

JACK SHARKEY CONFIDENT OF WINNING FIGHT

By EDWARD J. NEIL.
Associated Press Sports Writer.

New York, Jan. 12.—(AP)—An air of patient silence hung heavily today about Jack Sharkey, whose New Year resolution of "no more blood and thunder" outbursts excluded even a prediction as to what dire happenings would be visited upon Tom Heeney in the Madison Square Garden ring tomorrow night.

Accustomed as the public is to Sharkey's loud speaking, his audience was totally unprepared for the almost demureness of the Boston heavy-weight who trekked into New York to report for examination by the New York State Athletic Commission. Questioned as to the outcome of his twelve-round melee with the brawny New Zealander, Jack only smiled and said in a small voice: "I think I will win." He felt quite "all right."

But through the veil of reticence that has fallen so suddenly over the massive form, there came occasional flashes of the old Sharkey—the cocky youth—who "gave the eye" to ancient Mike McTigue and Jimmy Maloney, and even tried to stare out Jack Dempsey, the old man-as-a-matter himself, before falling before the former champion's sledge-like body ramming in the Yankee stadium last summer.

"Why should I spend the thousands of dollars training for a little guy like Heeney if I intended to run out a few days before the fight?" Sharkey demanded, pounding on the edge of a chair the left hand fractured in training for the original match with Heeney postponed from late in 1926.

"I should give up sixty grand for fighting him? Oh, no, no, no."

Jack offered to hit anybody in the place with the left just to show that it was in perfect working order. After a deep silence all present agreed that Sharkey's hand was faultless and there was no demonstration.

Sharkey has no agreement with Heeney for any fight to follow the Heeney match, Buckley declared, and there will be no talk of a fight with Tunney until the obstacle just ahead has been cleared.

Tom Mix Will Contest Wife's Divorce Suit

Los Angeles, Jan. 10.—(AP)—Tom Mix, cowboy hero of many gun battles on Hollywood movie lots, today announced he would contest his divorced wife's court petition for a $1,500 monthly allowance for the support of the daughter of the couple.

Giving notice that he would fight the petition for the increase from the present $50 monthly allowance Mix through his attorneys, declared that he had been giving his daughter, Ruth, now 16 years of age, sums considerably in excess of the amount required by the court order granted when Mix and his former wife, Mrs. Olive S. Mix, were divorced in 1917. A total of $1,500 was asserted to have been advanced in the last two weeks to the girl to cover expenses of her vaudeville career.

Mix's former wife declared he had amassed a fortune of $5,000,000 since the pair was divorced.

In Mrs. Mix's petition, filed here yesterday, she said that when the couple was divorced Mix was earning $1,000 a month, while at the present time his income was $20,000 weekly. Mix was ordered to appear January 20 and show cause why the $1,450 increase should not be granted.

CLEVELAND PINS HOPES ON RECRUITS

Cleveland, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Backed by a group of new owners committed to a winning team for Cleveland but with virtually the same old group of players that finished sixth last year the Cleveland Indians will enter the 1928 season with their hopes pinned principally on a better showing of last year's veterans and the coming out of several promising recruits.

Failure marked all efforts during the winter to add any major league stars to the Cleveland camp and Billy Evans, the tribe's new general manager, faces the April start with almost the same proven material that Jack McAllister finished with last October.

Knowing that it takes pitting to win ball games Evans is hoping that Uhl and Levens will show up this year back in conditions. Both men were consistent winners in 1926 but both had lame arms last season. Hudding and Walter Miller who came through last year with good records despite the rather mediocre support behind them, will be on hand again, and Peckinpaugh is planning some intensive training for Shante, the little southpaw who has been accused of being material.

Peckinpaugh and his two new assistants, Catcher Grover Hartley and Howard Shanks, believe they can make a winner out of him.

In addition Evans will take south with him a bunch of pitching recruits including Walter Brown, of New Orleans, Mel Harder of Omaha, Harold McKain, of Waterloo, Iowa, Guy Bolton, of Terre Haute, Ind., and Vern Underhill, of Tyler, Texas. William Bayne, who played two years ago with the St. Louis Browns, also will go along.

