MEXICO PAYS HIGH HONORS TO LINDBERGH

American Flyer to let Plain People of Nation See Him before Leaving.

Mexico City, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh will spend Christmas in Mexico City and then plans to make a flight from the Mexican capital to the Central American countries, of Guatemala, Honduras, Salvador and Panama.

He expects his mother, Mrs. Evangeline L. Lindbergh, Detroit University teacher, to come to Mexico City as the guest of Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow to spend the holidays with him.

Colonel Lindbergh, himself, telling of his plans in an interview with newspaper correspondents, said the order in which he will visit the four Central American countries had not been decided.

He will fly from Central American to Havana and then from Havana directly home to St. Louis, Missouri.

In the course of the interview, Colonel Lindbergh indicated that he might go to a bull fight on Sunday. When asked about protests from the United States against his going to a bull fight, he replied: "I think Mexico is perfectly capable of choosing its own national sport."

Protests from organizations in all parts of the United States against his possible attendance at a bull fight continue to reach the embassy. About sixty, all told, have been received including one from Minnie Madden Fiske, the actress.

Mexico City, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Paid the highest honor in the power of the Mexican government, Charles A. Lindbergh today was ready to gratify the desire of the plain people of Mexico to see him before he flew away to other parts of Latin America.

During the course of his stay several public ceremonies will be held in the big athletic stadium seating 30,000 people, and other enclosures so that all may see the flyer. He has expressed his willingness to fly over the city, to gratify the public's interest.

Lindbergh will fly to Panama, it was announced there, at a date to be determined later. He has under advisement invitations from several other Central American countries, including Nicaragua.

For the first time in his history, the Mexican congress held a "solemn session" for a private citizen, when Lindbergh was received in the chamber of deputies. This was the highest honor congress could pay him and only for the most important government officials.

Lindbergh is not a private citizen, but "an ambassador of good will to the Mexican people," the deputies decided by a formal vote. He was therefore entitled to receive highest honors.

During the session, cheers for a president of the United States were heard, probably for the first time. The deputies gave "vivas" for President Coolidge, Lindbergh and Dwight W. Morrow, American ambassador.

The flyer was presented with a gold medal by Dr. Alejandro Cerisola, president of the chamber of deputies. On one side was the Mexican coat of arms, on the other was inscribed: "To Colonel Lindbergh from the Mexican chamber of deputies in behalf of the Congress of Mexico and in order to express our admiration for his noble feat and glorious mission."

Lindbergh stood on the rostrum beside the President and bowed in appreciation as deputies and spectators cheered. Then addressing the assembly said:

"I am thankful for all these distinctions which are being given to me in Mexico. I have not enough words to thank you for this."

The airman was lauded in speeches by several deputies. Afterwards a banquet followed at which toasts were proposed to President Coolidge, ambassador Morrow and Colonel Lindbergh.

Six hundred school children cheered Lindbergh as he entered one of the biggest public schools—"Benito Juarez"—named in honor of the Mexican patriot who is called "the Lincoln of Mexico."

The school sang the Mexican and American national anthems as well as "Old Folks at Home," "Old Black Joe" and Mexican folk songs. After the ceremony, they swarmed around the flyer, all insisting on shaking him personally and most of them succeeded in touching him at least before he departed.

During the colonel's visit the "Lincoln Library" of the school, a gift of an American organization, "the friends of Mexico," was opened. Two school girls about 12 years old invaded the American embassy

The projects and their recommended improvements include the improvement of the Tar River in North Carolina for navigation.

CIVIC FUNERAL AT QUEBEC FOR FIRE VICTIMS

Bodies of 36 Children Recovered From Ruins of Catholic Orphanage.

Quebec, Dec. 16.—(AP)—With the recovery today of the bodies of three more children, the death toll of the hospice St. Charles fire reached 36. Fourteen others were still missing, 36 hours after the blaze.

Danger of falling walls halted search of the ruins for 4 days but temporary reinforcement of the Masonry permitted work to continue. Bodies recovered today were so charred that identification was virtually impossible.

Quebec, Dec. 16.—(AP)—A civic funeral will take place Sunday afternoon for the victims of the fire which Wednesday destroyed the Hospice St. Charles Orphanage.

Announcement of the city's decision was made by Mayor Simard after a meeting of the finance committee. All expenses will be borne by the municipal and provincial authorities.

Burial will follow the group funeral service. On Monday a mass will be celebrated for the victims.

Search went on today for other bodies believed in the ruins after 33 bodies, most of them children, were recovered. Seventeen children were unaccounted for.

The 95-year-old orphanage, which had housed 500 children and a number nuns, was a mass of ice-covered ruins. A modern wing, however, stood undamaged. The loss was estimated by the Rev. Mother St. Nildeuse at $250,000 of which $90,000 is covered by insurance.

TOBACCONISTS HERE REALIZE GREAT DREAM

Season Goal of 60,000,000 Pounds to be Celebrated With Oyster Roast.

Season tobacco sales on the Greenville tobacco market yesterday passed the 60,000,000 mark—the goal set for the present season by members of the Tobacco Board of Trade. Tonight the realization of this ambition will be celebrated with an oyster roast given in the Person-Garrett Tobacco factory at which members of the Board of Trade and friends of the tobaccoists will be in attendance.

J. S. Ficklen, president of the Tobacco Board of Trade, today expressed himself as highly gratified with the splendid record established by the market this year. He said he felt that every member of the board was individually responsible for the market's expansion and that the honor fell to no particular one. He reiterated his faith in the possibilities of the section as the greatest tobacco producing locality in the world, and expressed belief that this city would always occupy a place of prominence in the bright leaf industry.

The market set 60,000,000 pounds as its goal the beginning of the season. With this end in view members of the Tobacco Board of Trade, closely co-operated with business interests of the city, worked untiringly in letting the sun-rounding country know what Greenville had to offer the farmer in the way of market facilities. The result was that the seven large warehouses here were packed from month to month during the first three months the market was open.

Growers from many distant communities brought their offerings here and expressed gratification at the undivided attention given them upon every hand.

With several more weeks to go, it was intimated today that season sales would reach 62 or 63 million pounds before the market closes for the season. This will not only be the realization of a great dream, but will also be the consummation of every desire, the reward of every toil and pain for tobaccoists who have struggled so tenaciously in behalf of the great ambition.

