CONGRESSMAN BULWINKLE TO DELIVER PRINCIPAL ADDRESS OF ARMISTICE DAY EXERCISES

Celebration of the Ending of the War to Be The Most Complete Held in Greenville in Years.

Honorable A. L. Bulwinkle, of Gastonia, representing the Seventh North Carolina district in the United States Congress, will deliver the principal address of Armistice Day exercises to be conducted at the East Carolina Teachers' College in this city today.

Mr. Bulwinkle will arrive this morning on the 10 o'clock bus from Raleigh, coming direct from Washington City where he has been for some time conferring with congressional committees. While here he will be the guest of members of the Pitt County Post of the American Legion, who have left nothing undone to make today's celebration of the signing of the Armistice the greatest since the ending of the world conflict.

Members of the Legion have not been advised what subject the distinguished North Carolinian will discuss, but it is generally conceded that he would generalize upon the achievements of American Expeditionary forces during and since the war.

The observance here today will be the most complete in years. It will be marked by the closing of City Schools, the tobacco market, business houses and general cessation of other branches of industry. The Merchants association in regular session this week, called upon all members of the organization to close, and also requested others to do likewise. Members of the Legion today said the closing would be complete in every sense of the word.

The program will actually get under way this morning at 10:15 o'clock when a parade consisting of the high school band, local Military units, police department and veterans of all wars, will form at the Atlantic Coast Line passenger depot. The parade will begin moving promptly at 10:30, proceeding down Dickinson Avenue and up Evans street to the Court House where taps will be sounded, followed by the firing of a 21 gun National salute.

The parade will then move on to the Teachers college where an elaborate program will be rendered. One of the outstanding features of this part of the day's exercises will be the singing of patriotic airs by Mrs. Herbert Waldrop, who has been designated as the "American Legion Soprano." Congressman Bulwinkle will be introduced by Mayor J. C. Lanier.

Dinner will be served at one o'clock in the basement of the new community building. All members of the Legion and those taking part in the parade have been invited to "break bread" with the Legionnaires. The program also provides for the showing of "Resurrection" at White's Theatre. The show will begin promptly at 1:45 and run continuously during afternoon and evening.

At three o'clock Battery E, local military unit, composed of several ex-service men will meet State college Reserves in a football game at Fair Grounds. This will be one of the most spectacular games of the season owing to the fact that the clubs are composed largely of college players, many of them having starred in the gridiron firmament in former days.

Divorced 17 Years And Didn't Know it

Hammond, Ind., Nov. 10. (AP)—John O. Donaldson, Hammond contractor, has revealed through a suit for partition of property that he has been living for 17 years with a woman who had secretly divorced him.

The couple was married in St. Joseph, Mich., in 1904. Six years later, Mrs. Donaldson came to Chicago, charged abandonment, sued for and obtained a divorce. She was given the right to resume her maiden name, Mildred Berry. In the divorce suit, service on the defendant was by publication as she did not know his whereabouts. After obtaining the divorce, the woman returned to Donaldson's home but did not tell him of the divorce.

Donaldson said he learned of the divorce by accident from a friend who chanced upon court records. The contractor is suing for a partition of property now held in the joint names of himself and his divorced wife.

DOCTORS HELD FINE SESSION LAST EVENING

Prominent State Health Workers Principal Speakers At Public Meeting.

Representatives of the North Carolina Medical Society and the State Board of Health were guests of the Pitt County Medical Society in regular session at the Presbyterian church last night and also at a public meeting held at the court house. While the public meeting was attended by only a sprinkling of people, mostly doctors and representatives of other professions from various parts of the county, considerable interest prevailed and much good no doubt will result from the gathering.