George Burns, the American League's most valuable player in 1925, will continue to hold down first sack with Joe Sewell at short. Johnny Hodapp will replace Luetke at third base while the club owners have tossed their lines toward the minor league ranks for a second baseman, since Spurgeon, a sensation in 1926, still suffers from injuries in an automobile accident.

Jamerson is counted on for left field, with a battle for other field positions to be waged between Eddie Morgan, of New Orleans, Frank Wilson, of Milwaukee, Elton Langford, of Omaha, and Homer Summa, who has been with the Indians for several years. George Kerkin, drafted from Milwaukee, also will be on hand for an outfield job.

Luke Sewell will be depended upon to do most of the catching, with Glenn Myatt, Chick Aubry, Dick Stahlma and Grover Hartley eligible.

Fountain Fresh Teams to Play Locals Friday

The next basketball which Greenville will have a chance to see will be Friday night, when the two freshman teams will entertain the teams of Fountain High School in Gorman's Warehouse. This fills in the evening for followers of the sport who cannot go to Wilson where the big team plays. The freshman had a large crowd out for their games last Friday, and a good number traveled with the girls to Ayden on Tuesday, but the attendance for tomorrow is expected to exceed either. The brand of ball put up by the yearlings is well worth watching, and although they will be somewhat outweighted, the arguments will be fairly matched. The nominal price of 10 cents is being used to but a little more equipment for the 1931 teams. First game begins at 7:30, and the best ring-side seats will all be taken by that time.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat trouble. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, tracheitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

TRADING OF HORNSBY IS BIG PUZZLE

New York, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Unsatisfied with the official statements promulgated by New York Giants headquarters, baseball experts continued guessing today as to why Rogers Hornsby was sent to Boston for two comparatively unknown youngsters.

Officially the trade which brings Frank Hogan, promising catcher and Jimmy Welsh, outfielder, to the Giants in exchange for a fine second baseman and one of the greatest hitters the game has ever known, was "made for the best interests" of the Giants and to avoid any future conflict of the club.

This was the substance of two statements issued by the Giants powers that be. The first was over the signature of both president Charles A. Stoneham and manager John J. McGraw. The second, by Stoneham alone, was intended as a further explanation of the deal which stood the baseball world on its head on Tuesday night.

In his second communique Mr. Stoneham recalled that statements had been made that Hornsby would be the next manager of the club, and then added:

"I have never been consulted regarding this and have had no conferences about the selection of a manager as Mr. McGraw retains the management of the New York Club."

The sports writers contended that the only fault with Mr. Stoneham's explanation was that it didn't explain. If some managerial conflict was to be feared, they asked, why did McGraw, when he was ill, appoint Hornsby as acting manager during the hottest part of the national league pennant chase last summer?

Suggestions that the Giants had an interest in strengthening the Boston club were denied by officials and scoffed by most observers. The idea advanced in several quarters, that the suit for gambling debts against Hornsby had played a part in the trade, met with a similar reception.

Another view, held by several sports writers, that the deal was arranged because of personal differences with president Stoneham also was put before the fans.

Noted English Journalist Dead

Dorchester, England, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Thomas Hardy, regarded by many as the greatest English writer of his period, and one of the last great Victorians, is dead at the age of 87.

The journalist died last night in the countryside where he had lived for most of his life among characters and scenes depicted in his books. He had a chill December 12 and age imposed heavy odds against his recovery.

Whether his recent poetry will ever be printed was doubtful today. He wrote it mostly for himself and friends, feeling that he had completed his life's work.

His second wife, the former Miss Florence Emily Dugdale, a writer of children's stories, abandoned most of her own work to aid him in his poetic work.

More than 40 years ago the novelist planned and built the house in which he died. Through the intervention of the then Prince of Wales, later Edward VII, Hardy was allowed to purchase two acres of the Prince's estate for the home site.

Babe was scheduled to greet the public in a mass meeting at Goldsboro tonight.