For the entire season the market has sold a total of 60,818,794 pounds of tobacco for $14,270,405.27, at an average of $23.77 per hundred pounds.

The market yesterday sold 365,216 pounds for $74,694.15 at an average of $20.45 per hundred pounds.

It was estimated the floors contained about 350,000 pounds today and that sales would be completed by the noon hour.

The market will close for the Christmas holidays with sales today, and re-open January 9th.

JONH HAMRICK TESTIFIES IN FLOGGING CASE

Tells of Joining New Order of Ku Klux Klan Only Few Months Ago.

Raleigh, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Admission of reinstatement membership in the New Order of the Ku Klux Klan in the Wake county, following its disbanding earlier this year, by John B. Hamrick, featured today's proceeding in the E. A. Jones flogging trial today in the case of G. E. Be-shie, charged with secret assault.

Hamrick, one of the 14 Wake county citizens under indictment in connection with the alleged flogging of Jones a year ago, as a defense witness, under cross examination by the state, after he had entered alibi testimony, said he had joined the Raleigh Klan No. 1 four or five years ago and had joined the new order two months ago following the lapse during the Klan disbanding in one state earlier in the year.

Hamrick, like Deputy Sheriff Weathers before him, was led through a maze of detailing questions as the "sacred question" of the Klan by which state counsel asked him if he were not able to communicate with other Klans "without word, sound, or sign. This symbol, the "cloak," Hamrick maintained, he had never received, and his "don't recall" punctuated a running defense "objection." Judge Sinclair "overruled" and defense's "objection" for the good part of an hour.

The defense began adding "motion to strike" with the judge adding "overruled" until prosecution counsel Poul suggested the procedure was too much like tennis and the defense objections were offered in one bulk.

Hamrick denied all knowledge with three other alleged floggings of last year. He gave the names of Johnny and Rocky Hester, J. W. Dale, men named Davis and Stell as those whom he had seen in the local Klavern when he reinstated membership but under cross examination, maintained no further definiteness. Defense sought to throw out the evidence as immaterial but was over-ruled.

B. A. Weather, another under-lying indictment, gave alibi evidence, supported by Mrs. Bennie Weathers, Miss Evelyn Weathers, Miss Mildred Seabrook, Lucas J. Broadwell, and Charles Underhill. Mrs. Hamrick, C. H. Watkins, Hamrick's father-in-law, and R. L. Watkins, county superintendent of roads, gave corroborative evidence.

NEW TAX BILL DOCTORS ACT ON DOORSTEPS OF COMMITTEE

Measure Provides for Reduction of $289,770,000 in Treasury Revenue.

Washington, Dec. 16.—(AP)—A product of clashing wills and freighted with controversy, the new tax bill stood today on the doorstep of the senate finance committee.

It arrived there during the night, speeded toward the second lap of its legislative steeplechase by the house with a vote of 366 to 24 that it annexed a week of hectic and partisan assaying of the public's pocket-book.

As it faced today the gamut of the senate committee and beyond that the troubled senate itself, the measure would reduce the treasury's revenue by $289,770,000.

The wide spread between that figure and the $232,735,000 reduction proposed by the ways and means committee which drafted the bill, and the $225,000,000 maximum fixed by Secretary Mellon, was eloquent testimony to democratic opportunism and a democratic-republican coalition that gained the upper hand in the final skirmishing in the house.

With many of its provisions bearing little resemblance to the treasury's original recommendations, and differing radically in spots from the form in which it came from the ways and means committee, the bill now would deprive the government of $64,770,000 more revenue than the treasury had proposed. It goes to the other end of the capitol with a prediction from Representative Garner of Texas, ranking democrat on the ways and means committee, that its reduction would be raised to a half billion by the senate.

The print of Garner's long experienced hand stands out among those of the many that jugged the bill's mass of figures. It was Garner who, although speaking only for the minority, put through two of the three important amendments which at the last found republican leaders fighting vainly to strike out. The Garner amendments affect corporations, their taxes and methods of filing returns, while the third, by Representative McLaughlin, republican of Michigan, and member of the ways and means

DOCTORS ACT AS HOSTS TO THEIR WIVES OF BRITISHER

Dr. W. N. Willis, of Farmville, Heads Pitt Medical Society As President.

Dr. W. N. Willis, of Farmville, was elected president of the Pitt County Medical Society at the regular meeting of that organization held at the Rotary club here last night. He succeeds Dr. E. T. Dickinson, of Greenville. Other officers elected were Dr. A. M. Schultz, vice-president; and Dr. S. M. Crisp, secretary and treasurer.

Wives and sweethearts were guests of the doctors last night and enjoyed probably one of the most interesting programs put on by the association in months. Other guests of the evening were Dr. Jim Parrott, of Kingston; Dr. Charles O'N. Laughinghouse, of Raleigh; and Ralph Deal, a member of the faculty of the East Carolina Teachers College.

Dr. J. C. Green presided as toastmaster. Drs. J. C. Nobles, K. B. Pace, W. M. Beasley and T. G. Basnight were hosts.

The address of welcome was delivered by Dr. M. T. Frizzelle, of Ayden. The response, in behalf of the ladies, was made by Professor Deal.

In a series of contests Mr. Deal won first prize, a negro baby doll, which, he declared, should be more highly prized than any of his children at home.

Timely talks were made by visiting members of the medical profession. The ladies were remembered with favors.

ISSUE THREAT AGAINST LIFE OF BRITISHER

Collector of Customs At Wuhu, China, Takes Refuge on British Destroyer.

Wuhu, Anhwei, China, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Threats against the life of the British collector of customs here have created a tense situation in this Yangtze river city now in control of the nationalists.

The British commissioner took refuge on a British destroyer when he was warned by his servants of plots against his life. Handbills reading: "Kill the commissioner" have been posted on his residence and the customs house.

The authorities stated that communist influence was suspected.

Hankow, China, Dec. 16.—Hankow as the scene of intense excitement when the Chinese troops occupied the former Russian and German concession and carried out a systematic house to house search for communists.

Even dancing halls frequented by Russians were visited and it was estimated this morning that virtually every communist or suspect had been rounded up.

