ENTIRE CREW FOUND DEAD IN SUBMARINE

Two Officers and Twenty-Nine Men Die at Bottom of Adriatic Sea.

Rome, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Poisoned by acid fumes or drowned in the first rush of water, the crew of the Italian submarine F-14, sunk in a collision early Monday morning in the upper Adriatic, died to a man at their posts apparently with fortitude and resignation.

The stricken submarine was raised to the surface last night after thirty-four hours of desperate labor by divers who worked hour after hour to attach an air pipe to the broken vessel and to fasten steel cables that she might be lifted to the surface.

Twenty-seven men perished in the tragedy. First reports received by the naval authorities indicated that there were 31 men aboard but a check of the bodies today revealed that four of the crew had remained ashore for reasons which have not yet been ascertained. Included among the victims were two officers, Captain Weil and Commander Pasulo.

Captain Weil and Commander Pasulo were both found at their posts of command in the conning tower, while the remaining members of the crew were all found dead at their normal positions. There were no visible signs of panic aboard the boat and the crew evidently had hoped till the last that they would be saved, only to succumb one by one to the fumes from their electric battery room.

Inspection of the hull showed that the submarine was not rammed by the destroyer Giuseppe Missoni, as first thought, but was struck by its propeller. This caused a great gaping gash near the stern through which the water rushed into the hull. Those in the immediate vicinity met instant death by drowning, while the watertight compartments momentarily saved the lives of the remainder until they died of poisoning.

It was found that all of the watertight compartments held till the end despite the fear that they might yield under the terrific pressure to which the submarine was subjected.

In view of the extraordinary speed with which the submarine was raised, it is felt that some of the crew would certainly have been saved had it not been for the poisonous fumes from the battery room.

The F-14 was towed into Pola this morning and was met by the crowds of spectators who showed deep sorrow at the tragedy. Naval experts in Rome believe that the speed with which the rescue operations were carried out, despite the fact that none of the crew was saved, represents a remarkable performance. Throughout the work the divers were handicapped by raging seas and heavy winds. It was necessary first to find divers capable of descending to the 130-foot depth where the submarine lay, then to locate the submarine by means of seaplanes and to rush pontoons and other necessary apparatus to the spot before the rescue work could even begin.

Rome, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Buoyed up by pontoons, the crippled Italian submarine F-14 floated on the surface of the Adriatic today—a steel casket for the two officers and 29 men aboard her.

Death had won in the grim race against the rescue workers.

There had been an ominous hint of death when the submarine's telegraph system by which communication was kept up with salvage workers became silent yesterday. But the rescue workers continued feverishly their efforts to raise the craft spurred on by the hope that the crew might have withdrawn to a safer part of the vessel.

When the submarine came to the surface, however, poisonous fumes poured from the opened hatches and peering through them the salvagers gazed into the tomb of their comrades.

Gases which had formed when the sea water reached the storage batteries had sufficed over the lives of the crew when rescue was first at hand.

Strong hopes had been held that at least a few of those on board would escape the slow death from poisoned air, for only the stern compartment of the F-14 was flooded when the sharp bow of the destroyer Giuseppe Missoni rode over it sending the submarine down 131 feet to the bottom of the Adriatic on Monday morning.

The raising of the submarine in 34 hours was regarded as an outstanding salvage feat. No sooner had the submarine sunk than seaplanes were flying over the area. The clarity of the blue waters of the Adriatic aided them in es-

NEXT TUESDAY IS DOLLAR DAY IN GREENVILLE

Many Merchants to Participate in Greatest Semi-Annual Trade Event.

Next Tuesday will be "Dollar Day" in Greenville, according to information given out this morning at the office of the Secretary of the local Merchants Association. The event this year will be the greatest since the "Dollar Day" movement had its inception two years ago. Virtually all of the largest merchants of the city will participate and thousands of bargains in the form of reasonable merchandise will find their way to the counters.

"Dollar Day" has become the greatest event to shoppers in this part of the State. Occurring twice annually, the event affords exceptional opportunities to the thousands of people residing in the boundaries of the Greenville trade territory.

This is no attempt on the part of local merchants to clear the shelves of shoddy, unseasonable goods, it was stated today. It is an honest effort to give their patrons the benefit of some of the best values of the season at prices several times below the original cost.

Values last year were so astounding that visitors here could hardly believe the evidence of their eyes. Countless numbers of women were heard to remark, "Greenville merchants certainly know how to treat people right." This sentiment will be maintained next Tuesday. Not a single merchant will fail to live up to the responsibility resting upon him as a representative of city with a reputation for honest and fair dealing.

"Dollar Day" is sponsored by the Greenville Merchants Association—an organization that has done much for advancement of the business interests of this locality. The merchants have been increasing the trade territory of Pitt County's capital city until it covers a radius of many more miles than previous years.

Visit Greenville next Tuesday and satisfy yourself that it pays to trade where dollars count for real value.

G. O. P. MEMBER LEADS RACE IN KANSAS TODAY

None of Eight Incumbent Congressmen Have Hard Time in Oklahoma Primary.

Topeka, Kansas, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Clyde M. Reed of Parsons, strongly backed by farm organizations maintained his substantial lead for the Republican nomination for Governor when returns were tabulated early today from approximately one-third of the precincts in Kansas.

With six candidates entered in yesterday's primary, the gubernatorial race developed into a contest between Reed and John Hamilton of Topeka, speaker of the House of Representatives, the Parsons publisher, however, forged ahead from the start this morning held a ratio of about 3 to 2 over the legislator.

The vote in 819 precincts out of 2,659 in the State gave Reed 21,393; Hamilton, 14,085.

Other candidates in the race appeared to have been hopelessly outdistanced.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Aug. 8.—(AP)—Fairly complete district returns from yesterday's State primary election early today indicated that none of the eight incumbent Congressmen who stood for re-election was having a hard contest.

State offices were involved in the primary. Congressman T. D. McKeown, of the Fourth District, who faced the only serious opposition, had assumed a commanding lead when 209 of the 425 precincts had been heard from. He polled 13,495 votes, Judge P. L. Gassaway, 7,237.

Rep. M. C. Garber, Enid, the State's only Republican Congressman in the Eighth District over a field including former Congressman Manuel Herrick, with 155 of 458 precincts in Garber had 5,983 votes, Herrick 540 and Roy J. Elam 407.

F. B. Swank, Fifth District incumbent, was renominated by a big majority over Vernon Smith of Oklahoma City. Rev. Jed Johnson ran away from Price Thompson of Calumet in the Sixth District, as did Wilburn Cartwright, Third District incumbent, who held a five to one lead over Charles W. Harris.

HOOVER HAS EYES TRAINED ON MISSOURI

Republican Presidential Candidate Watches Primary Race with Interest.

Stanford University, Cal., Aug. 8.—(AP)—Returns from the primaries in Missouri, one of the oyster and doubtful states, were carefully scrutinized today by Herbert Hoover in an effort to determine whether they would furnish an index to the result in the national election there in November.

The chief interest of the Republican presidential candidate centered on the Democratic senatorial race, in which Charles M. Ray of St. Louis, a dry, had rolled up a commanding lead on the early returns over his chief opponent, Jas. A. Collet, of Salisbury, a wet, who had the endorsement of Senator James A. Reed. It is no secret that Republican party leaders would welcome a victory by Ray, as this would place a wet presidential candidate and a dry senatorial candidate on the Democratic ticket in November.

The Republican presidential nominee had few engagements for today, and planned to get as much rest at home as possible, and at the same time to give more thought to the speech he will deliver at West Branch, Iowa, dealing with the farm relief problem, touching primarily upon the indirect rather than the direct methods of handling the agriculture situation.

The nominee was all smiles today over the success of a fishing trip which he made yesterday to a lake 30 miles south of this place. He slipped away during the morning hours, and returned in mid-afternoon with his creel fairly well filled, having taken out of the water the legal limit of a catch for one day, ten pounds plus one additional fish.

