

BASKETBALL TOURNAMENT IN PROGRESS

Raleigh, March 2—(AP)—Class A high school basketball teams, representing special chartered schools with enrollment of 300 or more in the senior departments, played the first round of the state college tournament today.

Greensboro, 1927 runner-up, faced Ellerbe, recent eastern finalists in the state elimination series; Greenville played Gastonia; Fremont, 1928 Peanut Exposition Champion, took on Shelby; Sanford had Asheville for opponent; Kinston struggled against Raleigh, 1927 winner of class A; Forest City and High Point were matched; Wilson, champion of the northeast athletic conference, played Ramseur; and Sylvia had Leaksville for opponent.

Besides this entering field of 16 class A basketball teams, 15 teams remain in class B and 17 in class C starting the second round at beginning of play today.

In class B, Candor, Oxford, Haw River, Red Springs, Lumberton, Dunn, last year's winner, Mebane, Princeton, Benson, and Lincolnton survived first round battles. In class C Jackson, Lattimore, Erwin, Lafayette, Northbrook, Mt. Ulla, Leicester, Huntsville, and Garner survived the opening round encounters.

Also in class B, Edenton, Kins Mountain, Williamson, and Wake Forest, played their first round matches today, while Smithfield and Endfield were byed to the second round.

In class C Woodard and Drewry drew byes while Elizabethtown, Derita, Aulander, Goodwin, Middleburg and Aurora played their first rounds today.

Ten first rounds Class B matches and nine class C matches were played yesterday.

Today's high school basketball scores:

- Class B: Kings Mountain 25 Edenton 0; Middleburg 32 Aurora 8; Mirmulla 26 Drewry 11; Wake Forest 21; Williamston 8.
- Class A—Gastonia 21; Greenville 20; Shelby 24; Fremont 19.
- Class B—Dunn 24; Smithfield 19; Roanoke Rapids 16; Henderson 14.
- Class A—Greensboro 17; Ellerbe 10.
- Class C—Erwin 24; Woodland 14.

Ty Cobb Will Return to The Athletics Agin

Philadelphia, March 2—(AP)—Connie Mack, boss of the Philadelphia Athletics, was happy at Fort Myers, Fla., today, because he had added to his basket of peaches for 1928 one of the Georgia variety.

Ty Cobb has wired that he will be with the club again this year. No figures were announced.

"It took a long campaign to get Ty for another season," Mack said. "He had virtually retired from baseball and didn't want to play, but when I showed him how useful he would be to me next season and moreover give us a change for the pennant, he finally consented to join us."

"Cobb is still one of the greatest players in the game. Right today there is none more colorful. Perhaps he is not the Ty of ten years ago, but he is still head and shoulders above the majority of fielders. He played brilliantly last year and will deliver again this season."

Won't Be Long Now.

Washington, March 1—(AP)—It won't be long now before the entire squad of the Washington Senators earns its daily bread at the Tampa, Fla., training camp. And as the pre-season appetites are usually voracious, the workouts are going to be directed with that in mind.

Hornsby to Get $40,000.

Boston, March 2—(AP)—Advice from the Braves training camp at St. Petersburg, Fla., about Rogers Hornsby's new three year contract are that he will receive $40,000 a year as captain. He signed the contract with an annual $600 bonus to boot yesterday.

The contract was voluntarily submitted to the Rajah by Judge Emil Fuchs, president of the club, and came as a surprise to Hornsby, whose contract with the New York Giants, which the Braves took over when he was traded to Boston, had another year to run.

HEENEY BEATS JACK DELANEY

By EDWARD J. NEIL, Associated Press Sports Writer.

New York, March 2—(AP)—Once more, despite the most gallant effort of his picturesque career, Jack Delaney today was just a great light heavyweight and not a battler to mix successfully with the ponderous, mauling boys who make up the aspirants for Gene Tunney's heavyweight title.

In 15 tugging, bruising rounds, borsome at times from the incessant close range fighting, Tom Heenev, the plodding blacksmith from New Zealand, last night out-cuffed the one-time rapier of the north in Madison Square Garden just as Jimmy Maloney, the fish monger of Boston, did a year ago in the same arena.

