EUROPE MORE FULLY ARMED THAN IN 1913

Signing of Kellogg Treaty Finds 3,000,000 Men Armed Ready for Service.

Paris, August 27.—(AP)—Consumption of the Kellogg-Briand renunciation treaty finds western Europe more heavily armed than in 1913.

Upward of 3,000,000 men are in actual military service and, as it happens at this season, many hundreds of thousands have been called to the colors for training. Swift practice mobilizations are in progress and trial war measures are under way throughout Europe.

Artillery, in stores of munitions, in chemicals and in works for making gases, in aircraft, in tanks, in all the complicated apparatus of destruction, the nations have a striking power immensely superior to that of 1913.

This is especially true of the powers large and small lately allied in the war. The central powers are victorious and non-combatant powers, excluding Serbia and Russia, have added to their renunciation treaty finds western Europe with the exception of Germany more heavily armed than in 1913.

Great Britain and Ireland, which just prior to the war had 406,000 men under arms, now have troops totaling 408,000. France whose troops before the war numbered 446,000 has added 20,000 to this figure. Italy, whose 1918 army consisted of 274,000 men, now has 347,000 men under arms. Belgium has increased its army from 47,000 to 79,000 and Greece from 25,000 to 66,000. Rumania has an army of 205,000 compared with 103,000 maintained there before the war.

States non-combatant in the great war have felt impelled to add to their military establishments. Switzerland, which had a so-called active militia before the war of 28,000 has now 170,000 owing to an improved organization. Denmark has increased its peace strength from 14,000 in 1913, to 33,000. Holland from 26,000 to 29,999. Spain from 98,000 to 224,000. Portugal has declined from 30,000 to 25,000. Norway from 7,000 to 4,000. Sweden has increased her forces from 436,500 officers and voluntarily enlisted men to 500,000.

The phrase "western Europe" has been used for the reason that Europe taken as a whole has about 1,000,000 fewer men under arms. The German army has shrunk from 800,000 to 100,000. Russia and the succession states carved from her have about 900,000 now, instead of 1,200,000 as in 1913. Austria and her succession states have 190,000 instead of 424,000 in 1913. Bulgaria, instead of 60,000 is limited to 20,000.

South Carolina Primary Tuesday

Columbia, Aug. 27.—(AP)—With some 311,000 persons enrolled and eligible to vote, Democratic organization officials in South Carolina's 1,406 voting precincts prepared today for the 1928 primary.

The primary to be held tomorrow will be followed by a runoff election two weeks hence to determine contests whenever one candidate in an office has not received a majority of votes cast.

Though the primary this year for the first time in modern days was not featured by any races for State offices, the constitutional change increasing to four years the terms for Governor and other general offices has taken effect two years ago, lively contests in a number of counties promised to draw a fair sized vote tomorrow.

Four Congressmen will fight for renomination in the First District. Representative T. S. McMillan is opposed by I. S. Hutto, P. H. Kennedy, and James De Treville; in the Fifth Congressman W. P. Stevenson is contesting with Z. V. Davidson; in the Sixth, Congressman A. H. Gasque is opposed by J. I. Allen and E. H. Ellerbe, while Ernest Dupree is opposing Representative H. P. Fulmer in the Seventh.

Representatives B. H. Hare, F. H. Dominick and J. J. McSwain of the Second, Third and Fourth Districts, respectively, are unopposed.

Dawes Observes Birthday.
Chicago, Aug. 27.—(AP)—Vice-President Charles G. Dawes today observed his sixty-third birthday anniversary by appearing for work as usual at his offices in the Central Trust Company Bank.

He expected a birthday cake for dinner, he said, but was not sure about that. The vice-president returned Saturday from a hunting trip in Colorado and New Mexico and expects to leave next Saturday for the summer home of his brother, Beman Dawes, at Manitoulin, Ontario.

WARD FIRES OPENING GUN OF CAMPAIGN

Washington Man Discusses Political Issues at Court House Here Today.

Picturing Governor Alfred Smith, of New York, Democratic nominee for the presidency, as the most lied about man since the day of Andrew Jackson, Hallet S. Ward, of Washington, former congressman from this district, fired the opening gun of the Democratic campaign in this county in an address at the court house today at the noon hour.

The great fight which the New Yorker is putting up against the calumnious assault of enemies in all sections of the country was described in vivid, forceful style by the speaker. He paid tribute to the equanimity which the Democratic leader had been able to preserve under the most trying circumstances.

Mr. Ward spoke at the noon hour shortly after criminal court had recessed for lunch. The courtroom was well filled when the speech began, but small groups of people continued to drift into the building until the room was packed almost to capacity, numbers standing around the rear of the bar listening intently to the champion of Democracy as he drove home fact after fact bearing directly upon the present campaign.

No man, declared Mr. Ward, endured more vicious attacks than did the sturdy Andrew Jackson in the early history of the nation. But he did not endure them in silence. He called his persecutors to account at the point of the pistol or bayonet on different occasions, demanding, and in many instances, getting the satisfaction which his impetuous, fiery nature desired.

Today another outstanding figure of the nation has been made the center of an attack as mercenary and vicious as that which the picturesque Jackson endured. Unlike the Tennesseean, however, Alfred Smith, governor of New York, is not calling his enemies to account. He is standing firm as a rock against the assaults, disdaining to stain his hands with the filth and stench of charges that seek with the atmosphere of the underworld itself.

Al Smith, he declared, is holding himself aloof from his assailants, conducting himself in a manner that is above the reproach of any fair-minded man or woman forgetful of party alliances and willing to give manhood a real show. He described Smith as a man of character—the type that is doing so much to build up and not to shatter the ideals of American government.

He touched in a brief way the attack launched against Smith by Dr. Roach Stratton, pastor of one of the most fashionable churches in the city of New York. He then read another article in which was quoted the words of a distinguished jurist of New York City, a member of Stratton's church, in which he denounced the minister for his attack against the Democratic nominee.

Starting out with a brief allusion to the principles of Democracy, Mr. Ward extolled the merit of some of the great Democratic statesmen of the nation. Not content with men of today, he went back over a period of several years and mentioned the name of man after man that had figured largely in the making of the history of this great nation.