Cotton Prices Advance in N. Y.

New York, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Cotton prices advanced $6.50 per bale on the New York cotton exchange today when the Government reported on the indicated yield was announced as 14,291,000 bales, about 500,000 bales smaller than the trade generally had expected. A tremendous volume of buying appeared when the market reopened after a 20-minute intermission to receive the report. The October position, which had sold at 19.10 at 11.15 o'clock, advanced to 20.75 cents a pound, then eased to 20.37 cents on profit taking. December cotton climbed to 20.33 cents from its earlier level of 19.65.

SMITH CALLS ON MINISTER FOR DEBATE

Dr. Straton Accepts Challenge to Support Charges He Made Sunday.

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 8.—(AP)—Justice William Harmon Black of the New York Supreme Court and President of the Board of Trustees of the Calvary Baptist Church in a formal statement here today took sharp issue with the attitude of Dr. John Roach Straton, his pastor, toward Governor Alfred E. Smith.

Justice Black who is visiting here, said that "Dr. Straton's attack on Governor Smith does not represent a great many of the Baptists in the United States."

Asserting that no church members have the individuality that Baptists have because they are not governed by church conventions of rules, the Justice declared it was "not surprising that Baptists feel free to express themselves on every public subject and, in doing so, Dr. Straton is well within his rights, provided he is informed as to the facts."

"He is the ablest orator, in my opinion, in the Baptist Church and knows more about the Bible in a minute than I will ever know, but I believe, without conceit, that I know more about political history than he will ever know."

"I do know that I would not be so profoundly interested in Governor Smith's success if I had not known him intimately for 25 years and if I did not know that he is the cleanest, most loyal man in politics today. His is easily the most progressive record and on every subject he has been far in advance of his party. He has insisted on leading this fight despite the bitterest opposition, not only from the Republicans, but also from some in his own party."

Albany, N. Y., August 8.—(AP)—Governor Smith has thrown down the gauntlet to critics of his public record and has embraced in his challenge those who speak from the pulpit.

Singling out to bear the brunt of his counter offensive, Dr. John Roach Straton, a Baptist minister of New York, the Democratic Presidential nominee has called on him to repeat, in his presence and in Straton's church, a statement of the clergyman made last Sunday to his congregation that as a public man Smith is the "deadliest foe in America today of the forces of moral progress and true political wisdom." The Governor requested full opportunity to reply.

Dr. Straton announced last night that he would accept the challenge so today it appeared that a debate between a Presidential nominee and a minister of the gospel in a house of worship—something new in political campaigns—might be in the offering.

The Governor in a letter sent to the Rev. Straton yesterday called him to task for his declaration of Sunday, and suggested that he and the minister meet face to face during Labor day week in the minister's church, Calvary Baptist.

"I will permit you, if you choose to conduct the meeting by question and answer," said Smith. "I will be ready to answer any question you may put to me which, in your opinion, will in any degree tend to justify your remarks."

In a counter proposal Dr. Straton suggested that he and the Governor argue things out in Madison Square Garden or some other large auditorium, and also that they embark on a joint debate tour of the south. Just what the Governor's reaction would be to these proposals had not been disclosed today, although it was regarded as certain that he would reject both. His friends pointed out that even if he was so minded he could not set out a series of debates without upsetting campaign plans and they predicted that he would insist on meeting his antagonist in the church where the or-

GEO. BRENNAN DIES TODAY IN CHICAGO, ILL.

Master Mind of Illinois Politics Succumbs to Serious Illness.

Chicago, Aug. 8.—(AP)—George E. Brennan, Democratic National Committeeman and Master mind of Illinois Democracy since the passing of Roger Sullivan, died today.

The death of the veteran Democratic Chief came at 8:10 o'clock this morning, following a coma of several hours during which his study constitution alone had warded off the end which had seemed inevitable since yesterday. Mr. Brennan was stricken ill more than a week ago with a tooth infection. Septic poisoning developed after an operation for the removal of the teeth. His physicians, however, gave him an even chance to recover until Monday night, when his kidneys ceased to function.

Mr. Brennan was one of the staunchest supporters of Gov. Alfred E. Smith for the Presidency, both in 1924, when he first sought the Presidential nomination, and again this year at Houston when the New York Governor was chosen to head the party's national ticket. It was Brennan's suggestion, ever opposed to Tammany Hall, that selected to nominate Smith at the National convention. Brennan, too, was given credit for the first realization of the value of night sessions at Houston, creating the possibilities of Radio broadcasting.

Several weeks ago the Illinois Chief paid a visit to Governor Smith in New York. Long a bulwark of Illinois Democracy and for eight years its guiding hand, his passing on the eve of another Presidential campaign was regarded as an almost irreparable loss by his party associates.

The immediate cause of Mr. Brennan's death, Dr. Forrester said, was diabetic coma. Public funeral services will be held Friday at Mount Camel Church, with burial in All Saints Cemetery in Des Plaines.

The last rites of the Catholic Church had been administered more than a week ago when the seriousness of his condition was realized. Even then, while life was waning, he tried to cheer those about him and smilingly told Mrs. Brennan that he was "awfully sick" but that he would come through.

At his bedside when he died this morning were his wife, their daughter, Mary, and several close relatives, including a brother, James Brennan, his two sisters and Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Gill, the latter a sister of Mrs. Brennan, and Mr. Gill, a State representative.

FRENCH ACE INJURED IN PLANE CRASH
Orly, France, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Maurice Drouhin, noted French pilot, was injured and a mechanic killed at Orly Airdrome today in the crash of a Trimotored Monoplane designed by Rene Couzinet for a Trans-Atlantic flight from Paris to New York.

The plane named the "Aro-en-ciel" (The Rainbow) which was being groomed for the Trans-Atlantic hop, was destroyed. Drouhin was selected by Charles Levine, while in Europe last year to fly the New York to Germany Monoplane Columbia from Paris to the United States. This projected flight, however, fell through and the trip was never made.

School Teacher Beaten To Death By Assailant

Chicago, Aug. 8.—(AP)—The body of Miss Jennie Constance, 42, head of the English Department of Bradley Polytechnical Institute at Peoria, Ill., was found on the front lawn of an Evanston residence this morning. She had been beaten to death.

A blood stained piece of iron pipe was found near where the body lay behind a hedge in front of the home in which she had been rooming for the summer. Stains along the sidewalk indicated to police that she had been struck as she walked in front of the house. Her clothes were nearly torn from her body.

Members of her family, with whom Miss Constance lived, had reported that she was missing some time after midnight, when it was discovered she had not returned from a visit to the Northwestern University Library at 9:00 P. M. The library closed at 10 o'clock.

Miss Constance had been sharing rooms with her mother and a sister, Miss Margaret Constance, while studying at the summer session of Northwestern University. She was preparing for a degree of Doctor of Philosophy.

The body, with the skull crushed by a blow from the two foot length of iron pipe, was found by a milk man whose lantern lit the shadows under the hedge shortly before 5 o'clock this morning. The police believed death had been instantaneous and that the assailant had then dragged his victim into the yard and attacked her.

FOUR BURNED TO DEATH AT BAKERSVILLE

Children of Mrs. Gaiter Sparks Die when Home is Wrecked by Fire.

Bakersville, N. C., Aug. 8.—(AP)—Four of the five children of Mr. and Mrs. Gaiter Sparks were burned to death when the one-room house in which they lived was destroyed by fire Tuesday night about 11 o'clock. The children, whose names could not be learned, ranged in ages from three to twelve.

Mrs. Sparks, awakened by the roar of the flames, escaped with the baby and a eight-year-old son. The latter, however, dashed back into the burning house in an effort to save his three brothers and sisters, and was overcome and died with them.

The house was enveloped in flames when she awoke. Mrs. Sparks said, and she was unable to rescue her children. The father was away from home and it is said that his whereabouts are unknown to the family.

Dr. Charles E. Smith, coroner, Wednesday was making an investigation. He indicated that there was evidence of incendiarism.