The distinguished guests were Dr. J. T. Burrus of High Point, president of the North Carolina Medical Society; Dr. L. B. McBrayer, secretary of the North Carolina Medical Society; and Dr. C. O. H. Laughlinhouse, secretary of the State Board of Health. Each spoke in an interesting manner of the development of public health work in North Carolina, and urged the citizenship to give it all support possible. Dr. McBrayer declared the children are not getting the attention livestock ought to receive. "They are helpless to combat this situation without more concerted effort of the public."

Dr. Burrus spoke of the general health conditions and stressed the need of more attention to diphtheria and cancer. He told of the heavy toll of life wrought by the cancer every year, and said this situation might be remedied by prompt and intelligent action. Dr. Laughlinhouse told of the tubercular examinations to begin in Greenville schools next week by Dr. Yoder, tuberculous expert of the State Board of Health. Dr. Bass gave an illustrated lecture showing the danger of the cancer, its development and the way to combat it.

Members of the medical society enjoyed their usual supper at the Presbyterian church. Drs. W. W. Dawson and R. C. Smith being hosts of the evening.

DIVINE HEALING CAUSES HEATED CONTROVERSY

SCORE FLOOD CONTROL ON MISSISSIPPI

Members of Flood Control Committee Also Praised in Hearing at Washington.

Washington, Nov. 10. (AP)—Criticism of flood control methods of the army engineers and the Mississippi River Commission by committee members developed today, at the House hearing on the subject, after two witnesses from Mississippi had praised the war department past efforts to keep the river within its banks.

Declaring that he had heard the "commission panned from one end of the valley to the other," Chairman Reid of the flood control committee asserted that the army engineers and the commission had an unexpended balance of $10,000,000 for flood control work in the Mississippi valley at the time of last spring's flood. He said Congress "has never been derelict in its appropriations for flood protection to the commission."

Representative Sears, Republican, Nebraska, said that the army engineers showed they were not prepared for the flood by the fact that they had to take until December 1 to prepare a flood control plan for Congress.

The criticisms of the engineers and the commission was expressed after Alexander Fitzhugh and Frank H. Andrews, both of Vicksburg, Miss., had praised their flood protective measures and Mr. Andrews had urged that the flood control problem be left in the hands of these two agencies.

Earlier in the day the committee received its first concrete proposal for the establishment of a reservoir to store up the excess waters of one of the Mississippi river's principal tributaries for use in agricultural development. It came from a delegation representing North Dakota, which advocated the diversion of the flood waters of the Mississippi through the impounding of water by a dam north of Station, N. D., and their diversion into Devil's Lake and Stump Lake, two diminishing inland bodies of water through the Cheyenne river and construction of channels.

From the lakes, the delegation which included Governor Sorlie, of North Dakota, proposed the water would be diverted into the eastern section of the Cheyenne which joins with the Red River in Minnesota. Thus, Governor Sorlie declared, the Missouri's flow could be diverted northward through the Red River into the Hudson Bay.

Representative Sinclair, Republican, North Dakota, and S. W. Thompson, of Devil's Lake, North Dakota, also outlined this plan.

A picture of the economic ravages of 1927 flood in the Southland and the proposals of flood control remedies in the fertile Mississippi delta were laid before the committee by a quartet of Mississippi representatives.

ENGINEER KILLED AND SEVERAL HURT WHEN SPECIAL TURNS OVER

Bristol, Va., Nov. 10. (AP)—Southern train No. 25, known as the Memphis Special, turned over at Loudon, Tenn., about 30 miles south of Knoxville, Tenn., tonight, according to the dispatcher's office here. The engineer was killed and others injured, advices said.

MAKES APPEAL FOR CLOTHING

Salvation Army in Need of Second-Clothing to Meet Demand of Poor.

With the first sting of winter being felt in this part of the county, the local Salvation Army today issued an appeal to the people of Greenville for second hand clothing to take care of the demand made upon the organization by poor people in different parts of the county.

"There are numbers of children forced to remain out of school because of insufficient clothing," a Salvation Army worker said today in making public the appeal of the organization.