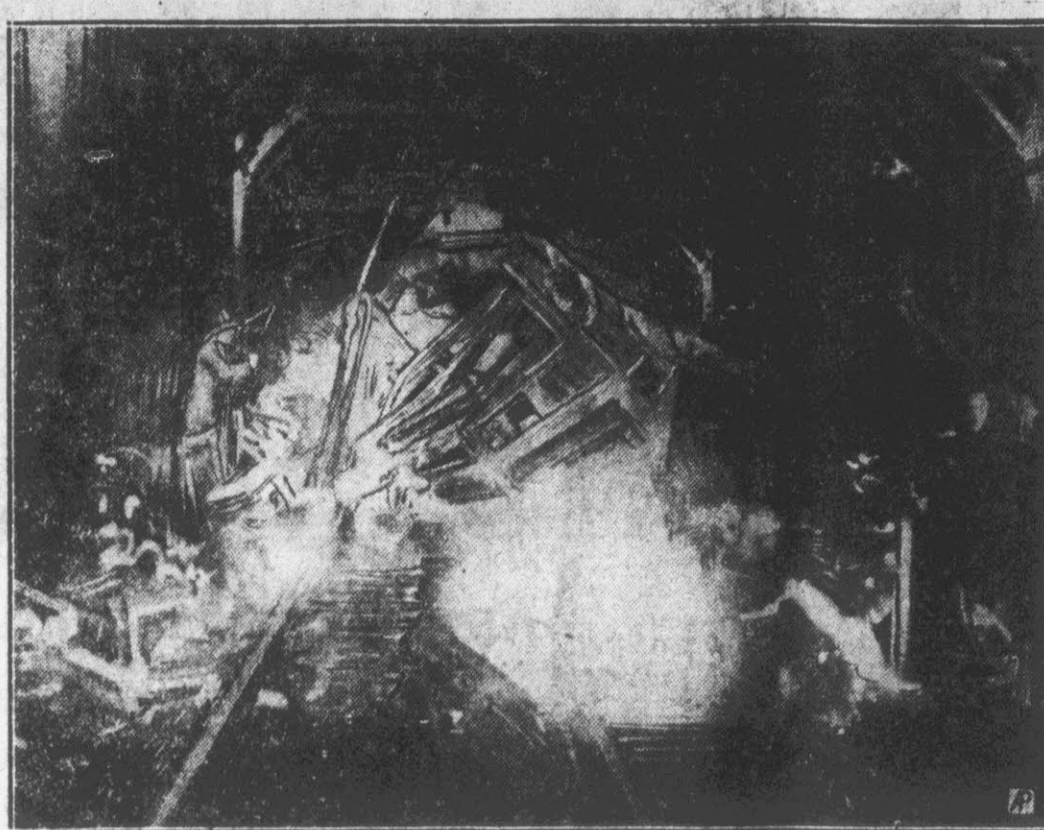

The party, he said, had an honorable record to look back upon in the fight now pending in all sections of the county, and it is the duty of conscientious men and women to give these facts consideration before committing themselves to the issues of this campaign. The unconscionable fight of opposing factions is being pushed forward relentlessly everywhere in America, but despite their efforts right will conquer and truth will stand out more prominently than all else when the final vote has been cast.

W. E. Hooks, chairman of the Democratic executive committee of Pitt county, said this morning that other speakers of note would appear here during the present campaign. He urged people to turn out in large numbers and hear the various issues discussed in an intelligent and informative way by men who know conditions as they actually exist today.

BIG PLANTERS WAREHOUSE IS SET FOR 4TH

New Tobacco Structure to Throw Open Doors at Opening of Market Sept. 4th.

The Planters Warehouse, one of the two new tobacco warehouses, erected in Greenville during the present season, will throw open its doors to the public when the curtain is officially rung up on the Greenville tobacco market September 4th, according to information given out today by officials of the firm.

The structure is one of the finest in the city, being constructed entirely of steel, concrete and brick. It embraces the latest features of fire prevention and is modern in every respect.

This new building has a floor space of 52,800 feet, is centrally located and easily accessible to the hundreds of farmers who sell their products on the Greenville market. The Planters Warehouse will be operated by men who are well informed regarding the tobacco industry. W. J. Hardee will act in the capacity of manager. D. L. Mangum and S. E. Gates will be associated in the operation of the house.

There will be nine warehouses in operation on the Greenville tobacco market this season with a combined floor space of ten acres. The market has set seventy million pounds as its goal, and it is believed by many that this will be reached and possibly exceeded. The goal last season was sixty million pounds, the market going a million pounds beyond the mark.

Tobaccoists have already begun arriving here from other markets and by the opening date, virtually every buying concern in the country will be represented here. Several thousand people are expected to be in attendance at the opening date.

MRS. KELLOGG NOT IN FAVOR OF THE STEPHENS PLAN

Paris, Aug. 27.—(AP)—Mrs. Kellogg does not favor the plan advanced by Doris Stevens, lady Rhonda and other feminist leaders to petition the Kellogg Treaty plenipotentiaries for their aid in furthering the cause of women's rights, says the Paris edition of the New York Herald-Tribune.

"I am, of course, just as much interested in woman's place in politics as is any modern woman," the paper quotes the secretary's wife as saying, "but I do not feel that when fourteen nations send representatives to sign a peace treaty such as the present one, it is decidedly out of place for a group of women to complicate the issue by introducing an entirely extraneous subject."

Brands Report As False.

New York (AP)—Mrs. Charles A. Levine, wife of the first trans-Atlantic air passenger, regards as "absurd" rumors growing out of the sale of their home at public auction. "I have never thought of filing a suit of any kind against Mabel Boll," she says, "she is my very dear friend."

The property at Rockaway, sold by the Levine Corporation, brought $204,650. Mrs. Levine said there was no special significance to the sale.

Treaty Abolishing War Signed At Paris Today

Paris, Aug. 27.—(AP)—The Kellogg-Briand renunciation of war treaty was signed this afternoon by the plenipotentiaries of fifteen nations.

Dr. Gustav Stresemann, the German foreign minister, was the first to sign the document, attaching his signature at 3:45 p. m. (9:45 a. m. eastern standard time).

The Kellogg-Briand treaty condemns recourse to war for the solution of international controversies and the signatory nations renounce it as an instrument of national policy in their relations with one another.

Secretary of State Kellogg was the second to sign the treaty and Foreign Minister Denes of the Czechoslovakia, affixed the first and final signature at 3:55 p. m.

By the pact the fifteen countries renounced war "as an instrument of national policy."

With its signing all the peoples of the world were invited to join in a great effort to achieve permanent universal peace. Soviet Russia being asked to take part through the French government.

The treaty provides that "settlement or solution of all disputes or conflicts, of whatever nature or whatever origin they may be" shall be sought only by pacific means.

The preamble declares that any signatory power which seeks to promote its national interests by resort to war shall be denied the benefits furnished by the treaty, thus if a signatory state resorts to war in violation of the pact, the other contracting parties are released from their obligations under the treaty to that state.

In proposing the treaty, Secretary Kellogg declared it does not restrict or impair in any way the right of self-defense, and does not conflict with the League of Nations covenant since the covenant imposes no affirmative primary obligation to go to war.

Nor does the treaty conflict with the Locarno peace pacts. Mr. Kellogg pointed out. If the parties to the Locarno treaties are under any positive obligations to go to war, he made clear, such obligations certainly would not attach until one of the parties had resorted to war in violation of its solemn pledges under these treaties. And since all the nations signatory to the Locarno treaties also attach their signatures to the new treaty the Locarno treaties could not be violated without also violating the Kellogg-Briand pact.

Paris, Aug. 27.—(AP)—Fourteen leading statesmen of the old and new worlds were assembled in Paris today to consecrate the greatest triumph of peace since the Hague Conference nearly thirty years ago. They were here to sign a treaty evolved by two of their number, Kellogg and Briand—"To render war more difficult."

The magnitude of the act was enhanced by the simplicity of the ceremony arranged, no flights of oratory dimming its impressiveness. The suggestion that one of the visiting statesmen should reply to a few words of welcome by Aristide Briand, French Foreign Minister, was rejected on the grounds that the signature is an act of faith in future peace and no words are necessary to emphasize it.

Gustav Stresemann, German Foreign Minister, had the honor of being the first to sign the treaty, since the signature is by French alphabetical order of the nations. Germany (Allemande) heading the list. The first German cabinet member to come to Paris in 57 years was here despite a long sickness, the evidence of suffering plainly visible in his pale, drawn features.

Frank B. Kellogg, American Secretary of State, here to sign for which he is co-author, insists that chief credit for the accomplishment rightfully belongs to M. Briand whose suggestion on the tenth anniversary of the war led to its consummation. Mr. Kellogg's coming is considered of enormous importance and French newspapers as well as the public have dealt with him as the most outstanding of all the plenipotentiaries assembled in Paris for the occasion.