The Sparks home was located between here and Spruce Pine, two miles west of the latter town.

THREE KILLED IN CRASH OF TWO PLANES

Scout Plane Flier Killed in Va., Two Others Die Near Cincinnati.

Williamsburg, Va., Aug. 8.—(AP)—One flier was killed and another was probably fatally injured here shortly before 10 o'clock this morning when a scout plane from Langley Field nose dived to the Athletic Field of the college of William and Mary.

The dead man was believed to be Sergeant Hamilton, who was a passenger in the ship. The pilot was said to be Lieutenant Walsh who was carried to a Williamsburg hospital where physicians announced he had a fractured skull among other injuries. Langley Field officials were hurrying by plane to the scene of the disaster.

Failure of the motor is thought to have caused the crash, the plane falling from a low altitude and landing on its nose.

Cincinnati, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Wendell Pavey, prominent Cincinnati automobile dealer, and J. L. Bovis, Cincinnati proprietor of an automobile establishment in Hamilton, Ohio, crashed to their death in an airplane near Lunken air port here today.

HEAVY STORM BATTERING AT FLORIDA COAST

Hundred Mile Stretch in Grip of Hurricane Many Towns Isolated in East.

Jacksonville, Fla., Aug. 8.—(AP)—The tropical storm which has shrouded a wide stretch of the east coast of Florida in isolation and wreaked heavy damage to coastal cities turned inland to central Florida this morning and was reported howling across South Ocala county in the northern fringe of the everglades.

The Palm Beaches rapidly were returning to normalcy today after 36 hours of gale and rain. Aside from broken windows, uprooted trees and torn shrubbery, the damage there was not extensive. First reports that Ocean Boulevard had been severely washed proved erroneous despite that heavy seas had pounded at the highway skirting the shore.

Meninger said that in his belief 75 per cent of the houses and buildings at Stuart and Fort Pierce, with populations of approximately 5,000 and 8,000 respectively, and 50 per cent of those at Vero, with a population of about 5,000, had been uprooted or otherwise badly damaged by the wind.

A driving rain which accompanied the hurricane added to the discomfort of residents and caused additional damage by soaking stocks of merchandise and interiors and furnishings of homes.

Vero is approximately 50 miles north of Stuart and Fort Pierce, about half way between the two cities. While the whole coast line extending 25 miles farther to Melbourne appeared to have felt the effect of the tropical storm, the destruction appeared to have been greatest in that section.

Jacksonville, Fla., Aug. 8.—(AP)—The Florida East Coast from above West Palm Beach to Melbourne, a one hundred mile stretch, was hit today by a tropical hurricane which destroyed shipping, isolated towns and brought damage to property.

Anxiety was expressed over the whereabouts of the Palatial "Hayana Special" of the Florida East Coast Railroad, which was five hours overdue at Miami. It had last been heard from on leaving Fort Pierce last night. Its route from there to Miami lay through the storm smitten area.

Although the tropical raider at Miami reported last night that the steamer Algonquin, of the Mallory line with 300 passengers aboard, bound from Galveston to New York had reported that it had lost bearings on account of the storm, a wireless message from the steamer was received this morning in New York, reporting that the ship had hove to in the Florida Straits to ride out the storm.

The Lempra, Honduran vessel, New York to Porto Cortez, reported in the storm 60 miles southeast of Jupiter light, that she had lost several life boats and was making no progress. The United Fruit Company vessel Gastilla was standing by.

Another missing train, a freight, southbound from Jacksonville to Miami, had not been heard of since Fort Pierce last night as it entered the storm area.

The Western Union Telegraph Company here said this morning that its operator at Melbourne, had reported that a violent wind struck that city shortly after eight o'clock, blowing out the front of the telegraph office. The company's only wire to Melbourne went out before any more details could be received.

Fort Pierce, located between Melbourne and West Palm Beach, had been isolated since late last night. The last word from there, said that a 75-mile hurricane was raging, and that residents were barricaded in their homes.

Vero Beach, Stuart, and other towns in the storm area, were cut off from communication. Wire communication to West Palm Beach and Miami, was interrupted last night when the hurricane and West Palm Beach, had been isolated since late last night. The last word from there, said that a 75-mile hurricane was raging, and that residents were barricaded in their homes.

The Associated Press wire was restored to Miami at nine o'clock this morning, and it was established that that city had escaped damage.

Jacksonville, Fla., Aug. 8.—(AP)—A tropical hurricane was blasting its way up the Florida east coast. (Continued on page three)

DRY LEADER VICTORIOUS IN MISSOURI

Defeat of Reed Forces
Seen as Result of Primary; Virginia Has Close Race.

St. Louis, Aug. 8.—(AP)—The apparent nomination of Charles M. Hay, dry leader of Missouri, over James A. Collet, as Democratic candidate for the United States senate was seen today as sealing the failure of Senator James A. Reed's retiring political fight after 18 years of service in the senate.

After nearly one half of the votes in the Missouri primary were in, Hay was leading Collet, whose candidacy was sponsored by Senator Reed, by 30,123 votes.

The defeat of Collet, however, was not regarded as a conclusive test of Senator Reed's strength because Collet was regarded as a newcomer in Missouri's political realm.

In the Republican Senatorial race Roscoe Paterson of Springfield was leading his nearest opponent, David M. Proctor, of Kansas City by 15,961 votes.

The Democratic gubernatorial nominee was Francis M. Wilson of Platte City, who led State Senator A. L. McCawley of Carthage, author of the Missouri dry law, by 76,520 votes.

Henry S. Caulfield, St. Louis, a former circuit judge was apparently the Republican choice for Governor with lead of 20,168 votes over Lieut. Gov. Phil A. Bennett, a dry.

While the wet and dry question ran through the major races, it was a bitter issue in the Democratic Senatorial fight in which Senator Reed with characteristic outbursts of ineffective sarcasm attacked Hay, because of Hay's arid views and on account of old political and personal scores.

The feud between them began in 1920 when Missouri Democracy literally ousted Reed on grounds that he was antagonistic to the policies of the late President Wilson. Hay was a leader of Reed's opposition.

Continuing the fight, Hay took the stump against Reed in the 1922 primary and supported Breckenridge Long for the Senatorial nomination. Returning from the Houston convention, Reed immediately lent himself to the campaign of his friend Collet and issued a statement attacking Hay as being antagonistic to Gov. Smith's prohibition stand. The statement brought a flat refusal from Hay to quit the race because of his difference with Gov. Smith. Hay said there was room for a dry on the ticket as the Democratic platform "was broad enough for all to stand on".

Richmond, Va., Aug. 8.—(AP)—On the face of nearly complete returns three congressmen of Virginia today appeared to have been renominated in yesterday's Democratic primary. There yet remains, however, quite a few scattered precincts in rural sections of the State to report.

Congressman Andrew Jackson Montague of Richmond, in the Third District, and Congressman R. Walton Moore in the Eighth District, on basis of returns already tabulated registered sweeping victories over their opponents. Congressman Montague appears to have led his district by about a five to one vote over his opponent, D. C. O'Flaherty.

Congressman Moore in the Eighth, on late tabulations, seemed to have bested his opponent, H. Earleton Hanes, by a little more than three to one.

In the Second District the contest was close. The incumbent Congressman Joseph T. Deal, on the face of the count from a large majority of the 110 precincts of the district, led his opponent, State Senator John A. Lesner, by approximately 1,000 votes.

The primary stirred but little interest in Virginia and a light vote was cast.

Freighter In Distress.

Tokio, Aug. 8.—(AP)—A radio message picked up by the Japanese steamship Paris Maru states that the dollar line freighter Stanley Dollar bound to Shanghai from Seattle was disabled by a boiler explosion off the Kuriles yesterday.

The Japanese ship, which was off Eastern Japan when it received the message, offered to assist the disabled vessel. The American ship replied that the Stuart Dollar bound from Victoria, B. C., to Dairen, Manchuria, was expected to stand by shortly.

