JARDINE PAYS MR. COOLIDGE VISIT TODAY

Secretary of Agriculture Discusses Department Matters With President.

Superior, Wis., July 30.—(AP)—After a day spent in traveling to south-central Minnesota to dedicate a monument to Col. William Colville, Civil War hero, President Coolidge was back in Cedar Island today with Secretary of Agriculture Jardine as his guest.

Mr. Jardine boarded the President's special train in St. Paul Sunday on the return trip from Cannon Falls, Minn., where the President delivered a short dedicatory address and where Mrs. Coolidge unveiled the monument to the man who led the first Minnesota infantry in the battle of Gettysburg.

At the request of the President, Mr. Jardine returned to the summer White House with Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge and their son John, and today he was to go over department matters with the chief executive before resuming his trip to Alaska.

Sunday's trip was a long and hot one and President Coolidge was expected to take things easy today. From eight in the morning until eight at night, the party was on the train, with the exception of an hour and a half spent in Cannon Falls. It was the first time the President had left the immediate vicinity of the summer White House on the Brule River and the executive offices here.

Standing on a high mound in the Cannon Falls cemetery, President Coolidge read to the 20,000 people assembled his prepared speech, in which he told of the heroic stand of Col. Colville and his men in the battle of Gettysburg when 362 men went into the battle and only 47 remained in action after the encounter.

After praising this heroism as a "surprise sacrifice for the integrity of the Union," and saying that the charge of the First Minnesota Infantry "probably saved the Union army from defeat," the President told of the "New South" and the awakened spirit of co-operation between sections of the country.

"The day of sectionalism is past," he said, "we are a united nation." Passage of the flood relief measure for the lower Mississippi Valley, which will probably equal in cost the Panama Canal and a very large amount of which will be paid for by the northern States," was cited by the President as a notable example of the eagerness with which sections of the country now help each other.

"One result of the war which retarded our national progress for many years was the bitterness, the hatred and sectional animosities that it left in its wake," Mr. Coolidge said. "For many years, both for the North and for the South, there for unfortunately stimulated and kept alive for the political advantage that the sponsors of such action hoped to secure. The time has long since passed when to hold or express such hostile sentiments should ever be permitted to work to the advantage of any one."

Sunday's trip was the first one of three President Coolidge now is expected to make before returning to Washington. Next Thursday he plans to make an all day visit to the iron mines of northern Minnesota and he has virtually approved plans for his appearance at the Wisconsin department of the American Legion at Wausau, about August 19.

Many Arrested In Liquor Haul

Charleston, S. C., July 30.—(AP)—More than two score persons were either under arrest or free on bond, and $75,000 worth of bootleg liquor was in federal custody as the result of a week-end "clean up" crusade by prohibition agents in and around Charleston.

The drive began Friday and was expected to continue indefinitely, according to the drug agents. Seventeen of 44 persons were still in jail today, unable to furnish bond. Others were released on bail of $1,000 and up. Practically every part of the city and outlying districts furnished its quota to the federal officers, who were led by Deputy Prohibition Administrator T. P. Tolbert, and included over a score of officers and nearly as many under-cover men. Preparations for the coup had extended over several weeks.

FIFTY HURT AS TRAINS CRASH IN N. Y. CITY

Fire Follows Collision of Elevated Train With Stalled Train on 6th Ave.

New York, July 30.—(AP)—Fifty persons were injured, three probably fatally when a heavily loaded seven-car elevated train crashed into a stalled train on the Sixth Avenue line at Columbus Avenue and 6th street last night. More than 1,000 passengers on the two trains were thrown into a panic. Fire accompanied the collision.

Trains carrying home excursionists from seaside resorts were running in close succession shortly before 10 p. m., when a fire started in the wheel box of a car two trains ahead of those that crashed.

The passengers of the train in trouble were ordered out. The following train attempted to push the stalled train into the yards near the Polo grounds. The heavy burden was too much and a short circuit resulted, throwing out the power on the whole line.

A following train was also stalled and then the fourth train, traveling under its momentum after the circuit went off, crashed into the stalled train just ahead. The rear vestibule of one train and the front vestibule of the other were telescoped.

Already excited when the lights went off, the passengers were then thrown into a panic. Cries of two men, imprisoned in the wreckage, rose high over the screams of other passengers, many of whom were women and children.

The telescoped cars caught fire, but the flames were extinguished quickly. Then firemen extricated passengers and assisted them down ladders to the street.

Believe Malmgren Was Hero Of Italia Party

Stockholm, Sweden, July 30.—(AP)—The mother of Dr. Finn Malmgren believes that he met death as a hero to her by Captain Filippo Zappi—urging his companions on to safety while he remained dying in a grave of ice.

Captain Zappi, who had started across the ice with Dr. Malmgren and Captain Alberto Mariano after the crash of the dirigible Italia, called on Mme. Malmgren to give her son's compass. With her son-in-law translating, the conversation was carried on between the rescued Italian and the mother of the Swedish scientist in English.

"The son-in-law quoted Zappi as saying: 'Dr. Malmgren was not in good form when we started out and soon remarked that his strength was going to fail him. One day, I believe it was the twelfth of June, the doctor asked me, as the only service I could do him, to dig a trench in the snow and take the compass which was a presentation for his work with the Amundsen expeditions of 1922-1923.'"

