PARENTS OF CHILD KILLER GO ON STAND

Mother and Father of Edward Hickman
Tell of Change in Boy's Condition.

Los Angeles, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Details of the murder and mutilation of little Marian Parker, the thoughts of the killer and the secrets of the Hickman family have found their way into the record of the William Edward Hickman sanity trial.

Before the close of yesterday's court session two of the three expert witnesses for the defense had started to draw from the evidence the conclusions with which his attorneys will attempt to convince the jury that Hickman was unable to distinguish between right and wrong at the time he murdered the Los Angeles school girl.

To the evidence was added a mother's story of grief, a father's account of his married life and a brother's master-of-fact idea of the prisoner's mental status as well as the grim testimony of a police officer.

It was the latter and a newspaper photographer who brought into the court records the morgue photographs of the girl's dismembered body and the big jackknife which Hickman declared was the weapon he used.

As the afternoon session came to a close a defense alienist, Dr. R. O. Shelton of Los Angeles, declared from the witness stand that Hickman was insane—a victim of dementia praecox, paranoid type, a sufferer of delusions of grandeur and megalomania.

Dr. J. M. Pettus of Los Angeles, was the other expert called by the defense, Hickman, he said, was undressed and had low blood pressure. Dr. Pettus also declared the defendant suffered from "serious meningitis," or inflammation of the brain covering.

The final witness for the defense will be Dr. A. B. Skoog, Kansas City alienist and considered by Hickman's counsel as their star witness. Attorneys said it was possible that the prosecution would start rebuttal evidence before the close of court today.

The appearance of the prisoner's mother, Mrs. Eva Hickman of Kansas City, on the witness stand was one of the dramatic events of the trial. His father, William Thomas Hickman of El Paso, Tex., and the defendant's brother, Alfred had preceded her.

"He is my son," said the mother. "He was good to me and then he changed," she continued. That change, she declared, occurred following his return to Kansas City after his arrest and conviction of check forgery here.

That change also was noted in the testimony of the brother. He declared that the accused youth seemed to have things on his mind which he did not want to tell about. He said that he didn't think the fact that Edward, as he was known in the family, had murdered a man here in December, 1926, had any part in causing him to be sullen when he returned to Kansas City last summer.

In contrast with the relative composure of mother and son on the witness stand, Hickman's father testified in a voice that trembled and tears rolled down his face as he told of his married life. He told of threats made against his life by his wife, and declared he believed she was insane, and her father "rational but peculiar."

He admitted that, after leaving his family while William was away, he was a small boy, he married again in northern Mexico.

Mrs. Hickman in her testimony had declared she once had attempted suicide "because nobody seemed to want or care about me." Hickman denied that his relations with other women, which featured defense depositions, had anything to do with his wife's mental condition.

Recent attacks on Herbert Hoover, insincere and cowardly, reflect the characters that make them.

Herbert Hoover advocates developing, for the benefit of the country, the sources of power, irrigation and water supply in the Colorado River. This does not please those that wish to monopolize power resources in the United States.

The people, fortunately, are not foolish, and will not be deceived by attacks inspired by power company interests and other seeking to monopolize public resources.

Instead of hurting Hoover, they help politically.

As regards religion, Herbert Hoover was born and is a Quaker. His wife was born and is a Presbyterian. But it is a disgrace that anybody should seek to make religion play any part in politics.

Henry Ford told this writer day before yesterday that one of the best financial investments he ever made was buying old ships from the government, now cut to pieces and piled up in mountains of scrap iron.

There was little, if any, financial profit in the purchase, "but I got two or three good men out of it." (Continued On Page Eight)

DOLLAR DAY FEBRUARY 9

Fifteen Merchants to Take Part in Semi-
Annual Affair Here
Next Thursday.

"Dollar Day" will be held in Greenville Thursday, February 9th, according to announcement made this morning by C. B. Rowlett, secretary of the Merchants Association under whose auspices the event is to be staged.

"Dollar Day" is a semi-annual affair in Greenville. Fifteen members of the Merchants Association will participate this year, and will have countless numbers of bargains to offer the public of this territory.

The plan of the Merchants association to make Greenville the shopping center of this section of the state is making considerable progress. Mr. Rowlett said today we begin to realize the success of the venture with each "Dollar Day" event when hundreds of people from a radius of many miles visit the city and take advantage of the opportunities offered by the merchants.

"The last 'Dollar Day' was considered the most successful since the plan was inaugurated two years ago. But it is intention of the Merchants Association to make the coming affair surpass all others. They are offering greater stocks and prices comparing favorably with any other part of the country."

"Make your plans to visit Greenville February 9th," Mr. Rowlett urged, "and rest assured of finding one of the most mammoth displays of merchandise ever assembled here before. Keep the date in mind and come and see what the shopping center of this section is doing to reduce the cost of living for the thrifty man and woman."

PORTO RICANS HIGHLY HONOR U. S. AIRMAN

Flying Ace Greeted by 20 Gun Salute Upon Arrival at Porto Rica.

San Juan, Porto Rico, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Tired out by last night's reception here after his hundred mile hop from St. Thomas, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh slept late today.

While the colonel, with his customary promptness in the air, arrived at San Juan on the dot yesterday, he remained abed this morning when it had been expected that he would start a motor trip to see the city's historic places and public buildings.

The crowds last night seemed to tire him and at the governor's reception he asked to be excused so that he might go to his room before starting for the carnival ball at the theatre.

The enthusiasm with which the people of San Juan have received their fellow American, has been extraordinary. There were such crowds massed about the theatre that it was impossible to move traffic while the doors had to be barred to keep the theatre from becoming dangerously crowded.

The crowd that had gathered in the Plaza Colon persisted in calling for the American airman and refused to go home until he appeared on a balcony window and waved a greeting.

The statue of Columbus which stands in the center of the plaza was bathed in moonlight and the brilliance of thousands of lights as the new navigator of the air listened quietly and smilingly to the boisterous tribute.

At the Rotary Club dinner, Colonel Lindbergh responding to an address of welcome, made a plea in behalf of aerial transportation saying that the West Indies and Central America with their present plane facilities offered the best field for development.

San Juan, Porto Rico, Feb. 3.—(AP)—A people in whose veins flows the blood of Spanish conquistadores today honored Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh.

Coming to this sixteenth century Spanish city, now one of the Caribbean suburbs of the United States, from St. Thomas, Virgin Islands, Colonel Lindbergh, detoured, detoured to fly over St. Croix, another United States Island possession. His flying time from St. Thomas to San Juan was 2 hours and 5 minutes.

While Lindbergh flew alone, a West Indies aerial express plane, the Santa Maria, carrying a dozen passengers accompanied him.

In greeting Lindbergh, Governor Horace H. Towner said he welcomed the welcome of all the people of the island.

A salute of 20 guns, one less than a presidential salute, greeted Lindbergh. Thousands along the sea front cheered the pilot as he passed overhead to the flying field.

At the federal building he was proclaimed an honor guest of the city by Mayor R. H. Todd.