PROFESSOR VAUGHAN PLEASES COLLEGE AUDIENCE.

Prof. W. E. Vaughan in his entertainment at the college last evening gave a number of humorous readings, songs and stories, that kept his audience laughing through out the hour.

He was best in the negro stories. He told the familiar "Tar Baby" story so dramatically, introducing it by giving an interpretation of "Uncle Remus" that he made very real the old-time darkey and the folk tales of the race. He told a number of negro jokes and he had picked up first hand or that he fitted into a natural setting.

The last part of the program was one of the old-fashioned country school, which he based on his own experience in a Tennessee school, he said. He wove in parodies and speeches and characterizations, making the 19 year old flapper teacher the central figure.

Prof. Vaughan this fall and winter is considering going with one of the traveling universities making a tour around the world and at the same time carrying on regular classes.

Three Women On Motorcycle Trip To Morehead City

A motorcycle touring party from Atlantic City, N. J., passed through Greenville this morning enroute to New Bern, Morehead City and other parts of Eastern Carolina.

The party was composed of Mrs. Lee Wayman and daughter, Miss Christine, and Miss Helen Ferguson.

The machine was being driven by Mrs. Wayman who stopped at the new Texaco filling station near the postoffice, to make a few adjustments to the steering gear of the motorcycle. Behind her sat her daughter and in another compartment was Miss Ferguson. Baggage was comfortably stored away in the two compartments and on the outside of the machine. A Washington City banner fluttered from the rear.

Mrs. Wayman, who acted as spokesman for the party, said they came over from Kingston this morning. She said they were more than pleased at what they had seen of this section of the country, especially the hundreds of acres of bright green Pitt county tobacco which at this time is being frantically housed along the route traversed by the visitors this morning.

While every form of transportation has been used by tourists thru this part of the county this summer, this was the first time that a party has been seen traveling any distance by motorcycle. Except for the burning rays of the sun shining down upon them, the visitors seemed to be comfortable and looking forward to the things of interest lying ahead of them.

Democrats Meeting At Bayview Today

Raleigh, N. C. Aug. 8.—(AP)—Democratic leaders of the First District assembled today at Bayview for an organization conference called by State Chairman O. M. Mull. Arrangements had been made for a barbecue dinner. Congressman Lindsay Warren joined the State Chairman in making plans for the gathering.

Tomorrow Mull will go to Wilson to organize the party machinery of the Second District. No dates have been fixed for the conferences to be held in the Fourth, Fifth, Seventh and Eighth Districts, but it is understood they will probably be visited by the Chairman before the meeting of the State Committee late this month to elect a successor to Senator F. M. Simmons as a member of the National Committee.

In his letter to Dr. Straton, whose name frequently appears on the front pages of Metropolitan newspapers, Smith, referring to the minister's declaration of Sunday, said: "I do not know why you should make a statement of that kind, but I do know that I will never permit it to go unchallenged."

Declaring that he had spent 25 years in the service of the state of New York, the Governor added: "I don't feel that I should charge you with making this statement for any political purpose, as it was made in a church devoted to the teachings of Christ, one of which was 'thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor.'"

The Governor's assault on the Baptist minister was entirely unexpected. Newspapermen assigned to cover him here had been on the lookout instead for a reply of some sort to the charge of William Allen White, the Kansas editor, who last week leveled guns at Smith's legislative record with relation to the saloon, commercialized vice and gambling. White, however, withdrew his charges regarding gambling and vice.

Whether the Straton letter, so far as the Democratic nominee is concerned, will suffice as an answer also to White, who has gone to Europe, or whether there is still something on the fire that will explode in the Kansas's direction still remained undisclosed today.

Bale of Cotton Goes by Air To N. Y. Democrats

Spartanburg, S. C. Aug. 8.—(AP)—The airplane piloted by R. L. Stephens of Atlanta, carrying the first bale of the 1928 cotton crop to New York, hopped off from the local airport at 10:15 o'clock this morning.

It is due at the Tri-Cities airport at Greensboro at 11:15 a. m.

Stephens came here this morning from Anderson where he was forced to land last night when he found that the load was too heavy for his ship. The cotton was brought here on a truck and another and larger plane was obtained.

It had been planned to have the cotton in New York at noon today, but the delay due to the forced landing caused alteration of the plans.

The cotton, grown by C. O. Smith of Moultrie, Ga., was purchased by the Atlanta Commercial Exchange for 60 cents a pound and was donated to the Democratic national committee.

BIG COTTON PRODUCTION IS FORECAST

Department of Agriculture Predicts Yield of 14,291,000 Bales This Year.

Washington, Aug. 8.—(AP)—The Department of Agriculture today announced that a cotton crop of 14,291,000 equivalent 500 pound bales is indicated for this year and that the condition of the crop on August 1 was 67.9 per cent of a normal.

The August 1 condition of the crop which compare with 69.5 per cent a year ago; 69.8 per cent in 1926 and 65.6 in 1925 indicated an approximate yield of 152.2 pounds per acre compared with 154.7 in 1927 and 156.3 pounds, the average for the last ten years.

The total indicated production is based on the assumption that the area abandoned this season will be the equal of average of the last ten years leaving from the 46,695,000 acres in cultivation July 1 an area of 44,983,000 acres for harvest this year.

The final outturn of the crop, the department said, will depend on whether the various influences affecting the crop during the remainder of the season are more or less favorable than usual. Last year's crop was 12,955,000 bales, that of 1926 was 17,977,000 bales and in 1925 it was 16,104,000 bales.

The condition of the crop on August 1 by states was:

- Virginia 82; North Carolina 73; South Carolina 64; Georgia 62; Florida 62; Missouri 55; Tennessee 68; Alabama 59; Mississippi 66; Louisiana 66; Texas 70; Oklahoma 71; Arkansas 67; New Mexico 83; Arizona 87; California 90; all other states 62. Indicated production for Lower California is 100,000 bales.

The danger of damage from boll weevil in the opinion of the crop reporting board is "fully as great as a year ago." There is no indication, however, that weevil damage would approach in seriousness by the board approximates the average damage of the years of fairly heavy or above average damage.

Data on the season, the board noted, shows the crop to be over a week later than last year and about two weeks later in west Texas. "Leaf worm and other insects while quite generally reported do not appear to be doing more than usual damage except in restricted areas. Generally speaking, cotton is fruiting freely with less than the usual amount of shedding.

The indicated production by states in bales, was:

- Virginia, 48,000; North Carolina, 773,000; South Carolina, 897,000; Georgia, 1,079,000; Florida, 19,000; Missouri, 132,000; Tennessee, 401,000; Alabama, 871,000; Mississippi, 2,229,000; Louisiana, 568,000; Texas, 5,137,000; Oklahoma, 1,419,000; Arkansas, 1,136,000; New Mexico, 82,000; Arizona, 133,000; California, 157,000; other States, 10,000.

RASKOB FLAYS BISHOP TODAY

Says Minister's Attack Upon Smith was Cloak For Religious Bigotry.

New York, Aug. 8.—(AP)—John J. Raskob, chairman of the Democratic national committee, has made a charge of bigotry against Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

Asked by newspaper interviewers to comment on a statement made by the bishop in Richmond, Va., Mr. Raskob said: "It seems to me that Bishop Cannon tore off the mask and proved that his attack upon Governor Smith's stand on the prohibition question was just a cloak for religious bigotry."

Bishop Cannon, in his statement, had taken Mr. Raskob to task for an announcement that certain important Methodists in the south had served notice upon the church they would withdraw their support unless its preachers ceased to oppose Gov. Smith.

Mr. Raskob declined to make public the names of Methodists who said had withdrawn contributions to the church. He said "it would be a violation of confidence. My information comes from dependable sources in the south."

BLOODY FINGERPRINTS NOT THOSE OF KELLY

Los Angeles, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Sergeant H. L. Barlow, police finger print expert, announced today that bloody finger prints found in the bathroom of the Mellus home were not those of Leo Kelly, "butcher boy" accused of the murder of Mrs. Myrtle Mellus, society matron, last Sunday.