Secretary Kellogg was awarded second place in the ceremony of signing the pact, his signature in behalf of the United States immediately following that of Stresemann. Representatives of the other thirteen signatory nations were placed in the following order: Belgium, Great Britain and Northern Ireland, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, Ireland, India, Lord Cuthbert signing for King George V. as Emperor of India, Italy, Japan, and Czechoslovakia.

Flags of all nations, including those of the Russian Soviet and Chinese Republics, flew today over the Foreign Office, the scene of the ceremony of signing. It was the first time since 1870 that the flag of Germany was raised there.

Stresemann's visit made a particular appeal to Parisians. He was observed heartily when he left the Foreign Office after a half-hour interview with Briand, all that his doctors would permit.

Commenting on Stresemann's visit, the Foreign editor of Le Journal says: "Stresemann did not lack excellent reasons for sending someone else in his place. He wished to come, however, in spite of the adverse advice of his physicians and in spite of resistance from nationalist circles. His perspicacity and keen sense of reality discerned an advantage that would accrue to his country. This representative of a nation which for generations has been the prototype of aggressive militarism is the first to consecrate renunciation of brute force."

MOSCOW TO INVITE EDISON TO BIG TOLSTOY JUBILEE
Moscow, Aug. 27.—(AP)—The Tolstoy jubilee committee has decided to cable invitations to Thomas A. Edison and Fridtjof Nansen to attend the Tolstoy week festivities from September 10 to 17.

Edison always has been a warm admirer to Tolstoy's works, having presented the writer with a phonograph shortly after he invented that machine.

During Tolstoy week the Russian people celebrate the anniversary of the sage's birth in various ways, including lectures and showing of films depicting episodes of his life.

Marion Talley Returns.
New York.—(AP)—Marion Talley, whose golden voice has made her wealthy, is back from abroad and had to pay only $7.60 as duty on her purchases. Customs inspectors apparently had thought she would have much more, for they searched her twelve pieces of luggage diligently but found only a $25 shawl. The opera star said that diet had nothing to do with an increased slowness her friends noted.

GANGS KILL ANOTHER AT CHICAGO, ILL.

Two Bombs and One Killing Reported In City During Last 24 Hours.

Chicago, Aug. 27.—(AP)—Vacation is over for Chicago's bad men. Within a 24-hour period ended at 4 o'clock this morning they had thrown two bombs—one of which rocked the loop—and shot a man dead.

The man killed was Benjamin Benjamin, 33, owner and manager of the Standard Amusement Company operating a carnival on the North Side. Robbers in an automobile stopped the machine in which Benjamin was riding and shot him down when they thought he intended to resist. They escaped with a pouch containing $704 in coin. Other receipts of the company had been taken to Benjamin's hotel a few minutes earlier.

The first bombing wrecked the front of the two-story brick plant in which is published the Star, at Chicago Heights. Windows of the business district of the suburb were shattered for a block around. This bombing was attributed by King Williams, editor of the Star, to the newspaper's editorial warfare against gamblers.

"Gangsters have climaxed a series of lawless acts in the attempt to suppress publicity of underworld activities in Chicago Heights," Williams said. "This latest outrage is characteristic of the utter disregard the criminal element has for law and order."

The downtown Chicago bombing was at 218-220 North Clark street, just outside the loop and within a block of the hotel Sherman, many of whose guests were aroused by the report. The building bombed is used as an employment agency on the second floor, while on the street floor it is occupied by a saloon.

Levine Undecided About His Flight Across Atlantic

London, Aug. 27.—(AP)—Charles A. Levine, who flew to London from Dessau, Germany, stated today that he was undecided whether to attempt a flight to America.

His decision will depend on "conditions and circumstances," he said, especially on how his new Junkers monoplane performs in the trials he is putting it through at the Croydon aerodrome.

"Yes, I'll take Miss Boll, if the trial flights show we can carry her," Levine said, in response to a query as to whether Mabel Boll would accompany him in case he made the trip.

LANIER TAKES COMMAND OF LOCAL TROOPS

Mayor Accepts Captaincy of Military Unit Following Return From Bragg.

Mayor J. C. Lanier today became Captain and commander of Battery E, local unit of the 115th field artillery of the North Carolina National guards, succeeding former Chief of Police Lester Jones, who resigned recently to become head of the police department at Washington, N. C. Mayor Lanier's new duties became effective last night at 12 o'clock.

Battery E returned yesterday from a ten day encampment at Fort Bragg. As on previous occasions of this kind, they won considerable recognition for their appearance on dress parade and also in the firing of high explosive shells. Only one other company closely approached the record in this particular field of activities.

All of the boys showed up to good advantage when they stepped from the train here yesterday afternoon. Tanned and hardened of muscle from exposure to the burning sun rays at Fort Bragg, the youngsters looked like seasoned veterans as they filed down Dickinson avenue to receive their discharge at the Fifth street armory.

Virtually all of the members agreed that they had a good time although none attempted to deny that training assumed strenuous proportions at times. The unit was one of the youngest in training this year, and their youth and ability to keep pace with the more seasoned artillerymen won hearty commendation from the lips of higher officials.

Prior to the troops enfilading Fort Bragg yesterday, Captain Jones was presented a silver cigarette lighter by members of the company.

On his return to the capital, Curtis will go by Harrisburg, Pa., where he has been invited by the National Grange to talk at a picnic of Pennsylvania farmers on Thursday. Again the farm situation will probably be discussed in this appearance.

Nex week, Senator Curtis will go into New England with addresses planned for Massachusetts and Maine.

Texas Pledges His Support To Gov. Al Smith

Dallas, Tex., Aug. 27.—(AP)—Congressman Tom Connally, nominated for United States Senator in the Texas Democratic run-off primary Saturday, today pledged his support to Governor Alfred E. Smith in a message of thanks to the voters. He also declared he stood squarely on the Houston platform.

Connally defeated Senator Ben Mayfield, incumbent, by more than 50,000 votes.

Senator Mayfield had the support of his old enemy James E. Ferguson, former governor, whom he defeated for the Senatorial nomination six years ago. Ferguson had campaigned for Col. Alvin Owsley, past National Commander of the American Legion in the first primary, but changed his support to the Mayfield when Owsley failed to enter the run-off.

Senator Mayfield said he would issue a statement late today.

R. Q. Lee, Cisco, was nominated to succeed Congressman Tom Blanton. Blanton was a candidate for the senatorial nomination, but was eliminated in the first primary. Lee's lead over Oscar Calloway, Comanche, was more than 5,000 votes.

POLICE HELP SEARCH FOR C. S. CARNES

Missing Treasurer of the Baptist Mission Board Still Unreported Today.

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 27.—(AP)—Police today took a hand in the search for C. S. Carnes, missing treasurer of the home mission board of the Southern Baptist convention, when detectives were detailed to trace the movements of the wealthy business man from the time he left his office August 15, ostensibly to catch a train to Raleigh, N. C.

The theory that he might not have left Atlanta at all had been adopted by police as a basis on which to work.

In the meantime, Dr. D. B. Gray, president of the home mission board, was acting treasurer, and announced that as soon as an audit being made of the board's books is completed, another meeting of the executive board will be held to determine what further action it will take in the matter.

At the same time, Sam Carnes, elder son of the missing man, had taken over direction of the large holdings of his father.

That Mr. Carnes had been missing since August 15 was made public known Saturday when the home mission board appealed to newspapers to aid in a nation-wide search for him.