Early rising foreigners saw Russians of both sides being marched off to jail in night attire, some barefooted and disheveled.

Many women were roped together and some screamed hysterically. One terrified girl jumped from a second story window and was seriously injured.

A number of those arrested were detained at the police station and it is believed that the Soviet consular officials themselves were taken to military headquarters.

During the gigantic raid staged by the garrison troops on the Soviet consulate, the French concession also was raided and many arrested. One mother who was arrested thrust her baby into the arms of a French policeman, not knowing what her own fate would be.

Civilian clothes armed Chinese made a huge haul of captives while the French police looked on without interfering.

Many of those arrested established their identity as bona-fide residents of Hankow district without Bolshevik connections and

SENATORS DID NOT RECEIVE SLUSH FUND

Committee Casts Aside Theory That Mexico Actually Paid U. S. Men.

Washington, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Pursuing its inquiry into the authenticity of documents published in Hearst newspapers purporting to show that $125,000 was set aside for Mexico for four American senators, the special investigating committee today appeared that it cast aside a theory that the money actually reached the Senators—Boah, Norris, LaFollette and Heflin.

At the request of the accused Senators following their unqualified denial of knowledge of the affair, the committee turned to tracing the documents when, in day and night session yesterday, it found no evidence of payment of the money. After its third session, last night, the committee subpoenaed the records of all cable and telegraph companies in New York relating to messages between Mexico and this country.

Today it was confronted with the charges by Arturo M. Elias, Mexican consul general in New York named in the documents as president Calles' intermediary to handle the money, that the papers given to the committee by William Randolph Hearst were forgeries.

Los Angeles, California, Dec. 16.—Every American and every community are encouraged by proof of progress in the United States.

Major Horace Bell, editing The Forcupine here in 1911, wrote about Los Angeles' early history in his "remembrances of a ranger," and thus describes the "Bella Union," principal Los Angeles hotel at the time of the civil war.

"The Bella Union was a one story flat roof adobe, with a corral in the rear. In the Bella Union Corral extending to Los Angeles street were numerous pigeon holes, or rooms for guests, six by nine feet in size, six or seven feet high. Guests slept on the adobe floor in that institution advertised as 'the best hotel south of San Francisco.' A very aristocratic guest came along, he was permitted to sleep on the little billiard table."

Dozens of big hotels now dot Los Angeles, from the ambassador sitting in its own park, to the Biltmore in the business center. The Biltmore is building an addition to cost more than $4,000,000, and include the biggest banquet hall in the world.

Los Angeles has changed since Don Sepuveda ruled this territory, and with his native mustang, in a nine mile race past a thoroughbred race horse, over the way from the east "to clean the old don out of his gold slugs and a couple of thousand head of cattle."

Eastern bankers, who have asked this writer about California's "Bank of Italy" with its stock selling for more than a billion dollars, and 165 branches in the one state, will be interested in an explanation of the A. P. Gianni success, as told by George Young, publisher of the Los Angeles Examiner.

Arrest Strike Sympathizers At Denver, Col.

Denver, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Ten alleged sympathizers of striking Colorado coal miners were arrested last night and charged with delaying a national guard patrol ordered to prevent demonstrations.

Captain Charles White, of the adjutant general's staff made the arrests while guardsmen were breaking up a meeting of miners at Longmont in the northern Colorado lignite field.

Frank Palmer, former editor of the Colorado Labor Advocate, and James Allander, identified as an organizer for the industrial workers of the world, were included in those arrested. Palmer was alleged to have led the disturbance causing the arrests.

JURY SOON TO GET CASE OF GEORGE REMUS

Judge Orders Sanity Report Stripped of All But Three Paragraphs.

Cincinnati, Dec. 16.—(AP)—The 4,500 word alienists' report in which George Remus was found to have been sane when he shot and killed his wife here last October 6 was stripped of three paragraphs today by a ruling of Judge Chester R. Shook.

He sanctioned the objection of Charles H. Elston, co-counsel with Remus to introducing anything more of the report than the assertion of the three psychiatrists that they had made a study of Remus, the Remus family, heard the evidence of the nearly five weeks of the trial and finally concluded Remus was sane.

Eliminated were three separate confessions by Remus to the alienists of his planning to slay his wife, the first time longer than two years before he actually fired the fatal shots.

Out also went the psychiatrists' denial of any evidence in Remus' "acute transitional mania" or "transitory maniacal insanity," the sole plea of defense voiced by Remus.

Neither was the finding that the Remus rages and conduct did not Mexico archives in Mexico City and from the files of Elias' office in New York. Avila said he bought all the documents with Hearst's money, but not in the possession of witnesses. Elias' waiting any claim to diplomatic immunity, told the committee under oath he had never seen Avila until yesterday. Avila, also under oath, replied that he had talked with Elias several times; had taken a drink with him this year in New York, and had received American passport from him in New Orleans.

Further information from other newspapermen in the Hearst service of obtaining of the documents was solicited today. Several including Mr. Hearst, told freely yesterday how an unnamed American in business in Mexico had first revealed that documents "involving United States Senators" were available; how Avila was hired finally to obtain them; that about $15,000 or $10,000 in all was the cost of them; how the documents were taken to president Coolidge and secretary Kellogg and turned back without examination.

On one point all witnesses agreed—that there was no evidence of payment of the money to the senators. After each of the Senators had denied this also in vigorous statements, the committee members themselves volunteered expressions of confidence in their colleagues and chairman—Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, gave promise of an investigation to determine the source of the documents.

Dudley Field Malone, New York lawyer, who was named in the documents as the intermediary who was supposed to pass on the money to the senators, denied vehemently ever meeting any Mexican official, receiving any Mexican money or conferring at any time in recent years with any of the four senators named directly or indirectly.

Elias hastily pronounced each of the documents a forgery as he skimmed through them yesterday. He said those supposed to be from his office were not on the paper used by his office. He expressed doubt of the authenticity of the signature of his half brother, president Calles, on some of the documents, but under close questioning said he could not be sure of the signature.

Finally Elias, who spoke willingly, and eagerly, as did Avila, suggested to the committee that it examine the records of the cable and telegraph companies in New York to determine if the messages in the documents had been received, or sent; and that it examine all the bank records of the Mexican government in this country to see if the money was ever received.

