COMMANDERS OF SUBMARINE S-4 AND COAST GUARD HELD RESPONSIBLE FOR COLLISION

Court of Inquiry Into Sinking of S-4 Also Recommends Detachment of Admiral Brumby As Commander of Control Force.

Washington, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Commanders of the submarine S-4 and the Coast Guard destroyer Paulding are held responsible for a collision that sent the submarine's crew of 40 to death off Provincetown, Mass., last December 17.

In addition the court recommended detachment of Rear Admiral Frank H. Brumby as commander of the control force, which included submarines of the Atlantic fleet.

Brumby was in charge of rescue and salvage operations on the scene and the court declared in its findings that he failed to "contribute that superior and intelligent guidance, force and sound judgment expected from an officer of his length of service, experience and position."

The court composed of Rear Admirals R. H. Jackson as president, Julien L. Latimer, and Captain Joseph V. Logan, with Commander Leslie E. Bratton as judge advocate, declared also that "no known devices or equipment not employed in the rescue operations, either in the navy or owned by commercial organizations, could have saved the lives of those on board the S-4."

The report said the navy had assembled its best rescue forces as quickly as possible and that the rescue operations were "logical, sound and the most promising of early success."

Weather conditions played an important part, the finding said, and "rescue under those conditions was beyond human power."

The court held that "serious blame" was incurred by Lieutenant Commander R. K. Jones, who commanded the S-4 and Lieutenant Commander John H. Baylis, of the Paulding. It declared the submarine failed to take the proper action to avoid the Paulding, while the latter failed to sight and clear the S-4.

The court has been called to meet again to hear a statement by Secretary Mellon, whose department has jurisdiction over the coast guard, which declares the treasury has concluded that Commander Baylis, of the Paulding, was not responsible for the collision. Secretary Wilbur directed the court to set forth also the bases for its opinions and recommendations.

In a statement accompanying the court findings, Rear Admiral E. H. Campbell, the judge advocate general, pointed out that Admiral Brumby was not made a defendant before the court and expressed opinion that therefore no disciplinary action should be taken against him, other than a general court martial which he is enabled to make a statement.

Rear Admiral R. H. Leigh, chief of the bureau of navigation, also issued a statement declaring that personal responsibility for the collision should not be placed upon Commander Jones of the S-4 because it is not known what actually transpired on the submarine. He gave three reasons why the "presumptive major responsibility rest properly on the S-4." These, he said, were that the S-4 lookout should have sighted the Paulding; that it was the duty of the submarine to keep clear of the Paulding and that it was her duty to avoid surface vessels.

The court gave its opinion that the cause of the failure of the S-4 to take proper action when the destroyer was 75 yards distant cannot be determined absolutely.

Thirty two bodies have been recovered from the S-4. Six more are believed to be in the torpedo room and two are missing. The vessel itself is expected to be raised during the coming month.

BEGIN TRIAL OF FLOGGERS AT RALEIGH

Thirteen Defendants Held in Alleged Flogging of One-armed Storekeeper.

Courthouse, Raleigh, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Thirteen defendants growing out of the flogging in 1926 of E. A. Jones, one-armed country storekeeper, and his negro helper, were called to trial in superior court here today on charges of assault. The Ku Klux Klan membership issue was expected to be brought out by the state.

A venire of 100 men from Chatham county was on hand before court opened with selection of a jury expected to occupy the day's session. Judge W. C. Harris, Raleigh, presided.

The defendants were alleged to have been members of a hooded mob, two of whom were acquitted last year in a similar trial here.

The Klan membership of both was testified to by state witnesses some of whom said they were members of the same Klan chapter.

State attorneys made much of this testimony. Defense counsel, however, attacked the character of Jones and his negro helper, Sam Green, and their story of the whipping. The jury acquitted the two defendants tried at that time.

Bringing of a Chatham county venire here for the case resulted in both state and defense counsels adding attorneys.

It was brought out at the previous trial that Jones and the negro were accused by their assailants as having sold liquor and associating with women of questionable character.

Dr. J. R. Hester, Deputy Clyde Weathers, Lohra Siell, Paul Weathers, Wiley O'Neil, Jr., John Hamrick, Paul Robertson, J. T. Ramsey, Eddie Robertson, Paul Hester, John Hester, Leroy Hester, and Charlie Hester, Jr.

When the case was called this morning, Solicitor Brasfield moved that the special venire from Chatham county be thrown out on ground that the venire was irregularly and improperly drawn. Argument followed on the motion.

Immortality 50-50.
What Is Marriage?
A Mechanical Army.
Bring Money.
(By Arthur Brisbane)
Copyright 1927, by Star Co.

San Simon, Cal., Feb. 20.—(AP)—Edison says his belief in immortality is a "fifty-fifty proposition." He half believes, half disbelieves. If he should find himself living and conscious, in eternity, Edison would ask permission to spend his time experimenting.

The trouble is that in heaven, where nothing is needed, no sickness to cure, no houses to light, no batteries to build, experimenting could not be made useful. That would spoil it for Edison.

Conan Doyle says he can prove that Edison is wrong and that immortality is the only possibility. Conan Doyle's son, it seems, went to a medium and talked to a young friend, killed in a motor accident. The dead friend called young Doyle by his nickname, mentioned the nicknames of mutual friends.

In other words, the "spirit" did several things that the medium might easily have done, but nothing that the medium could not have done.

Young Doyle should have asked the well educated spirit to quote the first lines of Iliad. He would have got no answer.

All the talk about trial marriage and companionate marriage makes one clergyman fear that marriage may become a lottery. Adam thought it was that, when he bit into that apple, and when one of his two boys killed the other.

Marriage is neither a lottery nor a safe bond issue. Schopenhauer says it is woman's conspiracy to make every man support some woman, as long as she lives. Which is pessimistic nonsense.