According to members of his family and business associates, Mr. Carnes told his wife on the morning of his disappearance that he might have to go to Raleigh later in the day on business of the home mission board.

At 5 o'clock in the afternoon he called home to leave word for his wife that he was leaving for Raleigh at 6 o'clock and that he "might have to go to Boston."

From 5 o'clock until nearly six, it has been learned, he attended a directors meeting of one of the companies in which he was interested and remarked at that meeting that he was going to Raleigh that night.

When, on August 20 he had not returned and pressing business matters demanded his attention here, members of his family tried to locate him at Raleigh and learned that he had not been seen there by business men he was to have met.

Subsequent calls to points in the east failed to shed light on his whereabouts.

Police said today that no trains leave here at 6 p. m. destined for North Carolina.

BIG DOCKET IN CRIMINAL COURT HERE

Session Opened This Morning With the Charge of Judge R. A. Nunn, New Bern.

A one week session of Pitt county Superior Court, for the trial of criminal cases, convened in this city this morning with Judge R. A. Nunn, New Bern, presiding and Solicitor D. M. Clark, prosecuting.

The term is one of the most congested in months and contains quite a number of cases of more or less interest to people in all sections of the county.

The opening session today was consumed in selection of the grand jury and Judge Nunn's charge. Judge Nunn spoke briefly of the need for law enforcement, and outlined the various laws which are being more frequently violated. He told the members of the grand jury of the obligations as citizens, and as members of the jury, and urged them to give careful consideration of every issue that came under their observation.

The grand jury is composed of the following: T. G. Mills, Matthew Sermons, T. P. Ellis, D. C. Ross, C. L. Bowen, J. T. McLawhorn, J. A. Stocks, B. M. Lewis, J. D. Cannon, W. D. Cox, E. A. Stanfield, W. S. Lewis, W. J. Coward, L. T. Pierce, J. O. Causey, J. W. E. Elks, M. A. Woolard and M. A. Woodard.

Negro Slayer Is Arrested

Jackson, Miss., Aug. 27.—A negro slayer was in custody of police here today because he read in the papers that his mother was in jail and he wanted "to see about her."

The negro, Silas Richardson, was captured yesterday in Bay St. Louis, nearly two weeks after he had killed one man and seriously wounded the Bay St. Louis chief of police when they entered his cell to search him for a key to an automobile he was charged with stealing.

When the men, John Dambrino, garage employer, and Chief of Police Mark Oliver entered the cell the negro whipped out a revolver and shot Dambrino through the head, killing him instantly, and then wounded Oliver in the head and neck.

A break for liberty was successful and the negro remained at large while bosses and blood hounds searched vainly for him in the neighborhood of Bay St. Louis until yesterday.

After his escape he went to New Orleans on a freight train and lived there under his own name until Saturday night when he returned to Bay St. Louis to see about his mother. A neighbor saw him yesterday and informed the sheriff. He was captured without difficulty.

Feeling against the negro was running high and he was brought here by way of New Orleans for safe keeping. He will be kept here until the grand jury acts on the case.

AMELIA EARHART BECOMES AN EDITOR
New York, Aug. 27.—(AP)—Amelia Earhart, first woman to fly across the Atlantic, has been appointed an associate editor of Cosmopolitan magazine. She will conduct a monthly department dealing with current developments in aviation, both as a sport and a career.

Those who see in the Pact opportunity to forward the cause of economic reforms have added their voices to the swelling anthem of comment which has run the gamut from downright criticism to paeans of praise.

Viscount Uchida of Japan, said that the Pact was "a new stage in an era of durable and universal peace," and France, the British Empire, Germany, Italy, Poland and other signatory countries, have praised it.

In the background of much of this antiphonal sound has been the coming meetings in Geneva of first, the Council, and then the full assembly of the League of Nations. Disarmament is one of the chief subjects for discussion there.

Distrust was voiced by Jugoslavian sources of the change in government in Albania where Ahmed Zog has been slated to resign the Presidency and accept a throne under the title of Scanderberg III. A fine Italian hand has been seen in this change by the Belgrade government.

Jugoslavia's internal troubles have been accentuated by open defiance of the Belgrade government by a parliament of separatists who favor complete autonomy for the Western Provinces of the Kingdom.

A cabinet split threatens Bulgaria because France and England recently joined in a protest against the activities of the Macedonian revolutionaries.

Greece, which will be the only Balkan Republic when Albania is made a monarchy, silenced for a time at least, the voices of Royalists who hoped some day to recall King George. Full returns of the election there showed full enforcement of Eleutherios Venizelos who made his return to politics on a platform demanding stifling of the Royalist propaganda.

Jones Delivers Stiring Sermon at Court House

(By W. M. HINTON)

Rev. H. Frederick Jones conducted the last open air meeting of the season on the court house green last night.

His sermon was great in conception, great in preparation and superlatively great in delivery. It thrilled the vast audience that hung in breathless eagerness upon his utterances. And many were the congratulations he received. It was a fitting and beautiful climax to the series of sermons that had preceded. It will linger long in the minds and hearts of his hearers and under the blessing of God will produce much good fruit.

Rev. Jones is highly imaginative, dramatic and eloquent. He is not bound by any iron-clad rules of sermonizing but strikes out on an independent line governing himself by what he conceives to be the demands of the hour.

Possessing a magnetic personality, a splendid voice and a rich vocabulary, he never fails to delight.

Announce Change In Hunting Laws. At a recent meeting of the Board of Conservation and Development there was a number of changes made in the North Carolina game law on open seasons for game.

The open season on squirrels is now from October 1st to January 15th.

On deer there is a closed season in the state on deer for five years, the open season on bucks is from October 1st to February 1st.

In case of controversy, the burden of proof is on the hunter to prove that he killed a buck.

The open season on turkeys is from December 1st to February 1st.

The state license fee has been changed from $5.25 to $3.25, county licenses will cost the same as last season.

F. E. Brooks of Bethel, has been appointed game warden for Pitt county, and persons wishing information on the game laws or interested in their enforcement should get in touch with Mr. Brooks.

President Doing Some Lake Fishing. Superior, Wis., Aug. 26—(AP)—Contemplating with dismay the rapid approach of August 31, when the trout fishing season will close in Wisconsin, President Coolidge is taking a condensed course of lake fishing lessons from those about him who are conversant with that sport.

Faced with the prohibition to indulge further in the pastime which has taken up every available minute since his arrival in Wisconsin, Mr. Coolidge was represented by his angling associates as concerned lest his time should hang heavy on his hands for the rest of his vacation.

Determination to acquire enough knowledge of lake fishing to be able to turn it if he should later so desire, was reached by Mr. Coolidge as a result of invitations which have been pouring on him to come to this lake or that. Hans Fubly, Deputy United States Marshal for the Western District of Wisconsin, informed the Chief Executive that he was holding several magnificent muskellunge ready to let in a lake the day Mr. Coolidge should feel inclined to go after them.

The Chief Executive turned to thoughts of fishing today with increased zest after an intensive study yesterday and the day before of War Department problems with Major General Summerall, chief of staff.

Three Billion Dollars Moved. New York—(AP)—Workers in New York's financial district, who know a great deal about money, have just learned that $3,000,000,000 in cash and securities was moved through the streets in broad daylight without their knowledge. The fortune was that of the Chase National Bank and its customers, going five blocks to the bank's new home in armored cars.

