

OVER TEN THOUSAND PEOPLE HEARD REV. BILLY SUNDAY IN GREENVILLE YESTERDAY

Evangelist Scored Modernists and Mur- ders of Christ in most Effective Sermon of Campaign Here Last Night.

The Rev. William A. Sunday stripped himself of all ecclesiastical dignity yesterday and for the first time since the opening of his evangelistic campaign at Smith & Sugg's warehouse a week ago, became the nationally famed "Billy Sunday."

Combining all of his matchless phraseology with powers of an actor, the evangelist literally ripped his way through dogmas and doctrines, superstitions and disbelief, and last night wound up in a blaze of glory with a scathing denunciation of Pilate, a man whom he charged with the murder of Jesus Christ.

Designating Pilate as a "standpat, free lunch pike counter, pliable, plastic, lick-spittle, rat-hole, thimble, wassel-eyed, grafting, whiskey-soaked politician of his day," Mr. Sunday threw himself face downward on the platform and spat his disgust at the imaginary persecutor of the teachings of Christ. Several times before he had mounted a chair, and with one foot on the chair and the other on the pulpit, declared himself against the practices of the present day machine politicians, whom he declared no better than the man responsible for the humiliation and sufferings of the Savior of humanity.

"Pilate was a machine politician and there is no lower down scoundrel on earth than a mere typical machine politician," he declared.

And at this juncture he paid his respects to the modernists who would deny the deity of Jesus. He said men high in church, life of the nation were as guilty of this denial as those who are more prosaically and held in more respect. He did not attempt to bring out the telegrams of the spirit of humanity, but contented himself with the declaration that they had related the highest teachings of their profession and did not deserve the respect of their followers.

Capacity congregations from many sections greeted the evangelist at both services yesterday. In the afternoon seating capacity was completely exhausted and hundreds lined themselves up and down the walls of the smooth building and listened attentively to the expounding of the gospel. Every available seat was taken in the evening, which proved by far one of the most inspirational services of the campaign.

Contributions yesterday afternoon being much smaller than anticipated, Mrs. Sunday, wife of the evangelist, mounted the rostrum last night, and in behalf of the local campaign committee, entered a forceful plea in behalf of more liberality. She stressed the need of finances in the successful completion of the meeting, and contributed a check for $100.00 for her family, which included Mr. Sunday and their four offspring.

Home Hammond, three aged stout men prominently as one of the outstanding song leaders of the country. With three hundred seats of the choir occupied, his members succeeded in drowning the voices of the five thousand people in the congregation. They sang with complete freedom and unrestraint, and when Mr. Sunday mounted the platform he had probably the most attentive and receptive audience of the campaign. It is true numbers of them coughed in an extremely disconcerting manner, due mainly to colds caused by the unprecedented drop of the mercury Saturday, but this deprived the evangelist of some of his rhetorical capability, and he put over a sermon that ripped through the armor of the cynical and pessimistic, and left the decadent shivering in the uncertainty of pent-up emotion.

The invitation was extended for a renewal of faith at both services and while the great sea of humanity was slow in committing themselves, numbers came forward and asserted their belief in the supremacy of the word of God. It formed a fitting climax, especially last night, and the congregation was moved probably as it had not been moved before them in several preceding services.

Mr. Sunday announced last night that he had been invited to preach in several of the larger cities in this part of the state, and he would accept all invitations in case they did not conflict with services here. He has shown a catholicity of sympathy for distant communities of Eastern Carolina, and his response to their call of his presence has been magnanimous in every sense of the word.

THREATEN BAN ON CIGARETTES

Organized Labor Threatens to Declare R. J. Reynolds' Pro- ducts Unfair.

Durham, April 30.—(AP)—The R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company of Winston-Salem today faced a threat of having two of its principal products—Camel cigarettes and Prince Albert smoking tobacco—placed under the ban of organized labor.

Spokesmen for the Piedmont organizing council at a four hour meeting here yesterday announced its negotiations with the tobacco company for a labor contract fall they will seek the support of the American Federation of Labor in a movement to proclaim Camels and Prince Albert "unfair" to laboring men.

At the same time the state administration was criticized for having printing done by out of state printers; selling convict labor in competition with free labor; reduction of the personnel of the state departments on recommendation of efficiency engineers and employment of state prisoners in coal mines.

T. A. Wilson, president of the State Federation of Labor and E. A. Couch, organizer of the Tobacco Workers International, informed the more than 100 laboring men present that it was planned to offer the Reynolds Company a "last chance" to sign a contract with the Tobacco Workers Union. If this is rejected they said the aid of the American Federation will be sought.

Princess Reveals Divorce From Turk

San Francisco, April 30.—(AP)—Divorced by her Royal Turkish husband because she failed to obey promptly enough his orders to leave her sick mother and return to him, Princess Soud Chakir, the former Mrs. Sid Wirt Spreckles of San Francisco today was making plans to devote herself to her daughter's education.

The princess revealed her divorce to friends here yesterday, saying that her husband, Prince Soud Chakir, son of Turkey's last Sultan, had divorced her without giving her a chance to present her case in court.

The princess said she expected to leave here for Paris next June, and live there while her daughter is completing her education.

FRANCE STAYS WITH POINCARÉ

Premier Assured of Political Support in Effort to Stabilize Franc.

Paris, April 30.—(AP)—France has endorsed Premier Raymond Poincaré and his policy of stabilizing the franc by assuring him a majority of at least 100 in the next chamber of deputies.

With full results of the balloting of the last two Sundays compiled today the moderate supporters of Poincaré had 306 seats in the new house or 45 more than in the former one. The combined socialists, radicals and communists captured 272 seats as against 285 in the preceding chamber. Many radicals are regarded as certain to vote with the Poincaré union government.

The radicals lost at least a dozen seats, and Leon Blum, leader of the socialist party and an international figure, lost his seat to a communist party cook, Jacques Ducloux. The principal victims of the battle of the ballots were the communists who lost nearly half a dozen seats. The famous "red belt" of Paris today was regarded as a thing of the past. Jean Garchery, Albert Fournier, Valbent Courturier, and Andre party, who is now in prison, being among the leaders who met defeat.

SEND BRITISH WARSHIPS TO EGYPT TODAY

Several Vessels Are Ordered Out to deal With Anglo-Egyptian Crisis.

London, April 30.—(AP)—Several British warships and cruisers called this morning from Malta for Egypt in connection with Anglo-Egyptian crises which revolves around the Egyptian public assemblies bill.

An ultimatum demanding the withdrawal of the bill within three days was handed the Egyptian government last night by the British.

The situation today was grave and fraught with serious possibilities, although in official circles in London, it was thought that the difficulties were not insurmountable and the sky might clear suddenly.

It was stated that the British did not mention sanctions in their note to Egypt as a penalty for Egypt's refusal to comply, but in well informed circles the opinion was expressed that sanctions would be applied if the Egyptians were obdurate.

It remained to be seen whether the sending of warships from Malta could be taken as a warning of such sanctions.

It was recalled today that in 1924 Great Britain applied heavy sanctions after the assassination of Sirdar Stack, including a large indemnity and occupation of the customs houses in Alexandria. The parliamentary regime was suspended for eighteen months.

The Egyptian stand concerning the assemblies bill is regarded as another step in the Egyptian campaign for absolute independence. The assemblies bill in effect permits all sorts of public assemblies and prohibits the police from interfering unless disorders have already started. Much bloodshed has resulted from assemblies in the past, including the deaths of foreigners and the British attitude is that the proposed bill should not be allowed passage.

Egypt, originally part of the Turkish empire, was declared a British protectorate on Dec. 18, 1914 as an outgrowth of the world war. The protectorate terminated in 1922 with a British declaration setting forth the intention of the British government. This declaration, which has played an extremely important part in the relations between Egypt and Great Britain, briefly contains the following provisions:

1. The British protectorate over Egypt was terminated and Egypt was declared to be an independent sovereign state.

2. As soon as the Egyptian government should pass an act of indemnity, martial law as proclaimed in 1914 was to be withdrawn.

3. The following matters are absolutely reserved to the discretion of His Majesty's government until such time as it may be possible by free discussion and accommodation of both sides to conclude covenants in regard thereto between His Majesty's government and the government of Egypt: (a) The security of the communications of the British empire in Egypt; (b) The defense of Egypt against all foreign aggression or interference direct or indirect; (c) The protection of foreign residents in Egypt and the protection of minorities; (d) The Sudan. Pending the conclusion of such agreement, the status quo in all these matters shall remain intact.

Indianapolis Pays Final Tribute To Automobile Racer

Indianapolis, Ind., April 30.—(AP)—The body of Frank Lockhart, race driver, brought here from Daytona Beach, Fla., where he was killed at a record to break the world's speed record for automobiles, lay in state at an undertaking establishment here today. Several thousand persons filed past the body yesterday and again today.

Private services will be held Tuesday afternoon. Arrangements are being made to broadcast the sermon. The body will be placed temporarily in a vault and later taken to California for burial.

MOTHER OF GOV. BYRD DIES AT WINCHESTER

Richmond, Va., April 30.—(AP)—Mrs. J. B. Beverly, mother of Mrs. Harry Flood Byrd, died at her home in Winchester at 12.30 a. m. today, following a paralytic stroke yesterday afternoon. She was 80 years old and had been in failing health for several months. Gov. and Mrs. Byrd arrived in Winchester about ten minutes after her death after a hurried drive from Richmond.

French Communist Ready For Labor Demonstration

Paris, April 30.—(AP)—The "Red Belt" of Paris promises to be the most lively spot in Europe tomorrow as far as May day labor demonstrations are concerned.

