobby Jones intended to defend his British open golf championship title in the tournament opening at St. Andrews on July 11 was received with loud cheers in the British golfing world where the Atlanta star is as popular perhaps as he is at home.

Henry Cullen, secretary of the championship committee said today that Jones had been in cable communication with St. Andrews and that if he desired to send his entourage by cable it would be accepted.

Members of the Royal and Ancient club were particularly pleased by the report inasmuch as another visit would enable Jones to enjoy the amenities of the club which has conferred an honorary membership upon him.

Glasses For Golfers Now In Vogue

Golf Tournament For Championship Continues Today

Charlotte Country Club, June 22.—(AP)—Ideal weather prevailed today as match play started to decide the 16 who will compose the first flight in the Southern Amateur golf tournament.

A warm sun shone over the course and although the fairways were still damp from last night's rainstorm, they were not wet enough to cause trouble.

The gallery at number one watching the players off was larger than that of yesterday but was expected to increase during the day.

Frank Dyer, Memphis medical round winner, had suddenly jumped to the top as a gallery favorite and many were planning to follow him today. The big blonde Memphis posed for a picture before starting his match with G. Lagomazino, Atlanta.

Jack Heath, Charlotte, matched with R. A. Killingsworth, Salisbury, brought a round of applause at the first tee when his drive was almost dead to the pin. A large gallery set out to follow the match.

Glen Crissman, Selma, Ala., matched with Will Gunn, Jr., Atlanta, almost duplicated Heath's drive, the ball landing only a few feet from where Jack had stopped. Lagomazino was leading Dyer three up at the ninth. The Atlanta sank a twenty foot putt on number 6. His medal score for the nine holes was 36. He had even four all of the way.

Gene Cook, Atlanta, was one up on C. C. Lima, Jr., Charlotte at the turn. Nelson Giddens, Memphis and Ed Houston, Nashville, Tenn., were square at the ninth.

Johnny Thames, Birmingham, was one up on Dwight Meigs, Knoxville, Tenn., at the turn. Eugene Mills, Raleigh, and W. B. Mason, Jr., Asheville, N. C., were square at the ninth.

Crissman and Will Gunn, Jr., were even at the turn. Both also had a 37 medal count.

C. H. Black, Jr., Atlanta, and Chastain Harris, Memphis, were square at the ninth.

Billy Youngblood, Atlanta, and N. E. Edgerton, Raleigh, N. C., were square when they made the turn.

The titleholder, Emmett Spicer, Memphis was one down to Dave Black, Atlanta, at the turn.

Watts Gunn, Atlanta, was 5 up on Vance Norfleet, Memphis at the turn.

Gunn was out with a medal round of 35.
 Harry Ehle, Asheville, N. C., was leading Scott Hudson, Atlanta, 5 up at the ninth.

(By O. B. Keeler)

Lives of great men frequently remind us when it comes to golf, that we need glasses. I mean spectacles. The compensative lenses have crept into baseball even. A long professional chap named Meadows, an admirable pitcher, was the first so far as I know, to use specs.

They won't do for boxers, though in these latter days some boxers I know might get by with them. Many tennis players use them. And the golfers are finding out more and more that tiny errors in refraction; bits of astigmatism here and there; and a hint of myopia prehaps, tend to affect their game as they progress in years and experience.

There is Francis Quimet, that stalwart figure in American amateur golf—the boy who, at 19 tied with Harry Vardon and Edward Ray, the great British professionals, in the United States open championship of 1913 at Brookline, and beat them both in the play-off of the triple tie.

Francis got a bit uncertain about his game, a couple of years ago. There was an element in it he didn't quite understand. He was no better health than formerly—he never has been precisely robust. And he felt he was missing shots by so small a margin and with such regularity that there must be some rational explanation for it. There was. An oculist supplied it. He fitted Francis to glasses.

Francis wore the glasses and a sun-helmet at Worcester, playing the national open championship of 1925. And he finished in a tie at 292 with Jonny Farrell, a single stroke back of Bobby Jones and Willie Macfarlane, who played off for the championship, Willie winning after 36 holes.

Willie Macfarlane, by the way, plays in glasses at all times; he says he couldn't possibly manage without them; and I suppose he is the first to win our national open championship, looking through the helpful windows.