The defeat tossed Delaney right back to the foot of the heavyweight ladder, but took nothing from his gameness and battling ability. Delaney was outslugged, outroughed and outlasted by one of the most rugged of present day fighters, but not until he had made the finest showing of his big time heavy-weight career.

While the result did not meet with unanimous approval of the 12,000 fans—Delaney himself was certain he had won—there was enough margin for Heenev at the close to leave little question as to the winner. Lacking a decisive outcome, such as a knockout, however, there was little doubt that "honest Tom" would have to do victorious battle with the winner of the Jack Sharkey-Johnny Risko bout here March 12 before gaining the coveted June show at Gene Tunney's heavyweight title.

For 15 rounds Heenev stayed on top of the colorful French-Canadian, silencing the big gun in Delaney's right hand with ease while he chopped, tore and cuffed at his rival's head and body. Heenev's punches were short for the isn't much but bulk in the way of arms but they kept Delaney so busy blocking, clinching and holding to save punishment that an offensive was a most difficult thing.

While Heenev fought the kind of a battle that could be told in the first round and then repeated fourteen times to take in the entire match, Delaney furnished the high spots. All told Delaney had a margin in six rounds while Heenev gathered in eight and one was even.

Perhaps the highest point in the engagement came in the tenth session when Delaney, battling with new vigor and abandon crashed a left hook to the sturdy chin of the New Zealander. For the first time in the fight, Heenev, despite his 21-pound weight advantage, wavered under the impact of the blow, and was glad to clinch.

As he did, Delaney cut loose with all the fierce punching ability hidden in his majestic shoulders, and a hail of leather storming in from all directions, beat about Tom's head. But the solid chin took it all, buried into his chest when the gale became too great, and the round ended Delaney's great opportunity. Heenev, who now has conquered Paulino Uzeudun, Johnny Risko, Jimmy Maloney and has fought a draw with Jack Sharkey, in addition to his conquest of last night, thought Delaney one of the easiest of the lot. He was much disappointed in the Bridgeport warrior's lack of hitting power.

After watching Gillis and Hays, two youngsters, perform at the middle bag yesterday at Tampa, the president of the Washington Senators remarked that both apparently could play second as well as short.

Junior Class At Teachers College Presents Plays

The junior class of East Carolina Teachers College last night presented four one-act plays, which will be repeated this evening at eight o'clock. These are their contribution to the entertainment program for the year.

Four one-act plays, instead of three, as advertised, were presented, making an excellent series that passed from one mood to another, rising to a climax, but instead of by acts, as in one play, it was by different plays. These were:

"The King's Breakfast," by A. A. Milne, "Figures," by Louise Saunders, "The Beau of Bath," by Constance D'Arcy Mackay, and "Glory of the Morning," by William Ellery Leonard.

The curtain rose on the musical pantomime, a fairy tale scene, with reading and song accompaniment with the convention fairy tale characters of a king and a queen, and with the humbug animal, a cow, furnishing the humor. Miss Hilda Sutton appeared before the curtain and gave an explanation.

Miss Evelyn Jennings was at the piano. Miss Nina Ruth Rouse was soloist, and Miss Christine Bell was reader. The characters were Misses Julia Wood, as the King, Carrie Smith, as the Queen, Viola Scott, as the Cow, and Dorothy Gardner as the Milkmaid.

Then came a comedy, with modern thought, rich in satire and philosophy, clothed in the conventional dress of the fairy tale, with the temperamental princess, and the sophisticated prince, both with the trappings of the figureheads of royalty. Miss Elizabeth Morton made a delightful princess, with quick changes from the petulant to the tempestuous, from the softened lover to the shrewish mistress, and Miss Lillian Colston, as the prince, never failed to get her double meanings across to the audience, and the audience succumbed to his charms as the princess did.

The musicians, Misses Elizabeth Allen, Clyde Stokes, and Dorothy Gardner, and the guards, Misses Julia Wood, and Claire Jones, in the picturesque stage setting made a picture like a page from a fairy book. Miss Apples White was a good foil for the princess, in her part as the maid.