Welcoming Lindbergh, Governor Towner called him "our modern winged mercury—not merely a classic figure, but a real American youth winning your way to fame and immortality, not by imaginative dreaming but by hard work, by dauntless courage, by high and steadfast purpose."

The greatest service Lindbergh has rendered in Europe and America Governor Towner said, was that the nation he represented could not be considered in reality unfriendly or unjust.

Special cloth-of-gold aviators' caps were worn by "Queen Edna" and her court in Lindbergh's honor, at a carnival ball which he attended.

After the ball he retired to the 400-year-old La Fortaleza, once the palace of the Spanish captains general and now the executive mansion. In this imposing edifice upon an embattlemented platform, Lindbergh will be a guest until he hops off tomorrow for Santo Domingo. From there he will go to Port au Prince, Haiti, Monday and expects to arrive at Havana Wednesday afternoon.

Lindbergh believes he will return to his home port of St. Louis on the afternoon of February 13. After his return here he intends to fly on his old air mail route between Chicago and St. Louis a few times.

City Saves $6,186.97 In Operating Expenses For Six Month Period

Adhering strictly to the budget plan the city of Greenville during the last six months succeeded in reducing operating expenses exactly $6,186.97.

This information was presented to the Board of Aldermen in regular monthly session at the city hall last night, by J. O. Duvall, city clerk, in a detailed report of business activities.

The saving was effected between the months of July 1, 1927, to December 31, 1927, and is compared with figures for the same period of the previous year. Operating expenses from July 1, 1926, to December 31, 1926, were given at $41,675.84. For the same period in 1927, they were estimated at $35,478.87. Five departments were involved in the estimate.

This report was probably the outstanding feature of last night's session, although many other matters were given consideration.

J. R. Kittrell recommended that the appropriation of $150 a month to the city library be increased to $200 a month. After considerable discussion the matter was deferred until a later date. In making this recommendation Alderman Kittrell enumerated some of the needs of the library and explained the necessity for increase of appropriation.

Ash Harris was refused permission to operate a pool room. No action was taken on a petition to order the separation of pool rooms, barber shops and cigar shops.

J. A. Cannon and Ed Williams were granted permission to erect a maquette in front of Williams Funeral Parlors on Dickinson avenue.

J. L. Starkey was denied petition to re-open a pool room under a permit of J. R. Starkey, whose license was revoked sometime ago.

The order to open Pine and Third streets in the eastern section of the city was rescinded following complaint of property holders against such action.

LONDON GETS FIRST PLANE

Original Bi-Plane
Used by Wright Brothers at Kitty Hawk to be Preserved.

Dayton, O., Feb. 3.—(AP)—The original Wright bi-plane in which the first successful flight was made at Kitty Hawk, N. C., in 1903, has been shipped to the British national museum at London to be placed on exhibition for an indefinite period.

The plane left Orville Wright laboratory here secretly Wednesday. It became known today and is en route to England. Mr. Wright refused to discuss the matter, further than to confirm shipment.

The craft will remain in England at least a year, the contract for its housing in the museum originally being written so that it would remain abroad six years.

Recently a movement was started here, with the completion of Wright field, the engineering division of the army air corps, to have the original Wright plane housed in a memorial building to be erected on the field in tribute to the achievements of the Wright brothers.

Orville Wright about two years ago had planned to present the original plane to the Smithsonian Institution at Washington for permanent exhibition purposes. A controversy arose with the museum officials relative to the proper designation of the plane. Mr. Wright objected to a tag being placed on the first Langley plane now on exhibition in the museum, which classes it as "the first plane to make a successful flight."

Because museum officials declined to change such designation, Mr. Wright shortly afterward contracted with the British museum for the housing of the plane.

While Mr. Wright declined to discuss the shipping of the plane abroad, close friends stated they believed that the expiration of the contract period the plane will be returned to the United States.

Widow of Film Star Exonerated

Los Angeles, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Mrs. Sarah Kerick, widow of Tom Kerick, film cowboy who was fatally shot during an early morning drinking party in his home here several months ago, was free today after a long legal battle to clear herself of manslaughter charges.

Mrs. Kerick was found not guilty by a jury in district court here yesterday. It was her second trial, she and four others having been convicted of manslaughter in the first case.

The other defendants, were freed after the appellate court reversed the findings and ordered a re-trial.

Tear Gas Bomb Gets Its Robber

Chicago, Feb. 3.—(AP)—A tear gas bomb that exploded Saturday got its man last night, thuswise: Joseph Kutil had been crying. His eyes were red and swollen. Two sympathetic detectives asked him what was the trouble. Kutil said discussion was distasteful to him. Perhaps, the detectives suggested, he was crying because he was in Fike's jewelry store last Saturday when robbers took $5,000 worth of jewelry. Kutil guessed that might be the trouble, so they took him along.

Should Not Speak English Correctly
London, Feb. 3.—(AP)—The advice of George Bernard Shaw to foreigners is that they avoid learning to speak English correctly. "If you do," he says, "no one will understand you." In London 999 out of every thousand men and women speak bad English, but speak even that very badly.

FIRE ENTAILS SEVERE LOSS AT FALL RIVER

Six City Blocks Wrecked
Last Night With Loss Estimated at $12,000,000.

Fall River, Mass., Feb. 3.—(AP)—The Fall River business district lay in ruins today. Only a few gaunt walls stood in an area of five blocks which was swept by fire last night and early this morning.

The loss was estimated by the mayor and police chief as between $7,000,000 and $12,000,000. Some insurance men thought it might run as high as $25,000,000.

There was no loss of life. Several firemen and others were slightly injured by falling walls and the effects of smoke. Two thousands workers in offices, banks, hotels and stores were without employment today.

Starting at the corner of Pocasset and Main streets, the flames swept northward to Bank street and eastward to Rock street. They destroyed three hotels, six banks, two theatres, a church, a newspaper plant and several office and store buildings.

Firemen from all cities and towns in this vicinity and from cities as far away as Providence and Boston helped in the all night fight. It was 2:30 a. m. before they were assured that the flames would not spread into the residential district and result in a still worse conflagration.

Firemen from all cities and towns in this vicinity and from cities as far away as Providence and Boston helped in the all night fight. It was 2:30 a. m. before they were assured that the flames would not spread into the residential district and result in a still worse conflagration.

Palfrive, Mass., Feb. 3.—(AP)—An irregular area covering six city blocks was a mass of charred debris today after a fire swept the center of the business district with a loss estimated at from $7,000,000 to $12,000,000.

More than a score of buildings, two theatres, six banks, three hotels and several office structures were reduced to glowing bits of ruins.

Fire apparatus summoned from Providence, R. I., and Boston and a dozen other cities continued to pour thousands of gallons of water into the debris.

The blaze which started in an abandoned mill of the Pocasset Manufacturing Company swept with startling rapidity all before it, and it was not until 2:30 o'clock this morning that it was finally under control, eight hours after the first alarm had been sounded.

The Mohican House, the city's leading hotel, quickly emptied its 400 rooms, and an hour later was destroyed.

The Granite Block, the largest office building in the city, was another early victim as was the Rialto Theatre, where an audience was viewing a picture when the first alarm came.