Marriage is a training school for men, and it will last all the foolish talk and suggestion for improvement.

Men ultimately will settle down to monogamy realizing that one woman is a good deal more than any one man can understand, in one lifetime.

Our army is planning a "mechanized force," an army on wheels and "caterpillar" tracks, instead of men marching afoot, or on horseback.

Back numbers of illustrated British publications will show the thing in action. Britain has whole regiments of tractors with cannons mounted in front, heavier cannon hauled behind—all the fighters being heavy armor plate.

Such a mechanical army has nothing to fear from any old-fashioned weapon, except the lucky shot of a big cannon. But the alarm, with his TNT bomb can take care of the "tank." Unluckily, our military geniuses have not yet been able to realize the value of tanks or airplanes on a big scale. We are the most advanced nation in invention.

Presbyterians Plan College at Maxton, N. C.

Maxton, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Acquisition of the property of the old Carolina college by the Presbyterians of North Carolina for the purpose of establishing a junior college was under way today. A resolution was passed at the North Carolina conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, South, which formerly operated the college, to sell the property for $33,000 to be accepted by trustees of the college.

A board of trustees of 18 members was appointed to complete the details of the transaction and take prompt steps toward the establishment of the college. The synod has already $12,000 on hand to pay on the purchase price of the college, and it was decided to raise the remaining $21,000 needed by private subscription and begin a move at once to establish a $300,000 endowment fund for the operation of the institution.

A strong address emphasizing the need of the North Carolina Presbyterian synod for a standard junior college was made by Dr. W. J. Martin, president of Davidson, at the special meeting yesterday.

BRAND PARDUE IN ATTACK AT GATLIN TRIAL

Defense Declares Minister is "Prosecutor With a Pretended Conscience"

Wentworth, Feb. 22.—(AP)—The Rev. Thomas P. Pardue, chief witness for the state in the trial of Mrs. Alma Petty Gatlin accused of the murder of her father, Smith T. Petty, today was branded as "the prosecutor with a pretended conscience" when P. W. Glidewell, chief defense attorney, resumed his arguments.

Picturing Mrs. Gatlin as handicapped by "being born of a drunkard and a dissolute father," Glidewell said she had been driven out into the world at the age of 16 to take a job "in order to help her miserable mother put bread into the mouths of the family."

"I delight in this opportunity to defend her," the attorney said, "after many good friends have turned against her."

"When this thing happened in her home they did not call the police. They hid the skeleton in the closet, unwilling to place it before the gaze of the world. Many women are that way. They shield themselves from the hurt of the world. And then last March she saw her mother die, from a broken heart, all and miserable from the cruelty of a drunken father."

"She had seen her mother kill her father. Then she saw her mother die. Then that poor girl looked out upon the world alone, without a friend—the head of the family."

"She turned to a man who called himself a man—a man who betrayed her confidence. You heard her tell him from this witness chair, 'Mr. Pardue, I had more confidence in you than in any man in the world when my mother died.'"

"He claims to be an ambassador of God and this girl in her misery turned to him. 'His God was my God and his religion my religion.' I joined his evangelical band. I followed him to Winston-Salem and Reidsville where he held meetings. I had confidence in him."

"Turning to the state's attorneys and pointing at them, Glidewell continued:

"And then when she sat in this witness chair in defense of her life on charges for which this man was responsible, they knew he was a prosecutor and crouched behind him in front of the girl who had trusted him so that he might prompt them in their cross examination."

Continuing his attack on the preacher, Glidewell said:

"When a minister of God entwines himself around a little girl like this and gains her confidence he is not worthy of the cloth. If he strip this case of every bit of evidence except the finding of the body you will find that every word came out of the mouth of this girl."

Glidewell spoke of the conference between the preacher and Mrs. Gatlin in the former's home.

"He said he sat there in his home and urged her for detail. This pretended ambassador of God sat there and prodded this poor girl for detail, knowing at the time that she was under the spell of his hypnotic preaching."

"Then he came here," the attorney continued, "and you heard him say, 'We sat there and I got all the horrible details.'"

"Gentlemen, where is the motive for this girl to kill her father in cold blood? The good book says that by the mouths of witnesses shall you establish a thing. What have we here? Every word came from her. The body is all that is left."

"Truth never conflicts. Error always does," he cried after recounting that the state had accused Mrs. Gatlin and her brother, Woodrow, of telling identical stories in the witness chair. "If she wanted Woodrow to tell a lie for her she could have had Thelma."

Thelma, Mrs. Gatlin's younger sister, did not take the stand.

Glidewell attacked the state's contention that the dying mother would not confess to the killing and the state's allegation that she could have confessed to a physician whose testimony could have been airtight in court.

"She did not want her mother to confess to a physician," Glidewell said. "She was deeply religious and wanted her dear mother saved. So she sent for a minister of God."

"Thank God it wasn't Pardue."

OPENING GUN N. Y. MAYOR IS FIRED INTO SPEAK AT PITT POLITICS MOBILE TODAY

Two Aspirants For Offices of Judge and Solicitor of Court in The Ring.

With formal announcement of the candidacy of two aspirants for the offices of Judge and Solicitor of Pitt county court, the opening gun has been fired in the approaching political campaign in Pitt county.

The broadside was hurled into the camp of prospective contestants by W. L. Whedbee, son of the late H. W. Whedbee, who aspires for the judgeship of the local court and by Dink James, who has his eye on the office of solicitor.

The incumbents of these two offices at this time are Judge W. A. Darden and Solicitor Sam Carson. It is stated that neither will run for re-election, although it is rumored that Mr. Carson may enter the race for the judgeship.

Mr. Whedbee is the son of the late Judge H. W. Whedbee, who was considered one of the ablest superior court jurists of his day. He was born and raised in Greenville and was graduated from the Greenville high school. He was graduated in law from the University of North Carolina after completion of an academic course. He spent considerable time in post-graduate work in law at Wake Forest college.