"We are in position to use all second-hand clothing the good people of Greenville are able to contribute. The demand will increase with continued cold weather and suffering will be most intense unless the public responds liberally to our appeal."

The army worker expressed opinion that numbers of people have clothing they would be glad to contribute. He urged them to get busy and notify the Salvation Army before the cold becomes more severe and suffering more pronounced.

WAR TROPHIES ON DISPLAY

Leading Business Houses of City Decorated National Colors.

Carrying out the spirit of Armistice Day, some of the leading merchants of the city have decorated their windows with national colors and trophies taken from the battlefields of the world war.

Probably the most complete window will be found at Frank Wilson's, the King Clothing. They have made a specialty of collecting the various implements of war. Numbers of these were furnished by the American Legion who saw service in the war.

Blount-Harvey & Company have given over one of their large display windows to a blackboard containing the names of Pitt county's dead heroes and a picture of the lamented President Wilson, who was commander-in-chief of American armies. The window is draped in national colors and presents a most attractive appearance.

Other stores have smaller displays of trophies, but most all have combined to carry out the spirit of the day by a dash of red, white and blue.

NEW TOUCH TO BE GIVEN TO ARMISTICE DAY CELEBRATION IN WASHINGTON CITY TODAY

Cross of Sacrifice to Be Unveiled at Arlington Cemetery With Appropriate Exercises by Soldiers.

Washington, Nov. 10. (AP)—Nine years will have rolled by at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning, French time, since the ardent barking of the guns along the western front ceased for the first time in four years of destruction and slaughter.

An emotional outburst of thanksgiving to the world on that day. Then the vesting business of rebuilding among the economic and physical wreckage left by the world war began. It is still going on but with a slowness at painful variance with the rushing speed of the war destruction that had overwhelmed the contending powers.

As in the past, since that first wild outbreak of relief that the fighting had ended on the original Armistice Day there will be no formal celebration on this day. Only once, in 1921, when the unknown soldier was entombed at Arlington National Cemetery, has the day been marked for Americans by an organized and nation-wide tribute to its significance.

Yet tomorrow a new touch will be given the day so far as Washington is concerned with the unveiling at Arlington of the Cross of Sacrifice erected there by the government of Canada to the memory of Americans who fell in the ranks of Canada's fighting legions in France.

Canadian and American troops, with their colors and bands again will march side by side for a moment in that brief ceremony among the Virginia hills, and President Coolidge after leaving a wreath on the Unknown's tomb will enter the Canadian cemetery, as Lincoln said a resident of the White House.

It was the first time since the war days that armed forces of another country have passed through the streets of Washington. On Saturday the Canadian troops and bandmen and their honor escort of American doughboys will be reviewed by President Coolidge at the White House.

As usual, tributes to the unknown soldier will cover the white block of stone beneath which he rests before the day is over. No Armistice Day since his interment has passed without this outpouring of floral greetings to the ideals of patriotism for which the tomb stands.

There will gather also, the little group of army chaplains of many creeds who shared in the service of the Unknown. Later they will go to the separate memorial to their own war dead which stands among the many monuments at Arlington that make silent tributes to men of all ranks and years who have died for the flag.

The customary ceremonies in Bethlehem Chapel of Washington Cathedral to commemorate the cent of President Wilson will be made by friends of the war President.

Mrs. Mary Daniels Buried Yesterday

The remains of Mrs. Mary E. Daniels, who died Wednesday evening at 6:45 following illness of about two months, were interred in Greenwood Cemetery here yesterday afternoon following services at the home of her daughter, Mrs. T. M. Moore, at House's Station. Services were conducted by Rev. Lincolnwood Hall, Methodist minister of Roanoke Rapids, assisted by Rev. I. Frederick Jones, pastor of Memorial Baptist Church and Rev. R. J. Bamber, pastor of Eighth Street Christian church.