Members of the 241 artillery company were called out to supplement a force of 20 state policemen. In addition every member of the local force was on duty but there was no looting and an almost total absence of disorder.

Despite reports that several firemen had been killed by falling walls a check showed only five had been injured. None was believed seriously hurt.

Throughout the height of the blaze the city was cut off from the outside world. Telephone service failed at 11 o'clock when operators were ordered from the exchange building. For a while it appeared that the telephone plant was doomed, but today service was normal except in and near burned area.

Both the western union and Postal telegraph offices were burned. At the former the operators worked feverishly to send out news of the fire until their own building was in flames.

Lack of water pressure was a constant handicap to firemen who also suffered from the cold wind.

One newspaper lost all its equipment while another suffered severe damage. The plant of L'Independant French language newspaper, was destroyed. The Hearold News which had just moved into a new building, was a heavy loser. The basement of the Fall River Globe was flooded.

The big building to go was the eight story Massasoit-Pocasset National Bank. Firemen seeing that their efforts to save it were unavailing concentrated their endeavors on the city hall, which escaped with only a scorching.

Other banks to lose their quarters included the Metacomet National, the Citizens Saving and the Fall River Troy and Peoples Cooperative Banks. Employees succeeded in removing cash, securities and records from all three institutions and similar precautions were taken by several other banks.

The Pocasset Mills where the fire started were being dismantled. The property was formerly used for textile manufacturing purposes but has been idle about two years.

The blaze was discovered in the large six story mill No. 1. The building proved a tinder box and within a half hour all four units of the plant were on fire.

THOUSANDS AT THE BURIAL OF GENERAL HAIG

Final Rites for Great
English Military Leader
Held in London
Today.

London, Feb. 3.—(AP)—While all England mourned and three sons of his king led the three-mile procession from St. Columbia's to Westminster Abbey, the body of Field Marshal Earl Haig was borne through the streets of London today in one of the greatest military pageants in the history of the British Empire.

It was a pageant of poignant memories. The casket was wrapped in a weather-worn union jack which had served a similar function on the Cenotaph-Britain's memorial to her hero dead. The body was also borne on the gun carriage on which had been mounted the gun which fired Britain's first shot in the world war.

It was the same gun carriage too, on which the body of Britain's unknown soldier was taken tenderly to his last resting place.

Twenty seven mounted men drew it slowly and men's heads everywhere were bared as the casket came into sight and passed along the thoroughfares.

To the muffled music of a military band whose strains the field marshal had loved, the procession moved through silent streets crowded with tens of thousands of men, women and children. There were many weeping women and most of them wore black and carried little bunches of red paper Flanders poppies symbolic of heroic sacrifice.

MORE REBELS ARE KILLED

Fresh Graves Mark
Trail of American Marines in Nicaragua War Zone.

Managua, Nicaragua, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Fresh graves along the trails of northern Nicaragua today indicated that a number of rebels had been slain in recent encounters.

"An American marine patrol. The patrol reported that seven rebels were known to have been killed and four wounded in five engagements, but that the marines were unable to determine the exact number of casualties. The patrol suffered no casualties.

The patrol under Captain Roger W. Beard consisted of 80 men and 10 San Adolfo mine, on January 29, going south to Buena Vista. They returned two days later. Marines believed that the rebels encountered were sniping expeditions.

Scouting airplanes flew over the region of the fighting yesterday after reports of its were received at marine headquarters. There was no evidence of rebel activity.

When a rebel approached an American squad of marines shouting "Amigo" (friend). He was shot down by Lieut. W. S. Brown.

Rebels attacked the patrol on its first day out from its base. The marines turned machine guns on the rebels who were concealed in the jungle.

Three other brushes took place enroute to Buena Vista and the other as the marines were making their way back to San Antonio.

OIL MAGNATE IN SHADOW OF PRISON WALLS

Senate Committee to Take Drastic Action
if Stewart Refuses to Answer Questions.

Washington, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Decision to ask the Senate to immediately order the arrest of Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the board of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, was reached late today by the Senate Oil Committee.

Washington, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the board of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, persisted today in his defiance of the Senate oil investigating committee.

The oil magnate stood fast by his decision to refuse to answer questions as to whether he had discussed with Harry F. Sinclair, lessee of Teapot Dome, the profits of the extinct Continental Trading Company which made millions by buying oil for $1.50 a barrel in the United States and selling it back to the Stewart and Sinclair companies for $1.75.

Washington, Feb. 3.—(AP)—The shadow of prison lay athwart the pathway of another nationally known oil operator for defiance of senate authority.

Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the board of the Standard Oil of Indiana, faced a "muzzle" before the senate teapot dome committee of the two questions he refused to answer yesterday. Both relate to his knowledge of the disposition of Liberty bonds of the Continental Trading Company.

Should he again refuse to answer, the committee may recommend a shorter cut to punishment than was followed four years ago in the case of Harry F. Sinclair, who now is under court sentence of three months in the District of Columbia jail, as well as under indictment with Albert B. Fall for transactions growing out of the continental and Teapot Dome lease deals.

For the senate's authority to act against Stewart, the senate committee pointed to the McRae Daugherty case, which only recently was decided by the United States supreme court in favor of the senate and against a lower court.

In that case Daugherty refused to answer subpoenas to bring records of his bank to the special committee which in 1924 investigated the administration of the department of justice by his brother, Harry M. Daugherty.

A senate warrant was duly executed and Daugherty was arrested by a deputy sergeant at arms at his home in Washington court-house, Ohio. While the banker was being brought to Washington, a court summons was served on the deputy requiring him to deliver his prisoner to the federal district court at Cincinnati.

After a hearing there, the court freed Daugherty on a writ of habeas corpus and the senate appealed to the Supreme court. That court held that the senate had full power to order the arrest and that the lower court erred in interfering with its process.

Should Stewart decide to change his mind that his story should be told the court and the jury at the Fall-Sinclair trial in which he has been summoned as a witness, his examination may continue another half day. If he persists in refusing, then the committee may other witnesses to call.

Among these is Beman G. Dawes, president of the Pure Oil Refining Company also are to be on hand for questioning about the approval of the contract under which the Continental Trading Company made profits of $3,000,000 without itself ever having issued a dollar of its stock.

In an effort to impeach the testimony of Stewart, the committee got from Thomas a denial that he had knowledge of a conversation as to the continental deal which Stewart said yesterday had taken place at the conference.

Thomas told the committee that no figure of $1.75 a barrel for the oil was mentioned in his presence. Stewart had testified that Blackmer had told him that if he wanted the oil he would have to pay that price.

"I was out of the room quite a good bit of the time," Thomas said. Then Beman G. Dawes, president of the Pure Oil Company and brother of Vice President Dawes, testified that he heard no mention of $1.75 price during the New York conference.

"When did you first hear of such prices?" Walsh asked.

"After the senate investigation here," Dawes replied.

Similar testimony was given by A. E. Humphreys, Jr. who was present at the conference.

"No such conversation took place in my presence," Humphreys said.

"Were you present all of the time?" Inquired Senator Olli, democrat, Washington.