Rev. James R. Tingle, of Ayden, N. C., died Saturday, June 24th, in the 70th year of his age. He leaves a wife, three sons, one brother and one sister to mourn their loss. He was buried Sunday afternoon in the Ayden cemetery. Many folks from the Eastern section of the State attended.

Mr. Tingle had been a minister in the Church of Christ (Disciples) for more than 40 years. He was held in high esteem by his brethren throughout the State. Twelve or more of his minister friends attended the funeral, which was conducted by Rev. W. H. Brunson, of Ayden, assisted by Rev. C. W. Howard, of Kinston.

The many lovely floral designs, from far and near, spoke beautifully of the high esteem in which Mr. Tingle was held throughout the churches of the State.

Place the bacon in a frying pan. When hot, add the onions, green peppers and rice. Cook, stirring frequently, until well browned. Add the rest of the ingredients and cook slowly until thick. It will require about ten minutes to thicken.

Neapolitan Salad. (This is nutritious for the children.) 2 cups chopped or shredded lettuce; 2-3 cup diced pineapple; 1-2 teaspoon salt; 1-4 teaspoon pepper; 2-3 cup diced marshmallows; 1-2 cup salad dressing.

Chill the ingredients. Combine and serve.

Spice Cake. (The rich spicy flavor makes a tempting cake.) 1-2 cup fat; 1 1-2 cups dark brown sugar; 2 eggs; 1 teaspoon vanilla; 2 teaspoons cinnamon; 1-2 teaspoon cloves; 1-4 teaspoon allspice; 1-4 teaspoon salt; 1 cup milk or water; 2 teaspoons baking powder; 2 1-2 cups flour.

move or stir for 25 minutes. Add the vanilla and beat until soft and creamy. Frost the cake.

Rice should be cooked in swiftly boiling water for 20 minutes. For 2 cups of boiled rice, cook 1 cup of rice in 2 quarts of water to which 1 teaspoon of salt has been added. When the rice is done, pour through a strainer and rinse thoroughly with cold water. This removes the excess starch which is liable to give it a sticky appearance and taste.

Brown sugar frostings and candies curdle during the cooking due to the acid present in the sugar. The curds do no harm and may be beaten out. If the curds are quite noticeable, 1-8 teaspoon of soda may be added when the frosting is ready to be beaten.

A moment's reflection will at once make clear why such seemingly trivial promises must be kept. If they are not the child is made needlessly unhappy. Each time his parents fail him, his faith in their fairness is further undermined. Finally he will grow up to be a person who fails to keep his word in really big matters, just as his parents failed to keep theirs in the little ones that were so big to him.

If parents do keep faith with the child he is spared many of the needless frustrations of childhood;

Guiding Your Child

KEEPING PROMISES By MRS. AGNES LYNE

Every business man knows that when he gives his word he must keep it or forfeit the respect and good will of his associates.

But grown-ups who most rigidly adhere to promises made to their contemporaries, think nothing of breaking promises made to their children.

Yet the word given to a child should be considered just as binding as that given to a friend or associate.

If father has said, "We are going to the park today and we'll see the lion in the zoo", then he really must show him that lion. If mother has said, "Tomorrow at the picnic we'll fry bacon on sticks", then no matter what else there may be to eat there must certainly be bacon fried on sticks.

When a child has been told that he can spend the money he saved for anything he likes, chooses to buy a bowl of goldfish, he must be allowed to bring it home and keep it, even though it may be a good deal in the way.

Parents do keep faith with the child he is spared many of the needless frustrations of childhood;

ABOUT TOWN

"The State Highway commission will not go a miss by leaving the old river bridge intact after completion of the new bridge," asserted a well known business man today speaking of the great hardship that would result to the community from destruction of the old structure.

"With the busiest season of the year upon us, it would be unwise indeed to begin immediately tearing down the old river bridge with approaches to the new bridge uncompleted.

"The would result in inestimable loss to the community. It is to be hoped the Highway commission will give the matter the serious consideration of which the issue is so deserving. They would receive the deep appreciation of the community by so doing."

"With the Wilmington Pirates giving them a fairly close race for first place, the Goldsboro club of the Eastern Carolina league will fight stubbornly during this week to hold the place in the standing of clubs and win the pennant of the new league," remarked an enthusiastic follower of baseball activities.

"The Pirates have been hanging on persistently to second place for quite a while now and their fight to gain first place has commanded attention of the whole league."

"Greenville is so far out of the race for first place that the only thing left for her is to keep the cellar as comfortable as possible until the curtain is rung down on the 1928 season."

"When people come to Greenville give them a cordial welcome and make them feel perfectly at home," advised a member of the Merchants association today.

"Nothing means more to success of a town than showing an interest in the people who visit it from time to time during the year. Let them know you are made of the same clay, interested in the same things, and you can rest assured they will go away with words of praise on their lips."

"Greenville is growing by leaps and bounds now but this growth may be made more rapid and permanent by careful consideration of the hundreds of people who visit us in the course of a year."

"That was the slickest little thief I have seen in many a day," declared Sheriff S. A. Whitehurst today commenting on a youngster brought back to Greenville to face charges of larceny of two automobiles, a supply of meat and goodness knows what all.

"After the kid stole the first automobile, he was arrested. An officer started back to Greenville with him, but the boy hopped off the train from Farmville and escaped. A few days later he disappeared with another automobile. We have him in the lock-up now and hope to keep him there until some disposition is made of his case."

The Reflector is the county seat newspaper of Pitt. It has chronicled the happenings of this community for forty odd years, giving as best it could, thing it thought would be of interest and of a constructive nature to the citizenship of this great agricultural region.

If you happen to know of anything you think would be of interest to the locality in which you reside, let us know about it. We try to keep our fingers on the public pulse at all times, but it is absolutely impossible to get every little happening without the assistance of citizens interested in the development of the county as we are.

Cast your eyes about you, Mr. Reader. If you see or hear of anything of a news nature, don't forget your county seat paper—the medium that has been promoting the welfare of the community a long time.

"That's all right. You wouldn't put it in the paper about my going out of town yesterday," chided one of the friends of the writer this morning.

He didn't really mean what he said, but just for the sake of showing he had not been forgotten, the happening was mentioned in the issue today.

We like to keep in touch with the movements of Greenville and Pitt county People. That's what we are in the newspaper business for. Therefore, if you plan going somewhere and have reason to think we don't know anything about it, why not get in touch with the office at once and tell us where you are going, what you are going to do, who is going with you, how long you plan to stay, and any other fact you think would be of interest to your friends.

If you fail to see your name in print after doing something that should be published, please don't hesitate letting us know about it. We can't get everything—that is realized—but we do want to get as much as possible.

Keep this fact in mind, Mr. Reader, and give us a hunch the next time you do something of a news nature.

A WASHINGTON BYSTANDER

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON

Washington, (AP)—Despite the vast, complicated, interlocking machinery of government in Washington which is supposed to tuck in all loose ends on government jobs, legislative or executive, there are two clear cut recent cases that prove the government still moves steady-by-jerks at times. This refers to no great consequence and involving no controversy; not to conflicting views.

Present day passersby along West Executive avenue, which flanks the White House grounds on the sun-down side, are prone to wonder in what recent revolution the White House was under gunfire, unreported by the press, where West Exhibition enforcement whirlpools of cultive debauches on Pennsylvania avenue, massive granite pillars from which gates designed to secure a greater presidential exclusiveness once hung. The pillars are now scarred with what might well be shell holes, gaping in cynical disrespect at the fine old gardens, the trim lawns, carefully kept pathways and general conditions of order and sightliness that surround them.

Job Half Finished.