MORE THAN TWO THOUSAND HORSEMEN IN "BEAU GESTE"

A great number of marvelous horsemen than probably ever before were gathered together to appear in a single motion picture, are prominent figures in "Beau Geste" which comes to White's Theatre, Monday.

The riders are western cowboys and Indians who appear as Touaregs of the African Deserts in this thrilling mystery story of the French Foreign Legion. According to Lieut. Louis Van de Ecker, former legionnaire who served as technical advisor to Director Herbert Brenon, the desert horseman, although famous for their skill in stirrups, cannot surpass the riders of the West.

The Touaregs, noted as warriors, wear long white robes and veils, so it was easy for the western riders to impersonate them.

After the interior scenes of "Beau Geste" had been made at the Paramount studio in Hollywood, Brenon established a camp of 2,000 men for a three months stay on the Arizona Desert where the exterior episodes were made.

Ronald Colman plays the title role in Percival Christopher Wren's story. The other featured players include Alice Joyce, Noah Beery, Mary Brian, Neil Hamilton, William Powell, Norman Trevor, Ralph Forbes and Victor McLaglan.

BAD PAINS IN SIDE

Spells of Nervousness Also Troubled This Lady Who Gives Cardui Credit for Helping Her Get Well.

Depew, Okla.—"For six years," says Mrs. Edd Burton, of this place, "I suffered as bad as a woman can suffer and still keep going."

"I was good for nothing, was lifeless and pale, unable to eat anything. Nothing agreed with me. At times I had such bad pains in my sides and back I would have to go to bed. I had cramping spells and would faint if I stood on my feet any length of time. My nerves would become upset at the least little thing and I would have spells of crying that were so exhausting they left me prostrate."

"Several of my friends suggested that I take Cardui. They told me of their experiences with it, how much they have been helped. At last I decided to try it."

"In a few weeks, I could see that I was improving, so I kept on. I did not expect the troubles of years to disappear in a few days, nor did they, but in time I was much better. I kept up the Cardui treatment for several months and thanks to it I am a well woman now."

APARTMENT HOUSES NEEDED

Housing facilities to take care of the ever increasing number of newcomers to our city seems to us to be one of the city's greatest needs at this time. Almost daily persons come into our office with the sad message that they have looked the town over and can find no place to live. There is an evergrowing demand for small houses or apartments and we believe that the building of two or three modern apartment houses here by citizens who are in position to do so would not only prove a good investment, but would be rendering a great public service to the community as well.

BE VACCINATED

There may be some who are growing tired of our "harping" as it might be termed, on the smallpox situation and the growing necessity of vaccination, but with the disease still spreading in the county we cannot refrain from warning our citizens of the dangers and urging them to take every precaution against the further spread of the disease. Announcement made by the Health Department today was to the effect that 31 new cases of smallpox in the county had been reported since January 1, or three cases each day since the beginning of the month. In the face of these facts we cannot understand why people will decline to be vaccinated. Of course, if you are vaccinated, and it takes you will have a sore arm for awhile, but a sore arm is preferable to a case of smallpox. If you have not been vaccinated, don't put it off longer.

ABOUT TOWN

"I am more than gratified at the splendid interest manifested in the opening game of basketball here Tuesday night," said W. C. Porter, director of athletics of the Greenville high school, speaking of the splendid showing made by the local club against Farmville.

"With this kind of support the boys should be able to make one of the best showings in years. Every member of the team was impressed by the good crowd present, and played more consistently than they would have otherwise because of this fact.

"The public is urged to attend the remainder of the games and inspire the boys to establish even a better record than they did in football."

"The Kiwanis club will change officers at the meeting tomorrow night," Dr. M. B. Massey, chairman of the Kiwanis program committee stated this morning.

"With the retirement of President "Billy" Woolard the club loses one of the best executives it has ever had. He has done much for the development of the organization, and that he will continue to do so following his retirement from office cannot be doubted.

"Frank Harrington, incoming president, is a man of considerable executive ability. He has seen long services with various departments of the club, and should be in position to render aid of a most commendable nature. While we regret to lose Mr. Woolard as our leader, we shall pledge our support to the new president and hope to be able to carry on to great and better things."

