EXAMINE BANK ACCOUNTS OF R. W. STEWART

Senate Teapot Dome Committee Fails to Find Incriminating Evidence, However.

Chicago, March 16.—(AP)—Examining the bank account of Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the board of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, the Senatorial Teapot Dome sub-committee today failed to find any unusual deposit in 1922, 1923, or 1924 in Stewart's account.

The Senatorial investigators sought from William H. Gilkes, assistant cashier of the Continental and Commercial National Bank, information as to whether Stewart had made a cash deposit of $500,000 after the Continental Trading Company was organized on November 16, 1921.

Stewart's account in this bank showed no such deposit. Chairman Nye directed Gilkes to find out if anyone opened an account in his bank with a deposit of $500,000 after 1921, and also to inform the committee later whether Stewart has a safety deposit box in the Continental and Commercial Bank.

Chicago, March 16.—(AP)—A further unfolding of the scheme for wiping out the Republican party deficit in 1923 with $100,000 of the Liberty bond profits made by Harry F. Sinclair in the Continental Trading Company oil deal was sought today by the Senate Teapot Dome sub-committee at its second day of hearings here.

Two thousand dollars more of the bonds were traced at the opening sessions. They went to B. A. Eckhart, Chicago miller and assistant treasurer of the Republican National Committee, to secure an advance of an equal amount he made to the committee and were sold by him.

Chairman Nye and Senator Norbeck, Republican, South Dakota, assume that these were a part of the $60,000 of the Sinclair bonds which Will H. Hays, a former National Republican chairman, sent to the late Fred W. Upham, treasurer of the National Committee until June, 1924. Hays obtained the bonds from Sinclair personally and distributed them among four prominent party men after Secretary Mellon and William M. Butler had refused to use them to secure donations by them to the party chest.

What the sub-committee here now is immediately interested in is tracing an item of $25,000 appearing in Upham's records for early 1924 as a donation from the Cook county Republican committee. Tomer Galapa, chairman of that committee, testified yesterday that he knew of no such contribution, but Charles V. Barrett, the treasurer of the county organization, testified that the contribution might have gone to Alexander Fyfe, who headed a county organization for the National Committee that year because of a three-way split in the regular organization during the 1924 campaign.

The large number of witnesses being examined in Chicago is explained by the decision of the sub-committee to call in all of those in Chicago who are recorded on Upham's records as having given money to the Republican committee in 1923 or early in 1924. Each witness has been examined and asked whether there was any transfer of Liberty bonds in return for their donations and the same question will be put to the others. The witness list reads like a social and business register of Chicago and Cook county, containing the names of many of the most prominent men in this section.

REMOVE THREE SHIP OFFICERS

Three Officers of Mediterranean Fleet Released by Britain.

London, March 16.—(AP)—Three British naval officers, including a Rear Admiral, have been suspended from duty as an outgrowth of a mysterious incident aboard the battleship Royal Oak, flagship of the Mediterranean fleet.

Some of the newspapers have even characterized the incident as a "naval mutiny," but no authoritative information is available.

Today an admiralty communique was issued saying that the three officers concerned in the Malta naval incident had been suspended.

FOUR MARINES KILLED WHEN PLANES CRASH

Two Pilots and Mechanics Meet Death in Collision at San Diego Flying Field.

San Diego, Calif., March 16.—(AP)—An aerial crash, apparently caused by a mistake in carrying out orders, resulting in death of four marine fliers, was under investigation here today.

It was the second tragedy of its kind here in two weeks, the first ending in the death of five men when a home made plane crashed to earth.

The marine accident occurred yesterday while three planes were flying in military formation. Lieut. Laurence R. De Wine, and Lieut. J. D. Swartwood, pilots of the two ill-starred planes, and H. C. Bailey and Corporal H. C. Chappelle their mechanics, were the victims.

Captain Harold D. Campbell, who was leading the three plane formation, said he had signalled Lieut. De Wine to take the lead, and that

Fail Fix Blame Of Dam Disaster

With Death Toll Standing at 206, Investigators Continue Effort to Unearth Cause of Tragedy in California.

Santa Paula, Calif., March 16.—(AP)—With the known death toll standing at 206, several sets of investigators dug deeper into the available evidence today in an effort to unearth the cause of the St. Francis Dam disaster.

Although two coroner's juries found yesterday that the victims came to their death by drowning as the result of the breaking of the dam, they did not attempt to fix the blame. From two official investigating sources, however, came reports that the foundation upon which the great structure was built was faulty.

The report of state engineer Edward Hyett, Jr., that "had the dam had a sufficiently strong foundation this great tragedy never would have happened," was echoed in a report by a Ventura county engineer, Charles Petit.

And on the heels of these reports Governor C. C. Young telephoned B. B. Meek, head of the Department of Public Works at Sacramento, to select a group of competent engineers to examine the dam.

The action, the Governor said, "was not taken in a spirit of hostility toward anyone," he added that there were "three parties at interest—those afflicted by the disaster, the people of Los Angeles and the California public at large."

A federal grant was given to another investigation of the disaster when Elwood Mead, director of the United States Reclamation Service

BORAH RAISES FUND TO LIFT DEBT OF SHAME

Idaho Republican Asks for Contributions to Repay Sinclair Bond Donation.