"To the best of my recollection, I was."

February Meeting of Woman's Club

The regular monthly meeting of the Woman's Club was held on Thursday afternoon in the Evans Street school auditorium.

Following the reading of the minutes, reports of the work being done in various departments of the club were made by the chairman.

Mrs. Person, chairman of the Health Department, made an interesting talk on the expenditure of the $444 raised during the tuberculosis sale. One-fourth of the entire amount was sent to the state and national tuberculosis associations, three-fourths being kept for local use. A large part of which has already been spent of 236 pairs of X-ray pictures made during the tubercular clinic held for the school children of Greenville.

The balance on hand will probably be used in the follow-up work among these children.

Mrs. Allbrook, chairman of the Health Department, stated that a motion picture would be formed for mothers in order to aid them in supplying the proper diet for building up weak or undernourished children. The class will be organized as soon as the necessary literature arrives.

Mrs. Austin announced that since the Garden Club sponsored all civic work of the Woman's Club, it was now time to consider the annual garbage can campaign.

Sweet pea seeds are being sold by this department and can be obtained from the chairman.

It was voted to accept Miss Venz's offer to explain the program which will be given by Mary Lewis at the college. The date for Miss Venz's meeting will be announced later.

Mrs. Moore stated that Miss New, the new home demonstration agent had consented to be chairman of the American Home Department, and would give a series of talks on house furnishing in the early spring. Every one wishing to join this department is asked to notify Miss Arthur in order that a complete roll can be obtained.

The date for Miss Lena Higgs' demonstration was set for February 10, the place of meeting to be announced later.

Mrs. Carr, chairman of the library committee, gave a brief history of the library since taken in charge by the Woman's Club in 1922. Prior to that time it had been merely a book exchange, with no facilities for reference work. Since 1922 it has been completely organized and employs a trained as well as an assistant librarian. In view of the great growth it was decided by the library committee, acting with the executive board of the Woman's Club to offer the following resolution:

"Whereas, we feel that the Woman's Club has done exceedingly well, yet its library gets its best growth governed by one organization; therefore we recommend that the management of the Public Library be turned over to the Board of Aldermen."

The club was fortunate in having Mrs. Julian Griggs, secretary of the State Library Commission, as a visitor, who gave some valuable suggestions about the need of making some arrangement in each county so that every individual in the county could have access to a good reference library. Mrs. Griggs stated that 47 counties in North Carolina have no libraries. She emphasized the fact that taxable libraries have proved more efficient, using statistics as proof.

The following resolutions of respect were read by Mrs. Key Brown:

"Whereas, God in His infinite wisdom has seen fit to call from our midst our friend and member, Mrs. G. V. Smith, we the members of the Greenville Woman's Club offer the following tribute to her: "First—That God in His infinite wisdom makes no mistake, but doeth all things well, and we bow in humble submission to His will."

"Second—That in her death we lost a sincere and earnest member, a true Christian, who bore her long suffering with patience."

"Third—That we extend to her family in their bereavement, our sincere sympathy."

"Fourth—That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family, one to the Daily Reflector, and one recorded in the minutes of our club meeting."

Mrs. J. Key Brown, Chm. Mrs. T. A. Person Mrs. W. E. Tingle

Under the head of new business announcement was made of a Parental Institute to be held in Raleigh on February 14, 15, 16.

The social committee was asked to make plans for the celebration of the eleventh anniversary of the Woman's Club.

The Meses Fulllove, accompanied by Miss Venz, sang a duet which was thoroughly enjoyed by all present. This was followed by a most inspirational outline of "The Chastening" by Miss Turner, a member of the college faculty. This play will be given next week at the college.

P. T. A. HOLDS AN INTERESTING MEETING

The P. T. A. of Evans street school held its regular monthly meeting Wednesday afternoon.

The program was given by the Third grades. It was a temptation which some could not resist to see Ben Bar, however, those who did resist and attend the show were by the third "A" grade, were amply repaid for this was one of the most unique and interesting programs ever given here by a third grade. Told was a "Puppet Theatre" showing "Hansel and Gretel" a three-act show. Possibly the greatest feature of the entertainment ment was the fact that the children of this grade made everything used in the show, which included practically everything mentioned in the story of "Hansel and Gretel" from the chairs in the kitchen to the magic cottage in the forest, even the trees in the forest. There were also several songs rendered by the third "B" grade. The program was not only entertaining and instructive, but goes to prove that this grade is doing splendid work.

After the school program the association was highly entertained by a representative of one of the taxicab machine companies. Both the vocal and instrumental music were greatly enjoyed. She also spoke of appreciative music, speaking to the mothers as though they were children and really had them feeling childlike when she had them rock the babies to sleep by the rhythm of a lullaby.

The business session was presided over by the president, Mrs. R. L. Harris. The attendance department reported fifty-two mothers present, several visitors, and twelve teachers. Three "A" grades won the prize of $200 for having the largest number mothers present.

The ways and means department announced that a band concert would be given February 16.

There was a contest on between the girls and boys of the school and it was announced that the boys were a few votes ahead, so we urge the girls to work harder.

At the first meeting of the school year a committee was appointed to make plans for beautifying the school grounds. This committee has worked untiringly with the hearty co-operation of the board of trustees and the noble services of Dr. R. L. Carr. The association voted a riving vote of thanks to the school board and also Dr. Carr for their co-operation. The committee reported the work practically finished and invited the public to note the improvements.

The association is also doing a splendid work in child welfare. Thirty families of school children have been practically clothed. Eight children are being given a lunch every day. These are children who come to the school to spend the day without any food and which are already alarmingly underweight. Eighteen children are being given extra nourishment of milk and crackers each day. These children are from two to ten pounds underweight.

The treasurer announced that a check for $12.10 had been received from the Kiwanis club to be used in this work for which we are very grateful.

The president announced that plans were on foot by which to raise funds to carry this work on through the remainder of the year. All mothers who had children with T. B. symptoms were urged to be present at the next meeting. The business being dispatched, the meeting adjourned to meet on the first Wednesday in next month.

Auxiliary Holds All-Day Meet

The Woman's Auxiliary of the Presbyterian church held an all-day mission study class Monday at the home of Mrs. C. W. Harvey. The book studied was "New Paths for Old Purposes," by Margaret E. Burton, and proved both helpful and entertaining.

Mrs. R. H. Wright, secretary of foreign missions in the auxiliary, had charged of the class. Mrs. J. E. Linkley, Sr., led the devotional both morning and afternoon, and gave two very inspiring talks on "Stewardship."

The book consisted of six chapters and were assigned as follows: Chapter 1, Mrs. W. S. Harden; No. 2, Mrs. Paul Dennis; No. 3, Mrs. N. O. Warren; No. 4, Mrs. Chas. O'Horne; No. 5, Mrs. P. M. Johnston; No. 6, Mrs. C. M. Warren.

Three chapters were taken in the morning, and three in the afternoon.

At one o'clock the members of the class were invited into the dining room where a delightful luncheon was served.

At the close of the class a substantial offering was made for foreign missions, this being the week of self-denial for foreign missions throughout the Presbyterian churches in the South.

