WHAT WE MAKE IT

At the end of 1927, we pause on the threshold of the dawning of a New Year with the realization that the year now at an end, has been good to us and our city and community have advanced along all lines during the twelve months just passed. Just what the New Year of 1928 holds in store for us, both spiritual and material, depends greatly upon us, and it is this thought we would bring to mind as the old year dies.

Looking backward over the year, from the spiritual side, we find that there has been considerable progress in behalf of the Kingdom and although conditions are yet far from what we would have them, the end of the year, 1927, has found our community a finer place in which to live. Recounting our blessings, in the form of good health, absence of devastating disasters and abundant yields of the soil, we find that we have much for which we should give our thanks to our Creator before we permit the year to pass and should enter the New Year with a determination to labor first and hardest for the Kingdom that is above and more important than all earthly things.

In a material way, Greenville and Pitt county have made rapid gains during 1927, but to slacken our speed now to rest on our laurels is but to invite reverses, and we urge that the hearty spirit of progressiveness and co-operation that has aided so much in the success of 1927, be re-enacted several fold during the New Year. Every business and individual has an important part to play in the future of our city and without each doing his or her part we cannot attain the heights that are now open to us. Belt driven machinery is only as efficient as are the fibres on the belt surface that turn the pulley to make the machine go, and the same is true with the gear drive, the weakest cog in the gear determining the efficiency of the drive. As is the case with machinery, so it is with the progress and development of our community. We are the fibres, or gear cogs, and unless we are efficient, working in unison with others, we retard the progress of those more efficient than ourselves.

May the New Year find each and every one in this community with a determined spirit to use to the fullest his talents in behalf of the religious as well as the material progress of the entire community. Such a determination will surely make 1928 even better than 1927 has been.

ABOUT TOWN

"Today is the last day of the year, don't forget that New Year's resolution," reminded numbers of readers of this column today.

But there's not much chance of our forgetting the first of the year considering the amount of work that always falls to newspapers on this date.

We like the change, though. It gives us a chance of clearing our desks and preparing to start out with a clean slate. Lots of us would like to turn back the hands of time and be able to obliterate the records of previous years.

This desire should cause us to realize the importance of achieving something really worth while during the New Year.

Make your resolutions, but first be sure you mean to see that they count for something.

A Tobacco Institute will be held in Tarboro January 5th, according to announcement made today by the local department of agriculture.

Objects of the meeting will be set forth in an interesting way by B. B. Howell, president of the Institute, members of the local department said this morning. Disease of tobacco and tobacco seed and their control will be discussed by G. W. Fant, extension pathologist.

"Others prominent in agricultural work of the state will talk on such subjects as insects and their control and varieties of fertilizers."

"These institutes have been a source of considerable benefit to farmers in all sections of the state and it is to be hoped growers of this community will attend the Tarboro sessions in large numbers."

"It will be a source of much gratification throughout the United States to learn that the circuit court of appeals of Cincinnati has found George Remus insane," a reader of this paper remarked today.

"The conduct of this notorious character has been very unusual. He has succeeded in establishing a criminal record exceeded only by some of the most hardened crimnals of the country, and if he should be given freedom the courts have no assurance that his crimes would not be repeated.

"Incarceration in some insane institution for several years may bring him to the realization that principles instead of money, still play a predominant part in the life of this great nation."

"We have already shattered" last December's record in the issuance of marriage licenses," members of the office of the register of deeds of Pitt county, stated today.

"The activities of Dan Cupid in this county during the present month have been of a most remarkable nature. Should he continue to work as diligently in the future as he has in the past, this would indeed be married man's land."

But we like to see the good work go on, and just as long as the little winged creature is able to accomplish his mission, so long will we be in position to issue licenses."

"It was gratifying indeed the way Pitt county people responded to our call for funds with which to aid the poor during the Christmas holidays," said K. T. Futrell today, discussing the joy and happiness carried into innumerable homes.

"The public had little idea of the numbers of poor people served through this department and the Salvation Army. Suffering is most pronounced in many of these homes during the winter months, and without aid of liberal-hearted men and women the situation would be far more serious."

"Greenville is one of the best towns in the state," emphatically remarked a member of the local Kiwanis club, speaking before that organization last night.

He expressed a sentiment that he "dominated the minds and hearts of local business men for years. It is a sentiment that is playing an important part in the era of expansion which the city is now passing through.

It is to be hoped the opinion may be conveyed to others coming in from time to time. For, in this case, it will not be long before many others will be coming here to make their homes.

CHAMP TEAMS CLASH TODAY IN CALIFORNIA

Berkeley, Calif., Dec. 31.—(AP)—The reign of king football in Central California collegiate circles for 1927 reached its closing flourish here today as grid teams of the University of Pennsylvania and California faced each other in an inter-sectional contest.

A fast field was assured, due to the canvassing of the field that has kept the turf dry during the past week and with both elevens securing a wide open passing attack, a free scoring game was forecast. Approximately 30,000 tickets have been sold and the tickets that will be disposed of at the gate are expected to raise the attendance to 50,000.