After passing the state bar in 1924, Mr. Whedbee became associated with Colonel Harry Skinner, with the firm of Skinner, Cooper and Whedbee. He was associated with his father prior to the latter's death. By reason of his association with one of the oldest legal firms in the city, he has been considerable experience in civil and criminal courts in this and other counties.

Mr. James is a native of Greenville and is the son of Mrs. George James and the late Will B. James. He received his education in the local city schools and the University of North Carolina. He was awarded a scholarship by both Davidson college and the university but accepted the latter because of his desire to take professional training.

At the University he gained prominence as an orator and in his last year was elected President of the law class. During the summer months he attended a boys' camp in Western North Carolina as an instructor in history and government.

Last year he was selected by the Pitt-Beaufort study class, composed of bank employees from these two counties to deliver a series of lectures on banking law.

TO EMPLOY COLLECTOR

Merchants Association of City to Employ Regular Collector Within Few Days

The new board of directors of the Merchants Association met in special meeting yesterday afternoon.

One of the most important things considered was the decision to employ the services of a regular collector, who will serve the entire membership through the offices of the secretary.

The Association has several applicants under consideration for this office. The collector will begin his duties on March 1st.

The new department will keep close check on the credit rating of all persons doing credit business with local merchants. Failure to settle obligations by a given time will be reported immediately to the department for future reference.

The Association will immediately install a credit rating system which will be of invaluable aid in keeping tabs on the standing of those enjoying credit among members of the organization. Failure to liquidate debts by a given time will make it difficult to obtain further credit.

The directors changed the date of the monthly meeting. Instead of meeting on the second Tuesday of each month there will be two meetings each month on the second and fourth Thursday evenings. It was also decided to hold quarterly meetings of the entire membership.

The first of these sessions will be held during the month of May, the date to be announced later.

Eastern, Middle Western and Southern States Represented at Meeting of Group One of State Bankers Association Today.

Fifty or more bankers representing some of the largest financial institutions of the country, arrived in Greenville this morning from Kingston to attend the thirteenth annual meeting of Group One of the North Carolina Bankers Association, which convened at East Carolina Teachers College at 10:30 o'clock today.

On the second lap of their tour of the Coastal Plain region of North Carolina, the distinguished visitors arrived at the meeting of the district bankers and were met at the station by a delegation of Greenville citizens and taken to the Proctor Hotel for breakfast. At one o'clock today they were guests at a luncheon at the Rotary club building. The day's activities will be brought to a conclusion with a banquet at the college tonight at 6:30 o'clock.

V. D. Strickland, president of Group One bankers, presided at the sessions today, which were marked by addresses of prominent state bankers.

The fifty-odd bankers, representing financial interests of this and seven other states, from Illinois to New York and to Georgia, were impressed at the breakfast when Mayor J. C. Lanier told them Greenville is "the center of the state's richest farming section and the greatest producer and seller of bright foot cotton in the world."

The remarks of the mayor sharply contrasted the Greenville today with "the dirty little town on the Tar River, as it was described in 1791 by George Washington when he passed through here on his Southern journey. The day was given over by the bankers of the numerous counties, included in Group One of the State association and by those members of the touring party to celebration of the birthday anniversary of the Father of His Country.

An inspiring and appealing address of welcome was delivered by F. C. Hastings, local attorney, in the course of the breakfast. He told the group of bankers, many of them men of tremendous influence in financial affairs, that "the spirit of co-operation has lifted Greenville to its present position, from the state of being the dirty little town on the Tar River, that Washington saw and has made the weak strong and the strong just." The attorney, in an impressive flight of oratory, said "this genius for co-operation is based upon an absolute faith in the integrity of Greenville's citizenship." The one great handicap under which this agricultural community is laboring, said the speaker, is a lack of capital. "We need from some source more capital to create a larger opportunity for labor. There is no limit to the opportunity that may be created in these fertile fields when capital comes from an honest source."

H. L. Newbold, of Statesville, H. H. Palmer, of Tarboro, and N. S. Calhoun, of Raleigh, were the principal speakers at the morning session of the convention of Group One. These speakers represented the state association and outlined phases of the association's extensive program of activity and development aiming through co-operation at making banking better and safer. Gilbert T. Stephenson, of Raleigh, delivered the principal address at the afternoon session.

The tremendous array of troubles, both economic and social in nature that grows out of the time-honored system as pictured by Mr. Stephenson as a plague upon this section. He said the only real salvation of this section can come through putting farming on a cash basis, and this can be accomplished only through years of constant endeavor and whole-hearted co-operation between bankers, merchants, landlords and tenants. Banking in this agricultural region is made difficult and inefficient, he said, because in the spring the demand for money is great and the supply is low, while in the harvest time the supply is great and the demand is negligible. Putting this territory on a basis of cash operation will create an even spread of business activity through the year, with consequent great economic benefit accruing to the whole population.

Mr. Newbold discussed needed reforms in the state's banking law. He advocated removal of the co-operation excess profits tax from the state's revenue.

MAKE $50,000 HAUL OF JEWELRY AT CINCINNATI

Cincinnati, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Diamond rings and watches valued at $50,000 and $50,000 were taken by two men in a robbery of the Ideal Loan and Jewelry Company here today.

The robbers trusted two clerks in rear-room with a window sash cord, looted the showcases and carried off three trays of diamond rings.

The robbers escaped in an automobile.

FAIR GROUNDS WILL BE USED AS BALL PARK

The board of directors of the Greenville baseball club met last night and definitely decided to use the ball park at the fair grounds this season. A new grandstand will be erected to take the place of the old grandstand used by the club of the Eastern Carolina league.