"THE CHASTENING" TO BE PRESENTED AT COLLEGE

"The Chastening," the modern miracle play at East Carolina Teachers' College on next Wednesday evening is written for parents and children alike, simply, clearly, fearlessly, carrying the whole matter up to the judgment bar of the New Testament itself. This is done in a way that might be meek.

TO OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY OF CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR

The world-wide Christian Endeavor movement of young people is observing this week the 47th anniversary of the founding of the first young peoples' society. The Christian Endeavor organization, which has spread to 100 countries and has an active membership of 4,000,000, began with one society of 25 members organized under the leadership of Rev. Francis E. Clark, D.D., in Portland, Maine. Dr. Clark continued to head the growing organization.

WOMAN'S DREAM COMES TRUE

At last you find a new wonderful face powder that keeps ugly shine away. Will not enlarge the pores and spreads so smoothly the skin looks like a peach. MELLO-GLO is made by a new French Process and stays on longer. Good looking, well groomed women simply love this marvelous new Face Powder—MELLO-GLO.

ization for nearly half a century. Shortly before Dr. Clark's death and at the founder's urgent request Rev. Daniel A. Poling, D.D., of New York, became president of the world-wide movement in which for years he had been prominent.

Thousands of churches of numerous Christian denominations will observe next Sunday as denominational day, with Christian Endeavorers in charge of programs that will emphasize loyalty to church and denomination. In the week following meetings of interdenominational Christian Endeavor unions in the cities and counties of the United States and Canada will be held with addresses by the young people and by former Christian Endeavor members. It is estimated that 20,000,000 members of Christian churches have been at some time enrolled in a Christian Endeavor society. In many cities former members still retain a connection with the movement through alumni fellowships.

On the closing day of Christian Endeavor week, Sunday, February 5, numerous churches will hold a special evening service, in which the Christian Endeavor societies affiliated with the church will present a program based on the present "Crusade with Christ," a newly inaugurated youth movement. The crusade is designed to aid the causes of youth evangelism, world peace, and Christian citizenship. Young people will deliver declarations on these subjects in the services of February 5, and winners of such declaration contests will be eligible for state and national oratorical contests. The general purpose of the observance will be to focus attention on the world-wide service program of the Christian Endeavor societies, which also have important objectives for loyalty and assistance in the programs of their individual churches.

The Club Of "100"

OUR GOAL FOR 1928

We have resolved that, during the year, 1928, we will make it our greatest year in Permanent Waving—and to do this it will be necessary for us to SHOW YOU WHY you should be a Vanitie Boxe wave—to show you the beauty of our Permanent—the satisfaction of having a Permanent—the skill of our operators.

Not All in the Machine!

The beauty and lasting effect of a wave is not all in the method—far from it. The operator has as much to do with the success of a Permanent as the machine itself! If you have ever patronized more than one shop, you will realize at once the importance of this—the importance first, of selecting a method that you know has been tried and proven and which has been backed by the inventor; and, second, select that establishment whose reputation in the art is beyond reproach—whose operators have been thoroughly trained until they are EXPERTS in this branch of Beauty Culture!

WE HAVE BOTH!

Nestle Circuline and Eugene Permanent Waving methods have been tried and proven through years of service—two great as leaders in the world—and today stand in the forefront of the art—none better has been made.

Our operators have been trained until they are experts in this art—your wave is made in a minimum of time and you are assured of perfect satisfaction and safety! Our waves are GUARANTEED!

BUT REMEMBER!

Our list will be checked and unless you join our club THIS MONTH, you will not be eligible for a wave in September at our special price.

This year, we are determined to set a record in the art of Permanent Waving—and this month we are offering to one hundred women of this section an opportunity such as they have never before had—an opportunity to have two permanent waves for the price of one—a wave the year 'round at no additional cost—AND ONE HUNDRED WOMEN WILL AVAIL THEMSELVES OF THIS OPPORTUNITY—

Two Permanent Waves This Year

$15.00

NESTLE CIRCULINE or EUGENE

Yes, that's exactly what the cost to you will be. By joining our club this month you will receive the $5.00 Service Card free—and next September you will receive another, at the same special price—TWO FOR THE PRICE OF ONE.

Our Capacity Is Limited

We can only give one hundred Permanent Waves this month, hence we call this "THE CLUB OF 100." One hundred women of this section will be fortunate, indeed, to become members of this club. The opportunity is rare when two waves can be had for the price of one—and during February—

Only One Hundred Can Join!

Will you be one of the fortunate ones to receive this free service?—That depends entirely upon you—

Write, Call, or Phone Today

For An Appointment

Appointments accepted in the order in which they are received—DAY OR EVENING—Call us now!

PERMANENT WAVING IS NOT SEASONAL!

Most women have the idea that spring or summer is the time for a permanent wave—and some only have one wave a year, because they think it is expensive—no greater mistake could be made. It is just as easy to have two waves as one—far cheaper in the end—and at our special price, the wise woman will take this opportunity to avail herself of the added pleasure of the extra wave at NO ADDITIONAL COST!

THE CLUB OF "100"

By becoming a member of our club this month you will be eligible for your next wave next September at the same special rate—pay the regular price of $15.00 and receive another $5.00 Service Card—FREE!

Two Waves This Year for $15.00

Can an offer be more liberal? This offer is made only to those who join the club this month—join today.

HERE IS THE PLAN!

Come in, during this month for a Permanent Wave, pay the regular price of $15.00 and we will present you FREE with a

$5.00 Service Card

That you will be getting a wave for $5.00—at our actual cost!

NEXT SEPTEMBER

Next September, you will need another permanent—come in again, pay the regular price and receive another $5.00 Service Card, absolutely free—then you can have the pleasure of a Permanent Wave the year 'round for the price of only one wave!

Thrif should not be confused with miserliness.
Thrif is merely the valuable quality of being able to spend money wisely and well, not foolishly. Wise investments make for sound business, and greater business. Wise spending makes for better products in all lines, and increased production. The miser is one who dislikes spending money no matter how worthily. He is one of the greatest enemies of progress.

The amount of money that is hidden in a sock under the floorboard, or buried in the back yard is growing less. Instead, it is deposited in banks, and circulating in order to produce many times its face value.

WILL WE GET IT?

"Will we get it?" is a question that has been asked us numbers of times since the committee started out a few days ago to solicit stock subscriptions for the new plush mill here. According to a check-up of the committee's work made yesterday afternoon, the answer will be: "We will not get it," unless there is considerable work done within the next two days. The check-up revealed that not quite half the required $60,000 worth of stock had been subscribed and representatives of the Philadelphia concern advised the committeemen to go out again and report by the last of this week just what had been accomplished. The representative stated that he was positive

the Philadelphia concern
would not consider Greenville for the location of its new plant unless more than half the $60,000 worth of stock was sold here and he could make no promises as to favorable action even should half the amount be reached. He declared, however, that should the halfway mark be reached by tomorrow night he would use his influence to have the concern take favorable action.