Joy Riding and Liquor Drinking Public Menace

The juvenile court is considering the case of the girls.

Judge Moore sentenced Dock Reed, negro to 3 years in prison for automobile theft.

BIG LEAGUERS VOTE TO SCRAP DRAFT SYSTEM

New York, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Tumbings of a baseball war had subsided today. The major leagues stamped approval upon the scrapping of the draft system as proposed by the minor circuits.

Their action taken at a meeting of the National and American leagues here yesterday, marked the close of the baseball gathering and left the next move over the draft situation up to the minors while the majors expressed willingness to terminate the major-minor league agreement on next January 14 when the seven year period of its operation expires, should the minors so desire, they also agreed to a truce until February 1 when the minors will make known their wishes.

Meantime the present agreement stands. Abolition of the draft which is not considered likely would cause the minors to function separately and out of the jurisdiction of Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis.

Without the joint understanding between the two groups as now prevails, there would be no draft, no rules on the same or recall of players save those instituted by the majors.

While upholding a claim that the agreement in force as long as the major league office, the majors called for a showdown on the minors' challenge by passing the following resolution:

"Resolved, that the major leagues, in reply to the inquiry of the national association of minor leagues informed the national association that the major leagues are willing to have the major minor agreement terminate on January 14, 1928, if the national association so desires."

This decision from the majors was a surprise to the minors whose committee requested until February 1 before taking any definite stand in the matter. The minors' committee consisted of John H. Farrell, Herman J. Weisman and William G. Eranham.

A Christmas Gift should be a Remembrance

A gift, which, because of its everlasting presence, its beauty or its usefulness, is a constant and happy reminder of both the giver and the occasion.

Nothing more fully meets these requirements than a Radiola. A Radiola will last a lifetime—it will never grow old.

Though Radiolas are built with thousandth-of-an-inch precision, they are built so sturdily and sealed so well that years cannot affect their delicate adjustments.

Give a Radiola for Christmas and your gift will remain throughout the years—a joy for one, and for many—a living remembrance from you.

End of Century Club Meets

At the home of Mrs. Hortense Mcye, on Evans street, with Mrs. Moye and Mrs. C. A. Bowen hostesses, the End of the Century Club held a most enjoyable meeting on Tuesday, Dec. 13.

The home was attractively decorated with holly, red candles and festive Christmas wreaths. Besides the nineteen club members, there were several invited guests of the hostesses.

After the usual routine of business, the president, Mrs. J. L. Little, turned the meeting over to the chairman of the program committee, Mrs. J. L. Hassell, who introduced Mr. Edward Hearne, El. entertained the assemblage with several readings suggestive of the Christmas spirit and a comic song and was heartily applauded.

Mrs. J. L. Fleming and Mrs. Trevis Hooker next delighted the company with a very beautiful instrumental duet followed by Mrs. R. H. Wright in a lovely piano selection. These selections were very much enjoyed.

Then in walked Santa Claus to enliven the occasion by his droll remarks and comments with which he presented appropriate gifts to the "little girls" of the company. The first gift was presented "to the best little girl of all—Sallie Southall Catter," which when opened proved to be a lovely little silver bud vase, appropriately engraved with all the love of the End of the Century Club.

Then followed a very tempting salad course, served by the hostesses aided by Misses Clara Louise Moye and Virginia King.

MRS. L. H. BOWLING ENTERTAINS BRIDGE CLUB

Thursday afternoon, at her home on Evans street, Mrs. L. H. Bowling delightfully entertained her bridge club and a few other guests. The decorations carried out the Christmas idea.

Attractive bridge pads were won by Miss Hennie Wichaid for high club score. Mrs. C. A. Bowen, making high score for the visitors, was awarded a box of candy. Mrs. Frank Bendall, a recent bride, who is now making Greenville her home, was remembered with a lovely handkerchief. Mrs. F. R. Elmore assisted the hostess in serving a tempting turkey course at the conclusion of the game.

High School Gives Play at College

A three-act play, "What Happened to Jones," by George Broadhurst, was presented by students of the Greenville High school last night in the old auditorium of the East Carolina Teachers College. Owing to inclement weather, only a sprinkling of people were in attendance, but those who braved the stormy offerings of the weather man were well rewarded for doing so.

The youthful actors played their parts in a most commendable manner, displaying more than usual talent in the presentation of their particular numbers. Many laughable scenes occurred from time to time in the gradual unfolding of the plot and applause was liberal and unrestrained, especially by numbers of high school students scattered through the audience.

Music was furnished by the high school boys' glee club, several selections being rendered prior to the rising of the curtain and during intermissions.

Dan Cupid, mythical god of love, feeling the spirit of Christmas permeating the atmosphere of this section, this week commenced a campaign among the love-lorn that has resulted in several applying at the local office of register of deeds for licenses to marry. With continued operation from now until Christmas, there is little doubt but all previous holiday records will be shattered completely.

The following have applied for licenses since the report of Wednesday afternoon:

James Parker, of Edgecombe county, to Miss Annie Jones, of Ayden.

Thad Clark to Beatrice Jenkins, both of Greenville township.

Ruben Anderson to Rosa Rogers, of Winterville.

Malone Hardee to Flora Ann Jordan, both of Pactolus section.

Colored School Honors Prof. Epps

All too often are peoples unmindful of the nobleness of their heroes until they have departed from us. But such is not the case with the pupils of the Greenville Industrial Trade School. This morning during devotional exercises the ninth grade surprised their principal with a silver token for the delights his 15 years of service has given his city group.

The presentation was made by Christine Johnson, a member of ninth grade, and Prof. Epps in response with eyes suffused with tears and voice broken by emotions hanked the class for their token and renewed his vow for service among his group.

It is common knowledge that Prof. Epps has served longer in the Pitt county school system than any other teacher of either group. Truly he is deserving of the tribute.

While nursing in New York, in my early twenties, I was poisoned by food, my sister nurse recommended your wonderful CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS. The doctor told me that I would have died had I not taken the pills. I am never without them and have prescribed them for thousands of my patients who were suffering with indigestion, gas and sour stomach, biliousness, sick headache and constipation. BE CAREFUL. Christmas is a time of joy and State Insurance Commissioner Dan Rowan in a recent statement urged the citizens of the state to take every precaution this Christmas to avoid the pleasures as marred by fires which result in loss and injuries.