HOOVER GOES FISHING ON ROGUE RIVER

Republican Presidential Candidate After Steelhead Trout in Oregon.

Big Creek Lodge, Near Medford, Ore., July 30.—(AP)—Herbert Hoover came today to the first of the two fishing grounds he has selected in this neighborhood for his first go at his favorite sport since his nomination as the Republican presidential candidate.

Steelhead trout in the Rogue River, fish that have been down to the sea and back, were sought by Hoover before he expected to return later in the day back to Northern California in an effort to lure the mountain trout at the headquarters of the Klamath River at Brown's Camp, near Hornbrook.

The commerce secretary was an overnight guest here of William Isaacs, a Medford merchant, who has a vanishing cabin on the banks of the Rogue just above some rapids where the steelheads have been biting of late.

Mr. Hoover had intended to spend the night at a Medford hotel, but Isaacs met his automobile caravan at Grant's Pass, held a hurried conference with the Oregon police-men who were showing the party the way over the mountain roads and then became pilot himself. Just west of Medford the lead cars turned on a dirt highway and drove to this place. Mr. Hoover and some of his party accepted invitations to spend the night and some went fishing late in the day, but the candidate demurred as he said he did not care to fish on Sunday.

At Brown's Camp, one of the upper Klamath where the secretary planned to go later today, Mr. Hoover will be the guest of Milton Esberg of San Francisco for a few hours today, all of tomorrow and most of Wednesday, leaving late the third day for Davis, where he and his companions will board a train for Palo Alto, arriving there early Thursday after an absence of a little more than five days.

FLOOD WATER DRIVES MANY FROM HOMES

Three Hundred Families Forced to Flee Before Rising Waters in Kansas.

Hays, Kansas, July 30.—(AP)—Flood conditions prevailed in the comparatively dry wheat belt of western central Kansas today following near cloudbursts in several sections yesterday.

Although three hundred families were forced to flee their homes after darkness last night when the swiftly rising waters inundated the low southern residence section, no loss of life was reported here.

Property damage here was estimated at several hundred thousand dollars. Water was six feet deep in the buildings of the Kansas State Teachers College and also had entered the Union Pacific station. Only the second story of many houses was above the flood. About a third of the town was under water.

Absence of any boats in Hays made necessary hastily improvised rafts, while women and children were carried from their homes on men's backs.

Railroad tracks were washed out in several places and it was reported the Union Pacific bridge over Big Creek a half-mile west of town was doomed.

The most fashionable homes in town were located in the section inundated.

DAN MOODY IS RENOMINATED

Youthful Chief Executive of Texas won Out in Saturday's Election.

Dallas, Tex., July 30.—(AP)—Dan Moody, youthful red haired chief executive, who was swept into the Texas governor's chair in 1926 on a campaign based on opposition to Governor Miriam A. ("Ma") Ferguson, has been renominated on the Democratic ticket, which is tantamount to election.

The vote in 236 of 323 counties including 53 complete in Saturday's Democratic state primary, as tabulated early today when the Texas election bureau gave Governor Moody a majority of nearly 120,000 votes over his three opponents. With the approximately 600,000 of the estimated 700,000 votes cast counted at that time Moody had 348,283 votes, Louis J. Wardlaw, Fort Worth, 192,387; Judge William E. Hawkins 25,398, and Mrs. Edith Wilkins 14,384.

United States Senator Earle B. Mayfield was given a plurality of the votes in his race for re-election, but lacking a majority will enter a run-off primary August 25 with Congressman Tom Connally of Marlin for the nomination.

Connally ran Mayfield a close race. The senator was far short of a majority, however, as other candidates polled a heavy vote.

The senatorial vote from the same counties gave Mayfield 159,018; Connally 138,864; Col. Allen M. Owsen, past national commander of the American Legion 102,691; Congressman Thomas L. Blanton, 95,632; Mrs. Minnie Fisher Cunningham 23,884; and Jeff McLemore, 1,467.

Fail to Discover Loss of Life In Wreck of Freight

Guernsey, Wyo., July 30.—(AP)—Railroad inspectors early today were unable to verify reports that eight men lost their lives when fire destroyed 27 cars of a Burlington freight train east of here yesterday, following a wreck.

The men were supposed to have been beating their way in an empty automobile car, but the closely examined half mile of burned wreckage gave up no charred corpses.

Guernsey railroaders said they saw eight men enter the automobile car, located between an oil tanker and coke car, and which was wrecked and burned. The wreck occurred 5 miles east of here and the local yard crew said the men could not have left the rapidly moving freight car.

SIX MONTHS IS SPAN OF "FOLDING" DOLLAR

Washington, (AP)—The dollar bill, whose buying power is said to be only two-thirds that of pre-war days, actually lasts only a third as long.

Bills change hands so fast these days that they become ragged in six months where once they were good for 20 months. The government has to print about a billion new $1 bills yearly to keep its currency intact at a cost of about $4,000,000.

Greater mileage is expected from the new issues, however, for while they are smaller, they will be made of cotton and linen, adding 40 per cent to their longevity and saving about 1.6 cents each in cost.