The matter is now squarely up to the citizens of Greenville whether or not we are to have this new enterprise that would no doubt mean much to the future of our city. The money has not been raised, it must be raised if we are to get the plant, and the zero hour is fast approaching.
Upon our action between now and tomorrow night the matter depends. Will we renew plant unless more than

TOWN

"It was fitting that members of the board of directors of the Greenville baseball club should have chosen 'Tobaccoists' as the name for the local club of the Eastern Carolina League," several persons were heard to remark today.

"The word is truly representative of the great locality in which the club is located, and especially re-mindful of the town itself. Ranking among the greatest bright leaf plants in the world and situated in the largest tobacco producing county in the world, it is nothing more than natural that anything going out to other parts of the country should have a strong flavor of the community."

"You are right, were absolutely correct when you proposed the name at the beginning of the contract, and I want to congratulate the paper upon its foresight. Naturally, what you had to say carried conviction to numbers of persons who did not participate in the contract, and I consider it a distinct honor that several of those taking part in naming the club thought the name expressive of the wonderful locality."

"It has been noted quite recently that most of the people who commit suicide suffer from some kind of indefinable emotion resulting in temporary derangement when the crime is committed," a reader of the paper observed today.

"No person could be guilty of taking his life when he is absolutely sane and in possession of both mental and physical faculties. Life is short at the best, and adversity or some overwhelming sorrow could not drive one to take his life when he realizes atonement for the crime is not possible."

"Numbers of suicides have occurred in various parts of the country recently. Many have occurred in North Carolina—some in our own community—but it was always noticeable that the crime was caused by emotion of the most intense nature—resulting in momentary loss of calm, clear thought.

"Decadence has not come to America, as some would have us believe. Suicide and crime are not necessarily the cause of moral decay, but in my opinion result directly from exotic exceptions of life brought about by the neurosis of a few who are keeping."

"If you would avoid the fate of the unfortunate, inclined, keep happy. Have faith in yourself and your fellow man, remembering life is a journey, and the purpose of the journey is not its goal. There is a great mission for every man and woman and those who live up to demands which a life of service places upon them will have no delay in reaching the plane of the eternally sane plans of the criminally inclined."

The writer of this column has no desire to moralize. He realizes there are myriad numbers of persons better fitted by nature and training for this field of service.

But there are times when we like to get away from the mediocre lines of life and talk to our readers just like we want to.

In expressing the sentiment of our readers in the paragraphs above, it was not our purpose to try to show that conditions in this country are any worse than they have ever been or that the human race is undergoing a period of decline. We simply endeavored to express the thought of one who has had ample opportunity to observe the functions of the human organism—one who has been able to glean precious truths from the frailty of certain types of humanity.

"We know that crime apparently is on an increase in the world. But we must also recognize the fact that conditions are different from what they were one hundred years ago. This country in which we live has increased its population by nearly fifty million human souls since the Civil war. In the old days telegraph and telephone service were confined to the large cities.

There was no radio, no high powered cars, no way by which isolated sections might be reached hurriedly.

How changed conditions are today. With a population of nearly a hundred and twenty-five million people, with each town and city connected with a veritable network of wires, each little incident of interest is conveyed from one community to another with lightning like rapidity.

Then, too, the newspaper profession has developed at the same rate of these other things and it is their sole and exclusive duty to let one part of the country know what the other is doing.

Is it any wonder that we should be slightly perplexed by the rapid changes of life by the apparent breaking down of conventions and principles upon which the foundation of this great nation has always rested?

We are no worse today than we have always been. The offspring of all generations have seemed wicked and sinful to their forbears.
But this is no sign of decadence—it is no indication that we are headed for destruction.

These changes have been natural to all eras since the dawn of civilization. They must continue to be as we are in and are out of the certain fixed laws of nature and of God remain effective."

HUGH JENNINGS LAID TO REST

Former Ball Player and Manager Buried
Today at Cemetery
At Moscow.

Scranton, Pa., Feb. 3.—(AP)—Hugh Jennings, famous baseball player and manager was buried today.

The former Detroit manager and New York Giant's coach who died Wednesday morning at his home here was laid in St. Catherine's cemetery at Moscow, a quaint village at the foot of the Pocono mountains, near where he spent two years trying to regain his shattered health.

Hundreds of persons from all walks of life were among the throng of mourners at the funeral, which moved from the Jennings home to St. Peter's cathedral, where a solemn high mass of requiem was celebrated.

County and city officials, bankers, judges, lawyers, gray haired men who had seen Jennings begin his career more than thirty five years ago on the sand lots here joined with notables of the baseball world in paying tribute.

The Rev. C. A. McHugh, pastor of St. Mary's church at Mount Pocono, came down from the mountain region to celebrate the solemn high mass in the cathedral here.

The honorary pall bearers represented the banking interests, Knights of Columbus, Elks, Kiwanis Club, Equine Club, Irish-American society, press and other organizations. Among them were William Grogan, and H. G. Salsinger of Detroit.

Active pall bearers were all old time friends of Jennings.

Following the mass in the cathedral the funeral cortege moved by motor car over the Lackawanna trail fourteen miles to the cemetery where father McHugh offered the last prayers for the dead and the body was then lowered into a grave on the snow-capped mountainside while relatives and friends stood with heads bowed.

BANK KEEPS ONLY $100

CASH TO FOIL ROBBERS
Wildorado, Tex. —(AP)—Eight times within the last three years, the Wildorado State Bank has been robbed, the losses totaling about $4,000. Now the bank has adopted the policy of carrying less than $100 cash and as a result only $36 was lost in the last robbery.

"We have been criticized because we cannot cash large checks," says Mrs. W. E. O'Neil, cashier, "but we could not stay in business if we kept much more money on hand."

The bank has been held up twice in daylight, and robbed six times at night. Other business houses here also have been robbed.

Biggest and Best of These Semi-Annual Events

Because of the increased interest these special Dollar Days have created in the past, the Greenville Merchants participating are this time doubling their preparations to make this one day sale the greatest in the history of the city for the benefit of the buying public, and the class of merchandise they will offer is absolutely seasonable, and all articles of every department of each store will prove unmistakable money-savers to the purchasers.

Ordinarily a dollar is worth just one hundred cents' worth of merchandise, but during this semi-annual event its value is much greater. In other words, in many instances your dollar will do double duty.

We believe the reputation the Greenville merchants have attained in the past is sufficient to justify the confidence of the buyers for this special selling event.

GERMAN FOOT RACER VICTOR AT NEW YORK

New York, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Dr. Otto Peltzer, German philosopher and foot racing champion, has to his credit a sensational victory over some of America's foremost middle distance runners as a result of his much discussed indoor debut.

While the doctor's most formidable American rival, Lloyd Hahn, spent his time coasting to an easy victory in the mile run, the German star last night brought a Madison Square Garden crowd of 12,000 spectators to its feet yelling as he raced to a thrilling triumph in a 1,000 yard race over nine American runners. The occasion was the annual meet of the Millrose A. A.

There was no record breaking to the credit of Dr. Peltzer, who holds the world's half mile standard, but the tall blond Teuton exhibited a flashy brand of speed as well as unusual gameness in winning under adverse and difficult conditions.

