

BILLY SUNDAY CONTINUES TO HURL BROADSIDE INTO THE CAMP OF THE DEVIL

Evangelist Preached To Two Congregations at Tabernacle Yesterday Afternoon and Last Night.

"We are in the midst of a crisis where our homes are in danger and the very principles of government of freedom in danger all over the land," declared Rev. W. A. Sunday, noted evangelist, delivering the fourth sermon of his evangelistic campaign at the tabernacle at Smith & Snugg's warehouse in this city last night.

"Oh! Autocracy has been overthrown in China, overthrown in Russia and in Turkey, and the people rule in France, and the President of the United States has more power and authority than the king of England; the people rule in Italy and for us it is to determine whether or not we shall have the collar of imperialism fastened round our necks or whether we shall be free."

Approximately three thousand people heard the evangelist last night in what is generally conceded to have been one of the most forceful messages since the opening of the campaign Sunday afternoon. He held the rapt attention of his congregation from the utterance of the first word of the eloquent discourse dealing with sin, and while the real fire and vehemence of "Billy" Sunday himself were not so pronounced as expected, the soundness of his reasoning found a receptive place in the minds of hundreds of those present.

The song services under direction of Homer Hammond, assisted by a choir of three hundred picked voices from the various churches of the city, were again one of the outstanding features of the evening. Augmented by the voices of the great sea of humanity stretching far out into the mammoth tabernacle, the choir members sang probably as they never had sung before. It formed a fitting prelude for the sermon following a few minutes afterwards.

While the crowd at the service yesterday afternoon was small, it is possible that as much enthusiasm prevailed as any other service of the campaign. The choir was small compared with that last night, but singing was spirited and made up for anything lacking in other ways.

Rev. H. J. Jones, pastor of Memorial Baptist Church, last night called attention of the congregation to the expenses incurred by the meeting, and urged everybody to give liberally in order that the $7,000 campaign fund might be raised as early as possible. At the afternoon service, Herbert Waldrop also stressed the need of greater contributions, in order that the expenses might be speedily cleaned up.

"Nations are in the midst of a crisis," Mr. Sunday declared last night. "There has never been a time in the history of the world when there was more turmoil, and more nations interlocked in mortal combat over the principles of free government on one hand, the military autocracy upon the other hand. Adam and Eve reached the crisis in the garden of Eden when the devil tempted them. I wish to God they had stopped their ears and cried, 'Life, Life, Life!'"

"If they had I would not need to be working my life out. If they had not listened to the tempter—but they did listen and ate of the forbidden fruit and the world became a human graveyard for the death penalty passed upon the human race."

Taking his text from John 17, "The hour is come," the evangelist said:

"It is very evident to me that Jesus Christ knew that God, the"

American Shot By Chinese Soldier

Shanghai, China, April 25.—(AP)—Dr. Walter F. Seymour, superintendent of the Presbyterian board of Foreign Missions hospital at Tsinan, Shantung, was shot to death by Chinese soldier.

Dr. Seymour was slain when he was shot through the heart on April 16.

Because of interrupted communications in Shantung, the news of the shooting only reached here today. The interruption of communications is due to the present fighting between the Nationalists and Northerners in Shantung Province. Tsinan, which is about 15 miles from Yenchow Pa, being in the center of the disturbed area.

Whether the soldier was a Northern or a Nationalist was not known. Tsinan is believed to have been captured by Nationalists on either April 16 or 17.

EARTHQUAKES CONTINUE IN GREECE TODAY

Fresh Damage Reported on the Isthmus of Corinth; Resort Town Wrecked.

Athens, April 25.—(AP)—Recurring earthquakes in Greece this morning wrought fresh damage on the devastated isthmus of Corinth. A shock at 4:04 a. m., practically destroyed the watering resort of Kalamaki at the eastern entrance to the Corinth canal.

A strange phenomenon was observed at Piraeus the port of Athens, where the sea rose to a great height and then suddenly receded. Slight damage was caused to shipping.

A slight shock felt at Athens at 2:20 a. m., caused a certain amount of panic among the inhabitants. Other shocks were felt in Corinth last night. These were accompanied by a violent hail and rainstorm. Twenty houses collapsed at the small town of Amari Lania, but no casualties were reported.

Shocks were also felt this morning at Lania, at the head of the gulf of that name, and on the island of Poros.

A British squadron arrived at Corinth and commenced to distribute food and blankets. The wife of the British minister intends to go to Corinth to aid in the relief work.

Stanis Lovrenski, Albanian banker who owns a villa at the striking watering place of Loutraki, gave 200,000 drachmas ($2,600) for the sufferers in that district.

MANSLAUGHTER CHARGES AGAINST AIRCRAFT CORP.

Denver, April 25.—(AP)—Manslaughter charges were filed today by District Attorney Joel E. Stone against five officials of the Alexander Aircraft Corporation, where an explosion last Friday resulted in the deaths of eleven persons.

FOUR MINES CAPTURED BY GEN. SANDINO

Grave Fear Entertained for Foreigners in Nicaragua After Slaying of Official.

Managua, Nicaragua, April 25.—(AP)—With one American mine executive stated to have been slain by rebels, grave fears were held today for the safety of any other foreigners who might have fallen into the clutches of General Augusto Sandino and his followers. Four mines in the Pis Pis region were in the hands of insurgents.

Clifford D. Ham, collector general of customs, received a radio message from W. J. Crampton, collector of customs at Puerto Cabezas, saying that George B. Marshall of New York, assistant manager of the La Luz Y Los Angeles mine, had been killed.

Crampton also reported the seizure of the Bonanza, Neptune and Lone Star mines. The Americans at the Lone Star and Neptune mines escaped from the rebels and fled to Puerto Cabezas.

The rebels immediately made preparations to resist any attack by American marines.

The mines were seized by Sandino and his followers when they made a sudden sally eastward to the Pis Pis district. Before he began his drive, Sandino stated publicly at Matagalpa that he was going to kill all Americans, because of the presence in Nicaragua of marines, whom he termed as invaders. Other nationals would be spared, he said.

There was no information here concerning the fate of those at the United States. Inquiries received from the United States indicated that these men were L. B. Milberry, of Woodville, N. H.; Roy Burley, also an American; and Peter Petersen, a Norwegian. It will be days probably before word of the fate of these men is received.

Out of Obscurity

Edwin Denby, former Secretary of the Navy in the Harding cabinet, came out of comparative obscurity to become a witness at the Sinclair trial in Washington. His testimony was suddenly cut short and he stepped down from the chair to return to private life.

DR. GAINES IS INSTALLED AS COLLEGE HEAD

Governor Angus McLean Delivers Inaugural Address at Wake Forest College

Wake Forest, April 25.—(AP)—Wake Forest college is at present upon the threshold of a new era of useful and constructive service. Governor McLean said today at the inaugural of Dr. Francis Pendleton Gaines as president.

"I feel that the greatest era of growth and usefulness in the history of the college has been the period just closed, during which the devoted, Dr. William Louis Poter, directed its destinies. He gave it not only national, but international standing."

Governor McLean said he felt and the people of the state felt that Wake Forest has contributed "in large measure, not only to our educational progress in the past, but has helped to engineer in our present the determination that educational progress shall continue until every vestige of illiteracy in North Carolina has been wiped out and there is available to every child in the state educational advantage that will enable him to make a useful, happy and prosperous citizen."

Governor McLean reviewed the new era of development and expansion which followed reconstruction days, and as to the state itself he said:

"North Carolina has made wonderful progress within the past 25 years, and particularly in the last seven years, in the development of a better and more effective system of education. It has been said, and is true, that the rate of educational progress in North Carolina during the last ten years has been greater than that which has taken place in any state in the union during the same period."