NUMBERS HURT IN COLLISION CRACK TRAINS

Cascade Limited Crashes into Rear end of Bar Association Special at Cortena.

San Francisco, July 30.—(AP)—Various injured in a rear-end train collision at Cortena, in Colusa County, California, some 37 men and women enroute home from the American Bar Association convention just closed at Seattle, Wash., were reported recovering today. The injured included well known attorneys and their wives from many eastern parts.

The wreck occurred yesterday when the third section of the bar association's special train was partially smashed by the southbound Cascade Limited, crack Southern Pacific train from Seattle to San Francisco while the special was halted on the track for repairs. Seven members of the two train crews also were hurt. Southern Pacific Company officials announced that only 16 of the injured remained in hospitals today.

Unofficial reports said the special had stopped after rounding a curve and had sent a flagman back to halt the Cascade Limited, supposed to be ten minutes to the rear. The two trains had left Portland, Ore., half an hour apart, but the Cascade had been gaining.

Passengers said the flagman got back only a comparatively short distance when the Cascade appeared, running 50 miles an hour. The flagman placed torpedoes on the track and ran forward, waving his flag frantically.

With the shriek and grinding of brakes, the Cascade attempted to stop but lacked sufficient distance. The locomotive smashed into the steel observation car, partially telescoping it.

The special's wooden dining car, several lengths ahead, splintered under the impact. The engine and tender of the limited locked in the twisted steel of the observation car teetered uncertainly in a cloud of steam for a few seconds. Then the two battered masses of steel turned over in the ditch.

Every physician within miles responded to emergency calls, and first aid was given at the scene of the wreck, before the injured were taken by ambulance and automobile to the nearest hospitals.

Railroad officials announced that none of the injuries received were likely to prove fatal.

Passengers reported in hospitals were: Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Kane and John Shea, in an Arbutus, Cal., sanitarium; and the following at a Woodland, Cal., hospital, James H. Bridges, Mable Dodge, Jerome Conway, Elouise Clement, Mrs. Hepburn and Mrs. McCormick. Grace Hoxler, a train maid, was said to have suffered a broken back. She also was taken to a hospital.

Henderson, July 30.—(AP)—Jas. H. Henderson, of Henderson, who was injured in the wreck of the Cascade Limited in California yesterday, is suffering from a fractured leg and sprained shoulder. It was declared in a telegram from Mrs. Henderson to friends here.

He is a member of the American Bar Association and serves on the committee of Americanism of the association. In addition to his law practice he is president of the Henderson water works system.

DR. HAMMOND LOCATED AT S. C. HOSPITAL

Missing Flora McDonald College head Suffered Stroke of Paralysis.

Columbia, S. C., July 30.—(AP)—Dr. H. C. Hammond, acting president of Flora McDonald College, Red Springs, N. C., and well known Southern minister, whose disappearance nearly two weeks ago, occasioned a wide search by anxious friends, was recovering from a paralytic stroke in a hospital here today.

His plight came to light when his physician read newspaper accounts of the disappearance. He explained that he was admitted to the hospital on July 20, three days after registering in a Columbia hotel, where he had lain helpless and unable to summon aid until discovered by a housekeeper.

Dr. Hammond's left side and left arm were affected by the stroke which was diagnosed as mild. While the physician was notifying the Associated Press of Dr. Hammond's presence, a committee of Red Springs citizens and college authorities also were searching in and around Columbia on the strength of a rumor that he had been seen here. They found him in the hospital and immediately notified his nearest kin, a sister, Mrs. A. H. Ruth, Shelbyville, Tenn., and a brother in law, George C. Rogers of Atlanta.

SMITH TO PUT IN MORE TIME AT SEASHORE

Governor to Spend Few More Days at Hampton Bays Before Returning N. Y.

Hampton Bays, N. Y., July 30.—(AP)—Uncertain when he will find time to squeeze in another short vacation, Governor Smith intends to put in a day or two more at the seashore before going to New York for a round of political conferences and then to Albany to put the finishing touches on his acceptance speech.

The Democratic Presidential nominee, in coming here for a vacation, returned to a community where as an inconspicuous assemblyman years ago he and his family spent their summers in a rented cottage. He is fond of good food, as he still calls the community, and has shown it during his visit here, where swimming and golfing at this season are the favorite sports.

It is the governor's present intention to motor back to New York Wednesday. There he will find a number of his chief political lieutenants whom he did not see during his overnight stay in the city last week. Most of them, including his friend Raskob who is directing his campaign as chairman of the Democratic national committee, Lehman, the banker who has charge of campaign finances, and Senator Gerry of Rhode Island, he has not had an opportunity to talk out face to face since the reorganization of the Democratic national committee several weeks ago.

Before he goes back up the Hudson to put into final form the speech touching campaign issues he will deliver at his notification three weeks from Wednesday evening, Smith will have the opportunity in New York to discuss the outlook with practically all of his advisers. From them he will be able to get first-hand information as to how the situation looks in the corn belt in the south, throughout the nation.