French communists have declared they will have "a real affair" for the first time since 1920 when a number of persons were killed and many injured in a clash between police and radical demonstrators who attempted to enter the chamber of deputies.

On the other hand M. Chiappe, prefect of police, who in his short term of office, has had several conflicts with these elements, has assured the people that if there is any rough work it will not last long.

With the possible exception of Brussels and Warsaw, the rest of Europe expects to see the laboring class enjoy one long holiday punctuated with parades, brass bands, oratory and "hot dog" sandwiches.

In Brussels the general committee of the syndicated workers of Belgium has issued an appeal to denounce the "Capitalistic powers, and protest against the high cost of living and the slow raise of wages." Communists have endorsed this manifesto of the labor unions and advised the police expect little trouble. Tomorrow's big event in Berlin will be a gigantic out-of-door mass meeting.

MATT HARRIS PASSES AWAY

Well Known Citizen Buried This After- noon in Cherry Hill Cemetery.

Matt A. Harris, 54, was found dead in the bathroom of his home on Dickinson avenue Sunday night at 9:30 o'clock. Death is said to have been due to apoplexy caused by high blood pressure to which he had been subject the last few months.

Funeral services were conducted from the home of the deceased this afternoon by Rev. W. S. Harden, pastor of the Presbyterian church, interment following in the Dudley plot at Cherry Hill cemetery.

Mr. Harris was a member of the Grimesland Masonic lodge. For the past 21 years he had been connected with the Norfolk & Southern railway in this city as cashier.

He was a native of Pitt county and was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Harris. Active pall bearers were: Dr. J. E. Nobles, S. A. Smith, Dow Beaman, D. C. Dudley, Jim Davenport, Jess Whitchard, E. R. Dudley, O. W. Harrington. Honorary: W. M. Moore, T. R. Moore, S. I. Dudley, S. S. Williams.

LINDY TO PUT PLANE ON SHOW IN WASHINGTON

Spirit of St. Louis to Be Turned Over to Smithsonian Insti- tute Today.

St. Louis, April 30.—(AP)—The famous partnership, "Lindbergh" composed of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and his silver monoplane "Spirit of St. Louis" neared dissolution with the announcement of his intention to fly the ship to Washington today, to place it on permanent exhibition in the Smithsonian institution.

The ship, which has flown slightly more than 40,000 miles under the hand of its famous pilot is a score of centuries in its existence, carried Lindbergh through his epoch making New York to Paris flight, a tour of the United States and Canada, and the goodwill flight to South America.

It is fame caught the fancy of Young and old alike, and thousands of miniature copies were built which found place on the mantles of homes, in show windows, and many public places.

Built in San Diego, Calif., early last year, the trim monoplane first took flight under the hand of "Slim" Lindbergh, a local pilot, and aspirant to trans-Atlantic honors on May 11.

The take off in the New York to Paris flight was made May 20. After landing at Le Bourget May 21, a visit of seven days in France kept the plane on the ground.

The return to America was made on a steamship. Then followed the flight to St. Louis, and a tour of the United States which carried Lindbergh and his plane into many states.

On the South American goodwill tour the pair visited 15 countries, Mexico, Guatemala, British Honduras, Salvador, Honduras, Nicaragua, Costa Rica, Panama, Colombia, Venezuela, Virgin Islands, Porto Rico, Sa Domingo, Haiti and Cuba.

The termination of the tour February 19 brought the "Spirit of St. Louis" to rest in a national guard hangar here where it has been guarded.

WOMAN FEEL COMPLETE FLIGHT TO SOUTH AFRICA

Capt. Ten, Union of South Africa, April 30.—(AP)—Lady Mary Bole, widely known British woman flier, arrived in Capetown today by airplane thus completing a solo flight from Cydon, England from which she started on March 9. Lady Bole made the journey in short ops.

10,990,000 Share Days?
Ladies, Spare Your Legs.
Beer and Dinosaurs.
(By Arthur Brisbane)
Copyright 1927, by Star Co.

John D. Rockefeller is a great-grandfather, thanks to Mrs. Abby Rockefeller Milton, the young mother. You may be sure the great-grandfather is more interested in that baby than in all the oils he will ever saw.

Other mothers and fathers will wish the new baby good health and a long life, for, by the expenditure of millions, Mr. Rockefeller and his son have waged a noble fight against children's diseases.

Stock exchange brokers and clerks, exhausted by a long series of 4,000,000 share days, are told that 10,000,000 share days are coming. William Fahnstock, who predicted Wall Street prosperity, "greater than in the McKinley boom" four years ago, says the entire world owes us money, our industries and banking are solidly established. Big industries will soon be borrowing money at 3 to 4 per cent. The 10,000,000 share day is not far off.

Stocks on the Paris Bourse are skyrocketing with the victory of Poincaré, bank stocks leading the movement. Mr. Giannini of San Francisco, is in Europe, perhaps busy as usual.

And British speculators are happy. Within a month British stock values have increased $500,000,000. Alas, poor bears.

Dr. Charles Mayo, learned surgeon, tells women they are "ruining their legs with high heels." Throwing the body out of balance, high heels cause the calves to shrink. With such heels, women can't walk, and not walking, they grow shorter, wearing higher heels to make up for it.

Alas, warnings are useless. Women ruined their noses with nose rings, 100,000 years ago, ruined their liver and other insides with tight corsets until recently. Their destiny is to do foolish things until they decide what it is they want, perhaps 100,000 years hence.

Organized labor in New York says solemnly: "We want beer and wine."

No harm in wanting. Scientists would like to have dinosaurs, alike and kicking, but they can't get them. They are extinct.

Beer, that workmen once used, is also extinct. Bootleg whiskey is plentiful, and bootleg crime. There won't be any change in the situation for many a day. Went poorly dressed, his clothes fastened with string and wire, no shoes, necktie or handkerchief, used to say "I can make a wash boiler or soup for fifteen cents that feeds me a couple of weeks."

He is dead now, and $500,000 is found in his shack. People ask.

SLAY GIRL IN BOLD HOLD-UP

Chicago Gunmen get $1,500 From Thea- tre Booth in Chicago Sunday.

Chicago, April 30.—(AP)—The slaying of women has been added to the repertoire of Chicago gunmen.

They slew 17-year-old Pearl Eggeron last night as she covered under their guns in the cashier's cage of the Ritz theatre in suburban Berwyn.

They slew her because she screamed at the sight of eyes that stared through oval masks, and guns that poked at her from outside the glass wall.

An army automatic roared and the little usherette fell the man with a sawed off shot gun opened the door to the ticket booth, stepped over the girl's body and over that of the cashier, Miss Gevruede Plante who had fainted, and scooped up $1,500.

The robbers used their guns to hold back 60 persons in the ticket line, and walked in the curb where accompaniment waited at the wheel of an automobile bearing a New York license. Each fired a shot in the direction of the crowd before leaping into the machine and disappearing.

Miss Eggeron was employed in an Oak Park department store and increased her weekly income by acting as usherette at the Ritz theatre Sunday nights.

BREMEN CREW HONORED BY NEW YORKERS

Metropolis Intensifies Lionizing of Conquer- ers of Atlantic East To West.

New York, April 30.—(AP)—The German-Irish crew of the trans-Atlantic Bremen moved through a paper snowstorm—Manhattan's traditional greeting to its heroes—to receive the city's official welcome and popular acclaim today.

As Baron Gunther Von Huenefeld, Major James Fitzmaurice and Capt. Hermann Koehl drove through cheering crowds from their hotel to the city tug Macon they gave every evidence that they preferred the artificial blizzard to the swirling snows of Labrador they so recently had experienced.

The fliers as they left the Ritz Carlton Hotel in 48th street wore the clothes in which they flew the Atlantic and endured the hardships to their two weeks in the north. Major Fitzmaurice was jaunty in his Irish free state uniform, Capt. Koehl wore blue serge and a white uniform cap and the Baron, monocle fast in place, had a blue suit and felt hat.

The first duty of the day for Major Fitzmaurice, Captain Koehl and Baron Von Huenefeld was to make a trip down the harbor in the municipal tug Macon and return to Battery Park, where New York's distinguished visitors have been greeted since Peter Styvensen ruled the new founded colony.

Next came an automobile parade through the canyons of lower Broadway to the city hall for the fliers to meet Mayor Walker and official delegations and receive the medal of valor of the city of New York and the scroll of honored welcome.

Next came a parade of 10,000 members of various military organizations. The route was up Fifth Avenue to Madison Square, the Grand Atlantic fliers could witness a wreath at the "eternal light" in memory of Almirante's death of the World War.

Major General William H. Heikel was assigned as the representative of Governor Smith to bestow medals of valor of the state of New York on the fliers when the parade reached Central Park.

Tonight the fliers are to be guests of Mayor Walker at a theater party and tomorrow will be honored at the city banquet at the Hotel Commodore. Wednesday they go to Washington for the welcoming ceremonies there and then return to New York to spend the remainder of the week.

The fliers looked forward to a welcome from loved ones today, the wives of Major Fitzmaurice and Captain Koehl and "Pat" the young daughter of the Irish commandant were due on the steamship Dresden.

A special place in the reviewing stand was reserved for the colonel of the mayor's staff Robert E. Lee 4th, wearing a copy of the uniform his famous ancestor wore. Mayor Walker appointed the little boy to go to Atlanta for the unveiling of the Stone Mountain Memorial and had his tailor here.

Yesterday the three fliers called on Cardinal Hayes. The new clothes for which seven tailors had a busy time measuring them Saturday night were not ready and they made their appearance in the outfit they wore on their sea voyage across the Atlantic.

The two Germans were in civilian clothes while the major was in uniform with his cap set at a jaunty angle.