"Education, like every other great force in life, is a matter of growth and development. It is after all dependent upon the firm determination, deeply rooted in the minds of the people, that progress in education shall not lag."

Collet Off for England.

New York, April 25.—(AP)—Glen Collet sails today for England to compete for the British women's golf championship at Hunstanton, starting May 14.

Miss Collet came to her decision to make the trip last Saturday. Up to that time she had no intention of competing abroad.

NOTED AUTO RACER KILLED EARLY TODAY

Frank Lockhart Crushed to Death When Car Turns Over at Daytona Beach, Fla.

Daytona Beach, Fla., April 25.—(AP)—Frank Lockhart, noted automobile racer, was almost instantly killed here today when he lost control of his machine while racing down the beach at more than 200 miles an hour.

Lockhart had made three fast trips in his Stutz Blackhawk Special and was approaching the grandstand on the fourth when his car appeared to hit a soft spot in the sand. It turned endwise several times, leaped high into the air and made several barrel rolls before landing and throwing the driver out face downward upon the sand.

He was breathing heavily and bleeding profusely from the mouth and about the head when spectators got to him. Physicians at the hospital where he was taken said he probably died a few minutes after being thrown from the car.

On his first run Lockhart had been clocked at 147 miles an hour. The return trip was made at a speed of 193 miles. Starting south on the beach again the machine's speed was timed at 203.45 miles.

On the final trip it was apparent that he was making more than 200 miles an hour when the racer went out of control about 500 yards south of the beginning of the mile section directly in front of the grand stand. Lockhart's machine was demolished.

The car in which the famous speed king met his death was the one in which he plunged into the ocean here on February 22nd last while making an attempt to set a world's record during the annual speed trials here.

Mrs. Lockhart was one of the two hundred spectators in the stand who witnessed the accident. She was among the first to reach her husband's side.

Lockhart was 26 years old in March and was a resident of Indianapolis. He was married and had no children.

His car was a tiny white enamel machine weighing less than three thousand pounds. It had a sixteen cylinder motor which Lockhart designed himself. The car cost over $70,000.

Lockhart held every American record from one to one hundred miles on circular courses. He also held the world's straight away record for 91 1-2 cubic inch displacement motors which was set at the dry lake California course in 1927 when he made 614 miles per hour.

A number of photographers standing at a favorable place on the beach were narrowly missed as Lockhart's machine hurtled through the air. What looked like a wind-blown cloud from one of the wheels of Lockhart's car was torn loose and hit Hans Orte, a local photographer. He was shocked and bruised but after treatment at a hospital was allowed to go.

FREIGHT TRAIN CARS DITCHED NEAR HICKORY

Hickory, April 25.—(AP)—Fourteen cars on a Southern Railway freight train were ditched one mile east of here shortly before eleven o'clock this morning when a track broke under the cars.

Several hundred feet of rails were torn up and it was estimated that the wreck could not be moved and the track repaired until late this afternoon. Passengers from westbound train No. 11 were transferred to east bound No. 22 and it was said that repairs might be made before No. 12 passes.

Some of the cars contained silk and automobiles.

New Tobacco Warehouse Be Erected in Greenville

Of much interest and importance to the tobacco industry in Eastern Carolina, is the definite announcement of a plan by a group of leading business men and tobacco growers to erect a giant, new warehouse in this city to be called "The Planters' Warehouse."

The new building will be sponsored by the Pitt Tobacco Company, a corporation composed of J. H. Blount, L. B. Garris and W. J. Hardee, of this city, and T. R. Andrews, of Bethel, N. C.

The new warehouse will be erected on the Munford site on Albemarle Avenue, the new paved street connecting Fifth and Chestnut streets, and just west of the A. C. L. track. The contract for the warehouse has been awarded to Tolar, Rocky Mount, N. C. Building operations will begin immediately. The completed warehouse

Another Flood? Maybe.

Gene Tunney, world champion, told the Yale boys about Shakespeare yesterday, invited by Professor Phelps.

Tunney wondered "whether Shakespeare would be a boxing fan." Probably not. But he described real fighting, without a purse, better than anybody.

"Imitate the action of the tiger; Stiffen the sinews, summon up the blood, Disguise fair nature with hard-favour'd rage. Then lend the eye a terrible aspect; Let it pry through the portage of the head, Like the brass cannon; let the brow o'erwhelm it. . . . Now set the teeth, and stretch the nostril wide; Hold hard the breath, and bend up every spirit To his full height!"

Dempsy used to do all that, and more.

Flood waters of the White river have overspread levees, sweeping through five counties in Arkansas. In the vicinity of Castleberry, Ala., a half million dollar strawberry crop ready for shipment, may be lost, unless railroads are repaired shortly to permit its movement to market before it rots in cars and in the fields.

An Associated Press correspondent who flew over the devastated sections around Brewton yesterday reported scenes of desolation over a wide area, with railway tracks submerged for miles and freight trains, some with perishable commodities in their cargo, marooned along the line.

Perhaps the government will decide that $750,000,000 invested in flood control would be cheaper than another flood.

Mr. W. S. Gifford, president of the American Telegraph and Telephone Company, will spend two thousand million dollars on new

WOULD STOP WARRANT FOR R. W. STEWART

Senator Walsh Proposes Dismissal of Warrant at Teapot Dome Hearing.

Washington, April 25.—(AP)—Dismissal of the Senate warrant ordering the arrest of Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the board of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, was proposed in a report prepared today by Senator Walsh of Montana, prosecutor for the Teapot Dome committee.

Adoption of the report by the Senate would have the effect of ending the habeas corpus proceedings which Stewart now has pending in the District of Columbia Supreme Court but would have no effect upon the contempt indictment upon which the oil operator is to come to trial here on May 21.

The Walsh report on Stewart was considered by the Teapot Dome committee at noon and provoked so much discussion that the Senators decided to take it up again later in the day. There were various proposals for amendment and chairman Nye said he thought it finally would be put in such shape as to be satisfactory to all members of the committee.

Senator Nye said he wanted the report to include a suggestion that Stewart's testimony of February and yesterday should be studied by the federal district attorney.

SIX PERSONS CLAIMED BY FLOOD WATER

Heavy Property Damage In Three States From Overflowing Streams.

Atlanta, Ga., April 25.—(AP)—Leaving scenes of desolation and ruin in their wake, flood waters of a dozen or more streams today swept toward the Gulf of Mexico pouring their ruinous torrents into more towns and settlements and spreading over additional thousands of acres of South Georgia, South Alabama and northwest Florida.

Six persons were known to have lost their lives and additional loss of life was feared in isolated communities and on farms along the streams. Crop, highway and property damage was believed to be several million dollars and from 3,000 to 5,000 people were homeless.

Hundreds who fled their homes in terror as the streams in three states overran their banks, today were returning to begin the task of reconstruction, while railroad gangs and highway crews labored to restore transportation facilities wrecked by the raging torrents.

A half million dollar strawberry crop ready for shipment, may be lost, unless railroads are repaired shortly to permit its movement to market before it rots in cars and in the fields.

An Associated Press correspondent who flew over the devastated sections around Brewton yesterday reported scenes of desolation over a wide area, with railway tracks submerged for miles and freight trains, some with perishable commodities in their cargo, marooned along the line.

Nationalists Troops Take Chinese City

Shanghai, April 25.—(AP)—Nationalist troops today were in Tsinan, capital of Shantung province, some 230 miles south of Peking, the announced objective of their spring drive.

The southern forces who have made a victorious march across Shantung under Peng Yu-Hsiang, since known as the Christian General, entered the city from the southwest yesterday.