Scores Improper Practice Among N. C. Magistrates

Asheville, July 30.—(AP)—Improper practices of North Carolina magistrates, sheriffs, and administrators and guardians were scored today at the opening of a special term of Buncombe county superior court by Judge H. Hoyle Sink in special instructions to the grand jury.

He told the grand jurors to watch out for any improprieties on the part of the magistrates or the sheriff's department and instructed the clerk to prepare at once a list of all guardians and administrators who have failed to comply with the law requiring them to file reports and inventories.

Some justices also, Judge Sink told the jurors, will issue processes and then refuse to try the case in which the processes were issued or even to have the parties in the case brought before them another practice, Judge Sink said, is "the practice of main magistrates in drawing multifarious indictments against a defendant. Perhaps this is not a violation of the law to run up the costs in this manner, but it certainly is a crime against justice and jurisprudence."

Famous Plane To Be Used in Flight To Polar Regions

Los Angeles, July 30.—(AP)—The monoplane that carried Captain Bir George H. Wilkins and his pilot over the North Pole last April has been picked up by the famous explorer for his proposed exploration flights in the region of the South Pole. Captain Wilkins said that a second plane under construction here—a monoplane of the same type but equipped with combination poison skills for landing on water or ice—will be used to carry supplies to the final base for the "jump off."

The last base will be 500 or 600 miles south on the whaling stations at Deception Island, the explorer said.

America Loses At Amsterdam In Today's Play

Olympic Stadium, Amsterdam, July 30.—(AP)—Losing out in all three of today's final events in the Olympic track and field competition, the United States athletes saw the Olympic 100 metre championship go to Canada, the 400 metres hurdles to England and the hammer throw to Ireland, all in despite of varying degrees.

The best the Americans could do in these events was to place fourth and sixth in the dash, second and third in the hurdles and third, fifth and sixth in the hammer.

The winners were comparative unknown in two of the three events while Lord Eavy Burghley of England, who won the 400 metres hurdles was listed as one of the most promising contenders but was given little chance to beat the American, Morgan Taylor, who was defending his championship won in 1924. Taylor was only third today, being beaten by his countryman Frank Cuhel of Iowa, as well as Burghley. The time was 53.2-5 seconds which was not nearly so good as Taylor has done. But was fast considering the track.

NEGRO POLITICIAN TANGLES WITH GEORGIA WHITE

Atlanta, July 30.—(AP)—The fight between Roscoe Pickett, white, and Ben J. Davis, negro, for control of the Republican party machinery in Georgia and the right to nominate candidates for Presidential electors in November was brought toward a showdown today when Pickett issued a call for the state committee to meet in Macon, Ga., on August 11 for the purpose of naming Republican Presidential electors and to elect an executive committee.

A meeting of the Republicans in Atlanta several days ago was halted by a temporary injunction obtained by C. J. Cofer, negro member of the committee, who claimed that the meeting was illegal. He got a temporary order restraining the meeting from selecting Presidential electors. This order was aimed at Ben J. Davis and others and will come before the court here tomorrow for a hearing.

Pickett addressed his call to the members of the Republican state central committee and signed it as chairman.

KENNETH DAMON WILL SING AT COLLEGE FRIDAY EVENING

Kenneth Damon, a tenor from New York City, will give a recital at East Carolina Teachers College on Friday evening, August 3. This is the last attraction in the summer series of entertainments.

The program Mr. Damon has arranged shows that he understands how to please a public made up of college girls and town people who wish music for recreation in the summertime rather than heavy, serious work in art. He will sing favorites that are also good music and good songs that are fast becoming favorites. He evidently had in mind an evening of entertainment when he selected his songs, and yet has not sacrificed ideals of art.

Those who know him say that he has a very pleasing personality and wins his audience by his charm as well as by his voice.

THROWS GAS ON MAN WITH BURNING MATCH

Beaufort, S. C., July 30.—(AP)—Charged with throwing a bucket of gasoline on a friend who held a match, Sherman Washington, a negro, was held in jail here today to await action of the grand jury.

James Carter, negro, victim of the burning, died in a hospital yesterday. His wife who was burned at the same time, will recover, according to testimony at the inquest.

Washington went to Carter's home with a bucket of gasoline.

Finding Carter in bed, Washington is said to have asked him to strike a match and as he did so, threw the gasoline on him. The house was destroyed by fire.

Washington was captured a few hours later. He also is charged with arson.

Scientific Study Of Antarctic Is Last Great Task Of Exploration

Intensive study of the little-known continent of Antarctica which lies around the South Pole is the objective of three expeditions setting out this autumn—those of Comm. Richard E. Byrd, Sir Hubert Wilkins and Comm. Douglas George Jeffery. Airplanes will play a big part in each exploring project. The map shows the region the men will venture into and the routes they hope to follow.

(By JOHN L. COOLEY)

New York.—(AP)—When the ancient geographers put a big white patch at the bottoms of their maps and labeled it "Terra Australia," they made a good guess.

Although subsequent exploration revealed that they had assigned far too much space to land in the southern regions, the discovery of Antarctica, Australia and the island groups off those continents substantiated the hypothesis that the lower latitudes of the globe were by no means occupied only by water.

