SHIPS ARE SEARCHING FOR BRITISH FLIER

PRESIDENT HAYES SCOURS OCEAN WHERE COURTNEY IS SUPPOSED TO HAVE LANDED

British Aviator Forced Down Yesterday in Attempted Flight To Newfoundland, Tossing on Mid-Atlantic Today as Steamers Make Exhaustive Search of Ocean Lanes.

By the Associated Press.
Captain Frank T. Courtney and three companions on an attempted seaplane flight from the Azores to Newfoundland made a forced landing in mid-Atlantic today (Thursday). And the first ocean liner to reach the position from which they called for help failed to locate them.

Courtney's plane landed in the ocean early this morning and in response to its radio calls for assistance all steamers anywhere in the vicinity turned from their courses to go to the rescue.

At 11:15 eastern daylight time the Radio Marine Corporation in New York was advised that its station at Chatham, Mass., had information that the liner President Hayes had reached the position Courtney gave in his distress call and was searching for the seaplane. Two hours later no word had been received that the search had met with success.

Other liners that went to Courtney's assistance were the Minnewasas, the Cedric, the Celtic and the Columbus. The Newland, the Orisipino and the Berengaria aided by relaying the wireless messages. The Cedric was not much further from the landing place than the President Hayes and it was believed she must have been searching the waters in the position that Courtney gave.

Captain Frank T. Courtney, British aviator, and three companions, today (Thursday) were tossing on the mid-Atlantic in the Dornier-Napier Wal flying boat in which they took off from Horta, Azores, yesterday afternoon.

Several liners had turned from their courses and were speeding to the prospect that the first would reach them in a few hours.

LKD stations had not intercepted direct radio messages from the airplane but several ships relayed reassuring messages that Courtney had said he was in no immediate danger although requesting immediate aid.

Apparently the crew of the flying boat retained the use of their radio, with which they first made known their predicament and with which they were expected to continue to guide their rescuers.

The plane piloted by Captain Courtney left the Azores at 1:55 a. m. eastern standard time for Newfoundland. The liner Cedric, which today was reported as within 100 miles of where the craft was forced down, yesterday had reported that she was about midway of the 1800-mile stretch which the Englishman was attempting to negotiate.

The fliers had hoped to reach Newfoundland by 10 a. m. eastern standard time, today but it appeared from weather reports that even had they remained in the air it was unlikely that they would have reached their goal before early afternoon.

The position of the plane was reported by several ships as 4. north, 41 west.

The White Star liner Cedric was apparently the nearest, with 100 miles of water intervening when the call for aid came. A cable from London reported that the liner Celtic was also proceeding to the rescue.

The liner Columbus, Captain Johnson reported to the Associated Press, had left her westbound course to speed in search of Captain Courtney, who was 210 miles from the plane.

The Swedish steamer Gripsholm, which was in direct communication with Courtney, and the Berengaria, were relaying the calls for help but it did not appear they also were proceeding toward the plane.

The Celtic had reported hearing distress signals from the Courtney plane at 9:30 a. m. Greenwich mean time, which corresponds to 4:30, eastern standard time.

If this message was sent at about the time the airplane was forced down, Captain Courtney had been

SENATOR VARE IS STRICKEN BY PARALYSIS

Senator Elect From Pennsylvania Deprived of Use of Leg and Arm.

Philadelphia, Aug. 2—(AP)—was received here today that William S. Vare, senator-elect, suffered a paralytic stroke at 10:30 p. m. yesterday at his summer home at Atlantic City.

He has been deprived of the use of his left arm and leg and for a time was unable to speak.

Dr. Elwood R. Kirby of Philadelphia, raced to Vare's bedside at 3 a. m. and upon his return here reported Mr. Vare's condition to be serious.

"The paralytic stroke is not in the most serious form," said Dr. Kirby; "instead of a cerebral hemorrhage there has been an ooze which has interfered with the use of the limbs and speech; we cannot say at this time what progress the disease will make but we are hoping for the best."

Senator Pat Harrison Counsels Americans To Support Gov. Al Smith

Philadelphia, Miss., Aug. 2—(AP)—The south was counseled today by Pat Harrison, militant Mississippi senator, to enlist unanimously under the Democratic battle flag carried by Gov. Alfred E. Smith, and thereby "point the way to religious tolerance."

Senator Harrison was delivering the second of two addresses in his home state in the interests of Governor Smith, Democratic Presidential candidate, when he challenged the modern south to look into history for a precedent.

"It was southern statesmen under the leadership of Thomas Jefferson," he reminded, "who wrote the Virginia religious emancipation act, thereby separating church and giving to the Catholic and Quaker, Lutheran and Protestant, the right to worship God according to the dictates of his own conscience."

"Virginia led the way and today in our federal constitution and indeed in the constitution of every state, religion bars no man from government participation and public service. It was one of the Cardinal principles upon which this government was established. It was one of the cornerstones upon which the Democratic party was founded."

"Why should the south now attempt to undo what the south led in doing in the beginning of the government. What consistency is there in the leaders of one church criticizing those of another church for taking part in government, when they themselves are invoking it enthusiastically and persistently? Religion is too good a thing. It is too elevating and sacred a thing to be enmeshed in the politics of the day."

"Why should a man who is in every way qualified by training and ability and character, be denied the presidency of the United States simply because he is a Catholic? No one doubts his capacity to serve as President of the United States."

Senator Harris, who yesterday delivered a surprise address at Lake, Miss., calculated to help keep Mississippi in line as a "regular" in

BIG GUNS TO APPEAR HERE DURING FALL

Pitt County Democratic Campaign to open in Full Blast September 1st.