The defending northern troops were demoralized and offered virtually no resistance. Tens of thousands of northerners had already deserted. They fled across the country, going east to Chefoo and Weihaiwei on the coast. Lawlessness and brigandage prevailed today as they trekked across the province.

Advisers from Tientsin today said that trains were still running between Cheung and Tsinan. General Sun Chuan-fang, governor of Shantung, whose army was destroyed by Nationalist troops in their advance, arrived in Tsinan yesterday.

More than half of the American and English residents at Tsinan had been evacuated before the city fell. All women and children went to Tsingtau where four American destroyers are anchored.

SHIP GOES FOR CAPT. WILKINS

Arctic Flyer to Return To Europe on Board Steamer Nina, Now Bound for Arctic.

London, April 25.—(AP)—The steamship Nina was headed for the ice-bound waters off Green Harbor, Spitzbergen, today to bring Captain George H. Wilkins to Europe, the ship was ordered to approach as near Green Harbor as possible and take on Captain Wilkins and Carl B. Eieken and the airplane in which they flew across unexplored polar regions.

The ship, owned by the Northern Exploration Company, was at Pongnagsvaag, Finnmark, Norway, when sailing orders were received. It was expected to reach the mouth of Isfjord (Ice Fjord) Spitzbergen, on which Green Harbor is located, about Saturday. It was hoped that the flyers would be brought to Tromsø, Norway, early next week.

The New York Times today printed a dispatch from Captain Wilkins saying he had decided to wait the arrival of a ship at the nearest point of embarkation. He doubted whether he and Eieken would be able to leave Green Harbor before the middle of May.

FLOYD BENNETT DIES TODAY FOLLOWING VALIANT FIGHT AGAINST DOUBLE PNEUMONIA

Flying Major's Wife

Mrs. James A. Fitzmaurice, wife of the brave Atlantic flyer, is rushing to New York to greet her hero husband when he arrives with his German comrades in the Bremen.

WILL NOT FLY BREMEN PLANE TO NEW YORK

Softening Ice Causes Atlantic Flyers to Plan Use of Ford Relief Plane.

Lake Ste. Agnes, Que., April 24.—(By the Canadian Press)—Messages received today from the marooned trans-Atlantic flyers on Greenly Island stated that softening ice had caused them to abandon their hope of flying to Murray Bay in the Junkers monoplanes and that they would leave the island in the Ford relief plane piloted by Bernd Balchen.

The message was received here at 11 o'clock and at that time the flyers had not yet hopped off.

The plane in which they will come here is the one flown here from Detroit by Balchen and Floyd Bennett. It is the official New York City relief plane and the flight was sponsored by the North American Newspaper Alliance and the New York World. It carried spare parts to the Bremen in the hope that the reconditioned trans-Atlantic plane could continue its flight to its original destination, New York.

Lake Ste. Agnes, April 25.—(AP)—A snowstorm on the route from Greenly Island today held the trans-Atlantic monoplanes Bremen on the ice of Belle Isle Straits, repaired and fueled, ready for a resumption of its flight to New York.

Two flyers with Paramount News-Associated Press photographs who made a non-stop flight from the island to the airport here yesterday, said that when they left the Bremen she was all ready for a takeoff.

William Winston and Harry Cuthbertson, the two flyers, said the bent propeller of the Bremen had been straightened by Ernest Krappen, the Junkers mechanic who flew it on the Ford relief plane. It was decided to use it instead of the one taken in because it was built especially for the Bremen and was better suited to the plane.

The Bremen was taken down from the island to the ice of the straits on the special runway natives had constructed under the direction of Dr. Luis Cushman, who with a mechanic had flown to the island with "Duke" Schiffer, Canadian pilot, in the first relief plane.

At 3 a. m., yesterday, the work on the plane was resumed, the engine being heated, the radiator filled with hot water and everything put in readiness for the takeoff.

North Pole Flyer Passes Away at Quebec Hospital Shortly After Attempt to Reach Icebound Bremen Flyers.

Quebec, April 25.—(AP)—Floyd Bennett, who flew over the north pole with Commander Richard E. Byrd, died at 10:50 a. m. today from double pneumonia.

Bennett's death came while his wife was near him, herself a patient in the same hospital with tonsillitis. His closest man friend, Commander Byrd, was also there, having cancelled all engagements and rushed here as soon as Bennett's condition became serious.

Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh was also in Quebec, flown here from New York last night carrying anti-pneumonia serum in a gallant but vain effort to save the north pole flyer's life.

Bennett was brought to the Jeffrey Hale Hospital by airplane from Lake Ste. Agnes Sunday after being stricken while commanding an air expedition to the relief of the stranded trans-Atlantic flyers on Greenly Island.

Bennett undertook this relief expedition with Bernd Balchen, although both of them had to leave sick beds to go. After Bennett's cold turned into pneumonia he had to drop out of the expedition Balchen pushed on without him.

Bennett's condition became increasingly serious as the days and nights passed and at 10 o'clock this morning specialists brought here to tend him from New York announced that everything was in vain and that he was dying. Fifty minutes later he passed away.

Floyd Bennett, born in Warrensburg, N. Y., in 1890, was for the first 25 years of his life in obscure figure whose possibilities awaited only the moment of opportunity for development.

That moment came in 1925 when Commander Richard E. Byrd was given the pick of the whole navy from which to choose mechanics for his Greenland expedition with Donald Macmillan.

Byrd "discovered" Bennett, a virtually unknown aviation mechanic aboard a mail-of-war.

"But once he had his chance," Byrd writes in his recently published book "Skyward," "he showed he was a good pilot and one of the finest practical men in the navy for handling an airplane's temperamental mechanism."

"And above that he was a real man, fearless and true—one in a million."

From the moment that Byrd's keen eyes penetrated the film of grease coating and grubby mechanic and found a man the two were inseparable. To think of Byrd was to think of Bennett, and vice versa, and therefore much of the material that shines light on the sort of person Bennett really was must of necessity come from Byrd.

Together Bennett and Byrd endured the hardships of Greenland and together, a year later, they flew over the north pole.

"Bennett," said Byrd after that flight, "is a man of the greatest end."

Probe Threat To Kidnap Child At Charlotte, N. C.

Charlotte, April 25.—(AP)—While little Dorothy Davis remained in seclusion as a precautionary measure officers today continued their investigation of two anonymous letters threatening to kidnap her and her mother, Mrs. P. L. Leonard and to dynamite their home.

The letters were found in the Leonard's mail box by the maid after an unidentified mad had telephoned to voice the threats. They warned that the 11-year-old child and Mrs. Leonard would be kidnapped unless Mr. Leonard abandoned his plan of moving to Lincoln in to go in business with his father.

Officers saw a possible connection between the letters and the dynamiting of the domestic laundry here Sunday night when an attempt to blow the safe door resulted in the wrecking of one floor of the building. The threatening note warned that the Leonard home might be dynamited up just like we did with the — Sunday night and it will be worse."

The cursed word before "Sunday" in the letter was thought by officers to have been "laundry." They based their belief on the impression remaining on the paper.

"You had better not open up anything in Lincoln," one note read. "I you do we will dynamite it and then kidnap your wife and daughter and if you don't pay the ransom we will do them like the Hittman done Marian so take heed your daughter sure is pretty and your wife is too."

TOBACCONISTS OPEN UP WITH ROCKY MOUNT

The opening of the Eastern Carolina League today found Greenville "Tobacconists" playing a two-game schedule with Rocky Mount. The club will return here Friday for a two game series with Fayetteville.

"Deacon" Joliff, manager of the local club, will hurl the opening game against Rocky Mount today. All members of the team were said to be in splendid condition when they left this morning for the Nashville city. Numbers of fans from Greenville and other parts of the county left around the noon hour to see the "Tobacconists" match their strength with Rocky Mount.