The finely polished, artistic play "The Beau of Bath," with the center piece, the portrait of the lovely belle of bath, Miss Virginia Perkins was indeed a lovely lady in the portrait, and lovelier still when she stepped out of the frame and became the lady of the dream. The beau, Miss Sara Fussell, sitting by, dreaming and lost in reminiscences, deliberate and calm, got the audience in the same mood. Mrs. Irene Kahn played the part of the old servant, Jepson, leading him on first, and then bringing the scene back to reality. The minuet, with soft music, added greatly to the scene, helping to bring back the spirit of the past. The dancers were Misses Evelyn Hutcheson, Kathleen Britt, Sammie L. McManus, and Vera Wester.

The climax of the evening was the beautiful Indian play, "Glory of the Morning," with Miss Evelyn Ewell in the title role. She was indeed the poetic symbol of the spirit of the Indian woman, with her lovely voice and graceful acting bringing out the beauty and pathos of Indian life. Rebecca Alexander, as the French cavalier squaw-mart, "Half-Moon," played well the difficult dual part. Annie Shields Vandyke as "Red Wing," the little chief, faithful to the Indians, a scornful of the pale face, in spite of his white blood, was indeed the spirit of loyalty and won the heart of the audience. Julia Blount, as the little daughter, "Oak Leaf," who yields to the call of her white blood, following the white father, turning her back on her pleading mother, was an appealing figure. Pratt Covington, as "Black Wolf," a visionary medicine man, was an excellent interpreter of the Winnebago.

The number of Greenville girls playing star parts in the plays, and filling important places on committees, is noticeable.

More attention to your debts and less to luxurious living will keep the Merchants Association collector away.

Local Lumber Dealers Join National Retail Dealers Association

Retail lumber dealers of Pitt county, it was announced today, are organizing for co-operation with the National Retail Lumber Dealers' Association in a nation-wide movement to promote the ownership of homes and the keeping of present structures constantly in repair as well as improved property. The county organizations all over the country will be supported in their work by a national newspaper advertising campaign which is to run for four years and which, it is estimated, will cost $40,000,000.

L. B. Garris, of Garris & Evans, of Greenville, has been appointed chairman of the organization for this county, by L. P. Lewin, of Cincinnati, president of the National Association. Mr. Garris will appoint committees to carry on the movement in this county within the next few days. The county organization will operate under the direction of H. H. Baxter, Charlotte, chairman for North Carolina.

"Build Now With Safety" is the slogan for the campaign. Mr. Lewin said in announcing the plans and purposes of the national association.

"This slogan, which will be the central theme of one of the largest newspaper advertising campaigns ever conducted in the history of business, contains two messages which we expect to present to the American people for the next four years," said Mr. Lewin's announcement. "One is the message of the freedom and security which ownership of a home brings to every family. Contentment, a larger measure of freedom from worry as to the future, the joy of ownership, the building of a better family life and a better community life all come from possession of a home of your own."

The value to the nation of the "own your home" movement is recognized everywhere by economists, social workers, statesmen, for it promotes thrift and order and makes better citizens. Our industry proposes to give this movement a tremendous impetus.

"Coupled with this advocacy of home owning will be the thought of keeping that home at its best—of keeping it constantly in repair and of making improvements where these are dictated by prudence and the thought of increasing the value of the property. Thousands of houses in this country could be made far more liveable and pleasant, and far more valuable, with a proportionately slight increase in the investment."

"That is our first message. The second is contained in the 'With Safety' half of the slogan. We hope to bring to all the millions of prospective buyers of homes, to the vast number of owners of homes that are in need of repair or improvement, and to call the industrial builders, a realization that safety and economy in buying building materials can best be obtained by dealing with reputable, well established retail lumber firms. To that end we have set up in our association a plan for the issuance to buyers of building material of 'Certificates of Safety.' These will guarantee to the purchaser, by a bond underwritten by the association, that the material he has bought conforms in grading with standards set up by the national association of manufacturers of that material, and in quantity with the dealers' invoice.

"In order that the buyer may know the dealers who are authorized to issue these certificates of safety, the association will supply to all co-operating dealers an electrically illuminated sign bearing the slogan 'Build Now With Safety,' and colored metal emblems, likewise bearing the slogan, to be attached to the sides of their delivery trucks.