Early sixteenth-century maps extended the south polar lands as far north as the Tropic of Capricorn, but this theory was quickly dispelled by the voyagers who circled the tip of South America. The age of discovery also cast discredit on the pretty story about the four rivers of Paradise that flowed from a mighty mountain at the South Pole.

Strangely enough, men learned later that the pole actually was atop a 10,000 foot plateau in the heart of Antarctica, and so the savants of old got credit for another good guess. There are no rivers in the vast southern continent, but there are many high mountains.

This fall and early winter three exploring parties equipped with airplanes and the best scientific equipment obtainable, will sail into the pack ice that surrounds the Antarctic land. Their purpose is to dispel more of the mists of uncertainty that still hide this uttermost part of the earth. Before them will be unusual opportunities for achievements; behind them, the records of other sturdy adventurers who in the course of the last four centuries braved ice and storm and ocean to extend man's knowledge of his planet.

Partly because it was made so inaccessible by nature and partly because civilization was always at such a distance, Antarctica was forced to wait for recognition—even for discovery—until the lower Arctic regions had been fairly well explored. The earliest contacts with the island groups off Australia and southern South America were made by the first circumnavigators of the globe and by ships that were blown by accident into southern latitudes.

The first planned Antarctic project was the voyage of Pedro de Quiros, who in 1605 sailed south from Lima, Peru, to test the veracity of the map-makers and their "Terra Australis." His two little ships got to 26 degrees south latitude, but there the commander shifted his course, alarmed by the heavy ocean swells, and ended his adventure by discovering the New Hebrides.

Captain James Cook gets credit for having the first association with the true Antarctic. In 1773 he crossed the Antarctic Circle, a feat never before accomplished and later dipped beyond it again penetrating past 71 degrees. His chief accomplishment, however, was a circuit of the southern ocean, and although he saw only a few islands, he showed that the southern continent, if it indeed existed, was not connected with the other large geographical divisions. Cook was convinced, however, that there was continental land nearer the pole.

Credit is generally given to an American, Lieutenant Charles Wilkes of the United States navy, for proving the correctness of Cook's theory. In 1840 Wilkes outlined feature of the continental margin for a distance of 1,800 miles, and that part of the Antarctic coast still bears his name.

Prior to Wilkes' discovery, British sealers had added the South Shetland and South Orkney islands to the map, and a Russian expedition under Captain Bellinghouser had visited islands within the Antarctic Circle. In 1823 James Weddell, a whaler, pushed beyond the seventy-fourth parallel of latitude, reaching the sea that has since borne his name.

The period of Wilkes' activities brought rich results from explorations of several nations. Graham Land, South Victoria Land, Knox Land, the Ross Sea and ice barrier and other stretches of coast were added to the continental map, and men first learned how formidable a place Antarctica really was, experiencing its terrific storms and blizzards, seeing the towering ice cliffs that guard its shores and watching the eruptions of volcanoes on some of the ranges near the coast.

Interest in polar exploration then switched to the Arctic, and the Antarctic was all but neglected until the beginning of the twentieth century. Activity was then renewed ed vigorously by the expeditions of Bruce, Drygalski, de Gerlache, Scott, Borchgrevink, Charcot, Nordenskjöld and others, who made important discoveries and conducted significant scientific investigations on the fringe of the continent.

More recently went Shackleton, Scott for the second time, Mawson and Amundsen to make important contributions to the store of information about this frigid land.

And now the airplane is going to Antarctica. Commander Richard E. Byrd, Captain Sir Hubert Wilkins and Douglas George Jeffery hope, with its aid to take up the work where these earlier pioneers stopped, observing and mapping from the air vast stretches of frozen desert that could never be reached with any other vehicle.

ABOUT

Declaring that what we care about we talk about,
the New York World in answer to William Allen White's question, "Why does everyone want to talk politics?" says:

"Why does every one
want to talk politics?" asked Mr. William Allen White on his arrival in New York the other night. 'I'm sure the American people are interested in something else besides politics.' Then he said that on a percentage basis
he would give politics a low 13 in an index score of popular interest. 'Baseball and radio would get more,' he said, 'and I'd give baseball a mark of 40.'

'Here he raises a question that is frequently debated by all who follow the trend of the popular mind.
'What's the idea of all them editorials on politics?' the newspaper man is often asked. 'People don't read that stuff. What they want is what Babe Ruth done yesterday.' And it must be admitted that this point of view, which is much the same as that taken by Mr.
White, is to some extent,
sound. When you tabulate
the moments of the average man's life you will probably find that more of them are given over to such triviae as baseball, radio and motoring than to politics. Yet the newspaper man, as represented, for example, by Mr.
White, continues to write his editorials on politics, for he has learned that, when it comes to interest, there is interest and interest. He has learned that there is interest that gets as far as eyes, cars and appetite, and that there is interest that goes deeper. Such is the interest aroused by politics. It appeals to that part of a man which is a citizen, a part of the world he lives in, which is a vague jumble of conviction, temperament and prejudice, which has nothing to do with the appetites and physical sensations of life, but is related to its meaning, its final pith and substance.