Pitt county's Democratic organization plans to get the fall campaign under way about September 1st, state Chairman W. E. Hooks of Ayden, who was in Greenville today. He added that a number of prominent Democrats would make speeches in the county before the November election, if such could be had.

Chairman Hooks has personally written former Governor Cameron Morrison of Charlotte for an engagement in Greenville, and has asked him to put this city on his itinerary if he should come east to speak, as he is expected to do. He also stated that an effort would be made to have Hon. O. Max Gardner, Hon. W. A. Graham, Commissioner of Agriculture, and Hon. Clyde Hoy make speeches in the county. Congressman Lindsay C. Warren of Washington, has already agreed to speak in the county.

SEN. SIMMONS AGAIN SCORES GOV. AL SMITH

Writes Wilmington Man That the New Yorker Is Hostile to Democracy.

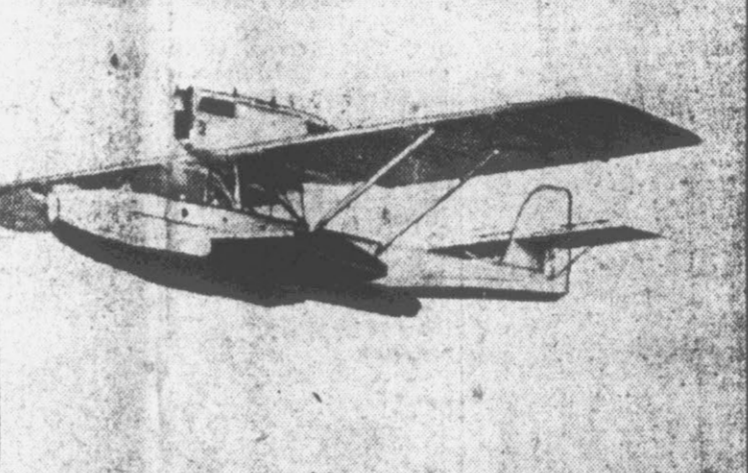

Wilmington, Aug. 2—(AP)—A. B. Groom, local insurance man, has given to the Wilmington News-Dispatch for publication a letter from United States Senator F. M. Simmons in which the North Carolina voters should be free from coercion or restraint in the exercise of their conscientious conviction and judgment with respect to the national ticket.

The letter, given the Wilmington News Dispatch for publication by Mr. Groom, in part, follows: "I am deeply interested in the election of the Democratic state district and local tickets, and I earnestly hope they may receive the undivided support of the democracy of the state, but I feel that because of Governor Smith's action since his nomination with reference to the platform, his organization of the national Democratic executive committee, and his and its alliance with interests and groups hostile and antagonistic to the fundamental principles of democracy, all Democratic voters should be free from coercion or restraint in the exercise of their conscientious conviction and judgment with respect to the national ticket."

Senator Simmons, leader of his party in North Carolina and senior member of the upper body from this state, recently resigned as a member of the Democratic executive committee. Throughout the pre-convention campaign he vigorously opposed the nomination of the New York governor but did not attend the Houston convention on the advice of his physician.

The veteran legislator declined to make any statement concerning his resignation, saying the "reason should be perfectly obvious to everyone." Since the convention he has remained in seclusion in a Maryland sanatorium where he went to rest and at his home in New Bern.

CAPTAIN COURTNEY FORCED DOWN AT SEA

Ships plying the Atlantic Ocean are today searching for Captain Frank T. Courtney and his three companions who were forced down somewhere in mid-ocean early today in their attempt to make a westward flight over the Atlantic. Pictured above is Captain Courtney and his twin-motored flying boat. Courtney and his companions hopped off from the Azores about 1:55 o'clock yesterday afternoon, enroute to New York, with Newfoundland as their first stop.

O. M. Mull, chairman of the state Democratic committee, announced some time ago that he had written Senator Simmons asking that he set a date for a conference at which the question of the Senator's successor on the national committee would be settled. No date has been announced for the conference as yet, however, and the Senator meanwhile has remained steadfast in his refusal to make a political statement.

STOPS JAIL DELIVERY WITH UNLOADED GUN

Jesup, Ga., Aug. 2—(AP)—L. E. Gentry, 15, last night prevented a jail delivery here when he pointed an unloaded rifle at five fleeing prisoners and commanded them to halt.

The prisoners, who had sawed their way out of cells and reached the roof of the jail, were held at bay until the boys' cries for help brought the sheriff to the scene.

Morrow Says World Must Show Faith In Mexico

Mexico City, Aug. 2—(AP)—Dwight W. Morrow, American ambassador, is confident that Mexico will settle by orderly process of law problems which have arisen out of the assassination of President-elect Alvaro Obregon. He believes that Americans and other foreigners should help Mexico by showing their faith in the country's future.

Speaking before the American Chamber of Commerce, the ambassador said: "Before our sorrowing nation could deliver back to the land of its birth the body of Captain Carranza, there fell upon Mexico one of the greatest tragedies in her history. Two weeks ago the President-elect, General Alvaro Obregon, was assassinated."

"It is a terrible thing for any country to lose its President-elect. He represents the hopes of the country which has chosen him for its highest honors and for its greatest post of service."

Albert Mascaranas, director of the Banco de Mexico, spoke when Mr. Morrow concluded, saying: "In these sad moments we feel much sustained by the friendship of the United States, a friendship which is appreciated greatly."

State Bankers Hear Talks At State College

Raleigh, Aug. 2—(AP)—Bankers of North Carolina today assembled at State College for a two-day short course arranged by college authorities to give them the opportunity of getting closer to the agricultural situation in the state. Members of the faculty were prepared to deliver short addresses on various topics designed to be of special interest to the banking fraternity.