The unexpected development in the slaying case which last Sunday shocked the fashionable Wilshire district of the west side was the signal for orders from Herman Cline, captain of detectives, that finger print records of every person who has figured in any way with the investigation be taken immediately.

line today, using its 75 miles an hour velocity to rip up communication lines, shut in communities and imperil heavy shipping.

Blocked in from the Atlantic by high pressure areas, the storm gathered its fury for an assault against the unprotected coast at the Palm Beaches, yesterday and last night and as dawn broke, was whipping the coastline between 50 and 75 miles to the northward.

Meanwhile two steamers were endangered by mountainous seas. One of them, the Mallory Line Algonquin, Galveston to New York, with 300 passengers aboard, had lost its bearings and was struggling to keep from running aground off Jupiter, 18 miles north of West Palm Beach.

The Lempira, flying the Honduran flag, New York to Porto Cortez was helpless in a heavy sea. The United Fruit Company vessel, Castilla, was standing by throughout the night. These vessels were in the center of a 75-mile hurricane which apparently was moving on today.

As for the coast towns north of Palm Beach, only a few of them were able to reach the outside world early today between Fort Pierce and Palm Beach. Fort Pierce, itself, 50 miles north of Palm Beach, was in the grip of a 75-mile hurricane. The barometer read 29.34, and nobody dared venture into the streets.

Although patched up telegraphic communication was maintained through the storm area, it was impossible to check the damage between Palm Beach and Fort Pierce, where the worst of the storm apparently was centering early today.

Thusville and Daytona Beach, farther north toward Jacksonville, reported no unusual conditions last night, but from all indications, were in for a hard blow sometime today unless the hurricane turns inland, a possibility brought forward by the Miami weather bureau, which predicted rain and high wind for all central Florida.

Palm Beach and West Palm Beach today were checking the damage of a night spent in darkness.

The wind had subsided somewhat early today, indicating that the storm had passed northward. Although hospitals and police reported only one accident during the 24-hour period just passed, a check was made again today. Both towns were littered with sign boards and uprooted shrubbery and small trees. Ocean Boulevard was damaged, and power companies were making an effort to repair their badly damaged lines.

All towns to the north as far as Jacksonville had received ample warning of the coming blast before it struck today, and small shipping was believed safe in protected harbors.

Emergency relief organizations along the east coast were prepared to act on a moment's notice, although no appeals had been made from any of the towns in the danger zone early today.

Telegraph and telephone company linesmen were restoring communication between West Palm Beach and Miami, to use for relay through to northern Florida over the one or two remaining trunk circuits. Meanwhile, neither communication nor repair was possible between towns in the center of the disturbance, with the exception of Fort Pierce.

Other rescue apparatus was hastily assembled on the spot. A pipe was attached to the sunken submarine and air pumped into her. The crew of the F-14 maintained communication with the rescuers by means of a submarine acoustic telephone with which all Italy undersea craft are equipped. It consists of a device attached to the lower part of the hull which sends out audible signals in the water in Morse code which can be heard by means of special sound detectors carried by ships or other submarines below the water line.

SAVED FROM THE SEA

Picked up off Portugal by the steamship Samos, the Polish aviators Idzikowski and Kubala were indeed lucky, though it was not the kind of luck they were banking upon when they started from Paris for the westward crossing of the Atlantic in the plane Marshal Pilsudski. When they set out upon their too venturesome voyage Major Idzikowski said they were "thinking of our flight only in terms of success." If accident happened, "the chances are 99 to 100 we are done for."

Their equipment justified the statement. They relied upon a single motor. They took no wireless because its weight "would limit our cruising ability by 150 miles." For safeguard over water they had a collapsible rubber boat, but, said Major Kubala, "it is not much of a guarantee. We hardly rely upon it. It takes too long to pump it up. We should be drowned long before we were able to use it." The aviators took chances in more than equipment. The weather conditions were not the most favorable for their attempt. It was thought they feared that the French flyer Costes, who is planning an ocean flight, might beat them to a start.

The flight in which the two Poles were both lucky and unlucky was undertaken to accomplish a feat more difficult than Lindbergh's. Sailors know that westward crossing of the Atlantic is "up-hill." But the prevalent westerly winds of that region, which make on a slight difference in the speed of a ship at sea, make a big difference to planes flying in the air above it. Lindbergh's flying time to Paris was 33 1-2 hours. Experts agree that 44 hours are not too many to allow for reversing that famous feat. With an estimated ability to remain in the air 48 hours, the two Polish adventurers figured that success in the fullest sense was well within the possibilities.

But even if the flight had been the success that Major Idzikowski counted upon, it would have been but a partial success. It would have been a great accomplishment, a personal triumph over obstacles that have cost many valuable lives. It would have helped, as Lindbergh's exploit did, to rivet attention upon air possibilities. But no more than Lindbergh's would have cast any light upon the problems of safely carrying air passengers in actual travel. Lindbergh admittedly took big risks in his Paris flight, and again in Mexico. The Polish aces took chances without Lindbergh luck to carry them through. But no carrying corporation of the air will ask paying passengers to take such desperate risks.

It happens that at practically the same time as the Pilsudski venture, Captain Courtney and his crew undertook a westward passage in which, though unsuccessful, they succeeded in so far as a demonstration of safety conditions was concerned, where Idzikowski and Kubala must in any event have failed. The radio, skillfully handled by Gilmour, gave notice to passing ships of their whereabouts and of their drift in the Gulf Stream. The plane itself, described by Jack Binns in The World as "slowly foundering" and as "wallowing in a heavy swell," yet stood the battering of the sea for seventeen weary hours, making for its four occupants all the difference between life and death.

Too many lives have been sacrificed already in attempting the North Atlantic crossing in planes that could not stand such battering for seventeen minutes. Heavier-than-air flying machines will not be available for trans-Atlantic passenger traffic until they have been reasonably safeguarded against the accidents of such travel. The happy chances that combined to save the lives of the two Polish pilots do not weaken the effectiveness of that lesson.—New York World.

ABOUT TOWN

"It looks like there is going to be a pronounced shortage of tobacco in this section of the State as a result of the inability of farmers to get their crop from the fields in time" reassured one of the leading growers of Pitt County today. "I have already heard of numbers of farmers losing as much as five barns each from this single cause. Then too, there is the usual loss incurred from fire. "This no doubt will have a tendency of bringing about an improvement in the price situation, although this is only a matter of conjecture at this time. Prices are governed entirely by demand and to be a demand there must be corresponding consumption. If this situation prevails, then prices are going to measure up to expectation regardless of what everybody may say or think."

"Everything is setting pretty," declared J. C. Galloway, will know planter of the Grimesland community, in reply to a question regarding conditions in his locality. "We are housing tobacco as rapidly as possible, but indications at this time apparently point to considerable loss by reason of our inability to get the crop out of the field before it dries up. "This is the first time in years this particular situation has prevailed in Pitt County and the majority are viewing their losses with more than ordinary concern. "The only thing that will save us is to get good prices. Everybody is hoping and praying that a favorable price situation will prevail during the entire season."

"A friend of ours is as full of jokes as the ocean is of sea shells. "The other day, however, he put over one that carried unexpected consequences. Had he been able to foresee what kind of slant some of the feminine element would take of it we feel confident the thing would have gone unsaid. "But as we said before, he likes his joke and is bound to get one off on somebody, regardless of depressing atmospheric conditions, adverse financial affairs, or anything else tending to annoy the frailties of humankind. "Did you ever hear that one about creation?" he questioned, while the dimple in his chin cut up more antics in a minute than a monkey can pull off on a tree limb in a month. "We admitted that we hadn't heard anything of the kind. In fact right at the moment we were not able to instantly recall the Biblical interpretation of the creation. We had been reading the progressive evolution theory and had gotten them slightly confused, although we had admitted long ago that the Bible was the correct solution to the whole thing. "Well it goes something like this," he said. "It all started in the Garden of Eden. Adam was placed in a profound sleep, a rib was taken from his body and created into woman. And—" "Well, what are you stopping for?" he was asked. He grinned knowingly. "And ever since that time woman has been man's bone of contention," he completed. We emitted a hearty guffaw in appreciation of this crack at woman. We don't know where he got it and we don't know who started it in the first place, but we will bet a rusty dime that he has never breathed "women being men's bone of contention" around home. Fact is, we feel like we have won before the wager is placed.