Elaborate preparations were under way today for the game here Friday. The program provides for a parade of the ball club with the Greenville high school band furnishing the music. Billy Sunday, evangelist, and former National League ball player, is scheduled to toss the first ball over the plate with Mayor J. C. Lanier doing the receiving. Mr. Sunday was invited to perform a similar service at Kinston but was unable to do so on account of the hour conflicting with the revival here.

It was stated today that a cup would be awarded to the town having the largest attendance at the opening game here. As many stores here will close for the day, Greenville is going to make a strong bid for cup honors. Other towns of the section will also offer considerable opposition. Fayetteville is expected to be well represented.

In an effort to create competition for batting honors of the game, A. B. Ellington today offered to give a mit or glove to any member of the Greenville Club credited with the first home run.

Club officials stated this morning that in order to accommodate the large crowd expected to be in attendance arrangements had been made for placing tickets on sale at Warren Drug Company Friday morning. This will help prevent congestion at ticket booths and also at the gates.

After several days filled with grueling practice and exhibition games, the "Tobacconists" went to Rocky Mount today confident of winning the opening clash. Much improvement was evident in their last workout, and this is expected to stand out prominently in their maiden appearance in actual league activities the remainder of the week.

While there has been little opportunity of judging of the relative strength of the six clubs comprising the league, discriminating followers of the game in this city feel almost certain Greenville will be able to hold their own against anything the remaining five clubs have to offer. Each club will use their best material in the initial struggles of the week, and especially today, when the competitive spirit will probably be more pronounced than any other time of the season, except in the final days when visions of a pennant begin to fill the minds of the clubs holding the lead.

The outcome of the three contests this afternoon will be awaited anxiously by baseball enthusiasts in many parts of the state who are taking active interest in the first skirmishing to gain a definite lead in the standing of clubs.

Members of the Merchants' Association are behind the movement under foot to get as many stores as possible to close Friday, and it is expected the business section will be virtually deserted when the umpire yells, "play ball" at the fair grounds at four o'clock.

Relief Pitching Features Games In Sally League

(By The Associated Press)

Fine relief pitching gave Columbia both games of a double header and sent the Augusta team further down in South Atlantic Association standing.

Cebula, Columbia hurler, saved the day for his club in the ninth inning of the first game when he was called upon to relieve Walters with the bases loaded and one out. Going into the box he struck out the next two men to retire the side. The score was ten to seven.

In the second game, a seven-inning affair, Columbia bunched hits into the third and fifth innings to win out by a two to one count. Clark, Columbia short fielder, pulled the fielding feature of the day when he snatched a big line drive from Anderson's bat.

Asheville finally won out from Spartanburg in a hectic 11 inning battle, the tourist on the long end of an eight to six score. Four Spartanburg errors helped the winners out, two runs in the seventh resulting from a miscue by Brozovitch, Spartan right fielder.

Greenville and Knoxville split a double header, the smokies winning ten to nine in the first tilt and the spinners coming to even up in the final 7 to 6.

Davis, Smokies outfielder, hit three home runs during the afternoon.

Hinie Groth's Charlotte Hornets went down to a 9 to 3 defeat before heavy hitting of the Macon Peaches and the steady pitching of Car Spencer. The Peaches 16 hits were good for nine runs while Charlotte was able to score only three times.

Lopez, Moreland and McGrone hit homers for the Peaches while Kearns lifted one over the fence for the Hornets.

Members of the Merchants' Association are behind the movement under foot to get as many stores as possible to close Friday, and it is expected the business section will be virtually deserted when the umpire yells, "play ball" at the fair grounds at four o'clock.

TWO LEAGUES OPEN SEASON INN. C. TODAY

Old and new baseball teams, managers and leagues swung into action this afternoon in eastern and Piedmont North Carolina as the seasons open on a day described as almost perfect for the occasion.

The Piedmont League got away to another start while the baby of the south, the East Carolina Association, began its teething. College clubs took a back seat.

In the cigarette loop, Durham headed Raleigh; High Point went to Salisbury; and Winston-Salem jumped to Greensboro for the opening, each game had a ceremony. At the capital, Governor McLean promised to pitch the first ball over the rubber, Mayor Culbreth receiving as President W. G. Bramham of the league looked on.

Umpires assigned to the Piedmont for the first series were Taylor and Walker at Salisbury; Brandon and McCarthy at Greensboro, and Morgan and Hanna at Raleigh.

In the east, six towns displayed plenty of pep as they went about a season of organized baseball. Kinston stepped down from the Virginia loop and Rocky Mount checked in from Piedmont, but Fayetteville, Wilmington, Goldsboro and Greenville moved up from semi-pro classes.

Ball and strike judges in the east Carolina were Ross and Burden at Fayetteville; Knowles and Ledbetter at Kinston, and White and Riggs at Rocky Mount.

SLUG TWO-O M J-SLUG TWO BOSTON HEAVYWEIGHT ELIMINATES ELLIOTT

Boston, April 25.—(AP)—Joe Stockman, Boston heavyweight eliminated Tom Elliott of Alhambra, Calif., early today in a furious struggle to enter the semi-finals of the A. A. U. amateur boxing tournament. Both boys battled evenly for two rounds but in the final session Stockman launched a wild attack and had Elliott groggy from right and left hooks to the jaw. The Alhambra boy was on the verge of passing out when the ball rang.

because this oil is a new kind of motor oil—not a stickier oil, but an oil of greater oiliness, and this is proved by many tests like this one given here

TEN THOUSAND MILE TEST PROVES

A six cylinder Essex was driven ten thousand miles with "Standard" Motor Oil. The cylinders were worn away only one one-thousandth of an inch, as measured by precision instruments.

The average wear in an automobile engine with oils commonly used by motorists is about three times as great in the first ten thousand miles.

This means that by using "Standard" Motor Oil you can retard wear, maintain piston seal, and reduce upkeep costs.

UNIVERSITY GLEE CLUB TO BE HERE IN MAY

On the third tour since its recent successful invasion of Europe, the University of North Carolina Glee Club will appear here in one concert on May 7, at East Carolina Teachers College, in the campus building.

Thirty students make up the party. The men to make the trip will be selected from the regular choral organization of 80 voices that has been rehearsing at Chapel Hill since September.

In past years the Glee Club has been pronounced by recognized authorities, and generally accepted in musical circles, as one of the finest organizations of its kind in America.

It is a product of the University's department of music, of which Mr. Paul John Weaves is the head.

Since 1925 the club has broadcast several programs from radio stations, made a group of records for the Brunswick Company, appeared at national music gatherings in Kansas City, Mo., and in New York, and made something like 15 tours of North Carolina and a successful invasion of England and France.

Better Homes In America.

This is better homes week. There is no more important institution.

All annual programs of the home demonstration clubs are built with this ultimate goal, to make better homes.

Efforts are being made to have the subject, "Home" stand out in the minds of all Pitt county folk this week.

Several ministers in the county preached sermons on this subject last Sunday and Thursday night of this week the Rev. W. A. Sunday will use the subject, "Home."

—you are urged to hear this sermon.

Practically all of the schools in the county as well as all of the home demonstration clubs have just completed a "clean-up" campaign as a part of the better home movement.

Thursday afternoon the Woman's Club will hear Miss Veazy, supervisor of public school music on "better music in the home."

Woman's Club Invites All Women of County to Participate in Better Homes Program.

Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Evans St. School Auditorium the Woman's Club of Greenville is sponsoring a program for Better Homes Week.

Miss Veazy of the city schools will give an attractive and interesting program on music in the home. This will be followed by a demonstration in electric refrigeration given by Mr. Kirkpatrick.

This meeting is for the public at large and the club women hope that a great number of women will be present.