What has happened is this: Congress donated the handsome old iron gates to the Ohio State Historical society for use in a suitable memorial out where so many presidents were born. Funds to take down and ship the iron work were provided, actually because District authorities wanted to open West Executive for an additional traffic lane to ease the vehicular jams to which Washington is painfully subject.

The gates have gone; but Congress did not furnish funds to remove the five foot square, fifteen-foot high granite posts which still are scarred, unsightly traffic corks in the neck of the West Executive avenue bottle.

The other case had a peculiarly personal aspect for Major General B. Frank Chatham, quartermaster general of the army and a son of an illustrious Confederate general. It was his job to carry out the decree of Congress for removal of a Confederate monument in an Indianapolis cemetery, marking the graves of 1,616 Confederate soldiers who died as prisoners of war in the Union prison camp there, to Garfield Memorial park in the same city. But Congress again failed to make a complete job of it and provided no authority or funds to transfer the dust of the southern veterans or to remake their graves beneath the shifted monument.

Air Rivalry.

Ever since creation of the air assistant secretaries in the war and navy departments there has been a sort of flying rivalry in progress between not only the air secretaries, Davison and Warner, but also involving the regular assistant secretaries, Robbins and Robinson. It was particularly in evidence when "Jack" MacNider was assistant secretary of war, preceding Robbins, and vied mightily with his air colleague, Trubee Davison, as to who was going to pile up the greatest air mileage in official jaunting about the land. All of them experienced the usual minor air mishaps at times, but it built man, to stumble while being remained for Robbins, a heavily-laden seats in a big army transport plane recently and crack a rib or two and a collar bone. When former Secretary MacNider saw a press account of his successor's mishap, he hastened to a telegraph office and shot a message of sympathy, tagged with this highly MacNideresque finish: "Stick to mild liquor and quit weaving around."

A NEW YORKER AT LARGE

By G. D. SEYMOUR

New York—Window displays of equipment like Comm. Richard E. Byrd is taking to the Antarctic via popularity as the vanguard of the most of current interest in the debarcation.

By the time the commander himself sails, the advertising columns will be heralding the brands of wares chosen for his expedition, from tractors to toothbrushes. Almost $450,000 worth of equipment has been given by manufacturers to the venture, in return for which the donor companies can advertise that their products are being taken on the Byrd Antarctic Expedition. They may not say that Commander Byrd is endorsing the goods personally, for he is giving no testimonials. He is accepting proffered stores which he needs, after expert advisers have found them suitable.

The public will be told what the supply ship, what kind of cough drops—six thousand packages of them—will bring balm to sore throats in Antarctica; what five-cent vestpocket edition of the classics will make up 1,280 volumes of the expedition's library.

Byproduct Of Fame.

As the time of his departure draws near, Byrd is besieged with invitations and requests for interviews from folk wholly unknown to him. A corps of buffers intercepts them and rejects most.

There is the budding writer, sure that success will be his if he can indite his own impressions of the commander; the man who would play host to Byrd at luncheon or dinner or for a weekend so that friends might meet his distinguished guest; the folk who have what they deem vital advice, or who want to report some omen, or merely to convey personally their good wishes. Mothers want his advice about choosing a vocation for a son who won't take an interest in school-work, or seek an audience for a child who has written a poem about the voyage and wants to recite it in return for an autographed picture. The commander is among the most gracious of men, but he has long since turned over to his aides all such requests.

Unlisted Passenger.

In the journal records the expedition's personnel, noting, even the identification marks of each member of the crew, is not listed one of the most active of the travelers, answering to the name of Iglo. He is a native of Brooklyn and the commander's personal mascot—a four-year-old fox terrier.

Iglo has been Byrd's since some sailors brought him aboard a vessel on which Byrd was a visitor at the Brooklyn navy yard several years ago. The dog went as far as Spitzbergen when Byrd flew to the North Pole, and will go this time as far as the Byrd base on the edge of Antarctica. Iglo is an able seaman, but has yet to win his spurs in the air, for which he has indicated no marked fondness.

A Hen Keeps On Scratching Even If Worms Are Scarce

THEN WHY SHOULD A MERCHANT STOP ADVERTISING WHEN BUSINESS IS DULL?

As you desire and expect the continual, all-year-round patronage of the people of your sales community, just that much you should continue, in season and out of season, your cordial invitation—your advertising—to these customers that they do continue to patronize your store and buy your goods.

If you use only the Christmas and New Years greetings as the limit of your invitation for patronage and for presenting your goods to the public, how can you consistently kick if the community folks read the merchandise offerings in the catalogs and give the mail-order houses their patronage throughout the year, and when they do see your invitation for patronage in the home paper along about Christmas time, patronize you at that time with but a dollar or so purchase?

One is as consistent as the other. Make your invitations for their patronage so cordial, the descriptions of the goods so alluring, the quality of the offering so high that a gallon of gasoline spent in reaching your store is an investment to them, not an expense.

High sounding words do not alone sell goods. Establish a character for your store—the words of your advertising are truthful, the quality of the goods are dependable—the buying public of your sales territory will have confidence in what you tell them and will know that you are offering the very best merchandise at the lowest possible price.

Do not lose sight of the fact that all men and women love a bargain. And it is also true that a bargain is not always gauged by the price tag. Just as it is harder to get a purchaser for goods from an unknown firm, just that much easier it is to sell merchandise in a store Advertising has made popular.

The more you advertise your store the more popular it will become with the buying public. The more popular your store the more you turn your goods over and the oftener your turn-over, the greater your profits.

Profit by the HEN. Worm or no worm, she scratches. Business or no business, ADVERTISE

LOCALS DROP FINAL GAME TO GOLDBUGS

Carver, doing the mound work for Goldsboro, was too good for Greenville today, and the Manufacturers scored a 3 to 0 victory.

Until the ninth inning the locals had secured but four hits off Carver. In that frame, with two down, the home team attempted to score with two successive singles, but Mattox ended the affair by lining out to first.

"Deacon Joliff" pitched ordinarily winning ball and kept the hits well scattered except in one frame when two doubles accounted for the visitors first run. Hamel led the Goldbugs with the stick, securing three hits, one of which was a circuit clout.

YOUNG PACIFIC COAST STAR WILL GO TO MAJOR LEAGUE

BRUCE CUNNINGHAM
Los Angeles

GORDON RHODES

SNED JOLLEY
San Francisco

NORV HUNTER

Several Pacific Coast players of 1928 prominence will be keeping the bench warm and doing other minor chores around the big leagues next spring. Pitchers Rhodes, Hollywood and Cunningham, Los Angeles, are due to go up and so is outfielder Jolley, San Francisco.

By VICTOR G. SIDLER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Los Angeles.—(AP)—An active market for Pacific Coast league ball players, with the major leagues starting up the buying rumpus, appears in the offing.

Nearly every one of the eight clubs in the coast organization has one or more stars toward whom teams under the "big tent" have turned a reckoning eye, or have been objects of recommendation for major league berths.

In many cases the "stars" just this season flashed into the baseball heavens, but their play has been of such quality that their names have been placed on the diamond mart.

One such prospect is Gordon Rhodes, whose unerring right hand has speeded him to the forefront of coast league moundsmen, although this is his first year in professional baseball. Rhodes, former University of Utah player, was signed for the Hollywood club by Bill Essick, scout for the Yankees, and it is reported here, the New York club intends making out a purchase tag for him.