Washington, March 16.—(AP)—Pending adoption of a similar course by the Republican National Committee, Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, will appeal to members of his party throughout the country for contributions to lift the "obligation of shame" involved in Harry F. Sinclair's donation to the committee in 1923 of $100,000 in Liberty bonds.

These bonds, representing part of the profits of the Continental Trading Company and shared in by the oil operator and lessee of Teapot Dome are being traced by the Senate, some of them by a sub-committee in Chicago, as a result of testimony by Will H. Hays that he paroled out the securities to Republican leaders and others and sought donations in like amounts from them so it would not appear that such a large sum came from one man.

Senator Borah's action followed an individual course in trying to pay the debt, he said, because the Republican committee had not as yet acted on his appeal addressed to William M. Butler, chairman, to give the money back.

Butler, who took over the chairmanship after the Sinclair bonds were turned over to former chairman Hays for use in securing the committee deficit from the 1920 campaign, has contended that it was up to those who handled the transaction to consider whether the money should be returned.

Although the Idaho Senator did not criticize any present party managers in his formal statement outlining his course, his step is looked upon as having some political significance in view of the fact that he is considered as a possible presidential candidate this year.

Borah said that since his appeal to chairman Butler had gone out, contributions and promises of more than $5,000 had been sent to him. He declined to make public the names of the donors and explained that when the Republican committee saw fit to go ahead with a similar plan he would gladly give it up.

Local Rotarians Get High Rating For Attendance

In a report just received from headquarters of the 57th district the Greenville Rotary Club stood eighth from top in attendance among the 42 clubs in the district.

The attendance of the Greenville Club for the month of February was 99 per cent. This was due to the fact that the club had two 100 per cent meetings during the month.

For the month of February the club started off with a 100 per cent meeting and it is hoped that every member of the club will make an unusual effort to be present at the remaining meetings for the month.

The next meeting of the club will be held Monday evening March 19, will be the annual ladies' night of the club. The program committee for this meeting is working hard and promises one of the best meetings ever held.

It is hoped that every member of the club will be present for this meeting and bring with them their wives and sweethearts.

Princess Victoria Sticks to Husband

Cologne, Germany, March 16.—(AP)—Princess Victoria of Schaumburg-Lippe was fervently loyal today to her husband, Alexander Subkoff, who has been ordered expelled from Germany after being involved in a series of escapades since his marriage four months ago.

"We are perfectly happy together," she said. "Our only desire is to be left alone."

Told of the expulsion order, she branded it "an infamous lie." indignantly the sister of the former Kaiser repudiated the suggestion that her husband, sensing that he would be expelled, fled secretly to the Congo.

From monarchist quarters, Princess Victoria received no sympathy. From the first they have regarded the marriage of the 63-year old princess to the 27-year old Russian engineer as a deplorable misalliance and a serious blow to the monarchist cause.

The hope was expressed that Subkoff's expulsion would save his wife's private fortune from being touched further by her errant husband.

The train was made up of several express cars and two day coaches. The engine and three express cars went into a ditch, overturning.

The day coaches did not leave the track. The dead: J. W. Clark, age 57, Titusville, Fla., engineer. Fireman Howard, negro. A white express messenger and two negro helpers, unidentified.

As far as could be determined no passengers were hurt.

MORE TOBACCO THAN EVER IS SOLD IN STATE

Raleigh, March 16.—(AP)—North Carolina's tobacco farmers, selling a hundred million more pounds of tobacco this past season, than the previous one netted themselves about twelve million dollars more than they did the previous season. This on the basis of sales through February.

North Carolina markets sold 463,846,372 pounds of tobacco up to March 1, with 99 percent of the crop marketed, the State federal crop reporting service announced today. The average selling price was $29.96 per hundred pound.

Figures for the previous season were 370,232,524 pounds sold at an average price of $28.40. The last report of the season will be issued in about ten days.

The season's sales brought in about 108 million dollars March 1. The 1926-27 season's total golden harvest was about 96 million dollars. This was for the entire season, however, and the report to be issued within the next ten days will give the final figures for the 1927-28 season.

February sales averaged, in today's monthly report, was $13.98, with the ebb of the season dumping the poor crop class on the floors.

February sales totaled 10,673,445 pounds against 8,136,678 pounds averaging $15.91 in February 1927.

Most of the markets have closed and their totals will be added to these making sales in compiling the general report for the entire season.

Growers and warehousemen said that much new bright belt weed is sold on the earlier border belts markets prior to the Eastern Carolina opening which might just as well remain here. The U. S. tobacco association is asked to set an earlier opening.

LEVINE HEADS FOR NEW YORK DURING TODAY

Flyer Joined at Charleston by Miss Bowl and Pilot Wilmer Stultz.

Charleston, S. C., March 16.—(AP)—Unfavorable weather conditions along the Atlantic coast this afternoon caused Charles A. Levine, Miss Mabel Boll and Wilmer Stultz to postpone their scheduled flight to New York in the trans-Atlantic monoplane Columbia.

The three fliers, enroute home from Havana, are visiting friends in the city and expect to take off tomorrow morning if the weather conditions are favorable.