Birthplace Of Plane, Kitty Hawk, N. C., Rears Monument to Wrights

Capt. W. J. Tate (right), lighthouse keeper with whom Orville and Wilbur Wright lived while conducting their first successful flying experiments at Kitty Hawk, N. C., has gotten a simple monument built on the spot in front of his old home (below) where the first Wright glider was assembled. It will be unveiled May 2. Above is a view of the first successful Wright flight near Kitty Hawk, Dec. 17, 1903.

Kitty Hawk, N. C.—(AP)—Many brave tales are told of the men who kept lighthouses for ships that pass in the night, but this is the story of a lighthouse keeper who received two "crazy" visitors back in 1900 and witnessed the birth of aviation.

Captain William J. Tate mans the lighthouse at Coinjock. On May 2 his dream of many years is coming true. A monument will be unveiled, at Captain Bill's former home, marking the spot where the Wright brothers began the assembly of their first experimental glider, which three years later developed then postmistress, lifted Kitty Hawk to a place in history. Wilbur Wright wrote from Dayton, Ohio that he and his brother were planning scientific kite flying experiments during their vacation in September 1900, and wanted to know if Kitty Hawk could meet their requirements.

Kitty Hawk was highly endorsed by the Tates, and the Wright brothers arrived. They boarded for a while with Captain Tate. Their double-decked box kite was assembled in the front yard, Mrs. Tate using her sewing machine to prepare the cloth for the wings and later helping sew it on the glider. The home is now a Methodist parsonage.

The first glider would not fly, with the added weight of a man or with winds of less than 30 miles velocity. When the Wrights left at the end of their vacation, they gave the affair to Tate. Mrs. Tate cut out the cloth and when the Wrights came back in 1901 they found Lena and Irene, the Tate girls, wearing dresses made from the sateen.

"The Wrights often were referred to as crazy and I was soon listed in the same category," Captain Tate relates. "I remember once, someone asked Wilbur Wright if he actually thought he would plan a machine which would make a flight. Wright picked up a cigar box cover and sailed it into the air.

"As long as that cover maintains momentum it flies," he explained. "If we can give that same momentum to a machine, success will be ours."

The 1901 glider was larger and more successful than that of 1900. In 1902, they made a thousand glides from the Kill Devil Hills and finally, on December 17, 1903, they made the first flight with a power driven plane. Orville was the pilot on the first successful flight.

"I didn't see them much during the assembling of the powered machine, but they extended me an invitation to see them make their trial flight." Captain Tate said. "The weather was fierce, but I started down there anyway. I got as far as the postoffice, when one of the men from the life saving station came running, nearly out of breath yelling:

"They've done it! They've done it! Danged if they ain't flew!" "Wilbur made the second flight, Orville the third, and Wilbur the fourth and last. The maximum distance flown was 852 feet, and then and there flying became a fact."

Friday is the big day here for the baseball fans, the first league game of the season, and "Billy" Sunday will pitch the first ball. Never having seen Mr. Sunday in the role of pitcher, naturally we cannot say just the kind of ball he will throw, but we do not that of his pitching is like his preaching, the ball he throws will surely be a strike straight to the mark.

Surely the decision in the Sinclair trial was not the "Equal and Exact Justice to All Men" set forth by Jefferson. In many of its recent court decisions apparently the country is wandering a far ways from its early teachings and the principles upon which our government is founded.

A REAL ISSUE
 If Billy Sunday's declaration in his sermon last night, that before he would vote for either wet Democrat or Republican on a wet platform, he would personally seek the presidency on a dry ticket, can be considered as his formal entry into the race for a seat in the White House, we are ready to say "Amen," and cast our vote in his favor.

Despite the fact that both the major parties are endeavoring to sit on the fence on the liquor question, prohibition is indeed one of the great issues before the country, and by dodging it both parties are relinquishing their right to ask the support of the American people. Apparently there are those among each party who are afraid of the votes that may be lost by taking a definite stand on the question but if prohibition is right, and it is our conviction that it is, the Democrats would do well to make it a party issue and if we lose votes by it and go down in defeat in the coming elections, our defeat will be much more honorable than would be victory gained through juggling issues and dodging those things so important to the people of the nation as is prohibition. Personally, however, we do not feel that the side that takes a definite and clear stand in favor of the rigid enforcement of prohibition will lose for, despite all the talk emanating from the wet centers, we still believe that there are enough right thinking Christian people in America to prevent any tampering with the eighteenth amendment, and to give their earnest support to the rigid enforcement of the law.

"With the Eastern Carolina League opening today interest of Greenville and Pitt county people quite naturally is centered upon the opening contest of the Tobaccoists at Rocky Mount today," a follower of the local club was heard to remark today.

"Greenville is fully prepared to meet the most violent offensive which the Rocky Mount lads may launch against them, and in my opinion the tide of victory will flow in our direction."
 "Deacon Joliff signified his intention of pitching today's game. This is double assurance the opening contest will be featured by brilliant mound action. Rocky Mount no doubt will fire her big gun also."
 "Here's luck to the boys from old Pitt county. May the old rabbit's foot hang with them throughout the season."

Employing some of his own matches, the Rev. W. A. Sunday is literally "shelling the woods for God" in his evangelistic campaign which opened at Smith & Sugg's warehouse Sunday afternoon.
 "Mr. Sunday believes we need more of the plain kind of preaching from the pulpit of America if our people are inspired to walk along the straight and narrow way outlined by the Bible. He would do away with the compromise kind of religion offered from so many churches of the nation, and get down to the spiritual truths as they actually exist."
 "The church is not an end, but the means to an end, in the salvation of the human soul," this word of plausibility of the teaching of Jesus Christ told three thousand people assembled to hear him at the tabernacle last night.

"Shall the church sit idly by and let the people go to perdition, as so many of them are doing? No! no! no! this is not the mission of Christianity and cannot be permitted to exist."
 "America needs to be taken to God's bathhouse and have the hose turned on. She needs to be cleansed of so much modernism and bathed in the soothing influence of the God's teachings."
 It was one of those discourses which Billy Sunday alone is capable of delivering. It found a place in the hearts of those who have been endeavoring to evade the significance of their mission on earth and enabled them to see clearly the long road of duty ahead.

"We are planning to make Friday a gala day for Greenville and Pitt county. It is on this day the Tobaccoists will play their first game on the home lot following opening of the Eastern Carolina League this afternoon."
 "Billy Sunday will toss over the first ball at the game with Fayetteville here Friday afternoon at four o'clock. This formality will be preceded by a parade of the ball club headed by the high school band. There will be other features in connection with the opening. They will be announced later—just as soon as the committee on arrangements get their plans definitely arranged."
 "If you are interested in the progress of the club, make it a point to attend the opening game here and lend your support to the boys in their initial appearance on home soil."

That announcement carried in the Reflector yesterday about a new warehouse to be erected in Greenville will be received with much interest in all parts of the country, especially by men using their influence in development of the tobacco industry, a reader remarked today.
 "Everybody recognizes Greenville's position as one of the greatest bright leaf markets in the world, and announcement concerning this additional warehouse will tend to increase their impression of our size and possibilities."
 "The opening of another season will witness numbers of improvements and the importance of this market will be recognized more than ever in all sections of the country."

"Don't forget 'Straw Hat Day' in Greenville has been set for next Saturday," a member of the Merchants Association reminded the writer of this column today.
 "Numbers of our merchants will have splendid displays of the latest creations in this line of hat, and the man that wants to salfy forth Sunday, gowned to match the season, should look them over and make his selection while the stock is complete."
 "The occasion is sponsored by members of the Merchants Association who are ever on the alert to give the trading public reasonable values at reasonable prices."