"The annual report of the two Greenville banks carried in the columns of your paper yesterday were gratifying," declared a prominent business man today who has closely affiliated with the industry of this community for years.

"There is nothing that more plainly reflects the development of a community than its banks. Taking reports of the local banks upon their face value, there is every reason to believe this locality is in the midst of a season of progress and prosperity.

"Healthy growth has been reflected by our banks for several years, and this is evidence enough that this community has a bright future ahead of it.

"People who have not formed a habit of doing business with our banks should do so at once. They offer protection and service unequalled by no other kind of institution. If you have idle money on hand, put it on deposit and rest assured it will be rendered a service to the wonderful locality in which you live."

"With numbers of the unmarried fairer sex wearing diamonds, we are led to believe that Dan Cupid, mythical god of love, is doing a little advance work in the locality," two young Romeos confided to the writer of this column today.

"We saw two yesterday with diamonds glittering on the proverbial ring finger, and naturally concluded that somebody—barring names—had been doing some rapid courtship.

"Cupid has a peculiar way of shooting his little love darts in unexpected directions, and never has this fact been more plainly demonstrated than in these two instances. We didn't have the slightest idea in the world the fair ones anticipated matrimony, but now that the tell-tale ring has made its appearance, there seems to be no room for further doubt.

"We like to see the good work go on, but goodness knows we do regret to see so much promising material marching up to the altar when they might live many more years of single blessedness without impairing their chances of connubial felicity."

"If you haven't been vaccinated yet, let us urge you to get busy and do so immediately", members of the Pitt county Board of Health urged this morning.

"Smallpox is still on an increase in the county and those who haven't been well vaccinated cannot expect to be immune from the disease as those who have taken the necessary precaution.

"A good take positively immunizes a person from the contagion. If you haven't had yours get busy and take it at once."

SUB ROSA

Greenville's Latest Fraternal Organization.

Under the careful chaperonage and admist hospitality of Mrs. R. A. Tyson, "Sub Rosa," a charming debutante, made its initial bow among the elite, the first of a series of graceful ones which will do much to add to the social whirl of Greenville this year.

Composed of young ladies whose aim is the social advancement of this metropolis, Sub Rosa stands unique in local history as the only organization all of whose members can address the society at the same time on different subjects and still bring to a finish, plans so successful as the entertainment of Tuesday night. Its president deserves renown as an analytical genius of the first water. All hail to the secretary who can record fourteen coincident speeches in a manner satisfactory to fourteen critical speakers. Sub Rosa is of recent organization and, according to the progressive spirit of the age, is modeled on the order of a secret society. The idea of secrecy coupled with that of its feminine constituency may appear paradoxical, but will be readily understood when it is known that as a safety valve, each secret is originated by a different member, they having the delightful privilege of whispering it in the ear of each member of this society, thus wisely giving vent to the awful pressure, the statement may be more credible.

Its ritual comprises three degrees and in gorgeous splendor and complicated work of these we doubt not that great King Solomon might have gained some valuable points when he organized that lasting monument to his greatness—the Masonic order. Damon any Pythias would have blushed with shame and their famed affection suffered in comparison with that of the two sisters whose views differed as to whether "billy goat" or "rooster" should be adopted as the official password. The affair was settled, so it is rumored, by the rejection of both, and the adoption of—the whole dictionary will ever know.

Miss Bettie Tyson claimed the privilege of introducing this charming debutante into Greenville society, and the delightful gathering of Tuesday night marks the first of a series of social triumphs performed with the fragrance which naturally comes "Sub Rosa."

Among those present were Misses Bettie Tyson, Rosalind Rountree, Annie Perkins, Ada Wooten, Sophia Jarvis, Blanche Flanagan, Rosa Hooker, Helen Perkins and Messrs. George Woodward, E. G. Flanagan and Dr. R. L. Carr.

Supper was served at eleven o'clock and the guests departed with the best wishes for Sub Rosa which bids fair to be the leading factor in the gaieties of the season.