Charleston, S. C., March 16.—(AP)—Wilmer Stultz, piloting the trans-Atlantic monoplane Columbia, landed at the Navy Yard here at 9:15 this morning from Brunswick, Ga.

He will be joined by Charles A. Levine, owner, and Miss Mabel Boll, passenger, and the three will proceed to New York early this afternoon, he said.

Levine and Miss Boll arrived here last night by train from Brunswick where they had been forced down by fog on a flight from Jacksonville, Fla. Stultz was left with the monoplane to follow today.

Stultz and Levine are expected to make a flight over Polly Beach, 12 miles from here, this morning, to ascertain the feasibility there for Levine's proposed endurance flight. They said their take off for New York this afternoon would depend on the weather conditions but that present indications were favorable for the hop.

Levine on arriving here expressed much concern over the fate of Captain Walter R. Hinchliffe and the Hon. Elsie Mackay.

Levine said he believed Hinchliffe encountered dense fog which forced him down to low altitude and formed ice on the wings of the Endeavour. He said Hinchliffe probably was so far out to sea that he was forced to continue until the plane was forced down.

Levine when questioned regarding a flight to Europe via the Azores taking off from the local field, said that such a flight seemed feasible, but that he had no such plans.

While at Brunswick, Stultz named as a probable pilot for Miss Boll's attempt to fly to Europe was mentioned. Stultz saying that if satisfactory arrangements could be made he probably would be the pilot who her plane takes off in late April or soon thereafter.

"I hope Mr. Stultz will be my pilot," said Miss Boll, "he is a wonderful aviator."

State Income Tax Leads Last Year

Raleigh, March 16.—(AP)—State revenue department auditors working overtime to clear desks of income tax returns today entered two million dollars on their books with another million remaining in unopened mail, said commissioner R. A. Doughton.

Today's mail was much heavier than was yesterday's Mr. Doughton said, explaining, however, that yesterday's receipts contained the larger checks from corporations.

Yesterday's official figures were $4,140,276.99, nearly one and one-half million more than on the same day last year.

Estimates of the total return were expected to be ready late today.

Washington, March 16.—(AP)—President Coolidge has delivered a rebuke to agitators for complete independence in Porto Rico, that little island of the West Indies group ceded to the United States after the Spanish-American war.

Abandon Hope Safety Of Fliers

Indication Today Were That Capt. Hinchliffe and Miss Elsie McKay Were Victims of Stormy Atlantic.

New York, March 16.—(AP)—All indications today were that the Honorable Elsie Mackay and Captain Walter G. R. Hinchliffe had been lost at sea on their trans-Atlantic flight in the monoplane Endeavour.

The only optimism was hope that the fliers might have been picked up by a vessel as in the cases of Hawker and George Haldeman and Ruth Elder. Some suggestions were that they might have reached Newfoundland and landed in some remote spot, but in previous trans-Atlantic flights similar hopes were in vain.

The latest rumor about the plane was that of somewhat of a mirage. A hotel proprietor's wife at Old Orchard Beach, Me., thought she saw a wreck of an airplane on Stratton Island three miles off shore. The coastguard investigated and concluded that the sun's rays on a farm house window deceived the woman.

With no report from the plane which it cleared the tip of Ireland Tuesday morning, save an unconfirmed rumor that it had been sighted by a ship 170 miles off the Irish coast, it was generally believed that search would be futile and that nothing more would be heard of the one-eyed English war ace and the daughter of Lord Inchcape.

Radio station WOR of New York City held religious services yesterday for the missing fliers, prayer being offered and the unseen audience being asked to join in the song

"Lead Kindly Light Amid the Encircling Gloom," and other hymns.

John Gillespie, American representative of Captain Hinchliffe, however was still hopeful today that the fliers had been forced down near some ship at sea which was unable to communicate their safety or land stranded in Newfoundland or Nova Scotia.

SOME CHANGES REPORTED BY THE PHILLIES

Winter Haven, Fla., March 16 (AP)—Barney Shotten, a great major league outfielder in his day, went to the minors to learn the trade of manager, and now has returned to the Philadelphia National to practice some of his lessons along the big time.

Manager Shotten found no rule in the minors to require players to play infield positions because they were infielders, so the first thing he did as the Phillies' manager was to convert two infielders into outfielders.

Russell Wrightstone, who has played every infield position for the Phillies with only fair success, will spend this summer in the outfield. He can hit and throw and has shown promise of developing into a good fly chaser.

The other player who thought he was an infielder is Detrick University of Virginia shortstop and a full fledged lawyer entitled to practice before the bar of the Old Dominion. Detrick's great arm attracted Barney's attention early in the game and the fellow alumnus of eppa rixey, will be given every chance to make good.

Fred Leach will not be molested in center field and Cy Williams with his 30 home runs of last year and Al Nixon, who can field and hit, will be kept around as may be Charlie Spalding and Danny Southers.

The infield will have two new faces, Bill Kelly, almost as big as Cincinnati's first baseman Kelly, without the E, has come from Newark to play first base, and Arthur Whitney, a New Orleans star last year has an edge on Burney Friers at third base. Fresno Thompson and Heine Sand have been reflected at second and short, there is a death of infield substitutes, if Wrightstone and Detrick remain permanently among the outfielders but the management is crossing that bridge when it comes to it.