The location of the diamond will be changed about twenty feet west of the old diamond. This will place home plate directly in the center of the front of the new grandstand. The diamond will be covered with clay with a topcoat of gravel. A fence will be erected in the enclosure of the outfield. This will give the city one of the finest diamonds in Eastern North Carolina, it was stated.

The improvements will get under way in a few days and will be completed in time for the first games to be played here during the early part of April.

With the signing of players for service on the local club, President Smith stated today that officials would be well entertained with arrangements for the opening of the new circuit until the first of April.

Concessions for the ball park will be let under sealed bids which must be filed with H. S. Ragsdale, secretary of the club, not later than noon of March 10th under certified check. Ten percent accompany each bid submitted.

SPORTS SLANTS

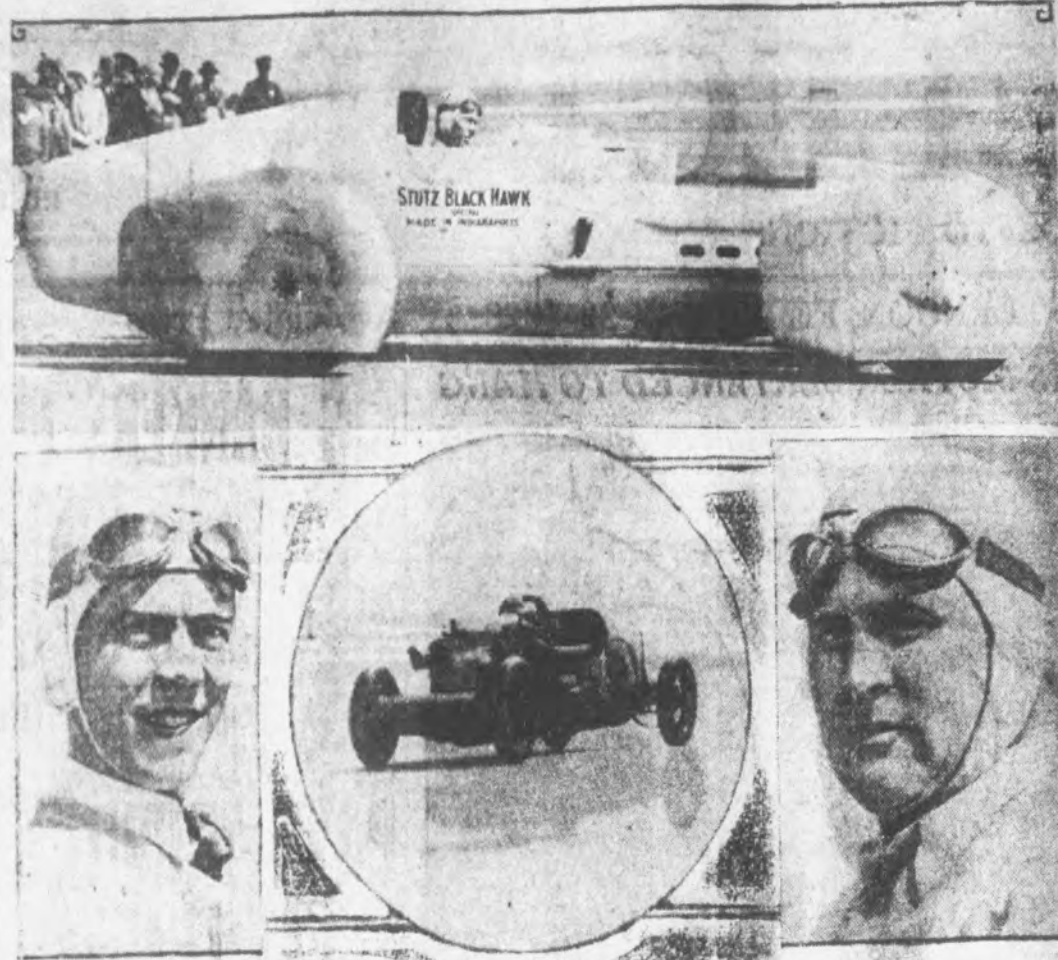

By ALAN J. GOULD

By ALAN J. GOULD.
Associated Press Sports Editor.
New York, Feb. 22.—(AP)—The Olympic board of strategy, otherwise the coaching staff of the American track and field team, will be picked within the next few days.

The chief strategist, or head coach, already has been decided upon. This post, apparently by unanimous consent, goes to Lawson Robertson, of the University of Pennsylvania. He has the backing of the amateur athletic union which is sufficient to insure his endorsement by the Olympic committee as a whole. As a matter of fact "Fob" already has been exercising the functions of head coach, mapping his program and gathering a coterie of talent under his wing at Franklin field.

Realizing that he cannot stand as much as the wear and tear of a track and field campaign as before, Hal Osborn, veteran all-around star, may pass up defense of the Olympic Decathlon title, in order to concentrate on the running high jump, where he also is the Olympic king.

To judge from the way such stars as Ray Conger and Jimmy Quinn have been jumping into the limelight, the selection of the Olympic team will be anything but a cut and dried affair.

Just when Lloyd Hahn looked to have the middle distance field all to himself Conger has come along to upset the Nebraskan as well as Dr. Otto Peltzer, the German champion. Regardless of the merits of the elbowing controversy Conger has demonstrated he has some speed to burn. He comes from the Missouri valley sector that already has produced its share of stars including Bob Simpson, the old hurdling champion, and Charley Brookins, the present low hurdling record holder; as well as Roland Locke, and Hahn.

Uncle Sam may suffer from an embarrassment of springing riches. Locke, Hussey, Scholz, Al Miller, Wells and Wildermuth are an all-star flock but they all bowed to the fleet footed Quinn of Holy Cross, in the New York A. C. indoor meet.

There was no fluke to Quinn's performance, as a result of which there is less skepticism that before over his reputed 100 yard performance in 9 3-5 seconds outdoor last year.