Last year, on the British invasion of the Walker Cup Team, I saw that James Braid, five times winner of the British open championship, and one of the famous triumvirate of Vardon Taylor and Braid, was playing in glasses. I mentioned the fact.

"Yes," said the great Scottish professional, "I had to come to it. I was missing, putts in a manner otherwise unaccountable. And I am not normally a poor putter. It was glasses put me back on my game."

And lately I read a cable story that Harry Vardon, the Old Master—the king of the mull—had put on glasses. His putting, close around the cup, had been notorious for two decades for its eccentricity; he was the perfect golfer, up to three or four feet from the cup.

Now they say, Vardon is hailing the short ones. Ah, me—he's nearing 60 years of age, but if old Harry begins canning the short ones, which he has missed for so many years, the youngsters will have to look to their laurels. The oculist seems to be the friend of the golfer.

One-Armed Athletes Star in Sports

Chicago.—(AP)—Four athletes of the middle west are proving to the sport world that one-armed is as good as two. The one-armed athletic fraternity boasts two star pitchers in Missouri, the handball champion of Minnesota and a crack Chicago golfer.

The baseball stars are Henry J. Feldcamp, pitcher for University of Missouri, and Orville Paul of St. Louis Central High. Feldcamp won two games and lost two to the Tigers this season, and in a single game against Iowa State struck out eleven men, felled five batters perfectly and got two hits. He is 19 and a southpaw. Paul in a single game had five assists and slashed out a double. He fields barehanded.

The handball star, George Quam of Minneapolis, has held the city title several times and is now state Y. M. C. A. champion. And the golfer is W. O. Colvin who started one season with an eagle 2 on a 465-yard hole of the French Lick Ind., course.

Woman Arranges Transocean Hop

Mme. Luba Phillips, Russian-born aviatrix, who now lives in New York, wants to be the first woman to span the Atlantic by air. She is now making arrangements for a transocean hop.

The living room, where the ceremony was performed, was decorated in green and white. An altar was improvised of summer button chrysanthemums artistically arranged with a background of green, baskets of flowers and tapers in silver candelabra being effectively used. As the guests were assembling, Miss Eva Hodges rendered a musical program. Prior to the ceremony, Mrs. Ola Tucker sang "Oh Promise Me," and "I Love You Truly." Miss Hodges played Lohengrin's wedding march as the bride party entered.

The bride's only attendant was her sister, Mrs. J. Frank Brinkley, Jr., who wore Tiger Lilly georgette combined with lace and carried a bouquet of orchids and sweet peas. The bride was not more lovely than in her simple wedding gown of white crepe Elizabeth over tulle and carrying a bouquet of white sweet peas showered with sweetheart roses. The groom was attended by his brother, Oscar Greene, of Kinston, as best man. Rev. J. E. W. Cook, of St. Paul's Episcopal church, performed the ever beautiful ring ceremony.

After the ceremony, an informal reception was held, following which the bride and groom left for New York and Atlantic City. Mrs. Greene wore an ensemble suit of blue and tan with red accessories. The bride comes from one of the oldest families in Eastern North Carolina, being the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. McCutcheon of Maysville. She attended N. C. C. W. at Greensboro and King's Business College in Raleigh. For some time she has made her home here with her sister and has been employed by the John Flanagan Buggy Company. She is pretty and attractive and has made a number of friends during her stay here.

BRIDGE LUNCHEON FOR BRIDE-ELECT

Rocky Mount, June 21.—Mrs. J. H. Ward, Jr., delightfully entertained at bridge luncheon yesterday at noon, in honor of Miss Lillian Mae Cockrell, who today weds Kermit Edward Ward.

Mrs. Ward's home was tastefully decorated for the occasion and exquisite yellow and white flowers carried out the color note. Place cards, tallies and favors were in bridal effect of the same shade.

The bride-elect was presented a piece of line and Mrs. H. C. Perry who made high score, received an oilcloth painted bridge cover. Mrs. L. H. Hicks received low score prize a beautiful handkerchief.

WARD-COCKRELL

Rocky Mount, June 21.—A morning wedding, lovely in its simplicity was performed today at 11 o'clock at the First Methodist church when Miss Lillian Mae Cockrell became the bride of Mr. Kermit Edward Ward, Rev. Creasy K. Proctor, pastor of the church, officiated.