The Phillies could use another catcher and several pitchers. Captain Jimmy Wilson will catch most of the games and Harry O'Donnel is available from last year. John Schulte, with the Cardinals last year, has not shown whether he will like Philadelphia this summer.

The club which finished far in the rear in the 1927 race suffered a serious blow before active preparations for 1928 were started when Frank Ulrich, able pitcher, was stricken by pneumonia. He is in a Baltimore hospital and the new season will be many weeks old before he can hope to throw a ball to help his team's position.

The club seems to have strengthened its pitching staff by winter trades bringing Jimmy Fling from St. Louis back to Philadelphia, where he has toiled before and Bob McGraw, also a Cardinal pitcher last season. Clarence Mitchell, again but still active spitballer from the port side, Alex Ferguson and Claude Willoughby of last year's staff are at their posts again. Lester Sweetland, native Floridian, who has returned to the club after an excursion to the minors, may be another left hand addition to the staff.

Among the new pitchers who have shown impressive spring form are Ray Benge, from Vase in the Texas league, June Green of Portsmouth, (Virginia league) club and Russell Miller, who did great work for Syracuse under his present boss.

Manager Shotten is taking his job very seriously. He has convinced his players that baseball is strictly business and in their Florida games his active performers have shown much enthusiasm. The former Cardinal believes the Phillies will get out of the cellar.

British Runner Leads Marathon

Seligman Ariz., March 16.—(AP)—The hardships of the 3,400 mile cross country marathon, the 13th lap of which was faced today by the one hundred odd entrants remaining, have claimed one of the most interesting of the contestants, Charles W. Hart, 63-year old British athlete, dropped out yesterday on the 33.3 mile stretch from Peach Springs to Seligman.

Through the first 11 laps of the transcontinental race from Los Angeles Hart jogged at a steady pace finishing nearly always near the top and beating scores less than half his age to the tape. With Hart out, Arthur Newton, the 44-year old British runner entered from Rhodesia, South Africa, became the oldest of the race. At the start, today Newton led the field by more than seven hours in total elapsed time taken to cover the 435.7 miles from Los Angeles. It has taken him 67 hours 10 minutes and 30 seconds.

Andrew Payne, whose time yesterday was 5:39.10. He is in second place, Newton's time was 5:47.30. Arne Souminen, Finnish entrant from Detroit, is third, and John Cronick, Canadian, fourth.

Miss Filkey also is entered with four others, including Miss Dorothy Smith, a slim little red head only five feet tall, who has done forty yards in 5 1-5 seconds. Besides the two events for girls there are 15 events for men.

COL. AND MRS. R. R. COTTEN CELEBRATE 62nd WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Col. and Mrs. Robert Randolph Cotten celebrated their sixty-second wedding anniversary at their country estate, "Cottendale," on Wednesday, Mrs. Russell B. Wiggins, of Boston, and Mr. and Mrs. Julian Timberlake, of Raleigh, were their only children fortunate enough to enjoy the delightful occasion with them. Col. and Mrs. Cotten were planning to spend the day quietly and were much surprised about ten o'clock when friends began arriving with suitable gifts and congratulations. From that hour until far in the evening, numerous guests called, some remaining for lunch and others for dinner. True southern hospitality prevailed in "open house" at "Cottendale" whose owners have been famed for their hospitality for the past sixty-two years. Among the guests who called were numbered friends from all parts of the state, and congratulatory messages and telegrams were received from all parts of the United States. Mrs. Cotten wore a corsage sent from the girls in the Cotten Building at the North Carolina College for Women in Greensboro and Col. Cotten wore a boutonniere. The girls from the Cotten Building of East Carolina Teachers College in this city, called during the afternoon.

The host and hostess were recipients of many gifts from individuals and a large number of clubs over the state sent flowers and telegrams. Among the gifts were several beautiful wedding cakes. The 62nd of the Century club called in a body and presented flowers to Col. and Mrs. Cotten. A good representation of the Woman's club of this city called and presented them a wedding cake. The cake was surmounted with a miniature bride and groom. The bride was dressed in a shower of handkerchiefs for Mrs. Cotten and the groom was dressed in a shower of handkerchiefs for Mr. Cotten. The Round Table and Sans Souci clubs sent flowers. The Farmville Woman's club sent a wedding cake decorated with the initials and dates.

During the day a number of pictures were taken and it was truly a day of great joy for all who called as well as the bride and groom of sixty-two years.

Col. and Mrs. Cotten are an outstanding couple of Pitt county and are among the best known and best loved citizens of North Carolina. Before her marriage on March 14, 1866, Mrs. Cotten was Miss Sallie Southall, of Murfreesboro, Va. She is called the "Mother of the North Carolina Federation of Women's Clubs." She was particularly active in early club work for women, when other women declined to take prominent public stands. She is now honorary president of the State Federation. An oil painting of her was presented last year by Col. Cotten to the Sallie Southall Cotten dormitory at the North Carolina College for Women in Greensboro. As an author, Mrs. Cotten has achieved notable success, especially with her Federation History and Legend of the White Doe a story of Virginia Dare. She was instrumental in getting the sculptor to present the statue of Virginia Dare to the Hall of History in Raleigh. In club work she has been a great and popular leader. She was one of the North Carolina women honored for notable work in literature, music, art and civics, respectively. As a pioneer in civic affairs for women, she still, at the age of 61 years, takes an active interest and ranks as one of the greatest inspirations among the women of the state.