Wharton Guilty Of Connection In Mail Robbery

Chicago, Aug. 2—(AP)—Charles S. Wharton, former congressman and former assistant state's attorney, was found guilty by a federal grand jury of conspiracy today in connection with the $133,000 grand train mail robbery at Evergreen Park last February. Charles "Limp" Cleaver, co-defendant and accused ring leader of the robber band, was found guilty of conspiracy and other charges. Wharton under the verdict faces possible maximum sentence of two years imprisonment and a possible maximum fine of $10,000 while Cleaver, if given the maximum on all the counts of which he was convicted faces more than 80 years imprisonment.

The jury which had arrived at its verdict last night after more than six hours' deliberation returned its finding before federal Judge James H. Wilkerson and motion for a new trial was made as soon as the verdict was read.

MR. COOLIDGE PAYS VISIT TO BIG IRON MINE

Hibbing, Minn., August 2—(AP)—The nation's chief source of iron ore supply—the Iron Range of northern Minnesota—were on display today for President Coolidge who had selected this occasion to venture from his summer headquarters for the second time since coming to this part of the country for his vacation.

A picture of industrial activity awaited the Presidential visit.

Huge bowls sunk into the earth resembling stadia of giants with rails, engines and tiny cars on each tier of seats; steam shovels picking up with apparent ease tons of "red dirt" placing them in cars and coming back for more, making still more and deeper tiers; figures of men, appearing on the other side of the bowl like ants crawling in and out of a sand pile—all of this and more could be seen from the observation platforms, built especially for the President at the edge of the large open pit mines near here.

The first on the President's program was the Hull-Rust-Mahoning mine, the largest open pit mine in the world and the mine which now is operating where the old village of Hibbing was located. The entire town packed up and moved to make way for its leading industry.

After a visit to the Susquehanna, another large open pit mine, the itinerary called for a ride through the city and a short stop at the local high school, one of the largest and most expensive in the country. Special traffic regulations, with no cars allowed on the main streets and ropes stretched along the route of the party had been promulgated to give every one a chance to see the Chief Executive on his way to and from the mines. The morning was a half holiday by proclamation.

The next stop on the President's program was Virginia, Minn., where the party was to be taken to the Missabe Mountain mine which is operated by the state of Minnesota.

"There is such a thing as political morality," the assistant attorney general said; "and in my opinion any person who participated in the band primary is not acting in good faith if he does not vote for the party's nominee." He added, however, there is no law to prevent a citizen voting as he sees fit.

If there is any action to be taken against alleged bolters of the party in November, Nash expressed the opinion that it could only be taken after the election, and could only be a refusal by the party to allow such voters to participate further in its primaries and conventions.

ANTI-SMITH CROWD BUSY AT RALEIGH

Party Dissension to be Aired at Gathering At Capital City Tonight.

Raleigh, August 2—(AP)—A gathering tonight of Wake county Democrats who will not vote for the party's presidential nominee, and broadcasting of a formal call for the previously announced state-wide meeting here August 10 to form an anti-Smith organization brought the internal dissensions of the Democratic party into the spotlight of the political situation today.

No announcement has been made as to the program for the Wake county meeting tonight, which was called by a manifesto bearing the signatures of sixty-two persons. Roy M. Banks, who was among the first to start the anti-Smith movement in this county by making a list of all Democrats reported unwilling to vote for the Presidential nominee, said neither the Presiding officer nor the speakers had been selected.

The Rev. C. Almon Upchurch, superintendent of the North Carolina anti-Saloon league, issued the formal call for the state-wide meeting Friday of next week, at the same time declaring he was not acting in his official capacity. He said he was not informed whether Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of Richmond, who with the Rev. A. J. Barton, Baptist leader, sponsored the recent Asheville conference, would be present.

Plans for the meeting, Upchurch stated, were the result of suggestions coming from Asheville, Winston-Salem, Greensboro, Charlotte, Durham, Raleigh, Wilmington, Kinston, Wilson and other places.

The call is made to "all those Democrats who will not vote for Governor Smith as well as those Democrats who are determined to vote and work against him."

While anti-Smith forces within the party prepared for their meetings, state chairman Odus M. Mull turned his eyes from Western North Carolina, where he has been conferring with party leaders, toward the East. On Monday and Tuesday he will consult with leaders of the first and third districts at Bayview and Goldsboro, respectively. Over the week-end, he is expected to meet Senator F. M. Simmons, who has said he will make a statement after a conference with the state chairman. The latest report from New Bern quotes the Senator as announcing he will offer no suggestion as to the choice of his successor on the National executive committee from which he resigned last week without explanation.

Hard on the heels of the visit to the ninth district by the Democratic field marshal, it has been announced that Republican chiefs will gather in Morganton Saturday for a council of war. State chairman Brownlow Jackson, and Charles A. Jones, National committeeman and candidate for congress in the ninth district, will meet other leaders to plan to make the most of the coming campaign. Mull's statement that he is optimistic about the Democratic chances in the ninth district has been matched by equally optimistic views expressed by the Republicans.

R. C. Maxwell, assistant secretary of the state board of elections, today expressed the opinion that it would be illegal for any North Carolina voter, unless registered as an independent, to split his ballot and vote the Republican National ticket while voting the Democratic ticket for state and county officers, but Frank Nash, assistant attorney general, held to the contrary.

"There is such a thing as political morality," the assistant attorney general said; "and in my opinion any person who participated in the band primary is not acting in good faith if he does not vote for the party's nominee." He added, however, there is no law to prevent a citizen voting as he sees fit.

If there is any action to be taken against alleged bolters of the party in November, Nash expressed the opinion that it could only be taken after the election, and could only be a refusal by the party to allow such voters to participate further in its primaries and conventions.

SMITH BACK ON FIRING LINE IN NEW YORK

Democratic Presidential Nominee Confers With Raskob About Farm Issue.