The church was beautifully decorated with tall baskets of Easter lilies silhouetted against a background of towering palms and ferns. The church was lighted by myriads of candles in seven-branched candlesticks.

The wedding music was rendered by Mr. W. B. Darrow, organist; Mrs. Jeff Abbott, of Kinston, soloist; and Mrs. F. B. Hunnicutt, violinist. Mrs. Abbott rendered "Until" and "Because," prior to the wedding.

"Schubert's Serenade" was softly played during the ceremony. Lohengrin's wedding march was used as a recessional.

The bride entered with her brother, Mr. A. L. Cockrell, by whom she was given in matrimony. She wore a traveling suit of navy blue flannel with small blue hat and rhinestone buckle. Her bouquet was fashioned of double white Killarney roses showered with lilies of the valley.

Miss Frances Pollock, of Kinston, and the groom's sister, Miss Jimmie Louise Ward, were selected as bridesmaids. Miss Pollock wore a flesh colored crepe Elizabeth trimmed with hand-painted bands. Miss Ward wore a similar morning frock of yellow crepe Elizabeth trimmed with lace. They wore small close-fitting hats and slippers to match and carried arm bouquets of Columbia roses and sweet peas.

The bride's sister, Mrs. Wade Holmes, of Greenville, served as dame of honor. She was becomingly crowned in a morning frock of blue crepe Elizabeth with small blue hat and blue slippers to match. She carried a colonial shower bouquet of Columbia roses and sweet peas.

Little Miss Dorothy Ward, in a dainty frock of flesh georgette, carried the ring in an Easter lily.

Mr. Ward was attended by his brother, Mr. J. H. Ward, Jr., as best man and he chose as his groomsmen Mr. Braxton Daughtridge, Mr. Albert Daughtridge, Mr. Douglas Dunn and Mr. Henry Cuthrell, all of this city.

The bride is the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Stephen Cockrell. She attended Eastern Carolina Teachers' College and for the past three years has been a member of the faculty of the Kinston public schools. The groom is the son of Mr. J. H. Ward of this city, and was educated at State College. He holds the position as assistant manager of the Palace theatre and commands a wide circle of friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Ward left after the ceremony for a wedding trip to Washington, New York and Canada, making the trip by automobile.

Last evening after the wedding rehearsal, an informal reception was given at the bride's home, on Sunset avenue, to which the bridal party, out-of-town guests, the families of the young couple and a few close friends were invited.

The home was attractively decorated to carry out the wedding idea. Much merriment was caused by the cutting of the bride's cake. Mrs. Porter Hammon cut the thimble, Miss Francis Pollock the heart, Miss Lucille Vaughn the dime, Mr. Porter Hammon the wishbone and Miss Lillian Cockrell the bachelor's button.

The display of wedding gifts was large and beautiful.

Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Earl Ward, Dick King and Tracey Cunningham, of Wilmington, N. C.; Mrs. O. A. C.; and Misses Annie Ruth and Rebecca Hardee.

B. Y. P. U. Sessions Open at Meredith

Raleigh, June 22.—(AP)—A spirit of seriousness and deep Christian consecration marked the second day of the 18th annual convention of the State Baptist Young People's Union in session at Meredith College here.

The convention opened last night and will continue through Thursday evening. Speaking to the convention at the close of this morning's session, W. H. Preston, secretary of the Interboard Commission, Memphis, told the 1,500 delegates assembled that "the master key to happiness is a life absolutely surrendered to Jesus Christ in His service."

C. S. Green, Durham, was in charge of the junior-intermediate section while J. T. Coley, Rocky Mount, presided at the junior-intermediate leaders' section.

Miss Winnie Rickett, junior-intermediate leader for North Carolina spoke on the "Romance of Leadership."

CIGAR ASHES HOBBY

Cannes, France.—(AP)—Like Sherlock Holmes, Pierre Argus is a connoisseur of cigar ashes.

Police recently discovered the fact when they went to interview Pierre regarding an unpaid cigar bill. His apartment was found to contain more than 6,000 cardboard boxes with glass tops covering the ashes of various kinds of cigars.

Monsieur Argus is neither a smoker nor a scientist. He is simply imbued with the idea of collecting something.