"The first bale of this season's cotton sold on the Georgia market brought fifty cents a pound," observed one of the Reflector readers today. "The bale was immediately contributed to the Democratic Presidential campaign and sent to New York by airplane where it will be placed on exhibition. "This was a handsome price. The toiling farmer out in the by-ways and hedges of this great nation of ours will wish that such a situation might prevail when he gets ready to sell his crop. "With cotton bringing over twenty cents a pound conditions in this old southland of ours are everything the people could have them—so far as finances are concerned. The staple is the principal product of numbers of localities and so no questions asked is stated in the long as the price is what it should be.

The Proven Value Of Persistent Advertising

Do you know, Mr. Merchant, that according to Boyd's Official List there are now 2,530 mail order houses in the United States who sell direct to the consumer?

Each and every one of these concerns issue catalogs, including supplements, booklets, folders, bulletins, special price lists, etc., throughout the year.

Most of the larger mail order houses issue catalogs twice a year; many of which have sections in colors and contain fifteen hundred pages or more.

The weight of one of these catalogs, after being trimmed, is about four and one-half pounds, and on a recent issue the paper alone in car load lots, would have cost over fifty-five cents.

Some of these houses distribute from ten to twelve million catalogs a year; the estimated cost of each complete catalog being about $2.00, with the monthly supplements, booklets, folders, price lists, postage, wrapping, etc., extra, bringing approximate cost $2.50 to $3.00 for each "live" name or prospective buyer on their lists.

Any person any place may secure one of these large mail order catalogs free of all cost simply by mailing in their request on a one-cent post card.

This means, Mr. Merchant, that a single mail order house will invest approximately $3.00 a year in advertising—catalogs and follow-up literature—for each customer or prospective customer residing within your trade territory.

From figures recently compiled by the National Buy-at-Home Movement of Fort Wayne, Indiana, after a thorough investigation and the checking-up of thousands of country newspapers, it was proven that the merchants of the smaller cities and towns invest on an average of only nine cents each a year in advertising in their local papers, for each customer or prospective customer living within a seven mile trade-zone of their home town.

The investigation proved conclusively that the secret of the mail order house's success was simply persistent advertising and the use of liberal space in describing the merchandise they have to offer.

Predict Morrison As Successor To Senator Simmons

Charlotte, Aug. 8.—(AP)—The Charlotte News today predict the selection of former Gov. Cameron Morrison to be national committeeman succeeding Senator F. M. Simmons resigned. "Former Gov. Morrison will be the national committeeman chosen to succeed Senator Simmons," the News says.

"The News is able to make that statement conclusively today and the election of Mr. Morrison will be a mere matter of formality when the state committee meets on Aug. 24th.

"Governor McLean, who has had somewhat militant support for the honor of this position, will urge the selection of the former governor and it is obvious that Mr. Morrison will be strongly endorsed by his friend, Max Gardner, who will rely heavily upon the Charlotte statesman in the state campaign this year."

LOCALS TRIM HARD HITTING PIRATE CREW

Greenville split the series with the Wilmington Pirates by taking yesterday afternoon's contest by the score of 11 to 8.

The game was featured by hard hitting by both clubs, especially the Pirate outfit, who hammered out thirteen bingles to the locals only twelve. However, the hits were so widely scattered that the visitors were unable to make them count for runs except in the second, sixth, seventh and ninth innings, the majority coming in the second and sixth. The Pirates carried off honors for long distance drives, being credited with two circuit outs.

Greenville started out with blood in their eyes in the very first frame by sending a single tally over to the checking station. They continued this work in the second inning by scoring two more times. They slackened their pace after this for two innings after which they put on their batting togs again and in the fifth sent five runners across the rubber. Three more were added in the eighth.

McKay started out like he meant to set the world afire but retired in the fifth in favor of Powell who fared little better. The Tobacconists simply could not be denied hits and pounded the old apple viciously in virtually every part of the game.

Cherry did mound duty for Greenville. He managed to keep the Pirates scattering their hits except in the second and sixth innings, when they chalked up six of their seven runs. Jolliff, pitching ace of the local club, relieved Cherry in the seventh and after that time the visitors fared badly. The big hurler had everything going his way and only in the ninth did the Pirates secure sufficient bingles to give them another tally.

Denton and Baily walked off with batting honors for the locals, while Goff, a new receiver, also came in for considerable credit.

Leaders Win Out In The Piedmont

(By the Associated Press) Making a clean sweep of the series with Goldsboro, High Point remained at the head of the Piedmont League parade although Winston-Salem also made it two wins in a row yesterday and stayed but three very small points behind, so far as percentages are concerned. The Pointers took their game at the margin of 12 to 2. Conklin, doing the hurling for the Pointers, allowed but six hits and kept them well scattered. Cecil Stewart was the star at the bat for that aggregation, making five trips to the rubber to secure as many hits, including a circuit blow. In the fourth Hargraves was hit in the head by a pitched ball and forced to return from the game.

The Twins win came at the expense of the Durham Bulls, by batting from behind to down the outfit, 9 to 8. Olin Perritt, recently secured by the Twins, made his debut in this performance in the role of relief pitcher and proved himself of a steady arm after Sullivan had been nicked for six runs in the first two stanzas.

The Raleigh Caps found unsolved puzzle in the slow offerings of Lefty Godshall and Salisbury evened the series by a win 5 to 0. All of the Salisbury runs came in the third off Wilson, rookie hurler, and Townsend replaced him to pitch to 22 batters and give up but two hits.

Twilight League Race is Close

With the four leading teams in the Sunday School Twilight League all bunched within seven percent of each other, and three of the leaders playing this week end, things get more and more interesting. The Christians and Methodists, both of whom have led steadily, are still at the top with .667 apiece, but Immanuel stands close behind with .625. Immanuel's handicap now comes from the fact that more of their games have been played off and they can only watch the others win or lose for them. The Presbyterians stand fourth, but a single victory will tie them for the lead. This they may get on Friday of this week, when they play a double bill, taking on the two leaders in succession. Should they win both ends, they would lead the race, and become the favorites to win the pennant. But if they do win both, they still have a strong opponent in Immanuel, with whom they have one more game. Immanuel, looms as one of the most formidable aggregations in the race, and with more games to play would probably win the championship. There is more than an outside chance of the race ending in a quadruple tie, with all four of these teams deadlocked at the end. In that case, a series once around, each against each other, would be needed to choose the winner fairly. At all events, the two games this Friday will be hotly contested, for that day the race may be virtually decided. Most of the other games on Saturday are considered "easy", and here is the climax of the pennant chase. Friday, at 3:30, Presbyterians versus Methodists, and at 5:00, Presbyterians versus Christians.

Villians Kidnap The Devil Outfit

The heretofore-but-not-now lowly Greenville Villians, who have not so long since been the cellarites in the Patriotic League yesterday, turned on the leaders with a 20-14 victory that gave them an equal right to a claim on first place. This ties the whole League race up almost as tightly as is possible, for the leading two teams have won five and lost four, while the two trailers have each won four and lost five. A single game can reverse the positions of first and last teams.

Seeing, for the winners pitched a good game, letting the Devils down with five hits, one a double by Campbell, the Reds recruit. Nine Devils fanned the air and six walked, including three passes given to George Clark. The Villians won their game in the second inning by a deluge of hits, passes and errors, including a long double by Wright which netted nine runs. The Devils began to creep up, a few runs each inning, but could not quite attain the total of their opponents. Six Green batters whiffed the air, and nine ambled delightfully down to first, all but one of whom later scored.