New York, Aug. 2.—(AP)—Governor Smith is back on the firing line, his eye for the moment, on the farmer vote of the west.

Banking heavily on rumblings of discontent in the corn and wheat belt, political advisers of the Democratic Presidential nominee are telling him he can carry some of the states west of Pittsburgh that normally go Republican.

As for Smith, he is making no claims as yet in this direction, although it is a certainty that he will make a determined effort, by bidding for the farm vote, to gain electoral votes from the agricultural zone.

Preliminary to mapping out this phase of his campaign and shaping up just what he will say on farm relief on his acceptance speech, the governor invited into conference today George N. Peek, a farm leader of the McNary-Haugen school.

For several days Peek, who did what he could to nominate Lowden at Kansas City, has been here discussing the farm problem with John J. Raskob, chairman of the Democratic national committee, and other Democratic leaders.

Today he had a breakfast engagement with Smith, this meeting affording him an opportunity to urge acceptance by the nominee of the equalization fee of the McNary-Haugen bill which President contends is unconstitutional.

Thus far the governor has given no inkling as to how far he would go in satisfying farm leaders like Peek, most of whom opposed Hoover in the pre-convention campaign and some of whom are still on the fence, determined where they should throw their support.

Several weeks ago, the Democratic nominee made a pledge to Indiana farmers that, if elected, he would immediately seek the advice of experts so that he could have ready by inauguration a concrete program for farm relief.

As a result of conferences which Raskob has been having with Peek, indications have been given that Smith deems it advisable to map out a relief plan which he could lay before the voters prior to election.

Mr. Raskob himself has been studying the equalization fee proposal, designed to take care of crop surpluses by promoting their export but has not committed himself on the proposition beyond stating that he had not yet found it economically unsound.

Shortly after his return to New York late yesterday from his brief vacation on the south shore of Long Island, unburned and rested, Governor Smith called Raskob to his hotel, suite for a conference, their first since his friend more than a fortnight ago took charge of his campaign.

Campaign organization and strategy generally were gone over, and Raskob had an opportunity to discuss the farm problem, as presented by Peek, prior to the meeting today of the governor and the farm leader from Illinois, who is chairman of the committee of twenty-two, an organization formed several years ago at Des Moines to work for remedial legislation.

MANY WOULD CLAIM CROWN OF PUGILISM

Din of Claimants Terrific, But Not As Bad As It Will Be Later On.

New York, Aug. 2.—(AP)—The din of claimants to the most valuable crown in pugilism is terrific. This however, is not a circumstance to what may be expected when the really top-notch claimers make themselves heard men like the Managers James Joy M. Johnson and Dumb Dan Morgan, so-called because he once talked a congressman dead, dumb and blind in one round of three or four hundred thousand words.

With Gene Tunney voluntarily listed among the ex-champions, briefs already have been filed by William Lawrence, formerly Young Stribling and Johnny Risko, the Bohemian baker's boy, not to mention seditious rumblings from the Argentine where Luis Angel Firpo let it be known that he would be willing to train down to 300 pounds or so if Tex Rickard would make it really worth while. These gentlemen are welcome at his party, Rickard asserts, but the party is going on.

Tex made it plain today that nobody will get away with "claiming" the heavyweight championship and that he expects "every boxing commission in the world to recognize the winner of the elimination tournament." The promoter made no effort to conceal his concern over the retirement of Tunney and the ensuing chaos which was inevitable. But he did take comfort in the prospect of developing a heavyweight champion who would "have to talk percentage of the gate for a while anyhow."

MORE TROUT ARE SOUGHT BY HOOVER

Better Fish—Quicker Bites Burning Issue As Candidate Goes to San Francisco.

Aboard Hoover train enroute for San Francisco, August 2.—(AP)—More and better trout and less time between bites are regarded by Herbert Hoover, Republican Presidential nominee, as the "burning issue" in northern California, where he has spent the past three days fishing.

The nominee so expressed himself last night before boarding his train for San Francisco, where he was due this morning and after he had spent a rather unprofitable day casting for mountain trout in Medicine Lake, 47 miles east of Shasta Springs where his party awaited him.

Hoover, his son Allan, his Secretary, George Akerson, and his friend Thomas T. C. Gregory of San Francisco were so late in getting back to the Shasta Springs hotel last night that those awaiting him there began to grow anxious and started telephoning about the country to locate the nominee. While the telephone operators were kept busy the Hoover party drove up.

The Republican Presidential nominee, his face red from contact with the sun, was the first to leave the car, but he was surrounded before he could get into the door of his cottage.

"Mr. Secretary, we were all beginning to worry about you," he was told.

Hoover smiled and said there was no need for worry, that the party had stopped at McCloud for dinner and then had motored around the base of Mount Shasta for a time.

"How many fish did you catch?" Was the next question shot at the candidate.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Damon of New York, are expected to arrive in Greenville today. Mr. Damon, who is a tenor, will give a recital at the college, in the administration building, tomorrow evening at 8:30 o'clock.

Mr. Meadows, director of the summer school, considers himself exceedingly fortunate in securing Mr. Damon for a summer engagement. Mr. and Mrs. Damon are on a vacation trip, rather than a professional tour, and Mr. Meadows persuaded them to make a detour by Greenville.

The program is a delightful combination of lovely songs, such as will entertain an audience on a summer evening, fine favorites that are loved by musicians as well as the general public, and yet not too heavy.