Miami Flight Postponed.
Washington, Jan. 11.—(AP)—The flight of Major L. M. Bourne from Quantico, Va., to Miami, Fla., which was scheduled for today, was postponed because the plane was too heavily loaded to take off from the short Quantico, Va., flying field. Arrangements were made today to lighten the load and fly the plane to Anacostia flying field and take off from there between 6 and 7 o'clock tomorrow.

In All America no Better Built Car at the Price!

More power . . . more speed . . . more smoothness. A brilliant change of pace. You instinctively expect them. You somehow know that's what you get in the All-American Six.

But consider these other reasons for its stirring success. The exacting care and craftsmanship with which the car is built. How marvelously it survives the tests and trials of time.

Here are stamina and endurance that result only from All-American engineering. Big, rugged, oversize units. Balance and simplicity of design. Month after month of pitiless testing on General Motors Proving Ground . . . and super-precision construction throughout!

That's why its power, speed and smoothness are measured in tens of thousands of miles. Why economy and dependability are Oakland owners' by-words. Why All-American owners will tell you—"No better built car at the price!"

Market Report

Cotton--Stocks--Grain

NEW YORK COTTON

New York, Jan. 12.—(AP)—A steadier turn in the Liverpool market combined with reports of steady spot basis in the south, were reflected in moderate advances in the cotton market today, but failed to stimulate business. Active months sold about 16 to 20 points higher, on covering and a little trade buying, but the demand tapered off around 19 3-4 for May and later fluctuations were narrow and irregular.

Futures closed very steady, 17 to 22 higher. Spot steady, middling 19.70.

(Because of wire trouble, the cotton table had not been received at press time).

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Notable bulges in the corn market today resulted largely from indications of active export demand and from lively speculative buying here. Owing to scantiness of readily available rural supplies cash corn at a public sale near Hillsdale, Ill., was reported to have brought $1 per bushel.

Strength of corn values tended to minimize selling pressure on wheat and so likewise did drought complaints from western parts both of Kansas and Oklahoma.

Corn closed unsettled 3-8 to 1-2 net higher. Wheat unchanged to 3-4 lower. Oats a shade to 1-8 to 1-4 up and provisions unchanged to a rise of 7 cents.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

New York, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Backing and filling movements characterized trading in today's stock market. Upward price tendencies appeared to predominate, but the uneasiness regarding credit conditions and the immediate trend of securities prices was reflected in the market falling off in the volume of sales. Pools staged sharp advances in a few issues, and several new weak spots cropped out.

Commission house comment was decidedly mixed, with a number of firms recommending a waiting attitude until the character of the market became more definitely established. There was little in the day's trade news to influence the price movement. Publication of decidedly poor 1927 earnings reports by the Armour Packing and Ajax rubber companies had been anticipated, but officials of both companies declared business conditions were improving.

Motorists gathered strength on a prediction by President Sloan of General Motors that first quarter car sales and profits would break all records. Coppers moved upward under the leadership of Greene Cananea which sold at 143 as against a low of 124 on Tuesday of this week. International Nickel crossed 93 to a new high record.

Food, public utility and oil sources presented several points of strength. Warren Bros. soared nine points and Brooklyn Union Gas, Houston Oil, Mexican Republics, Purdy Baking B, Calumet & Arizona and National lead were among the many issues to sell 3 to nearly 5 points higher. On the other hand Adams Express broke another five points, General Asphalt preferred 4 1-2 and Mathieson Alkali and Borden sold down 3 points below last night's final quotations.

The closing was strong. Total sales approximated 2,200,000 shares.

Quality first, last and all the time at prices that are always as low as they can be made and leave a fair margin of profit.

That sentence sums up the business practice of Mr. Penney back in 1902 when he was laying the foundation for the present great family of Department Stores, which bear his name and of which this Store is a member.

That practice equally applies to the operations today of this Store and every Store in this coast-to-coast organization.

If it is ever said of the quality of our goods that it is "cheap," it is because the speaker is not acquainted with the peerless character of our values and therefore, is not qualified to discuss them.