Today the Devils take on the White Ghosts, and tomorrow the Bluebirds and Villians take the field.

GENE TUNNEY BELIEVED ON WAY TO ALTAR

New York, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Evidenced by a tangled mass of contradictory reports, sportdom figuratively scratched its head today and wondered if contemplated matrimony was the real reason for Gene Tunney's abdication as heavy weight champion of the world.

Printed reports that Tunney soon was to be married to Miss Mary Joseph Rowland Lauder of Greenwich, Conn., daughter of the late George Lauder, Jr., millionaire steel manufacturer and former associate of Andrew Carnegie, came as a surprise to the sport world yesterday. Efforts to obtain denial or confirmation of the rumor from the principals themselves were fruitless. Miss Lauder and her mother, who are on an auto tour of Maine and Canada, were stopping on the island of South Bristol, Maine, last night. Tunney arrived at Bristol during the day and was reported to be visiting the Lauders. In the absence of telephone service from the mainland to the island neither Tunney nor the Lauders could be reached.

Relatives and friends of Miss Lauder, however, quickly denied published reports that Tunney and Miss Lauder would be married next month either in Scotland or France. The retired heavyweight champion is to leave for a walking tour in Europe on Aug. 16. He will be accompanied by several intimate friends including Thornton Wilder, the novelist.

Floyd Barbour, secretary to Miss Lauder, pointed out that she would not return from her northern tour until Sept. 10, although he added that she intended to sail for Europe sometime next winter.

Barbour further complicated the situation by admitting that the reports were "on the right track" but failed to explain just what he meant.

At Hartford, Conn., Edwin DeWing, brother-in-law of Miss Lauder, flatly denied the reports. Miss Lauder, who is 21, a graduate of the Finch School and a member of the Junior League, is comparatively inactive in society, devoting most of her attention to sport and study.

Her grandfather, George Lauder, was a first cousin of Andrew Carnegie, and came to the United States from Scotland with the founder of the steel company that bore his name.

U. S. Swimmers Reach Finals At Amsterdam Today

Amsterdam, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Six American swimmers competing in the semi-finals of the 100 meter backstroke and the 400 meter freestyle reached the finals today and will dispute for the Olympic championship.

George Kotac of New York, who set the heat in the 100 meter event in near record time and Walter Lauffer of Chicago, captured his heat handily with Paul Wyatt of Uniontown, Pa., second.

The Americans who qualified in the 400 meter event were Raymond Ruddy, New York; Clarence Crabbe, Honolulu; and Clarence Clapp, Hollywood. Crabbe finished second and Clapp third in their heat with Arne Borg, the Swedish champion who finished first.

The closest competition he has had since the 1928 Olympic swimming started, Ruddy finished third in his heat trailing Zorilla of Argentina and Charlton of Australia.

READY FOR FINAL ROUND IN ASHEVILLE TENNIS

Asheville, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Quarter final round of the North Carolina open tennis tournament had been reached at Biltmore Forest country club today, with all but one seeded player in the van. The absentee was Tench C. Cox, Jr., of Asheville, number four ranking of the tournament, who succumbed yesterday before the volleying attack of George H. Lewis, Asheville, 6-3, 6-1.

Qualifiers today included: Maurice Bayon, New Orleans and present Carolinas title holder; J. Richardson, Lansdowne, Pa.; John Temple Graves, Jacksonville, Fla.; A. L. Enloe, Atlanta; and Stewart Rogers, Charles E. Waddell, Jr., George Lewis and Reeves Rutledge all of Asheville.

Highlanders Stop Greedy Goldbugs

(By the Associated Press)

That jaunty pace set by the Goldbugs, leaders of the Eastern Carolina League, was temporarily blocked yesterday when the Highlanders won, 9 to 7. The exhibit turned out to be a slugging match for the second time in as many days. Fayetteville got off with an early lead but the Bugs came back in the seventh to tie the score 7-all. In the eighth frame, however, the Highlanders pushed over two more runs.

The Tobacconists evened the series with the Pirates by snatching the game, 11 to 8. The affair developed into a slugging match but the Pirates bested in this phase with two home runs among their safe blows. Greenville, however, made their hits count for more. The Tobacconists managed to chalk up five tallies in the fifth and to remain in the lead thereafter.

The Bugs took top score over the Eagles in one of the hardest played games on the Kinston field seen this season, 5 to 4. The score was tied 3-all in the fifth, but the Eagles came back with a punch in the sixth to drive over a run. Then Rocky Mount hammered away in the eighth and ninth to tie the score and push over the counting tally.

Extra Innings In South Atlantic

Extra inning affairs are becoming to be a fad in the South Atlantic Association and yesterday's activities were no exception, with four of the six teams who played having to work overtime.

Asheville and Charlotte sweated through the regulation periods of a slugfest but were deadlocked at eight all when nine innings had come and passed, necessitating another frame which gave the Tourists 9 to 8 decision when Keyes' homer broke up the ball game.

Thirty-one hits was the total for the two teams, Green's four safeties helping the league leaders to claim 16 for their share.

Greenville and Columbia staged the other money's worth for the fans. Two runs in the tenth were not matched by the Comers and the Spartans won 4 to 2.

Osborne's triple in the last inning scored two runs and gave Knoxville a 2 to 1 verdict over Augusta in the nightcap of a double header after the Tygers had won the opener 6 to 2.

Bean gave up only three hits to the Snookies in the first, one of them a four bagger by Smith.

COTTON GINNED SHOWS DECREASE THIS YEAR

Washington, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Cotton of this year's growth ginned prior to August 1st, totaled 87,888 running bales, compared with 162,283 to that date last year, and 47,770 on August 1st, 1926, the census Bureau announced today in its first ginning report of the season.

As in previous years, ginnings by States were not given.

PIRATE LADS CAUSE ALARM IN NATIONAL

By HERBERT W. BAKER (Associated Press Sports Writer)

If they're wise, first division clubs in the National League will keep a wary eye on the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Dan Bresh's Corsairs languished in sixth place for so long that they were counted out not only as possible 1928 champions, but also as a factor that the leaders would have to worry very much about.

The last month or so has changed the situation completely. Only July 7, 1927, the Chionsons were locked deep in sixth place with apparently no prospect of getting any higher. Then Burleigh Grimes, who had carried the complete burden of pitching winning ball for Bush, began to get some assistance from his mates. The result was that in the month from July 7 to August 7 inclusive, the Corsairs won 22 games and lost only 7, better than 750 baseballs.

Beating the Brooklyn Dodgers in both ends of a double header, 4 to 3 and 3 to 2 in 12 innings, the Pirates ran their latest winning streak to six in a row. Grimes registered his 20th victory in the opener.

The New York Giants cut a full game from the St. Louis Cardinals' lead by trouncing the league leaders 10 to 1.

The Phils' again trimmed the Cubs 4 to 2, behind the effective pitching of Willoughby.

The New York Yankees gained back a game of their lead in the American League race by trimming the Chicago White Sox 6 to 3, while Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics were bowing to Detroit 4 to 1. The A's defeat left them four and a half games back of the leaders.

Two home runs by Lou Blue enabled the St. Louis Browns to make it three out of four from the Boston Red Sox, 6 to 5.

Sad Sam Jones kept Cleveland in subjection and the Washington Senators whitewashed the Indians 8 to 0.

NEW YORK COTTON.
New York, Aug. 8.—(AP)—The government cotton crop report placing condition at 67.9 and the indicated yield at 14,291,000 bales, was followed by a jump of about 100 to 165 points in the cotton market today.

December contracts sold up from 19.00 to 20.33 or 133 points from the low level of the morning, while October advanced from 19.10 to 20.75. The first rush of buying seemed to subside at these figures, however, and there were rather quick reactions of half a cent or more, with later fluctuations irregular.