He seemed to be the focus of attention and was met by cries of "Hey, Fitz," "Hello here Fitz," where he went. He answered by a wave of a khaki clad arm expressive of the breezy spirit he has shown since he joined the adventure.

The Baron meanwhile had slipped away to the church of his faith, St. Peter's Lutheran in Lexington Avenue. Entering unannounced he was introduced to the congregation and addressed the classes of youngsters in the Sunday school.

The Baron was beaming like a boy at seeing German faces and hearing the German tongue again. He became serious in talking to the Sunday school, however.

"The one idea I and my comrades had on leaving Ireland was to land in New York," he said. "Today we are thanking God, my children, that we have reached here, just as we thanked God that day on Greenly island when we had come safely to land."

Later in the day the fliers made their way through cheering crowds in Times Square to the Metropolitan Opera House to attend the Lamba Gumbo.

The cheering was just dying down when Baron Von Huenefeld, seeing Mayor and Mrs. Walker in an adjoining box, leaned over and blew the hand of the city's first lady, followed by Captain Koehl, and the applause broke out anew.

BOBBY JONES HAS BRILLIANT FUTURE AHEAD

By BRIAN BELL, Associated Press Sports Writer.

Baltimore, April 30.—(AP)—Bobby Jones, 26 years of age and with 23 national championships competitions in 12 years behind him, expects to play "reasonably good golf" at forty.

Charged with being too conservative since he is today playing as strong a game as he has ever shown, he agreed that there is a chance that he may be a "mild threat" at 45 if the demands of his profession do not make too great inroads on his game.

Beyond 45 the Atlanta wizard has no plans. Reminded that Harry Vardon at 50 was good enough to come from numerous British triumphs to be runnerup in the championship here, he modestly replied "but I'm not Vardon."

Bobby's own hope that he will be able to qualify for some of the big championships when he is 40, seems to his friends to be entirely too great a concession to father time or old man par.

Even so, if he ever hits a serious ball after he has passed two score years in age he will break the record of another great Georgian, Tyrus Raymond Cobb, elected unanimously in Georgia and by a large majority in other sections of the country the greatest player baseball has produced.

Ty now is playing his 24th year of Major League baseball at slightly more than 40. When Robert Tyre Jones is 40 he will have played Major League golf for 26 years. The Bobby of today is better than the Bobby of five years ago when he won his first championship. George Duncan, the fast moving Scot, predicted in 1922 that Jones at 30 would be a better golfer than he was at 20. With four years to go "rubber tire" as the pros call him, apparently is about to show that Duncan's forecasts are as good as his advice to putters to "hit the ball and knocked it in the hole."

Bobby at the moment is much heavier than he will be when he steps on the first tee at Olympia fields to make another bid for the national open championship. "I put it on in the winter and got it off in the summer," he explained. "Not all of it fades away from the walking either. The nervous energy expended in serious competition burns a lot of flesh away." In this Bobby finds himself in agreement with Frank Frisch, the former Fordham and giant star, now doing his flashing for St. Louis. Frisch was happy when he was able to start the current overnight when most of his fellows were trying to get the pounds off.

"Gold, you know, is played up here," said Bobby, pointing to his head. "I do not think one's physical condition is very important. Of course, the eyesight must be good but if you can see and think a little bit, it seems to me you can play. I don't worry about my weight. I let that take care of itself. It always has—so far."

Bobby, who is playing a series of exhibition matches for the benefit of the Olympic games fund, may lose much of his excess poundage before he starts to warm up for the championships. He puffed his way over the mountainous course of the Baltimore Country Club Sunday and was glad to call it a day at the 18th green, although with Watts Gunn he was all square with Warren Corbran and Roland MacKenzie.

In his match at Baltimore he played like Jones until he got to the greens but viewed from a normal Jones angle, he might as well have left his famous putter "Calamity Jane" at home. He took 35 putts, good enough for the rank and file, but so bad for "rubber tire" he felt it necessary to apologize to his hosts for his "miserable golf." He used up 77 strokes in 18 holes.

Bobby has a lot of golf to play this year in spite of his failure to defend his British open title.

He will try for the open championship, captain the Walker cup team and make an effort to retain the amateur crown.

E. C. League Gets Away To Great Start

By the Associated Press. Composed of about a fifty-fifty split of veteran players and promising collegians, sandlotiers and semi-pros, the baby baseball circuit of the South, the Eastern Carolina got away to a good start last week. Wilmington was the only club in the league managing to play four games while the other five outfits recorded three each.

The Fayetteville Highlanders and the Rocky Mount team find themselves on the top of the heap at the beginning of this week's play, with three victories in as many starts and Kinston comes a close third with two wins and one loss; Wilmington has won one and lost three and Goldsboro has won one and lost two; Greenville has not checked up one on the right side of the book yet.

Opening a new series this afternoon, Goldsboro plays at Greenville; Kinston at Fayetteville and Rocky Mount at Wilmington.

Paris—Charlie Baker, "the man who brought jazz to Paris," died here a penniless paralytic. The singer and dancer ended his days as a doorman.

HAHN MUST BEAT FLEETEST FIELD IN HISTORY TO WIN OLYMPIC "800"

Hahn—hope of U.S.A. Lowe—England, defending champion. Martin—France. Peltzer—Germany. JOHN BULL FOUR—UNCLE SAM FOUR—THIS IS THE RUBBER.

Have a look at perhaps the greatest crop of half-milers the world has ever seen. All four are to toe marks at Amsterdam in an 800-meter race that's a natural if ever there was one. England has monopolized the event since the war and has tied the United States in total victories.

(By Alan J. Gould)

New York.—(AP)—Barring some unforeseen developments between now and the first week of August, the fleetest array of middle distance runners in track history will toe the marks for the final of the Olympic 800-meter race at Amsterdam.

Picture the prospective struggle of speed, courage and resourcefulness with these five stars alone in the final: Douglas Lowe, long striding British stylist and present Olympic champion.

Dr. Otto Peltzer, lanky German who holds the world's record for both the half mile and 800 meters, at 1:51 2-5.

Lloyd Hahn, American ace who holds the world's indoor half-mile record of 1:51 2-5.

Phil Edwards, great negro star, American trained but an Olympic representative of Canada.

Seraphin Martin, French sensation, conqueror of Peltzer and credited with the fastest 800-meter time of the past season, 1:52 4-5.

Here are five runners all capable of doing the "800" in 1:52 or better a mark that has been beaten only once in all Olympic history. There may be other contenders, including Ray Conger and Ray Watson of the American brigade, but the spotlight will be on the Big Five.

Certainly this is the greatest assembly of half-milers for any race since the 1912 Olympic, but the competition may be no more thrilling than that was in the epic "800" final at Stockholm 16 years ago.

That was the last time America captured this feature of the Olympic program, but the Yankees made a field day of it by putting six out of eight men in the final and finishing 1-2-3 as Ted Meredith, the 18-year-old schoolboy, beat Mel Sheppard and broke the world's record.

Swedish athletic sagas are written around that spectacular struggle which ended with four Americans and the German star, Braun, separated by only seven-tenths of a second in a dime-novel finish.

"As soon as the pistol was fired," runs the official story, "Sheppard at once threw himself forward and led at an unheard-of pace, with Meredith and Braun as his nearest men. Sheppard's time for the 400 meters was 52 2-5 seconds, he then still keeping the lead. When the bell rang, Sheppard was still leading, with Meredith close behind him."

On leaving the last curve, Sheppard still lay first, but now Meredith came with his spurt which brought him nearer and nearer to the leader. For a moment it looked very possible that Braun would get to the front, but he did not succeed, probably mostly on account of the pace given to the finish by the phenomenal final spurt made by Sheppard and Meredith. Davenport came on too in the last five meters, and then Braun was run out. He lost his stride and was within a hair breadth of being beaten out by Caldwell on the very spot. Meredith won the race by half a meter from Sheppard, who was only a hands' breadth behind Davenport. Meredith's time for the half mile (804 1-2) meters was 1:52 1-5.

Sheppard was thus balked by a narrow margin from accomplishing what no Olympic champion has ever been able to do—repeat his victory in a track race after a four-year interval. "Pearless Mel" had won the "800" at London in 1906, outrunning Lombardi of Italy and Braun of Germany, in the then world record time of 1:52 4-5, and was the favorite in 1912.

Meredith's mission in that race was to push Sheppard and give the veteran as much pace as possible. Ted not only did this, but had more "kick" at the finish than Mel.

"That," Meredith now recalls, "was the greatest thrill of my career. I was just a kid then and over-awed by even making the final with these stars. I just got going well and didn't realize until it was all over that I was traveling faster than ever before in my life."

America and Britain have monopolized the Olympic "800." Each nation has won the event four times. Since the war England has been supreme. In 1920 A. G. Hill the 36-year-old Briton, beat Earl Eby, the American ace, by barely a yard. Eby was coming strong and might have won but for being blocked momentarily in the stretch as Hill swerved over. In 1924 Douglas Lowe, a picture of smooth running motion, outlasted a great field.

LOCALS LOOSE TO GOOCHMEN

Greenville today remained alone in the cellar of the East Carolina league as a result of Saturday's defeat here 8 to 2 at the hands of Lee Gooch's Fayetteville aggregation. The weather Saturday was more suitable for football than baseball and the formal home coming program, postponed Friday because of the rain, was again postponed until this afternoon when the series with Goldsboro opens here. Rev. Billy Sunday and Mayor J. C. Lanier however were on hand as scheduled and the first ball across the local plate was pitched by the evangelist and received by the Mayor.