What's wrong with this picture? Let the United States Bureau of Home Economics answer:

The dress costume at the left is all wrong. In the first place the criss-cross, zigzag effects on the many colored jacket do not harmonize with the tip and down lines and colors of the skirt. The V-shaped vest of unsuitable lace materials and the open work of the shoes add to the jumble of lines, colors and spots of the whole outfit.

But the girl at the right demonstrates an approved outfit.

"Here," say the authorities, "is a two-piece dress that is plain and loose enough to permit free movement. The natural color of the dress is relieved by two-tone bands of orange in blouse and skirt, running in the same direction and giving the dress pleasing lines. The tie and shoes are appropriate to the purpose for which a sport costume is worn."

It seems incredible that anyone should want to wear such a combination as shown at the left, yet it is not uncommon.

NEW STARS IN TENNIS FIRMAMENT

Wimbledon, Eng.—(AP)—Of the new woman stars who have flashed across the tennis firmament since the beginning of the season, experts are predicting the brightest future for Fraulein Cecilia Aussem of Germany and Miss Bobby Heine of South Africa.

Fraulein Aussem emerged from obscurity by eclipsing the Wimbledon star, Mlle. H. Contostacos, during the recent French championship. The 17-year-old Bobby Heine eliminated the colorful Lili D'Alvarez, Wimbledon finalist of last year, in the same show.

The German girl, born at Cologne eighteen years ago, has modeled her game after Suzanne Legien's and is being called the "German Legien."

French flash from the stand at Wimbledon. Not only is her dancing footwork an exact replica of Suzanne's but her plan of campaign is similar to the French woman's.
She is good at varied placements, in accurate and can work at varying speeds, to the confusion of her opponents.

Miss Heine is the product of the South African veldt. She learned to play tennis by knocking a ball against a stable wall on her father's farm. She is blond, shingled and tall. Until her sensational defeat of the Spanish girl, Miss Heine was considered the "third string" among the women players of the South African Davis Cup team. She never played on grass courts until this season, when she won the woman's title at the Surrey championships.

Both Miss Heine and Fraulein Aussem expect to take part in the Wimbledon championships.

Miss Betty Nuthall, sometimes called "the English Lengien," will appear in the singles, in the women's doubles, partnered by Mrs. L.
A. Godfree, and in the mixed doubles, partnered by H. W. Austin.

Miss Nuthall celebrated her sixteenth birthday by winning easily from Mrs. Hals, Mrs. Molla Mallory's sister, in the first round of the woman's singles at the Middlesex championships at Chiswick Park. The greatest triumph of her short career was her winning this year of the British hard court open championship and, partnered by P.
D. B. Spence, the mixed double title.

Stray and hungry bass have been caught by backwoods-men or schoolboys, and Izaak Walton himself admits having taken even trout with worms at a pinch, but, after all, old Izaak was a good deal of a pot-hunter as well as a delightful piscator-ial philosopher. Self-respecting sportsmen of later times, however, would rather be guilty of shooting quail before they wing than catch an aristocratic fish with worms.
As compared with that "proud and isolated soul," the fly-fisherman, writes Prof. Bliss Perry in "Pools and Ripples," the worm-fisherman is "a low man."

Being asked—after the news came out of the Black Hills—whether an extra session of Congress would be called, Senator Borah replied: "There's no telling what a man who will catch trout with worms will do."

Senator Reed is quoted as saying that a trout so low as to bite at a worm is "a degenerate, an imbecile."
"they must have been catfish." The Missourian even confessed his suspicion that the Presidential trout of last summer were in reality suckers, and wagered that both times only half a worm was economically employed.
If Mr. Coolidge waits to get the papers before he goes out again, he may think it advisable to cast a fly, endure his poor luck, and let a guide get the trout for his table.

Park Addresses
Circulation Men

Atlanta, June 22.—(AP)—Attainment of a worthy objective rather than pay ment of cash dividends determines the success of a newspaper, John A. Park, president of the Southern Newspaper Publishers Association and publisher of the Raleigh, N. C., Times, told the International Circulation Managers' Association in convention here.

"Is increased circulation an asset or a handicap to a daily newspaper?" Mr. Park asked in elaboration on the subject; "where do we go from here?"

"I insist," he asserted, "that with the exception of metropolitan papers, circulation should be no larger than is necessary to cover the reading population within trading distance of the publishing office.
The logical territory is that which can be covered on the day of publication."