Ray Dodge, member of the 1924 Olympic team, and former national 1,500 yard champion, furnished the chief opposition for Peltzer after the park lifted out. These two put up a stirring nip and tuck duel over the last three laps of the six lap race but Peltzer had the most to reserve and won in five yards in 2 minutes 13 3/5 seconds.

The world record for the distance 2:12 4/5, is held by Hahn.

Considering that he had just completed a trans-continental trip that he was unfamiliar with indoor racing conditions and badly pocketed from the first two laps of the race Dr. Peltzer's performance was regarded as a brilliant exhibition by experts. He was not in his best racing condition but showed ability to produce a kick when it was necessary.

Hahn had no difficulty in winning the Rodman Wanamaker mile for the second straight year, hanging up his seventh consecutive triumph of the season as he romped home ahead of Ray Conger and the Irish of the Illinois A. C. in 4:22 3/5.

Mike McTigue and Lomski Tie up in New York Tonight

New York, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Mike McTigue, carrying the scars of some 300 ring battles, returns to the pugilistic "ring" tonight in a ten round bout in Madison Square Garden with Leo Lomski, hard hitting champion of Aberdeen, Wash., who aspires to scale the heights of the light heavyweight division. Lomski is favorite at two to one to take the verdict.

McTigue twice wore the 175 pound mantle, stripping it from the shoulders of the singular Senegalese, the late battling Gilt, in a 20-round bout in Dublin, Ireland, 1922.

PRISON WARDEN PAROLED AT ATLANTA

Atlanta, Feb. 3.—(AP)—A. E. Sarfain, who has been serving a sentence in the Atlanta federal penitentiary over which he formerly presided as warden, today was released on parole.

Sarfain entered the penitentiary February 23, 1927, to serve an 18 months sentence for conspiring to accept bribes for inmates of the prison while he was warden. His sentence would have expired in May but he was recommended for parole by the parole board.

Sarfain, formerly of Columbus, Ohio, was named warden of the Atlanta penitentiary during the administration of the late President Harding.

"Wee Bobbie" Cruikshank, who includes this title in his great string of victories last year; "Wild Bill" Melhorn, 1926 champion; Al Watrous, winner in 1925; Tommy Armour, national open champion; Johnny Farrell and many other leading "pros" and a few amateurs are expected to be in the field.

THOROUGHBRED TURFDOM OPENS IN NEW ORLEANS

New Orleans, Feb. 3.—(AP)—Thoroughbred turfdom today ushered in the fourth annual renewal of the New Orleans handicap at the Fair Grounds, ranked high among leading racing classics.

In the event there were 15 starters for the $50,000 prize to the winner at post time, expected shortly after 4:30 o'clock. $15,000 would be added running the gross purse close to $70,000.

Justice F. imported four-year-old of William Daniel, but developed locally, ruled the favorite among the majority of local handicappers. Among others favorably mentioned were War Eagle, Boon Companion, On Susanna and Helen's Babe.

Latest weather reports indicated the bare possibility of rain and James M. Murphy, general manager of the Louisiana Jockey Club, gave assurance that with no more rain the track would be very nearly good for running the handicap, fourth race of the afternoon.

STAR CAGERS ALL SET FOR CROWN MATCH

Atlanta, Ga., Feb. 3.—(AP)—With the Southern Conference basketball tournament less than a month away Auburn, North Carolina, Mississippi A. & M. Maryland and Virginia Poly are setting a pace which promises to bring them here more or less favorites for the championship crown.

The Plasmemen of Auburn have literally been running wild, leading the nation's collegiate fives in scoring and winning twelve straight games, including victories over Georgia Tech, Clemson, Florida, Tulane, Tennessee and Vanderbilt, the latter conference champions.

Next to Auburn, North Carolina has been showing greatest consistency, the Tar Heels having taken on worry fives in successive nights without showing strain a sign taken by basketball observers as one showing tournament grind calibre.

The Chapel Hill team recently won from Georgia, runner-up in the tournament a year ago.

Mississippi A. & M. has shown strong scoring power but its foes have not been as representative as those of Auburn and North Carolina. Maryland, in addition to victories over teams in its own territory, defeated Kentucky, a strong team, decisively. Virginia Poly, while meeting few opponents so far has flashed considerable strength.

The championship tournament starts here February 28 and continues through March 1.

South Carolina, Louisiana State, Alabama, Tulane, Kentucky, Vanderbilt, Virginia Military Institute and the University of Mississippi are others of the 22 conference members that have shown strength at times during the season.

GOLF BATTLE OPENS NEXT IN ARKANSAS

Atlanta, Feb. 3.—(AP)—The golf pendulum, swinging southward next week to Hot Springs, Ark., where the nation's leading professionals will engage in the south-central open finals numerous championship to defend in rapid succession from now until the middle of May in Dixie.

Bobby Cruikshank, the little Scot, will be attempting to hold his south central open title at Hot Springs.

The Florida open, which this year will be held at Jacksonville, finds Billie Burke, the former cadet master of Clearwater, Florida, and late sensation in the professional ranks attempting to cling onto his title.

Bobby Cruikshank will defend his north and south open crown at Pinehurst, having won it two years in succession.

Glenna Collett, former national women's champion, will be defending titleholder in the north and south women's amateur at Pinehurst.

The north and south men's amateur will find George Voigt of Washington, D. C., the defending champion.

Mrs. Dalton Raymond, of Louisiana, is holder of the southern women's amateur which will be held this spring at Birmingham.

The national intercollegiate title will be defended this summer by Harry Ehle, of Asheville, N. C.

is holder of the southern amateur crown.

Bobby Jones has announced that he would not defend his southern open title although there is now doubt that this tourney will be held at all.

Thus, the south is in for tournaments of general interest to be decided before the summer is well under way, not to mention the women's national tournament to be held in the fall at Hot Springs.

SPORTS SLANTS

By ALAN J. GOULD

Associated Press Sports Editor.

New York, Feb. 3.—(AP)—The experts seem to feel they cannot be blamed for sprinkling some salt and skepticism on Tex Rickard's idea that Jack Dempsey has fought his last big fight.

There are various and sundry reasons why the "boys" believe everything is not exactly as it appears on the surface. They feel that when the proper moment comes Dempsey will suddenly decide he is in shape again and ready for another two million dollar battle with Tunney for the championship, probably in New York.

Just now, for instance, Mons Rickard, the Chef de Guerre of the heavyweight eliminations, is casting about for an early summer opponent for Tunney, who wants no less than two title bouts this year. But as long as Dempsey has been looking on as the one and only contender, it has been difficult to work up enthusiasm for any other aspirant.

In other and perhaps plainer words, it will better serve the main purpose of the ballyhoo and focus more undivided attention on the other contenders to shelve Mr. Dempsey for the time being or at least until after Tunney's contemplated title defense in June.

Critics make the point that a third Dempsey-Tunney melee requires no great stimulation in a public eye that retains a vivid picture of last September's thrilling bout. It is a natural return bout that needs no particular ballyhoo. On the other hand considerable "building up" is considered essential before Sharkey, Heeney, Delaney, or Risko is accepted as a logical foe for the champion.