Cherry who did the hurling for the locals, then took the mound and used his first game of the season here, was in earnest. Allen was moundsman for the visitors and both the pitchers showed up remarkably well, especially with the chilly wind blowing across the diamond was taken into consideration.

Fayetteville scored two runs in the initial frame, added two more in the fourth, three in the seventh, and one in the ninth. A homer by Ray in the seventh with one runner ahead of him was responsible for two of the runs.

The locals scored one run in the second inning and one in the ninth. ROBINS DREAM SWEET DREAMS OF PENNANTS

Given the moral support of a presidential year the Brooklyn Robins are dreaming of pennants and world series.

Although the flowers that bloom in the spring generally are withered beyond repair by Fall, Wilbert Robins' flock of hopefuls are not letting that interfere with their dreams so long as they can stay on top of the National League standing. It is a matter of record that Brooklyn won a pennant in 1920—a presidential year—and came close to repeating four years later.

Given pitching better than even Uncle Robbie had a right to expect the Robins took both ends of a double header with the Philadelphia Nationals at Ebbetts field yesterday 3 to 1 and 3 to 0. Doug McWeeney gave the Quakers three hits and a solitary tally in the opener. Watson Clark allowed five hits and absolutely no runs whatever in the nightcap. Bissonette's third home run of the season and a wild throw by Fresco Thompson accounted for Brooklyn's tallies in the first game. Harvey Hendrick poled out a circuit drive with one on in the first inning of the second engagement to decide the issue.

The New York Giants split a double header with the Boston Braves at the Polo grounds. The Braves fell on Virgil Barnes in the eighth inning of the first encounter and hammered out a 5 to 3 victory. That rally featured by Eddie Brown's home run with two on, gave Boston all its runs. Homers by Terry and Ott accounted for the three New York tallies. The Giants pounded three pitchers for 15 hits to take the closing battle, 12 to 8. Harper hit for the circuit in the sixth inning. Brown, the irrepresible, drove in four runs with three hits.

A Chicago Cubs turned on the St. Louis Cardinals and squeezed out a six to five verdict in 12 innings. Heathcote scoring the winning run on Mike Gonzales, single for the Cards but found the going too tough as early as the second inning. Bill McKechnie threw in 18 players, six of them pitchers, in an effort to turn the tide St. Louisward. Charlie Root held the invaders to one hit in the last four innings and was credited with his first victory of the season.

Eppa Rixey bested Ray Kremer in a right handed pitchers' duel at Cincinnati, the Reds sinking the local Buccaneers of Pittsburgh, 3 to 2. Babe Ruth's fourth circuit drive of the season sent the Washington Senators down to their sixth straight defeat and the New York Yankees into the American League lead. The score was 7 to 5. The Bambino's smash came in the sixth inning with two on base. Horace Lisenbee was the victim again. Three of Ruth's four homers have been achieved at Lisenbee's expense.

Detroit halted Cleveland's winning streak by eking out a tenning 7 to 6 victory at Cleveland. Cleveland got 18 hits to the Tigers' 17 but failed to make as good use of them. The Obions filled the bases in the ninth and tenth innings but could not score off Elam Vangilder. Rice got four hits for the Tigers and Jamieson as many for Cleveland.

Eleven hits off Adkins and Connelly were enough to give the Browns a 5 to 2 decision over the Chicago White Sox at St. Louis. Jack Ogden, who has been feeling ill, nearly collapsed after running out a double in the sixth inning. Sam Gray took his place on the mound and held the Sox scoreless for the remainder of the game.

Boston and Philadelphia were not scheduled. Naples—King Victor Emmanuel has given Naples a priceless collection of modern paintings and statues.

Weather Man Wins Out in The Piedmont

By the Associated Press. The weather man went to bat in the Piedmont League during the week-end of opening play and proved so effective that no games were staged on Friday and two of the scheduled double bills Saturday were postponed.

The Salisbury Colonials, property of the Pittsburgh Pirates, got away to a flying start in the cigarette loop, managing to win two victories while losing none. The success of the Colonials is due in some measure to the valuable players sent there from the Columbia Club of the Sally Association, another Pirate farm.

The High Point Club made three starts during the first week of play and was unable to annex a game. Greensboro, Winston and Durham have won one each and lost one while the Raleigh Capitals are on the heels of the Colonials with three wins and one loss.

That there is no lack of batting punch in the Piedmont this year is attested to by the fact that six circuit clouts were slammed out during the first two days of play.

Today finds Greensboro at Raleigh, Durham at Salisbury and Winston-Salem at High Point with fair and warmer weather promised for the day's game.

Earthquakes Still Shake Bulgaria

Vienna, April 30.—(AP)—Terror reigned today among the people of southeastern Bulgaria and the Ionians of Corinth after a continuation of the series of earthquakes which had made them destitute.

Shocks in Bulgaria were accompanied in some instances by the sudden appearance of miniature craters and small lakes. These with continuance breaking of the earth accompanied by terrifying subterranean roars kept a distraught, shelterless and half-naked population in a state bordering on madness.

The quake was accompanied by a violent hailstorm at Bortsovgrad, which was already laid waste by previous upheavals.

Successive shocks were also felt at Philippopolis, Tarnovo. Austrian scientists said the quakes were of tectonic character, involving the shifting of giant strata from vertical to horizontal. They thought that the tremors might extend to other parts of the Balkans which have been devastated by similar disturbances from pre-historic times.

JACK DELANEY AND SHARKEY FIGHT TONIGHT

New York, April 30.—(AP)—Jack Delaney and Jack Sharkey fight 15 rounds or less at Madison Square Garden tonight.

The Boston sailor is an 8 to 5 favorite chiefly on account of the disappointing showing Delaney has made in the heavyweight lists.

The match brings together two of the ring's greatest mysteries. Once regarded as an eventual certainty to wear the mantle that now drapes about Gene Tunney's broad shoulders, Delaney lost prestige he will find hard to regain, in his losing battle with Tom Heeney, the rugged New Zealander. Unless he flashes again the form that carried him to the light heavyweight throne, Delaney may find himself cut loose from further opportunity of crashing into the "big money" among the heavyweights. As light heavyweight champion he was hailed as one of the super-men of the ring. His left hand was one of the most accurate in the game and he possessed a killing punch in his right. Against Heeney the Bridgeport "rapier" kept that right hand strapped to his left was not long enough to keep the blacksmith from hammering out a victory.

Sharkey is in much the same predicament as is his opponent. His draw battle with Heeney and the bout he lost to Johnny Risko apparently demonstrated that the symptoms of greatness discovered in him after he beat Harry Wills, Jimmy Maloney and others were symptoms and nothing more. Not since he was knocked out by Jack Dempsey last summer has the former gob shown the promise that characterized his work against lesser competition. Caution—too much of it—was the chief cause for the poor showing made by both Delaney and Sharkey in Tex Rickard's elimination tournament to develop an outstanding contender for Tunney's crown, most boxing experts believe. Delaney, sealing around 180 pounds, probably will concede about 12 pounds to Sharkey.

THE LANDLORD SAID TO HIS SLEEPING GUEST:

"Get up, you lazy sinner; we need the sheet for the table cloth, and it's almost time for dinner." It's almost time that you were buying your summer requirements. We are now selling the improved Nesco Oil Cook stove at a sacrifice. This reduction should induce you to buy now even if in advance of your direct needs.

Let It Cook 30 Meals - Then Decide

PROVE to yourself how much easier, better and quicker the NESCO will do your cooking. Try its quick intense heat in baking biscuits, angel food, or flaky pie crust. See what perfect bread you can bake; the splendid roasts you can have with its even heat turned lower. Its flame never creeps or crawls. Fry a steak over its intense blue gas flame. Use the NESCO ten days. Then decide. If it doesn't do everything we say it will, send it back and we will refund your money.

NESCO Oil Cook Stove With the Blue Gas Contact Flame

Come in today and see this better oil cook stove. Let us demonstrate the famous NESCO burners that light like an ordinary oil stove but quickly develop a clean blue gas flame of greater intensity. A flame that comes in direct contact with the utensil and sends all its heat straight into the cooking.

With this intense and concentrated heat the NESCO fries, bakes, boils and broils with the speed and efficiency of gas. Economical, too. The NESCO burner operates 24 hours on a gallon of kerosene. Over a million in use. Domestic science experts and thousands of women endorse this stove and its wonderful burner. The use of this better oil stove and its wonder will prove that NESCO gives just the cooking results you have long hoped for, but never found until you tried the NESCO.

Mrs. Jordan Entertained at Winterville.

Mrs. J. S. Rollins and Miss Bert Sutton entertained on Saturday evening, March 28, at a miscellaneous shower, honoring Mrs. L. K. Jordan of Smithfield a bride of last month.

An arrival the guests were met by Mrs. Rollins and ushered to the dining room which was beautifully decorated with spring flowers, carrying out the color scheme of pink and green. Here the bride's book was presided over by Miss Bert Sutton. This was followed by a very interesting and unique puzzle which was solved by Mrs. B. F. James, who was presented a lovely linen handkerchief. The most important event of the evening was when the bride was taken to the living room to a fish pond, where she fished out many beautiful and useful gifts. The hostess then served delicious refreshments, consisting of minis, tea and sandwiches.

MODERN WOODMEN OF AMERICA ORGANIZE DISTRICT MEETING

Everetts, N. C. April 27—Delegates from the several camps of Modern Woodmen of America, composing the 13th district, embracing the counties of Wilson, Nash, Edgecombe, Pitt, Martin, Beaufort, Washington, Tyrell and Hyde, met with the Camp at Everetts, today the meeting was called to order by Rev. A. Cory, State Lecturer and the morning session was an open meeting as the school auditorium was being used for the school work, the meeting was held in the Baptist church, Mr. Paul Bailey, clerk of the local camp made the address of welcome, and after these well chosen words Mr. F. M. Brown, district deputy of Greensboro replied to same and introduced Hon. M. L. Tremain, the state deputy who made the address of the hour, the house was filled with people and his address was well delivered and appreciated by all.