"No one will dispute the statement that circulation progress precedes newspaper success," he said, explaining that circulation is "the distribution of news, information, intelligence, inspirations and sales' effort to an audience willing to buy that service."

Black Hills Cause
Of Cleveland Row

Washington.—(AP)—Calvin Coolidge is the second President whose name has been linked with the Black Hills of South Dakota. The other was Grover Cleveland.

Coolidge, however, is enjoying the facilities for rest and recreation there, whereas Cleveland was violently denounced and threatened with impeachment proceedings because he created the Black Hills Forest Reserve, February 22, 1897, the birthday of the first President, George Washington.

When Cleveland set aside the reserve, virtually all of the timbered section of the Black Hills region was included and Charles Lathrop Peck, president of the National Tree Association, points out that it became the first national forest to be placed under scientific management in the United States.
It has produced millions of feet of lumber and brought thousands of dollars into the federal treasury.

One of its early supervisors was Capt. Seth Bullock, United States marshal and close friend of Theodore Roosevelt. Bullock gathered a staff of forest rangers who, Peck asserts, have never been equalled in any national reservation, including such men as "Cap" Smith old Indian fighter and still a resident

Embarrassing

The State Department is expected to ask the Irish Minister to the United States, Timothy Smiddy, to direct his son to be more respectful of American laws. Recently the son, Sears-field, ran afoul of Federal authorities on a complaint in connection with bringing liquor across the Canadian border. He is again enjoying diplomatic immunity in a dispute with Washington police over a charge of speeding. Minister Smiddy is reported to be embarrassed by the incidents.

of the region, living at Sturgis on the edge of the hills.

Fires have caused enormous damage in the Black Hills, but the rangers' efforts have saved magnificent forests of yellow pine from the flames. Before the white man emigrated so far from the Atlantic seaboard, fires caused by lightning or Indian campers ravaged the hills. A few Indians are still living who remember the time, about 80 years ago, when the whole mountainous region seemed to be ablaze. Indians in those days regarded the hills as holy grounds, harboring good and evil spirits, and they entered them only on annual hunting excursions.

BLUE RIBBON TRACK MEET
AT LINCOLN, JULY 1, 2, 4,

Lincoln, Neb.—(INS)—The greatest field of athletics ever assembled in the history of the Amateur Athletic Union of the United States will gather in Lincoln July 1, 2, and 4 for the A. A. U. championships.
The national event is the "blue ribbon track meet" of the year, being classified as the American Olympics.
A banner year in the national collegiate circles and the fact that the 1927 meet will be a preliminary test for the 1928 Olympic team will combine to make the July classic at Lincoln a great meet.

An idea of the calibre of competition on display at Lincoln next month may be gained from the fact that leading athletes in almost every field of sport are entered including world known champions.

the State Commissioner of Welfare, Mrs. Kate Burr Johnson, is marking time while endeavoring to determine the correct procedure to follow in the case.

Attorney General Dennis G.
Brummitt, meeting with the State Board last night, outlined what had been done by him in the suit. The case is to be set for trial at an early date, the appeal to Superior Court in Buncombe County still pending.

BUSINESS ADVANCING

Your money in a savings account is safe from fire or theft, and is not only performing a patriotic duty but is increasing in value for you every day.

Isn't it strange, we find some people who horde their money in their homes and its idleness profits no one, not even its owner, and 5 or 10 years later it has not increased any since first put away.

Do not wait until something happens to make you realize that the only safe place for your money is in the bank.

"I Use To Go To So and So's, But No More!"

We frequently hear this in our store. Yet it is not a reflection on the store of "So and So" so much as natural reaction from the so-so methods of "So and So". The shopping public is tired of the same old type of merchandise and are turning to our exacting methods of combining quality with something new, original and exclusive.

Two things surprise the people who shop at the big store —first our merchandise is better made and second it cost no more than the inferior grades at other stores.
Our system of buying is responsible for this. Each department in the Coplon store has its own buyer who goes to the northern markets and personally makes all selections. This enables the buyer to see just what is the newest, the best—and at the same time gives him or her a chance to buy at lower figures. The buyers' saving means that the customer at our store in turn saves. This is the reason that for over thirty years Cop-lon's has been known as "THE STORE OF QUALITY MERCHANDISE AT LOWEST PRICES."