BILLY SUNDAY CONTINUES.
TO HURL BROAD-SIDE INTO THE CAMP OF THE DEVIL.
 Father, would understand what he meant when he said, 'the hour is come.'
 "He did not say, 'I have met with some difficulties and discouragements down here in my mediatorial work; something we had not thought about, planned or expected would ever occur.'
 "But he did say, 'the hour for which I came into the world'—the hour for which I have just come to the heavenly hosts. The hour for which I made my way down into this vale of tears, the hour which was to surpass all other hours in importance in the history of the world, the hour which was to mean more to mankind than all the hours combined, the hour when I must go on to the cross and bathe the world in blood and tears and open up a new redemption by and through the acceptance of which mankind might escape the eternal damnation which it deserves because Adam and Eve ate the forbidden fruit and sin and the death penalty passed upon the human race, that hour is come."

Hour of Great Struggle.
 "It was the hour of the great struggle. The powers of darkness had been looking forward for thousands of years, ever since the devil hid himself in a serpent and tempted Adam and Eve to eat the forbidden fruit and God gave the promise when they sinned that the seed of the woman should bruise the serpent's head, meaning that Jesus Christ in the fullness of time would be born in fulfillment of that promise and the devil knew that hour would come, the devil knew the time would come when Jesus Christ would be born in the manger and when he would suffer and die on the cross and bruise the serpent's head."
 "It was a matter of prophecy that the Father would forsake him, and the disciples would flee away, and the shepherds should be smitten, and the sheep scattered."
 "What an hour that was for the King of Kings and the Lord of Lords, with the nails through his hands and feet, hanging on the cross! The Father had forsaken him, for he cried, 'My God, why hast thou forsaken me?'"

The Door of Hope.
 "It was going to decide whether or not the door of hope, opened through the promises of God, would remain forever open through the triumph of Jesus Christ. And Jesus Christ did triumph."
 "That is the reason we've got this revival, the reason I am preaching to you, because the door of hope opened through faith in Jesus Christ, has been ajar from that day to this and it will be until he bursts upon the world to judge it in sin and righteousness, and it was going to decide whether or not the door of hope, opened through the promises of God, would remain forever closed through the failure of Jesus Christ."
 "Suppose he had failed to have risen from the dead the third day, as he said he would. What do you suppose would have been announced from the pulpit and synagogues of Jerusalem? I think they would have draped their pulpits in mourning. I think they would have nailed a black cross over the door and they would have said:
 "Three days have come and gone and Jesus Christ is still held by the last enemy—death!"
Christ Conquered Sin.
 "When Adam and Eve ate the forbidden fruit and the death penalty was pronounced and Jesus Christ came into this world born of woman, conceived by the Holy Ghost, and born of the Virgin Mary, suffered under Pontius Pilate, crucified, dead and buried, lived a single life, and he triumphed over the devil in that the devil could not lead him to sin. But another one of the penalties of sin was death. He conquered sin, but he had to conquer death, so he had to burst the bonds of death and he said:
 "I will arise on the third day and I will conquer the last enemy of the human race—Death."
 "If Adam and Eve hadn't sinned we would never have died. Man has perverted God's plan and a man is a fool that will defy God and, while the angels' harps were still and the angels' voices were hushed, Jesus Christ arose from the dead and he folded the napkin from off his face and he walked out of the sepulcher on that Easter morning with the keys of life and of death in his hand; the conqueror of earth and of hell."
 "So, the hour is come. The hour is come to realize first that you have reached the crisis. I believe that this city is facing the greatest crisis, religiously, that she has ever faced."
Never Was Such a Chance.
 "There never was such a chance in all your history for you to show your loyalty to God and to Christ and by and through that loyalty, inspire others who have never walked the streets of your city, because whatever is enthroned in a city is going to give influence to the country round about. Let a city be righteous and the whole country will be influenced to righteousness. They will be giving up the sin and corruption and villainy and drunkenness and the whole country will be damned because of the damnation in the city."
 "And generations yet unborn will be affected by this campaign because you yielded to Jesus Christ and you—who are to become the fathers and mothers of the next generations—then your life will surround them with religious influence. So for the next century, my friends, this city is going to feel the influence of this campaign which you and I are in the midst of, long after we have left this old earth, and the influence of this campaign will be felt in the lives of others."
 "In every disease there is a crisis. All the skill of all the physicians on earth can't make typhoid fever or pneumonia turn except on the seventh, tenth and twenty-first and twenty-eighth days. They are seven-day diseases and the disease always reaches a crisis on the seventh day and if the crisis has been reached at the end of the first seven days, the chances are about three to one they will mend."
When Crisis Comes.
 "If the crisis runs to the fourteenth day it is about fifty to fifty. If it runs to the twenty-first day, it is about three to one they won't live. And the longer the crisis is put off, the less and less chance there is for the patient to get well, and nobody was converted. He said, 'I don't propose that any God-forsaken, back-slidden old official should tell me how to preach. If he knows more now to preach than I, he ought to be preaching.'

Printed Tickets.
 "So, without calling the officials together he had thousands of tickets printed and hired men to distribute them, saying that there would be a gospel service on Sunday night in the old church. It created a sensation. Everybody flocked to see what his gospel service would be like with that bunch of God-forsaken, back-slidden old officials. It was such an innovation and the first hymn they started to sing was 'Ring the Bells of Heaven, There Is Joy Today!'"
 "My friend said he heard the voice of the old elder ring out clear above the $4,000 soprano up in the choir loft, and this old fellow had a voice that was a cross between a cane mill and a jackass. And when they got through they had a little after meeting and three young men came sweeping out of their sins into the kingdom. The old fellow shuffled up to my friend and said, 'What kind of hymns were they we used tonight?'"
 "My friend said, 'Gospel hymns.'"
 "He said, 'Bless God, let's sing 'em all the time. Let's use them Sunday morning, put them in the prayer meeting. You have my consent. Hymns that will sing like that—let's use them all the time.'"
He Remained Pastor.
 "While my friend remained pastor, hundreds pressed into the kingdom of God, the people woke up to the fact that it was the bringing of a people to Jesus Christ, that's the church's business. The hour has come to realize it, and for plainness of speech on the part of the preacher, I don't believe in fighting as one that beats the air. I believe if you have anything to announce, out with it, specify it. If there are abuses in society and in business and in politics, or if the rights of the people are being ignored and trampled 'neath the feet of my friends, you can always depend upon a decent public to right the wrong and any community that would rather have wrong than righteousness in it, is a good community to move out of."
 "Most people are decent, most men and most women are honest, most men and most women are virtuous, most men and most women are truthful. It is only now and then you find, my friends, the libertine and the thief and the thug. Most people are sober, most people believe in God, all the riff-raff, bobtail, rag-snag, pugly-ugly society are in the minority."
Tell's What's Wrong.
 "I like my minister," said a friend of mine, "because he tells me where I am wrong."
 "I like my physician because he tells me what is the matter with me and what is the remedy I need to take."
 "I like my minister, the truth at you, although he may shoot your old carcass full of holes while he is on the job."
 "Of course, there are some church members that won't come to the meeting. They may be looked up to and respected in the community and you will find, perhaps, they are living dead lives, they don't want the sword of the spirit to lay bare their rottenness; they don't want to have their conscience disturbed."
 "No! They have been crying, 'Peace, peace,' when there is no peace, said God to the wicked. For the wicked are like the troubled sea; they don't want the smell of brimstone and hell fire at its vents from the inferno below. They want the deodorized, disinfected sermons of the tabloid sinner; they want the sermons about the birds that sing in the woods and flowers that bloom in the spring, tra-la, about the babbling brooks that sing on their way to the sea, rather than the sermons about the songs of the redeemed, the Rose of Sharon and the waters of life."