"It is doubtful whether any man is devoid of this streak of the citizen, so that he is indifferent to politics.
It is doubtful whether any man can be. It is like your convictions about God. You may believe in God, you may believe there is no God, you may decline to believe at all and be an agnostic; but you cannot to save your neck detach yourself from the subject. Perhaps the most conspicuous example of the man who tried to dissociate
himself from politics is Mr.
George Jean Nathan. For

years he has maintained that politics is beneath an intelligent man's notice. He has published countless arguments to that effect. And with what result? That his copious writings on the subject constitute in themselves
a fairly complete attitude on public affairs. In trying to nullify political philosophies
he has made one.

"The discrepancy between the surface man and the inner man was very well com-prehended by Mr. Sinclair
Lewis when he wrote 'Babbitt.' For a hundred pages of that book we are taken through one day of Babbitt's
life—not an unusual day, but an average one. We see him bathe, shave, dictate
letters, try to decide whether to buy a cigaret lighter for his car, go through with all the countless imbecilities that Mr. White thinks claim the interest of the human race. But what is it that sends him to bed in a sour frame of mind, ripe for all the misadventures that befall him later? It is some maladjustment in this inner person, some half-felt realization that as a man, as a citizen, as a part of the world that he lives in, he is a futile fellow.

"That, in one way or another, gnaws at all of us, if only for a fitful moment as we fall asleep at night. It is what sets us thinking about politics, about the country that we live in,
about the wide, wide world.
We must willy-nilly take sides, classify ourselves, go where we belong, give some point to our existence. It is why we hand over money to some candidate who seems to represent something we admire, why we take time to read columns of stuff that is palpable nonsense, why
we go to the polls. It is why,
to answer Mr. White's question, 'everybody wants to talk politics.'

TOWN

"Every member of the Merchants Association of North Carolina is behind the State organization in its fight against an increase of freight rates in North Carolina," a Greenville business man said today.

"The railroads will petition the Corporation Commission for a 20 per cent increase of rate at a hearing set sometime during August.
Representatives of the merchants
will be on hand to use their influence against the success of any such proposition.

"North Carolina for years has been an object of indiscriminatory
freight rates, and its business men
do not propose to stand by now
and see the price increased on them.

"Members of all associations should not forget the date of the Commission hearing, August 2, and be on hand if possible to use their influence in preventing this additional burden being placed on the shoulders of an unsuspecting public."

"The south certainly has a bumper peach crop this season," observed a local man today as he watched truck after truck from other parts of the state pass over Pitt county highways, bound for some destination where peaches
might be sold.

"I don't believe I ever saw a healthier looking crop. Virtually every community has peaches, and if they haven't them there is nobody to blame but themselves.

"The peach crop in the sand-hills of North Carolina is said to be the largest in years. Hundreds of baskets have been shipped to all parts of the country. Whenever outside people get a taste of North Carolina peaches they invariably want more. The taste lingers and calls for more."

"Greenville tobaccoists—numbers of them—have gone to Georgia
for the opening of the tobacco market there," observed a reader of this paper today.

"It is this way every season. A few days before the opening of the Georgia and South Carolina markets Eastern North Carolina tobaccoists begin their annual trek to the tobacco shrines to do their part

CHRISTIANS
LEAD LEAGUE

The week-end games in the Twilight League made several changes in the club standings, as four games were decided. On Friday, the Allies lost one each to the Christians and the Methodists, thus both leaders kept pace with each other and gained on the crowd. The Allies displayed some good playing, with new stars in their lineup, but investigation proved some of the new stars too old for the league, and the decision of both games finally went to the leading teams, when the games, as played, were declared unofficial. This was a great blow to Pitcher, Corey, who had a desire to lead the league in strikeouts (fanning others, not himself), and went earnestly after the title. His chief opponent, however, proved to be not the opposing players, who seemed quite willing to swing without reaching his offerings, but Umpire Bamber, who ruled that the ball must be thrown down a narrow groove in order to be called strike.
However, it is all cancelled from the records, due to the investigation of the birth certificates of several players.

On Saturday, neither the Methodists nor Immanuel put their accustomed strong teams in the field, but their players were well matched,
and good pitching by the opposing twirlers, Madrin and James, held the score down to a close 4-2 result.
The Immanuelites got to James in the second for three runs, enough to settle the decision. Madrin pitched steadily, fanning five and allowing one base on balls.

U. S. HEADED FOR VICTORY AT OLYMPICS

By ALAN J. GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor)
Amsterdam, Holland, July 30.—(AP)—If the opening days performance are to be accepted as a criterion, the United States is headed for its ninth consecutive Olympic track and field triumph. On a similar basis, Paavo Nurmi is destined to remove any lingering doubt that he's the super-runner of all time.

On a day when the world's shot put record was broken by the American super-man, John Kuck, of Kansas, in the first 52-foot performance of athletic history, it took another super-performer to capture the spotlight.

Kuck, with a toss that measured eleven-sixteenths of an inch beyond the hitherto impregnable figure of 52 feet, furnished the opening day's sensation but Nurmi provided the thrilling climax by coming from behind in the stretch to beat his ancient rival, Willie Ritola, Finnish-American ace, and outclass American's own Joe Ray along with the rest of a big field and smash the Olympic record.