"It is one of the established principles of modern business that this is the age of competition between industries. The National Retail Lumber Dealers' Association is sponsoring this campaign of education because it believes the cumulative effect of this tremendous volume of advertising will directly benefit every lumber dealer in the country by increasing the demand for the commodities he sells. There will be no lessening of the normal competition within the industry, but its individual units will cooperate to meet the competition of other businesses."

Woman's Club Meets

The Woman's Club held its regular monthly business meeting on Thursday afternoon.

Following the singing of the club song and repeating the collect reports from several chairmen were heard.

Mrs. Allbrook displayed posters which were sent out from the sanatorium during a physical examination of the month of March since tuberculosis seems to show its symptoms more plainly during this month. Mrs. Allbrook also announced the following nutrition classes to be held on March 7 and urged all mothers to attend. West Greenville school, Miss Nice; Model School, Miss Bomar; Evans Street school, Mrs. Frank.

A local physician will be at each school to explain the tuberculosis reports and the proper treatment for different types of cases.

Other points to be stressed at these classes will be the results of improper diet. The brightest percentage of tuberculosis was found during the recent tests to be among the high school students. Three main reasons for this were given: Lack of breakfast, the wrong kind of breakfast and not a sufficient amount of rest.

Another objective of the health department is the compiling of a report of the health work done in Pitt county for the past five years.

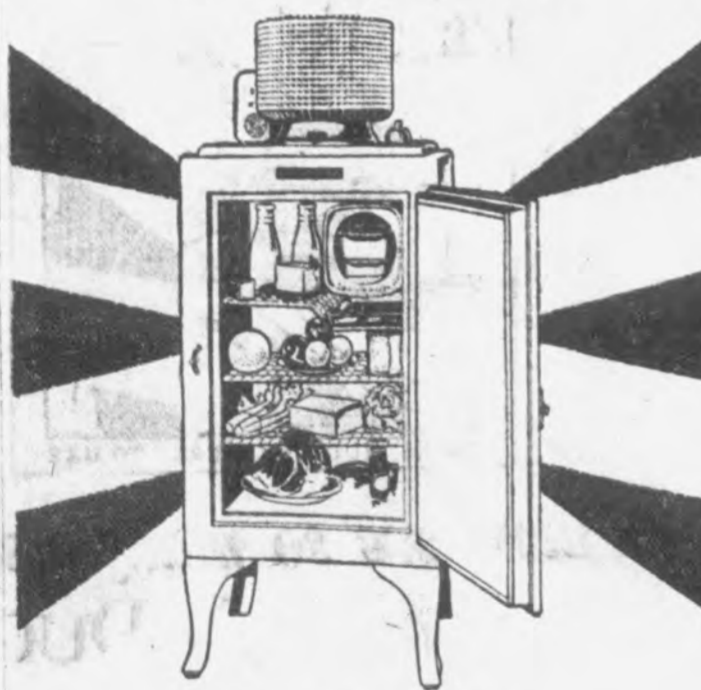

In Mrs. Austin's report for the Garden Club she asked the co-operation of all residents of Greenville during the annual clean up week which will come during this month. Housewives were urged to watch the garbage cans, particularly arranging to have them removed from the sidewalks as soon as they have been emptied. The advantages of the underground or buried garbage can were emphasized.

The next business matter discussed was the celebration of the eleventh anniversary of the Woman's Club on April 12, asked for suggestions in regard to same. They are planning to make this a most enjoyable and memorable occasion.

The next business matter discussed was the New York play, "The Poor Nut," which is brought to Greenville by the Better Plays Extension through the efforts of the Woman's Club. It was stated that the main object in sponsoring this play is to bring a New York cast in a clean wholesome high type Broadway show to the theater goers of Greenville. "The Poor Nut" is a rollicking comedy, full of spice and pep from start to finish.

GENERAL ELECTRIC Refrigerator

Not a single belt, fan or drain-pipe

There isn't an exposed moving part in the General Electric Refrigerator. There's nothing to get out of order. All the mechanism, built and tested in the General Electric laboratories, is hermetically sealed into a single steel casing. This is housed inside the coils. It has a permanent supply of special oil . . . it never needs oiling.