Red Devils Put Ghosts On Run

By winning their game with the White Ghosts, with whom they were tied for second place in the Patriotic League, the Red Devils are now runners up to the fleeing Bluebirds, and planning to make the chase still more hotter. With the addition of a little new material and a change in the batting order, the Reds have developed more scoring power and promise a busy morning for any team that they play henceforth. The score of yesterday's fracas was 21 to 10, and probably a fair measure of the relative showing of both sides. The Ghosts obligingly did a fadeaway whenever they had a real chance to score, either by the runner getting caught out stealing or napping, or by the batter falling to connect. Sawyer pitched a steady game, striking out six Ghosts and walking an equal number. However, it was the errors of the Ghosts that proved their undoing, no less than nine being charged, together with several of omission. Edward Wells, with two doubles and a single, and George Clark, with a scorching homer, were the Devilish shining lights at bat.

Notice to Citizens.

I wish to take this method of publicly thanking the people of Greenville for their cooperation in making Greenville a cleaner and better town in which to live.

In making this expression, I wish to call to the attention of the citizenship the following matters in which there has been a lack of cooperation:

Inability to co-operate in the matter of cutting grass and weeds; also that it is very essential that the garbage cans be placed so as to be accessible to the garbage wagons and as near as possible that all garbage be placed in the cans not later than noon of each day.

In case garbage is not placed in the cans before noon it often occurs that the garbage wagon has passed along the several streets in the forenoon and their work calls them into other parts of the city. When they have to make special trips the city is placed to an extra expense at an average cost of from 60c to $1.25 per trip, which means additional taxation. "Let's reduce the tax."

I have been practically all over the city several times and it is my observation that at least 60 per cent of the garbage cans have no lids as is required by the city ordinance pertaining to garbage cans. At least 20 per cent of the cans placed on the street as garbage cans are either lard cans, wash tubs or various and sundry sizes of metal barrels with no lids, which are very unhandy and inconvenient to handle and are not in compliance with the city ordinance.

By a special system recently inaugurated I can drive along any street of the city and tell whether or not that street has been served by the garbage department. It has been served the street and exactly what date the service was rendered. If anybody has reasonable cause for complaint, he is asked to please phone it to the city office, phone 447, and the proper party will make due notation directing my attention to the particular instance which will be immediately attended to.

J. R. EDWARDS, City Manager of "Our" Greenville.

W. S. TAYLOR PASSES AWAY IN INDIANA

Was Elected Governor of Kentucky, but Forced to Flee on Murder Charge.

Indianapolis, Aug. 2.—(AP)—William S. Taylor, 76, elected Republican governor of Kentucky in 1899 and sought in connection with the death of his Democratic opponent William S. Goebel, after the Kentucky legislature declared Taylor's election fraudulent, died in a hospital here today.

Taylor, who was vice-president of a local insurance company, fled to Indianapolis after Goebel was mortally wounded in 1900 by a concealed rifleman.

The Kentucky legislature had declared Goebel the legally elected governor.

Indiana governors did not honor extradition papers for Taylor after he fled to this city. He remained here ever since.

The assassination of William Goebel, a Democrat, occurred January 30, 1900, as Mr. Goebel was talking to the old state capitol at Frankfort. A shot, fired from the executive offices in another building, caused his death February 3, four days after he had taken the oath of office.

This shooting followed a heated political controversy. W. S. Taylor, Republican, was declared elected governor in 1899 and, with a certificate from the Secretary of State, assumed office. Goebel contested the election and in the following January, was declared by the General Assembly to have been elected.

Taylor refused to abide by the decision, and consequently two governments were established—Taylor leading one and Goebel the other. Followers of both flocked to Frankfort and each camp was well equipped.

It was during this time that Goebel was shot down on the streets. J. C. W. Beckham, elected lieutenant governor under Goebel, assumed office after Goebel's death. The Taylor forces took the case to federal court in an attempt to override the General Assembly decision. But Chief Justice William Howard Taft, at that time a judge of the United States Court of Appeals at Cincinnati, upheld the Assembly verdict. An appeal was filed and in May, 1900, the United States Supreme Court upheld Judge Taft's decision. Taylor fled to Indianapolis the same day.

In the meantime, conspiracy to murder charges had been returned by a grand jury against Henry Youtsey, Caleb Powers and Taylor. Youtsey, then 26 years old, confessed, and was sentenced to the penitentiary. He served until Dec. 12, 1918, when he was paroled. Powers was tried four times, but each time the case was set aside. Powers was paroled in 1908 by Gov. Augustus E. Wilson.

All efforts to have Taylor extradited from Indiana failed, however, because the Indiana governor contended Taylor would not receive a fair trial. Taylor was pardoned by Gov. Wilson in 1909.

Taylor had been in ill health during the last year. He was only in the hospital a few days, however. Death was caused by heart disease.

Funereral services will be held here and burial will be in Crown Hill cemetery in this city. The time of the funeral has not been decided.

When Taylor fled from Kentucky he was almost penniless. He had spent a fortune in the gubernatorial campaign and in the fight to retain office. He engaged in the practice of law here and later became vice-president and general counsel of the Empire Life and Accident Insurance Company.

Taylor was twice married. His first wife was Sarah Bell Tanner whom he wed in Indianapolis in 1900. Five children, four daughters and a son, survive this union. They are Mrs. Taylor F. Davidson, Mrs. Anna D. Wilson and Mrs. Mabel Miller, all of Indianapolis; Mrs. Letha Belle Bailey of Columbus, Ohio; and Wendell S. Taylor, of San Gabriel, Calif. In 1912 he was married to Nora A. Myers of Greenwood, Ind., a son, Charles Linden Taylor, now 12 years old, was born to them. A brother, Fern Taylor, of Morgantown, Ky., also survives. Mrs. Taylor, the widow, said her husband had never expressed a desire to return to Kentucky.