Many, among the numerous Finns were singing swan songs for Paavo prior to the games. They wagged their heads knowingly, described how Nurmi's American invasion three years ago had burned him out and pointed that he had been beaten frequently within the past two years.

If Nurmi has lost any of his speed, Ritola, and Edwin Wide, the Swedish schoolmaster, who cracked under yesterday's pace would have to race the Finn when he has any more.

The only noticeable change in Paavo is that he's considerably balding, looking more mature than his 27 years. But the same funny little hop-skip is there when he practices, the same smooth, effortless stride when in action, the same characteristic arm swing and his famous stop-watch; he didn't inspect the timepiece as much as usual yesterday. After the first few laps he appeared satisfied that Ritola was setting a fast enough pace and followed it without once challenging it until the stretch when he passed Willie to win by four yards in 30 minutes, 18 4-5 seconds, four and four-fifths seconds under the mark Ritola set at Paris in 1924.

Kuck's shotput victory which sent the Stars and Stripes flying first on the Olympic center pole, fulfills the sensational promise of the blonde Kansan's practice form. Yesterday, with Herman Brix, University of Washington husky, apparently assured of triumph with a toss of 51 feet, 8 inches, Kuck, on his next to last throw, hurled the ball to a new world's record, beating not only Brix, but the German, Emil Hirschfeld as well. Hirschfeld beat the world's record for the shotput officially just two days ago and made a fine effort to keep his crown by tossing the 16-pound ball 51 feet, 6 7-8 inches.

Bob Kinf, of Stanford, takes his place among the first group crowned as Olympic champions, by virtue of his triumph in the high jump with a leap of six feet, 4 3-8 inches.

The United States took three places each in the high jump where Ben Hedger, Jr., of the New York A. C., was second, and the defending champion, Harold Osborn, fifth, and in the shotput where Eric Krenz, of Stanford, was fourth, but failed to score in the 10,000 meters. Ray was lapped by Nurmi and Ritola and made no effort to chase the flying Finns, being content to take a good work-out for the marathon. As it was, he finished twelfth. The other American entries, Mac Smith, of Yale, and Johnny Romik, Meadowbrook Club, Philadelphia, dropped out.

Meanwhile, the Yankee sprint stars scored a clean sweep in their first and second 100 meter trials with the semi-finals and finals on today.

LOCALS DROP ANOTHER TO ROCKY MOUNT

Greenville dropped the sixth straight game of the week when they lost to the Bucs at Rocky Mount Saturday afternoon by the score of 7 to 2. It was the second successive victory for Rocky Mount who found the cellarites decidedly easy both days.

Deacon John, veteran pitcher of the Tobacco City team, went the whole nine frames and the Bucs garnered a total of ten hits off his delivery. Coming at opportune moments most of the bingles featured in the seven runs which the Bucs sent over during all stages of the game. They reached the height of their run getting in the seventh when four runners registered at the checking station. One more tally was added in the ninth.

Greenville scored their only two runs in the first and second innings, one being a circuit drive by Crosjean.

They secured five hits off the delivery of Krider who proved decid-ly effective with men on bases. Red Brandes featured in the field for Rocky Mount, executing several brilliant plays of seemingly impossible chances.

GENE TUNNEY IS PLANNING TRIP ABROAD

New York, July 30.—(AP)—The New York World today says that Gene Tunney, according to one of his closest friends, plans to spend a year abroad studying philosophy after which he will take up a career of banking or industrial business.

His philosophic studies, it is said, will take him to such universities as King's College, London, and perhaps the University of Heidelberg. He may even enroll in as many as four universities before he returns to this country and casts his lot in a business venture.

Whether this business will be banking or industrial, according to this friend, has not been decided. But Tunney, this friend said, has received substantial offers in each field and will surely take one or the other.

There is only one stipulation, according to the World's informant. That is that the business which calls Tunney from the ring must be creative. The champion, it is remarked, therefore will not consider buying a seat on the stock exchange or becoming a broker.

The New York Times today quotes Billy Gibson, Tunney's manager, as saying that Tunney is through with boxing and will announce his retirement. Gibson also is retiring after 25 years as promoter, matchmaker and manager of boxers.

Samuel F. Pryor, Jr., of Greenwich, Conn., close friend of Tunney, told the Times regarding the champion:

"He is sick of the boxing game and he has achieved what he set out to do in it, namely, to make some money. He also hopes that his participation in boxing has done something toward bettering the game."

"As for Tunney's marriage, there is no thought of that, so far as I know. He has been reported engaged several times. I know but there has never been anything in the reports. There is no particular girl now. He is a normal young fellow, of course, and he goes about with girls a little, but there is no thought of matrimony."

Tunney has amassed a considerable fortune since he outpointed Dempsey two years ago for the title. For that fight he received $250,000, but in the Chicago return bout the long end of the purse brought him $991,000, while his set-to with Heeney last week earned him $547,000.

TUNNEY DEFENDS HIS TITLE

Gene Tunney and Tom Heeney exchange blows in the third round of their heavyweight championship fight at Yankee stadium. Tunney won a technical knockout when the fight was halted in the eleventh to save Heeney from further punishment.