Colonel Cotten is 88 years old or young. He was born near Tarboro in Edgecombe county and moved to Pitt county in 1868, where he has been a large planter and farmer, business man and bank director, and has achieved much prominence. He took a distinguished part in the War Between the States, fighting courageously for the Confederacy, after volunteering into Scotland Neck Cavalry, Third Regiment, North Carolina Cavalry. He is always an outstanding figure at the Confederate reunions, which he attends annually. He served on the State Executive Democratic Committee in 1889 and for several years later. He served as judge of Pitt county court from 1894 to 1898. He represented Pitt county in the House of Representatives in 1909 and 1911 and in the Senate from 1911 to 1913. He served on the staff of General Metts and General Smith in the N. C. Division of Confederate Veterans and served with rank of Colonel on staff of General Haldeman and General Freeman in the United Confederate Veterans.

nesses be recalled from France? Will the party heads prevail on Sinclair to testify fully and freely as desired by the Senate committee? There is no sign of such yielding.

ABOUT TOWN

"Major Rodgers, of the United States army, will inspect the local unit of North Carolina National Guardsmen this evening," Captain Lester Jones told the writer of this column today.

"This inspection calls today to my mind the last time our boys went through such an ordeal. They came out with the highest rating it is possible for National Guardsmen to receive. It was a gratifying report for officers of the unit who have labored uniringly for the past several months to keep the soldiers in first class condition."

"We were highly gratified at the interest manifested by Tarboro business men in the proposal to open Tar river to navigation," a local man who attended the public meeting conducted by Major Snow in the Edgecombe town yesterday afternoon, said today.

"Tarboro believes water transportation is essential to the constant development and growth of this locality, and her business men expressed opinion they would be able to ship many tons of goods annually over an established boat line to northern cities.

"The same opinion prevails among Greenville and Pitt county people who have been using their influence in behalf of the movement for many years. They are tired of paying excessive freight rates to the railroads, and believe they will not get desired relief until water rates are made possible.

"With an expert at work compiling facts as to possible tonnage of freight available in this community, local men expect to be able to furnish Major Snow, government representative, with forceful data on the resources and possibilities of this locality."

"Next Monday night will be annual ladies' night with us," Bill Rogers, president of the Greenville Rotary Club, mentioned to the writer this morning.

"We always endeavor to make this occasion the greatest of the year, for it is natural we want to put on the very best front possible while the boss of the house is with us all.

"The program for the next meeting is a deep, dark secret. It will be kept a secret until everyone gathers around the banquet table and gets the spirit of Rotary flowing through their veins.

"The club extends a most cordial welcome to Rotary Anns and it is hoped every member will be present with his superior half."

"We are making an effort to encourage the raising of poultry among farmers of Pitt county," E. P. Arnold, director of the Pitt county board of agriculture, declared this morning, "and while we have succeeded admirably we have not aroused quite as much interest as desired.

"Extra money is what growers of this section want to do away with dull times of spring and summer, and the only way they will be able to get it is by raising chickens, hogs, etc.

"Poultry raising has proved profitable to other communities. In fact, there are thousands of people existing today simply through the raising of poultry. There is no reason on earth why our farmers should not be able to bring in a considerable sum of money annually through more attention to this side line.

"If you are a farmer get busy and give some attention to chicken raising. You should reap good returns."

The newly formed Eastern Carolina League, have signed up a mound artist by the name of Wagner, and if he is half as good as Hans Wagner, one of the greatest players America has ever produced, he should be one of the most brilliant stars in the Eastern Carolina baseball firmament," a fan remarked to the writer this morning.

"This hurler will come to the local team with something of a reputation, and it is believed by those who know of his past record that he will be able to win many a ball game for the Tobacconists.

"As pitching is one of the main things a ball club has to depend upon, it is hoped this Mr. Wagner will scintillate like a star all through the season and that his present reputation will be maintained without much trouble."

"The Tobacconists now have eight games scheduled for exhibition purposes prior to the opening of the Eastern Carolina League April 25," Manager Deacon Joliff said today.

"These games will be played with three clubs of the Piedmont league, the Medical College of Virginia and Atlantic Christian College. They should give the locals plenty opportunity to limber up for the real test when the current season opens.

"It will not be long now before training season opens, and when it does the locals will lose little time in getting ready for the first exhibition game on the 9th of the month."

Arrest "Rotten" Liquor Dealers At Capitol City

Raleigh, March 16.—(AP)—A tight drawing net laid by undercover men who worked secretly for several weeks, today drew closer and closer upon alleged prohibition law violators of Raleigh and vicinity today.

A day and night of work by federal agent P. M. Caudle, of Fayetteville and his assistants resulted in arrests of 25 men here, with indications the number would be greatly increased before the week-end had passed.