It seems to these observers to be a trifle premature, anyway, to put the old champion definitely on the shelf when he has from now until September to determine whether his condition will permit another title bout. Many a fist mind has changed in less time than that Dempsey has been off and on again too many times in the past, for boxing fadism to be entirely convinced he is yet through at the advanced age of 32.

It is just as well to keep in mind his own statement that he "may or may not fight again."

It appears incredible to those acquainted with the ring business methods of the modern prize ring that Dempsey or any one else would retire when a purse of close to $500,000 is wrapped up and ready for delivery in return for not more than about 45 minutes of actual ring action.

Even if money was not sufficient attraction Dempsey undoubtedly retains enough of his fighting spirit to desire to try once more where he has failed twice. As long as the old punch remains there is the chance of its crashing through. Tunney found that out.

Furthermore Rickard himself appreciates the magnetic effect of Dempsey's drawing powers too well to abandon any thought of the former champion's comeback without a determined argument.

The difficulties of the job developed them, and they are worth more than all the ships cost me."

Men working for Ford in important positions are sure to leave their jobs for one mistake, and that is the mistake of keeping other men down, not giving them a chance. "You can't keep a good man down permanently," Ford says. But he doesn't want them held back.

Bolshevism decides that little girls must not play with dolls, because that encourages the bourgeois of capitalist idea of family life, developing a taste for motherhood and household duties.

Bolshevism interprets the little girl with a doll correctly, but will no more overcome the love of dolls than it could overcome the instinct of self preservation. Maternity is planted in the hearts of little girls by a power far above Bolshevism. Just as ambition of another kind is planted in the hearts of little boys. And that ambition is what makes Communism an impossibility.

Germany gets things done. Several years ago this writer talked to Judge Gary, head of "Big Steel," and to his subordinates, urging the construction of houses made of steel, which could be standardized, erected swiftly and cheaply, fireproof and permanent.

The idea interested the big steel company, but it didn't do anything. Germans do things. The steel industry in Upper Silesia is now producing steel houses for four families, six families and small houses in fifteen different styles and erected in twenty-four days.

Mr. Farrell, of "Big Steel," or his youthful competitor, Schwab, should look into that.

Secretary Kellogg tells banks in this country not to buy bonds of the Russian government. It's good advice, for although Russia's government has stood up marvelously it would not be a good "insurance risk." Too bad Wall Street's boy financiers didn't have somebody like Secretary Kellogg to keep them from buying the Czar's bonds, and even more preposterous bonds issued by Kerensky.

Largely on account of those bonds this country is not permitted to do business with Russia.

Some British authors have answered the question, "What character in all literature would you have most like to have created?"

H. G. Wells says Falstaff, John Maesfield Achilles, Conan Doyle, Colonel Newcome. Others select Milton's Satan, a fine, sympathetic character in spite of his misdeeds. Don Juan Anna Karenina, Faust, Don Quixote, and Agamemnon. That question would make a good subject for essay writing, in advanced high school classes—young writers giving reasons for their choice.

Of 500,000 that die every year in France, 40,000 are killed by cancer, and a special school has been established in Paris to fight cancer. The strange thing is that with all the studying so little is known. But a remedy may be found as simple as the remedy found for scurvy, which once killed ten per cent of all men that went on long sea voyages.

Lime juice added to the sailors' food supplied the vitamins, of which the British Navy did not even suspect the existence, and put an end to scurvy.

Cancer and diet may be as closely associated as scurvy and diet.

THOUSANDS ATTEND BURIAL OF GEN. HAIG

and devotion. There were numerous medalled men along the line of march and other veterans who had fought in France and Flanders fields under Britain's great soldier. Many of them, carrying sad scars from the battlefields, made no effort to hide their emotion.

Behind the casket were the pallbearers chosen from among the great leaders of the allied forces. They were headed by Marshal Haig, generalissimo of the allied armies, and Marshal Petain, commander of the French armies. Both wore the long light blue coats of the French army and their caps were of red and gold.

Lieut.-General Baron de Ceynink representing the Belgian army, came next, with Field Marshal Lord Methuen, despite his eighty-two years, alert and firm of step, marching with bowed head. The plumes of the hats of the Field Marshals waved gently in a breeze which at times was dampened by mist and suggestion of rain as the long procession slowly made its way to England's great abbey of remembrance.

Two others of Marshal Haig's allies, those of the sea and the air, Admiral Earl Jellicoe and Admiral Earl Beatty walked side by side while Sir Hugh Trenchard, in royal air force blue, represented the flying service.

Then came the most touching spectacle of the procession as seen by the public—Earl Haig's batman, or devoted servant for nearly thirty years, Sergeant Secrett, who was with the Field Marshal when he died, and walked sorrowfully with bowed head in the wake of the gun carriage.

Three of King George's sons were in the procession: The Prince of Wales, the Duke of York, and Prince Henry.

England began its final farewell to her great Field Marshal who led Britain's armies to victory in the war, at a service in St. Columba's, Earl Haig's own little church in London, this morning, and again at Westminster Abbey where the most of the crowded thousands in the streets that the nation paid homage to the man who led the military forces that saved it and whose body now is on its way to Scotland for a simple burial among his ancestors.

The great military funeral procession, the like of which has not been seen in London for generations, preceded the main service at Westminster Abbey where the great mer and women of the country assembled to honor Haig's memory and with them the envoys of all nations including Alanson B. Houghton, American Ambassador in London, representing the United States.

Blood Transfusion Used in Hemorrhage Chicago Woman

Chicago, Feb. 3.—(AP)—A blood transfusion, performed in an attempt to save the life of Miss Sadie Holland, whose legs were amputated when gangrene set in following a "beauty" operation, had resulted in slight improvement in her condition today.

Dr. Paul Magnuson performed the transfusion yesterday after Miss Holland suffered a second hemorrhage. Miss Holland underwent an operation several days ago in an effort to have her limbs, which she said were slightly bowed, straightened.

Dr. Henry J. Schierson, prominent plastic surgeon, made a general denial that he had performed the operation.

At a hearing yesterday he told John W. Follmer, chief inspector for the state department of registration and education, that an assistant, Dr. S. D. Zaph, professor of surgery at the Chicago Osteopathic hospital, had operated on Miss Holland. Dr. Schierson explained that he himself had removed a scar from Miss Holland's shoulder during the progress of the leg-straightening operation, and that was how he happened to be present.

Dr. Schierson has filed suit against Dr. Henry Millston and Archie Cohen, an attorney, for $250,000 for alleged defamation of character growing out of the Holland girl's case.

STUDENT PRESIDENT GETS ROUGH HANDLING

Seattle, Wash., Feb. 3.—(AP)—Seized by nine hooded men when he was called to the door, Marian A. Zionscheck, president of the University of Washington student body, last night was bound and gagged and driven to the shores of Lake Washington, where he was ducked, paddled and his head shaved.

The kidnapping was the high spot of two months of dispute between the campus leader and student's policies.
