> Since he knocked out Harry Wills in four rounds, Paulino is more confident than ever that he is headed for a championship match. The Spaniard eagerly ought a match with Dempsey and howed no reluctance to try conlusions with the sharpshooting Delaney, who has cast aside his light-heavyweight title to concentrate on a come-back as a full-fledged heavyweight. Training camp reports say Delaney has fully recovered from the effects of an injured left hand and "tennis elbow" in his right armconsequences of his match with Maloney. If so, he probably will outpunch the Spaniard. But whether or not the Bridgeport battler can bring down the rugged Spaniard is another matter.

There are few hardier specimens in the ring than Uscudun. In fact, observers of his first few fights in this country labelled him nore of a "chopping block" than a woodchopper. His powers of assimilation seemed greater than his punching powers but since then he has displayed the knockout blow that felled the giant Wills at Ebbets Field. The negro offered little resistance on that occasion but it took a full-powered wallop, nevertheless, to bring him down.

"If Delaney couldn't bring down Maloney in ten rounds or even jar him, what chance has he to topple Paulino?" the Spaniard's followers "Paulino is made to order for Delaney." counter the latter's admirers. "Jack will box the Spaniard dizzy and then knock him out."