Mrs. Daniels was seventy-four years of age, having been born and reared in Pitt county. She was one of the oldest members of the Methodist church at Roanoke Rapids, N. C., and lived a life of service until illness two months ago necessitated constant confinement, necessitated constant confinement, necessitated constant confinement.

LOCAL HIGHS OFF FOR BIG GAME TODAY

Members of the high school football team will play the second game of the State high school elimination series with Washington high, at Washington, this afternoon. The game will determine whether or not the locals will continue their march for Chapel Hill where the final game of the series will be played between clubs rivalling the group contests.

W. W. Porter, director of high school athletics, said this morning that the boys were in fine trim for the contest, and he expected them to return home tomorrow evening with another victory added to their string. The club has been undergoing gruelling practice work the last several days, and are in the best trim of the season.

The game coming on Armistice Day, it was expected that a large crowd of supporters of both clubs would be present to cheer them on to victory. Washington, it is said has one of the most formidable aggregations of years, and reports today indicated they were in position to put up a stubborn battle for championship honors.

SATURDAY TO BE BIG DAY ON GRIDIRON

Atlanta, Nov. 10.—(AP)—Final "skull" drills were being held this week and hard scrimmage was the order in many camps in preparation for the last Saturday of hard football this season.

After Saturday will come the usual easy week-end before Thanksgiving and then the annual Turkey Day classics. The Saturday of December 3 while claiming several major games will find most of the Southern Conference teams already having finished their schedules.

The Vanderbilt Commodores this week have put in hours of preparation of defense for their invasion of Knoxville Saturday to meet Tennessee. Fielding H. Yost, famous coach of Michigan, has been leading Coach McGuugh in working for this game.

At Knoxville, Coach Bob Neyland of the Vols, has been finding the training rough with the weather unsuited for getting his numerous cripples back in form. The Vols have at least five regulars ailing.

Louisiana State, getting ready for an Atlantic trip to meet Georgia Tech, has been handicapped by injuries to all three of the Tiger centers, Huffman, regular pivot man, was hurt in scrimmage. While Jones and Flood are also in extremely poor form.

Word from the Tornado camp has been permeated with gloom. Stumpy Thomason, sensational sophomore halfback, is believed definitely out of this Saturday's game because of a badly wrenched shoulder recently in the Vanderbilt contest. He has been unable to work out any this week.

Alabama preparing for Florida has put in the hardest week of the late season. The Crimson Tide has scrimmaged long and hard all week and has also drilled against Alligator formation.

The Florida squad has been slightly upset all week trying to find a successor to the versatile Bowyer who was lost for the rest of the season by a fractured leg last week. Crabtree has been running at quarter some in his place.

Virginia Military Institute preparing for Kentucky also found Hawkins, Nabers and Barnes, varsity backs, all in a bad way following injuries suffered in the North Carolina game last Saturday.

HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS STAGE DEMONSTRATION
Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 10.—(AP)—Undaunted by threats of police that their demonstrations would be halted more than 200 striking students of the high school section of the suburbs, gathered this afternoon and paraded through the business section of the suburb, they displayed banners reaffirming their determination to strike until their ousted superintendent C. Seifert, is reinstated.

ARMISTICE DAY

Today is Armistice Day, and Greenville and all other towns will join in celebrating the occasion.

Armistice Day has a great significance to the American people. Everyone will recall the thrill that passed through their hearts nine years ago today when word was flashed from overseas that firing had ceased and that the millions of armed men had laid down their arms until peace terms could be arranged.

Suppose the firing had not ceased when it did?

Suppose our boys had continued their advance against the German foe? What would have been the result? Why, thousands would have sacrificed their lives that civilization might be saved and the bloody carnage would have continued without abatement. Let us then join in the observance of this great day by taking part in the exercises commemorating the event that made it unnecessary for the further sacrifice of life on the bloody field of battle.

America gave much that the world might be freed from the encroachment of military rule, but let us be thankful that we were not called upon to give even more.