The flying squadron from the Pacific coast, headed by Charley Paddeck and Charley Borah, also will be heard from when the sprinting roll is called.

There will be room for more sprinters, however, than any other Olympic specialty because 12 will be needed to fill the entries for the 100 and 200 metre dashes as well as the 400 metre relay race. Some of the outstanding stars may double up in two of these events but it is Lawson's idea to limit iron-man ambitions to a minimum.

Battery "E" defeated the high school varsity team 26 to 16 here last night in one of the fastest and most exciting games played this season. At the end of the first quarter the score was tied. SPEED PILOTS PREPARE FOR FLORIDA RACE

Daytona Beach, Fla., Feb. 22.—(AP)—The trio of racing drivers here to attain new heights of speed with their powerful automobiles dedicated to that purpose, must make their official attempts by five o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

This dictum, handed down late last night by the contest authorities, is subject to variation only if beach conditions arise during the time specified which forbid efforts to eclipse the new mark of 206.9 miles per hour set up Sunday by Captain Malcolm Campbell, of London.

Captain Campbell, Frank Lockhart, of Indianapolis, and J. M. White, of Philadelphia, last night drew lots and were designated certain hours during which their attempts to better all previous marks will be made.

To Captain Campbell went the hours between 1 and 2 p. m. today and 3 and 4 p. m. tomorrow; to White, between 2 and 3 today and 4 and 5 p. m. tomorrow; to Lockhart between 3 and 4 p. m. today and 2 and 3 p. m. tomorrow.

The three speed pilots also consented to a gentlemen's agreement of officials that for protection of the record holder at this meeting a second official trial for a world's record will not be made at this beach within thirty days. A proposal to extend this time to a year was submitted and will be acted upon tomorrow.

CUTBILL RETURNS TO BOARD TRACK TONIGHT

New York, Feb. 22.—(AP)—"The Flying Parson," Harold Cutbill, returns to the board track tonight after six years of competitive idleness.

Declared ineligible in 1923 cutbill, full-fledged minister, has been reinstated and begins his comeback attempt in an 800-metre race at the Masonic meet here tonight.

Cutbill made his last start in March, 1922, but has been training hard in recent months.

Squelch Old Ball Scandal

Chicago, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Another baseball scandal, nearly six years old, has at last been legally squelched. The suit of Sammy Bohne and Pat Duncan, former Cincinnati Reds, for libel because of published insinuations they had been approached by New York gamblers, was decided in their favor yesterday by Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley. He instructed the jury to bring in a verdict of $50 damages each for the two players against Collier's Eye, a Chicago republican.

When the players attorney stated the two athletes wanted only vindication and not damages, the case was quickly closed.

The suit was filed September 7, 1923, and the New York-Cincinnati series on which it was based was played in August, 1922. Commissioner Landis was instrumental in pressing the suit to a verdict, as Bohne and Duncan are now members of the Minneapolis American Association team.

HORNSBY FIELD CAPTAIN OF BOSTON BRAVES

Boston, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Rogers Hornsby has taken over in an active way the proffered post of field captain of the Boston Braves. To cement matters the rajah and Jack Slatery, new pilot have become roommates at St. Petersburg, Fla.

Hornsby got in a little practice yesterday and announced that he felt great. "It will take me about ten days to limber up," he said; he declined to regard his former team mates, the Giants, as his especial foes during the coming season in retaliation for the trade which sent him to Boston. "I'll be trying just as hard against another club in the league," he said. "It's my nature to do my best every time I go to bat."

The Sans Souci Book Club was delightfully entertained on Tuesday afternoon by Mrs. Frank Wilson, at her home on Fifth street. The home was tastefully decorated with spring flowers.

After the roll call, with nearly every member present, the meeting was turned over to Mrs. W. L. Best, who had charge of the program. The subject of the afternoon was "Isle of Beauty," and Mrs. Best told in a most interesting way of the beauty and customs of Catalina and Capri. The unique island of Mt. After current events, which are always enjoyed, we were favored with two beautiful vocal selections by Mrs. Herbert Waldrop.

At eight o'clock the ladies began to arrive, all dressed in their evening gowns with smiling faces and valuable gifts. It was most surprising to Mr. Sumrell, as he was on his way to the show, but was called in from the street while passing by. From eight until nine o'clock interesting games were played, and at 9:30 a delicious salad course and drinks were served, followed by music and dancing until 11:30, when the boys and girls departed, declaring the time of their lives and wishing for Berry many more such surprising birthdays.

The out of town guests were: Misses Martha and Emma McArthur, Mr. Stewart McArthur and Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Nichols.

WRIGHT TALKS ABOUT GEORGE WASHINGTON

President Robert H. Wright took notice "his morning of the fact that it was Washington's birthday in his chapel talk to the students. His talk was along the line of citizenship instead of the historical type of lecture usually made on such occasions.

"Europeans came to this country for two purposes," he said, "first, so they would not be persecuted for their beliefs, and second, so they could persecute others for their beliefs."

"Our genius for self government has led us into the making of too many laws," he said. "It is hard for a citizen to obey all of them, but this is an outgrowth of democracy."

"After all," he said, "good citizenship is a matter of attitude, and not merely a matter of conforming to written statutes. To the good citizens there is no statute law, but a higher law of conscience."

TEACHERS ENTERTAIN LITERARY DEPARTMENT OF THE WOMAN'S CLUB

On Tuesday afternoon, the Literary Department of the Woman's Club was graciously entertained at the Vines House by the Misses Agnes and Carolyn Fullilove, Rachel Scarborough, Evelyn Smith, Clem Bridges, and Madge Daniels.

In keeping with the season, a patriotic program was given, the first consisting of a poem descriptive of "America," which minutes were read and roll called. The twenty-two members present responded with interesting current events. The business was quickly disposed of and an instructive program given on the author Edgar Lee Masters. An interesting sketch of his life was given by Mrs. E. T. Forbes.