Service and Saving

Are Daily Advantages in This Store

An insistence on quality of exceptionally high standard has built trademarked brands on which you can depend. Careful attention to market conditions and to opportunities for advantageous buying resulted in outstanding economies which we pass on to you.

Home-Making Hands We Enjoy Serving

Behind our busy counter the World seems made of dainty hands. Daintily gloved fingers that unerringly find their way to articles of beauty and distinction, hands roughened by housework, children's fingers that tug impatiently, men's hands that grope uncertainly among women's things.

We serve a world of hands, but it is the home-making hands that we strive most earnestly to please—hands that must cook dinner, smooth childish bumps and coax smartness into a made-over frock.

That you may bring beauty to your home, we scour the markets of the world. That you may combine your love of nice things with a praiseworthy desire for economy, we mark our merchandise on the lowest-possible-price basis.

Smart Summer Frocks

Cost Very Little Now!

Cool silk frocks that are ideal for immediate wear can be selected at a thrift price that pleases everyone. Be sure to see them without delay.

A Score of Pleasing Hot Weather Styles

Short sleeves make these styles especially comfortable and smart for hot weather. Trimmings of lace and contrasting bindings make each one different and attractive.

Georgette — Flat Crepe Prints and Plain Colors

The woman who makes her selection soon will find a varied assortment of colors, styles and sizes for women, misses and juniors—you must see them for yourself to appreciate the values they represent.

A STITCH IN TIME

Too much eating is causing losses to the American Olympic teams, declares one of the London papers today.
No doubt what the London paper says of the Olympic teams is equally true with the majority of Americans in their everyday life. It is typical especially in this immediate section that we pay little or no attention to our diet or our physical condition until there is a break in our health and then in many cases, we have reached the stage that is beyond complete recovery.

In an effort to prolong
the average life in North Carolina, Dr. Charles O'H.
Laughinghouse, head of the State Board of Health, has or some time been urging that our people take time
for periodical examinations in order that any defects in our condition that appear might be given attention before it is too late.

We have our automobiles and other machinery looked over from time to time to make sure that they are in perfect working condition.
Do we not owe it to ourselves to take as good care of our physical bodies?

THE WEST APPOINTMENT

The choice of Roy O.
West to be Secretary of the Interior is another of those instances which reveal a blind spot in the mind of President Coolidge. A man who has been closely connected with great power enterprises, and particularly with great power enterprises that have been as intimately related to practical politics as the Insull interests, ought not to be made Secretary of the Interior, an office that directly associates him with formulation of the power policies of the country. But Mr. Coolidge does not see that fact, plain though it may be to all other eyes. All that he sees in Mr.
West is a substantial and able executive lawyer who has been the financial success of many means as much in the public eyes—that, plus his ability, answering regularly as a party member of a party official.

All probability, Mr.
West cannot do a great deal, of one sort or another, in the Department of the Interior in the remaining seven months of this Administration. And, of course, the Senate will not have his nomination to the office before it until December, when there will remain but three months of the Administration; and three months in which very likely little will be done, either in the department or in Congress.

Nevertheless, the nomination of Mr. West for this post should not pass at this time without recognition of its impropriety. And when the Senate meets, the nomination should not be treated as the purely routine affair of a dying Administration.
Rather, it should be discussed and analyzed, if for no other reason than that it is important to keep the thought of the country clear as to the considerations which should govern in the choice of members of the Cabinet.—Baltimore Sun.

ABOUT TOWN

"What was that?" a new-comer
to Greenville inquired of the scribe
of this column yesterday.

He referred to the strident note of a tobacco factory whistle somewhere down in the great tobacco district of this city.

We told him it was one of the tobacco factories getting up steam for handling products of the Georgia market. He seemed surprised to learn that a considerable part of the Georgia and South Carolina crops were redried in this section of the state. But when we told him this was the second largest tobacco sales center in the state he no longer evinced quite so much amazement.

"I knew you people sold right
much tobacco here, but I had no idea that the industry had assumed such tremendous proportions.

"Truly this is a splendid location for investment of capital, and I for one shall always be on the lookout to let the capitalist know where he can get one hundred cents for every dollar invested."

W. E. Hooks, chairman of the Pitt County Democratic Executive Committee, was in the city yesterday, and told the writer that the fall campaign would get under way in this county about September 1st.

"I have asked a number of speakers to address our voters between now and the November election.
Such men as Cameron Morrison, former governor, O. Max Gardner, gubernatorial candidate, and Lindsay Warren, congressman of this district, have been invited to deliver addresses from time to time after the campaign gets under way.

"The people should be educated to the great causes which Democracy has consecrated itself, and when they have been such a thin, as political inharmonies inside the party will be unheard of.

"Don't fail to turn out to hear these gifted orators when they visit your community this fall. They know the political situation in this county, and should be able to impart considerable information regarding questions which the public may be in doubt."

leaves the impression that we are off for the top of the standing of clubs column," confidently asserted a follower of Tommy Abbott and his crew today.

"With something over a month in which to play there is no reason on earth why we should not step out and attempt to find our rightful place at the top of the win column.
There are others who have been playing with more consistency and who
at present seem entitled to the lead, but the last month is going to make a big difference in the situation.

"With a few victories in a row, it is believable Tommy Abbott and his crew will find themselves closely trailing the league leaders. Goldsboro occupies that honored position at this time. But should they lose out to some other club as they did to Rocky Mount their standing will be seriously impaired.

"With proper encouragement manifested by large attendance, the Tobaccoists may yet bring honor to the great tobacco center they represent. Let's hope so—and that's about all we poor mortals on the dial lines can do."

"Opening of the Georgia Tobacco Market always holds more than usual interest for people of this section," declared a member of the local tobacco market today. The first question that was asked yesterday morning was, "Have you heard from Georgia?"

