The hopes of Georgia for National championship recognition also were at stake in the twenty third renewal of this ancient gridiron feud which. In spite of dismal wea-ther and playing conditions has aroused Atlanta to a fever pitch of en thusiasm and attracted as great a crowd as southern football history has ever known—between 35,000 and 40,000 were expected to fam Grant field, Tech's battle ground, to see the Dixle classic.

The steady rain of the past twenty four hours and consequent conversion of the field into a moras, were the "breaks" might easily turn the tide of battle one way or the other, resulting in a narrowing of odds but Georgia remained a decided favorite nevertheless. The brilliant record of the Georgians all season, their sweep through nine straight games to victory and their collection of all star talent featuring Captain Chick Shiver and Tom Nash at the ends, offered convincing evidence in favor of the Bull

Georgia, the experts agreed, figured to win with a team on edge to end a great season successfullly. Tech, the under Dog. nevertheless, had backers, hopeful that their team would get the jump or the breaks or stop Georgia's versatile attack with an admittedly strong forward line. In a battle slowed up by a muddy field, line strength loomed as a likely deciding factor and here the Yellow Jackets conceded little, if anything, to the Bull Dogs except on the wings.

Georgia not only has the more impressive record but it also has ige from statistics which show that the Bull Dogs have rolled up (6). Tech's only reverse was at the hands | Jon Greb, New York, drew (10). of Notre Dame on the day when | Knute Rockne's hoosiers were at the top of their stride

Georgia also had an advance in the all-round condition of its squad back to full strength with Bobby Hooks, star half back ready to aid McCrary, Johnson, Estes and Dudley after being out with a broken hand since the Florida game. Tech reserves have suffered several casulaties while "Stumpy" Thomason line bucking half back, has not been in the best o fshape.

SERVICE OF THE PROPERTY OF THE

GORMAN'S MARKET REPORT

The sales have not been so large this week and have finished each day around the dinner hour. Prices were stronger the later part of the week, some new orders were placed here for grades that had been neglected since just before Thanksgiving. We have worked hard for our customers and those who sold with us, after looking at the other sales were satisfied and many thanked us for their "good sales". We are now selling lots of barn cleanings and but little fine tobacco. This has effected the average. We note the averages as published in the papers from the other markets and these show Greenville's daily average to be higher each day than any market in the east. It will pay you to sell in Greenville and at Gorman's. The sales will continue small from now out and you can count on our selling out any day you may come, as there is not enough to bacco left to cause any more "Block Sales" We advise a gainst selling scrap, tie up what you can and use the balance for fertilizer. When you sell scrap, if you allow for your work, you get nothing and give the manufacturer tobacco that he uses in place of other higher priced tobacco, besides swelling the government report of production, which effects your future crop. Send us your tobacco and we will do our best to please you.