Hundreds will take part in today's celebration who, too, might not have returned had the sound of the guns not ceased nine years ago today. In the Armistice we have much to be thankful for and should welcome the opportunity to fittingly celebrate the day by renewing our pledge to carry on in the everlasting daily battle of life to keep the world safe from oppression and establish universal peace.

ARMISTICE DAY

November 11, 1918—nine years ago today the World's War was ended and the Armistice was signed. The four years of strife and struggle, of hard earnest fighting for a noble cause were over. To many it meant the returning of loved ones to their homes and to others it brought sad happiness when many dear ones failed to come back.

And now to commemorate this glorious day—to show an appreciation of what the boys did "over there," the same thankfulness is prevalent, the same praise is given, and the reverence for the courage displayed is even truer.

For the Modish Home and the Moderate Purse

HERE have been many favorable comments about this suite during the past few days—"How smart" and "How reasonable" being phrases that have been constantly repeated. And smart and reasonable are exactly the words to apply to this offering.

Seldom do you see Colonial style distinction equal to this—at a price more moderate. And seldom will you find equally sound construction or as superb a finish.

Here is one of the best balanced style-and-price offerings we have ever submitted. Hand-selected, deep-toned, gloriously grained mahoganies in wide surfaces are given vivacity by sprightly maple. Note the hand-carved pineapple bed-posts. And don't pass the hand mellowed finish—but you won't. It won't permit you to.

Few Colonial suites are as attractive as this—and the price doubles the attractiveness of this Berkey & Gay offering.

GORMAN'S MARKET REPORT

The sales have finished each day this week except on Monday, Wednesday's sale all finished before dinner. The market may block Monday but after Monday we look for no more blocks this season. Gorman's sold this week 579,724 pounds for $168,422.45 averaging 29c for all we sold. Prices on tobacco up to thirty one or two, especially in the lug grades (cigarette types) are higher than they have been, while the leaf grades above thirty two cents are right much under what they were a week or ten days ago, unless it is a wrapper and then prices are about like they have been. Gorman's has had but few loads of fine tobacco this week and when we sold these they were up as to past two weeks. Our customers after seeing the other sales here and on other markets have been satisfied. Many told us ours was the best sale as to prices they had seen and some who sold with us for the first time this season told us we made them the best sale they had made one their crop. It will pay you to send us your tobacco or come see our sales and compare prices before you sell. If you do we believe we will sell the balance of your crop. We never try to mislead any one but give facts, figures and conditions as we see them and advise you as we believe for your own good whether it is against us or not and those who have followed our advise in the past have made money by so doing. We have 1st sale Monday, 1st Second Tuesday, First sale Wednesday, First sale Thursday and Second sale Friday, also First sale Monday 21st.

Building Quality into Used Cars

Unusual facilities for reconditioning automobiles make possible the high value found in our dependable used cars.

In the first place, we can tell exactly what needs to be done to a car without long and expensive experimenting. Our mechanics are thoroughly competent—and, working with special tools, they accomplish a given task in the minimum time. Furthermore, we use only genuine parts for replacement purposes.

As a result, our reconditioned cars simply cannot be matched for value.

MRS. EVERETT HOSTESS TO ROUND TABLE CLUB

On Tuesday afternoon the Round Table club was delightfully entertained by Mrs. S. J. Everett, with Mrs. Closs Hearne as guest for the afternoon. Among the reports of the committee, the library report was most gratifying. In the late association of libraries, the Greenville library ranks among the highest in the circulation of its books.

The subject for the afternoon, "Polk-John, its Effect on History and Religion," was ably presented by Mrs. T. A. Person. Man is essentially a religious being and out of his search for truth have grown many religious myths, as myths of creation, found in every nation, myths of superstitions, affecting royalty and common-folk and myths of paradise and punishment. Many present day customs are tributes to the facts of religion.