Mrs. D. L. Mangum gave a brief review of his works and vividly described "Spoon River Anthology."

Guests for the afternoon were Misses Ethel Nice, the new home demonstration agent, and Miss Pettijohn, traveling representative for a New York theatrical company. She gave a synopsis of the play, "The Poor Nut," now running in New York.

During the sweet course which was served by the hostesses, favors carrying out the patriotic colors, were given out.

JAZZ ORCHESTRA LEADER MANAGES ON LITTLE SLEEP

Jimmy Caruso, whose orchestra furnished inspiration for the "East Side, West Side" cast at the Fox New York Studio, says that all the talk about motion picture people overworking is applesauce. Compared with the working day of the average musician, his days are all Sundays.

Jimmy himself, getting up at six each morning and reports at a radio broadcasting station where he furnishes peppy music for the getting-up exercises.

From there, during production, he went to the studio and remained all day in the glare of the Kleins trying to compete with the hammer chorus of the studio carpenters. In the evening, he was on call for various society functions at hotels or private homes. His average getting to bed is 2 o'clock in the morning and after four hours of sleep, the alarm clock buzzes, and the whole thing starts over again.

"That's what you call a jazz life," he laughed.

"East Side, West Side" is at White's Theatre today.

MARY LEWIS TO GIVE BRILLIANT CONCERT

Mary Lewis will bring with her from New York her own accompanist, Elinor Zoller, for her concert at East Carolina Teachers College tomorrow evening. The hour for the concert is eight-thirty.

Her program is exceedingly attractive, even alluring, having on it both selections that have been associated with her fame and those that are new to her admirers. She will sing the Aria from the opera "Romeo and Juliet," one of the numbers that she sang the evening she made her radio debut and one that has been a great favorite with her public.

Miss Lewis has a veritable triumphal march in her concert tours

this season and the critics, ever on the alert, have given her greater and greater praise and the music journals have given her more and more space among their record of notable achievements of the great singers. All seem to agree that she is untiring in her efforts and has no idea of letting success turn her head and retard her musical growth.

"Never again can it be said that beauty and brains do not go together," Mary Lewis has proved how wrong that is, is the verdict of one of critics. Those who know her say that she lives for her music. She is unspoiled by the glare of metropolitan life and success and has not outlived her memories of her life in a small American town.

GARDEN CLUB TO GIVE ATTENTION TO CLEAN UP WEEK

At this time of year housewives always begin to clean up their premises, plan for planting vegetables and flower gardens, and generally tidy things up. In fact, the "Clean up—Paint up" campaign is about to begin. About the first thing that receives attention is that old worn out, battered up, spilling out garbage can, which all ways troubles the neighbors more than it does the owner.

If it sits on the front sidewalk, odoriferous and untidy, it troubles every passer-by. Even on Sunday, when citizens dress up and go to church and strangers drive through our town, there it sits, conspicuous in its ugliness, telling the world what it did contain before the dog tipped it over and rummaged in it.

Ought we not to rid our streets of this unsightly object? Members of the Garden Club have appealed to our City Manager for better service in collecting garbage and rubbish, with a more regular schedule. This has been promised, and shortly a week will be set aside for special collections, and a schedule will be published. The city ordinances regarding the matter of garbage and rubbish will be published. But unless the housewives assist by doing their part, this evil will not be remedied. Covered cans are required by law. These should only be put out on the street in time for collection, and should be taken back into the privacy of the back yard as soon as possible after emptying, there to remain until time for the next collection.

There is no common sense in leaving a garbage can on the front street over Sunday. Collections are NEVER made on Sunday. Pride in one's own premises, to say nothing of civic pride should require a housewife to remove her garbage can from the street over Sunday.

And there is yet a better way. There is an under-ground garbage can, protected with a lid which dogs cannot lift up or tip over. Several of these are in use in Greenville, but many more should be used. Women! look after your garbage cans! and "do to others as you would have them do to you" in this matter.

WE ARE GLAD YOU'RE HERE

In advance of the arrival of the large number of bankers gathered here today
we extended a word of welcome expressing pride that our city was to be honored with their presence, but now that they are, we are even more glad that they came and we declare sincerely, "We are glad you're here."

You have now been in our city many hours and already you have been made to feel that you are welcome visitors. To this we can only add that we hope your remaining hours in our city will bring you additional pleasures and that when you depart you will carry away with you a feeling that the people of Greenville enjoyed having
you with them today.

We hope you have found that our slogan, "Our Greenville, Yours If You Come," is a reality rather than an idle boast.

THE MASS MEETING

Again we call attention to the mass meeting tomorrow afternoon for the purpose of discussing the possibilities of water transportation for Greenville. This plea for your attendance at the meeting, is a repetition,
of several we have made,
but we feel that the importance of the proposed project is one that is worthy of repetition and for this reason we take this last opportunity before the time set for the meeting to your attention. The interest Greenville citizens show in tomorrow's meeting will mean much to the future of Greenville. The government has expressed a willingness to make water transportation for Greenville possible if it can be convinced that the same is wanted by the citizens and will be of enough benefit to justify the expenditure of funds to open and keep open the channel of Tar River. The meeting tomorrow is for the purpose of placing before government officials this desired information and it is necessary for as many citizens as possible to be present and give their support to the project. If you have not already decided to attend the meeting, make your plans now to be on hand and let nothing, if possible, keep you away.

ABOUT TOWN

"Welcome, visiting bankers!"
This was the greeting extended on all sides by Greenville citizenship today to financiers from eight states who are here on a tour of the Coastal Plain section of the state this week.

That the invitation was received in a most hearty manner was evidenced by the way the visitors responded to toasts at breakfast given in their honor at the Proctor hotel
this morning.

Greenville is always delighted to entertain a gathering of this kind,
and especially when that gathering represents millions of dollars in the financial life of the nation.