"Sometime the reply would be in the negative, again in the affirmative. If the latter was the case, the next interrogation was, "How's the prices—did they have much weed on the floors?" and hundred of other queries.

While the price situation this season is just a few cents lower than last year, this is no indication that the situation is not going to be as good as some previous years. The offerings yesterday consisted largely of sand lugs of good quality and an average of between fifteen and twenty cents isn't so bad.

"The next state to be the cynosure of all eyes is South Carolina. It is probable that this market is of more importance than Georgia in that it is nearer to this state and produces a type of tobacco more nearly like that which Eastern North Carolina raises.

"However, whatever the price may be in that state, they cannot possibly affect the opening of Greenville market where the price situation always compares favorably with the highest paid by any locality."

J. R. Edwards, newly elected city manager, is doing everything possible to clean up the city, according to his announcement carried in the columns of this paper today.
If you haven't been co-operating in this campaign, get busy and do so. It is essential that grasses, weeds and garbage be handled in due time if the health of the city is to be what it should.

Cooperate with the street department and let's try and make Greenville the cleanest city in Eastern North Carolina as well as the greatest shopping center of the great tobacco growing section."

GOLDBUGS COP INITIAL GAME IN THIS CITY

Goldsboro stopped Greenville's brief winning streak by taking yesterday afternoon's contest at the fairgrounds here by the score of 4 to 3.

Three errors cost the locals exactly three runs and enabled the league leading Manufacturers to increase their advantage over the five other teams of the circuit.

Deacon Joliff pitched one of the finest games seen at the fairgrounds this year. He allowed the visitors four hits, only one of which counted in the run getting. His teammates worked hard to overcome the lead gained by the Manufacturers in the seventh and eighth but were unable to do so when a rally with two men on the sacks failed in the eighth stanza.

Durham occupied the mound for Goldsboro but retired in favor of threatened being the count in the eighth. The relief hurler performed in splendid form and probably saved the day when he allowed only one hit and retired three by way of the strikeout route.

Finlator, leading stick artist of the Tobaccoist outfit, again carried off honors with a perfect day at bat. A circuit clout, a double and two free passes to the first sack turned the trick for him. Two men were on the paths when he slammed the ball over the fence in the fourth inning.

Williams and Crosjean who have been vying for honors with the wileen also took part in the stick work, getting one hit each.

The Manufacturers will complete the series here this afternoon after which the locals will go to Kinston to take on the Eagles for a two game series.

Asheville Makes Clean-up Series

(By The Associated Press.)

Another clean sweep of a series is credited to Asheville—a club the South Atlantic Association teams have had a hard time stopping.

The combination of O'Reilly and Weber was too much for Spartanburg yesterday and the Tourists won a ten inning final game 3 to 2. O'Reilly batted in all the winning runs and Weber happened to be in front of him each time.

Arlie Moss settled down after giving up three hits and two runs to Charlotte in the first inning and Macon defeated the Hornets 11, to 2. After his bad start, the Peach hurler allowed only two hits for the next eight frames, while his mates were accumulating fourteen.

Greenville and Knoxville staged another ten inning affair with the Spinners winning 5 to 4. Cussen prolonged the battle when he hit a homer to tie the score for the Smokies in the seventh.

Augusta proved that even a second division team can make clean sweeps when Columbia was defeated for the third consecutive time. Mahaffey and Stauffer engaged in a pitchers battle and the latter won out 3 to 1. Both teams played errorless ball.

SHE'LL LEAP AT OLYMPIC GAMES

Jean Shiley, Philadelphia high school girl, is one of the stars on the American women's Olympic team which will compete at Amsterdam. She tied for first in the high jump at the Newark trials.

Goldbugs Still Increase Lead

The leaders of the Eastern Carolina league strengthened their position yesterday at the expense of the cellarites.

Costly errors behind "Deacon" Joliff, mound ace of the tobaccoists, allowed the Goldbugs to annex the mixup 4 to 3. Each of the three errors made by Greenville gave the Bugs a run. Joliff was effective throughout the nine frames allowing Goldsboro but four hits, several times with runners on the sacks, he tightened to hold the opponents. Durham twirled well for Goldsboro until the eighth when Greenville put two runners on and threatened to tie the count.

George Lanning held the Steamers to five hits in the early game of a double header and nine in the nightcap to win both mixups for the Highlanders. He southpawed the first for a score of 4 to 2 and the second 7 to 4. The Kinston aggregation was dealt a hard blow in the third inning of the second game when first baseman Whitnel suffered a broken arm after being hit by a pitched ball. He will likely be out of the game for the remainder of the season.

The Buccaneers landed on Newbury in the first inning but wasted until the fifth to tear him down and win the affair from the Pirates 12 to 6. Roscoe, homerun king of the Wilmington club, relieved him on the mound, but the battle had already been lost.

Pointers Tighten Grip on Piedmont

(By The Associated Press.)

The Pointers, heading the imposing Piedmont loop parade, tightened their grip yesterday on the berth by taking both ends of a double bill from the Twins, 5 to 2 and 5 to 3. There were five double plays in the initial mixup, the High Point boys executing three of them. Jete Long hit one over the garden walls with two on in the nightcap.

Greensboro, nestled in second berth, was made to feel uncomfortable when Raleigh snatched the game 3 to 1. The Patriots were unable to push across a run after the first stanza. Riley was stung in the pinches and drew good support from his mates. O'Shea caught the eye of the blachers with a leaping catch that robbed Cox of a hit in the ninth, and ended the game.

The Colonials secured the advantage needed to win the tilt from the Durham Bulls, 6 to 4, in the sixth frame when a batting rally was staged and four runs produced. Hammock proved effective in pinches, although the Bulls bunched hits and pushed over three counters in the eighth.