CONNIE MACK IS STRIVING FOR PENNANT

By HERBERT W. PARKER.
Associated Press Sports Writer.
Something has struck the proud Yankee craft, bow stern and undiminished. She's still afloat, but leaking badly and may go down at any minute.

A month ago the champions were leading the American League procession by more than a dozen games. Today that lead has dwindled to six and a half games. Taking heart at this unexpected collapse upon the part of the haughty New Yorkers, Connie Mack has pushed his Philadelphia Athletics along at a whirlwind pace and again has hopes of reaching his long-deferred ambition of putting another league pennant winner at Cleveland yesterday before 25,000 fans, the largest crowd of the season there, the Yankees suffered the most humiliating defeat they have taken since 1925 when they closed the season in seventh place.

They were annihilated by the Cleveland Indians, 24 to 8, in the widest margin game of the year. The Indians started out with eight runs in the first inning, decided that wouldn't be enough and scored nine more in the second. By this time the tribe was more tired running bases than the Yankees were chasing singles that hoped all over the lot. One run was the best the Indians could do in the third and they waited until the ninth inning to score the last six.

The Indians bopped out 27 hits and batted around twice in each of the first two innings. It was on June 17, 1925, that the Yankees last were defeated by an 18 run margin, the Detroit Tigers turning the trick by a score of 19 to 1.

While all this was going on, the athletes were chattering over another win at St. Louis, taking over the Browns for the seventh straight time, 8 to 3.

After losing six in a row, the Boston Red Sox piled into storer for four runs in the seventh inning enough to beat the Detroit Tigers 5 to 2.

In the National League, the Cincinnati Reds strengthened their hold on second place by turning back the Brooklyn Dodgers, 1 to 0. Cincinnati's fourth hit of the game scoring Jackie May with the winning run in the ninth.

The New York Giants and Chicago Cubs fought each other to a standstill in a double bill at the Polo Grounds. The Giants took the first game 1 to 0 in ten innings. Larry Benton gaining his 7th victory of the year. Guy Bush outpitched Vic Aldridge in the nightcap and the Cubs came out on the long end of a 3 to 1 score.

SCENES OF TUNNEY-HEENEY CHAMPIONSHIP BATTLE AT YANKEE STADIUM

Burly Tom Heeney was out, flat on his back, at the end of the tenth round and had to be carried to his corner by his seconds. He had gone down under a powerful right to the head and only the bell saved him from a knockout at the hands of Gene Tunney.

Taking one of the worst beatings a challenger ever received, Tom Heeney fell a victim to a technical knockout in the eleventh round of his heavyweight championship battle with Gene Tunney. Picture shows Heeney, unconscious and sprawled on the canvas at the end of the tenth round.

Tom Heeney, New Zealand challenger, is shown on the floor after he had slipped in the fifth round following an exchange of blows with Gene Tunney during their championship bout at Yankee stadium. Heeney was up without count.

It was apparent in the eighth round that Tom Heeney, the plodder, had met his master in his championship bout with Gene Tunney. Heeney's left eye closed from a hard jab. Tunney tore in landing lefts and rights that staggered the challenger.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, July 30.—(AP)—Wheat and corn both developed a downward trend today, influenced alike by unfavorable crop reports and by receipts. Kansas City, St. Louis and Omaha had 3,701 cars of wheat today against 2,706 cars a year ago. Besides, Minneapolis reported the arrival of some newly harvested spring wheat, and that cutting of wheat had progressed upward into North Dakota.

STOCK MARKET.

New York, July 30.—(AP)—Higher call money rates checked a brisk rally in today's stock market. Under the stimulus of pool operations and expanding public participation, prices were marked up 1 to nearly 8 points during the morning, but many of the gains were cut down or cancelled by early afternoon.

Call money renewed unchanged at 5-1-2 per cent but advanced to 6 when banks called about $30,000,000 in loans in preparation for heavy month-end settlements. Trading turned dull on the decline, indicating the absence of any extensive forced liquidation.

Except for the publication of a few favorite semi-annual earnings reports there was little in the day's business news to influence the price movement. Chrysler and Dodge Brothers issues showed special strength on indications that the merger plan would be approved, although Dodge stockholders were still in session at Baltimore without having announced decision early this afternoon.

National Tea, American Machine and Foundry and Midland Steel Products preferred, all up 7 points or more, were in the vanguard of the early advance. Montgomery Ward crossed 180 to a new peak on predictions of record-breaking July sales. Eastman Kodak moved into new high ground on buying influenced by the successful demonstration of the new amateur motion picture film in color.

On the reaction, Wright fell from 163 1-2 to 158 and Radio from 179 to 175. American International, American Smelting and Woolworth yielded 2 points or more below Saturday's final quotation.

A better demand was apparent for the investment rally, Delaware and Chesapeake & Ohio 4 1-2.

The closing was irregular. Total sales approximated 1,700,000 shares.

Building Furniture to an ideal

Perhaps we are idealists—perhaps the fine qualities which we demand in furniture for our customers are a little more severe than seem necessary. But if they are it is because we regard our business as something more than the selling of merchandise. We like to think we are helping in the creation of happy homes. And what could mean more to a home than restful Simmons Beds, Springs and Mattresses. A complete showing of the new endorsed models.