It is to be hoped these men are able to get a glimpse of the unspeakable possibilities and resources of the community and that they will become so completely "sold" on the district that they will always be consistent boosters for it.

The writer of this column joins the entire community in extending a cordial welcome to one and all.

"The services of a permanent collector are now available to members of the Merchants Association of Greenville," C. B. Rowlett, secretary, said this morning.

"Members of the board of directors in session yesterday afternoon unanimously agreed that the creation of such a department was necessary and instructed officials to immediately take the matter under advisement and employ a supervisor of the department immediately.

"This will be one of the most advanced steps taken by the organization in months and should enable the fifty or more members to get results not possible in past years.

"The association is striving to render the best of services to the great business field it represents,
and with public support this should become even more pronounced in the future.

"These meetings of bankers such as that represented here today in the annual conference of group one of the North Carolina Bankers Association should prove a source of much help in smoothing out financial problems for this section of the state," a local banker remarked today.

"Problems of finance were discussed in a most forceful way today by members of the association and these discussions no doubt will prove helpful and even inspirational to young members of the profession who depend almost entirely upon the advice of older bankers."
Then, too, personal contact, the rubbing together of elbows of members of various institutions should be conducive to a stronger spirit of friendship than ever before. This kind of brotherhood must be the foundation of all fields of human endeavor in the days to come even as in the past, and it is through such gatherings here today that such may be firmly established.

"With eight players virtually signed for berth in the local club of the Eastern Carolina league, it begins to look like organization of the club should proceed rapidly from now on," declared an old lover the national sport today.

"That this club will be one of the largest of the circuit, I have not the slightest doubt in the world. President Smith says he is confident the boys will make a showing comparing favorably with any other club of the league. This expression is sufficient to cause us to have faith in the ability of the players already signed and those yet to come.

"We want to annex first place in the standing of clubs the first of the season and then sit tight until the end of the season."

"The coming of the Hugh-Morson high school, of Raleigh, is looked forward to with more than usual interest by lovers of basketball in this city," J. H. Rose, superintendent of city schools, remarked this morning.

"This is the first time a Raleigh athletic organization has played in Greenville in years, and the exhibition with members of the local high school club naturally is attracting widespread interest.

"The Greenville club has established an enviable record in the basketball realm this season and Raleigh is expected to find them stubborn contenders for further honors.

"We are expecting a big crowd to cheer the locals on to one of the greatest victories of the season."

ions, the most backward in using inventions.

An unfortunate woman, of about 40, sat down in Miss Anne Temple McPherson's temple, Los Angeles, having swallowed much poison, and handed her unknown neighbor a card with these words written: "Destitute, unable to find employment. I came here to enter eternity. A pauper."

This emphasizes the advice given here. When you come to California bring enough money to carry you for six months, at least, and then take you back again.

Wonderful opportunities here for the man with money to invest, also peace, comfort, longer life and inexpensive living—with no coal bills—in those with modest incomes. But do not come without money.

Wall Street cannot decide whether it is dying, or only frightened. Everything was mixed today with sales of 2,600,000 shares generally "off."

W. D. Klausman, very wise, says 30 different stocks "looming flat" would indicate a wide short interest. The wise bears decide to cover, while they may. That covering, and cheap money, at four and a quarter, comfort the gambling lads that know what it is all about only after it is all over.

Food conditions in Russia are said to be bad, approaching famine conditions in some places. Bolshevism may realize the truth of Pridgen's statement that monarchies are destroyed by poverty and republics by wealth. A communist autocracy comes under the "monarchy" heading. If it faces famine, which is poverty's worst result, it will not last long.

However, there is always a tendency to exaggerate Russia's troubles. Henry Ford, who tells Mr. Bernstein that he thinks Russia is doing well, sells tractors in thousands to Russian farmers, and may have information better than that of the Associated Press representative.

Henry Ford thinks this government should recognize Russia's government. So does everybody else, not more or less influenced by financial greed that bought the bonds of the Czar or Kerensky.

Two items of good news: Dr. Harris, New York's health commissioner, announces the development of a remedy useful in lobar pneumonia—at least in fifty per cent of cases. The city hall will provide the remedy.

The general hospital at Madison, Wisconsin, reports excellent results in treating cases of infantile paralysis with hot water baths. For information, write to the hospital. The paralyzed muscles, floating lightly in the hot water—about 100 degrees—and carefully manipulated, regain, slowly, their lost power of motion.

Stay Execution of Negro. Raleigh, Feb. 22.—(AP)—An appeal in behalf of Clarence Thomas, Winston-Salem negro, convicted slayer of two men, was perfected today before the supreme court and Edwin Bridges, pardon commissioner, said the negro's slated execution Friday would be stayed until the court acts on the case.

SEVERAL BANKERS ORDERED BEFORE SENATE BODY

Washington, Feb. 22.—(AP)—A number of New York, Chicago and Boston bankers were summoned today to appear tomorrow before the Senate Teapot Dome committee which is seeking to determine how much of the Liberty bond profits of the Continental Trading Company was used to pay off the Republican National Committee deficit in 1922 and 1923.

SINCLAIR AND DAY LOOK TO HIGHER COURT

Two Principals in Oil Conspiracy Case to Attempt to Set Aside Sentences.

Washington, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Under jail sentences for contempt of court growing out of the Fall-Sinclair oil conspiracy mistrial Harry P. Sinclair, his associate, Henry Mason Day and William J. Burns, the detective, looked to the higher courts today for exoneration.

With Burns' son, W. Sherman Burns, who was fined $1,000 for his part in the shadowing of the oil jury as active head of the detective agency, they filed notice of appeal last night after Justice Frederick L. Siddons pronounced sentence is district of Columbia supreme court. They were at liberty today upon their promise that the bond fixed would be supplied.