After the morning session the three or four hundred delegates and visitors retired to the rear of the church where a long roll of wire had been stretched and loaded with barbecue and such other good things that a Martin county community can arrange. It did not take any spoken words to explain the appreciation that was manifest for action is louder than words, and it would be safe to vouch for the entire satisfaction of all present.

Commencement at Stokes School to Begin Next Friday

The Carolina Township school will close its first session Friday night, May 4th. On Sunday night Rev. R. J. Bamber, pastor of the Greenville Christian church, will preach the high school sermon in the school auditorium.

On Wednesday night, May 2nd, the seniors will give their Class Day exercises. This program will consist of the usual features of Class Day programs along with a woodland scene and each member is asked to tell again of his high school days.

Thursday night, May 3rd, will be graduation exercises. At that time Hon. R. T. Fountain will deliver the commencement address and diplomas will be given to the eight boys and girls who will be the first graduates of this school.

The Commencement Play will be presented Friday night, May 4th. This play—Valley Farm—is a rural comedy in four acts the characters in which are selected from all high school pupils.

The final week will concern only the High School. On previous occasions the Primary and Grammar grades have presented their commencements, consisting of an operetta and a pageant. The Glee Club and music pupils under the direction of Miss Calhoun rendered their program April 28th.

Summer Time is SAVING time

"A Dollar Saved Is a Dollar Earned"

—is a very old maxim and a very sound one. Having money in the bank is commonly cited as an evidence of personal solidity of reputation, and not without reason.

No reason is more propitious to the development of the Savings Account than the summer. Unhappily by the problems of Easter clothing, winter overcoats, and coal you can contrive to save a not inconsiderable percentage of your income in the "good old summer time."

As you sow so shall ye reap; and whosoever sows dimes shall in time reap dollars. We invite you to open an account as the first step toward financial independence.

VACCINATE YOUR DOG

With reports that a mad dog has been killed after running at large, again we deem it necessary to urge dog owners to see to it that their animals are given the proper treatment to prevent them from going mad.

While it is not absolutely one hundred percent effective, vaccination in most cases will prevent dogs becoming rabid and every dog owner who has not done so should have his animals vaccinated. Nothing is more dangerous than a mad dog and not to make every possible effort to prevent them from going mad is failing in a duty to the entire community.

A PLACE TO PLAY

Spring is here, summer is just around the corner, the kids will soon be playing out of doors entirely, and the big question is "Where are they going to play?" Other cities our size or even smaller have their parks and playgrounds for those persons who wish to enjoy the great outdoors, but so far we have failed miserably along this line. One of Greenville's long felt needs is a park, but apparently we are getting no nearer one as the years pass. Of course, a park will cost money and there are those who always feel that we cannot afford to spend more money, but other cities that have put their money in parks and playgrounds have found it a good investment. What has been done in those cases, we believe, would prove equally true in our own. Until we make provision along this line we cannot truly claim that we have reached the stage of a modern progressive city.

THINKS FARMERS MAY SUFFER

Will the slight reduction in the price of cigarettes result in lower prices to consumer or in injury to the growers of the weed? As to the first there is no general interest even by the smokers who feel that the cigarette is low enough at the prevailing prices. As to the second, there comes from the largest bright leaf tobacco market the voice of fear that price reduction may result in lowering the price farmers may be paid for their weed.

Will reduced prices increase the consumption of cigarettes? If so, will that be reflected in the price that the growers will receive?
These questions are giving pause not only to farmers but also to all who live in the sections where bright tobacco is produced. Because of fears of lower price es to growers, the people of Eastern and Central North Carolina fear a price war by manufacturers.— News and Observer.

ABOUT TOWN

"Who was the murderer of Jesus," Billy Sunday, noted evangelist, declared in his sermon at the tabernacle here last night.
"And there all ministers today who would deny the deity of Christ, even as those of old.
"Christ lives today as always. His influence is in evidence everywhere.
Over 500,000,000 are endeavoring to live by the teachings enunciated on the shores of Galilee over nineteen hundred years ago.

The story is the same today as it was then. Christianity has lost none of its significance.
This was the gist of Mr. Sunday's sermon. It was delivered in regular Billy Sunday style, and lost none of its forcefulness.

"With clear weather prevailing, it appeared today that the celebration in connection with the opening of the Eastern Carolina League, which was postponed Friday and Saturday on account of unfavorable weather, would be pulled off today in great style," a reader remarked to the writer of this column today.

"We expect a great crowd to be in attendance today, and what is more we expect the local club to register their first definite victory of the season. With three losses to their credit, something must be done to forge ahead a little in the win column.

"Today's celebration pulled off in regular Greenville and Pitt county style ought to enable the youngsters to realize the confidence reposed in them and inspire them to 'keep the beacon at home.'"

"With regular winter weather prevailing Saturday Straw Hat Day got away to a mighty poor start in Greenville, although it is true numbers of our stores had splendid displays of straws in their show windows," a merchant remarked today.

"This week, however, will witness quite an increase in sales, and hundreds of people who deferred buying Saturday, will do so under the influence of the balmy atmosphere offered by the weather man for the remainder of the week.

"If you haven't made your purchase, let us urge you to do so at once and in that way have an opportunity of choosing the best from one of the most complete stocks of straws ever brought to the city."

"Goldboro opened up the second week of the Eastern Carolina League in Greenville today and from all indications the contest will be one of the outstanding of the season, so far as Greenville is concerned," a follower of the local club remarked this morning.

"Goldboro had a hard time during the first three days of the opening of the league, and like Greenville, are desirous of staging a comeback this week. Therefore, it is to be expected both clubs will fight stubbornly for honors in the two game schedule in this city.

"Deacon Joliff is confident of pulling the club out of the rut dropped into the first three days. Watch the boys recover and annex a few victories."

"With Billy Sunday offering the oration last night, it is natural to suppose that hundreds of people will either become converts or renew their faith in the teaching of the Bible during the next four weeks of the campaign," a regular revival attendee said this morning.

"Mr. Sunday, the greatest advocate of the teachings of the Bible of the present day," does not beat about the bush in the presentation of the gospel. He knows the truth, and knowing it tells it in plain and convincing fashion.

"The trouble with the most of our ministers of today is, they forget the real object of their mission in face of material opposition, and consequently, the real purpose of their calling is forgotten.

Exotic exceptions of life is as enunciated in so many different directions is largely responsible for this situation. But, sooner or later, they will find their way back to the deserted roadway and exert greater influence in behalf of the foundation of civilization."

Market Report Cotton--Stocks--Grain

COTTON MARKET

New York, April 30.—(AP)—Early declines were followed by renewed strength in the cotton market today on apprehensions of further unsettled weather in the south and continued bullish reports on the effects of recent storms. Prices made new ground for the movement on all positions after showing net declines of about 18 to 20 points in early trading.

The mid-afternoon market showed net advances of 33 to 49 points, recoveries of more than half a cent from low levels of the morning.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, April 30.—(AP)—Fervid general buying and scarcity of offerings resulted in a step advance of wheat values today. Sensationally unfavorable price crop summaries for May that are looked for tomorrow had much to do with stimulating speculative demand to an unusual degree and so too, did persistent dry weather southwest, west and northwest with advices of dust storms.

Wheat closed unsettled 2 3/4 to 3 5/8 net higher; corn showing 3 7/8 to 4 1/2 advance; oats varying from 5/8 decline to 3/4 gain; and provisions from 2 lower to a rise of 20.

STOCK MARKET

New York, April 30.—(AP)—Marking up of the call money rate from 5 to 6 per cent checked a sharp upswing in prices in today's stock market. Oils were again in the vanguard of the advance, climbing one to ten points with about a score issues touching new peak prices. Rails were inclined to heaviness, although Delaware and Hudson ran up five points in the early trading.

Raising of the money rate followed the calling of about $30,000,000 in loans, presumably to meet the heavy month-end demands for currency. There was little else in the day's news to influence the price movement, although most of the earnings reports published during the day were favorable in character.

Indian Refining soaring 9 points to a new peak at 124 1/2 recorded the largest gain in the oil group, although Standard Oils of New York and New Jersey led in point of activity. General Asphalt issues rallied about 1 1/2 points each and a number of others moved up 1 to 3 points. Special strength also was apparent in such stock as American Bank Note, Brooklyn Edison, Coca Cola, Underwood, Elliott, Wright Aeronautical, Electric Auto Lite and American Water Works.

The first 73 railroads to report their March earnings show combined net operating income of $84,917,250, as against $87,488,786 in the same month of 1927, a decrease of 2.94 per cent. New York Central, Lehigh Valley, Lackawanna and Pittsburgh & West Virginia sold down 1 to 2 points.

The close was heavy. Total sales approximated 4,100,000 shares.

GEORGIA BANK ACT

IS DECLARED VALID
Washington, April 30.—(AP)—The banking act of Georgia was declared valid and constitutional by the Supreme Court today in a suit by Coffin Bros. & Co. and others, to prevent the superintendent of banks from levying upon their property to enforce their liability as stockholders in the Richland state bank.

They attacked particularly that section of the law which contended gave the superintendent of banks power to attach property by a lien, preventing its sale or encumbrance, insisting that such power existed only in the courts.