The raids of the agents was looked upon by Wake county sheriff Numa P. Turner today as the biggest single blow struck at the retail "rotten" liquor business since Mr. Caudle took charge of Eastern Carolina forces. Sheriff Turner's deputies aided in the raids.

The raids began in the uptown business section of the capital city, within the very shadow of the postoffice building from which Mr. Caudle directed the work.

STOCK MARKET

New York, March 16--(AP)--The stock market started on another wild rampage today under the leadership of General Motors which was bid up six points to a new high record of 169. Specialties, which are reported to harbor a large short interest, were again advanced in violent fashion, more than a score gains, running from 5 to 15 points.

Trading continued at a feverish pace with the 2,500,000 share mark passed before the end of the third hour.

While the increase of more than $50,000,000 in brokers' loans was a cause of some uneasiness in conservative banking quarters, it failed to stem the country-wide speculation in stocks which has now been under way for about ten days.

Wall Street looked for a huge reinvestment demand when the mid-month dividend and interest checks were distributed. The swift advance of the high grade issues was accepted as evidence of a small floating supply, while the more speculative issues soared on the further retreat of an over-extended short interest.

With the eastern trunk line executives in session here to consider a proposed plan of consolidation, railroad shares began to attract a larger following. Jersey Central jumped 15 points to a new high record at 315 and New York Central, Wabash Common, St. Louis Southwestern and Great Northern preferred all exceeded their previous 1928 maximum prices.

Some profit-taking developed in the early afternoon when Hudson Motors broke from its high of 99 7-8 to 94 7-8 or more than a point below last night's close, but it caused only a temporary interruption of the advance in other issues. Chrysler crossed 65 and was accompanied into new high ground by such issues as Brooklyn Manhattan Transit, Interboro Rapid Transit, Cluett Peabody, United Drug, National Tea, Rossia Insurance and Sinclair Oil. American Railway Express, which recently slipped from 138 3-4 to 116, rallied from 120 to 130 in today's trading.

The closing was irregular. Total sales approximated 3,900,000 shares.

WAR VETERAN CONFESSES

By a well-planned manoeuvre the two tiny sons of George Chisholm, Canadian war veteran, were pushed off a plank into the Indiana Harbor Ship Canal. Too many mouths to feed was the nagging complaint of Chisholm's housekeeper, Mrs. Helen Lawrence, upper right. Upper insert shows the father; lower left, Mrs. Chisholm, mother of the dead boy, now estranged from her husband and living in England; bottom, Edgar, seven, and George, Jr., the boys who thought they "were playing movie" with their dad.

WILL WEDDING BELLS RING?

Capital gossip has it rumored that this well-known couple are engaged. Of course it is John Coolidge and Miss Florence Trumbull, daughter of Connecticut a governor. Mrs. Coolidge had the young folks to dinner at Northampton, Mass., recently, and the word got back to Washington rumor-runners.

How Many Will You Save?

If your newly-arrived chicks could talk they would say: "Do not feed us until we are 72 hours old. We are supplied with food during this period by the remaining part of the egg yolks which we absorbed into our bodies just before we were hatched. When we are 72 hours old give us a feed which will provide life and growth vitamins." There are 1592 hatcheries which say, "Feed Purina." They know what it takes to keep chicks alive and growing. A new shipment of Startena is here. Tell us how many bags you want.

Major Rodgers To Inspect National Guardsmen Here

Major Rodgers, Field Artillery, U. S. Army, with Captain Dempsey, Inf. North Carolina National Guard, will inspect the local military unit Friday evening at 8:00 P. M. at the armory.

Battery "E" 113th PA-NC-NG was last inspected by Lieut. Col. Raymond M. Briggs, PA, U. S. A. March 18, 1927, and the rating given by him was the highest that an National Guard unit can get. Very Satisfactory.

The unit is working to a man this time trying to hold their record. The moral and spirit of the organization is high, having just come through the basketball season with a high record.

All old-timers, Capt. Jones says, who still have the spirit and feel that they would love to see a military formation once again are requested to be present and pass on the local unit.

The inspecting officer is an old-timer and knows the game. He will leave nothing undone.

that sum, we actually spent. Let's hope we'll keep out of the next war.

The Los Angeles Examiner reminds you that for forty billions you could build fifteen great cities like Los Angeles. You could build two million miles of good roads, at $20,000 a mile. You could send 10,000,000 boys and girls through college at a cost of $4,000 each, or build nearly 1,000 school houses costing a million each, for every state in the union.

We hesitated about the Panama Canal, "so terribly expensive." For the price of that war we could build 120 Panama Canals, do all the work this nation needs, canals to ocean and Gulf from the Lakes, irrigation, Colorado River, everything, and have billions left over.

AND PLEASE REMEMBER THIS—One of those forty billions honestly and efficiently invested in aircraft and submarines, would make another war unnecessary, and the aircraft would pay their cost in peace, working for the post office, carrying express and passengers, keeping up a self-supporting army of officers, ready to fight if necessary.