Sinclair was sentenced to six months in jail, Day, who hired the Burns agents to shadow the jury in Sinclair's behalf was sentenced to four months and the elder Burns received a four month term although he had denied any connection with the shadowing.

Earlier in the hearing Justice Siddons had dismissed similar charges against Sheldon Clark, vice president of the Sinclair Refining Company, and C. L. Veitch, head of the Burns Baltimore Agency.

Sinclair now faces the prospect of serving nine months in the District of Columbia jail. Previously he had been sentenced to three months for contempt for refusing to testify in the senate's Teapot Dome inquiry.

In sentencing the men Justice Siddons, who had presided at the mistrial, made the declaration that shadowing of an "unsuspected jury" was unlawful and that it tended to obstruct justice therefore being in contempt of court.

W. Sherman Burns was the only defendant who asked the mercy of the court and he asked that it be applied to his father the founder of the Burns detective agency. Justice Siddons had reviewed coincidences linking the elder Burns and Sinclair in the case and had declared he was not satisfied that he was without a share of the blame.

The justice explained that he had meted out only a fine to the younger Burns because he had aided the district attorney in investigating the case, but Day, who employed the detectives for Sinclair, he said, had "shown loyalty to a friend greater than loyalty to the land." That loyalty, he said, he took into consideration with a degree of admiration, in fixing the sentence.

The courts decision was forecast

two weeks ago when the justice ruled that jury shadowing was unlawful.

None of the defendants would discuss the case except Sherman Burns who declared the sentencing of his father was "outrageous." He said: "The court stated that although there was not any evidence that William J. Burns knew of this surveillance the court could not bring himself to believe he did not know about it."

Sinclair will be back in the same court April 2 when he will go on trial again on charges of conspiracy with Albert B. Fall as interior secretary to defraud the government in the lease of Teapot Dome. Fall also is scheduled for trial with Day but the government has declared its intention to try Sinclair separately if Falls ill health prevents his appearance.

Porter Graves instantly was on his feet with the explanation that he had been ill at the start of the trial and had engaged Mr. Dalton's services because of his condition.

Judge McRae stopped the solicitor with the remark that he already had instructed Mr. Gildewell not to make the personal references.

Mrs. Gatlin moved indignantly as Gildewell moved through his arguments.

The crowds overflowed the courtroom long before the lawyers came to complete the arguments, and as yesterday there were more women than men in the audience.

It was necessary for the press box to be moved to the overhead gallery so no spectators were allowed to join them there. While Gildewell lauded investigations at Pardue, the preacher stood with his back to the wall and leaning against the right side of the chamber.

Solicitor S. Porter Graves began final summation for the state at 11:45 o'clock. It was believed in the court room that he would possibly finish his argument before the noon adjournment for luncheon. In that case the prevailing belief was that Judge McRae would begin his charge to the jury immediately after luncheon and the tall men would receive the case this afternoon.

Solicitor Graves began his argument by stating the duties of jurors and defining the charge of murder as it was written in the state's statutes.

Hold Indignation Meeting at College

The student body of East Carolina Teachers College held an indignation meeting in the college auditorium at 12:30 P. M. today, expressing their disapproval of the conduct of some of the students and some outsiders several nights ago when the Kennedy players presented at the college "The Chastening."

The building program has been held up somewhat recently on account of bad weather. The workmen are now back on the job and satisfactory progress is being made. They will soon have the new power plant, laundry and dining room ready for the roof. The practice school building is not so far along the brick work being only about to the second story. These buildings are all to be in readiness for the opening of the fall term.

In spite of the fact that the college will be able to take 300 more girls into the dormitories next year than it has this year all space has been taken for the coming year and all applications since the first of the year have had to be refused. More than 150 names are now on the waiting list for next fall.

Mary Lewis, the American Prima Donna of Metropolitan Opera fame will sing in the auditorium of the new campus building on the evening of the 23rd of February. Tickets have been on sale for some days for this attraction. Most of them have been taken. A large crowd from other towns is expected. It is only on rare occasions that such a musical treat as this is available in other than large cities.

LINDBERGH OFF TODAY FOR UNKNOWN SECTION

St. Louis, Mo., Feb. 22.—(AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, with four passengers, left Lambert St. Louis field in a Ryan monoplane at 10:12 a. m. today for an unrevealed destination. He headed northward over the St. Louis-Chicago air mail route. An unconfirmed report was that he planned to fly to Selfridge field, Detroit.

Lindbergh said he was keeping his destination secret because he wanted to avoid the usual crowds when he lands.

He was accompanied by Harold M. Bixby, president of the St. Louis chamber of commerce; William B. Robertson, president of the Curtiss-Robertson aircraft corporation; Harry H. Knight, president of the St. Louis Flying Club; and B. F. Mahoney, president of the Ryan Air Lines, Inc., maker of the Spirit of St. Louis. Bixby, Robertson and Knight were among Lindbergh's backers in his trans-Atlantic flight. The purpose of the flight also was kept secret, but there were intimations it concerned an aviation business deal.

BIG BANKERS FROM MANY PARTS OF COUNTRY GUESTS OF GREENVILLE

banks, declared taxing bank deposits is detrimental to the financial development of the state, and complained that discrimination is being worked against the banks through the law which taxes savings deposits and relieves from taxation all holdings in building and loan associations' stock.

Mr. Palmer declared the state's bankers should impose a minimum monthly service charge of $1 on each unprofitable account, in which class he said falls almost two-thirds of the state's bank accounts. Such a charge will have the effect of making banking both more profitable and more efficient, he said.

Ultimate organization of a statewide clearing house as a means of increasing banking efficiency was forecast by Mr. Calhoun. The Raleigh banker appealed to the convention's attendance to organize in each county a clearing house for the accumulation and dissemination among its membership of important credit information with the view of minimizing improper duplicate borrowing in an ever-present menace to the security of banking institutions.