At the conclusion of the program a delicious ice course, with Armistice Day favors, was served by the hostess and her daughter, Margaret Shields Everett.

of north China, wants to be crowned Emperor and has wise men investigating the proper ceremonies. One really great fighter, greatest perhaps that ever lived, Genghis Kahn, made himself lord of China, didn't condescend to take the throne at all, and never went back inside the Chinese wall. He sent someone else to do the ruling for him.

General Chang, who makes his visits with a machine gun mounted on his private automobile, was formerly a bandit. But bandits have become emperors, and many emperors have been bandits, since and before Alexander, and Napoleon.

Another oil gentleman declines to testify concerning the trailing of jurymen in the oil case. He says it might incriminate him. He is probably right.

Give "big money" credit for thoroughness. The government already has the names of fourteen different detectives hired to go after the persons in the Paul-Sinclair case. "Expense no object" was evidently the motto.

The Reverend Dr. Stratton, of New York, says doctors are unnecessary because "those who are enlightened concerning God's healing powers have no need of doctors." If the Reverend doctor should develop a cancer, heaven forbid, or break a leg, he might discover that Providence leaves something for doctors and the doctors to do. Did the doctor ever hear of faith curing a broken leg in modern times?

Two aviators in the American marine service were murdered in Nicaragua when their machine was forced landing—killed by a crowd of twenty to one, after desperate fighting.

That is the sort of thing that starts wars. The killing of one man. The American heir apparent, who the spark that started the big war.

No war will start this time, because Nicaragua is too small. An American fight a chipmunk. Today the government had nothing to do with

ABOUT TOWN

Armistice Day! What a wealth of imagination is conjured up by the expression.

How memories freighted with the thrill of experiences on Flanders Field, come rushing back to those who saw service on the battlefields of Europe.

It is the day of all days—not only in America but throughout the world.

It is a day when millions lay aside their labors and pay silent and pious tribute to the price of those who sacrificed their all that humanity might be saved.

borne down by its burden of grief means that the flow of blood on and despair over the loss of some foreign battlefields has been loved one, momentarily responded stancher forever, and that peace to the happiness of millions of others made glad by the ending of om's where only misery and the great conflict.

The spirit of the day was contagious. It inticed every heart, every life until it seemed that nothing else mattered. "They are coming home!" Myriad expressions of this kind were heard on all sides. Faces lighted up with gladness, and joy chased sorrow from every brow.

The regular monthly meeting of the supper club of the Pitt County Department of Agriculture will be held in Simpson tonight.

"A splendid program" has been arranged for the event," County Agent E. F. Arnold said this morning, and we hope to have the largest attendance in months. A speaker of State-wide prominence will deliver the principal address of the evening, and he will have many things to say of agricultural development of this section.

The meeting will be held at the Simpson school house, and it is hoped all members of the band and invited guests will be present.

Wear forget-me-nots today and help the disabled world war veterans.

"RESURRECTION" FAMOUS AS A STAGE PLAY "Resurrection," Leo Tolstoy's classic novel, which Inspiration-Carewe are offering in films at Whites Theatre, is one of the great classics of literature for it has been translated into eleven languages, millions have read it, and seven different stage versions in as many languages have been played in fourteen countries. "Resurrection" was written by Tolstoy in the years from 1894 to 1898, at Yasnaya-Polianna, Russia. The roles which Rod La Rocque and Dolores del Rio play in the film already have been honored with great names on the stage. In 1903, at his Majesty's Theatre in London Sir Herbert Beerholm-Tree created the role of Prince Dimitri Nekhlu- cof, one of literature's most famous characters. Leo Tolstoy was still alive at the time. Miriam Clements played Katusha Maslaya, the role Dolores del Rio portrays in the film at Whites Theatre. Over in America, at about the same time, Blanche Walsh was winning fame as the unfortunate Katusha, a character which she interpreted with rare understanding and power. Joseph Haworth played Dimitri.