The bursting of a dam, part of Los Angeles' water supply in San Francisco Valley, cost several hundred lives. Reasons are given for the dam giving away, but no adequate excuse. "Water seeping into the earth at each end of the dam, weakened the hold of the great concrete wall. It should be someone's business to learn why the dam was built that way—and what danger there is at other dams. Why fragments of broken concrete crumbled in the fingers.

Compared with similar disasters, by flood, California's accident is fortunately mild. There was the big flood that drowned all but Noah's family. The rainbow guarantees against a repetition of that wholesale calamity, but small floods have wrought havoc.

Five hundred years ago in Holland 100,000 were drowned, and at Kailong, China, nearly 300 years ago 300,000 lost their lives; 300,000 were drowned at Bengal, in India, 50 years ago. Many times in history eruptions of the sea, river floods and similar disasters have taken 100,000 lives and more at a time. This country can congratulate itself upon the fact that the Mississippi flood of last year, destroying hundreds of millions in property, cost only 200 lives. That was, thanks to admirable work done by the army and navy, and to the prompt, scientific direction of Herbert Hoover, chosen by President Coolidge, in the emergency.

President Lowell, able head of Harvard University, liked some plates, 100 years old, dug up on Harvard territory, and decided to have more like them. The original plates were made by the British Wedgwood Pottery, and an order for 42,000 Harvard plates has been placed there.

It is not important, a few thousand dollars. But money given to Harvard is made in America, produced by American workers and as a general proposition, institutions and individuals rich Americans, might well give their work to those that have made them rich—the workers of America. If Oxford needed 42,000 new plates, the job would not be sent to the United States.

Hinchliffe, British flier, said to be on his way across the Atlantic westward is the type of Britisher that Kipling likes to describe. It is hard for him to get enough danger. He won the distinguished flying cross by bringing down nine enemy planes and two captive balloons in the war. He did not stop fighting, when he was shot down in France in 1917 and lost his right eye. If courage can conquer the Atlantic, he will win.

British women also possess fine flying courage, the Hon. Elsie MacKaye, third daughter of Lord Inchape, is said to be coming with Hinchliffe. Another British woman, Lady Carberry, piloting her own plane, was killed, with a passenger at Malrobi, Africa, on Tuesday. It does not flatter men's vanity, but there is little doubt that women possess greater physical courage than men. Ask your dentist.

If it were not so, the Lord would probably not have chosen women for the most painful, dangerous task of motherhood. If the earth depended on men for population, it would be thinly populated.

Porto Rico appealing for freedom to adopt methods to recover from a "grave economical situation." "Without admitting the existence of a grave economical situation," in the finances of the government of Porto Rico," President Coolidge wrote, "the present difficulty, which it is hoped is but temporary, is exclusively the result of the exercise by the elected representatives of the people of Porto Rico of an authority granted by the present very liberal organic law."

(The organic law referred to liberalized home rule in the island is known as the Jones act which took effect in 1917. It replaced the civil form of government prescribed by the Foraker act of 1900. Before that a military government was in operation there.)

The President described the people of Porto Rico as citizens of the United States with all the rights and privileges of other citizens of this country, and declared that before American occupation the island people had received practically no training in self government.

TALK COTTON DEVELOPMENT AT FOUNTAIN

Other speakers of the evening were M. G. Manning, representing the North Carolina Cotton Growers Association and E. F. Arnold, director of the department of agriculture of Pitt county.

Dr. Winters said this state produces more 7-8 cotton that the mills consume and that they were forced to buy considerable 1-16 staple from other territories to take care of their demand. He declared the raising of this staple brand of cotton would net the grower from $7 to $15 to the bale.

He said it is impossible for the planters of North Carolina to compete with Texas and other states in the production of short staple owing to the facilities of cultivating and harvesting the crop.

Mr. Manning discussed the needs of better marketing and outlined ways and means to accomplish this end.

Mr. Arnold told of shipments of poultry and hogs from Pitt county and said the farmer could greatly increase his earnings by giving attention to this side line. He said preparations were already under way for an increase of annual shipments and asked the farmers to cooperate in making next year the greatest in history of the county.

FOUR MARINES KILLED WHEN PLANES CRASH

(Continued from Page 1) Lieut. Swarthout, instead of remaining in position, moved forward as De Wine also pushed his plane ahead to execute the order.

The De Wine and Swarthout planes collided and seemed to hang together for an instant. Then they plunged, nose down.

The silk parachutes of all four victims were found open after the two planes struck the earth about 200 feet apart, but it appeared that none of the four had attempted to get clear of the machines. All four were found dead when rescuers reached the wreckage.

De Wine had been flying about three years and Swarthout about six. The latter had been here only about a month, having originally been stationed at Paris Island, S. C., enlisting from Milwaukee. De Wine was from New York City, Chappelle came from Woolsey, Ga., and Bailey from Grand Haven, Mich.

REMOVES THREE SHIP OFFICERS

The incident itself was cloaked in mystery.

Commander Carlyon Bellairs in the House of Commons late last night, questioned the government regarding a report that the captain and some of the other officers of the vessel had refused to sail under command of their admiral and had been court-martialed and had been court-martialed and had been court-martialed.