 "To much of the preaching nowadays is too pretty, it is too dainty, it doesn't kill, it is given for the literary excellence of the production and if you get an adverb or an adjective or a noun or pronoun out of joint, then it is all off."
 "I had a friend, and when I tell you newspaper boys that he reported the Japanese and the Chinese war and the Brazilian rebellion you will get an idea of his brilliancy. He was converted and he was in great demand to tell his story out in the West. One time he was approached by a pastor of a very rich and fashionable church out in one of our elite, little suburbs to come out and give his story, and they sat on the platform waiting for the choir to finish up their vocal gymnastics, and the preacher leaned over and said to my friend:
 Selected His Topic.
 "May I ask you, without seeming to trespass, upon what you intend to preach this evening?"
 "My friend said: 'I am trying to get a line on that now, doctor.'"
 "If you would permit me to make a few suggestions without seeming to further trespass," he said, "don't talk about the liquor question; that subject has been tabooed from this pulpit. And he said: 'Don't speak about the dance and the cards, the bridge,' he said, 'those subjects are tabooed, too.'"
 "My friend said to himself: 'That is all the evidence that I need, that the gang needs preaching to right along these lines.'"
 "But the preacher said to my friend: 'Do you see that woman sitting down there about fifteen feet from the front, a finely dressed woman—great diamonds flashed in her ears.'"
 "Yes."
 "Now," he said, "she is the leader of her social set and I am trying to get her into the church, and I'm afraid if you talk on those subjects you will offend her. She has a den and has a ballroom in her home and she has all these accessories of society and," he said, "her boy died of delirium tremens and I am afraid if you speak of those subjects, you will offend her and drive her away!"

His Views Are Right.
 "Oh," said the minister, "sister, I would have given $100 if he had not been here tonight. I was chagrined from the time he commenced until he was through and I hope you are not offended, that are simply his views."
 "Listen! Her black eyes blazed and the tears rolled down her cheeks like rivers of water. She said:
 "I don't know who he is, I don't know where he has come from, but his views are the right views and if my poor boy had heard preaching like that he would not be sleeping under the snow out in the cemetery. I think you ought to talk to us like that and tell us what we ought to do and how we ought to live."

Overtake the "72"?

If CHRYSLER "72" were merely more beautiful—if it were just an average good value—it would deserve no special consideration from the buyer. But it clamors for his consideration and demands his attention by reason of a gauge and proof of greater value which cannot be escaped.

All cars today seek to approximate Chrysler "72" performance by patterning after Chrysler engineering. But after three years of striving, how close are they to the "72" today? No closer than they were three years ago. As they have struggled to approach, Chrysler "72" has pulled away and gallops around and past them with more than the ease of the old original Chrysler sensation-car of 1924. There may be pocket-book reasons for choosing cars of lesser price than the "72." There simply cannot be a valid reason for paying as much or more for any car other than the "72."

Illustrious New Chrysler "72" Prices—Two-passenger Coupe (with rumble seat), $1345; Royal Sedan, $1595; Sport Roadster (with rumble seat), $1595; Four-passenger Coupe, $1595; Town Sedan, $1695; Convertible Coupe (with rumble seat), $1745; Crown Sedan, $1795. All prices f. o. b. Detroit, subject to current Federal excise tax. Chrysler dealers are in a position to extend the convenience of time payments.

New Chrysler "Red-Head" Engine—designed to take full advantage of high-compression gas, standard equipment on all body models of the 112 h. p. Imperial '80, also standard on the roadsters and available at slight extra cost for other body types, of the '62" and '72."

Market Report Cotton--Stocks--Grain

COTTON MARKET.
New York, April 25.—(AP)—The cotton market showed continued firmness today, on apprehensions of renewed showers in the south, relatively firm Liverpool cables, advances in the market for Egyptian cotton at Alexandria and an unfavorable weekly report from the weather bureau. Early advances were checked by heavy realizing, but offerings were absorbed on comparatively moderate reactions. Prices later made new high ground on covering by near-month shorts, trade and commission house buying, all new crop months selling above the 20-cent level. The mid-afternoon market showed net advances of 26 to 47 points. Futures closed firm, 26-43 points higher; spot steady; middling 21.30. Cotton futures closed:

STOCK MARKET
New York, April 25.—(AP)—Strength and activity of the railroad stocks, based on reports of impending favorable merger action overshadowed all other developments in today's stock market. Violent advances also took place in some of the high priced industrial specialties, while the seasoned dividend paying issues showed only moderate gains. Trading was in slightly larger volume than yesterday.
New York, April 25.—(AP)—The market in 10-share shares, soared 150 points to a new record at 550 and then slipped back to 365, again a low 58 earlier in the year. Jersey Central jumped 25 points to a new high at 345. New York Central moved up nearly 6 to a new high at 245 and Texas & Pacific, Chesapeake & Ohio, Lackawanna, Pittsburg and West Virginia, Reading, Wabash, Baltimore & Ohio, Lehigh Valley, Northern Pacific and New York Ontario & Western advanced 8 to 20 points.
Directors of the Delaware & Hudson, meeting today, failed to make any announcement on merger plans of the stock, after dropping from 221 3-4 to 212, called to 219.
Weekly steel earnings reports reported that production was dropping to recede from the high level of March and the Iron Age composite price for finished steel showed a slight reduction. U. S. Steel common, held fairly steady on fresh buying attracted by the favorable quarterly statement yesterday.
Express shares were again in risk demand. Adams soared 15 points. National Tea jumped 10 1-4 points to a new top at 149 3-4 and Advance Rumely common was up 8 points to a new high at 37. Sharp gains also were recorded by American Encasement, Fidelity Insurance, Fidelity Insurance and Mexican Seaboard.

Observe Beginning Spanish-American War
Raleigh, April 25.—(AP)—April 25, 1898, thirty years ago today, the United States declared war on Spain, veterans of that struggle recalled today bearing in mind at the same time that North Carolina did her share.
Secretary of War Russell A. Alger recommended Captain John C. Mann, 7th Cavalry, U. S. A., as a recruiting officer for North Carolina and he was duly appointed by Governor Dan Russell. The recruiting then began and North Carolina gave her share of sons to further the cause of Cuba.

No More Publicity
Peking, (AP)—For economy's sake North China warlords have abolished their propaganda bureau, thus saving $15,000 a month.
Theatre-Going City.
Paris, (AP)—Nearly 800,000 of Paris' 3,000,000 inhabitants go to the theatre or the movies daily, government figures indicate.

Wilmington, April 25.—(AP)—Damage estimated at $250,000 was caused today by fire that destroyed the nitrate fertilizer company's plant and warehouse adjacent to the Atlantic Coast Line railroad station here. The origin of the blaze has not been determined.
The building owned by the railroad company was valued at $75,000 while loss to machinery and supplies of the fertilizer company was fixed at $175,000. The loss is largely covered by insurance.

Last Hope of Russian Whites Dies in Belgium

Brussels, Belgium, April 25.—(AP)—Baron Petr Wrangle, the last hope of the Russian "Whites" whose army the Bolsheviks chased into the Black Sea seven years ago, died here this morning.
The end came in the little suburban home to which he retired in 1926, leaving the last remnants of his command, a few Caucasians and Don Cossacks, in Yugoslavia. He suffered from intestinal trouble which affected his heart and lungs. During his observance of the Russian Easter holidays, General Wrangle received the last sacraments from the Russian arch-priest who during the last eight years had followed the fortunes of his chief.