In preparing your Christmas tree, do not use candles where it is possible to use electricity, as the latter is far safer. If you must use candles be sure they are placed advantageously on the tree so that the flame cannot leap to nearby branches. Do not allow the children to light the candles, nor should the candles on the tree be allowed to burn unless a grown person is present to see to it that the tree does not catch fire. Cotton, paper, or other inflammable material should not be used for decorating the Christmas tree, wherever possible use tinfoil, asbestos or other materials that are fire resisting. In placing your tree be sure to get it as far away from stoves or open fires as possible and as soon as Christmas is over take the tree down and get it out of the house as soon as possible. Trees placed inside the house soon become dry and very inflammable and to keep one in the house for a period of several days is inviting disaster.

Not only should caution in respect to Christmas trees and decorations be exercised, but fireworks should come in for a big share of surveillance on the part of the grown-ups. Regardless of their size, most fireworks are dangerous and the children should not be permitted to shoot fireworks except under the supervision of a grown person. In no case should the larger firecrackers or other exceedingly dangerous forms of fireworks be used. Very often what appears to be a minor burn develops into a serious injury and children should be warned against lighting firecrackers until after they have lighted them. The best way is to place the cracker on the ground, strike a match to it and retreat to a safe distance as quickly as possible. Under no circumstances should a child be allowed to pick up a firecracker that fails to explode until sufficient time has elapsed to make sure that there is no fire left in the fuse to cause it to go off.

Christmas should be a day of joy for both parents and children, but it is possible for the carelessness of either the parent or the child to cause much unhappiness on that day. We would not rob the children of the great pleasures they get out of Christmas trees or firecrackers, as we want to see them have all the fun possible, but we do urge that every precaution be taken to make the Christmas season free from fires and accidents.

ABOUT TOWN

"I read in yesterday's paper about...

"The dome could be lighted up at small expense, and it is believed the county commissioners would receive hearty public approval should they take such action."

"Now that the time has come to mail out Christmas cards and packages the public should not forget to use tuberculosis Christmas seals wherever possible, members of the Woman's club having seals in charge remarked today."

"Money derived from the sale of the seals will be devoted to stamping out the dread disease in this community, and also toward helping sufferers in other parts of the country. Two-thirds of the funds will be spent locally. This fact in itself should be sufficient to justify the public in buying liberally of the stamps now on hand."

"Aside from doing your Christmas shopping early, you should not forget to do your mailing early also members of the local postoffice said today."

"Mailing of letters and parcels before the holiday season actually begins assures you of getting your Christmas cheer to the recipient in due time. It also will give post-office employees an opportunity of enjoying some of the holiday, free from the grind of daily labor."

"If you haven't done your mailing, do it now." "Greenville tobacco men have realized one of the greatest ambitions during the thirty-five years of the market's history," James S. Ficklen, president of the Tobacco Board of Trade, stated this morning.

"We set our goal at sixty million pounds the first of the season. We not only reached that goal, but succeeded in passing it with yesterday's sales. With several more weeks to go, the market should be able to bring the grand total to sixty-three million pounds."

"With this splendid record for inspiration during the coming months, members of the Tobacco Board of Trade will turn their eyes to the mountain tops and endeavor to outstrip all previous records next season."

"The Reflector yesterday carried a list from the Department of Welfare giving some idea of the number of poor people throughout this community in need of assistance. It is to be hoped the public will respond liberally to this call for aid."

While the spirit of Christmas dominates every mind, holds every heart enthralled, we should not be forgetful of those unfortunate who will see little of the joy and gladness of Christmas without public help. The Welfare Department is striving to provide clothing food and in many instances, cold cash for the cases coming under its observation, and its workers have expressed confidence that Greenville people will respond to the call of the moment.

KING WINTER AGAIN BOUND TOWARD DIXIE

Temperatures Standing at Sub-Freezing Marks in Many Sections of South.

Atlanta, Ga., Dec. 16.—(AP)—Riding the crest of a wind from the northwest, the host of king winter again swept into Dixie today sending temperatures to sub-freezing marks, and piling up forecasts of much colder weather for tomorrow morning.

Atlanta the mercury stood at 39 this morning at 10 o'clock and it was forecast that 24 hours later a minimum of 26 would be reached.

Charles F. von Herrmann, government meteorologist here said today that freezing weather would reach all the gulf states in the northern portions by tomorrow, and in some instances might reach the coast. New Orleans and Mobile where the temperatures were 42 and 44 respectively this morning, were in the path of the freezing weather for tomorrow, Mr. von Herrmann said.

"The weather is clearing rapidly," the forecaster asserted, "and when the height of the cold wave is reached it will take only a short time for a drop to normalcy again." The teeth of the wave already were being felt this morning at Louisville, with 22, Memphis with 24 and Nashville with 37; official figures here showed.

The cold is coming from the blizzard which blankets the northwest and is traveling southward and eastward as evidenced by the marks set at Chicago and St. Louis today. The Illinois metropolis had a minimum of 12 degrees, while St. Louis to the south, had 16.

Other temperature registrations in the south showed Raleigh, N. C., 42; Wilmington, N. C., 62; Charleston, S. C., 64; Miami, 70; and Meridian and Vicksburg, Miss., each with 32 degrees. All these points will experience severe drops by tomorrow, it was forecast here.

Washington, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Colder weather was forecast for tonight for the middle and south Atlantic states, Florida, and the western lower lake region, while freezing temperatures were indicated along the east gulf coast. It will be colder tomorrow in portions of New England, the weather bureau said.

Two fingers of the Wisconsin disturbance, which was central today over Lake Superior, have reported out to the east, one, the bureau reported being over western North Carolina and the other on the Virginia coast. A trough also extended southeastward to western Pennsylvania and thence south to northwest Florida.

Storm warnings were displayed along the Atlantic coast from Delaware breakwater to Eastport, Maine.