In this respect, we ask you to make comparisons and be your own judge. That is fair enough.

TWO NEGROES TRY TO ENTER WHITE HOME

To Be Given Hearing On Trespass Charge Before Mayor Lanier Tomorrow Morning.

Charged with trespassing at the home of W. F. Tillett, on Evans street, yesterday afternoon, John Rogers, colored man of this city, is being held in the jail here today awaiting trial before Mayor J. C. Lanier in Friday morning's session of police court. Ellen Farmer, negro youth, arrested with Rogers on the same charge, was released this morning under bond of $300.

The negroes were arrested by members of the city police department late yesterday afternoon following their attempt to enter the Tillett home for the alleged purpose of examining the telephone when neither were in employ of the local telephone company.

Rogers, who, according to police was an employ of the telephone company quite a while ago, told Miss Tillett that they had been sent to the home to make an inspection of the telephone to see if it was operating properly.

Miss Tillett, it was stated, informed Rogers that the phone was in excellent condition and needed no inspection. The negro became insistent, whereupon Miss Tillett called the telephone exchange and asked if they had sent out anybody to inspect her phone. She was informed that they had not and was told to report the case to the police department.

The two negroes left the home during the telephone conversation but were later taken in custody in tobacco town.

Ellen Farmer employee of a local grocery concern, told arresting officers that Rogers had asked him to go to the Tillett home with him, that he would teach him how to make a telephone inspection. The youth declared he did not know there was anything irregular about the visit to the home until he was taken into custody by the police.

Police conferred with the local telephone exchange following arrest of Rogers to determine if he was still in employ of the company. They were informed that the company had no such negro on the payroll, although he had been in their employ several months ago.

Rogers had little to say of the affair in his cell at the jail today, save that he had found a small sum of money in possession of his wife and wanted to determine if Miss Tillett had loaned it to her whether she had gotten it from some other man.

Miss Tillett is said to have been considerably alarmed by the appearance of the negroes at her front door and subsequent insistent demands to enter the house and make the telephone inspection. Police expressed belief today that Rogers merely used the telephone inspection story as a means of gaining entrance to the home, and continued investigating the case with the hope of bringing new facts to light.

Theatre Building Slightly Damaged By Fire Yesterday

The New Theatre on Evans Street was slightly damaged by fire originating from a motion picture film yesterday afternoon at five o'clock. The extent of the damage had not been determined this morning and total loss had not been estimated.

A fire was in progress at the theatre when the alarm was sounded but the audience left the building in an orderly way and avoided injuries or loss of life.

The blaze from the film penetrated the ceiling of the building, and firemen had a difficult time reaching it. Considerable water was played on the inside of the building, damaging the wall papering and some of the theatre furnishings. However, the show continued last night without interruption.

MRS. RUTH SNYDER GRANTED ONE DAY STAY OF SENTENCE BY SUPREME COURT JUSTICE

sult of a last minute stay of execution probably will live at least to see the dawn of another day.

Supreme Court Justice Avron J. Levy granted a stay of execution to Mrs. Snyder until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning in order that her counsel might present further arguments to support their contention that their client is a necessary witness in the litigation over $95,000 life insurance on her husband, who is the convicted killer of Mrs. Snyder's 16-year old daughter, Leatrice, would be the beneficiary of the insurance.

The stay did not affect the status of Gray, Mrs. Snyder's paramour, who is scheduled to be executed tonight for his part in the murder. Gray's attorney, however, said that he had prepared an application to the federal court for a writ of habeas corpus, on the grounds that Gray's constitutional rights were invaded when he was tried jointly with Mrs. Snyder. A similar application was signed by Mrs. Snyder.

The court order directing the stay of Mrs. Snyder's execution was served on Warden Lewis E. Lawes early today.

Warden Lawes, in accepting service, said: "I am simply an agent of the state and its laws. I desire to do the right thing which will not prejudice the rights of the condemned and I will act after consultation with the proper authorities." "The order does not affect Gray," said the warden, "but the time of his execution will be given consideration."