STOCK MARKET
New York, June 22.—(AP)—Speculators for the advance continued in control of the price movement in today's stock market, but trading was relatively dull. A few cotton spots dropped out, particularly the old stock, but they failed to halt bullish demonstrations in the rails and specialties, nearly a score of which attained new peak prices.

Credit conditions continued relatively easy, although some slight stiffening was expected on a return of the income tax checks to the banks.

The close was steady. Total sales approximated 1,800,000 shares.

Grave Robbers Exhume Body near Kannapolis

Concord, N. C., June 22.—(AP)—Officers of Rowan County and Kannapolis today were seeking ghoul who last night exhumed the body of Mrs. Annie Benfield from Greenlawn Cemetery and carried away jewelry which was on the body.

The cemetery is several miles north of Kannapolis. Mrs. Benfield was buried yesterday afternoon and the crime was discovered this morning when relatives went to place flowers on the grave.

The robbers raised the casket from the grave and did not lower it again, the body was found face down in the casket.

Officers today were working on the theory that the crime was committed by some one who knew that a handsome necklace and several rings were buried with the body. The body was taken to a Kannapolis undertaking establishment today and prepared for a second interment this afternoon.

Salisbury, June 22.—(AP)—The necklace and two of the three rings on the body of Mrs. Annie Benfield, whose grave was opened last night were found this morning, according to Conner T. W. Summersett, who investigated the opening of the grave with sheriff J. H. Krieger. The necklace was found by the side of the woman and two rings were on her hand. Only one ring was missing.

Hickory, June 22.—(AP)—Morganton officials called the Hickory police department late last night and asked that this city's bloodhounds and a party of searchers join the sheriff's posse in an effort to find Broadus Miller, tall yellow negro, charged with attacking and killing Gladys Kincaid, Morganton girl, late yesterday afternoon.

Chief of police E. E. Lentz, said that several hundred people from Catawba county had joined the Burke county searchers by midnight and that he and his officers did not think it necessary to aid. They did, however, search all freight trains and watch the highways closely.

Lenoir, June 22.—(AP)—Several hundred men from Lenoir and Caldwell county joined the Burke officials in an all night search for Broadus Miller, negro, said to have attacked and killed Gladys Kincaid in Morganton late yesterday afternoon. The Lenoir company of the National Guard was kept in readiness for a call most of the night. A posse under the command of the sheriff searched near the Burke county line throughout the night.

GIRL VICTIM OF ATTACK BY A NEGRO MAN

It was found at his house by officers and the belief is held by local authorities that Berry aided in the escape of Miller. Persons living near the scene of the attack say that they saw a tall yellow negro with a yellow slicker pass that neighborhood just about the time of the alleged attack. The sheriff's department is holding the opinion that the finding of the slicker with blood on it positively identifies Miller with the crime.

The local company of the National Guard was drilling last night and when news of the alleged attack spread over the town it came out in uniform to aid the sheriff. Captain Owen Connelly called Gen. Metts over long distance and told him the company was aiding the Morganton officials in the search. While the company was not officially ordered out, it was in action with the approval of the General.

Every freight train passing through this section was stopped and searched.

Wardens On Trial For The Slaying Of Lodge Keepers

Norfolk, Va., June 22.—(AP)—Efforts to obtain a jury to try the first of three game wardens charged with murder in two instances and felonious shooting with intent to kill in another as a result of the death of two game lodge keepers at Backbay, Princess Anne county last February, occupied the opening hours of corporation court number two this morning.

More than a hundred prospective jurors had been summoned and while it was not anticipated this number would be needed, it was sought to avoid as much delay as possible as the court and counsel are endeavoring to wind up the case by tomorrow night unless unforeseen delays should arise.

The prosecution planned to put A. Floyd Mercer, game warden of Norfolk county, on trial first; he is to be followed by federal game wardens W. L. Birsch and then John Capps, game warden of Prince George county.

It is the option of the defense to determine whether or not each of the accused wardens will be tried on each indictment separately or if two murder indictments shall be joined.

The three wardens are charged with the murder of Lee Walterfield, and J. T. Bonney, and with feloniously shooting Walterfield's 15-year-old son. The wardens came on Bonney, Walterfield and the warden's son at Backbay about dusk one evening cleaning their guns and the gamekeepers violating the ducking law. Firing started and the officers claim they shot in self defense.