This new-day refrigerator has eliminated all problems of installation. Its mechanism (just one single piece) is lowered into the top of the specially designed cabinet. It is plugged into any electric outlet. And it works.

Come in and see the various models. And, meanwhile, mail the coupon below for a descriptive booklet.

ABOUT TOWN

"We go to Raleigh today determined to defeat Gastonia."
This terse statement was made this morning by C. W. Porter, director of athletics of Greenville public schools as he prepared to leave for State College where his team will take part in the tournament of basketball teams which opened in Raleigh yesterday.
"We realize, Gastonia has a strong team, but somehow we believe the fight will go in our favor."
"Greenville has had a most successful season in this branch of sport—the best in history—and if luck stays with us we are going to return from the tournament with higher honors to our credit."

"Chickens—more chickens—better chickens."
This was the way members of the county agricultural department described the shipment of Pitt county chickens now in progress in Aysen, Greenville and Farmville.
Two carloads of poultry will be shipped from Pitt and Edgecombe counties this week. Farmers will realize a tidy sum of money from their sale, and this should help them to no little extent in passing over the dull summer months.

"Poultry raising in Pitt county will be conducted on a more extensive scale next year," members of the board of agriculture asserted,
"and the outlook for this industry is very bright indeed."

"One can always tell when the first of the month comes by the change of parking laws on Evans street," a citizen remarked yesterday morning as he watched motorists start to park on one side and then have to change to the other side.

"It is a pity engineers didn't arrange for wider streets when the city was first laid off, because if they had we would be able to park on both sides instead of one."
"Many other towns of similar size have it on us in this way, but that's about the only advantage they have over us. Greenville may have narrow streets, but it has broad-minded men and women who are able to see above the surface of the pavement and visualize some of the great possibilities which the future holds for them."

"We are proud of the North Eastern Athletic Conference because we believe it meets the requirements of high school athletic organizations in this district," Mr.
Stephens, superintendent of Elizabeth City schools, told members of the conference in session at the high school here last Wednesday evening.

"It is true Elizabeth City might play to a greater advantage by not joining any conference, but we like the wholesome atmosphere of this new organization, and believe it will prove constructive to the physical and moral development of the young men and women of the territory."

"Each year no doubt will see the conference take on additional importance for the various schools involved, and I have not the slightest doubt in the world but its influence will tend to bind our clubs together in a greater bond of friendship."

"You may have tuberculosis!"
was the warning issued in placard form by members of the Woman's Club of Greenville, the advertising matter being paid for from funds derived from the sale of Tubercu-lost Christmas Seals.

This dread disease is most pronounced during the month of March, it was stated, hence the necessity of reminding the American public of consulting a physician in case symptoms become noticeable.

"Numbers of persons are receiving treatment for tuberculosis. You pass them on the streets daily, and never think for an instant that they would be affected in this way.
The disease is the public's worst enemy even in an inactive state,
for you can never tell when the dormant state will end."

"These posters put out under tuberculous associations of the United States are doing their work in combating the disease and everywhere they are assisting in every way possible."

Would Abolish Center Jump.
Chicago, March 2.—(AP)—Abolition of the center jump in basketball proposed by Sam Barry, Iowa coach, gained another advocate today in coach Harold G. Olson, of Ohio State.

This is a young man's store—Always will be

If this store lived in a land where young men wore rings in the nose
—we'd specialize in being ring
masters.

The call of youth finds echo in these cases.

In Spring furnishings, you'll find here the shirts—the cravats—the handkerchiefs and the hosiery that campus, school and young business life puts on when it goes calling.

Young Man, You Need Vitamins

Efficient people, the young man or woman at college or business, the mother in the home, the father facing the problems of office, shop or work-bench, should be vitamin-nourished.

Those who utilize health-building emulsified cod-liver oil, as in Scott's Emulsion, withstand the rigors of winter and resist coughs and colds, or similar infections, more efficiently than those who are vitamin-starved.

When you think of the wonderful health-protecting vitamins of emulsified cod-liver oil, you will naturally think in terms of pleasantly flavored