Among the Hollywood stars is another good looking, Johnny Kerr, second baseman, who has been the object of much attention from Steven O'Rourke, Boston Red scout. Kerr is subject to draft and may be taken for the $5,000.

Scout Patsy Flaherty of the Chicago Cubs has recommended his team purchase outfielder Walter Berger from the Los Angeles club, but leave him on the coast for another year's polish. Berger is also a Utah-Idaho league product playing his first season here.

Flaherty likewise has recommended that his club exercise its $20,000 option on Bruce Cunningham, youthful right handed pitcher.

Intensely oiled is the San Francisco outfielder—Sned Jolley, fence buster of right field. Roy Johnson, out in left, and Earl Averill, center gardner. Jolley who is a six-footer and weighs 200 pounds, heads the league's hitting list with a string of more than 30 homers that has won the title of the Babe Ruth of the Coast, for him. He batted .397 to lead the league last year and is again hovering around the .400 mark.

The Oakland club will send Lyn Lary, shortstop and Jimmy Reese, second sacker, to the Yankees at the close of the season. They were sold last year for $145,000 for delivery in 1929. Oakland's place in the percentage column has kept the pair from showing the brilliance of last year but the club owners say they have not shown any signs of slipping.

On the same roster are Howard Craghead, right handed hurler who has been recommended to Pittsburgh and Pete Daglia who has shown unusual promise.

Art Rubie, Seattle outfielder who was with Detroit last season has attracted considerable attention from the majors and Bill Klepper, club owner, expects to trade him for players to bolster his team for the near coast league contest.

BEGIN TALK ABOUT GRID DAYS AHEAD

By HORACE C. RENEGAR
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 27.—(AP)—The hard rocks of football, the give and take boys in the line, may not be so experienced when the southern conference gets underway next month, but most coaches will at least be shown a casual glance up and down the conference which discloses most of the 22 institutions have turned to the line for captains which would indicate the respect to be anticipated by ambitious opponents in mid-season.

Although virtually every coach in the conference will have to rebuild the first line defense, all have a nucleus somewhat in the wall to construct around. These veteran pillars—Hardy tackles and immovable Guards—although possibly not so plentiful as a year ago when Bowdoin of Alabama, Smith of Georgia, Thompson of Mississippi, A. & M. Cardwell of Virginia, and many others were at top form, should at least balance the line until the less experienced men can be made ready.

Probably the hardest hit line in the conference was that of Tennessee, where Butcher, Barnhill, McKee and McArthur, all stars, were lost through graduation.

Virginia Military Institute, losing Thornhill, Ruth, O'Berry and others; Washington and Lee with Spotts gone among others; Vanderbilt minus Sharp; Dye, Bowdoin and several more apparently away from Alabama, for the year, all will have almost entire lines to replace. Georgia, although losing both ends Shiver and Nash, in addition to Smith at guard will have Alutze, entheiser and Jacobson back on the front wall.

Good tackles seem in greatest number while the pre-season speculation brings up a dearth of outstanding ends.

Smith, of Alabama, Van Sickle and Stanley, of Florida, Sapp, of North Carolina, Filippin, of Virginia, Waddey of Georgia Tech, Abernathy, of Vanderbilt, and Goodwin of North Carolina State are among the flank men expected to step to the fore in early games. All of these men gave satisfactory account of themselves last season although Striver, Nash, Creson, Crowley, and one or two others outshined them. Many of the coaches are looking to unknowns for flank stars during the coming campaign.

At tackles, Bailey of Virginia Poly, Luke of Virginia, Hagler of Alabama, Lautzenheiser of Georgia, Carter of Auburn, Rucker, of Tulane, Dees of Kentucky, Tinsley, of Louisiana State and Van of Ole Miss, are some of the outstanding veterans expected back to the scene.

Guards should number, among many others, Jackson, of Georgia, Watkins of Georgia Tech, Bruton, of Sewanee, Tripp of Tennessee, and Vaughan and Ford, of North Carolina State.

Harry Schwartz, of North Carolina, Peter Pund, of Georgia Tech, and Pressley, of Clemson, are rated by critics throughout the conference as the best center prospects. All were considered generally of all-southern calibre last season, playing rings around most of the as AelwmbBshrdlu shrdlu mfwyp w opposing pivot men.

LAZZERI OUT FOR REST OF THE SEASON

New York, Aug. 27.—(AP)—More gnashing of teeth in the camp of the New York Yankees! Tony Lazzeri, hard hitting, agile fielding second baseman of the champions, may play no more baseball this season.

Tony suffered a muscle injury in his shoulder during the Yankee's last disastrous invasion of the west and has been in only a few games since.

Roper Not to Fight Stribling

Charlotte, N. C., Aug. 27.—(AP)—Tom Roper and "Young" Stribling scheduled for a boxing match here Monday night, will not fight. Roper today notified Hugh Martin, matchmaker, that he would not enter the ring. Martin had already forwarded transportation to Roper and had his contract.

Martin announced he planned to match "Kay" Dugan with either Tommy Stone of Detroit, or Soldier Deprait, of Fort Benning, for Monday if possible. A battle between two of these men was scheduled here for Labor Day.

Asheville Away In The Lead in South Atlantic

With South Atlantic Association teams coming down the home stretch, Asheville is in front by something like eleven and a half games.

The Tourists have shown little desire to relax from their strenuous policy of winning ball games and last week came through with six victories in seven starts—the second six day period in succession that they have hung up such a record.

Greenville, Champions for 1927, but not so fortunately located this season, supplied the only defeat administered, the Skylanders by taking the second game of Saturday's double header.

An average of 306, the highest team batting mark in the circuit, is one big reason for the success of Ray Kennedy's understudies. The veteran manager is blazing the way at bat himself, boasting a .355 mark to lead his team and claim third place honors for the entire league.

Felber of Knoxville, is the actual leader with .735 pointing to his ability.

Pitcher Spenger of Columbia, pitched a seven inning no hit game against Charlotte Saturday in the game producing the best mound work of the week. Poetz, Horriet hurler, allowed only three safeties but was beaten, 2 to 0, by the Comers.

With the National League's fifth inter-sectional series virtually over the four western contenders now can begin cutting each other's throats while the New York Giants, wrathful over their recent beatings at Cincinnati and Pittsburgh, seek to visit their vengeance on the more or less helpless east.

It's no secret that John McGraw hopes to win the pennant just by these means. While the Reds, Pirates, Cardinals and Cubs are invading it out west of the Alleghenies, McGraw hopes to get the Giants into first place, a strategic spot from which to view the third and final western invasion of the east, beginning September 14.

In theory this is a good scheme. But John didn't start out very well yesterday. The giants were out-gamed by the Brooklyn Dodgers, 4 to 3. Del Bissonette picking the 19th inning as the spot for his 20th home run of the season.

Before Young Carl Hubbell, in a moment of weakness, grooved the ball for Miesou Del, the Giants did the best they could to present the game to the Robins in regulation innings. Andy Cohen and Travis Jackson threw in errors at moments extremely inopportune for Mr. Hubbell who saw a well-pitched seven hit game get away from him. It was the Giant's fourth straight reverse and their sixth in seven starts.