MACKMEN NOSE OUT WIN OVER THE INDIANS

By WILLIAM J. CHIPMAN, Associated Press Sports Writer.

John J. McGraw, so far as the records reveal, never had to see an ear specialist as a result of any sustained cheering for the Giants on the road. Even the Willy Cornelius McGillicuddy suffered a minimum of inconvenience from alien shouts that went up for the Athletics in the distant days of Bender and Coombs and Plank, although the tall leader always had to prepare himself against any world series which involved his team against the Giants. Connie got the yell then, as the letter of two evils—to the fans at large.

What a change a few short years can make. The season of 1928 finds Mr. McGillicuddy something of a "grand old man" in his mid-sixties making a gallant fight against the Yankee Octopus. He finds a nation of fans applauding his efforts, and not a few of these would be willing to see even the Giants win and so revive the splendors of '05, '11, and '13 when New York and Philadelphia met for the highest crown in baseball.

Rain forced the maintenance of the status quo in the National League yesterday all three scheduled games were postponed, and simultaneous victories by the Yankees and the Athletics accomplished the same result in the younger major circuit. The chase remains stern for Connie his veteran gray even though he has won nine straight, sixteen out of seventeen and twenty-six out of thirty two. Only super-teams can move at that gait, and the Yankees still cangle five and one-half games beyond the Mackian grasp.

The thundering Mackmen showed some signs of lagging yesterday, but pulled through to a 6 to 4 victory over the Indians in Cleveland. The Yankees overcame the Browns by 12 to 1 in the series opener at St. Louis.

George Herman Ruth added his 42nd home run in the woes of Alvin Crowder in the first inning at St. Louis. This put the Babe 23 games, 28 days and eight home runs ahead of himself, as he measured by his second year of 1927.

The White Sox ran their string to five straight by downing the Red Sox in Chicago, 4 to 2, and 7 to 3. Ed Walsh, Jr. officiated in the second clash, and won his first home victory. The Tigers pounded the Senators 10 to 5 in Detroit.

COTTON MARKET

New York, Aug. 2.—(AP)—The cotton market was quieter today with extensive covering in evidence after the recent heavy selling. An opening advance was followed by declines under a renewal of liquidation out offerings were much lighter than recently and the market steadied up again, active months selling about 25 to 27 points net higher. Failure of demand to broaden materially on the upturn led to re-selling by early buyers, later and prices were within 10 or 15 points of yesterday's closing quotations in mid-afternoon.

Selling increased in the last half hour of trading and caused new low prices on the movement. December declined to 19.29. The close was easy about 15 to 21 points lower.

Futures closed easy 10 to 21 points lower; spot quiet; middling 19.70.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, Aug. 2.—(AP)—Despite profit taking sales, corn values made a substantial new advance today. There were reports of liberal purchases here of spot cash delivery of corn for shipment out of Chicago, and talk was heard that corn was coming from heat at some points in Nebraska and South Dakota. Wheat prices were strengthened by word of export business in Canadian wheat today amounting to 1,500,000 bushels.

Corn closed firm 5-8 to 2 7-8 net higher; wheat 1-4 to 1-2 up; oats unchanged to 1-2 advance, and provisions unchanged to 25 down.

STOCK MARKET

New York, Aug. 2.—(AP)—Reactionary price movements in today's stock market reflected growing uneasiness over the credit situation. Operators for the advance endeavored to bring about a resumption of the advance by bidding up a selected list of oil, public utility, food and merchandising shares, but they encountered heavy offerings on all rallies, trading showing a tendency to turn dull on the decline, indicating the absence of any extensive forced liquidation.

Call money renewed at 7 per cent and appeared to be in plentiful supply at that figure. Fears of a large increase in brokers' loans after the close of the market, coupled with the New York Federal Reserve Bank's reference to an "overloaded" position in its monthly credit review tended to dampen bullish enthusiasm.

The special meeting of the New York Clearing House Association, called for the purpose of discussing the situation created by the unusual large loans on securities collateral by large corporations and other new bank lenders, adjourned without making public its conclusions, although a statement was promised for tomorrow. Wall Street understands that an "important amendment" to the bylaws was adopted.

Special buying of the oil shares was based on the publication of an unusually favorable earnings report by the Atlantic Refining Company, by the improved statistical position of the industry and recent gasoline price advances, the latest being put into effect by the Standard Oil Company of Kentucky. Atlantic Refining soared more than 6 points to a new peak at 163 on talk of a 4 for 1 stock split-up and Houston moved up 3 1-2 points before selling pressure became effective against that group.

Indian Refining preferred, broke 12 points, National Tea 9 1-2. Radio 6 3-8, Wright 6, and International Harvester, Montgomery-Ward, Case Threshing, DuPont, Timken, Rossia Insurance and American Railway Express sold down 3 to nearly 6 points. Indian motorcycle broke 6 points to a new low at 27.

Except for 2 point losses in Illinois Central and Rock Island, the rails showed good resistance to selling pressure.

The closing was heavy. Total sales approximated 1,700,000 shares.

Glorious performance

Precision built in this Great Hudson

The great performance that marks Hudson out among all fine cars, with stellar brilliancy, is not alone in the genius of its design, but in a manufacturing execution that also stands at the head of the industry.

The hand-matching of all pistons is a detail in this precision manufacture, that is typical of every operation in building this greatest of all Hudsons.

Hudson leadership of mode extends to every detail and marks a new Hudson supremacy, as definite as its mechanical dominance through the Super-Six principle, and its companion invention which set today's standard for motor performance.

Every item of finish, construction and equipment expresses value as tangibly as its great chassis qualities. Come and examine the new Super-Sixes. They will give you an entirely fresh view of motor values.