NEW TAX BILL ON DOORSTEPS OF COMMITTEE

(Continued From Page One) committee, would repeal the tax on automobile sales. Adopted earlier in the week under rules that prevented a roll call vote, the three changes were cemented into the bill yesterday with sufficient republicans joining the democrats to carry the issue. The vote on the automobile tax repeal was 245 to 151, about a score of republicans voting with the majority party.

A similar coalition supported the Garner amendments, 212 to 181 on the corporation tax and 210 to 187 on the proposal to have corpora-

Richmond Woman Gives Testimony At Hubby's Trial

Richmond, Va., Dec. 16.—(AP)—A slender little woman, a mother of five children, took the stand today to testify in behalf of her husband, John Wesley Faison, charged with the murder of Mrs. Elsie Holt Snipes.

Faced with the fact that a large portion of her testimony given yesterday was excluded from the jury, defense counsel had the disputed testimony read into the record and announced that she would continue today when a night session was cancelled because of the physical condition of one of the attorneys. The defense had depended on the testimony of Mrs. Faison to explode the state's theory that Faison killed Mrs. Snipes through jealousy, to show that no jealousy existed and that Faison had told Mrs. Snipes he expected to break off the relations between them. The testimony was obviously to show a state of mind in Mrs. Snipes that would support the defense contention of suicide.

The state rested its case late yesterday after introducing verbal and documentary evidence to support its charge against Faison—that he shot Mrs. Snipes in her apartment while she was talking over the telephone. Several physicians from the hospital to which the woman was taken in a dying condition were placed on the stand in an attempt to prove there were no powder burns around the wound.

Arkansas Cities Without Any Gas

The break could not be located at mid-forenoon and the company said it was doubtful if the situation would be remedied before night. The supply comes from the Louisiana fields. The temperature was 23 degrees here today.

College Robbed Of Big Payroll

Chicago, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Refusal to accept a police guard for the cashier's office on payday probably cost the University of Chicago $22,813.31 in a payroll robbery last night.

Chief of police Hughes recently ordered all precinct captains to furnish guards for movements of large sums of money in their districts, threatening removal of captains where robberies occurred. Capt. Michael Tobin was suspended after the holdup, but when he explained his offer to the university had been refused, the chief indicated the suspension would be lifted.

BE CAREFUL Christmas is a time of joy and State Insurance Commissioner Dan Rowe in a recent statement urged the citizens of the state to take every precaution this Christmas to see that the pleasures are unmarred by fires which result in loss and injuries.

In preparing your Christmas tree, do not use candles where it is possible to use electricity, as the latter is far safer. If you must use candles be sure they are placed advantageously on the tree so that the flames cannot leap to nearby branches. Do not allow the children to light the candles, nor should the candles on the tree be allowed to burn unless a grown person is present to see to it that the tree does not catch fire. Cotton, paper, or other inflammable material should not be used for decorating the Christmas tree, wherever possible use tinfoil, asbestos or other materials that are fire resisting. In placing your tree be sure to get it as far away from stoves or open fires as possible and as soon as Christmas is over take the tree down and get it out of the house as soon as possible. Trees placed inside the house soon become dry and very inflammable and to keep one in the house for a period of several days is inviting disaster.

Not only should caution in respect to Christmas trees and decorations be exercised, but fireworks should come in for a big share of surveillance on the part of the grown-ups. Regardless of their size, most fireworks are dangerous and the children should not be permitted to shoot fireworks except under the supervision of a grown person. In no case should the larger firecrackers or other exceedingly dangerous forms of fireworks be used. Very often what appears to be a minor burn develops into a serious injury and children should be warned against lighting firecrackers until after they have lighted them. The best way is to place the cracker on the ground, strike a match to it and retreat to a safe distance as quickly as possible. Under no circumstances should a child be allowed to pick up a firecracker or fail to explode until sufficient time has elapsed to make sure that there is no fire left in the fuse to cause it to go off.

Christmas should be a day of joy for both parents and children, but it is possible for the carelessness of either the parent or the child to cause much unhappiness on that day. We would not rob the children of the great pleasures they get out of Christmas trees or firecrackers, as we want to see them have all the fun possible, but we do urge that every precaution be taken to make the Christmas season free from fires and accidents.

ABOUT TOWN

"I read in yesterday's paper about Mrs. Rose's proposal to light up the Courthouse dome for the Christmas holidays," a reader of this column remarked this morning.

"I think Mr. Rose was right. A string of lights stretched around the clock tower would be most attractive. It could be seen from many parts of the city, and would be a means of instilling the spirit of Christmas into everyone that sees it.

"The dome could be lighted up at small expense, and it is believed the county commissioners would receive hearty public approval should they take such action."

"Now that the time has come to mail out Christmas cards and packages the public should not forget to use tuberculous Christmas seals wherever possible," members of the Woman's club having seals in charge remarked today.

"Money derived from the sale of the seals will be devoted to stamping out the dread disease in this community, and also toward helping sufferers in other parts of the country. Two-thirds of the funds will be spent locally. This fact in itself should be sufficient to justify the public in buying liberally of the stamps now on hand."

"Aside from doing your Christmas shopping early, you should not forget to do your mailing early also members of the local postoffice said today.

"Mailing of letters and parcels before the holiday season actually begins assures you of getting your Christmas cheer to the recipient in due time. It also will give post-office employees an opportunity of enjoying some of the holiday, free from the grind of daily labor.

"If you haven't done your mailing, do it now."

"Greenville tobacco men have realized one of the greatest ambitions during the thirty-five years of the market's history," James S. Ficklen, president of the Tobacco Board of Trade, stated this morning.

"We set our goal at sixty million pounds the first of the season. We not only reached that goal, but succeeded in passing it with yesterday's sales. With several more weeks to go, the market should be able to bring the grand total to sixty-three million pounds.

"With this splendid record for inspiration during the coming months, members of the Tobacco Board of Trade will turn their eyes to the mountain tops and endeavor to outstrip all previous records next season."

"The Reflector yesterday carried a list from the Department of Welfare giving some idea of the number of poor people throughout the community in need of assistance. It is to be hoped the public will respond liberally to this call for aid.

While the spirit of Christmas dominates every mind, holds every heart enthralled, we should not be forgetful of those unfortunate who will see little of the joy and gladness of Christmas without public help.