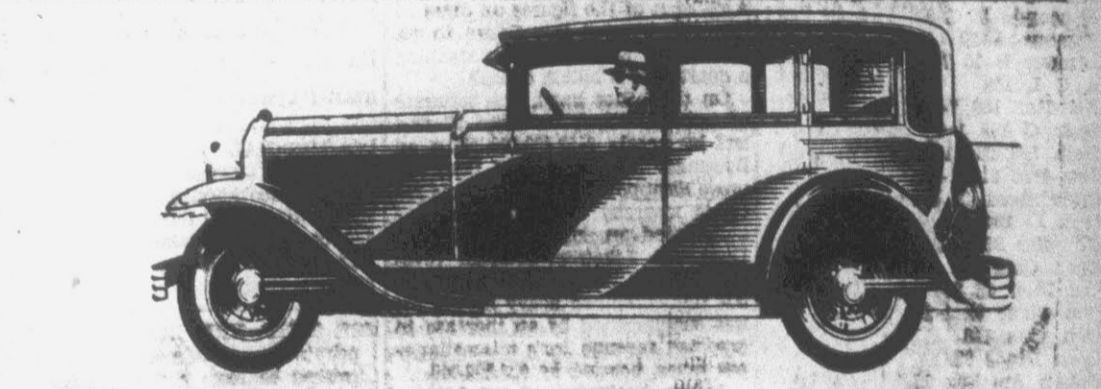

The defeat was all the more costly for McGraw in that the St. Louis Cardinals, themselves buffeted around in recent weeks, again trimmed the helpless Phillies, 6 to 1, and lengthened their league lead to three and a half games over the Giants and the Chicago Cubs.

The Cubs, defeating the Boston Braves, 6-3, for the fourth straight time, moved up to within five percentage points of the Giants.

Finding their hold on fourth place rather insecure, the Cincinnati Reds downed the Pittsburgh Pirates, 4 to 3 and thus put two full games between themselves and the 1927 pennant winners.

Washington defeated Cleveland, 6 to 1, in the only American league engagement of the day.

BEDLAM IN TIMES SQUARE AFTER SUBWAY CRASH

Scene in Times Square as ambulances carried away dead and injured following disastrous rush hour subway crash at center of New York's underground transit system. Hundreds of police reserves were required to keep crowds back after the crash.

NEW ARREST EXPECTED IN TRAIN WRECK

Several Witnesses to Be Questioned in Subway Wreck at N. Y. Today.

New York, Aug. 27.—(AP)—A second arrest appeared probable today in the investigation of the Times Square subway wreck which caused sixteen deaths.

District Attorney Jacob Banton summoned several witnesses to his office today for questioning. "This inquiry will be pushed right through," he said, "to a definite conclusion. We have three weeks until September 17, when William Laddwin, the maintenance man charged with homicide, will receive a hearing in court."

It was William C. Lancaster, chief engineer of the Transit Commission, who indicated the second arrest would be made.

"There were two cases, not one, of man failure," said Col. Lancaster. "The maintenance man, Baldwin, and his helper, Carr, should have spoken the switch. They had plenty of time and tools to do it, but the human element failed there."

In the second place, he said, some one operated the valve that threw open the switch as the ninth car of the subway train was passing over it, causing the wreck.

The sixteenth death was that yesterday of Elizabeth Siebold, 19, of Rockaway Beach, in Bellevue Hospital. Her body had been pierced by a wood splinter.

Hysteria, caused by seeing the wreck victims, brought on a heart attack that proved fatal last night to Mrs. Jennie Lockridge, 56, former dramatic and vaudeville actress.

Of the ninety-nine injured, twenty-one were still in hospitals today. Fourteen were reported in a serious condition.

Legion Convention Opens at Charlotte

Charlotte, Aug. 27.—(AP)—The American Legion in North Carolina, closing the first decade of its history, rededicated itself today to perpetuating the glories of national peace and to protecting purely American ideals and institutions after hearing at the opening session of its annual convention several patriotic orations which intensified interest in the Legionnaires in their espoused cause of service.

Colorful incidental events marked the formal beginning of the two day deliberation of the Legion over its record of the year now closing and its work for the year soon to be started.

Much of the morning session, the first half of which was a joint meeting of the Legion and auxiliary, was devoted to addresses of welcome and responses, and to tributes to soldiers, sailors and marines who died in the world war.

Paul R. Younts, of this city, national vice-commander, delivering the oration, sounded the keynote of the session in his declaration that "As we are assembled here to assist in perpetuating the institutions of our nation, we are assured that the glories of a national peace are far more to be desired than the glories of the battlefield."

Activities of various committees laid today the ground work of a strong movement, apparently assured of success, to put the administrative machinery of the Legion on a modern basis. Important changes in the policies of the organization will be provided for in the new constitution and by-laws, which will be submitted tomorrow to the convention by a committee of which National vice-commander Younts is chairman. The movement for establishing a permanent headquarters was abandoned at least temporarily through an agreement of the executive committee to support a proposal for appointment of a permanent adjutant, thus clearing the way for an anticipated more aggressive and more efficient development of Legion activities.

Two Stowaways Smothered.
Baltimore, Aug. 27.—(AP)—Death of two stowaways who were smothered in the hold of the sugar-laden Mursion Line freighter Munisia, and the rescue of four others who were found in a semi-conscious condition, was reported here when the ship docked today.

SEE DEFICIT IN TREASURY

Coolidge's Hope of Balanced Budget in 1929 Faces Disappointment.

Washington, Aug. 27.—(AP)—President Coolidge's hope for a balanced budget on June 30, 1929, apparently faces disappointment, and the government, for the first time since the war, formally is forecasting a deficit in the treasury.

As set forth in the annual report of director Lord of the budget, the figure on the red letter side of the ledger is expected to be $94,279,346 for the fiscal year 1929.

The reason for the deficit, which, if materialized, will displace a once expected surplus of more than $252,000,000 are given by government estimators as greater outlays of bureaus due to expanded activities of bureaus and a prospective decrease in revenue.

The trend toward fulfillment of one side of the situation—decrease in revenue was attested to last night in a report of the internal revenue bureau, made public at the same time director Lord predicted the deficit. This report disclosed that tax collections in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1928, were less by $75,147,592 than in the preceding year.

On December 5, 1927, the budget bureau estimated that the cost of operating the government from July 1, 1927, to June 30, 1928, would be, in round figures, $3,557,000,000. A revision of the figures on June 30, however, boosted this figure to $3,801,000,000, an increase approaching a quarter of a billion dollars.

On the other hand, the estimate of tax collections on June 30 was less by nearly $102,000,000 than on December 5. The first item to prove disappointing was customs receipts whereby $15,000,000 less was anticipated on June 30 than on December. Likewise, internal revenue receipts were cut by $115,500,000 but this combined heavy falling off was compensated by an increase in expected revenue from miscellaneous taxes, boosted by $28,500,000.

At the beginning of the present session of Congress, President Coolidge submitted a budget calling for appropriations totalling in round figures, $3,505,000,000, a total subsequently increased to $3,569,000,000 by supplemental estimates. Congress appropriated all but $65,000,000 of the latter figure.

Would Discourage Arms Manufacture

Geneva, Aug. 27.—(AP)—Japan, Great Britain and Italy today announced their adherence to the doctrine of the United States that "pittles publicity" should be given to the governmental as well as the private manufacturing of arms.

This stand developed at the opening session of a commission which will frame a draft convention for the control of the private manufacture of implements of war. It is interpreted as meaning that all the great powers are ready to publish information concerning the manufacture of arms and munitions, whether that manufacture takes place in government arsenals or elsewhere, when the arms are for use of governments.

Count Bernstorff, German former Ambassador to Washington, acted as president of the commission, and the United States was represented by Hugh R. Wilson, American Minister to Berne.

The assembly expressed its conviction that the establishment of a convention for supervision of private manufacture and publicity regarding manufacture of arms is of the highest importance.