The mid-afternoon market was selling around 19.82 for December or about 59 to 67 points above yesterday's closing quotations.

Futures closed very steady 78 to 83 points higher.

STOCK MARKET
New York, Aug. 8.—(AP)—Volatile and erratic fluctuations in the amusement stocks unsettled today's stock market. Previous the market had shown a disposition to head upward in the face of an increase from 6 1-2 to 7 per cent in call money, coincident with the calling of about $20,000,000 in bank loans.

Outside the stock market, chief speculative interest centered in the sensational rise of $6.50 a bale in cotton in the publication of the government crop report showing an estimated yield 500,000 bales less than had been expected.

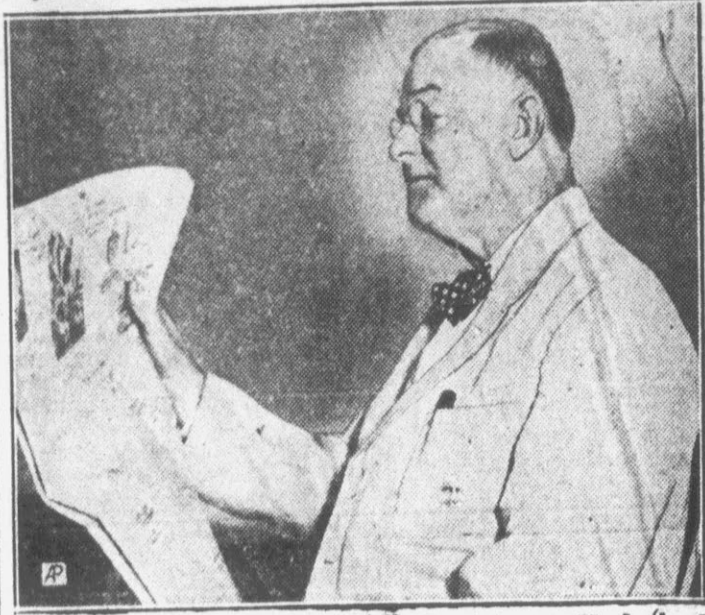

Weekly steel trade reviews reported that the high July demand had been maintained in the first week in August. Private estimates, however, indicated a drop of 18,000 tons in the unfilled orders of the United States Steel Corporation on Friday. Most of the day's earnings reports were favorable.

Pathe issues were the sensational features in the amusement group, nearly doubling in price overnight. Pathe common advanced from yesterday's close of 4 5-8 to 9 and the "A" stock from 18 1-2 to 33, and the "B" stock from 5 1/2 to 24 1-2, respectively in the early afternoon selling movement.

The close was weak. Total sales approximated 1,950,000 shares.

Discuss Regional Government Issues At Va. Institute

Charlottesville, Va., Aug. 8.—(AP)—Regional problems of Government in Metropolitan Areas held the spotlight at the Institute of Public Affairs at the University of Virginia today in an open forum conducted by Dr. Thomas H. Reed, Professor of Political Science at the University of Michigan.

Dr. Reed, who is Director of Research for the Commission to study Municipal Consolidation in counties of the Second Class in Pennsylvania, said that the movement toward Federal City Government is now in full swing in the contested areas near such cities as Pittsburgh, Cleveland, Montreal, Newark and St. Louis.

"These Metropolitan areas possess a clear economic and social unity, but they ordinarily correspond with no existing political division," Dr. Reed said. "Within each such area are many independent authorities each working on its own salvation with scarcely any regard to the welfare of the whole. As a result problems of planning transportation, including highway construction, police, recreation, water sub-drainage and the like go unsolved."

The only solution is the employment of some method that will take care of the common needs centrally while leaving many matters to be dealt with locally. It is recognized that the city of today is not just a compactly built up section chartered by the State, but a district of great extent with which the life of the people revolves about an urban center.

How 122 political units—boroughs, cities, and townships are centered for 121 miles along the banks where the Monogahela and Allegheny join to form the Ohio river may be unified about Pittsburgh as a center, was described by Joseph T. Miller, Chairman of the Allegheny County Consolidation Commission of which Dr. Reed is Director of Research.

Dr. W. H. Hand Dies at Columbia

Columbia, Aug. 8.—(AP)—More than forty years of service to the public schools of North and South Carolina was ended last night with the death of Dr. William H. Hand, Columbia School Superintendent, who died at his home after an illness of more than a year.

Pneumonia was the immediate cause of his death.

Born in Gaston County, North Carolina, in 1863, Dr. Hand was active in public school work in that state for five years before becoming Superintendent of the Florence City Schools in 1891. Two years later, he took the same position at Chester, resigning it after thirteen years, to become State High School Inspector. In 1918 he left this post to head the Columbia City Schools.

Dr. Hand is survived by his widow, Mrs. Alice E. Gurley Hand, formerly of Wayne County, North Carolina, by three daughters, Mrs. W. W. Brewley, of Columbia; Mrs. Frank Owens, of Columbia; Mrs. George Nickerson, of Jacksonville, Fla., and a son, Harvey Hand, of Chattanooga Tenn.

More oiliness is proved by this harsh test that gives the facts about an oil, a motor oil that goes beyond the duties of an oil and keeps down wear and tear.

PROOF OF LESS WEAR

A large truck manufacturer ran motors for 50 hours with "Standard" and with other well-known oils. Throttle, spark and carburetor adjustments were constant. Gritty particles were applied to the air as it entered the carburetor to increase abrasion on cylinder walls.

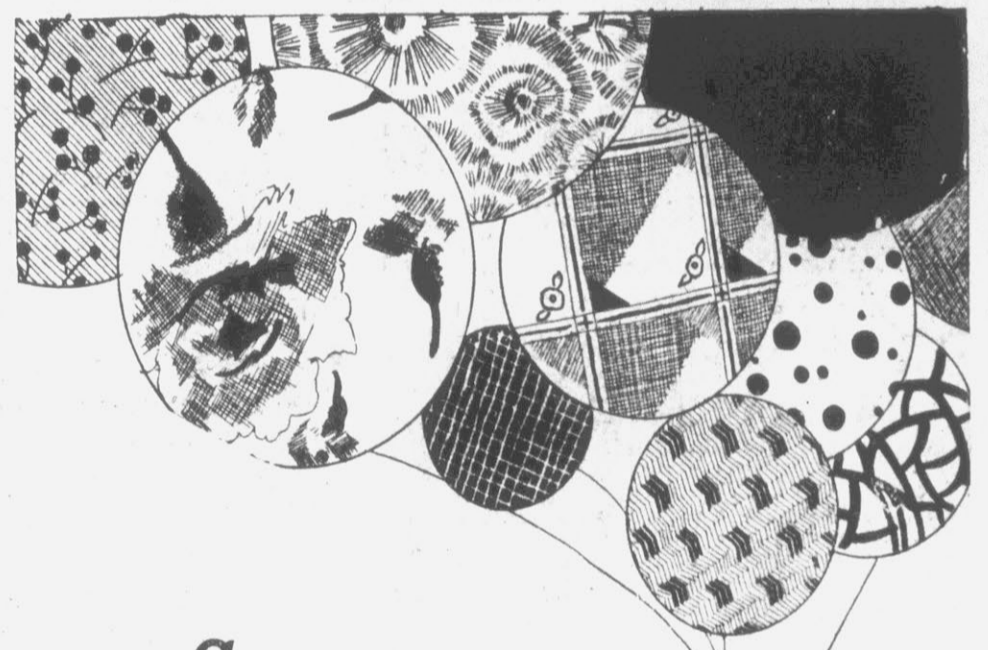

This test proved that cylinders and rings were worn only one ninth as much with "Standard" Motor Oil as with the other oils. You can draw your own conclusions as to what this means in cutting costs of motor upkeep.

"STANDARD" MOTOR OIL

"Standard" Greases, Transmission Oil and Gear Compound are made with the same care as "Standard" motor fuels and motor oils.