Ring Leaders in Caledonia Affair Returned Today

Raleigh, April 30.—(AP)—Their spirits broken by confinement for two weeks on bread and water diet, the 13 convicts who confessed being ring leaders in the recent trouble at Caledonia prison farm, are ready to return to work.

Warden J. H. Norman said today that for several days the convicts, the oldest of whom is 26 and the youngest 17, have been "in soak" on death row and have tired of the life.

The trouble at Caledonia occurred when the prisoners attempted to quit work, protesting that they should not have to work more than eight hours daily. They threatened to mutiny but 50 prison guards, armed with tear gas and sawed-off shotguns, prevented serious trouble. Other prisoners, excepting the 13 returned to work.

Parents and Son Injured in Wreck

Salisbury, April 30.—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Strange and their son, of Salisbury, were injured late yesterday near the Lexington airport when their automobile collided with another car that entered the highway from a side road. They went home after being treated at a local hospital.

Give Details Of Effort To Save Vessel

Charleston, S. C., April 30.—(AP)—Details of the heroic but futile attempt to tow the burning oil tanker Overbrook to this port were recounted upon the arrival yesterday of the Coast Guard Cutter Tampa, which sent the tanker to the bottom of the ocean, 90 miles off Charleston, Saturday night to clear the waters of a dangerous derelict.

Braving monster seas, a 20-mile gale and a deck of blazing oil 14 men from the Tampa, led by Ensign Moore, fought desperately to get aboard the craft and won. Hausers then were fastened and the towing operations began late Saturday.

A sudden strain at the heavy cables, however, showed something was wrong and, upon investigation, the tanker's bow was seen to rise from the surface of the water. Realizing its plight, the Tampa sent 24 shots into the craft and sunk her in 300 fathoms.

Captain J. S. Hullings, and his crew of 34 from the Overbrook which was eight days out of Texas City, were brought here Friday night by the Coast Guard destroyer Wilkes, having been taken off without loss of life or injury. Captain Hullings and F. W. Jackson, his first officer, will leave for New York today to report to the Humble Oil and Refining Company, owners of the craft.

en Butts (lower right) at Winner, S. D., is no ordinary mercantile establishment. In a shack a block square he sells anything from pins to harvesters, and the store has earned him a fortune in the town where he lived by shovelling snow in 1920. At the left is Mrs. Butts with some of the customers who come from surrounding ranch and reservation country.

Winner, S. D., (AP)—In Winner at the end of the railroad and the gateway to the Rosebud cattle country, a self-styled "outlaw" who made his living at odd jobs eight years ago has developed a retail business which has made him one of the ten leading individual taxpayers of South Dakota.

Ben Butts is the "outlaw," and he owns and operates the Outlaw Trading Post, which sells anything from a hairpin to a tractor.

His customers are ranchers and farmers in some of the last Indian reservation territory opened in the United States.

Eight years ago Butts landed in Winner broke but eager to work. He was winter. All he could find to do was shovel snow. He cleared banks eight feet deep from storefront sidewalks at 50 cents a store front, and when he had money enough he bought a peddler's outfit.

Presently he found that he had made $134, and he invested it in a shack and a stock of merchandise. Today he is reckoned in Winner as having personal and commercial assets of around a million dollars.

Butts' principal store is in Winner, at the end of the railroad line. He has five branches to which he trucks supplies. He makes no pretense of building fine stores. His places of business are shacks in the true sense of the word—simple sturdy structures of sun-blistered boards.

His advertising methods are as picturesque as the career he has carved out for himself. There is an "Outlaw" rodeo, and "Outlaw" baseball team, basketball team, orchestra and band.

When Butts first started his store he kept it open 24 hours a day. Now that competition has abated, he has put his establishments on an 18-hour day.

Capital Social Events

Washington, April 28.—(AP)—The National Capital Horse Show in the fertile field of Maryland, will come to Washington society like a refreshing breath of spring following as it does a veritable deluge of dinners, dances and morning and afternoon entertainments.

Admiral Cary T. Grayson, aide and physician to the late President Woodrow Wilson, has charge of the larger arrangements for the show. He and Edward Beale McLean, who are neighbors on opposite sides of Wisconsin Avenue have the largest string of horses in the vicinity.

The wedding gifts to the bride were many and some of them of great value. Her father gave her a beautiful designed silver tea set and Secretary Mellon's gift was a silver bowl. Other gifts included pictures, lacres, fans of considerable value, pearls, sapphire, crystal and much silver.

A celebration to mark the anniversary of the coronation of a king, a large and highly fashionable wedding, and dinner parties of all sizes and importance apparently filled this week, and yet there was time for a decidedly pretty ceremony connected with the approaching marriage of Miss Matsudaira, daughter of the ambassador of Japan, and Mme. Matsudaira, to the Crown Prince of Japan, which will take place in mid-summer in Japan. This particular event was a tea at the British embassy with the ambassador and lady Isabella as hosts and the ambassador and Mme. Matsudaira and their daughter as honor guests while all of the other heads of foreign missions in the capital also attended.

The coronation celebration was at the Persian legation a modest house on N Street, with Mirza Davoudkhan Meftah as host and the whole of Washington society those invited by the minister and others who were self-invited, went in vast numbers to pledge the health and long reign of Keza Shah Pahlavi, Shah of the Persians.

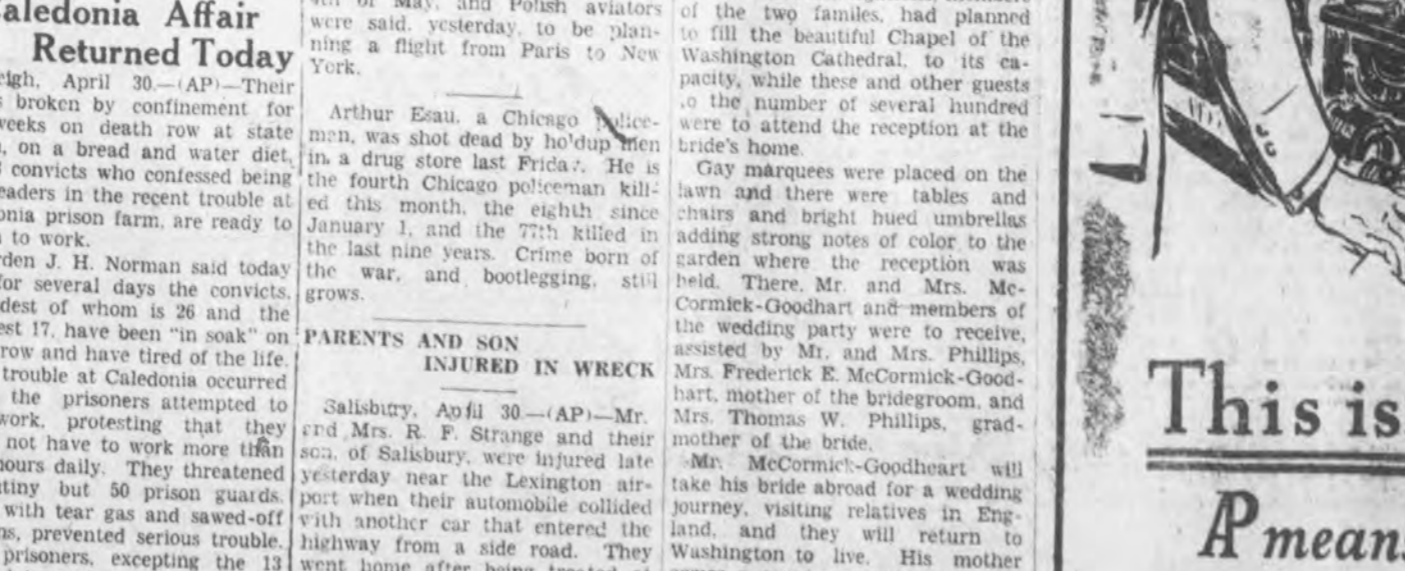

Seldom has an international wedding in the capital been looked upon with more interest than that of Miss Janet Phillips, the 19 year old debutante daughter of former Representative and Mrs. Thomas W. Phillips, Jr., of Pennsylvania, and Mr. Leander McCormick-Goodhart, commercial attache of the British embassy which was to take place in Bethlehem Chapel at four o'clock this afternoon. Members of the executive family and the ambassadors, ministers and charge D'affaires of embassies and legations, members of the two families, had planned to fill the beautiful Chapel of the Washington Cathedral, to its capacity, while these and other guests to the number of several hundred were to attend the reception at the bride's home.

Gay marriages were placed on the lawn and there were tables and chairs and bright hued umbrellas adding strong notes of color to the garden where the reception was held. There, Mr. and Mrs. McCormick-Goodhart and members of the wedding party were to receive, assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Phillips, Mrs. Frederick E. McCormick-Goodhart, mother of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Thomas W. Phillips, grandmother of the bride.

Mr. McCormick-Goodhart will take his bride abroad for a wedding journey, visiting relatives in England, and they will return to Washington to live. His mother owns a country estate with many acres in Maryland.

star poised about a lowly manger in Bethlehem, and above the moonlit hills of Judea the angels heralded the beginning of the life of Jesus Christ upon this earth, who came to teach us the religion of human kindness, brotherly love and repentance through faith in His shed blood.

"No matter what He said or did, the Jews refused to acknowledge His claims as the Messiah, and their enmity finally culminated in the greatest tragedy that the brutality of man ever committed or the eye of God ever witnessed—the murder of Jesus Christ under Pontius Pilate. Jealous of His popularity, and rejecting His divinity, they resolved at all hazards to kill Him.

"Not having the power of life and death in their own hands or tribunals they denounced Him before Pilate, the Roman governor. To stir up his enmity, they said He was an impostor, that He was the enemy of the government.