Hoover Leading In Ohio Today

Columbus, O., April 25.—(AP)—Herbert Hoover will have at least 31 of the Ohio delegates to the Kansas City convention.
Returns from yesterday's presidential primary, still incomplete today, showed that the commerce secretary definitely had lined up for him the seven delegates at large and two each from the 12 of the more populous districts in the state, a majority of the delegation.
Candidates for delegates on the Willis slate had been the best in ten districts, with the count in one—the tenth—close enough that the two Hooverites had an outside chance to come out on top, victory in the tenth, would give the Hoover opposition forces a total of twenty delegates. Defeat there would scale their total down to 18 and boost Hoover's to 33.

construction in the next five years. These plans are rich enough to spend one-third that amount to save crops and lives of the nephews in the Mississippi valley.

Senator Heflin says, "Calvin Coolidge was elected by the Catholics." Mr. Coolidge, says he, in return for the Catholic vote, "agreed to interfere in Mexico and Nicaragua, and save them for the Roman church."

If the Catholics did elect Calvin Coolidge, Americans including the Protestants, are much obliged to them. It was a successful election.

This country again holds the automobile speed championship. Yesterday Ray Keech, going 207.55 miles an hour, took the record from Captain Campbell, British.

Frank Lockhart, who recently shot into the ocean with his "Black Hawk" Stutz, is tuning up to beat Keech.

While such speed is not useful in real life, it does, as Mr. Moskowitz says, compel the building of better machines.

On the second day's celebration of Rome's birthday, yesterday, Mussolini gave a sabre fencing exhibition with an army officer. His health and heart must be sound, for he kept up the savage fencing for a quarter of an hour. Three thousand five hundred musicians, led by Mascagni, of "Cavalleria Rusticana," played the war "hymn of the Piva." When Mussolini celebrates a birthday he really celebrates it.

A woman about fifty could not remember her name or address. Doctors will investigate. We all sympathize, forgetting that a hundred years hence, nobody now living will remember his name or address in all probability. We may not ever remember the name of the planet on which we formerly lived. We can't remember the names or addresses we had before we came here.

By Nicholas M. Schenck, president of Loew's theatres, wisely bars the picture "Dawn" from all those theatres. A picture calculated to revive and intensify international hatreds should not be shown here. There are better ways of making money.

Prime Minister Poincare comes out ahead in Sunday's French election. "Reds" are routed and Poincare will have a majority in the chamber of deputies sufficient to carry through his financial rehabilitation plans.

The French are a practical people.

Jeremiah Milbank has given $250,000 to study and fight infantile paralysis. Able scientists will spend the money.

The Rockefeller Institute, with millions at its disposal, has long been fighting infantile paralysis and other diseases of children and adults.

very endurance and skill, both as a navigator and as a mechanic. I would not like to be in the arctic without him and I would take him before any other man in the world."

As soon as the pole had been crossed Byrd told Bennett that an aerial crossing of the Atlantic was his next aim and Bennett asked to be taken along.

"We go together," said Byrd, but it was not to be.

On April 16 of last year the Fokker plane "America" crashed on its initial test flight and Bennett was injured so seriously that he could take no part in the flight to France.

Bennett had superb control of his emotions but during that test flight, realizing that the plane was nose heavy, he gave the only sign of nervousness he ever displayed. That sign, Byrd says, was to lick his lips, and at the time Byrd nudged Lieut. George Noville and nodded toward Bennett.

The plane, under the guidance of Anthony Fokker, its designer, landed at thirty miles an hour and burned over. All but Fokker were injured. Bennett by far the most seriously. He was hanging upside down in the wreckage of the pilot's seat, his leg smashed, blood pouring over his face, blinded with oil. He believed he was dying, but his first thought was of his companions.

"We heard a strained voice," says Byrd, "crying 'look out for fire!'" It was Bennett, the man in a million. Bennett, Fokker, and Byrd himself with a broken arm, made his way to his comrades and did what he could for them, until help should come.

"Guess I'm done for, commander," Bennett told him and Byrd, though replying, "Nonsense, old man, I thought he was right."

For a week it seemed that Bennett would die, but he pulled through. He was up on crutches before the rebuilt America left for France and during the past year he seemed to regain his old strength. He was on a lecture tour when the plane came to go as chief pilot of New York city's official relief plane to aid the trans-Atlantic Brecon.

He had a severe cold but nothing could stand in the way of his intention to carry aid to the men who had crossed the ocean he himself often had hoped to fly.

On April 18 he and Balchen, who had left a week before to go with the relief party, flew to Detroit in one of Commander Byrd's south pole planes. They were put to bed in the Ford hospital but would not stay there. On the 20th they took off in a Ford plane for Murray Bay and made the 800 miles in about 9 hours.

But Bennett's cold developed into pneumonia and after waiting a day Balchen pushed on without him. Bennett was taken by plane to Quebec on Sunday, April 22, and his wife, herself suffering from a severe attack of tonsillitis, went there to be with him. Commander Byrd cancelled all his engagements and joined the Bennetts at the hospital.

Many Delegates To Convention Named by G. O. P.

Washington, April 25.—(AP)—Taking into account the big batch of delegates named in yesterday's primaries in Ohio, Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and Alaska, and by Republicans in conventions, 738 of the 1,639 Republicans who will hold credentials at Kansas City actually have been named. Of the 1,100 delegate votes at Houston, 638 or nearly one hundred less than the two-thirds majority needed for nomination have been designated.

Of the Republican delegates, 229 are generally conceded to Hoover, 175 to Louden, 22 to Norris, 24 to Curtis and 11 to Borah with the preference of 234 listed as doubtful.

Among the Democrats Smith has increased his favored total to 41 or 46 votes more than he polled at his peak in the 1924 convention, but slightly more than 300 stay of the 737 1-2 necessary for nomination.

Commerce of Ohio is credited $20,477,000 of Missouri, with 36 George of Georgia, 28 Ayres of Kansas, 20 and Fitzhugh of Nebraska, 16, with the preference of 77 Democratic delegates selected to date regarded as doubtful.

Seventy Planes To Take Part In Aerial Warfare

Fort Bragg, N. C., April 25.—(AP)—Aerial warfare in every branch will be demonstrated here May 5 to 8 when seventy planes participating in maneuvers in conjunction with field artillery troops at the fort will stage a demonstration.

The exhibition is a part of the broadest schedule of tactical exercises and maneuvers in the history of the country, according to an announcement made from fourth corps headquarters at Fort McPherson, Ga.

Twenty-five pursuit planes, 25 attack planes and 20 transport planes will participate in the activities using actual bombs and loaded machine guns in attacks on target; laying down smoke screens for ground troops and other activities of the air force.

Way Elected Head Rotary District

Charlotte, April 25.—(AP)—William Way, of Charleston, S. C., was today elected as the nominee for governor of the fifty-eighth Rotary District, Orangeburg, S. C., was selected as the place for the 1929 meeting.

The nomination is subject to ratification at the annual convention of Rotary International at Minneapolis, Minn., in June. The conference adjourned shortly after noon.

There was no opposition to the selection of Orangeburg, and Mayor R. H. Jennings, of that city, was applauded as he extended the invitation.

A few minutes later it was announced that orangeburg had won the attendance cup. Fifty per cent of the members of that club attended the district conference.

Attendance prizes for today were won by Mrs. Charles A. Willis, of Monroe; Mrs. W. D. Anderson, of Gastonia; Jack Bales, of Charlotte; and R. E. Ridenhour, of Concord.

SEARCH FOR MISSING GIRLS AT WILMINGTON

Wilmington, April 25.—(AP)—Officers are searching for Grace Shepard, 16, and Evelyn Tindall, 14, who disappeared last Saturday night from their homes here.

They were last seen late Saturday evening walking toward Lumberton with two young men whose identity is not known. Parents of the girls can throw no light on their disappearance.

The girls are described as being pretty and well dressed.