This statement was taken to indicate the possibility that the warden might postpone Gray's execution. The law provides that Gray and Mrs. Snyder should be executed during the week of January 9 and gives the warden the power to select the execution night. The warden thus could delay the execution of Gray until Saturday night.

There was some question whether Warden Lawes would honor the stay granted by the supreme court justice, and it was understood he planned to confer with Governor Smith and commissioner of correction on the legal questions involved.

Eugene E. Hahleton, chief of Mrs. Snyder's counsel, said that Warden Lawes would undoubtedly heed the order and that he would be "most seriously in contempt" if he did not. Hahleton said that if he convinced the court that Mrs. Snyder would be a necessary witness in the insurance litigation, it would be impossible to foresee the length of time the stay of execution might continue, in event of an appeal from the decision in the civil case, he said he would ask that the stay be continued until the final decision.

The insurance suit was brought by the Prudential Insurance Company of America, which claims that the policy was fraudulently obtained by Mrs. Snyder without her husband's knowledge or consent. The prosecution held at the trial of Mrs. Snyder and Gray, that this insurance was the chief motive for the murder.

When the stay was granted Mrs. Snyder had apparently given up hope Joseph Leonardo, one of her attorneys, who visited her in the death house to secure her signature to the application for a writ of habeas corpus, said he found her dependent. "Mrs. Snyder looked like a dead woman," Leonardo said. "When I went into the death house she touched my hand, and she was as cold as ice."

"I took her other hand. It was like another piece of ice. I touched her head. It was frozen." "Cheer up, Ruth," I said, "You're not dead yet!" "No," she said finally, "but I'm afraid I'm going to be."

Post-Intelligencer, and that newspaper, with news of Alaska, in big letters remind you of interesting and profitable things too far away.

From the Seattle P. I. you learn that it is hard to make a mistake when you buy on this continent. Seward bought Alaska from Russia for eight million dollars. The purchase was really a good deal as a plausible way to hand American money to certain Russians that needed it. "Seward's folly," that purchase was called. Since this country has owned it, Alaska has sent us $306,000,000 in gold and $110,000,000 worth of furs, among other things.

This great traffic from Alaska is enriching Seattle, and the process has only begun. Publishers are interested in two pulp and paper mills, to be built in southeastern Alaska to cost more than $10,000,000.

each and produce 500 tons daily. You'll never pick up such a bargain as Seward got in Alaska, but buy something in this country. Take care of it and, if you pick wisely, it will take care of you.

The big problem is to make sure that each has a fair chance, and that we hold what we have, in the way or prosperity. That we really have real prosperity, compared with other times, and other countries, is easily proved.

H. Struckmann, president of the International Cement Corporation, shows this writer an urgent appeal broadcast throughout the industrial populations of Belgium, demanding for skilled workers an annual wage of $428 a year.

Consider that, and then consider this: A generous man left his fortune to build in New York City comfortable apartments to be rented most reasonably to underpaid workers with families. The philanthropist stipulated that his apartments should be rented to workers getting not more than $25 a week. His executors have been trying, vainly, to find tenants to fill the apartments. Workers with families getting as little as $25 a week seem to be scarce, in New York.

Belgian workers, skilled and of the clerical class, are striving for $428 a year, and a United States philanthropist hunts in vain for American workers getting as little as $1,200 a year.

The moral of that is plain: please American workers from competition with underpaid foreign labor, and American manufacturers from competition with foreign manufacturers that can hire such cheap labor and make it illegal for this country to buy cheap supplies, of any kind, in foreign countries, produced by cheap foreign labor.

Professor Ross of Wisconsin University is worried about over-population of the earth. Let married people have four children to a family, get the children marry and do likewise, and population doubles every twenty years. At that rate, this country, in forty years, could have 400,000,000 people, more than

China, and in 100 years, our population would be 3,840,000,000, more than twice the earth's present population.

Five thousand French people known to have settled in Canada in 1600, now number 5,000,000. It all sounds frightening, but is not. Henry George remarked that if a dog's tail grew throughout its life as it does in puppyhood, dogs would have tails forty feet long. Providence prevents that, and will take care of our population.