"And Pilate examined those charges they made against Him, and being unable to prove Him guilty of any offense worthy of death, Pilate proposed that they release Him. But the rabble shrieked and screamed: 'Not Away with Him! Give us Barabbas!'

Pilate's Question.

"And next to Jesus, Pilate is the most important personage on the scene and it is from his lips fall the words I have taken for my text. And when they cried: 'Well, then, what will I do with Jesus, which is called the Christ?' I have got rid of Barabbas at your suggestion, but I still have Jesus on my hands.

"And Pilate was very near the line. He tried to reason with them and to come from the throne and took Jesus by the hand and led Him out in front of them and asked them: 'What shall I do, then, with Jesus, which is called Christ?' 'And so I lead Him out before this audience tonight and I ask you the same words that Pilate asked the crowd that surged around the throne that day.

"Pilate was confronted, my friends, with difficulties. He had many things to encourage him and he had other things to discourage him. First, to encourage him, he had his wife's dream. The story of Mrs. Pilate is very briefly told in the Bible. It is all contained in one verse of Scripture. It is no evidence of her worth and character as a woman that God condescended to reveal Himself in a dream in Pharaoh, to Nebuchadnezzar. For all we know Mrs. Pilate had been a reverent, devout woman, constantly on the alert to save her husband from the difficulties which she knew his miserably, pliable temper would lead him into. And somehow, while she slept, God worried her by a dream. What? He revealed I don't know, but it was presumably about Jesus and the part her husband was to play in this awful tragedy because they couldn't put Him on the cross without the consent of Pilate.

"And she sent a messenger to Pilate with the message: 'Have thou nothing to do with this man. If others want to murder Him, let them do so, but don't you ever be led to do it. I have nothing to do with Him.'

"So we have the personality in Jesus. Never had such a personality appeared before Pilate for sentence. There He stood in His calmness, in His purity and in His power more beautiful than a dream of Paradise.

"I am frank to tell you if I was on a jury the personality of the man would have a big draw with me, almost as much as what the men would say on the witness stand. If I were called upon to try a man like Bryan or Roosevelt I am frank to tell you, their personalities would have a tremendous draw with your Uncle Fuller.

"And so he had the personality of Jesus. He had the miracles of Jesus. I do not know that Pilate had ever witnessed Christ perform a miracle. I don't know that Pilate had ever seen a man or woman who had been a recipient of the power of Jesus. Positive am I that he knew about the miracles, for they were current conversation and there was no section of the country that he could go into that you couldn't find somebody that Jesus Christ had benefited, either by opening their eyes or curing their lameness.

"So while certain things were trying to influence Pilate to get him on the side of Jesus, other things were trying to discourage him; and while God is trying to bring influence to bear to make you a Christian, the devil is bringing influence to bear to keep you away from Jesus.

"So Pilate had these things to consider: 'What would the Jews say? The Jews were at this time under the control of the Romans and the Romans were severe in their execution, and Pilate was the very triple essence of severity. We was to hear that some of the influential Jews had gone to Rome to interfere with Caesar to have Pilate recalled and a more kind and humane had placed over them in Jerusalem.'

"Pilate knew that these Jews had no use for Jesus, and Pilate knew that if they heard that he had thrown his influence on the side of Jesus that would only increase their enmity and their hatred and they would bring stronger influence to bear. And Pilate figured out: 'These Jews up at Jerusalem have no use for Jesus. They say He is a fraud. If they hear that I say He is not a fraud they will have no use for me; but if they hear that I have denounced Him, I will win their friendship, they will withdraw their opposition and I will hold my job.' 'And Pilate was willing to let that gang nail Jesus Christ on the cross to keep their friendship and hold his job; he was perfectly willing to do it. And there are people that are willing to do the same thing today, all over this land, for a trifling reason. And Pilate, my friends, asked himself, 'What would the Jews say about it?'

"Pilate should not have yielded to their clamor. He should have been willing to sacrifice his office and his life to avoid convicting Jesus Christ, an innocent person. It was the Jewish hierarchy that threatened old Pilate as an official.

"Pilate was a standpat, free lunch, pie counter, placid, plastic, lick-spittle, rathole, tin horn, weasel-eyed, ward-heeler, grafting, whiskey-soaked politician of his day, pure and simple. Old Pilate was a direct product of the political system of Rome. Pilate was a machine politician, and there is no lower down scoundrel on earth than a mere typical machine politician.

"It wasn't the common people—that led the mob. The common people heard Him gladly. The common people shouted: 'Hosanna!' The common people pressed upon Him to hear the word of God. The common people plucked branches from the trees and they scattered flowers and paved His way with mementos of esteem. The common people tore off their garments, and threw them at His feet for paving stones as He went down the streets of Jerusalem. The common people? No! It was the temple thieves and the high priests, the elders, the scribes, the Pharisees, the hierarchy who possessed the delegated power and they used that power in defiance of the common people. They made a mistake when they gave the dirty pups the power.

"So, 'What will the Jews say?' 'Listen, 'What will Caesar say?' Caesar's word was law. 'Pilate says: 'If Caesar, up at Rome, hears that I have let Jesus go and by that act admitted that I believe His claims are just, Caesar won't stand for it, off will come my head, and I will surely lose my job. But if Caesar hears that I say this man Jesus is a fraud, and let them put Him on the cross, he will know that I am onto my job and that I am working for the interests of Rome. I will win Caesar's favor and I will keep my job.'

"Oh, he was willing to sacrifice Jesus Christ to please old Caesar and to please the gang that had no use for Jesus Christ. I despise a man like that. But hold on, I don't have to go out of this city to find people of the same lowdown type as old Pilate was.

"Pilate often heard of Jesus, and no doubt he was prejudiced against Him and he was longing for the chance to present itself for him to pass sentence against Jesus. And I have imagined the look of wonder that swept over the face of Pilate as Jesus was ushered into his presence. He said: 'Art Thou the Son of God?' and Jesus answered: 'I am.'

"He was either the Son of God, conceived by the Holy Ghost, born of the Virgin Mary, suffered under Pontius Pilate, crucified, dead and buried, or He was a bastard, for He was born out of wedlock. He was either conceived by the Holy Ghost or He was an illegitimate offspring of a Jewish harlot.

"Away with your damnable Unitarian theory, that makes Jesus a bastard! My mother (abstain me that the Good Book didn't lie, and Jesus Christ wasn't the Son of God, it does lie. And if Jesus Christ wasn't the Son of God He was a liar and all the teachings of the Bible are false.

"So old Pilate called for a basin of water. He walked out before the crowd and washed his hands, and said: 'I wash my hands of His blood. I find no fault in Him.' 'If he had washed his old black heart at the same time he would have been a clean man.

"Poor Pilate! The blood of Jesus has been on you for 1900 years in hell. It will be on you through an unending eternity. You had your chance that day in front of that gang in Jerusalem and you were willing to let them nail Him on the cross, rather than stand pat and be on the side of Jesus Christ and His truth.

"What shall I do with Jesus, who is called the Christ? 'He didn't have the courage of his convictions. He was convinced that Jesus was right. Oh, if Pilate had bared his back, and said 'This man is on the level; you can take me and crucify me, but you can't touch one hair of his head—he would have taken his stand in the same company with Joseph of Arimathea and other famous men. We would have been glad to have named our children after him, while tonight we speak his name with ignominy and repulsion. He had his chance. He was a miserable white livered coward.

"Now, when old Pilate heard that Herod was in town he was glad to get rid of Jesus, so he shoved Him over to Herod. Herod thought that Jesus was a sort of sleight-of-hand performer, legerdemain, chautauqua entertainer, and had a bunch of high rollers, and he asked Jesus to come up and perform a few miracles just to entertain the crowd.

"Jesus answered the old fox never a word and they secured Him and sent Him back to Pilate. Herod had heard John the Baptist preach, John had said: 'This isn't for you to have your brother Philip's wife. He wanted Jesus and his brother Philip's wife, but he couldn't have both, so he turned Jesus down and kept his brother Philip's wife, which was against the law.

"If you are willing to forsake every known sin, God will forgive you, but you can't compromise the thing.

"What shall I do with Jesus? You must do one of two things, either accept or reject Him. There is nothing else to do. Neutrality is absolutely impossible. The opportunity to do right imposes the obligation to do right. There is no middle ground; you either accept or you reject.

"What shall I do? Not what shall I do—just cut me out of it, forget me. I settled that question 38 years ago when I cast myself at His feet one dark, stormy night in Chicago. I took Him to my heart. I never regretted it and I never will. Not what shall I do—forget me, please, just leave me out of it. No!

"Some questions concern nations, some concern states, some concern families—but this is a personal question. 'What shall I do?' Wait a minute. Maybe I can help you to decide it; that is the reason I am preaching this sermon tonight. Remember Others.

"What shall I do? Not with Caesar, not with the Jews, not with the priests, not with society—your treatment of Jesus Christ will determine the salvation of the damnation of others. No man or woman on earth, no matter how low down or high up, can confine the results of your acts to yourselves. What you do influences other people. They are either damned or pleased by whatever you do. So first remember what you are doing! It isn't for you alone, others are going to decide what they will do by what you do.

"What shall I do? Suppose the Jews and the priests had accepted Jesus Christ as their Savior. What the Pharisees did damned them forever, and what Zacheus did canonized him. They said: 'He spake as man never spake.' They said: 'The world has gone after me. He has lived as no other man has ever lived.'

"The people said: 'He was the Messiah. He was the King of the Jews, the Son of God.'