DEFER FORECASTS ON GRID CLASH

Pasadena, Cal., Dec. 31.—(AP)—Football prognosticators having had a glimpse of "Pop" Warner's star-wards in action turned today to the arrival of the Pittsburgh Panthers to see what they look like before making their final forecasts as to the winners of the East-West clash next Monday.

Coach Sutherland of the Pittsburgh team gave his men several workouts in Pasadena today. They will have several more drills here before meeting the men from Stanford.

Warner and his exponents of the revolution through a brisk one-hour session on the Rose Bowl turf yesterday. More than three full teams lined out.

Lower Admissions to Fight. Chicago, Dec. 31.—(AP)—The two remaining commissioners of the Illinois State Athletic Commission have made their New Year's resolution early and to the effect of admission prices to boxing shows in 1928.

For Constance Talmadge in "Breakfast at Sunrise," White's Theatre, Mon.-Tues., Jan. 2-3rd.

SPORTS' PASSING SHOW OF 1927

URGES LESS PUBLICITY TO GRID IDOLS

New York, Dec. 31.—(AP)—What football needs is less publicity for its stars and more about its teams as a whole, in the opinion of W. W. Franke, newly elected president of the American football coaches' association.

Franke's football mentor, at the annual banquet of the coaches' association last night, declared himself opposed to the practice of some sports writers who devote long columns of space to the accomplishments of some back-field sensation and dismiss the remainder of the team with bare mention.

The banquet climaxed a busy day which had seen the association go on record in favor of eliminating this year's new rules affecting the use of the lateral pass and recovery of the muffed punt, and appoint three observers to sit during deliberations of the national rules committee.

Appointments of the observers were named on invitation of Edward K. Hall, chairman of the rules committee, after the coaches had asked for greater consideration when the rules are made. The observers will be Rockne, Hugo Bezdek, of Penn State and Bill Spaulding, of the University of California.

Horseshoe Fingers Start Training

St. Petersburg, Fla., Dec. 31.—(AP)—Horseshoe fingers have started training here in preparation for the national tournament to be held here starting February 20.

Frank Jackson, of Kellerton, Ia., former champion, is ready on the ground throwing "fingers," while Paul Mossman, another former title holder, is expected to arrive next week.

C. C. Davis, of Columbus, Ohio, the champion, is planning to return to defend his crown.

GRAIN MARKET.

Chicago, Dec. 31.—(AP)—Indications of good export business in Canada together with weakness regarding crop prospects for domestic wheat market lifted prices today in Liverpool which quotations were also a stimulus to buyers.

Wheat closed unsettled at the same as yesterday's finish to 1-8 higher; corn to 1-4 up, oats varying from 1-4 cent decline to 3-8 advance and provisions unchanged to a rise of 25 cents.

STOCK MARKET.

New York, Dec. 31.—(AP)—Speculation for the advance control of the price movement today in the final stock market session of the year. Although a few soft spots popped out here and there the general tendency was upward with numerous gains running from one to five points. Trading was unusually heavy for a pre-holiday session.

Encouraged by the optimistic tenor of year-end reviews pools are engaged in marking up a wide assortment of specialties to new peak prices for the year.

Rails which have been rather sluggish all week also showed a firmer tendency. St. Louis southwestern preferred running up five points to a new 1927 high.

In the industrial group Greene Cananea Copper, Warren Brothers, United Drug, Calumet and Arizona and Otis Steel prior preferred climbed three to five points above yesterday's final quotations. Youngtown sheet and tube which has enjoyed a rapid advance on reports of merger negotiations with Inland Steel fell back four points on realizing.

The closing was strong. Total sales approximated 1,300,000 shares.

because doctors say the poor child died of fright, and wasn't actually killed by strangling and dismembering the body to which the murderer has confessed. It should take a good lawyer to save that particular murderer from the extreme penalty. Whether he killed the little girl by strangling and butchering, or by frightening her to death, will make no difference to any jury. "I only frightened her to death," a weak defense.

Young people may be interested in a definition of true love, printed by Frank S. Hoag, on the front page of the Pueblo Star Journal: "Love is that which a girl has who with a man who doesn't own a motor car. But maybe her idea is passionate marriage."

We Are Thankful
For the many Blessings of 1927

We wish to use this means of expressing our appreciation to our many friends and patrons for the business we have enjoyed during the year 1927. And we sincerely hope that we may have the pleasure of serving you during 1928.

We appreciate the fact that it is our friends who have made our success in business possible. We have had the pleasure of serving more people during the year 1927 than any one year heretofore. And we are truly thankful to all those who in any way contributed to our success. We fully realize that without your GOOD WILL and patronage it would have been impossible for us to have enjoyed this prosperity.

Our aim and purpose in business to help make homes comfortable, beautiful and happy, To this end we shall strive to our utmost during the year 1928.

Wishing to one and all a Healthy — Happy — Prosperous
1928