New Haven, Conn.—No more aimless drifting in life for Yale students, if money can help them steer a course to a destination. Yale has been given $300,000 to create a department of personnel study that will be expected to tell the Yale freshman what he is fit for, how to reach maximum in the work, and how to apply his knowledge after he graduates.

Charles H. Ludington, of Philadelphia, who graduated here in 1887, has given the money. Albert Beecher Crawford, head of the bureau of appointments at Yale since 1919, gets professor's title along with the job of managing the new department.

"It is extraordinary that so large a portion of our students come up to the spring of their senior year with little or no plan for the future, with no decision as to the field of work which they will enter and frequently with little or no knowledge of what opportunities are offered by the world of affairs. The day arrives when they simply must have a job and they jump at the first one which comes along, regardless of its merits or defects, and regardless of the likelihood that they can succeed in it. A certain amount of rough and tumble at life's outset is good for many types of men, and it is certainly impossible with any device now available to predict with confidence what calling any given individual will find satisfying and in what one he will succeed. Nevertheless our present procedure in the whole matter is highly irrational and deserving of radical alteration." Such is the view of President James Rowland Angell, of Yale University, on the subject. Explaining the University plan he says:

"One can hardly visualize the University venturing at this stage to give a youth definite positive advice to enter a given calling. But it is easy to see how with judicious advisors working with a more or less common-sense technique, using well-recognized personnel rating systems and supported by such psychological methods as can be mastered, a boy who desires it may be given help of really first-rate consequence in coming to a fuller understanding of own powers and possibilities."

The new plan, President Angell thinks, "will go far to cure our present rather aimless and haphazard procedure."

Yale students haven't been so very anxious to go to church after all. Such is the impression created at the end of Yale's first college year without compulsory chapel. The attendance was "not all that had been hoped for," says Rev. Dr. Henry Hallam Tweedy of the Yale Divinity School, who has been in charge of chapel during the year. But says Dr. Tweedy, "the numbers were good, the record is encouraging."

The attendance at first, under the new plan of voluntary chapel was good. Then it slumped. In the last two months the average was just over 100. The lowest attendance was 65, the highest 200. Memorial day saw the record broken. And the attendance on Sunday was about 400 students. Faculty members and their families swell the Sunday congregations.

Dr. Tweedy announced that a new organ is to be installed in Battel chapel this summer, and he hopes then to remove all present equipment and put choir stalls, chancel, pulpit and lectern into the building. "Something devoutly to be wished if the best results from chapel services are to be obtained," the doctor explained.

Lindbergh will be in that crowd, with David, Goliath, George Washington, Bonaparte, Joan of Arc, Wellington, everybody you ever heard of.

The Pennsylvania Railroad, commanded by General Atterbury, now a three thousand million dollar concern, announces a gross income in 1926 of $784,062,000, and of every dollar, 46 cents and 32 one-hundredths went for wages. That should suit everybody. Men that do one hundred per cent of the work might well get 46 per cent of the income, assuming good pay for those that do the THINKING.

Six doctors in a public hospital are accused of hazing three young doctors, who were bound, gagged, tied to their beds, dunked in cold water, covered with shoe blacking and otherwise treated brutally. The six accused, if convicted, should be made to postpone the practice of medicine for about ten years, while learning not to disgrace that profession.

This stupid hazing by full grown men, who should know better, is made all the more contemptible by the fact that the three men hazed were Jews. Un-American race prejudice undoubtedly played a part in the vicious performance.

London eagerly awaits Miss Fanny Ward, actress, aged sixty, said "to look not a day older than twenty."

Old ladies, anxious to be young, will be interested in Miss Ward's demonstration that the thing is possible. However, it is much less important that a woman of sixty should look like a woman of twenty than it is for a woman of sixty to look like a sensible woman of sixty.

Those anxious to keep out "inferior foreigners," forgetting that this nation, except a few Indians, is made up entirely of immigrants and their descendants, may be interested in the report of New York City's charity organization society. Among families asking for help, unable to take care of themselves, and investigated, 95 per cent were native born Americans, only five per cent foreigners.

"calamity" if the service of the Southern were diminished by a duplication of lines but on indirect examination he said he did not believe the Southern would lose.