Tank Maze Contest-Valuable Prizes Given

considered eligible for a prize. And the findings of our judges are final. The contest is open to everyone except employees of The Reflector or White's Theatre, or First National Pictures, Inc., and their immediate families.

Herewith we present the first two sections of our tank maze through which we hope to bring much fun and the chance to win a prize to our readers. The cuts represent two sections of the battlefields of the World War much as it must have seemed to the heroes of the American Tank Corps when they went into action Sept. 12, 1918 in the St. Mihiel offensive.

Before them lay No Man's Land with its pitfalls, its barbed wire entanglements, its shell holes, its trenches, its bombs, shell fire, machine guns and its horrors, all made more terrible by the stench and smoke of battle.

Out of training but a few brief months, it was their duty to pick their way through the haze of the unknown battlefields to victory, just as it is your problem to take a pencil and trace out the only line which will carry you through this section of our maze.

Look for another section of our Tank Maze here tomorrow. And meantime take your pencil and trace through the only line in today's maze which will carry you through correctly. When all six sections have been printed, and you have solved them all, piece them together in order, and take them to the Tank Maze Editor, White's Theatre. Remember, speed as well as neatness and accuracy is essential, for answers will be considered in the order received.

ABANDON HOPE FOR SAFETY OF FLIERS (Continued from page one) evolved a scheme to escape detection. She used the name of a business friend, with his consent, for the acquisition of 5,000 pounds and then approached Hinchliffe who was enthusiastic about the plan. It was arranged that he receive a salary of 100 pounds a month and should go to America to buy a machine.

"A few weeks ago there was a little dispute, the naval officer who acted as Elsie's organizer wishing to accompany the pair but eventually

Ice Competition Talked Today At Charlotte Meet

Charlotte, March 16.—(AP)—Competition and ethics in the ice business were topics which engaged the attention of members of the North Carolina Ice Exchange here today as the body entered upon the second day of its annual convention. Col. Wade H. Phillips, director of the State Department of Conservation and Development, was a speaker on the program. His topic was "Unethical Practices."

Getting around the competition offered by home electrical refrigerator plants and other recent developments in the refrigeration business was assigned Walter Cone of Atlanta, for discussion.

A striking contrast of conditions 40 years ago and at the present was drawn for the ice men yesterday by their president, S. Eanes, of Lexington.

"The heaviest users of ice 40 years ago were the saloons and the most popular ice was 'white ice,'" said Mr. Eanes in his address to the ice men. "Now ice is a recognized household necessity, and has undergone many refinements and improvements."

FIRST HOUR

SECOND HOUR

Here's a new and fascinating game! And with money in it, too! Beginning today, the Reflector is going to give its readers a chance to trace the heroes of the United States Tank Corps through the smoke and shell fire, and over the projectile-roughened, entanglement-strewn battlefields of the Great War. And to those who do so most successfully it is going to award the following cash prizes: First Prize, $3; Second Prize, $2

Third Prize, $1. And that's not all. Because the idea of this unique contest was suggested by the motion picture "The Patent Leather Kid," First National Pictures' epic of the American Tank Corps, this newspaper will also give as prizes—5 tickets to its motion picture classic, which comes to White's Theatre, Wednesday, March 21.

How are our readers going to follow the tortuous course of these great, steel-clad tractors and the heroes who manned them? Very simply. All that is needed is a well-sharpened pencil and a copy of The Reflector.

For we are going to present the history of the American tanks in action in the World War in the form of a maze. Each day, beginning today, and continuing for the next few days, we shall print a two column maze. Just as the heroes of the tanks corps found there was but a single course which would lead them through the smoke-blackened battlefields to honor, so through all six of these mazes runs but a single line which goes from beginning to end. It's up to you to find that line, and follow it day by day.

While you may prefer to hold these daily sections of the maze until you have all six, we advise against this, because the time in which you complete your solution will have an important bearing on your winning a prize.

When all six mazes, or rather all six sections of the maze have been printed, they are to be pieced together and delivered to the "Tank Maze Editor," White's Theatre.

Prizes will be awarded on the basis of neatness, accuracy and the time of receipt of your solution at the office of the theatre. Remember you must complete your solution of all six sections of the maze before sending it in. Solutions sent in separate sections will not be withdrew."

Apart from the necessity of secrecy due to possible family intervention a second reason for secrecy in America with whom the negotiations were conducted decided that from a publicity and this was agreed upon, although not by Elsie who was not concerned much about it.

The express also quoted an expert aviator friend of Captain Hinchliffe, who was aware of the plans, as declaring the machine and instruments were perfect in every respect and not a single thing was overlooked. Hinchliffe, however, was slated to have realized the risk of ice or snow forcing the machine down. "That is the one snag," he said, "and there is not data available about it. I shall just have to plan on."

The father and mother of Captain Hinchliffe in Liverpool are buoyed up in their hopes for his safety by a dream.

Brooding over her son's flight, the mother said she had a vision in which he flew low over the ocean, a huge white cloud—interpreted as a good omen—confronted him and he went; to the left, the direction which the cloud seemed to indicate.

The father dreamed that his son reached America with a woman as a companion.

The mother remarked that it was strange that her son began his flight on the 13th.

At his life," she said, "he had avoided the number 13."