The Welfare Department is striving to provide clothing food and in many instances, cold cash for the cases coming under its observation, and its workers have expressed confidence that Greenville people will respond to the call of the moment.

KING WINTER AGAIN BOUND TOWARD DIXIE

Temperatures Standing at Sub-Freezing Marks in Many Sections of South.

Atlanta, Ga., Dec. 16.—(AP)—Riding the crest of a wind from the northwest, the hosts of king winter again swept into Dixie today sending temperatures to sub-freezing marks, and piling up forecasts of much colder weather for tomorrow morning.

Atlanta the mercury stood at 39 this morning at 10 o'clock and it was forecast that 24 hours later a minimum of 26 would be reached.

Charles F. von Herrmann, government meteorologist here said today that freezing weather would reach all the gulf states in the northern portions tomorrow, and in some instances might reach the coast. New Orleans and Mobile, where the temperatures were 42 and 44 respectively this morning, were in the path of the freezing weather for tomorrow, Mr. von Herrmann said.

"The weather is clearing rapidly," the forecaster asserted, "and when the height of the cold wave is reached it will take only a short time for a drop to normalcy again."

The teeth of the wave already were being felt this morning at Louisville with 72, Memphis with 34 and Nashville with 30; official figures here showed.

The cold is coming from the blizzard which blankets the northwest and is traveling southward and eastward as evidenced by the marks set at Chicago and St. Louis today. The Illinois metropolis had a minimum of 12 degrees, while St. Louis to the south had 16.

Other temperature registrations in the south showed Raleigh, N. C., 42; Wilmington, N. C., 62; Charleston, S. C., 64; Miami, 70; and Meridian and Vicksburg, Miss., each with 32 degrees. All these points will experience severe drops by tomorrow, it was forecast here.

Washington, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Colder weather was forecast for tonight for the middle and south Atlantic states, Florida, and the western lower lake region, while freezing temperatures were indicated along the east gulf coast. It will be colder tomorrow in portions of New England, the weather bureau said.

Two fingers of the Wisconsin disturbance, which was central today over Lake Superior, have reported out to the east, one, the bureau reported being over western North Carolina and the other on the Virginia coast. A trough also extended southeastward to western Pennsylvania and thence south to north-west Florida.

Storm warnings were displayed along the Atlantic coast from Delaware breakwater to Eastport, Maine.

Adopted earlier in the week under rules that prevented a roll call vote, the three changes were cemented into the bill yesterday with sufficient republicans joining the democrats to carry the issue. The vote on the automobile tax repeal was 245 to 151, about a score of republicans voting with the minority party.

A similar coalition supported the Garner amendments, 212 to 181 on the corporation tax and 210 to 187 on the proposal to have corporation and their subsidiaries file separate instead of joint returns.

Instead of the flat rate of 11-1-2 per cent tax on corporations with net taxable incomes of $15,000 or less, as proposed by the committee, the Garner amendment establishes brackets of lower rates on income groups from $15,000 down to $5,000.

In desperation, after their failure to unseat the three amendments, republican leaders then sought to send the measure back to the committee, a move which if successful would have undone much of the work already accomplished. The house voted otherwise, however, and defeated the motion, by Representative Bachrach, republican, New Jersey, 301 to 93. Chairman Green, of the committee was one of those who opposed returning the bill to his framers.

Richmond Woman Gives Testimony At Hubby's Trial

Richmond, Va., Dec. 16.—(AP)—A slender little woman, a mother of five children, took the stand today to testify in behalf of her husband, John Wesley Faison, charged with the murder of Mrs. Elsie Holt Snipes.

Faced with the fact that a large portion of her testimony given yesterday was excluded from the jury, defense counsel had the disputed testimony read into the record and announced that she would continue today when a night session was cancelled because of the physical condition of one of the attorneys.

The defense had depended on the testimony of Mrs. Faison to explode the state's theory that Faison killed Mrs. Snipes through jealousy, to show that no jealousy existed and that Faison had told Mrs. Snipes he expected to break off the relations between them. The testimony was obviously to show a state of mind in Mrs. Snipes that would support the defense contention of suicide.

The state rested its case late yesterday after introducing verbal and documentary evidence to support its charge against Faison—that he shot Mrs. Snipes in her apartment while she was talking over the telephone. Several physicians from the hospital to which the woman was taken in a dying condition were placed on the stand in an attempt to prove there were no powder burns around the wound.

Arkansas Cities Without Any Gas

The break could not be located at mid-break and the company said it was doubtful if the situation would be remedied before night. The gas supply comes from the Louisiana fields. The temperature was 23 degrees here today.

BISHOP ASKS PATIENCE OF THE BRITISH

Rejection of Revised Prayer Book by House of Commons Creates Sensation.

London, Dec. 16.—(AP)—The Archbishop of Canterbury, primate of England, today issued an appeal to the members of the Church of England for patience and charity "in this time of confusion and anxiety."

The Archbishop's appeal read: "Every one will next week, after consultation with other bishops, issue a statement which may help to guide the clergy and the laity of the church in this time of confusion and anxiety."

The Archbishop feels assured of prayers in their behalf and, pending the issue of such statement, asks that patience and charity may be exercised and precipitate words and acts avoided.

It is understood that the meeting of the bishops will be held at Lambeth Palace Monday or Tuesday.

London, Dec. 16.—(AP)—Church circles today thought that despite rejection of the revised book of common prayer by the House of Commons the movement for revision would continue.

The book, which could have been used as an alternative for the one now in use, was rejected by Commons 247 to 205, after the House of Lords had approved it, 241 to 68. It therefore, cannot be presented for royal assent, which is necessary, since the Church of England is the state church.

There was some comment that rejection might eventually eliminate the Church of England as the state church.

The next step will be to return the measure to the church assembly. The assembly will reconsider the revision and may present it to Parliament in an amended form.

The excited cheering of the opponents of the revised book, which burst forth in Commons when it was announced that the bill had been defeated, was in part at least a manifestation of the deeply ingrained protestantism of a large portion of the British nation. It was also a manifestation of their strong dissent from what they regard as Romanizing tendencies, for which, in their opinion, the bill opened the way.

MEXICO PAYS HIGH HONOR TO LINDBERGH

before Lindbergh was up. To the first person they encountered, they said:

"We want to see Lindy, please. We tried but failed. We'll be very unhappy unless you let us see him. Can't you please tell him?"