W. W. West, Charlotte hardware merchant, asserted construction of the lines were necessary for "the welfare of the section." H. L. McClaren, Charlotte, chairman of the industrial division of the N. C. Department of conservation and development said that he considered the proposed extensions necessary "for industrial progress is dependent on transportation." "I think," he continued, "that progress is beginning. These extensions will provide local transportation and will remove the possibility of progress being handicapped by lack of adequate facilities."

Completion of the P. and N. "would be a valuable contribution to the transportation of this growing section," he said.

Answering a question of Vice-President Jeffries of the Southern Railway Mr. McClaren said that "it would be calamity" if the Southern suffered from duplication of service but he expressed a doubt that the Southern or any other line would be injured.

The progress of the presentation of the electric line's case was interrupted to permit the hearing of witnesses produced by the city and County of Spartanburg in behalf of the P. and N. H. A. Lizon, textile manufacturer and president of the Spartanburg Chamber of Commerce; C. O. Heaton, editor of the Spartanburg Herald; W. H. Henly, manager of the Spartanburg transportation Association and others urged its completion.

CONVICTS ESCAPE FROM TEXAS FARM
Houston, Texas, June 22.—(AP)—Thirteen long term white convicts who escaped from the Ferguson State prison farm near Madisonville, 80 miles North of here, at midnight last night, were believed to have been surrounded this morning in the densely wooded Trinity River Valley near their camp.

Guards from the prison camp were believed to have been surrounded this morning in the densely wooded Trinity River Valley near their camp.

Guards from the prison camp were reinforced by volunteers from all sections of Madison County, called by farm authorities to assist in the man hunt.

Most of the prisoners were serving long terms.

Many were described as desperate characters.

All efforts to communicate with the farm by telephone failed, indicating the convicts cut all wires so far as could be learned no one was injured in the break.

The men sawed through their bunk house and ran to a highway where they started toward a ferry on the Trinity River a short distance northeast of the farm. Guards hastily took up positions near the ferry and the fugitives were turned southward before they could cross the river.

Dogs were then secured and aided in chasing the men into thickets along the river bank. The section through which the chase led is a virtual swamp with mud several inches deep. It is impossible in many places to anything except men on foot.

Farm officials denied reports that the prisoners had commandeered automobiles and horses. The officers declared the men were driven into the woods before they had an opportunity to raid nearby ranches.

MUTINY WELL IN HAND AT KANSAS PENN

Prisoners Who Took Charge of Prison Mine, Surrender to Mine Guards.

Lansing, Kans., June 22.—(AP)—State penitentiary authorities today ordered that "hunger cure" treatment be continued for the 328 convicts who barricaded themselves in the prison coal mine shortly before noon yesterday as a protest against refusal of a cigarette issue.

While officials expressed regret that the 14 guards held in the mine by the strikers would also suffer from hunger, they scouted fears of relatives that the guards would be injured or molested in any way.

As the mutineers neared the end of their first 24 hours of self-imprisonment, Deputy Warden R. H. Hudspeith, in charge, gave no indication that overtures of any kind would be made to them.

"They'll come out when they are hungry enough," he told the guards.

While 328 convicts and their fourteen captive guards remained barricaded in a mine, rebellious factions above ground had abandoned rattling cell doors as well as their battle cry—"No cigarettes, no coal."

Inspired by the success of their companions in overpowering the mine guards and blocking the shaft at the 720 foot level shortly before noon Tuesday, several score prisoners in "B" cell house last night started a riot. Although they overpowered their guards and locked them up, the convicts quickly surrendered when extra guards appeared.

While the mine was believed to have been captured without bloodshed, D. J. E. Thomas, a guard, was stabbed during the cell house brawl and a prisoner fell as though wounded when Hudspeith fired. The guard was expected to recover. None of the convicts had asked medical treatment.

When order was restored, nine prisoners had been thrown into solitary confinement while the electric lights in the mine were turned off leaving a dungeon lighted only by miners' lamps for which a limited fuel supply was available.

Hudspeith in charge of the prison during the absence of Warden W. H. Mackey, and a veteran of the three similar mine barricade demonstrations here, showed little appeared with riot guns and Deputy Warden R. H. Hudspeith opened fire on them with a pistol.

"For God's sake Warden stop shooting," shouted Harry Baird, a lifer from Wichita. "Spare these men's lives and we'll be quiet."

Baird and others identified as leaders in the fight, then hastened to admit guards and to free those locked in cells.