"What shall I do? I do not present Jesus Christ to you as the highest type of manhood. No, they wouldn't insult Him that way. I present Him as the Bible presents Him, the Son of God, the Savior of the world. The Bible doesn't present Jesus as the highest type of manhood—not at all. It presents Him from another standpoint.

"You have difficulty in believing His divinity? I tell you, that is because you measure Him by the rules you apply to men, and you always will. You just put Him in the God class and it won't be a difficult thing for you to understand it. You measure Jesus by the task He came to perform and the task He came to perform was not a man's task. No man could do it, no man ever has or ever will. No man aspiring to be a God could, but God, condescending to be a man, could.

"What shall I do? Let me help you decide. Do you want that? You can openly reject Him if you choose. Many did it in His day; many are doing it today. Instead of taking Him to their hearts they sent Him to the cross.

"Look at that blood-thirsty mob. See them tear His hair from His face and from His head. See them spit, hear their oaths. Oh, they preferred Barabbas—do you? Do you prefer vice to Jesus? Do you prefer lust to Jesus?

"You say: 'Hold on, Bill; hold on, Bill. I am not what I ought to be, but I don't want to trim with that gang.'

"I don't say you do, I am suggesting it to you—that's all. Do you want to take that course? You can pretend to accept Him, you can call yourself by His name, while your heart is far from Him. Many did it; many are doing it.

"Why call you me, Lord, Lord, and do not the things I say? 'You say: 'Hold on, Bill! I won't be a hypocrite or a four-flusher. I will be out for Him or against Him. I won't pretend to be for Him, and then put it over on Him.'

"I am not asking you to do it. I am making a suggestion, that's all. Let me help you to decide it. You can treat the matter with indifference if you wish. There was a class in Jerusalem, my friends, who on the very day that He hung on the cross took no notice of Him; they opened their stores; they went on with their business; they bought and sold, married and gave in marriage. They had feasts and went to their games and amusements, while Jesus was hanging on the cross. They all did that. You say, 'No, I wouldn't do that!'

"Well, you can do it if you wish. I'm not asking you. You can be a trimmer—how would you like to do that? You can play the coward's part, old Pilate did. Yes, he was for Jesus, but he had saved Jesus he would have lost the friendship of that other crowd.

"Parenthetically, many people sympathize with old Pilate. They know what is right, but they are afraid of the gang. They would stand up for Him, but if they did they know they would damage their standing with others that have no use for Jesus. Then let them go to the devil! Why should you sacrifice your soul for fear of displeasing? Anybody that you displease by being a Christian is a low down pup—I don't care who he is—in my opinion. If to be a Christian you displease somebody, God, so praised that you have found out that their friendship isn't worth three whoops this side of perdition.

"What shall I do with Jesus? You can be a trimmer. Wait a minute. It didn't pay for old Pilate to trim and I warn you before you make that decision, if you do, it won't pay for you to. Pilate was a trimmer and he afterwards lost the favor of Caesar. He was driven from his position. He lost his reason and died at the hands of a suicide. That was the end of Pilate. He trimmed the proposition, it won't pay for you; it didn't pay for him.

"You can do as Judas did. You can betray Him, you can sell Him. Judas got 30 pieces of silver—$15.92—what did you get? 'Did you get the automobile you drove up here tonight?'

"Did you get that suit of clothes you are wearing? 'Did you get the jewels that entitulate from your cars? Oh, what did you get?'

"Did you get a raise in your salary? 'Did you get enough money to buy that home?'

"You can do just as Judas did—you can sell Him. Some people sell Him and give their virtue; some sell their manhood, their womanhood; their honesty. I am not asking you to do it—they did. You may do the same thing if you wish.

"What shall I do, then? That is describing some future time and about the choice of one of two things. If I hold something in the hand, if you reject this you accept by subversion. What shall I do, then?

"You can refute His divinity if you want, but you have the firm, glowing historical Christ left with you. Go ahead—what will you do? You can't write the history of the world and leave Jesus out of it if any more than you can write the history of Rome and leave out Julius Caesar or Mark Anthony, or you can write the history of the United States and leave out George Washington or Benjamin Franklin, or Aaron Burr, or Admiral Dewey, or Decatur, or any one else.

"You have been in Central Park. You have noticed that great monument that William Vanderbilt placed there at an expense of $100,000. That monument stood in Egypt when Joseph was a boy. Oh, we are not so far from the cradle of Jesus Christ. And when you look at something that Moses may have touched or Joseph may have touched—at least they looked upon it.

"What will you do with the historical Christ? What will these fools, weak-minded, and all those that sneered at Jesus' strong intellect do? Was Grover Cleveland a fool? Was Benjamin Harrison a fool? Are the members of the United States Senate and House of Representatives and justices of the Supreme Court—are they all fools? They are believers in Jesus Christ as the Son of God.

"Was Williams Jennings Bryan a fool? Was he a believer in Jesus Christ as the Son of God? What are you going to do with the Christ of these Christian men?

"Was the late William McKinley a fool? When the assassin's bullet struck him down at Buffalo, fondly and reverently did we pray that he would be spared, and when they gave him the anesthetic, and the doctors bent over him to catch what might have been his last words, he was muttering the Lord's prayer.

"We smiled and dried our tears, and we shook hands and forgot our political differences. Then the release came and we were informed that he was growing worse. They said for his wife. He looked up and said: 'It's God's will, not ours, be done.'

"And he started, my friends, to repeat 'Nearer, My God, to Thee, Nearer to Thee,' and the lamp of light flickered and went out forever.

"Down the streets of Buffalo went the funeral procession, and the band played 'Nearer, My God, to Thee.'

"The railroad track from Buffalo to Washington was lined with people that stood with bowed, uncovered heads and tear-stained cheeks and they sang: 'Nearer, My God, to Thee.'

"Down Pennsylvania avenue the General procession, headed by marine bands and they played 'Nearer, My God, to Thee.'

"I hurried to Canton that I might be present at the funeral, and for five hours I stood on the street corner, opposite the Stark county court house, where his body was to lie in state. The booming cannon told us that the funeral train had arrived. Down the street came the funeral procession, and the bands with muffled drums playing 'Nearer, My God, to Thee.'

"The hearse stopped opposite from where I stood and the detachment of sailors from the battleship Indiana and soldiers from the regular army drew out the coffin and carried it into the court house, where it was to lie in state.

"Up dashed a carriage. Out leaped the giant of the West, Theodore Roosevelt. By his side was Elihu Root, by his side Dr. Ritchie. I stood and watched Admiral Crowninshield and Admiral Farquhar. Then I saw General Otis, just returned from the Philippines, and General Gillespie, both Roman Catholics, but both earnest devotees of Christ. By their side walked the finest specimen of manhood I have ever looked upon—Lieut.-Gen. Nelson A. Miles.

"Up the steps hobbled my friend, Gen. David B. Henderson, of DuBoque, Ia., then speaker of the House of Representatives. By his side was William B. Ellison. And I stood and watched men from the North and men from the South, Democrats and Republicans of all classes, and I gazed upon them. Then they were given the privilege to walk through and I was among the first 200 to go through. And when I looked into his pale, upturned face my eyes were blinded with tears and I groped my way out of the north door.

"I stood there bathed in the perfect sunlight of a perfect September day and as I stood there I said to myself: 'Hail to God! I stand with the best men of this nation when I stand beneath the cross of Jesus Christ, the Son of God!'

"Now, our acceptance of God is going to depend on what we do with this Jesus. The vilest sinner on earth, if he accept Jesus Christ will be accepted; and the very moment you accept Jesus Christ your sins are forgiven. If you reject Jesus, God will spurn and reject you.

"Oh, you can cut, burn and crucify if you will, but if he who thus stands for some immortal death, his soul will emerge from his mutilated casket and go sweeping triumphant down the halls of time.

"Look at the love the pure and holy bear Him. See what an object of love He is with them in heaven. Look at Him when He got ready to come to this old earth. The angels had to come down and sing: 'The Savior is Christ the Lord.'

"Look at Him in His baptism of John, when God the Father stopped making words and leaned over the battlements of heaven and said: 'This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased; hear ye Him.'

"What shall I do, then, with Jesus, which is called the Christ? He Lives Today.

"And I am not worshipping a sleeping Christ in the tomb of Joseph of Arimathea, but a living, ruling, reigning Christ at the right hand of God, who is coming to judge the quick and the dead.

"What shall I do, then, with Jesus, which is called the Christ? You ought to have to do because of the sacrifice He made for you. If Shakespeare should enter this tabernacle, we would all stand and reverently bow. If Jesus Christ should sweep down that aisle we would all kneel and bow our heads in humility as He would sweep by in all His regal splendor, sir!

"Savonarola stood speaking in the square at Florence, and the people surged around. God's lion-hearted preacher told that gang of ecclesiastical crooks and thugs where to head in. And he hurled the anathemas of God at that until they incinerated him to ashes because he had dared rebuke their crookedness and their infamy. And Savonarola stood preaching. He knew that these were the questions uppermost in the minds of the Italians. What sort of government will emerge from all this? Will it be a republic form or will it continue the monarchy, with the king? The second question was, what will be our religion? Will it be the Star and Crescent of the Mohammedan or will it be the cross of Jesus Christ?

"Those were the questions, and as they all surged to hear him he climbed on top of his pulpit, where the great crowd could see him, and cried out: 'John Christe alio salvo, alio salvo.'

"Down the streets of Florence they surged. Through every building and every alley they met the screaming crowd and they caught the spirit. Out into the country they went until it seemed to lean as if by magic from mountain peak to mountain peak, until all Italy rang with the cry, 'Jesus Christ is our King and Savior,' and tonight the cross of Jesus Christ waves over Italy instead of the star and crescent of the Mohammedan.