Their pleas were addressed to Colonel McNab, military attaché. "You bet," he replied.

Colonel McNab placed the girls in an office window overlooking the embassy residence.

Then a wonderful thing happened. Lindy came into the room and shook hands with the girls.

Asked if he understood Spanish, Lindbergh replied: "One word—Toluca." He added that he had a mighty good reason to know it.

Toluca is the name of the capital of Mexico state. Lindbergh flew over it when he was lost and identified it by a big sign giving the name of the city, and thus was able to find himself on the map and turn towards Mexico City.

The beautiful girls of Mexico City are always in the front row gazing upon the hero of the air raply, with admiring smiles, eager eyes and radiant countenances.

If Lindy sees them he gives no sign beyond a casual wave of his hand or a gentle smile.

An automobile load of girls waited in front of the embassy for Lindbergh. When he went out to visit the flying field the car trailed him there and back. Often the girls ran their car alongside the embassy limousine, the señoritas craning their necks to stare at Lindy, who, seemingly unaware of their admiration, chatted with his companions.

At the foreign office a woman among the spectators reached out a baby she was carrying and placed it in Lindy's arms. The flyer blushed under his tan, then he smiled that quick bashful smile of his. He held the baby for a moment then tenderly handed it back.

The mother's face was wreathed in joy.

Mexico is priding itself that not a single souvenir hunter has sought to mutilate Lindbergh's plane. When the Spirit of St. Louis landed, it was enveloped for several minutes in a dense cloud of dust kicked up by his wheels as it taxied across the field.

This dust screen furnished those crowding around the plane an opportunity to tear souvenirs from it.

probably without detection. No one did, however, nor did any of the crowd that later assembled around the plane attempt to mutilate... to procure mementos.

"This is more than Paris can say," El Universal said.

accord with any known classification of insanity left.

Reference to no "mania" being found also went out.

The complete 16 page report was cut to this form:

"This present report embraces the same material (as that of the first or provisional report), and, in addition, utilizes a very exhaustive study of the family history of the defendant, a psychometric test made at our direction by Dr. Fernald, a thorough personality study of our own and further, our observation of his behavior throughout the course of his trial, and finally, all the information obtained from the evidence presented which we were privileged to hear and study."

Based upon all the foregoing factors, we beg leave to present our unanimous conclusion, which is: "That the defendant, George Remus, was sane at the time of the commission of the act of killing, to wit, on October 6, 1927."

Very respectfully,
"David I. Wolfstein, M. D."
"E. A. Haber, M. D."
"Charles E. Kiehl, M. D."

Cincinnati, O., Dec. 16.—(AP)—Bound to abide by an alienists' report which affirmed his sanity last October 6, when he shot and killed his wife Imogene, George Remus, today faced the task of winning freedom from a jury into whose ears for nearly five weeks had been dinned the defense's plea of "transitory maniacal insanity."

Sixteen closely typewritten pages of review of the Remus family history, the life of the defendant himself, his angry outbursts, his general court room demeanor and, finally, of the testimony in the case, concluded with the assertion that Remus had evidenced insanity in no form whatsoever. It was handed Judge Chester R. Shook yesterday.

The three psychiatrists, Drs. David I. Wolfstein, E. A. Haber and Charles Kiehl, denied they had found any trace of insanity, and expressly repudiated any finding of the precise variety expressed as his defense by Remus.

Virtually an all day battle was in sight today as the defense struggled to eliminate nearly all of the report.

you to see their "mile high city, pine clad hills, new Hassayampi hotel."

Dan J. Seaman, publisher of the Prescott Monday Morning Star, wants to explain to you on the spot, in Arizona, the Colorado river problem.

This western country is energetic and hospitable.

And it hopes and believes that it is going to solve the rubber problem, including the problem of labor.

Fred McCarter, secretary of the chamber of commerce of Salinas, north of here, tells you over long distance telephone, how it will be done.

The Guayule shrub, pronounced Wya-ye, requires no irrigation, moisture once a year is enough. The shrub grows four years, is then harvested, ground up, the rubber floats, wood goes to the bottom.

The shrub yields 1,050 pounds of rubber to the acre.

It guarantees the farmer $25 to $40 a year per acre. Plants are first tested in every county. One 1000-acre patch will be planted this month. No tapping or gathering sap. All machine and harvester work. A crop every four years.

There are seven Guayule factories in Mexico now, the plants are gathered wild and hauled to factories on donkey backs.

Americans will apply modern industrial methods to rubber production and undersell the world's cheapest labor-produced rubber.

And the 20 per cent of rosin in Guayule, 10 per cent more than needed, will make a perfect mixture when the Guayule is combined with other rubber.

General Motors, United States Rubber, Firestone and Ford take notice of what intercontinental rubber is doing with Guayule.

Indian Leads Band to Body Frozen Brother

Bryson City, N. C. Dec 16—(AP)—A full blooded Cherokee Indian, tireless and gained in the ways of the woods and an expert such as his father before him, was, in following almost invisible trails, led a band of searchers yesterday to the body of his brother, frozen to death in a snow storm in the Ravensford section.

Blaine Hill discovered the body of Levi Hill almost hidden under a pile of brush where the doomed man, apparently dazed by the snow and effects of liquor, had crawled in a futile effort to escape a chilling wind.

Blaine had been on a search several days for Levi, since the body of his other brother, Soggy Hill, was found near the Ravensford camp by Sincerest Lumber Company workers.

The two men evidently had been logging in the hills above when caught in the storm. They died without help.

Predicts Saving On Finance Act

Raleigh, Dec. 16—(AP)—A great saving will result from strict observance of the new county finance act, J. Q. Gilkey, McDowell county official who today called on Governor A. W. McLean to tell him of the general satisfaction resulting from finance statute, says.

"I consider" said Mr. Gilkey, "that the county finance act is the most important of all measures passed by the last general assembly. If properly enforced in all counties, it will save the tax payers millions of dollars and will give much more efficient county governments."

"Under the old system, every county agent did the purchasing of supplies and was his own paymaster but, the new system gives a thorough check, it prevents waste or extravagance, and is practically an assurance against all graft."
